260 New Students Join Rollins Family

TENSION SOARS AS TRANSFERS & FROSH ARRIVE

As of September 26, 260 new students descended on the Rollins campus for the Orientation Week activities which began last Sunday.

The enrollment figure on new students is expected to rise slowly during the next two weeks as new applications are accepted.

Many of the students were prominent in their high schools and former colleges and will be a credit to Rollins' already outstanding student body.

Of the new students for the fall term, Florida contributed the greatest number, 94, with New York and Illinois racing each other for second place having 26 and 17 respectively. In third place with 16 is Ohio.

Foreign countries have made their contribution to the Rollins campus with two from Canada and one each from Cuba, Germany, Hawaii, Venezuela, Japan and Switzerland.

Sixteen graduates of Orlando and Winter Park high schools will attend Rollins as day students. Among them are Joan Abendroth and Mary E. Dike, valedictorian and salutatorian of Winter Park High School class of 1955.

On the first day at Rollins, the students received their room assignments, registration permits and meal cards, and were designated to their student advisors. The opening dinner in Beanery was followed by the introduction of administrative officers in the Center patio and then conference groups met with their student advisors in dormitory lounges.

Monday and Tuesday were filled with tours of the campus, a roller skating party at the Orlando Coliseum, a picnic at the lakefront, and a movie at the Colony Theatre.

Abbott House (left) and Kirby-Smith House, recently obtained by the college as additional dormitories. Abbott houses about 10 men and Kirby-Smith will house Alpha Omega women.

SANDSPUR CALLS FOR NEW FACES AND RED BLOOD

With a triumphal blast on its hunting horn, the Sandspur calls forth new blood to race through its 24 pica columns.

"Quality," cries the editor in her best feminine shriek. "We want quality, but we'll take what we can get!"

Describing her course of action to her loyal band of editors, she emphasizes that, "I want this new office jammed, jammed, you hear, with people. We have 724 square feet of floor space and the ceiling's 12 feet high. You have your orders."

Please note: All returning staff members, freshman and transfers with journalistic leanings are cordially invited to a Sandspur Organizational this Sunday evening in the Spur office, room eight, Carnegie Hall at 7:00 p.m.

Students Return To Show Freshmen Rollins Campus

Thirty-five Rollins College upper class students arrived on the campus to assist with orientation of more than 250 new students Sunday through Wednesday. They met freshmen as they arrived at the airport and depots and served as guides and counselors to the incoming class.

Orientation week officially got under way Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Dearing Tells Plans For Coming Season In Annie Russell

"Dial M For Murder," a play of mystery and suspense by Frederick Knott has been named as the opening production at the Annie Russell Theatre this year, announced Peter Dearing, ART Director.

The play, a pre-release for college groups, beginning November 8, will make its first Florida stage performance at Rollins.

The Department of Theatre Arts is having a meeting of all students interested in the work of the Department on Thursday, October 6 at 8 P.M. in the Annie Russell Theatre.

"All Theatre Arts majors and members of the Rollins Players are requested to attend this important meeting to discuss with the Department the coming season's production of both the Rollins Players and the newly formed Fred Stone Theatre Workshop," Dearing added.

Dearing explained the new Fred Stone Workshop as a freshman group equivalent to the Rollins Players. This group will perform four productions in the Fred Stone Theatre under faculty supervision. After working on two plays, these students will become eligible to act in the "parent theatre," Annie Russell. Work in the Fred Stone Theatre will serve as a "proving ground" for further theatre work, stated Dearing.

"Any new students interested in Theatre Arts who wish to take part in the seasons forthcoming productions are cordially invited to attend the meeting at which the program for both Theatres will be announced and casting and open reading schedules will also be set up for the Fall term," Dearing announced.

The Rollins Chapel Choir will begin its year at the first Chapel service this Sunday, announced Robert Hufstader, Choirmaster and Director of the Conservatory of Music.

Tryouts for the Choir were held this week with practices being held today at 4:20 tomorrow at 1:30 and a rehearsal at 9 on Sunday morning.

