WELLINGTON KOO RETURNS FOR ANIMAG SPEECH

A diplomat who alternates between the frying pan and the fire of international affairs will return to Rollins for his second contribution to the Animated Magazine when V. K. Wellington Koo, Chinese Nationalist ambassador to the U. S., speaks here February 27.

Dr. Koo made his first Rollins appearance in 1947 when he received an honorary degree of Doctor of Law from the late President Hamilton Holt.

Although the Chinese minister's topic is not yet announced he will speak from a background of 40 years in the diplomatic service of his country under a series of regimes. Koo's latest appointment was conferred by the Formosa-seated Chinese government in June 1946 when he was named "Ambassador Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary for the Republic of China."

Koo is no stranger to the United States having received his college education at Columbia and Yale Universities. He completed his B. A. and M. A. requirements at Columbia in a fast-paced three years and went on to a doctorate at Yale.

He has served China as ambassador to five major countries during 40 years of service; his posts have included United States, Great Britain, France, Mexico and Cuba. His first tour in U. S. embassy circles came in 1915.

In addition to foreign posts Koo has been one of the mainstays of international government serving at the top of both the ill-fated League of Nations and the present United Nations. He was appointed President of the 96th session of the almost doomed League of Nations Council in 1937 and held the chairmanship of the Chinese delegation to the UN in 1946-47.

French

FRENCH NAMED AS SPEAKER AT ANNUAL CONVO

Dean Sidney J. French will talk about "Diamonds, Worlds and Rollins" at the annual Founders' Week Convocation 10:00 a. m. Monday, February 28, in Knowles Memorial Chapel.

French's speech will be the final attraction of a star-studded Founders' Week program. President Hugh F. McKean will also confer honorary doctorate degrees at the convocation.

Faculty, seniors and choir members will march in the academic procession to open the convocation. The groups will form at 9:30 a. m. under the direction of Faculty Marshal Rhea Marsh Smith in front of Carnegie Hall and the Student Center. In case of rain the procession-formation scene will be shifted to the Annie Russell Theater.

Senior caps and gowns may be obtained today and tomorrow in the basement of the Administration Building, a Student Deans' announcement stated.

Tickets are not required for admission to the Convocation ceremonies.

All seniors have been cordially invited to attend the convocation along with faculty, Founders' Week guests and members of the Winter Park and Orlando communities.

Bits O' News

The Studio Club, Rollins' latest art organization, will meet tonight at the Art Studio.

Plans for this week's meeting include the election of a secretary and the planning of the program for the rest of the year. One of the things the Club is looking forward to doing this year is the running of exhibits at the Casa Iberia and the Park Avenue gallery. Most of the works will be put up for sale.

Another point being discussed will be the question of having pictures distributed in the sorority and fraternity houses.

Everyone interested in any phase of art work is invited to come.

Lowry

Dr. Howard F. Lowry To Present Sermon At Sunday's Service

Dr. Howard F. Lowry, president of the College of Wooster, educator, literary editor and author will present the Sunday morning sermon at Knowles Memorial Chapel February 27, it was announced today.

Dr. Lowry has selected "The One Of Ten" for the topic of his address.

President of the College of Wooster since 1944 Lowry is known for his book, "The Mind's Adventure," which was selected as Religious Book of the Month in July 1950.

In addition to membership on the Wooster faculty before his presidential appointment, Lowry served as Sterling Fellow and Instructor at Yale University from 1931-33 after receiving his Ph. D. from that university in 1931.

Dr. Lowry moved into literary journalism as General Editor and Educational Manager of the Oxford University Press in 1935. He also served as editor of the "Oxford Anthology of English Poetry," and the "Emerson-Clough Letters."

Reeves Competition Takes Place Mar. 3

The final competition for the General Charles McCormick Reeves Essay Contest will be held at 3:30 p.m. March 3 in the Annie Russell Theater, award committee chairman Stuart James announced Monday.

The final competition will be an oral presentation of the six essays which received their initial awards early this month. Each of these winners received $75 in cash for their work with another $50 prize offered to the oratorical victor.

The public is invited to attend the competition. There will be no admission charge.

Animag Highlites Big Rollins Weekend

With an all-star list of contributors headed by Governor LeRoy Collins and James Cagney, the actor, Rollins College will publish the 28th edition of its Animated Magazine at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. The "talking magazine" which is given each February as a part of the Founders' Week celebration, will highlight a glamorous weekend at the College.

Saturday several hundred alumni will return for their annual day and Saturday night more than 100 guests will attend the Founders' Dinner at 7 p. m. at the Country Club of Orlando. This dinner commemorates the founding of the College in 1885 and a reservation has been made for each $50 contribution.

An additional attraction at the dinner will be the contributors to the Animated Magazine who will attend as special guests.

Besides Governor Collins and Cagney, contributors to the Animated Magazine will include V. K. Wellington Koo, Ambassador to the United States from the Chinese Nationalist Government on Formosa; Professor F. S. C. Northrop, the noted philosopher; Frank Miller, conductor of the Florida Symphony; Peter Dearing, noted actor-producer-director, and now Director of Annie Russell Theatre, Rollins College; Dr. Evelyn Newman, writer, lecturer, and publicist; William F. Rolleston, vice-president and manager of Marine Studios, Marineland, Fla.; Edgar Kaufmann, Jr., Director of Good Design, Museum of Modern Art, New York City; and Eddie Dowling, Broadway producer, and actor.

