Eight Candidates Vie for Council Positions

HARVARD GIVES MILLER SUMMER SCHOLARSHIP

Shirley Miller, a Rollins junior, recently received notification that she is the recipient of the 1955 Harvard Summer School Scholarship. An English major, during the coming summer session beginning July 4 and ending September 4, she intends to study the modern novel and poetry, although as yet she is undecided as to the exact courses. Previous winners of the same award here at Rollins were Stewart James, Sidney Katz and Edward Scheer; it's presented to those students possessing an academic standing far above average. Shirley has been on the Dean's List each term since her freshman year.

Exceedingly excited about the prospects of the experience, Shirley knows it will be a great asset when she takes up her career of teaching literature on the completion of graduate school.

An active high school student in Dayton, Ohio and St. Petersburg, Florida from which she graduated, Shirley has continued with untiring energy on the Rollins campus. She's a member of the French Club, Phi Society, and Lambda and is prominent as a Chaplain reader. Currently Shirley is taking part in the Fred Stone production, "Murder in the Cathedral" by T. S. Eliot while earlier in the year she was in "Shakespeareana". One of her most outstanding accomplishments was the way she handled the presidency of the Independent Women during the school year 1953-54.

Council Appropriates Money For Pelican Water Heater

By Judy Adams
In Monday's Student Council meeting the motion was passed to appropriate sixty-six dollars from the student council funds for a water heater at the Pelican.

The motion tabled in the March 14th meeting was passed unanimously by the delegates present. President Dan Matthews assured that action would be taken to get the heater installed as soon as possible.

Phil Murray, Fiesta committee chairman, extended his thanks to all who had worked on the Fiesta and said a detailed account of profits and expenditures will be published as soon as all the figures are compiled.

In the March 14th meeting, not previously reported in the paper, the sixty-six dollar proceeds from the Animated Magazine concession were put in the Fiesta scholarship fund.

A suggestion that a tennis court be lighted at night will be investigated by the council as to student demand and cost of necessary lights.

A special ten minute council meeting was called on Tuesday, March 22, and a motion was made and carried to allocate two-hundred dollars to the Fiesta dance fund to augment donations by the alumni and social groups.

Suddenly It's Over

Suddenly it's over and again Fiesta has been successful this year under the direction of Phil Murray who commenced organizing the mammoth project last October and hasn't paused even once in his work for the six months that it takes to accomplish such a feat. There being absolutely no record from last year's Fiesta forced Phil to start from scratch and to establish the idea of compiling detailed records to facilitate matters next year. It has been thought, too, that the Festa chairman should be a junior that he might be present the following year as an advisor.

Through committee heads, Phil literally had control over every single student here at Rollins, for no one can doubt that each of us has done his part. It's a marvelous thing to see what the Rollins Student Body is capable of when working together for one goal. The spectacular floats, the midway booths were wonders in their construction and originality; and behind each item stand hours and hours of volunteered labor all contributed toward a single day that several students might be able to spend a year at Rollins with financial strain appeased somewhat by the scholarship money raised by the Fiesta.

Our Unifying Force

Rollins College is small, very small. That's why many of us are here. From the first moment of the freshman year few doors are barred, and that is one of the greatest advantages of a college such as this. Many colleges, because of their size or policy, are forced to wait until a student is almost ready to leave before there is room to include him in certain activities. In my opinion, one of the duties of the Sandspur is to promote as fairly as possible all activities and give recognition to those participating in them.

Although at Rollins emphasis is on the individual, unity is an extremely important factor. We know within our own social groups that without the effort of almost all nothing is accomplished. Paralleling this is the campus as a whole. If there is dissension among the social groups, clubs, associations, nothing is accomplished. Even on a campus as small as ours there must be one unifying force. It is the Sandspur. Without recognition in the Sandspur, an action, a group, an idea may easily die. On the other hand, undue recognition in the Sandspur can cause an action, a group, an idea to be over emphasized as to its relative importance. The Sandspur should be impartial yet discriminating.

Week after week exchange issues of the Sandspur are sent out over the United States to other colleges, and Rollins is on review. The Sandspur has a great opportunity to build up or tear down our college. If the attitude and presentation of material in the paper is good, whether it is criticizing, praising, or simply reporting, the opinion of the other colleges toward us will be steadily improved.

The Sandspur has the responsibility to reflect student opinion honestly, to give blame when deserved, and praise when merited. The Sandspur is the campus.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

After reading the continuous blastings of the Rollins Beanery during the past few weeks, we would like to take the broad jump amidst the hollering throng and openly shout our protest.

There is always room for improvement. We do not deny that there have been poor meals in the past. But instead of dwelling upon these less palatable courses, we would like to mention the many very tasty meals — to say nothing of the quantity of each.

In the Beanery as bad as the Sandspur accounts say? We think not! Are the meals as unbalanced and unsavory as the reports state? We think not! What then is the reason for all this hullabaloo about the Beanery food!

Perhaps one reason is the lack of any major problem at Rollins. This compels the inevitable complainers to concentrate upon the food. Perhaps our American standard of living has produced a crop of softies who seemingly don't know when they're well off.

Whatever the reason, it seems a sad state of affairs when the major concern of Rollins' students is not the future of the world, is not the quest for knowledge — but the concern of a dilatation of the alimentary canal — called the stomach!

