STUDENTS MAKE TRIP TO FLA. U. FOR CONFERENCE

Seven Rollins students will accompany political science professor Franklyn Johnson to an all-day "Conference of Practical Politics" sponsored by the Florida Citizenship Clearing House (FCCH) at Gainesville, Florida, on Saturday, November 20.

Politically interested Rollinsites council veep Carol Farquharson, Dave Bowen, Rod Collins, Paul Driscoll, student body president Dan Matthews, Steve Valvanis and Jim Westergaard will leave by car Saturday morning for host University of Florida.

About 100 politicians, students and other civic leaders will attend this convention according to Dr. Johnson, state director of the FCCH. Student representatives will come from Rollins, University of Florida, Florida State University and Stetson.

The meeting will feature talks by four experts in practical political science as well as round table discussions on current political problems.

Dr. Manning Dauer, chairman of the government department of the U. of Florida will give the opening remarks; Dr. Johnson will discuss FCCH aims in a speech entitled "The FCCH — The Reason Why"; Hon. Farris Bryant will close the opening session with remarks on Florida politics. State Senator McCrea will end conference activities with an after-dinner address Saturday night.

The round table discussions Saturday afternoon will consider current and long-standing problems of practical politics. According to Dr. Johnson this will follow the same general trend as was seen at last week's political get-together in Miami. The Miami discussions included: political education, college students in partisan political activity, the necessity of a two-party system, the 18-year old vote and political ethics.

The FCCH is a branch of The Clearing House — a non-partisan organization which is supported by funds provided by the Falk Foundation of Pittsburgh. The Florida organization is the only group of this type in the South.

COUNCIL SUGGESTS TOMOKAN INCLUDE FACULTY ADDRESSES

by Joy Woods

The short meeting of Student Council Monday night, November 14th, consisted of one motion that a suggestion be made to Sis Atlass, Editor of the Tomokan that the faculty addresses be published along with the student directory in this year's Tomokan.

This motion was seconded and passed following a discussion as to the loss of money that would be suffered by Council in publishing a separate Student Directory booklet. Prexy, Dan Matthews stated that after looking into publication matters such as printer's fees, etc. it would be highly unprofitable for Student Council to delve into such a project.

Council members approved Dan's request that the center be closed Thanksgiving vacation from Thursday Nov. 24th to Sunday the 28th.

He explained that this was suggested by Mr. Gregg, manager of the center, who in the past has lost money due to the few students who use the center during the Thanksgiving vacation.

However, the cigarette machine will be placed outside in the post office for the remaining students use.

Peter Dearing To Direct Theatre Arts Activities

by Ann Walker

A former professor at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London, England, has been appointed as director of the Rollins Theatre Arts Department, to succeed Howard Bailey.

Mr. Peter Dearing, who spent twenty years with the English Theatre as stage manager, producer and director, assumed his duties in the Annie Russell and Fred Stone Theatres, Monday, November 15.

Howard Bailey, director of many Annie Russell plays and professor of theatre arts at Rollins since 1938, took over as writer-director for the film production division of the air force at Orlando Air Force Base in October.

Until Dearing's appointment, Wilbur Dorsett, assistant professor of Theatre Arts, had taken over Bailey's position.

Mr. Dearing has planned several innovations for the Theatre Arts Department. A Nativity play to be given in the Fred Stone Theatre just before the Christmas holidays will be the first project he will undertake.

Starting in January, Mr. Dearing hopes to have choral dramatic readings in the Fred Stone Theatre. These will be given every Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Dearing has also decided to postpone the January production, "The Lady's Not For Burning," until next year. As a substitute, the Rollins Players will perform Thornton Wilder's, "Skin of Our Teeth." With this play, comes Mr. Dearing's first chance to direct a play with a Rollins student cast.

Mr. Dearing started his acting career early in life. Starring in motion pictures at the age of six, he soon afterwards went into the legitimate theatre. He has worked with nearly all established producers in London.

Since World War II, he has produced and/or directed over one hundred plays of all types. He toured America for three years with the Ben Greet Shakespearean Players, playing in over eight hundred towns and forty-six states.

Dearing has been a broadcaster for top dramatic shows presented by the British Broadcasting Company. He also has worked with the "Children's Hour" over the B. B. C.'s television station and in New York, with "Studio One."

Date Set For Annual Service At Christmas

The annual Christmas Service will be given three times this year in Knowles Memorial Chapel.

The first program of the series will be held at 6:15 Sunday evening December 12; the second at 8:30 p.m. the same evening and the final service at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, December 14.

The Rollins College Choir, under the direction of Robert Hufstader, will present both traditional and contemporary works at all of the services.

Cards of admission will again be issued for this year's services. Students, faculty and staff will be given first choice on this basis in order to assure seating for all those who wish to attend.

The remaining cards will be given to the general public. These permits will be available to the public after those connected with the college have exercised their option which extends from November 22 through December 4.

Students have been urged to obtain their cards as early as possible in order to avoid the rush which accompanies announcement of the dates of this program.

