Baseball Team Honored At Town Banquet Tonight

Citizens of Winter Park will pay tribute to the Rollins baseball team, last year's N.C.A.A. finalists, with a banquet at the Winter Park Woman's Club at 6:30 to-night.

F.E.L. Whitsell, President of the Winter Park Chamber of Commerce, which is sponsoring this event, will act as master of ceremonies.

Baseball notables and those who have been a part of the success of Rollins baseball will be honored guests. Among those present will be big Bobo Newsome, the pitcher who hurled for more major league teams than any other and yet compiled more than 200 big league wins during his career.

George Myatt, long-time Washington Senator coach who has just been added to the Chicago White Sox coaching staff, and Ed Levy, a product of Rollins College who later played for the Yankees and who has managed Daytona Beach in the Florida State League during the past few years, will also be in attendance.

But the big show will be for the players and the men directly responsible for the Tars success, Rollins athletic director Jack McDowall, who has seen more than 25 years of Rollins sports, will give a history of Rollins baseball to open the banquet program.

Bob Steelman, the Omaha announcer who brought the drama of the College World Series back to Winter Park, will recapture some of the highlights for the audience.

After Steelman's speech trophies will be presented to members of the team for their play in Omaha. At the time of the presentation of trophies, students unable to secure a $3 ticket to the banquet will be allowed to watch the ceremonies. A loudspeaker will be set up to carry the proceedings to anyone wishing to follow the program from the front lawn and porch.

Coach Joe Justice, who steered the team to the finals, will follow the presentation of awards with a speech about the future prospects of the Tar baseball squad. President Hugh McKean will then speak to climax the tournament.

Dean Sidney French Is Speaker At First After-Chapel Meeting

The After-Chapel Club will have its first informal get-together in the Chapel Conference Room immediately following this Sunday's service with Dean Sidney French as guest speaker.

Each Sunday the After-Chapel Club invites some member of the faculty or administration to speak on any topic of general interest to the student. The last part of the meeting is then opened for group discussion. During the meeting coffee is served.

All Rollins students are invited to attend.

HOSE APPOINTED BUS. MANAGER OF YEARBOOK

Publications Union announced the appointment of Alexander "Sandy" Hose as associate business manager of the 1954-55 TOMOKAN, after its Monday afternoon meeting.

A sophomore, Hose has been photographer for the yearbook having high school experience in the same field.

His appointment is intended to fill the interim until the intended re-entrance of the student-elected manager Ross Fleischmann who has dropped out of college during the fall term, Union chairman Sis Atlans explained.

In voting on an interim appointment, the Publication's group acted upon the request of the TOMOKAN editor since the constitution of the group does not make such a vote necessary.

Chairman Atlans announced that Hose would take office immediately with later arrangements pending upon the return of manager Fleischmann.

Council Committee Revises Fiesta Plans

Rollins College will definitely sponsor a Fiesta or Fiesta-like celebration in the spring of 1955. This decision was made at a meeting of the Student-Faculty Committee of the Student Council Monday afternoon in the Woolson House.

It was decided that this year's fund-raising campaign would be held during the annual Baseball Week which is scheduled for March 19 thru 26. The opinion was expressed that this tie-in with the sports event would enhance the chances for success of both undertakings.

All funds garnered from the non-athletic events of the week will, as in the past, be allotted for Fiesta scholarships to deserving students. These scholarships are presented by a special Student Council committee.

COUNCIL VOTES ON "BERMUDAS" QUESTION MON.

It was moved and passed at Student Council meeting Monday night that a recommendation to allow bermuda shorts in the library after 6:00 be taken to the Student Faculty Library Committee.

According to the "R" book, no "bifurcated nether garments" are to be worn in the library, but this fall the Library Committee altered that rule to night-time wear only. This restriction was put in because of the impressions made on the local and sometimes influential people visiting the library in the evening, it was explained.

The official dissolving of the Stray Greeks was voted on by Council members; they no longer have representation in Student Council.

Gail Donaldson stated that anyone interested in working on the TOMOKAN should see Sis Atlans in the Alumni House this evening at 7:15 p.m.

After Jane Lavery, captain of the Cheerleaders, pleaded her case of the dire need for new cheerleading sweaters with a visual-aid demonstration of the "yellow" and "holey" sweaters they have used in the past, Council passed the motion to pay for new sweaters.