College Papers

Co-existence

Minneapolis (ACP)—The United States Supreme Court recently ruled unconstitutional the segregation of Negro and white students.

What do college students think of this ruling? The Associated Collegiate Press recently asked the following question of a selected sample of college students across the nation!

THE UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT RECENTLY RULED AGAINST THE SEGREGATION OF WHITE AND NEGRO STUDENTS. THIS MEANS THAT NEGRO STUDENTS HAVE THE RIGHT TO ENTER SCHOOLS THAT USED TO ACCEPT ONLY WHITE STUDENTS. DO YOU FAVOR THIS DECISION OF THE U. S. SUPREME COURT?

The results:

YES	77%
NO	15%
UNDECIDED	8%

There are no sex differences in answers to this question, but upper and lowerclassmen tend to disagree somewhat, as follows:

Lowerclassmen (Fr. & Soph.)	Upperclassmen (Jr. & Sr.)
YES 74%	81%
NO 18%	14%
UNDECIDED 10%	5%

Two other differences are noticeable. Students attending public colleges and universities tend to favor the ruling more than students attending private schools. Students in the Northern, Eastern and Western sections of the nation favor the ruling by a 16% margin over students in Southern colleges and universities.

A senior at Southern Methodist University says that "A world doctrine of 'Peaceful Co-existence' has very little meaning if we are unable to practice what we preach." A sophomore coed at El Camino College, California, believes that while we permit segregation "our democracy is only a dream, not a reality."

Many of the students attending Southern schools feel Negroes should have equal school facilities but not attend the same schools as whites.

the stars, is a mere repetition and extension of the initial feat of learning to walk. But this extension does not take place by itself. Most of it has to be taught, slowly and painfully. There was a time when Mr. Einstein was not quite sure what eight times nine came to. He had to learn, and to learn he had to be taught.

The reason teaching has to go on is that children are not born human; they are made so."

This last sentence is arresting, for it suggests that the aim of education is producing human beings. That is sobering, for in some respects we have a long way still to go.

'ROUND ROLLINS

By Edge and McGoo

Hampered by apathy and rain, Phil Fiesta and his Lt.'s moulded a fiasco into a fiesta. Four Roses to the group who gave us a real swingin' time and completely abandoned themselves to that end.

A service was recently held for Tom Prometheus, giver of light, by some of his close friends and plebs. The pall bearers were T.S. Eliot, Ezra Pound, John Crowe Ransom, Wallace Stevens, William Faulkner and Johns Hopkins, who have traveled the same chalk road that Tom had followed to his untimely reward.

Heard in the choir of angels in attendance was the splended Irish tenor of James Joyce backed by the basso profundos of G.B. Shaw and Thomas Wolfe. They sang the funeral march "A Good Man is Hard to Find." Those present were inspired by the sermon entitled "Art for Art's Sake" and others were inspired by the flowers and the Spanish moss which was hanging throughout the chapel.

Young Tom Prometheus' liver took a beating on the mount, but it is our contention this is not what killed him. He acquired the taste-habit for Art and Truth very early in life. The value of this habit is questionable in the light which our modern society would throw upon it. Art has no value in this society, unless it will make money, and one certainly cannot tell the truth and make money.

Scholarly shock administered by pseudo-exalters of education is a lethal weapon. So the mob, with the hypodermic needle in hand, observed young Tom come to the end of his dedicated life, as all good ones in every century do in every institution, pushing against the limits of Art.

If he had been born commercial, as we count many things in life, he might have run out his career in the academy, using his equipment in a tired, derivative form and smiling as he tells jokes, which if you laugh hard enough will net you a "B".

And so the ashes of another talent have blown over Lake Virginia. But remembering that and what he did for us, it cannot be said he died badly. And what more can a man want than that?

We have searched the Old and New Testaments for some solace for our grief, but we have concluded that not even Abraham's Wife could bring him back.

Why do more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette?

BECAUSE ONLY VICEROY GIVES YOU A PURE, NON-MINERAL, NON-TOXIC FILTER WITH 20,000 FILTER TRAPS IN EVERY FILTER TIP!

1. Yes, only Viceroy has this filter composed of 20,000 tiny filter traps. You cannot obtain the same filtering action in any other cigarette.
2. Besides being non-mineral and non-toxic, this cellulose-acetate filter never shreds or crumbles.
3. The Viceroy filter wasn't just whipped up and rushed to market to meet the new and skyrocketing demand for filtered cigarettes. Viceroy pioneered. Started research more than 20 years ago to create the pure and perfect filter.
4. Smokers en masse report that filtered Viceroys have a finer flavor even than cigarettes without filters. Rich, satisfying, yet pleasantly mild.
5. Viceroy draws so easily that you wouldn't know, without looking, that it even had a filter tip... and Viceroys cost only a penny or two more than cigarettes without filters!

That's why more college men and women smoke VICEROYS than any other filter cigarette... that's why VICEROY is the largest-selling filter cigarette in the world!

Tiffany Exhibit Extended to April At Morse Gallery

Due to the unusual interest shown in "Works of Art by Louis Comfort Tiffany" at the Morse Gallery of Art, Rollins College, the exhibition will be extended until April 1.