Hugh F. McKean, President of Rollins, will serve as editor of the magazine.

The Cocoa High School band, directed by Edward Rosevear, a Rollins alumnus of 1949, will entertain both before and after the Magazine.

Reserved seats cost $1 each and may be obtained at Annie Russell Theatre box office Friday and Saturday from 2-5 p. m., and at the Magazine.

Immediately after the Animated Magazine program, the public is invited to take guided tours of the campus which will leave from Carnegie Hall. The following buildings will be visited: Administration Building, Alumni House, Algernon Sydney Sullivan House, Annie Russell Theatre, Beal-Maltbie Shell Museum, (Admission, 30 cents), Carnegie Hall, Casa Iberia, French House, Knowles Hall, The Knowles Memorial Chapel, Mills Memorial Library, The Morse Gallery of Art, Rollins Student Center, Woolson English House, and WPRK Radio Studio.

MON. OFF FOR COLLEGE CONVO

The Student Deans have reiterated their announcement that the weekend of February 26 is an official CLOSED WEEKEND on the heels of an announcement that a faculty vote has dismissed all classes to be held Monday, February 28 for the annual Founders' Week Convocation.

A special Deans' announcement defines the Closed Weekend in that students may not leave the college campus except for emergencies approved in advance by their office until after Convocation, Monday, February 28.

An earlier announcement stated:

"It has long been the custom — all through Dr. Holt's day at Rollins — to require the student to remain on campus for the Animated Magazine weekend. This comes February 26, 27 and 28. It is the only weekend when the students are asked to do this (in order that the guests may know that Rollins has students!)."

The Deans have also announced that college tickets for the 28th Animag will be available in the Ad Building today and tomorrow from 9:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Students and faculty members may obtain tickets for themselves and members of their immediate families. The seats are not individually reserved, the notice added.

Council Asks For Further Info On Beanery Funds

By Chuck Lambeth
Editor, The Sandspur

The Student Council placed its stamp of approval on a request for information of the allocation of Beanery Funds in a regular meeting Monday night.

Indie Men representative Phil Murray proposed that "The Student Council press (the administration) for information on the amount of money allotted for Beanery funds from the $1800 (tuition) fee and how much of that money is actually spent for food."

His proposal was adopted by a 10-1 vote of representatives.

The motion came on the heels of a Beanery Committee report, expressed by Jane Moody, that the information of tuition breakdown as concerns the Beanery was not available from the Treasurer's office.

Murray and X Club representative Matt Sinnott exclaimed, "Why not?", "What do we have a Student Council for anyway if this information is not available?", and a heated discussion-battle took off from there.

The Council Beanery Committee had met with Treasurer Tiedtke earlier in the week, they reported, concerning the proposed one-serving plan which was considered an answer to charges that, "Beanery food is not what it has been," as expressed in the meeting by Denny Folken.

The student group reported that it had asked Tiedtke for the total amount of funds allocated to the Beanery for any given period and that he had refused to divulge the information. When questioned, committee spokesman Jane Moody answered "the refusal came from Tiedtke."

Dean of Men Joe Justice interjected "I don't know why they weren't told either."

Justice added that he believed the food was reasonable for the cost and advised that the investigation be conducted with the aid of the treasurer.

Students And Faculty Contribute Talent To Shakespeare Progrm

17 students and 4 faculty members will contribute their talents to the annual presentation of "Shakespeareana" by Nina Dean's Shakespeare class in the Strong Hall "Innyard" Patio at 4:00 p. m. this afternoon.

Student participants will be Clark Warren, Sylvia Graves, Frances Chapman, Bud Emerson, Steve Demopoulos, Jane Frankenberg, Shirley Miller, Virginia Nelson, and Marilyn Leighty.

Professors Peter Dearing, Ross Rozazza, John Carter and Wilbur Dorset will be on hand for the production.

Distributing oranges and camellias in exchange for quotes from the immortal bard will be Betty Brook, Adele Fort, Barbara Reuter, Dorothy Wright and Betsy Youngs. Posters advertising the event were created by the art classes of Professor Rostand Kelly.

The Shakespeare show will feature excerpts from "Hamlet" and "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Tiedtke Tells Spur He Wasn't Free To Set Beanery Figures

Rollins College treasurer and vice-president John Tiedtke answered charges made in the Monday night Student Council meeting in a telephone conversation with SANDSPUR reporters.

Tiedtke stated "The release of information is a matter of college policy which I don't usually set." In the six years I have been here the question has never come up of the release of Beanery (financial) figures and the decision has never been made as to whether or not to release these figures."

The treasurer released his feelings in the matter after the Student Council had voted to press the matter of release of a Beanery budget breakdown. This vote was the outcome of a student Beanery Committee report which told of a meeting with Tiedtke.

Upon questioning by Council members the committee spokesmen agreed that the treasurer had definitely refused to release breakdown figures.

Tiedtke commented that it was not a case of the release of figures being refused but rather a situation in which the releasing agency (in this case the Board of Trustees) had never been asked. He added "The trustees have never been asked and I do not like to set policies or release figures" without consulting that body.

The administration official added "that his action was not a refusal - I was not free to release the figures, and I didn't tell them why."