Students living on the Rollins campus may obtain cards of admission from their Resident Heads. Day students and members of the faculty and staff may receive their cards by mail or in person at the Chapel office. Students may request cards in order that their families may be able to attend the services.

The cards of admission must be presented at the Chapel for admission to any of the three Christmas services.

Director Wilbur Dorsett does some serious thinking as tryouts go on for the next Annie Russell production, "The Curious Savage." Reading for parts are Bev Stein, Geri Pacino, and Bob Tate.

Another Name Band?

The big question before the Fiesta Committee right now is whether or not to continue the precedent-breaking contracting of a "name" band for the Fiesta weekend dance.

Rollins got wonderful publicity from last year's hiring of Sauter-Finnegan and Co. The dance cost money, but look at the success of the recent Fireman's Ball at the Coliseum which sold out the house through a remarkable publicity campaign and the name of "Harry James." Also, a name-band tops off the big weekend and brings to Rollins some of the flavor of similar spring weekends in larger northern colleges. Last year was just an experiment—those in the know say that, benefitting from last year's mistakes, the 1955 product can make money.

On the other hand, last year's experiment proved that Rollins can not put over an affair that big, or so they say. We have heard that the huge losses incurred in the 1954 "fiasco" have soured any potential underwriters against any more "experiments." Why should a small-town college attempt a really big time dance just because they do it up north?

We're not sure yet. We haven't heard all the latest ideas on the subject; but one thing is certain.

The Fiesta is run for three purposes; to make money for scholarships for the needy, to provide a good time for all in traditional collegiate style, and to publicize Rollins College.

The order of importance in which you rank these purposes should and will determine the way you throw your vote when the "name band" question raises its not-so-ugly head again this year.

No Spur For 2 Weeks,
Financial Report Due

There will not be a Sandspur in the boxes for the next two weeks.

Due to the timing of the Thanksgiving holidays this year the staff is taking a vacation along with the rest of the college.

The next issue will be published on December 9 and will be the last of the fall term. This is necessary since end-of-the-term exams will be pressing down on those who have given part of their time to extra-curricular activities.

The final fall-term issue will include a financial report as required by the Constitution of the Publications Union—that group of students and faculty members which holds the whiphand over publications' expenses in order to assure competent administration.

From this financial report students will be able to judge whether $5000 of their money is being spent to a good purpose since the Sandspur receives its funds from three sources; advertising, subscriptions and student appropriations.

The Chapel Tower

There is a Harvard legend that Dean Briggs once asked a student why he had failed to complete an assignment. "Oh," said the student, "I wasn't feeling very well." "Young man," replied the sage Dean, "I think that in time you may perhaps find that most of the world's work is done by people who aren't feeling very well."

Basil King was in middle age, when he was told that he must inevitably succumb to softening of the brain. After that he wrote almost forty books including "The Conquest of Fear."

Parade Of Opinion

(A review of student opinion from college and university campuses all over the United States compiled by the Associated Collegiate Press for the Rollins Sandspur.)

ANOTHER CLOSED DOOR OPEN

Freedom of the press got a boost on a college campus the other day. The board of regents of the University of Arizona and State Colleges admitted reporters to their sessions, thus breaking a 30-year tradition of closed doors.

University of Michigan regents also opened their meetings to newsmen last summer. The move had been proposed by the Michigan Press Association and was hailed as a "big gain in the fight against secrecy."

Minnesota's regents have always held meetings open to the press, although much of their important business—usually pertaining to property purchase, security restrictions or discipline—has gone on in closed executive sessions. The Michigan board also provided for executive sessions in their new policy.

Executive sessions here generally concern matters which by their nature must be private. But the general policy of convening before the press is usually a safe-guard against transacting public business in private.

This tendency toward secrecy in government, especially at the national level, has increased in the past few years. Newspapers have been forced to take publicity releases, stories of what happened from the people running the proceedings.

We wish the recent opening of Arizona and Michigan meetings were an indication of a trend away from government secrecy. The new policy is a good step—one that should be in effect for all government sessions.

THOSE LIBERALS

Many violent anti-Communists use the term "liberal" as a synonym for Communist, left-winger or radical. Strictly speaking, a liberal is one who advocates improvement, change or reform.

Although the sober opponents of Communism realize the vast difference between a liberal and a left-winger, many McCarthys continue slurring the memory of the world's great liberals through their use of the word.

Among history's famous "fuzzy-thinking" reformers were: A Jewish prophet who stood atop Mount Sinai to proclaim ten rules to live by.

The Carpenter's Son of Nazareth nailed to a wooden cross for ideas subversive to Rome.

The French peasant girl who led her country's army against the British but was burned at the stake for offending the Church.

An Italian astronomer forced by the Pope to quit teaching his heretical doctrine that the earth travels around the sun.

A red-headed Virginia lawyer who advocated the right to revolt and dared to say "all men are created free and equal."

The tall, ugly Illinois rail-splitter willing to fight a war to protect the rights of slaves in the South.

'ROUND ROLLINS

By Footloose

We found the following: the beginning of a scientific treatise, on the desk of our man Morris.