The Steuben Glass Company announced this is an entirely new form of design in crystal which has confirmed the belief of Hugh F. McKean, artist president of Rollins College, that Louis Comfort Tiffany was an artist well ahead of his time. Only a month before in his foreword to the catalogue of the Tiffany Exhibit at Morse Gallery of Art, McKean said, "Many of these objects represent nothing at all. They are three dimensional abstract shapes, meant to be seen and enjoyed as such. Their sole purpose is to delight the eye with line, shape, color, and texture, and to vitalize the mind with the creative force of good art."

Bit O' News

Three Angels?

"My Three Angels" Combines Comedy With Murder In Play of Suspense

By Ross Fleishman

Professor Wilbur Dorsett, whose productions have graced the stage of the Annie Russell Theatre for the past nine years, has directed a most enjoyable show for his finale. Chosen as the final link in a chain of successful productions was Sam and Bella Spewak's MY THREE ANGELS. A popular play, and one seen frequently on community theatre stages this year, the book is very clever and well written. While the age old question of the end being justified by the means is again dredged up to be bandied about the stage, the dialogue is spritely enough to cast some new light or at least revive some old reflections.

The current Rollins production continues the tradition of fine educational theatre which has long characterized ART efforts.

With a setting in Cayenne, French Guiana, and the date 1910, a do-gooding trio of convicts attempt to settle the domestic difficulties of the Ducotel family. Due to the gross mismanagement of Felix Ducotel, a struggling general store has replaced their town house in Cherbourg. In portraying the father who has placed them in such a state, William Behrman is extremely realistic, as he goes from crisis to crisis in a disarming and delightfully ineffectual manner.

Jane Chambers as Emilie Ducotel is a picture of perseverance as she maintains her aplomb despite spouses' shortcomings. Completing the family circle and adding a sure, deft touch to the entire show is Jane Frankenberg. From her first act entrance, Jane as Marie Louise, the love-struck daughter, is in command and her performance is a highlight of the show.

Into this family, or rather into their struggling general store wander a series of characters, led by a trio of penal colony residents, Joseph, Jules, and Alfred. Unlike nearly any other prisoners imaginable, the three are ready to seek any extreme in their desire to resolve the problems of the Ducotel family.

The arrival of Henri Trochard, a grasping uncle much in command of the family's financial position launches the "angels" into action. In the expertness of his portrayal of Uncle Henri, Clark Warren symbolizes all miserly, penny-pinching uncles. At the same time, Tony Haarstick as Paul is a good example of an hopeful heir to be, that even the love of Marie Louise cannot sway him.

The chief angel, Joseph a dapper forger and all-round crook is done in an outstanding manner by Jack Randolph. Not one of the many clever lines which the part has is lost in Jack's sterling performance.

Tom Grubbs and Dick Dixon as Jules and Alfred respectively, both convicted murderers, but otherwise extremely well-mannered round out the threesome. Alfred the youngest of the group willingly would resort to violence, while Jules seeks more subtle means to improve the situation. Both actors capably match the high calibre of the other performances.

Mme. Parole, Pat Thompson's wonderful "scatter-brained as a fox" housewife is a pleasure to watch. The final supporting role is Tony Layng's apt work as a crisp young Lieutenant, the man in the future for Marie Louise, or so say the inimitable angels.

A fine evening of theatre going in the reward for anyone seeing MY THREE ANGELS. It is the student-actor's and actresses' tribute to the fine work done by Mr. Dorsett in the Theatre Arts Department.

"Baseball Lingo" Of Coach Joe Justice Familiar Sound To All Tar Boosters

By Jim Davis

The next time you go out to Harper Sheppard Field look closely at the fiery, peppery figure shouting constantly and pacing around the field. His favorite expressions of "get two, one sure," "nobody hurt," and "be a good two strike hitter" will identify him as Rollins' Dean of Men and baseball coach, Joe Justice.

Joe, as he is fondly referred to by most of the boys on campus, hails from Ashville, North Carolina and is the second oldest of the famous Justice brothers of which there are five. Joe got his start in athletics at Ashville High School where he captained the basketball and baseball teams in his senior year. He came to Rollins in the fall of 1936 and stayed until his graduation in 1940. It was in 1940 that he married Edith Scott, and they are now the proud parents of three boys and two girls. While at Rollins, Joe pledged Theta Kappa Nu which later became Lambda Chi Alpha, quarterbacked the varsity football team for four years, and captained the baseball and basketball teams his senior year. After graduation, he went to Winter Haven High School as a teacher and coach and played class D baseball in Sanford that summer. In the fall of 1941, Joe came back to Rollins as freshman coach and stayed on until he went to the University of Tampa as head football coach in 1942. The navy claimed him that September for three and a half years. After discharge, he again returned to Rollins as an assistant to Jack McDowell, the current Athletic Director, and helped coach football and baseball. After being appointed Dean of Men in 1951, he assumed the duties of head basketball coach in 1952-3.

Since 1946, Joe's baseball teams have won 140 games and lost 67 in regular season play, won five state championships, one Southern Championship, and came in second in the nation in the College World Series last season out in Omaha, Nebraska, truly an admirable record for a school that has only 300 males in its student body and a great credit to Coach Justice.