When questioned about this Tiedtke said that the discussion of the financial breakdown had not been a majority of the matter discussed with the committee; and that he had not given them the reason for his non-release because they had not made it plain that this matter was an important portion of the Beanery discussion.

He added that the majority of the conversation had been a discussion of the controversial one-serving plan for the Beanery. He had also spent some time in complement of the cafeteria management of Mr. and Mrs. Mayes, Tiedtke reported.

Tiedtke commented that he was a trustee of one college (Wooster) and an alumnus of another (Dartmouth) and neither had ever released exact figures of the cost of board and room."

He said that "in his opinion this was general college policy."

Tiedtke stated that he had informed the council committee of the only figures which the trustees had as yet released. They were told that the overall cost of attending Rollins was $2100 last year, he reported. Of this amount $1800 is paid through tuition.

FOUR TOP EDITORIAL POSITIONS REMAIN UNOPPOSED FOR OFFICE

Publications Union has accepted the applications of nine students for the seven top campus journalistic posts during the 1955-56 college year.

The elections will be "no contest for the four editorial positions; editors of the TOMOKAN, SANDSPUR, FLAMINGO and R BOOK. Women will hold down three of these four positions.

Josephine Cayll will be the only candidate for the editorship of the TOMOKAN; Sue Dunn will have no need to campaign for the policy-making SANDSPUR editorship; Winkie Colado will have no competition for the R BOOK Post; and Bob Eginton and Jim Browne will be the next co-editors of the literary FLAMINGO.

Ra Moody also submitted the only application for business manager of the SANDSPUR and his approval by the Publications Union assured election to the position.

Four more candidates were approved for the two remaining posts which will go on the line in the April 5 elections.

Bill Fathauer and Sandy Hose will be fighting it out for the SANDSPUR Advertising Commissioner job; Jim Locke and Anne Wilkinson were approved for candidacy for the Business Manager of the 1956 TOMOKAN.

The qualifications of those candidates forced to compete for positions, as listed in their letters of application, are:

Bill Fathauer — 1954-55 Business Manager of the FLAMINGO, member of the Upper Division, one year on the SANDSPUR staff, sale of advertisements for the SANDSPUR, (junior).

Sandy Hose — 1954-55 Associate business manager of the TOMOKAN, sale of advertising for the yearbook, intended membership in Upper Division by October 1, 1955 as required in the R BOOK, (sophomore).

Both men are running for the Advertising Commissioner job, now held by senior Diane Herblin. For the first time in recent years a freshman will be on the publications ballot when Anne Wilkinson campaigns against junior Jim Locke for TOMOKAN business manager. The candidates have listed their qualifications as:

Anne Wilkinson — Assistant to the business staff of the 1955 TOMOKAN in charge of soliciting a portion of the advertising for the yearbook.

Jim Locke — Member of the Upper Division, two-year member of SANDSPUR editorial staff, at present member of TOMOKAN staff.

Sue Dunn, who will take over the editorship of the SANDSPUR on April 7 of this year, has been scheduled to run her trial edition for publication on March 31. A junior Sue is a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority and has been layout editor of the newspaper since her freshman year.

The 1956 yearbook boss, Jo Cayll, is a sophomore, a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority and has held positions on the staffs of both the yearbook and paper.

The 1956 R BOOK editor, Winkie Colado, is also a sophomore and member of Pi Beta Phi. Along with Jo Cayll she will edit the next edition of the R BOOK and then take over the reins by herself at the end of next year.

Bob Eginton and Jim Browne will take over the reins of the FLAMINGO literary magazine from senior Jim Graaskamp next year. Both men have worked on this year's FLAMINGO and have had outside journalistic experience.

EDITORIALS

Election Or Farce

A grand total of nine student nominations were approved for the April publications elections. Competition is slated for only two of the seven positions at stake.

Unopposed elections for editor of THE SANDSPUR, TOMOKAN, FLAMINGO and R BOOK! This might be termed a result of an unusual lag in the democratic process. It might also be termed the perpetration of a farce on the Student Association.

The question arises as to whether the student body should even bother to vote on April 5 on the publications side of the ballot. Who should they vote for? The unopposed candidates?

But the sad part is not the actual lack of candidates, it is the unhappy fact that this lack of candidates usually foretells a lack of interest and a possible lack of competence among those who gain election on a one-man ballot.

Luckily there is no lack of competence among any of the 1955 candidates; but this does not mean that the same will be true in the future. Publications Chairman Sis Atlans expressed the facts in these words "It is not up to us (the editors) to go out and solicit students to fill the jobs because such a lack of interest will mean a lack of good work."

But there is still hope. Perhaps the Student Council elections will not find an identical situation created as was present last year when five candidates vied for the three top student body posts.

New System In Use

After some slight confusion last spring several seniors asked for full information as to how to get their $25 contingent deposits back after graduation.

An interview with Miss C. M. Lyle, college cashier, produced the new answer to the pocketbook question.

Miss Lyle stated that her office would take care of the check-out list for all seniors just before graduation. This will eliminate seniors having to run from convocation robes to the library and the infirmary for their clearance papers.

The cashier explained that all graduates would have to do on the big day is turn in their caps and gowns to the Student Deans, get a receipt for said caps and gowns and take this paper to her office and be handed the remains of their deposit in cash.

For those students who will find it impossible to get to her office on that day, Miss Lyle has arranged to mail deposits on request provided the student has turned in his cap and gown.