There will be a Freshman Class meeting Friday, October 22, for the nominations of class officer candidates. The elections will take place next Tuesday.

Rollins Asked To Join Select Group Of Ten By Poetry Academy

Rollins College has agreed to join a select group of ten colleges and universities chosen by the Board of Directors of The Academy of American Poets.

Along with Yale, Princeton, University of Chicago, Harvard, Stanford, Smith, Vassar, and Williams, Rollins will present the Academy's award of $100 to the student submitting the best poem or group of poems during the college year.

The prize will be awarded annually over the period of five years and is to be administered by the English Department of Rollins College.

The award is made possible by a bequest from the late Mrs. Mary Cummings Eudy, a former member of the Academy of American Poets.

The Board of Directors has decided to call this prize the Academy of American Poets poetry prize in the interest of uniformity so that it will be listed the same in all the colleges and universities. Monday.

The Woolson House meeting was presided over by Chuck Weisman, chairman of the Student-Faculty Committee. Weisman presented the problem to the group through the reading of a memorandum from the administration building which gave faculty opinion on the future conduct of the Fiesta. The memorandum stated that at its May 6 meeting that group had voted,

"to instruct the Faculty-Administration Committee to investigate the possibility of drawing up such general rules and regulations as may be necessary concerning the future conduct of the Fiesta and to make a recommendation to the Faculty."

According to this same memo, the Faculty-Administration group then decided that this matter should be first discussed with the students, and asked Dr. Frank Johnson to take the question up with this group. He would then report back to the Faculty-Administration Committee on the results of the Monday afternoon meeting.

Student Council president Dan Matthews presented the plan which calls for coordination with the Baseball Week program. His idea, which was accepted by the members of the committee, would do away with the name "Fiesta" since, he explained, previous activities have not carried out the Latin-American connotation of the name.

The newly proposed plan does not, however, materially change the activity schedule for the celebration. If this schedule is adopted, there will be a "midway", parade and dance.

Matthews also announced that he had not yet appointed a chairman for this function due to a lack of candidates for the post. "In fact, Matthews stated, none of the people contacted were willing to take the position."

The group, composed of Weisman, faculty members Constance Ortmayer and John Carter; and students, Gail Donaldson and Steve Demopoulos, asked that qualified students and others connected with previous Fiestas be invited to the next meeting of the committee.

Committee discussion included the following points concerning the 1955 Fiesta:

- 1 The chairman of the celebration shall be a student.
- 2 Faculty members and members of the Rollins Women's Association may be invited to participate.
- 3 The Midway may be opened from 7 to 12 p.m. on Thursday, March 24, 1955 with a dance to be held the following Saturday.

T'm'kan Calls Meeting

Any student interested in working on the 1954-55 TOMOKAN is requested to attend a meeting in the Alumni House Thursday evening, October 21 at 7:15 p.m., yearbook editor Sis Atlans announced.

Race Relations Comm. To Elect New Prexy At Tonight's Meeting

There will be a meeting for all old members of the Race Relations Committee at 7:00 p.m. in the Chapel Conference Room next

All freshmen are urged to attend a meeting in the Annie Russell Theatre tomorrow, October 22, to nominate class officers. Officers include President, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer. The elections are to be held in the Student Center, Tuesday, October 26.

Tuesday, October 26.

At that time, Carol Farquharson, Chapel Staff representative, and Shirley Miller, vice-president of the group, will conduct an election to replace last year's prexy Fred Shoaff, who failed to return to Rollins.

At a later date, Race Relations will invite interested freshmen to join.

Race Relations is a Chapel Staff Committee whose purpose is to cooperate with the surrounding community in furthering practical projects. Last year through the efforts of Race Relations, over 1400 books were collected in a canvass throughout Winter Park for the Hungerford School Library. Hungerford is a Negro elementary school. The presentation of these books was one of the highlights of the committee's year.

Fiesta No Siesta

The search is on for students to make up the 1955 Fiesta Committee.

This group, which has sole charge of the annual spring carnival, is at present without either a chairman or members. The reasons for this absence of officials is easily understood when one realizes the burden of authority which is thrown back on the chairman's shoulders when any member of the group does not carry out his job.

The life of a festival chairman here is prefaced by constant criticism, but, according to previous holders of the office, there comes a bright day when the dollar results of his labors are translated into scholarships for needy students. He serves without pay, may be sorely abused, gets a few Sandspur headlines and is the hero or the goat depending on the caliber of his work and that of his assistants.

