Rollins Begins Year; 230 New Students

Prominent Educator Is New Dean of College

On September 1st, Dean Sidney James French assumed his duties as the new Dean of Rollins College.

Before coming to Rollins, Dr. French was Dean of the Faculty at Colgate University.

Dr. French is one of the most prominent educators of the country.

He was born in Superior, Wisconsin. He received his Bachelor's degree at the University of Chicago and his Master's and Doctor's degrees at the University of Wisconsin.

In 1916, Dean French taught at Superior High School, where he later became assistant principal. In 1919, he taught at Superior Teacher's College and in 1925 he started his graduate work at the University of Wisconsin. He later became the Professor of Chemistry at Franklin College. After this he became the Assistant Professor of Chemistry at Colgate University. He has been Dean of the Colgate faculty since 1945.

Dean French served as a 1st Lieutenant in the Infantry in World War I. He was consultant on general education at the Japanese University while serving with the U. S. Army Occupation troops during the second World War.

Dean French is a member of the American Chemical Society, the American Association of University Professors, Alpha Chi Sigma, Sigma Xi, Phi Lambda Upsilon, Phi Beta Kappa and Acacia.

He is the author of many books on Chemistry and other sciences, including "Drama of Chemistry," "Atoms, Rocks and Galaxies," "Torch and Crucible," and "The Life and Death of Antoine Lavoisier." He is also the author of 50 technical articles and articles on higher education.

Dean French is married and has one daughter.

DEAN SIDNEY JAMES FRENCH

Before making the appointment, President McKean asked Dean Darrah to visit Colgate to learn first hand how Dean French stood with his colleagues and with the administration of the university. Dean Darrah spent two days at Colgate and a summary of his report was that Dean French could not enjoy a more favorable position in the minds and affections of his colleagues, and that we should do everything in our power to bring him to Rollins.

In announcing Dean French's acceptance of the position of Dean of Rollins College, President McKean said, "I have every confidence that the appointment of Dean French marks an important step in the development of the college."

DORSETT TELLS THEATER PLANS

Footlight fans will get their first peek at 1954-55 theater arts plans Tuesday night, October 5, according to Director Wilbur Dorsett.

Mr. Dorsett has invited all students interested in the plays to be produced at Rollins this year to attend a meeting in the Annie Russell Theater at 7:30 p.m. All members of the Rollins Players, all theater arts majors and interested members of the entering class are asked to participate in this discussion of theater activities.

The Theater Arts Department operates two theaters for student productions. The Annie Russell Theater is the "big show" for Rollins and Winter Park theatergoers, while the Fred Stone Theater is on a primarily experimental basis.

President of the Independent Men, Phil Murray, scowls in disappointment as he is forced to vacate his room by Lorraine Jackson after Lakeside was converted into a freshman women's dormitory.

CHAPEL CHOIR PRESENTS TWO SELECTIONS AT FIRST SERVICE

For the first Chapel service on Sunday morning, October 3rd, at 9:45, the Knowles Memorial Chapel Choir will sing two anthems, "Sanctus", from "Requiem" by Gabriel Faure, and the final Chorale from the Cantata No. 140 by J. S. Bach, "Glory Now To Thee Be Given".

Auditions for new members of the Chapel Choir have been held during the past week, and a large and musically excellent choir is now ready to begin the present year. All members of the Chapel Choir are reminded that the first rehearsal will be held this Friday, Oct. 1, at 4:20 p.m. Starting next week, the regular rehearsal schedule will begin: Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4:20 to 5:50. All rehearsals are held in the Chapel.

Any students who wish to become members of the Chapel Choir may have auditions by getting in touch with Mr. Hufstader, in the Conservatory Office on Interlachen Avenue. The repertoire of choral masterpieces to be studied and performed by the Chapel Choir throughout the year will include "The German Requiem" by Brahms, "The Messiah" by Handel, "Theresa Mass" by Haydn, as well

First chapel service of the academic year will be held in Knowles Memorial Chapel, Rollins College, Sunday, Oct. 3, it was announced yesterday.

The Rev. Theodore S. Darrah, assisted by students, will again conduct the services during the year.

as shorter anthems and motets by great composers of all periods. One of the outstanding musical events of the College year is the Christmas Service sung prior to the Christmas vacation. This year the choir plans to give two first performances of choral works by young American composers, Ned Rorem and John La Montaine.

Student officers of the Chapel Choir are: Sylvia Graves, president; Richard Weilenmann, secretary; Clark Warren, Social Chairman; Joanne Lange and Kenneth Pahel, Librarians.

Frosh And Transfer Registration Period Ends Exciting Week

Rollins College began its 70th academic year when about 230 new students reported for orientation activities Sunday, Sept. 26.

Freshmen, including 21 from Orange County, will arrive from over half the states of the union, District of Columbia, and several foreign countries.

Orientation week commenced Sunday with a day-long program, climaxed by an assembly at 7:30 p.m. At this time Pres. Hugh F. McKean, the administrative officers, and president of the Student Council met the newcomers. A reception in the Alumni House for all parents of new students and faculty followed.

When the new freshman class is registered, Rollins' enrollment will be about what it was last year,

Rollins College will officially begin the 1954-55 school year with the opening of classes on Friday, October 1, 1954, at 8:30 a.m.

Pres. McKean said. This is in line with a policy of keeping the college small while maintaining and strengthening academic standards.

Of several thousand inquiries from prospective students, the college asked 500 to complete their applications.

"We have maintained the size of the college by meeting the increased number of applications with greater selectivity," McKean said. "I am confident that we have gained in stature in the world of education."

Dr. U. T. Bradley, Professor of History, is chairman of the orientation week program which ended Thursday. During this time students registered for classes, conferred with faculty student advisers, and took part in a number of social events.

Returning students register Thursday, and all classes will start tomorrow morning.

Bits O' News

Miss Saretta Hill, Maitland, has accepted the position of case aide in the American Red Cross service in the military hospitals program, and has been assigned to the U. S. Army Hospital, Fort Benning, Ga.

Saretta received her B. A. degree from Rollins in 1952.

Dr. Wendell Stone, Professor of Philosophy at Rollins, participated in the New Jersey Round Table this summer.

The Round Table, sponsored annually by Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, brings together company executives and education leaders for the discussion of closer relationship between business and education.

Dr. Allen Spitzer, a graduate of Rollins in 1934, will join the teaching staff of St. Louis University this year. He will be assistant professor of sociology.

The June Rockwell Levy Foundation of Boston, Mass., has become the 102nd member of the Rollins Book-a-Year Club. Interest from the $150 membership which was taken out in memory of the late Mr. Austin T. Levy, Rhode Island philanthropist, will be used to buy books for Mills Memorial Library at Rollins.

RENOVATION OF CENTER BRINGS NEW DARKROOM

During the summer the Student Center was completely renovated. The main redecoration job was done to the floor with the addition of terrazzo tile.

For the enjoyment of the students there is a juke box which holds 120 records. Also a new paging system has been installed.

In back of the counter there are new juice machines for fresh orange juice and lemonade. For the first time there is a cold milk dispenser which emits milk directly from the can that is stored at 32 degrees.