The new system sounds good; a definite improvement over the last-minute chasing around which was necessary last year.

1799 or 439 AD

Oldest College Paper?

(ACP)—The DARTMOUTH, student newspaper of Dartmouth College in Hanover, New Hampshire, states in its nameplate that it is "The Oldest College Newspaper In America." To back up this statement they give 1839 as their founding date.

The Miami Student of Miami University in Miami, Ohio, maintains that it is "The Oldest Newspaper in the United States," and cites 1826 as the date it was established.

To add to the confusion, the Scarlet and Black, of Grinnell College in Grinnell, Iowa, states in its nameplate that it is the "Oldest College Newspaper West of the Mississippi River."

Following a policy of guts journalism the Associated Collegiate Press brings these facts to light and demands: Which paper is the oldest? What is the oldest collegiate newspaper in Equatorial Africa? Who is lying? Will Amy get the smudge-pots out in time to save the orange crop?

And now, all in modesty, we must admit the facts we have been withholding from the world for these many years. The Observer is the oldest college newspaper in the Western Hemisphere. As evidence we submit an advertisement which ran in the Observer on June 18, 1799, concerning one of our carrier boys, Aaron Oliver.

Aaron, incidentally, was a blue-star carrier and won two pots of hasty pudding and an autographed picture of the Fall of the Bastille.

Having thus made our point, we also remind the Scarlet and Black that we are the "Oldest College Newspaper South of the Mississippi," this being the only place to our knowledge where the Mississippi runs east and west.

Fie upon equivocaters and rationalizers; we alone stand upon documented proof!

(ACP NOTE) — A reproduction of a woodcut of "Aaron Oliver, Post-Rider," accompanies the editorial. The text concludes with:

O'er rugged hills, and vallies wide,
He never yet has failed to trudge it;
As steady as the flowing tide,
He hands about the Augustana Observer.

—June 18, 1799

Editor Martin, exponent of guts journalism, is too modest. ACP researchers have brought to light a faded monk's manuscript, circa A. D. 439 or possibly A. D. 440, with the following inscription: "August! Anna! Observe her! What is she up to?" It is conclusive proof, both as to name, and as to fact that no one ever knows what the Augustana Observer will be up to next.

Colorado Goes Begging

BOULDER, COLO.—(ACP)—"Inaccurate reporting by the Denver Post touched off a three-ring circus of comments, denials and clarifying statements over the merits of a cartoon printed in the Colorado Daily," the student newspaper of the University of Colorado says.

"The Post story stated the cartoon provoked resentment in both houses of the state legislature." And Senator Donald Dunklee (D) of Denver was quoted as declaring "we resent being pictured as fat old 19th century plutocrats in striped pants."

"However, in an exclusive interview with The Daily, Dunklee said 'there were no objections to the cartoon among the legislators, as was reported in the Post; only comments.' Dunklee added 'as cartoons go, I think it was all right' The student holding up the tin cup put across the idea of the University's financial needs quite well."

A friend once wrote to Turgenev: "It seems to me that to put one's self in second place is the whole significance of life." To this Turgenev replied: "It seems to me that to discover what to put before one's self, in the first place, is the whole problem of life."

If you look around you at your class mates you see some very strange things being put in first place. It may not be intentional but if that is so, then it is true that most of us put ourselves in the second place, behind confusion.

'ROUND ROLLINS

By Footloose

"It has long been the custom, all through Dr. Holt's days at Rollins, to require the students to remain on campus for the Animated Magazine Weekend. This comes February 26-27-28. It is the only weekend when the students are asked to do this, "(in order that the guests may know that Rollins has students! !)"

If you are planning on the death of any of your relatives on or about the twenty-seventh of this month, we think it best that you cancel such plans. The preceding paragraph is a quote from an epistle that was mysteriously posted in the cocktail lounges of all the fraternity houses. We echo our enthusiasm at such a profound observation, i. e. that Rollins does have students.

Footloose feels that this is a splendid idea, and we wish to issue a few helpful hints to students during the coming Founders' Week. The first problem is, do you have trouble looking like a student? If so, it will soon be possible for you to purchase (at cost) horn-rimmed glasses; with or without glass, as desired, from the Bookstore—Models are flown in from Harvard, Princeton, and Minsky's, and are slated to give a fashion show in the basement of the student center, the theme of which is, "Don't look like a hag at the AniMag." For those of you who don't look like students (no matter what affectations you assume) large blue and letters S-T-U-D-E-N-T emblazoned on both sides. These are held sturdily about the neck by gold chains (courtesy L. G. Balfour & Co). For those of you who are fashion conscious, these placards can be reproduced in colors to match your gayest attire.

We have it from a confidential source that pennants will be distributed to the faculty sometime before February 26th. Students and faculty alike are expected to wave these pennants with much vigor as they proceed on their merry way to and from the class-rooms. Enscribed on the little flags are the words "Rollins — Yea!"

Mr. Robert Hufstader has requested an all-college assembly on Friday morning, when we will familiarize ourselves with ye olde college song. — James Melchior and Eugene Conley of the Metropolitan Opera have been hired by Ross Rozazza to sing La Rollinsata over the campus P. A. system (atop the science building).