His committee officials actually hold the threat over the chairman. If they drop the ball it lands on his head.

These committee-men-and-women are placed in charge of publicity, Midway, parade, dance, King and Queen contest, band, entertainment and various other festival activities.

They must be qualified, and above all, they must be interested.

Student Council prexy Dan Matthews has to consider all these problems when he makes the 1955 choices.

The new group will have the added responsibility of living up to the excellent name made by last year's Baseball Week which has lent its title to the fund-raising campaign. If the latest plan for the "Fiesta" is put through, the committee will coordinate its activities with the baseball round-robin which will feature top-flight intercollegiate squads from all over the country.

The publicity developed by interlocking baseball and fiesta could well develop this rather nebulous idea into a Rollins Spring Festival. The possibilities get larger each time they are talked over.

But, in addition to this the festival group, when appointed, will have to live up to and equal or better the publicity effects of the fifteen minute nationwide radio hookup which highlighted last year's Fiesta Dance. For a quarter of an hour US listeners heard the famous Sauter-Finnegan orchestra broadcasting from the Orlando Coliseum under the auspices of Rollins College. The broadcast was interspersed with well-written commentary on the aims and ideals of the college.

But regardless of the publicity and the good times which may be had at this year's extravaganza, whomever Matthews picks will have to keep in mind that the object is to raise money for a good cause. If this were not true the hard work which the committee and the social groups put in during that March week would be of little or no use.

The Chapel Tower

T. S. Darrah

Channing Pollock tells the story of the bibulous man who was advised by a friend, "When you've had enough whiskey, why don't you say 'Sarsaparilla?'" His reply was, "When I've had enough whiskey, I can't say 'Sarsaparilla.'"

Darrah

Too true! And this is so with too many things. If we really knew what "enough" meant we might make a better go of life. Most of us are unlike the philosopher who after being shown through the home of a rich friend remarked, "I am amazed at how many things there are that I don't want or need."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I was glad to read that enlightening article written by our newly elected vice-president. But please, Miss Carol Farquharson, let's keep away from emotional feelings toward me or the male population. Let's not make this a battle of the sexes or a dog eat dog affair. Instead let's get together withholding our emotions and construct a realistic plan for rushing. I hope you agree!!

I would be glad and honored to accept your invitation to attend a PanHellenic meeting, and discuss my solutions. Thanks a lot!!!

It was impossible and not in good taste for me to tear down the sorority and build them up in one article before I could see the response to my letter. I wanted first to see if there was interest enough to warrant my writing a second letter containing my constructive viewpoints.

It is easy to rip apart but very hard to rebuild, therefore I gave the situation a great deal of thought, weighing the good and bad points, and trying to set a pattern. What I am putting forth is just a skeleton and only by articulation will the skeleton grow strong.

A meeting must first be held by the PanHellenic Council and represented also by qualified and interested faculty, with the sole interest of bettering the system for the whole school instead of for particular sororities. Objective thinking must win over subjective thinking at the meeting. If the girls can realize by the discussion that the two-week fiasco rushing is bad then I am sure something constructive will follow. My plan is a system of delayed rushing.

The boys are working out well with their system and there is no reason why the girls can't either! It could last anywhere from five to nine weeks ending around Thanksgiving or Christmas. I do not mean for this whole period to be formal rushing because the strain would be too great. Instead three weeks informal and two weeks formal, or five weeks informal and three weeks formal, etc. It would be up to the girls to decide among themselves. This system is rather crude but the PanHellenic council could smoothe it out and keep rivalry down to a bare minimum. Practical rules for informal and formal periods could be set up. If all the sororities could give a little and take a little I feel the rushing situation would improve.

Let's get this meeting together girls, withhold emotions, construct realistically and "Give Our Women A Fair Chance".

AN OPEN LETTER TO FRESHMEN

Another season of sorority rushing closes, the spotlight switches to fraternities and you. Men's rushing is in full swing.

We list here a few simple suggestions that will help you to meet and understand each group.

(1) Don't wait to be invited. Go to the houses. The fraternity men have studies too. They don't have time to go out and meet all of you individually.

(2) Meet the entire group, not just a few individuals. Every group has its strong and weak points. Learn them for yourself—hearsay is no basis for your evaluation of a group.