The basement of the Center has been converted into a darkroom and studio. The official name is the Rollins Photographic Workshop and is to be used by the publications, alumni office, and other offices of the college, as well as by students.

Panhel Tea Begins Frosh Social Year

The annual Panhellenic Tea was held in the Student Center, Wednesday, September 29. At this time, Adele Cooley, President, welcomed the entering women who were given a chance to meet representatives of the social groups on campus.

WPRK, Bigger and Better

The voice of WPRK will be heard on campus this year. After much cussing and discussing students just tune their regular radios in at 620 on the dial and the full gamut of radio, news, music, sports, special events, will come blasting through.

They said a campus limited system "couldn't be done"; but the Rollins radio staff "did it".

Last year's WPRK was way out in left field as far as the students were concerned, although its productions drew favorable comments from Winter Park citizens. Very few students had FM receivers, the others couldn't hear the station and staff members quit by the droves because they got no student recognition.

But a few faithfuls stuck by to help out the then newly-appointed station manager Marc Frutche. The college realized that the large installation investment would be wasted unless it reached way down into the sock and came out with a few dollars to make WPRK available to student listeners.

Then a truck pulled up with a shiny 250 watt transmitter. Before this time, station personnel got a thrill out of phone calls saying that they were received outside the Orlando city limits. More dollars turned up from the ad. building and a new tower was erected.

Even on its present ten watts power WPRK can be heard clearly on campus both AM and FM. The big boost has been the installation of a transmitter-receiver system which blankets the campus with AM coverage and allows anyone in any of the dorms to dial the Rollins radio station.

According to Mr. Frutche the new transmitter will go into operation within the first month. With it will come bigger and better listening for Rollins students and much improved training facilities for those who wish to do radio work after graduation.

Following A Tradition

Sixty years ago an enterprising Rollinsite started what is now the second oldest college newspaper in Florida. He named it the Sandspur.

The first editor explained the unusual title in this editorial:

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp yet well-rounded, pointed yet many-sided, assiduous yet as gritty as the name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of the Sandspur".

Since 1894 the Sandspur has moved from a monthly review of literature, through many stages of infancy, to the paper which you are reading today. It has carried on the tradition handed down by the first editor.

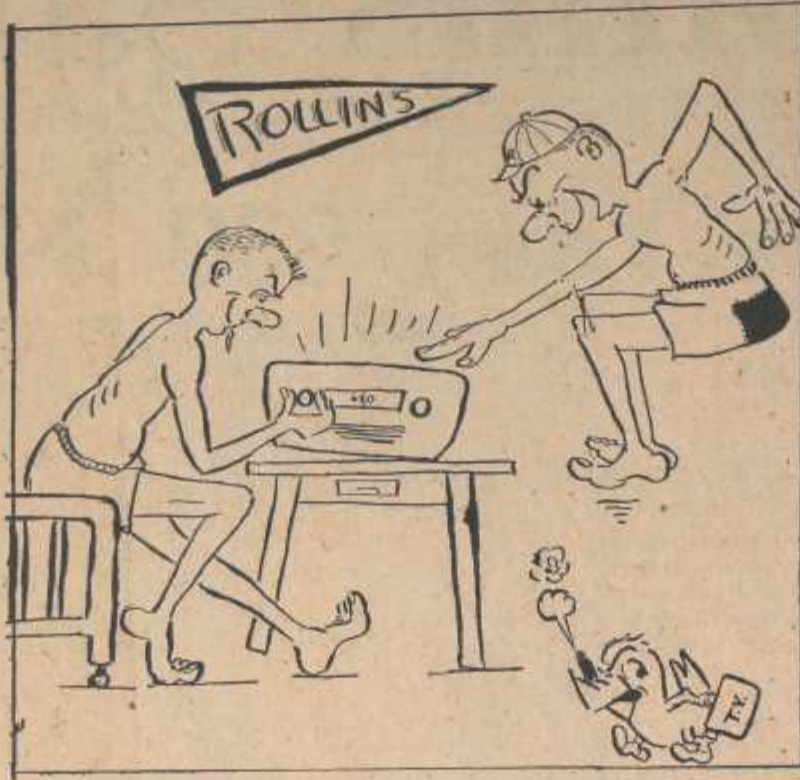

The Chapel Tower

T. S. Darrah

Eugene O'Neill, the playwright, spent his early life following the sea. On the opening night of "Strange Interlude" O'Neill was so nervous that he left the theater and began wandering unrecognized down Broadway. His anxiety was suddenly interrupted by a clap on the back and a voice that boomed: "Eugene O'Neill, by all that's holy! Haven't seen you since we shipped together on the 'Southern Cross.' What on earth ya been doing with yourself since?"

Bennett Cerf who tells the story does not record O'Neill's reply. But he doesn't need to. This story is a gentle reminder that "the world" in which we are living at the moment may seem to be all there is. But there are other "worlds" with other concerns and rules and goals which are just as real and valid for those who live there. It ought to caution us at the beginning of the college year to be more patient with one another and hence more kind.

So Who Needs TV?

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir:

Another sorority rush season is beginning at Rollins. I want to welcome and remind the new women entering Rollins not to be carried away with the glamour of rush, but that the Rollins Family is more important than any one part of college life.

It is the hope of the Rollins College Panhellenic Council that with the cooperation of the new girls coming to Rollins, we will have a rush period that is clean, fair, and governed with good judgment.

Each sorority has been founded upon ideals which dedicate its members to service and uprightness in all human relationships. During this short period you are choosing some of your closest friends for four years. You will have the opportunity to choose wisely and well. Remember that everything that is fine in a girl cannot be judged by clothes and appearance. When meeting the girls, judge them as you would any friend met under normal circumstances.

A happy and successful rush season for everyone depends upon legal rushing, therefore all rules must be observed. The parties are designed to give all the opportunity of meeting the upperclasswomen and for them to meet you. Relax and have fun. Make your own decisions and be fair in your relations with the sororities.

The choice of a sorority is entirely up to you. Remember that sororities are not the most important thing in college life. They are just one way of helping you to make friends and develop a well-rounded personality. Don't join a sorority just to be a sorority girl. All girls who go out for rush may not receive bids, but there are many other opportunities for participation in student activities. If you are not asked to join a sorority, don't be afraid to join another group, for fear of losing your chances for pledging. Don't forget the many extra-curricular clubs and societies are available for membership, so join them.

We're glad that you have chosen Rollins for your college home and hope that you will have a happy and pleasant four years. Always remember the ideals of Rollins and try to live up to them by establishing and upholding sound standards of conduct and scholarship and by being a contributing member in the activities of the campus.

Sincerely,
Adele Cooley
Pres. Panhellenic Council

TO THE ROLLINS FAMILY:

I wish to extend my heartfelt gratitude to all those, Students, Faculty and Staff, who in so many ways gave of their sympathy to me and expressed their deep personal sorrow in the death of my beloved husband, Professor Richard C. Plumer, an event which saddened the closing days of the last college year.