The anthems included this Sunday are the "Antithon" from the cycle of "Five Mystical Songs" by Ralph Vaughan Williams and "Lead Me, Lord, In Thy Righteousness" by Wesley.

Hufstader announced that rehearsals for the Christmas program would start immediately. He added that plans for the annual Chapel Vespers service held Winter term were also in progress.

NEW QUARTERS INDICATE SCHOOL EXPANSION PLAN

The purchase of the Roger Brindle House and the rental of the Kirby-Smith House as Rollins dormitories has marked the end of a summer renovation program for the college.

The Brindle House, which will be known at Rollins as the Abbott House, is located at 527 Chase Ave. Mrs. Abbott was one of the first faculty members of the College. This House was bought as a dormitory for about 10 men and was acquired to handle to larger enrollment this fall. Purchase price was $16,000 for the house and lot, and $750 for the furnishings.

The Kirby House, 337 Interlachen Ave., which will accommodate about 20 coeds, has been leased for a 2-year period. This house is the residence of the newly-formed Alpha Omega Club.

The third piece of property purchased by the College is the Neville property between the KA house and the Infirmary, which extends from Chase Avenue to the lake. This property used to belong to Mrs. Jesse Neville, the mother of the late Miss Laura Neville, Rollins Registrar previous to Dotty Koehler.

Although Rollins has purchased the property, the six apartments on the property are leased until Rollins students are again urged to make applications for Marshall and Rhodes Scholarships. Deadline for the Marshall Scholarships is October 15 and Dec. for Rhodes Scholarships. The Marshall program provides 12 two-year scholarships annually for study in British Universities. The Rhodes scholarship provides two-year scholarships for study at Oxford University. Further information will be published at a later date in the Sandspur. The Marshall program was begun in 1953 by the British Parliament as a gesture of appreciation for America's Marshall Plan Aid which ended in 1950.

next year. George Cartwright has estimated that the large building and the three smaller ones on the property can eventually be converted to house 33 men.

Last February the Rollins Board of Trustees voted to gradually increase the enrollment of the college until it eventually reaches 800 a few years hence.

President McKean will speak on The State Of The College at an ALL-COLLEGE CONVOCATION Tuesday, Oct. 4 at 10:45 in the Knowles Memorial Chapel.

Chapel Staff Sponsors All College Party Sun.

Entertainment, dancing and fun will close Orientation week Sunday, Oct. 2, at 7:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. in the Student Center. Sponsored by the Chapel Staff, the annual All College Get Together will feature fresh talent and specialty acts you can't afford to miss!

Tony Antoville greets incoming freshmen as part of Orientation Week festivities. More than 250 freshmen and transfer students began arriving last Sunday as Rollins entered its 1955-56 year.

The Time Has Come

It doesn't seem to matter how often we go away to private schools, are invited to college proms, or go to the University for the weekend, there's something about our own very first year at college that overshadows all. Maybe it's because going to college is a dream-like affair that always seems to be happening to other people, then, suddenly, here we are actually old enough to achieve our dream. And Rollins couldn't be a more dream-like place in which to reach college status.

Rollins College is small, extremely small. That favorable factor is one of the reasons many of us are here. From the first moment of the freshman year few doors are barred, and this is one of the greatest advantages of a college such as this. Many colleges, because of their size or policy, are forced to wait until a student is almost ready to graduate before there is room to include him in certain activities.

Being a small school, by the end of the first term everyone knows everyone else, or are at least on speaking terms. Dances are open to the entire school and freshmen are welcomed to participate in everything from intra-mural sports, Student Council, to the student paper. Picnics on hot evenings are held on the lawns near the lake, and eating, then, becomes a family affair.

The incoming students can't fail to love Rollins as the rest of us do.

Spurs Speak

As the second oldest college paper in Florida, the Rollins Sandspur was established in 1894 with the following editorial:

Unassuming yet mighty, sharp yet pointed, well-rounded yet many sided, assiduous, yet as gritty as the name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of the Sandspur.

Although 61 years have elapsed since this editorial was first published, the ideals of the Sandspur have never varied. Totally independent, speaking honestly in news stories, features and editorials, the Sandspur will continue to uphold the traditions that have been handed down through the years.