(3) Make it your business to find out all you can about each group. Inquire within the group as to its pledge rules, initiation fees, dues, social functions, etc.

(4) Give every group a fair chance. Go to all the rush parties possible.

Remember, the decision you make will affect your college life for the next four years. Don't be "snowed." Find out all you can now so that you will be able to make a wise choice on November 21st.

'ROUND ROLLINS

By Footloose

History has again repeated itself in Chase Hall. Latest reports concerning the juvenile behavior of the Chase "boys", indicates that the Dean of Men is about to make many new acquaintances—we wonder what the home-life of these freshboys has been like. Have they been locked away like a Kasper Hauser, are they now trying their wings of freedom, or are they refugees from the A.A.? It certainly is to be expected that all should have a good time; conversely all should act civilized when the festivities are terminated. Not to be overlooked is the part played by many of the social groups and the influence they exert over the junior geeks. One of the rushing tactics frequently employed by fraternities on this and many other campuses, is that of maneuvering prospective pledges to bar-rooms. The basic problem lies with these tactics. For it is certainly this sort of behavior that has resulted in the Chase rowdyism. The problem is more than severe when thirty-some-odd testimonials (as to the what and whereabouts of individuals) have been placed in the hands of the Dean. This is a problem that can be resolved only through the help of the I.F.C. It is high time the male marplots ceased their worship of Bacchus. If boys are going to drink, let them drink like men, not boys.

Overheard: Dean Darrah quoting Oscar Wilde, "A cynic is one who knows the price of everything and the value of nothing."

Although much favorable publicity has been given recently to radio station W P R K we think a bit of criticism would not be in bad taste. Much emphasis has been put on the varying of programs... be that as it may, much of the music sounds repetitiously familiar. We understand of course that the station does not possess the most extensive of record libraries, but the frequency with which some compositions are played is enough to dull the appreciation of even the most avid listener. (This goes too for certain "types" of music.) Our sympathies are with the station manager who at this stage of production must be counting Mantovanni jumping over Vaughn Williams in order to get to sleep at night.

Rumor has it—the telephone for student use in the center, is going to be installed in the basement of that building. This is a splendid idea, but why not in the Chapel Tower?

Wanting to part on a note of praise, we have searched diligently and discovered the most praiseworthy item this week was the weather—It was Great.

MARINES ACCEPTING APPLICANTS FOR COLLEGE TRAINEE CLASSES

The Marine Corps Officer Procurement Officer has announced that applications are now being accepted from students who desire to earn a commission in the Marine Corps while completing college.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors, pursuing a course of study other than pre-medical, pre-dental, theology, pharmacy or music, are being selected for the PLATOON LEADERS CLASS. All training is conducted during two six week summer classes. Candidates receive $149.05, as pay, for the first class and $183.45 for the second class. Uniforms, food and travel allowances are also furnished. Members of the PLATOON LEADERS CLASS are deferred from induction. Commissions are tendered upon graduation from college.

Seniors and graduates may apply for the OFFICER CANDIDATE COURSE. Commissions are tendered to candidates who successfully complete a ten-week training class after graduation from college.

Training for both programs is conducted at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia. Successful candidates are appointed to commissioned rank in the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve and must agree to serve on active duty for three years.

Officers commissioned through either program are initially assigned to the Officer Basic School, also at Quantico, for five additional months of instruction. Many officers then receive specialist training in various fields including aviation, artillery, tracked vehicles, supply, engineering and others.

The Marine Officer Procurement Officer will visit the campus during the school year, however, anyone interested may see or write to Captain F. R. Hittinger, Jr., Officer Procurement Officer, Room 537, Peachtree-Seventh Building, N.E., Atlanta, Ga.

ORANGE BOWL OFFICIALS SEE MORE STATEWIDE COMPETITION

More state-wide collegiate competition in Miami's 1955 Orange Bowl race than in past years is predicted by contest officials.

Cmdr. William N. Mansfield, chairman of the glamour marathon for the Orange Bowl Committee, informed THE SANDSPUR their forecast was based on entries and inquiries already received from coeds, partly as a result of invitations for sororities and fraternities to sponsor candidates, although sponsors are not a requisite.

"Considerable interest also has been registered by collegians in a $500 scholarship which goes to the winner along with a smart wardrobe and other awards," Mansfield said.