Through the ensuing days and months I have been greatly comforted and helped by the memories of your kindly ministrations on my behalf. Especially am I grateful for the movements so quickly and so effectively initiated to honor his memory in recognition of his helpfulness and inspiration to those with whom he wrought in the classroom and the activities of the campus.

Your friendly acts, your sympathy and your prayers have done much to sustain me in my bereavement and my loneliness. For the esteem in which you held him who was so dear to me and for your kindnesses to me, please accept my deepest appreciation.

A very cluttered post-office and frequent trips by the express truck to the campus were indicative of a good size student body this year. Four new foreign students are among the incoming group, two from Puerto Rico, one from France, and another from Columbia, S. A.—Rumor had it that this term was to be a man's paradise with more lovely co-eds on campus than males; the sad but official truth is that the birds and bee ratio is just about equal. Congrats to the admission staff for picking such a glamorous looking lot of Frosh girls.

The college radio station, WPRK, resumed transmitting on the twenty-seventh of September. It will operate on ten watts until around the first of November when the power will be increased to two hundred and fifty watts. The station can be heard on F.M. at 91.5 kc. A new feature has been added whereby WPRK can be received at 620 on the standard A.M. radios around the college. Good luck to WPRK...

Overheard in the Beanery: One blurry-eyed student to another over a third helping of chow, "I can't understand it, I was hungry when I came in... it must be the food."

Among the numerous alterations made over the summer months, was the changing of residences for the Independent men... Pinehurst is now the Indies dorm, while Lakeside is the Cloverleaf "annex". Really strange to hear some sweet southern-belle say with all sincerity, "Why, I'm living at Lakeside honey-chile."—It warmed the cockles of this reporter's heart to see that most of the Rouault murals so long decorating Chez Mayes had been destroyed... another loss for the Museum of Modern Art. Here's hoping the remaining muraled portion of the Chez will be repainted by next year.

We have a new dean. Sidney J. French, a shirt-sleeve dean, and a likeable one, has taken his post in the Pink Palace. His amiable attitude has permeated every member of his staff and is sure to come through to us students. Dean French was on the faculty of Colgate College for twenty-two years. For twelve he was Professor of Chemistry, the remaining ten he spent at the helm as dean.

Without meaning to sound like a lecturing ancient now that the school year is under way, and before it's very far along, it might be prudent to point out an improvement that only we students can make. Spirits (and not the liquid kind) can really stand a boost. It's up to the new students to give the college a shot in the arm... we need school spirit. How about it?—With vacation and orientation over, books are again of some concern to all... here's to a successful year round Rollins.

Student Government Sets Election Date For Veep And Tomokan Business Mgr.

Student government officials have set tentative dates for the election of officers to fulfill the terms of the Student Council vice-president and the yearbook business manager. These officials have resigned due to inability to return to Rollins this fall.

Bill Karslake, who was named veep in an unopposed election last spring, has resigned due to induction into the armed forces, while business manager Ross Fleischmann has failed to return for personal reasons.

Under student regulations, the two interim elections will require special procedure.

The Student Association Constitution states, "a special election shall be called by the vice-president to fill the office for the remainder of the term." Since the vice-presidential office is in question, Council prexy Dan Matthews has decided to take charge of the important election.

At the first Student Council meeting, scheduled for Monday night, October 4, in the Alumni House, Matthews will submit final plans for the special elections. He has tentatively called for letters of application to the Council post to be in the hands of secretary Cindy Wellenkamp by October 8 with the elections to be held on October 12.

Those seeking nomination on the October 12 ballot must also be able to show evidence of having attended at least ten Council meetings. If their letters and qualifications are accepted by the Council the names will be placed on a mimeographed ballot which will be presented to the voters in the Student Center on October 12.

President Matthews has called for, "at least six to eight applicants for this job", due to the general apathy of qualified persons toward running for student positions in the past.

The business manager of the TOMOKAN must be elected by an entirely different procedure.

The constitution states, "In the case of the resignation of any officer elected by the school at large to the Publications Union (this includes the business manager of the yearbook), the new officer must be approved by a majority of the Publications Union and two-thirds of the Student Council." This is interpreted as meaning that applicants are screened by the Publications Union and one or more names then presented to the Council for final approval by two-thirds vote.

Application letters for this position would normally be submitted to the chairman of the Publications Union; but since no one holds this title at present, applicants are instructed to contact TOMOKAN editor Sis Atlass for further information.

Nominations for the business manager slot must be a member of the Upper Division and must have served for at least one year on the advertising staff of a Rollins student publication and have sold at least five advertisements during that period. These qualifications may be waived by the Publications Union.

The Publications Union has scheduled a meeting for tomorrow afternoon. Officers will be elected and announcement will be made of the application deadline.

Along with the time-consuming plans for special student elections, the Council will have to consider choices of Pelican dates at their Monday night meeting. By tradition the representatives of the social groups pull sets of dates out of a hat and these are then scheduled on the college calendar.

A third portion of the meeting will be taken up with discussion of the Richard C. Plumer Memorial Fund.

This fund, established by Council at the end of the last academic year, is destined to honor the Rollins professor who died of a heart attack late last spring.

Shortly after Dr. Plumer's death Council began the fund with a one hundred dollar donation and solicited further donations from individual students. The exact total of funds now dedicated to this purpose is unavailable.

Suggestions for usage of the money have included membership in the Mills Memorial Book-A-Year Club and the establishment of a Plumer scholarship fund. Council Comptroller Dennis Folken is expected to report on the financial status of the fund at Monday's meeting.

According to the R Book, student handbook, the vice-president of the Student Council includes the staging of all student elections among his duties. With senior class and freshman elections due in the near future this election must be held at a very early date, President Matthews stated. The TOMOKAN election must also be held in the near future, according to editor Sis Atlass, since this official must solicit advertising for the 1955 yearbook and has an early deadline.

The last instance of a special student election came in 1951 when newly-elected prexy Ed Cushing received his call from the armed service. Vice-president Dick Elliot then called an early election with Hal Suit getting the eventual call. During this election freshmen were informed that they were expected to vote although it was then, as well as now, realized that they had had little opportunity to meet the candidates outside of hearing them on the speaker's stand.

Faculty Members For 1954-55 College Year

Art Department Gets Three New Profs

This week seven new teachers began their first year on the Rollins College faculty.

Appointed Assistant Professor of Chemistry was Dr. Herbert Hellwege, a German scientist. A native of Hamburg, Dr. Hellwege received his Ph.D. at the University of Hamburg, where he taught and acted as Research Assistant. His articles dealing with the field of Chemistry have appeared in several German professional and scholarly periodicals.

Appointed Executive Director of Morse Gallery of Art and Instructor of Art was William Ward Jackson.

Mr. Jackson has been associated with the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City. He is a graduate of the College of William and Mary and received his Master's degree from the Richmond Professional Institute.

A native of Virginia, he has served as co-editor of "Folio" magazine and was one of the founders of Linden Gallery of Contemporary Art in Richmond. Twice he was awarded fellowships from Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. He studied for a summer under a scholarship grant at the Hans Hofman School of Fine Arts.