Besides having a great deal to do with winning these honors for the college, Joe has won a few of his own. He was an ALL STATE for two years in football and one in baseball, honorable mention Little ALL AMERICAN his senior year in football, and an ALL AMERICAN baseball player in 1939 as selected by the American Baseball Congress at Coopers-town, New York. To top all of this, last year he was voted into the runner-up spot for the College Baseball Coach of the year by the NCAA.

1955 could well be his banner year with another strong ball club back again. Here is wishing good luck to someone that has been a real credit to Rollins in the past and in the present both as a coach and as a dean and who faces his toughest assignments against a schedule that would make most college coaches in large universities shrink.

"ON MIKE"

by Jay Peterson

All I can say is "Wow," what with the vacation (?), the start of a new term, and then suddenly The Fiesta, and now the steady and relentless grind to the end of the year sure means work for everyone. I sure had my fun over the semester break working with Jarret Brool in the lower regions of the Library hatching one program after another while everyone, and I mean everyone, was away. Even Rod left for a few days rest.

The station as a whole got quite a bit done. Frutch and Clark Warren worked like a pair of 6L6's in push pull over the Bach tapes. Finally the announcements were done, and then the whole deal was once again in Uncle Mark's lap to splice together 58:40 minutes of program. Well, three days and two sleepless nights later the job was done. It was done so well that NBC wired back for more information so as to do a big promotional deal across the net. If any one is curious as to just what can be done in the Halls of Rollins give a listen this Saturday afternoon from 1:30 to 2:30 on WORZ. To be on the safe side check the newspaper for the correct time.

Speaking of new faces, several people have asked me just how they can work down in the caverns of PRK. Usually the answer is "Go see Mary Enck, Jim Cook, Clark Warren, Harvey Pylant." The scoop is that these people are running on different nights "Campus Capers," the hour-long variety show from 7 to 8 Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. I suspect that they can always use talent, ideas, and just people to help with the show. Note: Clark and Harvey's show last Thursday night pulled in two phone calls. Keep up the fine work.

INTERNS FIND TEACHING A REWARDING EXPERIENCE

By Carol Farquharson

At various points around the campus, alarm clocks ring consistently at 6:30 A.M. A special class before 8:30? A test to "review"? An early morning job? No, it is none of these, but the beginning of a long, full day for Rollins' interns each term.

What is an intern? An intern is that species of human, looked upon by teachers as a threatening young upstart; by students as an authority-assuming know it all; and by everyone else as a confused misfit. The only one who really understands an intern is another intern.

Why does an intern intern? Aside from the requirement that in order to teach in a public school, an aspiring teacher must spend so many hours in a classroom, an intern interns because he loves it. There is no other feeling like the one which encompasses an intern the first day he takes over a class. Nothing is quite as challenging as 30 pairs of eyes staring defiantly, or that choked feeling in the throat — responsible for words ending in whispers.

There is no average day in the life of an intern. Every one brings some new situation which the theory courses failed to cover. Let us look in on the intern who is attempting to teach 12th grade English students the value of studying Romantic Poetry.

The class has just begun. Instead of interested, attentive, students, confused mumbles emerge from the rabble. After failing at several different methods of disciplining, the intern resorts to the glare attack — silently glaring until the students become bored with their conversation.

Swinging into the carefully prepared speech of the night before, he begins to recite why the pupils should want to study Romantic poetry. Suddenly, he becomes aware that his words do not hold the same clarity they did on paper. He then decides to bring in visual aid, and holds up a few portraits of the poets. The students laugh.

Trying another approach, the intern calls upon a student to begin reading Keat's Ode on a Grecian Urn aloud. After stopping several times to quiet bored dissenters, a discussion of the poem follows. When everyone wishing to express a view has done so, the general consensus of the class is unanimous. The Romantic Poets were a bunch of "squares" who didn't know how to earn a living any other way, so turned to writing poetry.

Now is the intern's chance to really enlighten these students as to the great merits of these wonderful poems. Becoming engrossed in the sound of his own words, he notices that all eyes are one one one thing — the clock. Without warning, 30 students jump to the door and are out of sight as the bell is sounded.

For the next 5 minutes, the intern gasps for breath, reminisces of the "good ole days" when he led the easy life of a student, and thinks to himself — only 5 more periods to go.

When his training program is over, the intern usually completes his eighth week with a feeling of accomplishment. He has made many mistakes, but he hopes to profit by them. He remembers the day he dreaded that next class. But now, looking back, it wasn't so bad after all. And maybe someday, some one thing that he once said, may so help one of his students to mold his life just a little bit finer. These are the joys of interning.

Reprints of photographs appearing in the Sandspur are available from the Rollins Photographic Department whose offices are in the Student Center-Basement.

Rollins Eight Edges BU For 'Yankee Carpetbag'

Last Friday the Tars narrowly edged out a strong Boston University eight on Lake Maitland.

Clocked at 5:56.8, the Tars rowed what coach Dr. U. T. Bradley considered to be "one of the finest races he had ever seen."

ROLLINS GOLFERS UPSET FLORIDA

The Rollins golf squad that is probably destined to compile the best record of any Tar links team in recent years, opens competition today in the Florida Intercollegiate tournament in Miami.

The tournament will end Saturday. Last year Florida, putting two teams in the tournament, finished first and third while Rollins finished low in the meet, but this could be the year for a change.