Orange Bowl Queen hopefuls were urged to submit three required photos and personal data well in advance of the Nov. 6 deadline to enter the contest. They should be sent to the OBC News Bureau, 615 S. W. Second Ave., Miami 36, Florida.

The 21st annual Orange Bowl Queen and four princesses will be selected in Miami Nov. 13.

« ON MIKE »

by Jay Peterson

The Big News around the station is that all the new equipment is working OK. But, just because all tubes light up doesn't mean that the producers of "live shows" don't have their difficulties. Every one of them have lots of troubles and a whole station-full of problems. Their main stumbling-block is, strangely enough, people.

For instance last Tuesday, a week ago, Perry Douglas was left holding the bag. One of the people who was going to appear on ONE NIGHT STAND just didn't bother to show up; out on a date someplace. Again, one of the regular panel members on Flamingo Forum, because of rushing to be sure, at the last minute phoned in and someone else had to be found to fill in.

We suspect that everyone is at fault here; the producers of the shows and the participants. The simplest thing to say is that we must all be conceituous about our commitments.

It's hard enough to get a student or a faculty member to agree to be in front of that impersonal and frightening thing called a microphone, but it becomes disastrous to the station's reputation with all the advance publicity going out to the SANDSPUR and local people if shows have to be called off or even postponed saying, "Due to circumstances . . . We'll leave the rest of the moralizing to the good Dean."

Peterson

One of the most exciting shows and one which really appeals to all the students is old Bill Frangus' Jazz Concert music for those who like it cool, hot, swing or bop." He plays them all on the same show.

Now here's our question Does he have too much variety? This columnist is a great one for continuity on any type of show and my feeling is that he might divide his hour into segments featuring a style of jazz, a particular artist or artists, or even the progression of jazz in a section of the country. This way we would be able to learn something about the stuff.

Talking with Bill it came out that he holds just the opposite view. "Jay", he remarked, "you don't want to have too much of one kind of music. Some don't like dixie or swing and want to hear progressive "cool" sounds. I want to have a show where everyone will hear something he likes."

Was going to talk about engineers who kill off all the highs with unnecessary use of the "scratch filter", and that on a hi-fi station this drives the writer bats especially after cranking up his own hi-fidelity set, but this is running overtime so will sign off until next week.

KELLY TO FORM NEW SPEECH GROUP HERE

Those students interested in being a member of a choral speaking group will be happy to hear that one is being started at Rollins. Directed by Mrs. Kelly, speech professor, the group will have its first meeting next-week.

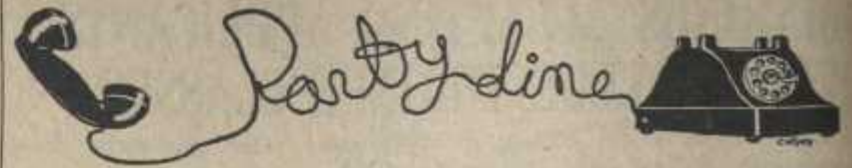

What is choral speaking? The answer to this is that choral speaking is "speaking together." Many students will remember hearing a speaking choir perform last year in the performance of "John Brown's Body," in which Tyrone Power and Raymond Massey starred.

Fine examples of choral speaking flourished in Greece over 2500 years ago. Choral speaking today, of course, differs from the choral speaking of earlier times. Drama is not used at first, but rather narrative, dramatic and lyric verse. The selections are usually short and the purpose is to enjoy the speaking of these poems together and to say them so that others may also enjoy them. Choral speaking is acclaimed to be a worthwhile experience for anyone. It gives you a chance to be conscious of your own speech abilities and teaches you to be less afraid when you are speaking front of others.

In comparison to the number of colleges and universities in the United States, there are not many in which there are well-trained, active speaking choirs. Mrs. Kelly feels that, "To develop such a group here at Rollins would add distinction to the college, as well as provide opportunity for training and experience in oral communication which would be of value to anyone, no matter what his particular aims in education and profession might be."

The smallest number with which it is possible to work successfully in choral speaking is generally agreed to be fifteen, the largest number is 30. It is necessary to have a certain balance between light and heavy voices.

Those students who feel that they would like to have a part in the founding of the Rollins Speaking Choir, please meet at the Annie Russell Theatre in the Green Room on Monday October 25th at 4:15 p.m. to discuss plans.

This weekend there were parties, parties all kinds of parties from Carnivals to Bowery Balls. Thank goodness that's over. Now we can get back to the grind.