He also has been a guest exhibitor of American Artists and is a former member of the New Art Circle. This year he had a one-man exhibition at the Copain Gallery in New York City.

The new Assistant Professor of Art is Rostand D. Kelly of Ridgefield, New Jersey.

Mr. Kelly, who is a native of Pennsylvania, was graduated from Bloomsburg State Teachers College and earned his Master's degree in fine arts and industrial arts at Columbia University.

Last winter he took a 10 months fine arts field course, the itinerary including art centers in Mexico, Spain, Italy, France, Germany and England. This past summer he studied for his Doctor's degree of Education at Columbia University.

Kelly served four years in the U. S. Navy as Lieutenant in World War II. In 1950 he re-entered the Navy as a Lieutenant Commander, serving three more years in the Naval Prep School in San Diego, California, where he taught art courses.

Mrs. Leah Rice Koontz, one of the pioneers in the teaching of Creative Writing in Florida high schools, was named as an instructor of English.

Mrs. Koontz comes to Rollins from Winter Park High School, where she was a member of the English Department for 11 years. She has taught in the Orange County school system for 17 years and at Rollins in the summer session of 1945.

At Winter Park High School, Mrs. Koontz started "Horizons", the school literary magazine. She also supervised the publication of the school newspaper and the year-book.

Mrs. Koontz received her education at the University of Michigan and Western State Teachers College, where she received her Bachelor of Science degree. She also has taken special studies at the University of Florida, Stetson and Rollins.

Active in the work of the English Council, Mrs. Koontz served recently on the committee for revision of the State Constitution. She has also served on a State Committee for the evaluation of high schools.

Dr. Gordon F. Lewis has been appointed an instructor in Sociology at Rollins.

Dr. Lewis comes to Rollins from the University of Kentucky, where he served as an instructor in Sociology while completing requirements for his Ph.D. degree.

He received his B.A. degree cum laude from Rutgers University in 1949 and received his Master's degree from the University of Kentucky in 1950. Dr. Lewis also took post-graduate work at Columbia University during the 1952 summer session and has written several articles for scholarly publications.

Dr. Lewis is married and is the father of two children.

Named to succeed Dr. Herman F. Stewart as organist of Knowles Memorial Chapel and Assistant Professor of Organ was Arden Whitacre, a promising young American organist.

A graduate of Oberlin Conservatory of Music, Professor Whitacre received his Master of Sacred Music from Union Theological Seminary and the Licentiate degree from Trinity College. He has studied under Marcel Dupre and other famous teachers of two continents. He has received critical acclaim for recitals given in many European countries, as well as in this country. In 1951 and 1952, he studied organ and choral literature in Belgium under a Fulbright award.

The new instructor of Art in the Courses for the Community program at Rollins is Mrs. Joy Winslow.

Joy Winslow

Mrs. Winslow, who taught art for ten years in Florida public schools, received her education at Florida State University, the Art Institute of Chicago and Parson's School of Design in New York City.

Besides teaching at Daytona Beach, Mrs. Winslow taught art at the Memorial Junior High School in Orlando, and for the past two years she has taught in the elementary schools of Orange County. She also gives private art lessons at her studio above the Sandspur Gift Shop on Mills Street.

Professor George Saute, Director of the Courses for the Community program, announced that a new program in arts and crafts would be established under Mrs. Winslow this fall.

High school students from the 9th to 12th grades may earn a half-credit a year by attending art courses at Rollins. Through an arrangement with Winter Park High School, students may be excused from their final class one day a week to attend the art classes at Rollins.

Tuition for each of the three 12-week sessions is $27, and a $5.50 materials fee. Classes will begin the week of September 7.

Saute also said that the classes for children in the lower grades will begin later in September.

Planes, trains and cars brought 230 new students to Rollins. Even a coffin arrived at Corrin, contents unknown.

Since the moving of men to Pinehurst and women to Lakeside, it seems that field glasses are very cheap at the X Club.

The Rollins Commons, as the ad building optimistically calls it, was scene of a minor disaster. It took the combined efforts of tiny Feldman and Costello to carry out what may have been the Beanery's first victim.

The Neal twins finally broke up. It seems that they couldn't agree on a similar color scheme.

Hufstader puts his foot in it — during a rousing rendition of the "Dinky Line", the sturdy chair on which he was standing collapsed. Without even a groan he kept on directing until Mr. Tiedtke came to the rescue.

This summer found many students scattered far and wide.

A trip to Europe seemed to be on the summer schedule for many students. Among those on the continent were Nancy Siebens, Gloria Steudel and Sue McClere. Also found there were Tony Antoville and Bob Finney who took a tour of their own in Bob's car.

Many students would like to have been with Sandy Taylor as she basked in the sun on the beach in Hawaii.

We're glad to see two returning faces after a year's leave. Back at Rollins this year are Pat Stewart and Betsy Young. Pat spent last year playing in tennis tournaments, while Betsy attended school elsewhere.

Among the missing this year is Carmen Navacues, who is at school in Spain.

Inevitably, the Army has claimed quite a few Rollins men. Found among the ranks are Bill Karlslake, Buck Class, Dick Collabella, Hal Broda, Jidge Wood and Jerry Griggs.

Two graduates of last year, Sid Katz and Dick Lesneski, found themselves living practically across the street from each other in New Orleans. Sid is doing graduate work at Tulane and Dick is doing the same at Loyola.

Senior Class of '54 Contributes $1000 To Plumer Memorial

The Senior Class of 1954 has contributed nearly a thousand dollars to the Colonel Richard C. Plumer Memorial Award.

The income from this perpetual fund is to be given annually to the "student of Business Law who has shown himself or herself to be the most outstanding in the qualities of Colonel Plumer represented in the eyes of those who knew and loved him: scholarship, service to his fellow men, integrity of mind and humbleness of soul, rendered in a spirit of kindness and dignity."

From 1950 through 1954 Professor Plumer taught "Business Law" and Fundamentals of Investments at Rollins. He was Chairman of the Self-Study Committee on Finance and was chosen by the students as a member of the honorary national fraternity of Omicron Delta Kappa for his outstanding contribution to Rollins College.

Chemistry Uncovers Interesting Facts In Analysis Of Women

(ACP)—From the University of Rhode Island Beacon comes this chemical analysis of a woman:

Symbol: Wo.
Accepted Atomic Weight: 120.
Physical Properties: Boils at nothing and freezes at anything. Melts when perfectly treated and very bitter if not well-used.
Occurrence: Found wherever man exists.
Chemical Properties: Posses a great affinity for gold, silver, platinum and precious stones. Violent reaction if left alone. Able to absorb a great amount of food matter. Turns green when placed beside a better looking specimen.
Uses: High ornamental. Useful as a tonic accelerator of low spirits and an equalizer of the distribution of wealth — is probably the most effective income reducing agent known.

3. Start mopping the floor with your handkerchief — they think you work there.

MARSHALL APPLICANTS MAY HAVE EXTENDED DEADLINE HERE

Applicants for Marshall Scholarships for study in Great Britain should make immediate arrangements with Dr. Wendell Stone.