"I would like to start a movement around college called 'A' consciousness. I feel that the 'A' can take the place of Santa Claus. I also find it much more socially acceptable than a belief in a person who refuses to come. Santa Claus being a state of mind which can be readily supplanted or repressed by a drive for the 'A'. Just imagine the shore of Lake Virginia resounding with the poetry of T. S. Eliot and the formulae of Albert Einstein. Of course the race would fail to reproduce itself, but after all if there is no need for Santa Claus there certainly is no need for children."

Rumor has it, that an express agent was seen furtively entering the rear door of Chez Mayes, carrying a freshly painted blue and white "Duncan Hines Recommends . . ." sign. It is our firm conviction that the express man had the wrong address.

We had a Center interview the other day with Mr. Peter Dearing. To the background of clattering dishes, shouting students, and Mr. Sandman, we were able to gather some information from the new director of the A.R.T. Mr. Dearing is extremely interested in putting the Fred Stone back into operation; utilizing the talents of student writers, actors, designers, and directors. He wants to make a sort of "laboratory" of the F.S. for Rollinites with a passion for theater. If any plays of merit are written by students before too many months pass, the new director expects to be able to produce them during the 1955 season. Some of his long-range plans include choral reading, directing of drama shows over radio station WPRK, and giving his students a taste of T.V. acting technique. Incidentally, Mr. Dearing directed the first televised three-act play over the B.B.C. — that was in 1938. He spent the war years with the radio programming department of British Naval Intelligence, doing broadcast work. Of more immediate interest is the fact that the new director has decided to drop THE LADY'S NOT FOR BURNING from the Annie Russell schedule, and is replacing it with Thornton Wilder's THE SKIN OF OUR TEETH . . . which seems to Footloose quite an ambitious, but admirable undertaking.

SALLY SIMEON NAMED KA ROSE AT OPEN HOUSE

Rollins students received a real southern welcome as they packed the KA Mansion last Sunday night for the annual Kappa Alpha All-College Open House.

During the evening president Skip Voelkel, presented Sally Simeon as this year's Kappa Alpha Rose.

Along with the house mother, Mrs. Warren, Sally received flowers and was serenaded by the fraternity.

After the presentation, guests continued dancing to the music of Freddie Castro's combo. Fifteen Rollins coeds chosen by the KA's to be hostesses at the function served refreshments to the guests throughout the evening.

PROF. WOLFF EXPLAINS WHAT ONE SHOULD GET OUT OF COLLEGE

by Mary Ann Norton

"Any world that you haven't built yourself through your own efforts isn't worth having," said Professor Klaus Wolff in his talk to the Afternoon Chapel Club last Sunday.

His topic "What Should I Get Out Of College" evolved into a discussion of "what do we get out of college?" Mr. Wolff asked first — "Why do we discuss this? Why worry? Are we really better off having an education?" Discussion beginning, Wolff questioned the teacher's right to the tearing down of worlds established by students before entering college without replacing it with others. "Is there redemption for this?"

Replies to this were that variations on these worlds is the solution in most cases. The essence of a good education is that it provokes thought. Education can serve as a means of intercommunication.

This too, raised the question "Is this worth four years of college?"

Scope was the next reason. Before one comes to school, one's outlook is narrow, biased. Can four years of college change and broaden the outlook sufficiently enough to warrant the time and money?

Skill as a reason was introduced as the answer to going to college. The practical application alone might justify the time spent.

The final consensus of opinion was that education "raises your ability to appreciate and contribute to the world." Mr. Wolff concluded by saying that "You have no choice but to be human, make the best of it."

New Name Needed; It's Not Called "Fiesta" Any More

Twelve committeemen in search of a name. That is the present status of the Rollins spring festival formerly called the Fiesta — as expressed in a Monday night meeting of the recently formed festival organization.

The opinion was expressed and generally excepted that the word "Fiesta" had almost no connotation when linked-up with a Central Florida college celebration held during a week of baseball. Committee chairman Phil Murray then asked the group and the college in general to "dream up" a slogan or name which will link a fiesta-like celebration with Baseball Week.

The committeemen who are racking their brains for a name were appointed by Murray last week. The sub-committee heads and their assignments are: Ronnie Butler — Assistant Chairman, Joan Bennett — Secretary, Denny Folken — Finance, Gloria Steudel — Parade, Bob Eginton — Dance, Bud Bilensky — Midway, Camma Ward — Art Director, Jim Davis — King and Queen Contest, Carol Farquharson — High School Poster Contest, Jane Laverty — Clean-Up "general trouble-shooter", and Chuck Lambeth — Publicity.

A later announcement stated that Dr. Franklyn Johnson had accepted the position of faculty adviser to the group for 1955.

Murray instructed the members of the group to "select your own committee members because you will have to work with them." It was recommended that the sub-bosses take into consideration those students who had volunteered for work at a recent Student-Faculty Committee meeting.