This is a candid picture of what is expected of Rollins students (and there are some you know) who will be ON CAMPUS this weekend. Almost forgot to mention the fact that pup-tents will be pitched in the Sandspur Bowl for day students who wish to remain on campus and lend themselves to the ultra-sophisticated booksy atmosphere. — See you at the literary bulwark of the Republic!

"It's come," some one cried; "It's here; it's here," they said altogether. An express truck, wooden packing-case, paper and shavings all over the place meant one thing: THE AMPEX.

Peterson

For the uninitiated this blessed arrival of the tape recorder has been eagerly awaited for some time now. But it arrived two weeks early. One of the old members of the crew at the sight of it fell down on his knees and praised Allah three times.

Uncle Mark flicked a switch and motors started, tubes lit, and presto fifteen minutes of tape almost went all over the floor. Let's all praise Allah three times for the instruction book, too.

We flicked the first remote basketball switch a week ago on Monday night with Steve Demopoulos doing the play by play and Art Brophy doing the color. The whole deal went off remarkably well. Next Tuesday at 8:00 the same deal will be going on. Good to hear the games on the air although the station probably has a rather limited audience for them.

Some people are under the impression that we have no audience, and that most of the time the station's just got a bunch of dead mikes. Well, such is not the case. As things have been going the station receives on the average of at least one phone call a night and a letter or a personal visitor from the community. It really is gratifying to know that some one cares.

In fact one man cares so much, Mr. Budd, that he has very generously given the station a number of very old and valuable records pressed during the pre-electric days when the recording was done into a horn which was about a doorway high and twice as wide and the ingredience of the wax master was a trade secret from one engineer to another. The records themselves are about a half inch thick and many are recorded only on one side. We certainly have come a long way. Mr. Budd, we certainly thank you.

ROLLINS STUDENTS INTERVIEW DUBLIN PLAYERS

Have you ever toured the United States for nine months in a bus? Neither have we; however a week ago Tuesday a group of Rollins students had the privilege of meeting with the Dublin Players. For those who are not familiar with them, the Dublin Players are a group of professional Irish actors who make their living touring America.

On Tuesday, February 15, the Dublin Players presented the "Devil's Disciple" in the Winter Park High School Auditorium. Following this fast moving satire, by G. B. Shaw, a number of Rollins players went backstage to meet the cast. Before the evening was over the tables were turned and the students were answering questions about Rollins College and Annie Russell productions.

Over a period of nine months the Dublin Players travel from town to town presenting one or more of their five play repertoire, Devil's Disciple, Blithe Spirit, Pigmalion, Juno and the Peacock, and Far Away Lands. Maureen Halligan, wife of the producer and a player, summed it all up by saying, "We travel by day and live primarily on eggs and coffee."

Even though the troupe is primarily Irish, Ronald Ibbs, producer and player, explained that an effort is made to have a well balanced group of both Irish and English artists, in order to be able to present varied types of plays. "The Irish actors are the principals in the true Irish productions, while the English actors are more important to the classic type of play."

In talking about the theater with the players, it was found that no university offers "major" credit in drama, but most work in dramatics is done on an extra-curricular basis. Being no different from young Americans actors and actresses, many of the Dublin Players got their start through hard work and that "lucky break." Most of them began their theater work in such places as the renowned "Abbey Theater."

The majority of the troupe has been with the company since it was formed in 1947, however, at that time it was not known as the Dublin Players. It was not, until 1951 that the group assumed its present name.

In answer to a question on the necessary qualifications for joining this famous touring group, temperament was emphasized by Mr. Ibbs. "As we work together for a good production, we must have unity of group," explained Mr. Ibbs, "and since our itinerary takes in extensive travel and close association over a long period of time, we naturally look for compatible temperament in a prospective member."

Kappa-Delta Chi held their "College Capers" at the Orange Court Hotel Saturday night. It was a great dance, the only drawback was that no soft drinks were sold. Some of the couples heard clamoring vociferously for their 7-up were: Carol McKinsey and Phil Drosdick, Karen Fris and Phil Lubetkin, Frannie Swicegood and Frank Swanson, Page Blackmore and John Opdyke, Janie Laverty and Jim Locke, C. J. Stroll and Frank Hutsell, Shirley Malcom and Frank Boynton, Jeanie and Dubac Preece, Mimi Bostwick and Jim Cook, Cynthia MacDonald and John Jordan, Bebo Boothby and Norm Gross, Betty Peterman and Dennis Folken, Bebe Ross and Clark Warren, Barbie Berne and Dave Berto, Hobby Hobbins and Tony Layng, Jeri Knapp and Skip Voekel, and Mary McKeever and Bob Pletz.

The morning after the Kappa's and Delta Chi's went through with their pajama breakfast. A pajama breakfast consists of pajama's, black coffee, jitterbugging and a bunch of aching heads.

Also the last weekend was the Sigma Nu Pelican. When the Sigma Nu's and their dates arrived the sun was out, when they left the sun was still out, and during their stay it rose and set, among those watching this amazing phenomenon were: Nat Rice and Gene Bryant, Sandy Shepard and Dick Baldwin, Delle Davies and Joe Dalenagra, Billy Jo Whipple and Mosely Waite, Barbara Neal and Bud Bilensky, Barbara Moynahan and Brian Byrd, and Joan Stabb and John Troy.