Congratulations

Congratulations are in order for the Welcoming Committee. This past week has been a masterpiece of friendliness.

Dr. U. T. Bradley, Denny Folken and their committees will long be remembered by these freshmen whose collegiate life will be set in motion by their unfailing kindness and untiring work.

OF INTEREST TO FRESHMEN

CHAPEL HILL, N. C.—(I.P.)—As an individual experiencing university life for the first time, the entering freshman encounters a significant adjustment period, according to the report of the special committee on fraternity rushing at the University of North Carolina. For many it is the first extended absence from home, the committee points out. For others, developing proper study habits and learning to accept additional responsibilities is a serious problem. The full report on Rushee's Problems follows:

While the length of the adjustment period varies with the background and the maturity of the individual, a minimum adjustment is required of all students. In the sense that the first few weeks on campus are important in establishing the tone of an individual's work, it was felt that as little outside pressure should be permitted as possible.

The observation was made that the grades of the average freshman in a fraternity were comparatively lower than the average non-fraternity freshman. This was attributed to some extent to a time-consuming rush schedule which occurred at a time when many freshmen were not adjusted. It was pointed out that, in addition, this period was frequently the period when first quizzes were given.

The committee agreed that fraternities also required some time at the beginning of each academic year to prepare themselves both for their academic work and the related activities of the fraternity. The first few weeks of school did not seem to be adequate, considering the additional study requirements and the myriad activities of the fall.

The suggestion was made that individuals interested in fraternities would not have an opportunity to appraise them without a longer waiting period. At the same time, fraternity members could not evaluate the prospective rushees properly. For these and other reasons, it was felt that a rush period at the end of the first semester might be desirable. There were a number of significant points, however, which were brought out in support of an early rushing program.

SCHOLARSHIPS ARE AVAILABLE

PRINCETON, N. J.—(I.P.)—It is the aim of the newly-inaugurated College Scholarship Service, established by the College Entrance Examination Board at the request of 92 prominent institutions of higher learning to award scholarships on the basis of financial need, to develop procedures which will assist the colleges to compute the actual extent of a student's resources so that they may take steps to meet his need.

The Service has prepared a confidential form on which all family information and financial data pertinent to a candidate's application for aid is entered. When a student applies for admission to any of the colleges and requests scholarship assistance, he receives a copy of the Service form from the college. This consists of information about the Service, a two-page financial statement with instructions for its use, a copy of the statement to be retained by the family for its own records, and a list of the participating colleges and the date by which each college desires to have the statement returned to the Service.

The form requests the names of all participating colleges to which the information is to be sent, thus making it necessary to complete and send in the statement only once. The statement is filled out by the student's parents and returned directly to the offices of the Service, operated by Educational Testing Service, either at Los Angeles, Calif., or Princeton, N. J.

In acting as a medium of communication between the students and the colleges, as well as between the colleges, the Service will collect a vast amount of information about financial need and the efficacy of the methods and extent of the funds of all kinds used in financial aid programs. This information will be utilized in research projects designed to develop and improve the computation procedures and finally in the first large-scale study of the scholarship situation in the United States which has ever been undertaken. The study, of which the College Scholarship Service is an early product, was initiated by a College Entrance Examination Board appropriation of $50,000.

The Chapel Tower

By T. S. Darrah

Bess White Cochran tells the story about Mandy who was always smiling and radiating good cheer. "You've found happiness, haven't you Mandy?" she was once asked. "No, Sir," she replied, "I ain't found it. I've made it."

This is a good attitude to bring to the beginning of another college year. What you will find at Rollins in terms of success, good grades, or friendships will not be wholly found in the college but will depend in large measure on what you make of yourself and the opportunities Rollins presents you.

Our zealous editor had me write this column two weeks before Rollins opened, and for the sake of textualism I am secretly calling this literary pearl "Round New York."

GOSSIP: Saw Phil "Fiesta" Murray the night before he packed his dictionary and atlas and headed for a plush job with CBS Chicago.