The change could have started three weeks ago when Rollins, beaten 27-0 by Florida on the Gator home course last season, upset the Florida linksters, 16-11 in one of the biggest upsets by a Rollins sports team in years. Frank Boynton, the Orlando freshman responsible for a lot of the new deal in Rollins golf led the Tars with a 74.

With Boynton, Denny Folken, and Bruce Remsburg all tying for the medal with 74's, Rollins returned to Dubsread to trounce Davidson, March 19, 26-1. Joining them on the trip to Miami that could result in a Rollins individual champion or team victory are Bill Boggess, Ed Dinga, and Dick Sucher.

With a weight advantage of 10 pounds per man and highly favored, the Boston sweepswingers found themselves trailing by a deck length at the first third of the race. Boston made its bid in the last quarter of the course as it picked up the beat to a 35 stroke per minute. The Tars responded with a killing sprint that gained Rollins its second win of the season but only by a scant four feet.

In winning the race the Tars became this years possessor of the "Yankee Carpetbag." This is a trophy that is traditionally awarded to the victorious Rollins or Boston shell. Since the trophy inception in 1948, Boston has won it four out of the seven encounters with Rollins.

Today at 4:30 the Tars race Amherst College over the short nine-tenths of a mile course which finishes at the Alabama Hotel.

Three Matches As Volleyball To End

The Intramural volleyball season is scheduled to end tonight at Rec Hall, with three matches on tap. The X Club will oppose the Indies at 7:15, Sigma Nu and Delta Chi vie at 8 p.m. and Kappa Alpha plays the Indies at 8:45.

Due to several postponements last week, however, the season will probably last until early next week. At least two matches were slated for every day this week at Rec Hall. Scoring victories in the season opening matches last week were the Independents, the X Club and Delta Chi, but the league looked like it was on an even keel.

CLUB CLIMAXES FIFTH STRAIGHT PERFECT SEASON

Sigma Nu looked for a half as though it had found the long sought formula for defeating the X club in basketball early this month, but when the last whistle finally blew at Rec Hall it turned out, as it had for the past five seasons, that the five other teams in the intramural cage league had simply spent another season proving the Club's invincibility.

The final score was 55-39 as the Club rounded out its fifth consecutive undefeated season. It was really a much closer game than that. Sigma Nu had led, 22-18, at the half, mostly due to a phenomenal shooting performance by Elmer Lott, who sank 15 points, mostly from the outside, against the Club's zone before halftime.

But it was too phenomenal to last. Lott and Ra Moody at the other Sigma Nu guard had dropped 21 of the 22 Gold and Black points in the first half. The X Club switched to a man to man defense in the second half and methodically drove to its sixth straight championship.

Bruce Remsburg, rounding out his career as the Club's playmaking star, pumped in 11 of his 13 points in the second half as did center Ed Dinga. Bill Cary scored 12 points, eight of them in the second half, and the Club did a tremendous job of guarding Sigma Nu's big center Bud Bilensky, holding him to nine points.

With the departure of Cary and Remsburg after this season, two of the main cogs in the powerful X Club machine leave. The Club faces a rebuilding job next season as it strives for its sixth straight unbeaten year, but as was shown this season, it is up to the rest of the league to prove that they can be beaten.

Jerry Gunnerson of Lambda Chi led the intramural scorers for the second consecutive season of 167 points in ten games, with Phil Lubetkin of Delta Chi finishing second with 161. Bud Bilensky missed his chance at the scoring crown when Sigma Nu played only nine games after receiving a forfeit win from Kappa Alpha, but ended with 155 points nevertheless.

The top intramural scorers:

Player	Points
J. Gunnerson, Lambda Chi	167
Phil Lubetkin, Delta Chi	161
Bud Bilensky, Sigma Nu	155
Don Finnigan, Lambda Chi	131
Elmer Lott, Sigma Nu	129
Ed Dinga, X Club	126
J. Sprayregen, Delta Chi	122
Jim Doran, X Club	109
Dick Sucher, Independents	107
Jerry Fawcett, Independents	98

Bill Cary, formerly of Westbrook Maine and now residing at Rollins College, is a craftsman of some prominence. Bill is a pitcher. And so successfully has he excelled as a pitcher that, in three years of toiling on the mound for the Tars, he has compiled 21 wins against four losses, an earned-run average of 1.6 and only last summer he was selected to the All-American baseball team.

But the zenith of Bill's star-studded career was still to be reached.

Last January Bill's achievements were brought to the attention of the U.S. Olympic Committee by his coach, Joe Justice at the N.C.A.A. confab in New York City. At that time, the committee was in the throes of picking an amateur, All-Star baseball team to represent the United States in the Second Pan-American Games to be held in Mexico City in March. Around the first of February, Cary received a letter informing him that he, along with 17 other diamond darlings, had been chosen to represent America in this South-of-the-Border conclave of gristle.

Bill departed March 10th for Mexico, where he joined 2000 athletes comprising 22 nations and 17 sports. All were quartered in the ultra-modern University City, a vast, sprawling adjunct of the University of Mexico.

Here was the site of the biggest sports spectacle in the Western Hemisphere; here political enemies were abandoned in favor of a common ground of understanding-athletics. It was in this atmosphere of good will that opening day ceremonies were conducted. While 110,000 zealots waited in expectation, Indian runners starting from distant hills overlooking Mexico City raced into the huge oval-shaped stadium carrying the torch of the Olympic "eternal fire."