The chairman also tempered festival plans with the statement that "we can't make concrete plans until we get administration approval." This final approval is expected to be the subject of many conferences with faculty and administration official including President McKean upon his return from Europe.

He summed up the festival plans with the statement that there are "a lot of problems, none of which can't be overcome." He added that the "Fiesta" is the only thing which really ties together all the students of Rollins. He explained that "you (the sub-committee heads) are running your own committee," and "I am just a trouble-shooter."

The subcommittee heads were instructed to complete their group lineups and submit a list of what they consider their committee should do. These reports were made due at the next meeting which will be held in the Alumni House after Student Council meeting next Monday night.

The committee will continue to convene after each Council meeting for as long as necessary, Murray explained. He added that the sequence of meetings would taper off if such is found feasible later in the year.

Suggestions were made, during the general discussion portion of the meeting, that other Rollins-connected organizations be asked to contribute to the 1955 festival. Among those suggested were: the Rollins Women's Association, Rollins Alumni Association, Faculty and fraternity and sorority alumni in the area.

Murray again reminded the group, during this period, of the necessity of administration approval of all plans before the festival can really start functioning on a concrete foundation.

Other points discussed were:

- 1) The necessity of a "big-name" band for the festival dance.
- 2) The possible improvements which could be made in the general appearance and functioning of the Midway.
- 3) The necessity of underwriting a final-night dance.

FIFTY HISTORY BOOKS ADDED TO LIBRARY

Fifty books on Portuguese and Spanish history have been added to Mills Memorial Library, Rollins College, as gifts of Oliver K. Eaton and Mrs. Joseph Hecht, both of Winter Park.

Among the acquisitions are histories of Portugal by Oliveira Martins, Damiao Peres, Fortunato de Almeida and Joao Ameal. Romanones "Obras completas": Las Casas "Historia de las Indias": Antonio Maura "Treinta y cinco años de vida publica" and "Coleccion medio siglo de historia, Los presidentes del consejo de la monarquias, 1874-1931" by various authors.

The books were selected by Dr. Rhea Marsh Smith, Professor of History, during his trip to those countries last summer.

Reprints of Sandspur photos are available from the Rollins Photographic Department located in the basement of the Student Center.

Mike Crecco Takes Award For Essay On U.S. System

A Rollins student has received a $200 cash Student Aid Award for his essay on "The American Enterprise System."

Freshman Michael "Mike" Crecco received his prize and certificate from Kenneth J. Beebe, president of the Horatio Alger Awards Committee of the American Schools and Colleges Association, which organization makes the funds available for these awards, in a recent presentation ceremony here.

Crecco was promoted to the winner's circle from among hundreds of college and university students who are earning their way through college.

These awards are made possible by the Horatio Alger Committee to emphasize to American youth that this is still "the land where equality and opportunity are synonymous" in the words of our fore-fathers, and that "opportunity still knocks now, greater than ever before", as Bernard Baruch said in receiving his own Horatio Alger Award.

"THE AMERICAN ENTERPRISE SYSTEM AND THE EQUALITY OF OPPORTUNITY WHICH IT OFFERS"

Under what system of government other than free enterprise could such men as Andrew Carnegie or George Chrysler (poor immigrants both) progress and grow from obscurity and poverty to magnates of the business world, strictly on the basis of their knowledge and personal ability?

None! The opportunities which these men capitalized upon (and countless others) are as abundant (if not more so) today as in their time. Within legal limitations the individual can formulate his own creative ideas, build them from ideas to reality—create or build that which he is most capable of achieving. Take as an example a manufacturer of dresses. His ability to make a dress equal or better in quality than his competitor (whose prospective goal is the same) will in the final analysis, determine his degree of success. Assuming he succeeds, his product must then be produced on a larger scale, bringing about savings for the consumer as well as the manufacturer. The consumer then receives a quality product at a lesser price, thus increasing his purchasing capacity and his general economic position. The manufacturer has then established a reputable and financially successful product.

A better all-around economic situation is thus created. The capitalization of the available opportunity benefits the individual, who in turn, through the system of free enterprise, benefits majority.

High standards of living are the outgrowth of individual expression and enterprise. These two factions are indispensable to a sound government.

What a rainy week. None of that stuff leaked down into PRK, in fact quite the contrary happened. Little packages started arriving from Capitol and several other record companies and suddenly it was like Christmas.

Records, records by the box-ful were piled around in corners waiting to be put some place. Crates arrived holding such things as a distortion meter, modulation monitor and several gadgets overflowed with paper packing and bent nails.

All of this activity of the mails is in preparation for going 250. "When we go 250," what a magical phrase that one is. Just when this great event will take place is almost anyone's guess. I have a feeling, based on nothing but the use of my ouija board, that all the big tubes will be lighting up regularly around Christmas. This time lapse between now and then will be well used by both Uncle

Mark and the FCC deciding just what they are going to do with the station's application for an increase in power.