It was the Independent Men's Pelican weekend. Those seen wallowing in the Atlantic bathtub were: Rod Collins, Jay Peterson, Dick Bernard, Leon Baker, George Milam and Dick Main. They found out that a Ford and an Olds can't outrun the police.

The Sigma Nus had a television and dancing party Saturday night. Some of those there were: Barbara Neal and Bud Bilensky, Valerie Cooper and Bob Tate, Alice Coppock and Chuck Warden, Jane Frankenberg and Dan Matthews. Little Mac looked at television.

There was a get-together at a local party-place Monday afternoon, free refreshments! Everyone lived-it-up with a gay abandon. There were all types of indoor sports such as "buzz", "Indian signs" and just plain singing.

FLORIDA COEDS WANT BURMUDAS

Last week in Student Council, an "important" issue was once again brought forward. The question was, "Should Rollins Coeds be permitted to wear Burmuda shorts on campus, including such educational facilities as the library."

It seems this has become an unusual problem throughout Florida. The report has come to us that our noted neighbors, the University of Miami, feel quite strongly in favor of not restricting the pretty coeds' knees. Here is the long and short of it, pants, that is.

The girls feel that they look more attractive in shorts than the knobby-kneed, bow-legged male. The male contingent, however, may wear their Burmudas on campus. "We wear 20 million clothes through the year," say the indignant coeds, while the males on campus romp around in outfits made for desert warfare."

Men, it seems, spend the early years of their lives trying to get out of shorts pants, only to climb back in them when they reach college age.

On campus, Burmuda shorts have been classed in the same category as slacks and pedal-pushers. In this beautiful Florida climate it is nearly impossible to send out the weekly laundry, with less than five cotton dresses in it, unless, of course, the coed is permitted to wear Burmudas.

INDIES WALLOP CLUBBERS, 9-6, IN IM OPENER

by George Longshore

A large crowd was on hand at the Sandspur Bowl Monday as a power-laden Independent team opened its bid for the intramural championship by outhitting the highly regarded X Club, 9-6.

Since discarding football as a mainstay of the intramural program at Rollins, the intramural board decided to substitute a season of softball to keep interest in sports at Rollins from dying completely.

Strengthened by the addition of a large number of promising freshmen, the Indies rapped out nine hits off X Club pitcher Bruce Remsburg, including a booming home run by husky Elmer Lott.

The lead changed hands a number of times throughout the contest. The Club grabbed the lead with three runs in the second inning and two more in the fifth.

Their elation was short lived, however, as the Indies came back in the seventh with three all-important hits to drive across four runs to put the Indies ahead by three runs.

The X Club made a good try at a comeback in the last inning but the rally died with two men left on base. Mike Crecco allowed only six scattered hits to set the Club down.

The defending champion Delta Chi's opened their season Tuesday against last year's cellar dwelling Lambda Chi squad. Sigma Nu opposed Kappa Alpha yesterday in a battle of could-be contenders.

Other interesting games scheduled this week include the Kappa Alpha-X Club game tomorrow. This shapes up as one of the more closely contested games of the season. The Independents are scheduled to go against the Lambda Chi's today.

Defending champion Delta Chi was rudely surprised Tuesday at the Sandspur Bowl as last season's bottom place team, Lambda Chi Alpha, tied them, 6-6 in a game called because of darkness.

Lambda Chi, behind pitcher Gordon Hahn, led 5-2 until the seventh inning when Delta Chi rallied for four runs to go ahead. Lambda Chi tied it with one in its half of the seventh as the game ended on a disputed baseline play.

At this stage, the likely contenders for the championship seem to be the Delta Chi's and the Independents. They will be offered plenty of competition by the Sigma Nu's, KA's and the X Club.

Next week's schedule:
Monday—Sigma Nu vs. Delta Chi.
Tuesday—Kappa Alpha vs. Independents.
Wednesday—X Club vs. Delta Chi.
Thursday—Sigma Nu vs. Lambda Chi Alpha.
Friday—Lambda Chi Alpha vs. Kappa Alpha.

Members of the Independent softball squad gather with captain Stu Ledbetter, kneeling, before their season opening win.

Dave Feldman of the X Club awaits the peg as Hank Metz of the Independents slides safely into first base Monday.