The "R" Book did its usual peerless job of welcoming students to Rollins, but I thought the "Winter Clothes Section" was a little weak on the finer points of Rollins' dress. Jo Cayll should explain to the new faces that while some societies use the cadillac fish fin as a class symbol we at Rollins have our own winter emblem of denomination — the Cashmere Sweater.

To upper division people it is common knowledge that on campus there are one Cashmere, two Cashmere, three Cashmere sweater cliques. Of course these cliques should not be confused with the Robert Hall Action Jacket set. Three Cashmeres are not the only prerequisites for admittance into one of the superior cliques, unless one sweater was a present from a paramour; one a gift from daddy, and it is mandatory that one sweater be knitted by a room mate at prep school.

Millions of words poured forth from the journals of America when the Big Four met in San Francisco this summer. The words flowing from the U.N. Conference in the West dealt with many subjects, but the most enlightening slices of editorializing came after that charming little man from Moscow, Molotov, smiled. Molotov's smile became a prophecy to the American people. This famous smile was said to mean peace, coexistence, disarmament and what ever the press and wire services could symbolize from this delegate's grin.

To me this is truly a marvel of the times. One could justly say that our economy is based on a smile. I have resolved to smile a little bit more during the coming year. No longer will I make the snide remark that if you use a smile as your umbrella you'll drown to death.

At Rollins we should all learn to smile. We should not only demand classes in proper smiling but this last summer proved that today's graduates need to be inculcated in the art of smile reading.

If you new faces should ever doubt the worthiness of a well placed smile I implore you to ask an upper division friend to tell you of the social and academic heights attained by those two beamers of yester year — Ronny Butler and Farquharson . . . Until next week . . . smile . . .

End

Sue, you had better use every drop of this blood . . . I know of its value, but I believe that when you prostitute your art or any art you should go all the way . . .

Use it all! If you need more I have it. Carry it over on the back page, paste it on the wall, but please use it.

Love to all,
Jim "Magoo" Browne.

Rollins System Stresses Importance of Student Government Publications

The Student Government is an important phase of Rollins life, just as the city, state and Federal government is an important part of the life of every American. We stress government by the people, so also does Rollins stress the importance of student government by the students. In our model government we try to foster the basic principles of good citizenship, responsibility, honesty and integrity.

Every Rollins student is a member of the Rollins Student Association. Through the general elections at the end of the year, the Council officers are chosen. The student representatives are chosen through their respective social organizations (Sororities, fraternities and independent groups). All upperclassmen are eligible officers, if they meet the requirements of the constitution. Every student is welcome to attend the Council meetings. All suggestions from the gallery are always welcome and they often prove very helpful to the solutions of the council's problems. In this way all students are able to voice their opinions directly. Our Student Association has been granted more powers of self-government by the administration than that of most schools. This year President Dennis Folken is presiding over the weekly Student Council meetings.

The Tomokan is the year book of the College. Its print and pictures, each spring, portray the life and views of our Rollins way.

Last year's book featured a new innovation of a flip over layout. Lyman Huntington, one of the nation's top photographers, did most of the action shots. This year he is going to do the portraits and most of the informal pictures. The plans for this year's book are in progress and according to all reports it should be an excellent year book.

The varying positions on the Tomokan offer opportunities for all fields. Interested students can seek positions in writing, typing, proof-reading, photography, art or business.

Jo Cayll, the editor in chief, and Ann Derflinger, her assistant, will soon call a meeting for all interested students. The meeting will be to discuss the new book, with possible positions for all interested students.

The Sandspur is one of the most active organizations on campus.

Colado Cayll

The weekly news is gathered and written by the students.

Every Sunday and Monday night is reserved for Spur; on these nights the paper is composed, sent to the typesetters, then to the press.

All publications are financed through the Student Association and are staffed entirely by students. All publications are given out without any additional cost to the student, besides the student association fee.

Other publications are the "R" book edited by Winkie Colado, and The Flamingo, edited by Jom Browne.