One of the shows which we enjoy, and really think a lot of is Prof. Greenfield's Quiz Show. He sits up at the head of a table and says, "I've got an object in mind, it's around the campus and it's mineral." Away go Jim Locke and several others with twenty questions to guess what the object is. One of the best ones was his own tie clip. Another which gave the "experts" a little trouble was the Chapel steeple. You can hear it tonight at 8:30, or stop down at the station; the show's full of laughs.

While Thanksgiving may be a rest from the day to day struggle with classes and teachers, no such rest goes on at PRK. The station will keep putting out shows over the vacation with Rod Collins coming around each night and the two-man Perry Douglas team doing some of the other shows.

DOTTY KOEHLER HAS BUSY JOB AS REGISTRAR

by Bev Stein

Her unselfish characteristics, her never-ending kindness and her pleasant tones to everyone she pleases with and helps, are only a few reasons why Miss Dotty Koehler is one of the most well-liked members of the Rollins Family.

Miss Koehler is originally from Pennsylvania, but claims Florida as her home. Her first experience with students came after graduation from the Women's College of the University of North Carolina. There she was employed as Secretary to the Registrar. She later left and went back to Pennsylvania where she worked for the Ballistic Research Laboratory. A few years ago she came to visit her sister in Orlando and liked it so well, she decided to stay. For three years she was Credit Manager at the Orange Memorial Hospital in Orlando. Another college offered her the same position, but, not wanting to leave Florida, she came to Rollins as an assistant to Miss Laura Neville. This was in the fall of 1948, and soon after that she was chosen to fill the job as Registrar.

If anyone wonders what a registrar has to do, or thinks it is an easy job, he is badly mistaken. The registrar has one of the busiest and most important jobs on the entire campus. Some of her duties include planning the registration period for the students, publishing the schedule of courses, checking the students' programs to make certain they are taking the right courses for their particular major subjects and checking the scholastic averages of every student to meet the minimum requirements. Miss Koehler also serves on various committees with the faculty and now serves as secretary of the faculty meetings.

Aside from being very ambitious, she is a very versatile person. After working all day at Rollins, at night she teaches a course in college algebra to servicemen at the Orlando Air Force Base.

Part of her job requires Miss Koehler seeing every student at least three times a year. As a result, she gets to know all of the students very well, and she says she thoroughly enjoys working with them.

Since hobbies require time, she doesn't have many. However, whenever possible, she loves to read and listen to fine music. A very good seamstress, quite often she likes to sew and make her own clothes.

When asked about her job, Miss Koehler very sincerely said, "This position is made more enjoyable by having three very capable assistants. Mrs. Robert W. Long, Mrs. W. B. Grya and Mrs. Elaine Kemp handle a tremendous amount of the work with ease, and always with a smile."

Saturday night the Chi Omegas had a party—they don't know exactly where. Among those there were Janet Jones and Bruce Beal, Ann Derflinger and Hugh Griffith, Joan Wilkinson and Hugh Mitchell, and Phyllis Lockwood and Bob Finney. Everyone had a happy time.

The Sigma Nu's also had a nice little party Saturday at Harvey Pylant's house. They had purple goodies and contaminated water. Some of those there were Jo Davis and Sandy Hose, Bob Whitelaw and his admirers, Shirley Malcom and Chuck Weisman, Sandy Taylor and Bob Bell, Jackie Crinigan and Jim Robinson, and all the pinned ones. Much amusement was caused by a body discovered in the driveway.

The K A's had their twenty-eighth Annual Open House Sunday night. There was dancing in the patio to the music of Freddy Castro's orchestra. There was a delicious punch to drink and fifteen hostesses who pushed cookies. The highlight of the evening came when Sally Simeon was named the K A Rose.

It was the X Club Pelican and so they say the greatest one on record. What happened? Among those there were Sallie Robinson and Frank Hutsel, Judy Strite and Jim Bocook, Debbie Delaney and Ed Dinga, Mary Fulenwider and Bud Emerson, Marlene Stewart and Face, Ann Rutherford and Ed Overstreet, and Connie Shields and Harry Chauncey.

The Pi Phi pledges are having a streak of accidents—Betsy Kraft was rushed off to Orange Memorial for an appendectomy last Friday and Mary Vetter fell out of bed and broke a bone in her foot. Must have been a humdinger of a dream!

Quite a few Thetas took off last week. They were Stretch Bartel, Marianne Wiel, Barbara McIntyre and Judy Bygate. They went to West Palm Beach.

Sis Atlask took a powder to New York to see her fiancé and made whoopee!

Joan Curtis, Theta, drove down to visit from F. S. U. There was a joyful reunion of the "big four."

Bob Leader came down to visit Jane Moody for twenty-two hours. Curses on Uncle Sam!

Canterbury Club Meets To Plan Schedule For 1955

by Anita Wadsworth

Every Sunday night at 7:30 the members of the Canterbury Club are found at their meeting in the parish house of the Episcopal Church.

Canterbury is an international organization sponsored under the auspices of the Episcopal Church. Various chapters are located in the college towns all over the United States. The Rollins group is among the outstanding religious activities offered to the Rollins student.

This slate of officers for this year include Steve Demopoulos, president, Marge Allman, secretary, and Evie Fishman, social chairman.