Tragedy has struck the Phi Mu house. Their cactus died. There was nothing exceptionally outstanding about the way it died. It just sort of keeled over and that was that. The sisters banded together in their common grief, donned their morning clothes, and buried their friend. Condolences are in order.

The Pi Phi's initiated Monday. Their new actives are: Jackie Crinigan, Kit Delany, Joan Staab, C. J. Stroll, Judy Lofton and Sally Robinson.

Many left this weekend and many wished they had. Among the more fortunate were: Didi Riddle who went to Lakeland; Sue Reed who went to Winter Haven; Marilyn Leighty, Joan Jennings and Lu Robertson who traveled to Sarasota, and Joy Woods and Jim Davis who watched polo at Delray Beach.

Flash from Canada: Two dozen roses all the way to Roma Neundorf. Roma—do you care to divulge some of the secrets of your success?

Rumour has it that Jo Davis is leading a dual life. Very interesting. Pinned: Happie Jordan, Kappa to Harvey Weisenberg, Club.

SIGMA NU 8 SWEEPS TO 2ND TITLE IN ROW

The Sigma Nu crew, with the varsity stern pair of Frank Thompson and Ed Gray combining with Bob Dollison and Pete Adams and Jayvee coxswain Dan Matthews to form one of the top intramural crews in recent years, rowed to its second consecutive intramural championship last week.

Sigma Nu defeated the X Club, Kappa Alpha and Delta Chi on consecutive days for the championship.

Kappa Alpha, with Dick Potter rowing as varsity member, and Lee Beard, Tim Calhoun, and Pete Hoadley also in the shell coxed by Bill Ely, were runnersup to the Sigma Nu's rowing to an easy victory over Delta Chi, and then beating the X Club by three lengths.

The X Club defeated Delta Chi by a foot to grab third place in the rowing round-robin, leaving the Deltas in last place.

Kappa Alpha gave Sigma Nu a close race for the championship, Feb. 16, losing by barely half a length to a strong Sigma Nu finish.

The championship hiked Sigma Nu's chances in the intramural trophy race. The Independents, with consecutive championships in softball and tennis, lost points by not entering the meet, while Sigma Nu added the first place to a second place in intramural softball, with a certain second place finish in basketball assured.

The defending intramural trophy holders, the X Club, added this third place to a fourth place in intramural softball and a certain first or second place finish in basketball. Delta Chi, which finished third in the intramural softball league, is still in a battle with the Indies for third place in intramural basketball league, leaving four teams still in the running for the intramural trophy. The deciding points will probably be made in the spring softball season, scheduled to get underway the last week in March, and the volleyball season to be played opening March 21.

Baseball Drills Open; Frosh Group Promising

"Spring training" officially opened for the Rollins baseball team last Monday afternoon, as the runners-up in the N.C.A.A. College Baseball World Series took the first drills at Harper-Shepherd field. All the players were present except the basketball players who will report next week.

Coach Joe Justice is hoping that the loss of first stringers Delton Helms, Dave Smith, and Fred Talbot along with starter Bob Leader will be made up for by a promising group of freshmen.

Ronnie Pavia, a slick fielding second baseman from New England, comes to Rollins as highly recommended as any Rollins ball player in the past. Jack Gaudette and Mike Crecco will also be trying to break into the line up as either shortstops or second basemen.

Elmer Lott, a hard hitting first sacker from Georgia, will also see some action, but if he is to play regularly it will most probably be in right field.

Bill Haber, a rookie catcher from New York, might be the answer for a strong man to back up Don Finnigan behind the plate. Bobby Richmond, a freshman from Winter Park, will give Jim Doran a hard fight for third base.

Harry Bennett, who piled up a tremendous high school pitching record, will also be battling to win Justice's favor with John Hlavach and Bob Benke, both right handers. The Rollins pitching staff will also be helped by Hal Lawler and Jack Powell, both sophomores who saw limited action last season.

Since freshmen are not allowed to play in the N. C. A. A., Justice has decided to use his freshmen as much as possible during the first half of the season and then stick with his upperclassmen.

Golf Team Competes In GW Meet Today

The Rollins golf team will unofficially open its 1955 season today as the qualifying round of the George Washington golf tournament is held in Tallahassee.

Five or six Rollins golfers are planning upon competing in the meet, according to coach Dan Nyimicz. Nyimicz plans to take the top four men on the golf ladder to the meet while more members of the squads will probably take the trip at their own expense.

Present leaders on the ladder are Bill Boggess, Frank Boynton, Bruce Remsburg, Ed Dinga, and Denny Folken, and freshmen Dick Sucher. The 32 low scorers qualifying today will compete for the championship over 54 holes starting tomorrow.

Coach Nyimicz has been pleased with the showing of the golfers during recent weeks and expects improvement over last spring's team with the addition of several freshmen.

The Locker Room

by Dick Haldeman

It must have been a shocking realization to many people watching Rollins absorb its second licking from Stetson Saturday night that the Tars were vying for the cellar in Florida Basketball Conference play. In fact, if they lost Tuesday night's game to Tampa, that's just where they finished, in the F. I. B. C. cellar.

The thing that would have been shocking was that on paper, and even on the basketball court at times, Rollins has a squad second only to Florida State in the state.

Back at the beginning of this season, while Stetson coach Dick Morland was bemoaning the fact that he had only two lettermen, Miami was trying a fresh start with a fresh coach and team unable to use freshmen, and Florida Southern had a team three fourths freshmen, with an average height more like a high school squad, Rollins was well set with most of the same aggregation that won 16 of 27 games last season.