Rollins Recollections Liven Knowles Library

What was Rollins like during the first twenty-five years? The answer to this question has been placed on the second floor of the Mills Memorial Library as the opening exhibit of the present academic year. The period covered is from 1885 to 1911.

Photographs of the founders, trustees, faculty and alumni are shown at the entrance.

Pictures illustrate the contrast between campus frame buildings of the first period, 1886 to 1893, and the second from 1909 to 1920, the period of brick buildings.

"The printed rules and regulations for the early days will astonish the students in this more liberal period," stated Mrs. Hansen, librarian.

Also displayed are photographs of student activities in athletics, drama, art, and music.

Water sports began early at Rollins. The exhibit shows illustrations of racing shells brought to Winter Park from Jacksonville by a specially arranged long-coupled wagon, which gives an idea of the transportation difficulties encountered. The regatta at Tampa in 1904 was won by the Rollins crew.

Publications issued by the students themselves, and books and writings of Rollins presidents, trustees, faculty and alumni make up an important part of the exhibit.

Photographs of the "Dinky Line" which brought day students to Rollins and took faculty and students to Orlando for concerts, etc., show its growth from the first spade of earth dug for the roadbed to the great locomotive No. 2, the "Francis B. Knowles," replacing No. 1 which was wrecked. Historical data of great value is exhibited in three scrapbooks of clippings, programs, etc.

Two appointments to the staff of the Mills Memorial Library were announced recently.

Miss Anna L. Weaver, who has given outstanding service to the library as Special Cataloguer for the past two years, was appointed Reference Librarian and Assistant in Archives. She succeeds Mrs. Gladys Henderson who left the Rollins library to become Librarian and Assistant in Archives. She succeeds Mrs. Gladys Henderson who left the Rollins library to become Librarian of the Stetson School of Law in St. Petersburg.

Miss Clio Arnold was appointed to take Miss Weaver's place as special Cataloguer. She comes to Rollins from Athens College, where she served as Librarian for the past three years.

Miss Weaver, a graduate of the University of Rochester, holds a B.S. degree in Library Science from Simmons College.

Miss Arnold, a native of Ohio, graduated from Ohio Wesleyan University, received her M.A. from Columbia University and her B.S. degree in Library Science from Western Reserve.

PRES. DONATES TO MILLS MEM'L BOOK-A-YEAR

The name of Admiral Farragut Academy, St. Petersburg, will be perpetuated in Mills Memorial Library at Rollins College because of a commencement address given there by President Hugh F. McKean.

The Rollins president gave the check to Mills Memorial Library for a $150 Book-A-Year membership. Interest from the money will be used to buy annually at least one book dealing with the development of U. S. Naval power and such related subjects as Oceanography.

McKean, who never asks a fee for speaking, gave the graduating address at Admiral Farragut May 28. Several days after returning to Winter Park he received a check for $150 from Comdr. Earl M. Clark, principal of the academy.

Each book will carry the inscription, "Admiral Farragut Academy Membership."

Rollins Continues To Offer Program Called Operation Bootstrap

Since 1951, 1,587 men at Patrick Air Force Base alone have registered for Operation Bootstrap, which has been conducted by Rollins.

The operation is an off-duty program of college level courses to enable Air Force enlisted personnel and officers to begin, continue, or complete work for a college degree. Over 200 colleges and universities cooperate with the Air Force in this program.

This fall, eight courses are being offered for the personnel of Rollins campus. These have been opened to qualified adults in the community, and registrations must be completed not later than Tuesday (Oct. 4).

Orlando Teacher Is Creative Art Head In Child's Courses

Betsy Burke, of Orlando, has been appointed instructor of creative art in the children's program of Courses for the Community at Rollins College.

Miss Burke, who was traveling art teacher in the Orange County schools last year, has taught art in both elementary and junior high schools in Tennessee and South Carolina.

She received her A.B. degree in art from the University of North Carolina in 1946, and has attended summer schools there and at Tennessee State Teachers College.

STONE ANNOUNCES COMPETITION FOR FULBRIGHT SCHOLARSHIP

Rollins students are again urged to make application for Fulbright Scholarships according to Dr. Wendell Stone.