Father Reeves, Rector of the All Saints Episcopal Church, helps in guiding the club in group discussions and plans.

Canterbury shows a promise of a very active and enjoyable year. On Sunday, November 7, a banquet was given for all Episcopal students and faculty members. Several students from Stetson attended, along with Mr. Lawson, from the Episcopal Church in DeLand. After dinner, Mr. Lawson gave a talk on the quality of human traits.

On December 5, Canterbury members are taking a trip to Stetson, where a joint meeting of the two groups will be held. They are also planning a special Christmas program for the local gathering.

The subject for discussion last Sunday was the definition of an atheist. After arriving at a definition upon which everyone agreed, the conclusion that there just aren't many true atheists was quickly deduced.

For the next meeting, Dr. Thompson will be the speaker. His subject will be "Religion in Literature."

Any student who is interested in attending the meetings of the Canterbury Club, be he Episcopalian or not, is invited to attend. They are held every Sunday night in the parish house at 7:30. This is located on East Lyman Avenue just two blocks down from the Annie Russell Theatre.

Rollins Host This Month To State Closed Net Meet

Rollins College has been selected as host and site of the 1954 Florida Closed Tennis championships.

The meet will be held during the Thanksgiving holidays, Nov. 26-30. Open only to citizens of Florida, the winners will participate in the Florida Open championships in January, to which outstanding amateurs throughout the country will be invited.

The tournament was held in previous years at the Orlando Tennis Club. Rollins tennis coach Jim McDougal is in charge of arrangements for bringing the meet to Rollins.

Play in the tournament will be in four divisions, men's singles and doubles, women's singles and doubles, junior veterans' singles and doubles (limited to 45 entrants) and senior veterans' singles and doubles.

Alfredo Millet, long-time Rollins tennis ace, is the defending champion of the tournament. Alfredo will be unable to defend his crown this fall, but virtually every member of the Rollins tennis team is entered in the meet and it could return to the college.

Prize trophies for the tournament are now on display at Duval Jewelry Co.

The Tar netters contributed heavily in the Florida State Open last season. Although they won no championships, Alfredo Millet advanced to the semi-final round of the singles before losing to Tony Vincent of Coral Gables and the Rollins doubles combination of Millet and Alberto Danel also went to the finals.

SIGMA NU TIES INDIES FOR FIRST IN IM LOOP

The Sigma Nu's tied for the intramural softball league lead with the Independents and the Delta Chi's took their third game in a row after dropping the first two and tying one in league games last week.

Sigma Nu and the X Club both defeated the victory starved KA's, 17-8 and 9-2. Delta Chi's won a tough 13-12 victory over Lambda Chi.

In the last frame with the Deltas ahead by three runs, 10-7, the Lambda Chi's came up with their second five run inning. With two outs and runners on first and second, three walks forced in two runs and a misjudged fly ball by Dave Berto allowed three more runs to score.

Unless the Independent men, who now hold down first place, can win their remaining four games, the tie games between the Sigma Nu's and Delta Chi's and Lambda Chi and Delta Chi will continue after the completion of the regular season. The rule states that no tied game will be played over or continued unless it has some significance in the standings.

The standings through Monday's game.

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Independents	5	1	.833
Sigma Nu	5	1	.833
Delta Chi	3	2	.600
X Club	4	3	.571
Lambda Chi	1	4	.200
Kappa Alpha	0	7	.000

Opening Of Intramural Tennis Off Until Nov. 29

The intramural tennis tournament, originally slated to open Saturday has been postponed until Nov. 29.

Athletic Director Jack McDowell announced the change Monday after it was found that the tournament would conflict with the Florida State tennis tournament and fraternity pledging.

Each group will have to enter two singles and two doubles teams for the tournament Nov. 27. Singles play will open Nov. 29.

This year's tournament will be a wide-open race, with most of last season's intramural stars either graduated or ineligible to compete. A fine group of new tennis players are at Rollins, among them Phil Lubetkin, who played three years of high school tennis and captained his team; John Connable, who played in the Boys National two years ago; Tony Lang and Karl Pomper.

Delta Chi is defending champion in the tournament, having defeated KA in a special doubles match last season after several postponements. Both teams will have to come up with new players this season, however.

The entire KA team of Paul Driscoll, John Boyle and Don Reidel will be unable to play this season because of graduation, varsity competition and outside work. Delta Chi is faced with the same dilemma, with Elmer Puddington and Bruce Lee graduated and Guy Filosof ineligible because of varsity play, and Mike Mamolen no longer at Rollins.

A few of the outstanding tennis players who will compete again this fall are Bob Bell, Indies, Chuck Weisman, Sigma Nu, and Bill Cary, X Club.

Plans are being made to complete as much of the tournament as possible before the Christmas holidays.