After the formal speeches, the raising of flags and the parade of participating athletes (the American delegation marched in porkpie hats and light blue suits) the muscle brigade adjourned to prepare for more strenuous activity. The next day, March 13th, Cary and retinue exchanged the civilian uniform for spiked shoes and a business suit of white flannels emblazoned with the lettering U.S.A. The program had been set up with Dominican Republic, Venezuela, Dutch West Indies, Mexico and the U.S. competing in a double round robin.

Of the five games the American team won in coming in second to Dominican Republic, Cary had two of the victories, one in relief and the other a nine inning stint against the Dutch West Indies, the only full game an American pitcher worked.

Cary returned to Rollins the 23rd of this month with the satisfying knowledge that he played "basebol muy bueno."

Spring term has rolled off to a wet start to cut out practice for all athletically inclined females at Rollins. A full schedule is in store, so all you gals had better cut the cigarettes and start lifting dumbbells if you expect to measure up to the heavy program ahead.

Volleyball heads the list, with the first game on April 11th. Adding to the interest of aquatic enthusiasts is the revival of the war canoe races to be held on April 24th. Archery will highlight the events of May 13th and 14th, and ending the sports world at Rollins for spring of '55 will be the annual swim meet on the following day. From April 27th through May 6th, we will see the "Babe Zaharias's of our campus at Dubsread, driving hard to bring home the coveted trophy.

Netters Win Twice After Losing Match To Presbyterian, 7-2

Fresh from two consecutive easy victories, the Rollins tennis team tackles one of the toughest parts of its schedule this week, opposing Duke, Florida State, and Florida on consecutive days.

Coach Jim McDougall's netters opposed Duke, along with Presbyterian and Miami rated one of the three top opponents on their schedule yesterday and will play Florida State on the Rollins courts Friday at 1:30.

After dropping their opening match to Presbyterian, 7-2, March 15, the Tars scored consecutive, 9-0, victories over Davidson and Ohio State. Presbyterian, sporting one of the country's top amateurs in Allen Morris and a good number two man in Dick Macatee, is probably second only to Miami's perennial powerhouse among the Rollins' opponents.

Winter term ended with a series of the closest softball games of the season with the Thetas — who else — coming out on top. Scores of the last games ran as follows:

Alpha Phi	7	Pi Phi	6
Pi Phi	10	Gamma Phi	7
Theta	7	Kappa	5
Alpha Phi	5	Phi Mu	5

Hudgins

It made little difference to the Alpha Phi's in the finals of the tennis tournaments last March 12, as Pat Stewart and Leigh Hay battled for the victory. Incidentally, Pat won the singles 6-1, 6-2. The two teamed up in the final doubles match to trounce Thetas Nancy Corse and Judy Bygate.

The Intramural Board presented the Women's Intramural Standings as follows:

TEAM	TOTAL POINTS
Theta	533
Alpha Phi	451
Pi Phi	330
Gamma Phi	315
Kappa	310
Phi Mu	290
Chi O	145
Indies	140

Tars Top Baseball Week; Brophy Hurls One-Hit Shutout

Baseball Week is over, although you couldn't prove it by the Rollins Tars' stiff schedule which sees them playing their third game in as many days today, against Duke in the second game of a Harper-Shepherd double-header, at 3:30.

The first game of today's double-header pits Amherst versus Duke at 1 p.m.

If any fact was apparent as the Tars swept to their second consecutive unofficial Baseball Week championship in the rain shortened tournament last week, it was that Rollins has as good front line pitching as almost if not any collegiate team in the country.

The Tar pitching of lefty Art Brophy and Don Tauscher accounted for all four Rollins victories in six contests and two of the three shutouts in the tournament.

For the Tars to fare so well in such a packed schedule speaks well for their tournament chances this season. None of the teams in the tournament seemed to have the hurling staff to play such a sustained schedule, but Rollins handled the pitching shortage best of any of the competing teams. Even when coach Joe Justice ran out of pitchers after the first two games, the Tars hitting picked up and except for a couple of base running errors, they might have pulled one of the next two games out of the fire.

The next action for the Rollins nine following today's contest will be in the North Carolina Invitational tournament in Durham against North Carolina, North Carolina State, Wake Forest, Ohio University, Notre Dame and Yale, opening a week from today. The three day double elimination tournament will give the Tars their first real tournament test under pressure since last June's Collegiate World Series in Omaha, when they finished second to Missouri for the National championship.

Highlight of the Baseball Week tournament was Art Brophy's one-hitter against North Carolina Friday in Rollins final game of the meet. Brophy, who allowed only three runs in 20 innings of tournament pitching, struck out 26 men, won two games and helped save one for Tauscher, allowed only a swinging bunt single by North Carolina firstbaseman Tom Zachary.

Except for that hit, North Carolina could gain nothing resembling a safety off Brophy, who ran to 12 his string of victories without a defeat at Rollins.

Tauscher opened the tournament with a brilliant five-hitter against Alabama with the Tars winning 2-0, on two unearned runs. Brophy defeated Virginia Tech with a 13 strikeout performance in the second Rollins contest as Jim Doran blasted a three run home run.