McDougal Sees Promising Future For Women Netters

by Jim Locke

Amiable, leather-tanned Jim McDougal, who has jurisdiction over the destinies of the men and women varsity tennis team, is brimful of optimism over this year's three promising feminine hopefuls.

Best illustrating the reasons for Jim's beaming countenance is Joan MacLelland, Marianne Weil and Leigh Hay, all new entering students. The trio will be coming with the bulwark and remainder, (with the addition of Pat Stewart) of last year's tennis team of Carmen Lampe, Nancy Corse, and Bonnie Edwards to provide Rollins with its best women's tennis team in years. Coach McDougal, enraptured over such enormous possibilities, contended that his present contingent is better than the depth-laden team of Pauline Betz, Brundy Rosenquent, and Connie Clifton of five and six years ago.

Marianne Weil, the most inexperienced of the three gifted players, hails from Cincinnati, Ohio. Practically a novice of the game, with only three years of playing behind her, Marianne has risen to third in the Ohio Valley Junior. Her tournament play has been limited to winning the Woman's Cincinnati Junior title and becoming a finalist in the Kentucky State Junior Championship.

Leigh Hay has an imposing list of credits. She is not only known as a tennis star but also noted for her swimming talents. Starting practically at infancy, Leigh was ranked number one in the 15 and under class in her home state of California. She grew into the Junior division where she was ranked third in California. In 1951, Leigh won the Florida Hardcourt State Juniors. Her tennis career was temporarily abandoned to devote the time and practice necessary for winning the Hawaiian Country Club 100 yard freestyle for women, 18 and under, and sixth place in the mile at the Women's National in Houston, Texas.

Jenn MacLelland, perhaps the most accomplished of the three, is ranked 22 of the country's junior tennis players. Her court savvy won for her the New Jersey State Championship for Juniors, and finalist in the New York Indoor.

Nyimiz Maps Plans For Pre-Season Golf With Outside Foes

Coach Dan Nyimiz of the Rollins golfers has outlined a program for returning golf to a major status as a collegiate sport at Rollins.

Play started this weekend for places on the 12 man golf ladder with four girls included on the ladder. Before the golf season officially starts next spring, the Rollins golfers hope to meet opponents from the Dubsread Country Club and Daytona.

For the first time this spring the girls will accompany the male linksters when they travel to such important tournaments as the Southern Invitational in Tallahassee this spring.

During the fall and winter months before the opening of the golf season next spring, members of the ladder will keep in competition against themselves and in various tournaments.

During this time members of the ladder will have to defend their positions against all challenges from the golfer immediately below them.

by Dick Haldeman

The long fall sports lull at Rollins is over. The fall intramural softball season has gotten underway. But what has made this a really interesting sports week at Rollins has been the meeting of the athletic directors of six Florida colleges to discuss a new Florida College basketball and baseball league and the banquet that will be tonight to honor Rollins' great N.C.A.A. runnerup baseball team.

Haldeman

The league will also do away with such situations as existed last season between Rollins and Florida State. Florida State refused to include the Tars on its 1954 baseball schedule after a misunderstanding the previous season.

It is to be hoped that such related incidents as the one last year in Tampa, when the Tars had to compete with both the Spartans baseball squad and two inept umpires, will be remedied by the formation of a league with uniform officiating.

What the success of a league of Florida colleges depends mostly upon is whether it is a league in name only with the same playing and officiating conditions, or if the formation of a league not only makes for easier scheduling, but also for stiffer competition, better playing conditions, and improved officiating.

The banquet tonight for the Rollins baseball team will be the most lavish such event ever given for a Rollins athletic team, but this is the most important athletic team ever to represent Rollins.

From all indications the merely the appearance of the different important sports figures that will speak will be worth the $3 price of admission to the banquet.

Incidentally, anyone unable to afford the price of admission or to secure seats at the banquet, can watch the presentation of trophies that will follow the speeches.

The University of Miami baseball squad will work around the problem of spring football practice this year with a split baseball season. The Hurricanes will open diamond hurrican in January and play their opening game in early March. The baseball squad will then have a gameless lull for a few weeks while the football players on the team go through spring drills. The other members of the baseball team will continue to practice during this time.

After spring football practice is over, Miami's baseball season will be resumed. It sounds like a convenient arrangement, except that it is likely that some football players may find the squeeze play from baseball to football and back to baseball a bit rough to handle.