Galaxy of Sports

In the past few weeks I have noticed a definite change among certain girls who frequent basketball classes and intramurals. The distinction is quite noticeable, they all wear glasses! This subject particularly comes to mind because in the middle of a scrimmage last week, J. P. harmlessly picked up a face guard, whereupon six girls rushed off the court, tossed their eye glasses on the timer's table, and then groped their way back into the game. Frantically the girls made wild jabs at the basket and into the air in an effort to "capture" the ball and most of the time ended up on the floor, with the ball squashed under them.

For those who have to wear the new face guards, everyone has sympathy, for it is difficult. However, bear with Sara Jane and J. P.

More basketball games and more big scores. Last week the Spurs topped the Alpha Phi's 48 to 31. For the losers, Nat Rice scored twenty-four points, and Marianne Weil racked up eighteen points for the winners.

The Sands and Pi Phi's took the floor next. True to their unbeaten record, the freshmen took the game although it was a good scrimmage.

The closest game of the week was between the Phi Mu's and the Pi Phi's. Until the end of the third quarter, the Phi Mu's led by two points, however, in the third and final rally, the Pi Phi's took the lead and would not be stopped, and they ended victoriously with a score of 41 to 35.

In the late game the Alpha Phi's were trampled by the Sands. Ann Wilkenson played a nice defensive game while on the offense Richardson, Grimes and Rutherford played well with good teamwork which produced the important points.

Several weeks ago the "R" Club had a meeting and elected Gail Donaldson as chairman and Marlene Stewart as secretary-treasurer. The other members of the group are Sis Atlass, Betty Brock, Nancy Corse, Kay Dunlap, Carmen Lampe, Mary Martin, Carol Farquharson, Nat Rice and Barbi Moynahan.

The Intramural Board met last Monday and announced that the new sport of War Canoe Racing would be held on one day with the finals in the afternoon. Canoeers will compete sometime during the Winter Term.

It was also requested at the meeting that the girls who originally signed up to time and score for the games report when their team has a game. For it's rather difficult for Sara Jane to have to teach a new raft of girls to score three minutes before the game starts.

The Locker Room

Only a little more than two weeks remain before the Rollins Tars' 1954 basketball squad will be officially unveiled against the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn.

The Tars will follow up that game with two in Alabama against Howard and Troy State Teachers before returning home for their home debut against Wofford, Dec. 7.

Haldeman

The Wofford game will be followed by Rollins' first game with the University of Florida in 13 years on Dec. 8. By the time this first week is over, some picture will be drawn on how the Tars will fare for the 1954-55 season.

According to coach Dan Nyimicz, the Tars still have a long way to go before they will be ready for the season's openers. The team has played below expectations during early scrimmages and despite the fact that the late start of practice and illness has slowed them down, Nyimicz has been disappointed with the lack of team play.

Little is known of the Tars' first three opponents, Sewanee, Howard, and Troy State. All three are small schools that sometimes produce pretty good basketball squads. Sewanee had a losing season last winter, but could come back with a veteran squad this season.

The big test will come against Florida in Gainesville. The Tars have never beaten, and seldom come close to beating a Florida cage squad and this Florida team will be a tough one to beat. The Gators have seven lettermen back from last season's team and four men with two or more letters.

Despite the crying towels carried by Stetson coach Dick Morland to the conference here to start the new baseball and basketball conference last month, Stetson may also be loaded for the coming season.

Big Jim Yonge and all-stater John Imgrund are gone from the Stetson squad, but 6'9" center Ted Cassidy, who gave the Tars so much trouble on the boards in last season's game in Winter Park, and three other lettermen have returned.

The Hatters will have a large freshman and transfer contingent and will be able to draw from last season's Jayvee team. Among the freshmen are two All State Florida players, Keith King and Jim Kitchens, and two highly rated guards from LaGrange, Kentucky, Rich Laver and Mel Gregory.

Athletic Director Jack McDowell has announced the addition of another major opponent to the Tars' 1955 home baseball schedule. Duke University will play the Tars in two or three games at Harper Shepherd field early in April, the week after the Baseball Week tourney.

The Tars will also compete against Duke in Chapel Hill, N. C. during the Big Four tournament this spring. Others teams participating in this meet will be North Carolina, N. C. State, Wake Forest, Michigan State, Oklahoma, and Yale.

With their baseball schedule near completion, the Tars' slate now includes games with Stetson, Florida, Florida Southern, Miami, Florida State, Duke, North Carolina, Wake Forest, North Carolina State, Michigan State, Amherst, Ohio State, Alabama, Virginia Tech, and Georgia Tech. It's a rather ambitious slate and one that should make Rollins a cinch for another N.C.A.A. bid if it can get through with a winning record.

Delta Chi Deadlocks Gold and Black, 6-6 In IM Tilt Monday

Delta Chi, which has been of late an improved ball team, held the league-leading Sigma Nu's to a 6-6 tie Monday afternoon. It was the Delta Chi's second tie of the season, games which will have to be played off if the Independent or Sigma Nu don't clinch the title despite their outcome.

The Delts picked up two runs in the first inning. After Jerry Spryregen and Dusty MacDonald opened up with back to back walks, a double steal enabled them to score on a beautifully executed squeeze play by shortstop Bill Fathauer and a single by John Opdyke.