The official deadline for these two-year grants was September 30, but this may be waived due to the lateness of the opening of Rollins.

These awards are made to students of either sex. Winners must be citizens of the United States, under 28 years of age in the year during which the award will be taken up, and must be a graduate of a degree-granting college or university of the United States.

The value of a Marshall grant was established in 550 pounds last year with a 220 pound increase possible for a married man. Three of these awards are made each year in each of the four regions of the country.

Applicants for grants from the southern region should send inquiries to:

British Consulate General
Natl Bank of Commerce Bldg.
210 Baronne Street
New Orleans 12, La.

Regional committees will then screen the applicants and draw up a final list for review by an Advisory Council in Washington.

Interested students are urged to contact Dr. Stone for further information.

MILLS LIBRARY SHOWS EXHIBIT FROM COLUMBIA

A panel exhibit illustrating the theme of Columbia University's Bicentennial anniversary, "Man's Right to Knowledge and the Free Use Thereof," will be on display Oct. 6-20 at Rollins College.

Rollins is sponsoring the exhibit in cooperation with the Columbia Alumni Regional Committee for the State of Florida. Granger Hansell, Atlanta lawyer, is chairman of the Florida-Alabama-Georgia region.

The exhibit consists of twenty-five panels covering five aspects of the Columbia Bicentennial theme, as follows: "The Inclusiveness of Man," "The Values of Knowledge," "Man's Right to Knowledge," "Man's Right to the Free Use of Knowledge," and "The Responsibilities of Knowledge."

The panels cover a wide range of topics, from the United Nations Declaration of Human Rights to "The Teacher and Free Speech," from censorship in its various forms to "Everyman—his thoughts and yearnings." A typical panel is one that is used to illustrate the section on "Development of Citizens." The illustration for this panel is a striking photograph of elder citizens at a town meeting, together with a quotation from James Madison as follows: "A popular Government, without popular information, or the means of acquiring it, is but a Prologue to a Farce or a Tragedy; or perhaps both."

Richard R. Powell, director of Columbia's 200th anniversary celebration points out in a booklet about the exhibit that "The struggle to know is one of the most exciting dramas of history," and that this drama provided the inspiration for the exhibit."

Columbia's Bicentennial will be a year-long observance consisting of special conferences, convocations and many other special events. The University's alumni throughout the country, as in this area, are planning special meetings and programs with emphasis on the Bicentennial and its theme.

Columbia was founded in 1754 as King's College by royal charter of King George II. Among its earliest students were Alexander Hamilton and John Jay. Today it is a federation of undergraduate, graduate and professional schools, with students from all over the world.

STONE ANNOUNCES COMPETITION FOR FULBRIGHT SCHOLARSHIPS

Rollins students are again urged to make application for Fulbright scholarships according to Dr. Wendell Stone.

These awards are made to deserving students for post-graduate study in foreign countries by the International Education Exchange Program of the U. S. Government.

Two students from the state of Florida receive this award each year, Dr. Stone stated, adding that at least one Rollinsite has taken the honor since the program began in the state.

To be eligible for competition the applicant must be a citizen of the United States, have earned a Bachelor's Degree or its equivalent by the time he begins studying, and have a sufficient knowledge of the language of the country for which he applies.

Some exceptions to these requirements may be made with information available from Dr.

Stone in the Administration Building.

Faculty members are also urged to compete for these scholarships. They must hold a doctoral degree in addition to the requirements listed for undergraduates.

Fulbright scholarship awards include round-trip transportation, a cost of living allowance, and a supplemental allowance for travel and books.

The 1954 winner of this foreign-study scholarship was Rollins' Merrill (Buddy) Reich who received the grant for social science studies in Austria.

"Campus Circuit" Brings WPRK To College Dorms

Since September 27, WPRK has been operating on a "Campus Circuit" so that it is now possible to pick up Rollins' FM station on the AM dial at about 620 in every dorm and most of the classrooms. This is done with translator units which are situated in various places around the campus.

During the summer a new tower was erected for the new transmitter.

Mr. Marc Frutchey, manager of the radio station, said, "WPRK will start off on 10 watts, the same power it used last year, but plans are being made to put the new 250 watt transmitter into operation the end of October."

When this is done, WPRK will be heard for a radius of 25 miles.

Definite plans for several programs to be in effect this year have already been made.

One outstanding program is the "Greater Orlando Community Forum" which is patterned after the "American Town Meeting of the Air." This is an audience participation show with questions and answers by the panel.

"Portrait of a Composer" is an hour program broadcast every other Monday from 9 to 10. This will give important facts from the lives of various composers with outstanding works. On alternate Mondays Harrison Hollander, program annotator for the Florida Symphony Orchestra, will present a classical program "Old Disks, Old Friends."

Every Wednesday from 9 to 10 there will be a regular symphony concert, the "Rollins Symphony Hour," with classical, romantic, modern, and contemporary music.

For a recorded hour that's "different" there is "Rod Comes Round" every night from 10 to 11. Included will be classics, light concert, comedy, pop, and even comical records.

MAJOR REPAIRS COMPLETED OVER SUMMER MONTHS

Rollins College has spent about $30,000 in the past three months to prepare the physical equipment for the opening of the fall term.

Among the large projects are: painting of Cloverleaf, freshman women's dormitory, both inside and out, repainting and renovating of Lakeside dormitory; painting and water-proofing of Knowles Memorial Chapel; installation of a terrazzo floor in the Student Center; complete renovation of 570 Osceola Ave. which is used as a dormitory for visiting athletic teams; and the painting of Holt House, 208 Interlachen Ave., and a major repair job on its garage apartment.

Twenty tons of slag were imported from Pennsylvania to top dress the college tennis courts, and the lakeshore in front of French House was cleared of bushes and weeds for about 100 yards.

Reprints of Sandspur photos are available from the Rollins Photographic Department.

Tars' Showing In Omaha Classic No Surprise For Long Time Fans

The Rollins Tars placed a story book ending to a story book baseball season late in June by advancing to the finals of the N.C.A.A. College Baseball World Series in Omaha, Nebraska, before losing to Missouri.

The Tars showing in the tournament was a surprise to many of the sportswriters and spectators in Omaha. But for those with the opportunity of watching baseball under Joe Justice in recent years at Rollins it was no surprise.

The script of the Rollins baseball story did not begin nor end with the 1954 baseball season. Included in the story were repeated disappointments of other Rollins baseball teams that came close to national prominence only to lose in regional playoffs. And from Justice's four state championship teams came such outstanding stars as Johnny Gray, lefthanded Philadelphia Athletic rookie of 1954 and righthanded pitcher Clyde Stevens, who rose to Class AA ball in two seasons before a bad back cut short his career.

But the 1954 season was different. The script was perfect, beginning with the first Baseball Week at Harper Shepherd field in late March. That tournament featured Clemson, Ohio State, Amherst, Georgia Tech, and North Carolina and gave students and scouts a look at such stars as State's All-American pitcher, Paul Ebert, and the Baltimore Orioles' bonus pitcher from Clemson, Billy O'Dell.