These awards are made to deserving students for post-graduate study in foreign countries by the International Exchange Program of the U. S. Government.

Two students from the state of Florida receive this award each year, Dr. Stone stated, adding that at least one Rollinsite has taken the honor since the program began in the state.

To be eligible for competition the applicant must be a citizen of the United States, have earned a Bachelor's Degree, or its equivalent by the time he begins studying, and have a sufficient knowledge of the language of the country for which he applies.

Some exceptions to these requirements may be made with information available from Dr. Stone in the Administration Building.

Faculty members are also urged to compete for these scholarships. They must hold a doctoral degree in addition to the requirements listed for the undergraduates.

Fulbright scholarships awards include round-trip transportation, a cost of living allowance, and a supplemental allowance for travel and books.

The 1954 winner of this foreign study scholarship was Rollins' Merrill (Buddy) Reich who received the grant for social science studies in Austria.

ENG. PROPRIETY LOSES FACE IN AMERICAN NOVEL

Gainesville—An actual murder, which involved child marriage, adultery, witchcraft, revenge, concealed sin, poisoning, hanging, and a dying confession, was the source of one of the world's greatest novels, it has recently been discovered.

According to Dr. Alfred Reid, the accounts of the murder in England of Sir Thomas Overbury in 1613 were Nathaniel Hawthorne's principal sources in composing "The Scarlet Letter."

MADemoiselle SEEKS ENTRANTS IN ANNUAL COLLEGE BOARD TEST

Outstanding women undergraduates are being sought by MADemoiselle, the women's fashion magazine, for its College Board Contest.

The grand prize will be a month in New York on salary for the twenty winners helping to write and edit MADemoiselle's 1955-56 College Issue. They will be brought to New York next June to help write, edit and illustrate the August College issue.

The winners will write features, do illustrating, see famous manufacturers' designs, read and judge manuscripts or plan publicity.

Each contestant must be an undergraduate in an accredited college or junior college. She has to submit her name, college and home addresses, class year, major and minor, college activities, any college offices held, and summer jobs. Choose one of these four ways to apply. 1) Write a brief critique of August or September or October or November MADemoiselles; 2) Draw a cartoon series on any phase of campus life or illustrate at least one article or story published in MADemoiselle during the past year; 3) Describe and illustrate an ideal weekend wardrobe for a girl at your own college; 4) Do layout or copy or both for at least one promotional piece encouraging students to enter the College Board Contest.

The deadline for College Board applications is November 30.

Competition Is On Again Among Southern Beauties

The race for glamour queens is on again, and college coeds from Southern states are urged to compete for both the Orange Bowl Queen and Maid of Cotton.

Sponsors are neither required nor discouraged for 1956 Orange Bowl Queen contestants, the SANDSPUR has been advised by the Orange Bowl Committee at Miami.

"We have received more than the usual number of inquiries concerning sponsors this year," said Duke Jordan, OBC News Bureau Director. "Sponsored or not, each candidate has an equal chance."

Entry blanks are not used, but Orange Bowl Queen aspirants must submit required photographs and other information to contest headquarters, 615 S.W. Second Avenue, Miami 36, Fla.

Photos should be unretouched, eight by ten black and white, glossy prints. One should be a full-face portrait, another in a shorts outfit or bathing suit, and a third in street or evening wear.

Personal data must include color of hair and eyes, age, weight, and bust-waist-hips measurements. Candidates should list schools, hobbies, ambitions, and attainments.

The contest is open to unmarried Florida residents and girls from other states enrolled in Florida schools. A $500 scholarship to a Florida school or her choice and other awards will go to the winner, who will succeed Carolyn Scroupe, 21-year-old University of Florida senior from West Palm Beach. The age limit is 18 to 24 inclusive.

Since the queen and four princesses will be selected earlier than in past years, Orange Bowl hopefuls are urged to send in pictures and resumes with the least possible delay.

Those aspiring the Maid of Cotton title must be born in a cotton-producing state, have never been married, between the ages of 19 and 25, and at least 5 feet 5 inches tall.