The opening of the intramural softball season Monday disclosed what almost no one had expected. There are Fresh Men at Rollins. The Independents, if they are as good as they looked in their first game, will probably win the softball crown in a breeze.

They were playing against probably the best team (or second best) in the league and probably the best pitcher and still they looked good both at bat and in the field. There were many indications that softball was at a pretty low ebb last spring, but a few of the fraternities are going to have to hustle to keep up with the freshmen athletes.

New Cage And Baseball League Formed In Meeting At Rollins

A new collegiate athletic conference emerged Monday afternoon from smoke filled Carnegie Hall after a two hour session between the athletic directors of five Florida colleges.

With athletic director Jack McDowall of Rollins presiding over the meeting, representatives of Rollins, Florida State, Miami, Florida Southern, and Stetson, drew up the plans for the Florida Basketball and Florida Baseball Conference.

The door was left open for Tampa, which had been invited to the meeting, but failed to send a representative, to become a member if it accepted the constitution drawn up by the other members.

In the meeting Monday the conference was formed for only basketball and baseball teams of the five schools, but the representatives made it clear that this impeded in no way the future extension of the loop to other sports.

The first steps towards forming the conference were made by Miami athletic director Jack Harding two weeks ago in a move to alleviate Miami's schedule problems due to her location. And the first steps taken in the meeting Monday concerned the scheduling of opponents.

After a lengthy discussion the representatives adopted a resolution that each conference baseball team would play a minimum of eight conference games against the four conference opponents, with no more than two games against any one opponent counting in the standing. If two conference teams play more than two games against each other, the first home game of each squad is counted in the standings.

The eligibility requirements of the conference will comply with those of the S.I.A.A. No athlete who has transferred from one member school to another member school will ever be eligible to compete in a conference game. However he will be able to compete against non-member schools according to the eligibility requirements of his school.

An original proposal to accept only baseball umpires with a year of experience was dropped for the present arrangement between the schools, whereby the home team must send the umpires' names to its opponents for approval ten days before the date of the contest.

A list of officials will be drawn up for the league after the first season. Each coach will file an umpire fitness report after each ball game, and the list will be drawn up on the basis of these reports.

Bruce Hale, the Miami representative, was designated as secretary in charge of keeping statistics for the basketball league. A copy of each score sheet will be mailed to the conference statistician after each contest.

Dr. Johnson, the Stetson baseball coach, will handle the baseball statistics under the same arrangements.

An officials rating sheet will also be kept for basketball. An approved officials list will be chosen from this sheet after the first season. No coach can fill out a fitness report sooner than 24 hours after the game is over.

The basketball schedules will be run on a home and home basis with each conference squad playing each other team twice. In case of a tie for the championship a playoff game will decide the crown if both teams agree to the game.

If financial or travel problems prevent a playoff, the two teams will be co-champions.

After a short discussion, each representative agreed to pay an entrance fee of $10 to pay for trophies to present to winners of the conference championships. The championship trophies will be rotating trophies with a team winning permanent possession with three championships in a sport.

The conference representatives agreed to hold two business meetings a year, in the fall and in the spring. The next meeting is slated for this spring. The fall meeting will be used to discuss baseball and scheduling problems and the spring meeting will discuss baseball problems.

Representing Rollins at the meeting were McDowall, Dan Nyimicz, and Joe Justice. Johnson, Dick Morland, and Cowell represented Stetson, with Danford speaking for F.S.U., Bruce Hale representing Miami, and Bill Clippson appearing for Florida Southern.

Galaxy of Sports

by Alison Dessau

Congratulations to the two newly formed freshmen basketball teams, the Sands and the Spurs. Both groups, with plenty of speed and endurance, ride a high chance of coming out over their competitors this year. However, we enfeeblen upperclasswomen have one advantage, perhaps, and that is the finesse derived from our experience on the court. In any case there ought to be plenty of excitement in Rec Hall during the next two months, so if you're not playing, come and cheer.

Dessau

It has been set up so that each freshman team will be comprised of approximately ten players. These girls will elect their own captains, who, when the season starts, will organize their teams and do all the substituting.

It was announced at an intramural board meeting, on Monday, that there would be no horse show this year. However, Mrs. Wheeler's invitation still extends to those students still interested in a free ride.

There will be an important meeting of all timers and scorers tomorrow at 1:20 p.m. in the athletic office. Sara Jane requests that no groups miss this meeting.