That tournament might have heralded more than the coming of age of Rollins baseball. It paralleled what many baseball experts, including J. Taylor Spink, editor of the Sporting News, thinks is a resurgence of college baseball.

From that beginning the Tars rolled to another State championship with an almost unmarred record. When the district playoffs came last spring the Tars were not about to let their chance at the national championship pass by again. They smashed Virginia Tech's Southern Conference champions twice, 3-0 and 9-3, behind Cary and Art Brophy at Harper-Shepherd.

Still it was an unheralded Rollins team that took the long trip to Omaha, overlooked by all but a few scouts for the Western Conference champion, Michigan State, with its All-American catcher, Tom Yewcie, or a mighty Arizona team.

But Arizona was soon out of the tournament and Rollins was playing Michigan State and handing the Spartans a 5-4 loss on a ninth inning single by captain Delton Helms. Perhaps that was the high point of the Tar schedule. After that they lost a return match to Michigan State in ten innings, 3-2, and lost to Missouri, whom Brophy had earlier subdued 4-1, by a like score and Missouri was the national champion.

Despite losing the championship, however, the Tars had become both the sentimental favorites of the Omaha fans and won the respect of fans both in Orlando and wherever the tournament was followed. As chairman C. Vincent Williams of the Coca Cola Company, a spectator at the tournament, expressed it in a letter to Rollins president Hugh McKean:

"I don't believe I ever enjoyed watching a team more, despite the fact that I have witnessed many big league games. Your boys were outstanding in every respect, but especially in lending something to baseball which has not existed for a long time—in other words, enthusiasm, sportsmanship, determination, and splendid ability."

The tournament did not suddenly vault Rollins to national fame; college baseball unfortunately does not have that kind of following. It did, however, win the college valuable friends, not the least of which were the people of Orlando and Winter Park, who came to refer to Rollins as "we" and to recognize the college as an integral part of the community.

When no radio broadcast was available for the first game in the Orlando area, a businessman kept his telephone line open for more than two hours listening to broadcasts of the game over his telephone, relaying results to his friends. When local broadcast was made of the final games, every ear was turned to the radio. Coach Justice's lucky little red stick and Art Brophy's red handkerchief became standards of conversation in every home, grocery store, and bar.

Incoming freshmen this fall will be deprived of the chance of seeing and participating in football the Rollins way. And although it was inevitable that last fall's crushing sport could not be continued without endangering the health of the small male population of the campus, touch football as played on the Sandspur Bowl added something unique to the college, something that will not be replaced by another season of softball.

Keeping spirit up during the fall has been a problem since Rollins dropped football back in 1949. The problem has been further aggravated this fall with the new N.C.A.A. regulations which outlaw member colleges opening basketball practice before November 1 and limit season to 26 games.

Intramural football has served to at least partially fill the fall sports lull in previous years. When the intramural board chose softball to replace it last spring it seemed more or less a stop gap measure until something better could be found to fill the gap. It is hard to imagine how anyone could become enthused over softball four or five months out of the school year.

Other sports, among them soccer, were suggested to replace football, but some of them, including soccer hold the same dangers that the abolition of football set out to destroy, and others failed to fill the need for the team sport that is required to hold student interest.

Without football, the intramural program at Rollins sadly lacks team sports with spectator interest. Basketball and softball draw a great deal of interest and the intramural swimming meet draws a large crowd for one day, but outside of these three sports there is little more for the students to form a rallying point around.

The beautiful trophy won by the Tars in Omaha is on display in the Administration Building. Preparations are now underway by a group of local citizens for a banquet to honor the team this fall.

BUTLER, CARY ON N.C.A.A. ALL AMERICAN

Outfielder Connie Mack Butler and pitcher Bill Cary of the Rollins Southern champion baseball Tars were named to the N.C.A.A. College All-American team last spring.

Butler, who led the Tars in hitting with a .346 average and in homers with eight, was selected to the second All American squad, while Cary with an 8-1 regular season pitching record hurled the Tars into the N.C.A.A. playoffs for the third consecutive year, and was awarded with a third team berth.

Both Rollins stars gained the honor during their junior year and will return this spring for their final year. Cary led the pitching staffs of two previous Rollins N.C.A.A. playoff squads, compiling a 6-2 record in his freshman year and then defeating Duke in a regional playoff game, and compiling a 7-1 record his sophomore year.

The stylish lefthander has not been driven from the mound during a regular season game during the last two seasons. His only regular season loss last year came when Ohio State defeated him 2-1, on two unearned tallies during the season opening Baseball Week tournament.

Cary pitched a five hit shutout over Southern Conference champion V.P.I. to help the Tars into the College World Series.

Butler smashed eight regular season home runs, batted in 26 runs and was second on the Tars in runs scored. His most impressive performance came in the playoffs with Virginia Tech when he smashed two home runs, a triple and a single and batted across four runs in two days.

Gal-axy of Sports

by Alison Dessau

Welcome to Rollins and a new year of exciting competition in intramurals and classes in the woman's sports department.

Due to the extraordinary number of women this year we have had, with great regret, to give up our alleged under-water basket - weaving. However, practically any sport one would want to take is offered.

The department is headed by Sara Jane Dorsey who has worked out a marvelous schedule designed to meet the interests of everyone. Her assistant, and also very active in the Phys Ed office, is Janet Patton. Together they will work with you throughout the year in everything from fall basketball to volleyball in the spring.

The women's athletic program at Rollins divides itself into two major classes, the intramurals competition between the social groups which goes on all through the year in every sport, and the regularly scheduled classes. In addition to this, an active varsity basketball team is picked from the intramural players and this group competes in intercollegiate games. Honorary varsities are picked in all other sports.

During the fall term the freshmen form two basketball teams, the Sands and the Spurs, and under the direction of Sara Jane these teams battle against the sororities and independent women for top place. At the end of the year on Honors Day, trophies are given to the winning team on each sport. The big O'Brien cup is awarded to the group which have outplayed their competitors and totaled the most points.

In the past the Rollins girls have shown superlative action on the tennis court, around the golf links, and at the lakefront. Individually they have been able to exhibit their talent not only here at school but throughout the country. This opportunity is always open to everyone.

Among the yet unmentioned activities which are sponsored by the Physical Education department are softball, archery, riding, and dancing. For the first time in many years the girls are starting a competition in War Canoe racing at the lake front. There will be no classes in this but it will be part of the intramural program. Last year three teams partially explored the possibility of competition in this field when they went to a water show in Eustis and paddled through very choppy unfamiliar water; most of the time, into each other.

Laden with a maximum 26 game schedule, basketball coach Dan Nyimicz has undertaken an ambitious 1954-55 season as he prepares for his sophomore campaign as coach of the Rollins hardwooders.

Outstanding games in the schedule will be Rollins departure from a precedent set 14 years ago when basketball amenities with the University of Florida ended. Rollins will play in Gainesville Dec. 8. The Tars will also entertain perennially powerful New York University for the first time during the Christmas holidays in a home tilt.

With the announcement of the forthcoming slate, athletic director Jack MacDowall complied with a new N.C.A.A. ruling that no team should slate more than 26 games in a season.