The Tars used four pitchers in losing to Ohio State in an error riddled third game, 11-9, when all the breaks ran against them and three Tar runners were nipped at home and dropped an 8-5 contest to Virginia Tech, in the next game as Justice, conserving pitchers, started third baseman Bobby Richmond.

Tauscher defeated Georgia Tech, 6-4, in the Tars' fifth contest as Elmer Lott's pinch double broke the game open and Brophy hurled two brilliant innings of hitless relief. Tauscher seemed to be relying on his curve more in this game, but allowed only one earned run.

Connie Mac Butler, with his first home run of the season and a couple of long doubles, Nick Vancho, with three doubles, Al Fantuzzi, with several timely hits, Doran and Lott all hit well for early in the season.

INDIES, CLUB TO OPEN SEASON MONDAY

Rain and the remains of the Fiesta carnival combined to postpone the scheduled opening of the Intramural softball season last Monday, but the campaign will get underway this Monday with two of the favorites, the X Club and the Independents playing.

The Independents copped the fall championship with the Club in fourth place, but many of the Indie stars have departed to various fraternities.

Delta Chi and Sigma Nu, who fought it out for second place in the fall campaign with the Gold and Black winning out, will field virtually the same squads.

The schedule:

Mar. 28	Kappa Alpha vs Lambda Chi
April 4	X Club vs Independents
April 5	Lambda Chi vs Delta Chi
April 6	Sigma Nu vs Kappa Alpha
April 7	Indies vs Lambda Chi

MILLS LIBRARY EXHIBITS WORK OF WHITMAN

Attracting great interest since it opened last week is the exhibition of Whitmaniana at Mills Memorial Library, Rollins College.

The exhibit is part of the national and international Centennial Exhibition of the publication of Walt Whitman's "Leaves of Grass." The exhibit is probably the largest and most representative collection of Whitman's work ever shown in Florida. It includes pictures of his mother, his birthplace, the country school where he taught, a score of portraits, 50 photostats and books by and about Whitman.

In the collection are two important manuscripts in Whitman's handwriting, one dealing with "Teath and Democracy" and the other relating to his services as a nurse during the Civil War.

Cornerstone of the exhibit is a copy of the rare first issue of the first edition of "Leaves of Grass" which was published in 1855.

The public is invited to attend the exhibit which will continue through June 3. Visiting hours are Monday through Friday, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7-10 p.m.