Not only that, but a 6-5 freshman who could score in college competition had been added to the squad. And for the first ten games of the season, while Stetson was floundering, Florida Southern was getting clobbered, and Miami, despite several surprisingly well played games, was still finding the going tough, Rollins was compiling an 8-2 record.

One of these wins was an upset over New York University that seemed to mark the Tars for their most successful season. Then, early in January, Rollins travelled to Miami. The Miami sportswriters had tabbed the Tars as the best team in the state, but Miami went away with a 93-76 victory. The scribes couldn't believe their eyes, but they said it was a different Miami team.

A couple of nights later, Rollins travelled to DeLand to oppose Stetson. The Hatters, apparently believing what they had read, put out a publicity release calling Rollins the best team in the state and then smashed the Tars, 71-57. The Tars returned home for their only home encounter during January, on the 14th and seemed to squelch all rumors of a collapse by trouncing Mercer, 92-70.

Then it was back on the road and more embarrassments, losses to Wofford and Presbyterian and then most embarrassing of all, Florida Southern forced Rollins into overtime. Rollins handled Mercer again, but Georgia Teachers became the second team to reverse an early season Rollins beating. By now ugly rumors of Rollins' play were creeping back to Winter Park but the Tars had to come home to prove them true.

Meantime, Stetson, with freshmen, transfers, and a clumsy 6-9 center, was playing inspired ball. Miami's team built from nothing was giving everybody battles and even Florida Southern's little men were coming alive. They all three came to town and disposed of Rollins in rapid style.

To say Rollins was that bad would be ridiculous. To blame it on the coach is even more ridiculous. When a team that has proved it can win ball games starts losing with regularity the trouble can only lie in one place, in the players themselves. Of course, there can be other contributing influences, the college atmosphere, the school spirit, the lack of a gym in which practice can be held every day and all the games played. But unless something is done about whatever it is wrong, every stride forward that has been made by Coach Dan Nyimicz during the past two years to bring major basketball to Rollins has been wasted.

Otherwise the only choice is whether Rollins wants big-time basketball players playing small-time basketball, or as it was before, small-time players playing small-time basketball.

TARBELLES WIN IN 2ND STETSON SPORTS DAY

By Allison Desseau

Hearty congratulations and hats off to the twenty Rollins Tarbelles who participated in the Sports Day at Stetson last weekend. They did a wonderful job and their talent added greatly to the competitive spirit of the day.

Stetson was host to eight different colleges and universities from all over Florida and they did an excellent job in this capacity. Under the direction of Esther Hicks, faculty sponsor of the Day at Stetson, two representatives from each sorority pitched in and helped run the competition, each taking a different phase of the activities.

In a final total of points Rollins came out on top but this is not conclusive evidence for they had enough girls to enter each sport twice meaning that in each game we played two schools. Some of the other teams didn't have this opportunity for they lacked number which affected the number of sports they could enter and get points for.

Rollins came up against F. S. U., Florida Southern, Florida, Weber College and Stetson throughout the day. In one of the most drawn out and grueling contests, Kay Dunlap and Margaret Hobbins battled in the shuffleboard doubles for the seventy-five point winning mark. They didn't quite make it before their rivals but it was fun and quite novel.

Table tennis was a Rollins success as Barbie Berno and Sandy Taylor carried fame before them with their defeat of two teams. Regular tennis was also a great victory for spectators saw Sally True and Nancy Corse walk away with their match and Lee Hay and Ginger Carpenter also win theirs.

A smashing victory was made when the varsity basketball team, captained by guard Betty Peterman, left the floor after deflating Barry College from Miami with a score of 20-3; the Tarbelles also left F. S. U. panting with 21 points to their 3. The other big team sport entered by Rollins was volleyball. In the first game which they entered against Stetson the blue and gold were swamped. However, they made a good comeback when they met Florida Southern in the second game and took it with a comfortable lead. Kay Dunlap captained the team of nine and Sandy Taylor helped to officiate.

The golfers did well as did Gail Donaldson and Nancy Corse in badminton.

Galaxy of Sports

by Alison Dessau

The Chi O's had a heavy softball schedule last week with two tough games topping their poster. Although they lost both games by a large margin, I would like to commend them on their excellent sportsmanship and spirit throughout each game. The Alpha Phis chalked up their second victory with a mighty score of 36-2. Their scoring was high when 24 runs came across the plate in the first inning, two of which were home runs, hit by Martha Leavitt and Anita Wadsworth.

It seems that each team this week has gotten their big wind during the first inning, for the Pi Phis also scored 14 runs in one big spurt of energy. Pitcher Moynahan with two homers, and Jane Laverty and Ann Todd breezing in with one each, allowed the Pi Phi's to claim their first win of the season after two losses to Theta and Alpha Phi.

The Kappas sailed through their game with the Pi Phis on Friday for their fourth victory, ending with a score of 13-2. The pitches were straight and fast, while the fielders didn't seem to miss a ball. With the sun blinding her eyes, Carol Bubb made a fabulous catch on a fly in right field. Ruth Hart has developed a new style of pitching and is steadily getting better. For the losers, Ann Todd hit a beautiful home run, but all in all, it seems the Pi Phi arrow just wasn't aimed for victory that day.