Rollins Finishes Second In College World Series

The Rollins Tars, making their initial appearance in the College Baseball World Series in Omaha, Nebraska, June 10-16, as the smallest school ever to participate in the tournament, won their way to the finals before losing to Missouri, 4-1.

The Tars, after two consecutive losing appearances in the regional playoffs, finally made the national championships by manhandling Southern Conference champion Virginia Tech, 3-0 and 9-3, June 5 and 6. It was the combination of brilliant pitching by Bill Cary and Art Brophy and hitting by Connie Butler and Bob MacHardy that overwhelmed V.P.I.

Butler homered, tripled, and singled in five official times at bat in the playoff while MacHardy blasted a three run homer in the second game. Cary blanked Tech on five hits in the opener and Brophy spread six hits in the second game. The Tars were returned to full strength for the first time since mid season in the playoffs with shortstop Nick Vancho, out several weeks with a broken ankle, and second baseman Fred Talbot, out almost as long with a broken thumb, in the lineup.

Cary was Coach Joe Justice's choice to oppose Oklahoma A&M in the opening World Series game and the Westbrook, Maine lefty had the Aggies under control with a 5-3 lead until two were out in the ninth inning. Aggie shortstop Jim Wollard then hit a homer with a mate aboard to tie the score at 5-5.

MacHardy, a hitting star of the tourney, came through with a bases loaded triple and counted himself on a wild pitch in the eleventh inning to send the Tars undefeated into the tourney's second round. Don Tauscher, with two hitless innings of relief pitching, picked up the victory.

With Brophy southpawing a brilliant six-hit job and his teammates running wild on the basepaths, Rollins picked up a 4-1 win over Missouri to join Michigan State as the only undefeated teams in the tournament June 11.

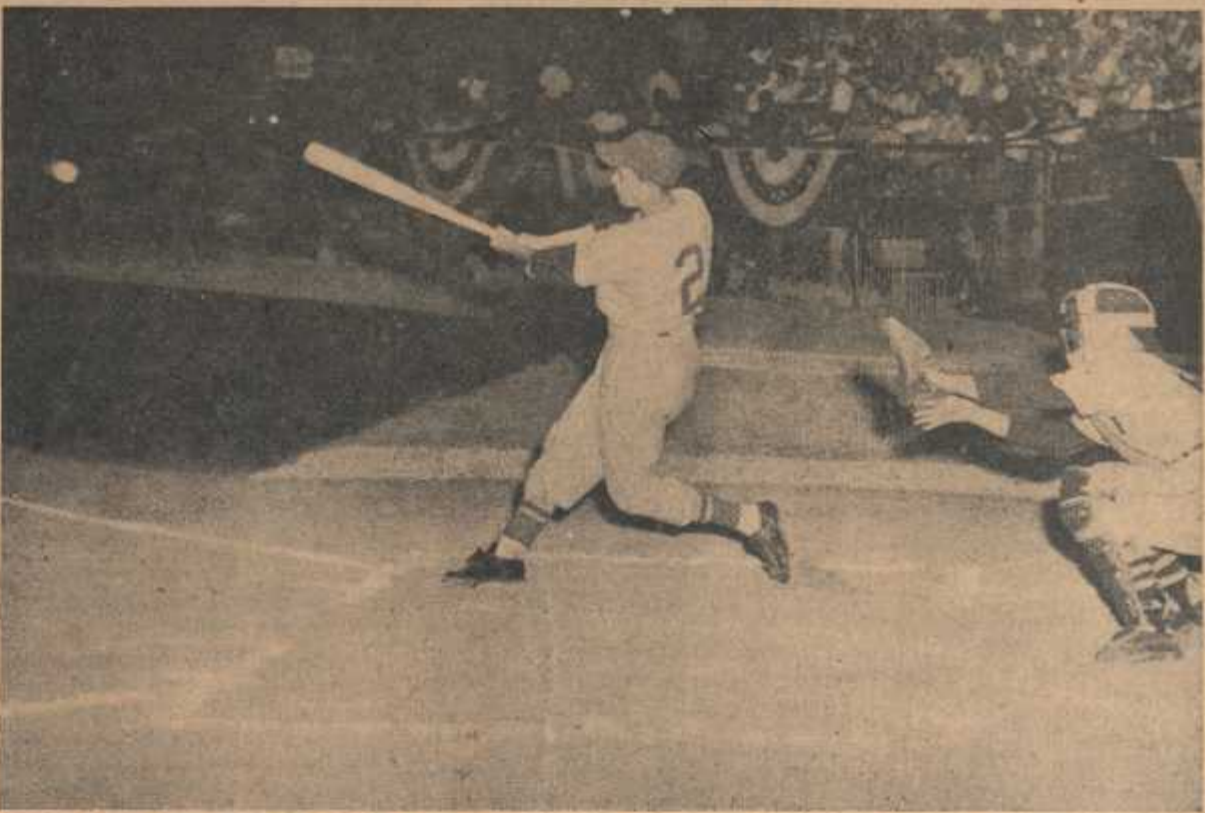

Butler smashed a fourth inning inside-the-park home run to tie the score at 1-1, after second baseman Bud Cox had put Missouri ahead with a second inning run scoring triple.

In the sixth inning, the Tars turned heads up baserunning and quick thinking into three runs. Brophy singled and was forced by Don Finnigan. Talbot then walked and when Butler forced Talbot, Finnigan scored all the way from second base. Butler then stole third base and came across when MacHardy swung at a wild third strike and proceeded to first base. Delton Helms, who had singled before MacHardy came to bat, then scored on Dave Smith's single.

Brophy struck out 12 Missouri batters and was superb with men on base. Nick Vancho contributed some fine plays at shortstop.

Captain and third baseman Delton Helms smashed a single to right field with one out and Talbot on second in the last of the ninth inning to give Rollins a 5-4 win over tournament favorite Michigan State and leave Rollins the only undefeated team in the series. The win assured Rollins of a spot in the finals.

The Tars trailed 4-1 at one point but rallied in the late innings to give Tauscher, who went all the way, his second victory in the tournament. Brophy batted for Tauscher to lead off the ninth and walked. He was sacrificed to second and Talbot singled him across.

Connie Butler was intentionally passed before Helms came through with his winning single.

A single by MacHardy and three walks gave the Tars a run in the second, but three singles and two sacrifices made it 4-1 in the sixth. MacHardy tripled and Smith singled to narrow the gap to 4-2 in the bottom of the sixth.

MacHardy's double, Smith's single and Vancho's fly made it 4-3 in the eighth to set the stage for the ninth inning rally.

Michigan State avenged its loss to Rollins with a 10 inning 3-2 victory June 14. The State victory left Rollins, Michigan State, and Missouri all with 3-1 records in the tournament.

The Tars went into a 2-0 lead in the fifth inning as their top series hitting combination of MacHardy and Smith singled and went to second on a bunt by Vancho. Dave Robinson then singled over short and both came home.

Bobby Leader pitched six hit shutout ball for six innings but his luck and control deserted him in the seventh. A hit batsman, walk and infield hit loaded the bases before John Polonsky doubled in two runs and Cary relieved to put out the fire.