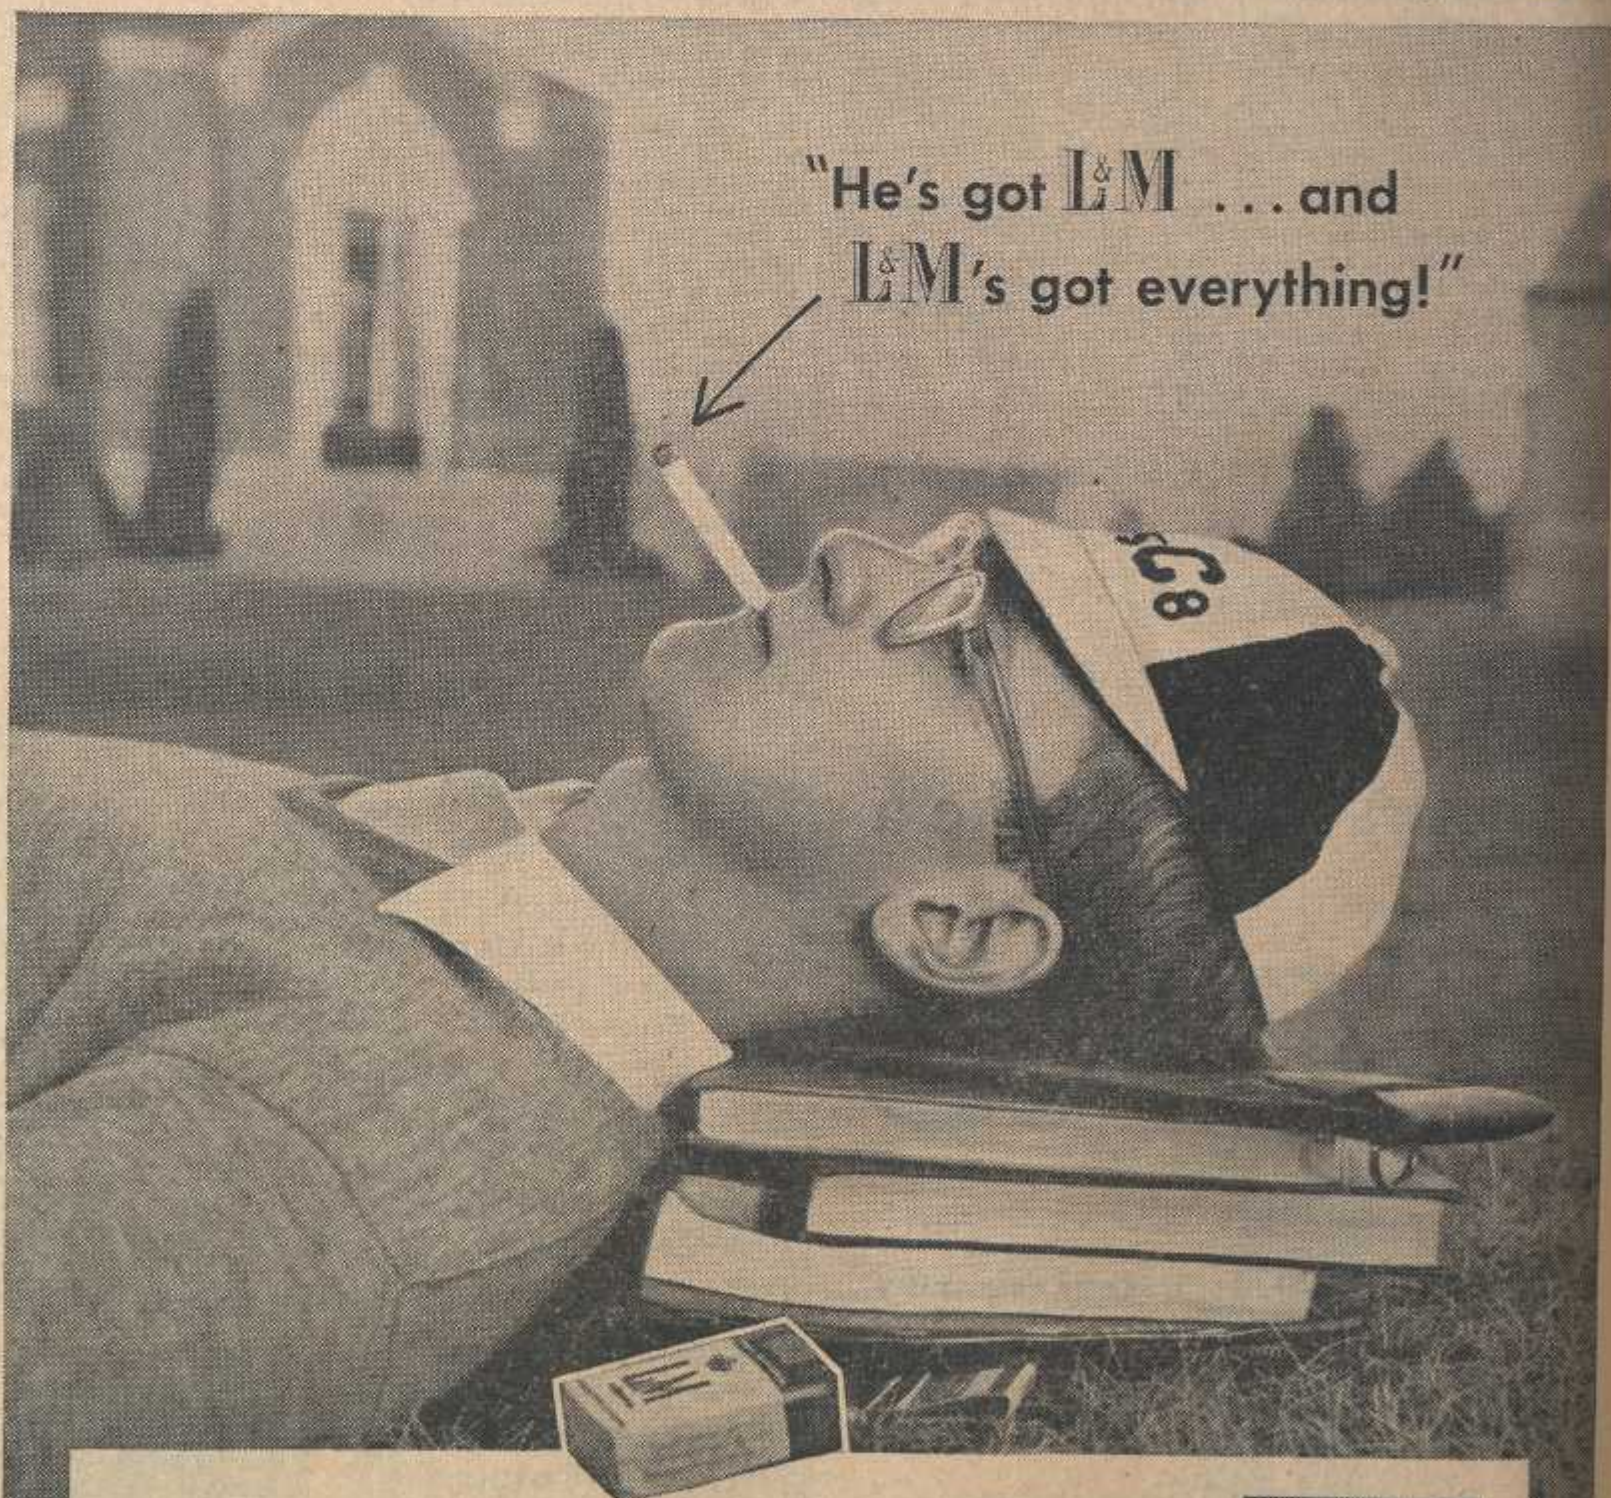

Hal Durant, X Club, and Sally Simeon, Theta, preside as Fiesta King and Queen at the Fiesta Ball Saturday night held at the Mount Plymouth Hotel. Along with the reigning couple is Johnny Long whose famous band played at the gala event climaxing a week of festivities.