Stetson Blasts Rollins In Second Half Spurt

Jim Locke

To the layman watching the Tars this season discredit the good name of basketball, one would think that Rollins was de-emphasizing this winter pastime. And after Saturday's messy tryst with Stetson when the Hatters disposed of the Tars with comparative ease for the second time this year 88-76, the question that was mulled over in the minds of the hoop-faithfuls was "what is wrong with the Tars?"

Post mortems of the body the Stetson men laid to rest under the hardwoods indicated that the Rollins affliction was lack of stamina. The Hatters capitalized on the Tars inability to go the route as they broke the game wide open by running the Tars practically into the cellar of the Florida Basketball Conference. This is a bitter pill to swallow as pre-season prognosticators made Rollins second place favorites in the league.

At the outset, the spirited crowd, on hand for this battle of arch-rivals expected and were rewarded with a slam-bang affair that saw the lead change ten times in the first twelve minutes. Then the Tars bowed to tradition. After constructing an eight point lead they blew it. This happened with Florida Southern and was repeated against Miami, games the Tars should have won but lost. This sudden collapse of the offense and the rapid dissipation of the lead should surprise no one as it was in keeping with the Tars earlier endeavors.

The only comeback the Tars made that night was coming back for the second half. Down only three points at the intermission Rollins came out for the third stanza still smarting from Stetson's sixteen point scoring spree during which Nyimicz's boys had scored five tallies. Stetson started where it left off at the end of the second period by chunking in ten quick points, the Tars garnered two. "Hooks" Lawler brought the Tars to within two points of tying Stetson when Bezemer fouled out with twelve minutes remaining. Gone was the better half of the Rollins point-getting machine of Bezemer and Costello, gone was the "hope that springs eternal in the human breast." The Stetson rooters gleefully watched the final death strokes being applied while on the other side of the court sat Rollins, gluttons for punishment till the last.

High man for Rollins was Costello with nineteen, 13 coming in the first half. The rest of the scoring was divided among Bezemer, Lawler and MacHardy, all hitting in double figures.

Placement Bureau Announces List Of Visiting Bus. Firms

Representatives of various business firms and organizations will visit the Rollins campus to interview graduating seniors in the near future, Placement Bureau directors David Robbins and Mel Greenhut announced Monday.

Personnel of the International Business Machines Corporation will make arrangements to interview male seniors for sales and office administrative positions on March 3.

IBM, whose world headquarters is in New York, manufactures business machines of all types and has developed many accounting procedures. Several Rollins graduates are now affiliated with this company.

Southern Bell Telephone Company will also visit the campus early in March at a date to be announced later.

On February 14, a representative of the Standard-Vacuum Oil Company visited the campus and interviewed several seniors for positions in the Far East. The Burroughs Corporation also made its second visit to the college on that date.

Several government agencies have added to the interviewing visitors list within recent weeks: the United States Information Agency recruiting secretaries for US and foreign positions, Central Intelligence Agency and the National Security Agency.

Mar. 1 Deadline For Harvard Scholarship

Any students interested in applying for the tuition-fee Harvard summer school scholarship for 1955 should submit their applications to Professor Franklyn Johnson by March 1, it was announced today.

A catalog of course offered by the Summer School is available from members of the award committee. With Dr. Johnson, professors Irving Stock and Klaus Wolfe will choose the scholarship candidate from Rollins.

Last year's winner was Ed Scheer, now graduated and doing study in geology at Harvard.

ELEANOR ROOSEVELT TAKES OUT BOOK-A-YEAR CLUB MEMBERSHIP

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt has taken out a membership in the Rollins College Book-A-Year Club in memory of her husband, Franklin D. Roosevelt, President Hugh F. McKean announced.

The Roosevelt membership was announced at a colloquium birthday Tuesday at Mills Memorial celebrating the seventieth birthday of the Rollins College Library.

Fellowship For Study In Cuba Offered To American Graduates

Competition for the Father Felix Varela Fellowship for study in Cuba is open to American graduate students during the 1955-56 academic year.

Offered by the Cuban-American Cultural Institute, the award honors the widely-known Cuban educator who lived more than half his life in the United States as auxiliary bishop of Baltimore and New York.

Closing date for the competition is April 1, 1955. The award covers tuition and most maintenance expenses. For further information write to The Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York 21, N. Y.

ry. Interest from the membership fee will be used to buy a book a year for the library.

Guest of honor at the event was Ellery Sedgwick, former editor of the Atlantic Monthly, who spoke on the subject "The Influence of a Single Book."

On exhibit at Mills Memorial Library was the cornerstone of the Rollins Library and a Bible presented in 1885, the year the college was founded, and used in Chapel services for the succeeding 47 years by all presidents, including Dr. Hamilton Holt. During the colloquium President McKean presented a diamond ring on behalf of Miss Clare Benedict to the Rollins English department. Prof. Nina Oliver Dean accepted the gift.

One of the most interesting exhibits was a collection of "Washingtoniana" which included Life of Washington (1807), by David Ramsay, Washington's physician; Life of Washington (1810), by Mason L. Weems; Writings of George Washington, With a Life of The Author, Notes and Illustrations (1834-1837, 12 volumes), by Jared Sparks; and George Washington, a Biography (1948-1954, six volumes), by Douglas Southall Freeman.