The Sigma Nu's wasted no time bringing the game to a deadlock. After Bud Bilenski walked and was thrown out trying to steal, Harvey Pylant got on on an error followed by a pop fly double into right center.

Both teams added a run in the third to make the score 3-3. The Sigma Nu's took the lead for the first time in the fourth when with runners on second and third Dick Haldeman dropped a third strike which loaded up the bases and a walk to Trisman forced in the run.

The Delts scored three times on only one hit in the fifth as Bilenski overthrew first base with the bases filled. The Sigma Nu's added the tying runs in the sixth on three consecutive hits by Warden, Trisman and Allen.

Tar Cagers Perform Poorly In First Game Scrimmages

by Jim Locke

It is questionable whether the patient shows signs of responding to treatment. After a rocky evening a week ago Wednesday scrimmaging Pinecastle Air Force Base it was diagnosed that the Tars were in critical need of hard work as well as a liberal dosage of team unity. The Rollins quint in its present state is definitely physically unable to cope with the rigors of the coming season.

Monday night the Tars played their second scrimmage game against a very inept Orlando Air Force quint. At first glance, the Tars looked nothing like what a college team should look like; and at second glance one arrived at the same conclusion. It was a very tired looking team that squared off against the base. There was a disturbing lack of hustle. Players who should be sweeping the boards of rebounds against mediocre opposition were not getting these rebounds. Players who should be scoring were not. Pattern plays that should have been set up turned into out-of-bound plays for the flyers. Rollins went about the business of playing the game Dr. James Naismith invented scores of years ago in such a manner even the inventor wouldn't have recognized it.

Such abject playing could conceivably be the result of lack of practice. Where last year the Tars enjoyed six weeks of pre-season practice, this year the N.C.A.A. frowns on such lengthy pre-season workouts. Consequently with only two weeks under their collective belts, the Tars are apparently not ready to tackle the service teams, to saying nothing of an all-college schedule. Yet with a twenty-six game slate staring Coach Nyimicz in the face, he is forced to simulate official games with unofficial scrimmages to gain the necessary experience for his pupils. But what perplexes Nyimicz is that his team is not fulfilling even his dimmest expectations. Just when they will catch fire is hard to say, but the potential is there and that's half the fight.

Rather than lie awake at night counting Tar liabilities, Dan is somewhat pacified by the thought of the players that show signs of coming into their own. He has a freshman by the name of Dick Bezemer who stands 6'5" and when jumping, performs like a Dutch scrubwoman as he scours the backboards of stray balls.

Then there is Dave Feldman, another "big man" who, when he feels like it, is a great rebounder besides having an excellent jump shot. Recently Elmer "Georgia" Lott, a refugee from the "B" squad has shown commendable hustle, is a good ball handler and can score from the outside. Dan singled out Harvey Weisenberg for praise after Monday night's fracas, lauding him for his work around the boards. He considers Hal Lawler vastly improved from last year. Hal is beginning to move with some ease in the vicinity of the key-hole.

FROSH GETS TO SEMI-FINALS IN BOWL CONTEST

Carol Anderson, Rollins freshman, traveled to Miami last Saturday to attend a luncheon at the El Comodoro Hotel after being chosen to compete in the semi-finals for the Orange Bowl Queen contest.

ANDERSON

Sponsored by her sorority, Chi Omega, Carol had to submit three untouched photographs to the Orange Bowl Committee by November 6. Out of pictures sent in by girls from all over Florida, the judges selected thirty girls to be contestants in the semi-finals. Carol was among the last to be eliminated from the race.

Carolyn Stroupe, a coed from the University of Miami, was selected as Orange Bowl Queen to be presented at the Bowl game in Miami on New Year's Day. Miss Stroupe will receive a $500 scholarship to her university plus a smart wardrobe, other awards and world-wide fame.

Eight of the last 11 Orange Bowl Queens have come from Florida college campuses.

Fla. Music Teachers Invited To Attend First Assn. Meeting

The newly organized Central Florida Music Teacher's Association, of which Dr. Helen Moore is President, will start off its second year with a meeting on Saturday evening, November 20 at 8:00 p.m. at the residence of Miss Charlotte Robinson, 1540 Nottingham Road, Orlando.

All professional music teachers are cordially invited to this first meeting and to become members of the organization. There will be three meetings and a recital given by students of the members.

Topics and various activities are planned for these gatherings which will be stimulating and inspirational to the teacher members of the associations.

Those taking part in the first meeting on Saturday will be Grace and Harold Sanford, duo-pianists; Ross Rosazza, Baritone and John Carter, pianist. Also appearing on the program will be Miss Jane Hood who recently returned from a year's study in Germany on a Fulbright Scholarship. Miss Hood will relate experiences and impressions from her year's residence abroad.

Crowds of students invaded Strong Hall Patio Wednesday, November 10, for the Homecoming Open House given by the Gamma Phi pledges. As the main event Nancy Course was crowned Football Queen and presented with a miniature football in remembrance of the occasion.