The Tars loaded the bases in the seventh but failed to score. The Tars' third pitcher, Henry Menendez, ran into a jam in the eighth and Tauscher made his third series appearance. He shut out the Spartans until the tenth when right-fielder Bob Powell walked, stole second and came across on a single by centerfielder John Risch. Dave Robinson singled and got as far as second in the Tars half but he died there.

The Tars rested June 15 as Missouri defeated Michigan State. When rain postponed the final game slated for June 16, the consensus was that it helped Missouri, giving its pitching staff an extra day of rest. Justice, after shifting between Brophy and Cary as his final starting pitcher, decided upon Bill so as to have Brophy ready for both outfield and hurling relief. Missouri decided upon lefty Ed Cook, who won an early tournament game.

Missouri's righthanded power found Cary's slants to their liking as Bud Cox smashed a second inning home run after centerfield star Jerry Schoonmaker singled across a first inning run.

Brophy pinch hit for Cary in the third and doubled, but died at second. Vancho singled MacHardy across from second in the fourth but Missouri added single runs off Brophy in the fourth and fifth to sew up the game. No Rollins batter hit safely off Cook after the fifth inning.

IM BOARD DROPS FOOTBALL FOR SOFTBALL

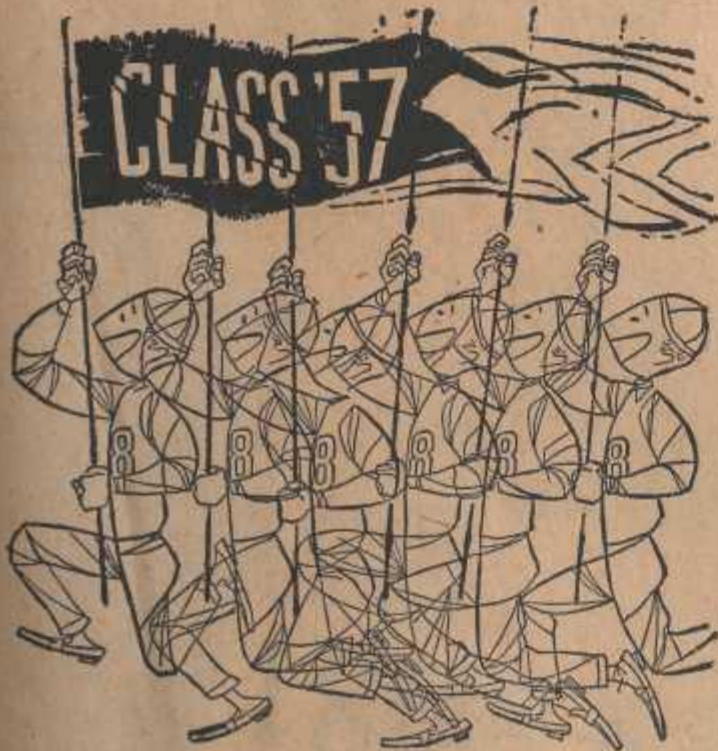

The Intramural Board, in its last meeting of the 1953-54 school year held the last week of May, voted to drop football from the intramural sports program and substituted a fall softball season.

Plans and schedule for the fall season will be discussed at the first meeting of the intramural board. The intramural board normally meets the first Monday of each month.

The board took its action after consideration of injuries received during the 1953 season. Softball was voted in as the sport to replace football over other suggested sports. The change will give the intramural program two softball seasons, one in the fall and another in the spring.

With the departure of football the sports remaining on the intramural calendar are basketball, tennis, volleyball, golf, softball, and swimming. Points toward the intramural trophy are given for victories in individual contests, winning of league championships, and representation on varsity teams.

Don Finnigan of Lambda Chi Alpha is chairman of the intramural board.

Annual Competition In Poetry Contest Opened To Students

The National Poetry Association has announced original-verse competition for possible publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry. This is the 12th annual competition sponsored by this organization.

According to association secretary Dennis Hartman the following rules will govern competition:

1. Mss. must be typed or written in ink on one side of a sheet.
2. The competitor's home address and college address must appear on each work submitted.
3. Deadline for all entries is November 5.
4. Students may submit as many manuscripts as they wish with theme and form according to the contributor's desire.
5. Shorter works will be preferred due to space limitations in the final publication.

Of the more than one hundred thousand works submitted in the past ten years, the association has published 4,000 in their yearly anthology.

ART CLASSES OPENED TO W.P. STUDENTS

Art classes for Winter Park High School students, under the Rollins College Courses for the Community program, began Tuesday, Sept. 7th, said George Sauter, Director.

Students taking these courses will be excused from class at 2:05 p.m. one day a week to attend the 2 1/4-hour art class on the Rollins campus. Registration must be made at both Winter Park High School office and at the Courses for the Community office in the Rollins Administration Building.

Mrs. Joy Winslow, well-known Orange County art teacher, will conduct the courses.

Students taking the courses may earn a half-unit high school credit per year. The tuition is $27, with a $5.50 materials fee, for each of the three 10-week terms. Credit will not be granted unless all three terms are taken.

Other art classes for children in the lower grades will begin later in the month.

COLLEGE CHARMERS LEAD RACE FOR ORANGE BOWL BEAUTY AWARDS

Based on past Miami Orange Bowl Queen contest records, college charmers have an edge on younger high school lovelies in the 21st annual version now under way. Seven of the last 11 winners came from campuses of three universities in the state.

Corinne Gustafson, in 1949, a 16-year-old Coral Gables junior high school girl, was the youngest to take the tiara during the same time. Barbara McCrick, the current and 20th annual Orange Bowl Queen, was a 1953 Miami high school graduate. She succeeded Marion Ettie, a University of Miami coed, who won the Florida Citrus Queen's crown the same year, which led to two European tours for her.

In addition to Marion, the other U. M. "Hurricane Honeys" who triumphed in the glamor marathon were Muriel Smith, 1944; Vernell Bush, 1945; Jeanne Biegger, 1948, and Mary Davison, 1951. The other beautiful collegians to rate the Orange Bowl tiara during the 11 years were Mary Delma Brice, Stetson University, 1947, and Ruthie Harst, Florida State University, 1952.

Libby Walker, a Coral Gables model won in 1946; Ladine Van Wagoner, an air line stewardess, 1950.

Girls from other states enrolled at Rollins College or other Florida schools are eligible to compete with the rest of the field limited to Florida residents. None must ever have been married. The winner and four runners-up princesses agree to devote their Christmas vacations to the Orange Bowl Festival at Miami, Dec. 25 through Jan. 3.

In deference to costumers and stylists who create wardrobes for the court, a deadline for hopefuls to submit three required photographs of themselves as initial contest bids will be earlier than in other years. Pictures and accompanying vital statistics should be sent without delay to the Orange Bowl Committee News Bureau, 615 S. W. Second Ave., Miami 36, Florida.

Neither entry blanks nor sponsors are required but candidates frequently are nominated by fraternities, sororities and student newspapers or magazines.