The 1956 Maid of Cotton tour will include more than 30 cities in the United States and Canada. Plans for a European tour will be announced later, the Council said.

For the first time in its 18-year history, the 1956 tour will open outside the United States. The Maid will begin her six-months travel officially with a BOAC flight to Nassau, and the Bahamas for a spectacular all-cotton fashion show at the historic Royal Victoria Hotel. The tour's opening will follow a month's preparatory training period in New York.

The Cotton Council points out that contestants will be judged on the basis of personality, poise, and intelligence, as well as appearance.

A major activity for the young cotton envoy will be fashion show appearances to introduce the season's pace-setting new cottons in each city she visits. Radio and television interviews, meetings with press representatives, and calls on mayors, governors, and other civic leaders to present the industry's good will greetings also will find the Maid's schedule.

Complete information about the contest and entry forms are available from the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 9905, Memphis 12, Tenn. Entries must be returned to the Cotton Council postmarked no later than midnight, Dec. 1, to be eligible. All entries must be accompanied by two photographs—one, a head and shoulders picture and the other, a full-length view.

ROLLINS OBTAINS OPERA LIBRARY

Mme. Mulford, who now lives in Winter Park, sang with Caruso, Gadski and other famous opera stars. She also appeared in concert in the principal cities of the U. S. and Europe.

Her gift to Rollins included bound scores of 101 operas and oratorios.

Rollins accepted the Mulford Library at an informal tea held at the Conservatory of Music last week. Attending were Hugh F. McKean, president, and Robert Hufstader, director of the Conservatory, and members of the Conservatory faculty and staff.

ORIGINAL VERSE TO BE SUBMITTED TO POETRY ASSN.

All college students are cordially invited to submit original verse to be considered for possible publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry

This is the thirteenth Annual College Competition. Over a hundred thousand manuscripts have been submitted to the National Poetry Association in the past 10 years. Of these, about 4,500 have been accepted for publication.

Manuscripts must be typed or written in inks on one side of a sheet. Student's home address, name of College and College address must appear on each manuscript.

Students may submit as many manuscripts as is desired. Theme and form may be in accordance with the wish of the student contributor.

The closing date for submission of manuscripts is November 5. Send manuscripts to the National Poetry Association, 3210 Selby Ave., Los Angeles 34, California.

Science Research Awards Grant To Rollins Program

Research Corporation, New York City, has awarded a Frederick Gardner Cottrell grant of $5,700 to support a program of experimental studies of isotope shift in the Spectra of elements of intermediate atomic number.

The program at Rollins College is being conducted by Dr. John S. Ross, Assistant Professor of Physics.

In awarding the Cottrell grant, Charles H. Schauer, Director of Division of Grants, wrote "... this is a well-conceived program which has real promise of providing the groundwork for a much-needed theoretical understanding of the properties of the nuclides in this region. The work should reflect substantial credit on Dr. Ross and on Rollins College."

In expressing his appreciation to Research Corporation, Hugh F. McKean, president of Rollins, wrote, "Your support, and that of your Board of Directors, in our desire to strengthen the Science Department of Rollins College has been of real assistance, and we are grateful for your generosity."

Bradley Heads Tars' 21 Game Slate

Rollins will step into major college competition for the second time in basketball Dec. 3 when they fly to Peoria, Illinois, to oppose Bradley's perennial national powerhouse in the opener of a 21 game basketball schedule released this week by coach Dan Nyimicz and athletic director Jack McDowall.

Following their opener against Bradley in Peoria, the Tars will fly back to Florida and oppose defending state champion Florida State in Tallahassee Dec. 5. The two games should make up the toughest opening ever faced by a Rollins squad.

Last season the Tars scheduled Florida for the first time in several years along with N.Y.U., normally an eastern powerhouse. The Tars dropped an 85-65 decision to Florida after leading by a point at the half, but pulled a stunning 87-79 upset over New York University in Orlando.

Rollins' green squad this season will face a much harder foe than N.Y.U. in a veteran Bradley squad that played in the N.C.A.A. tournament last winter. The game will be played on the Bradley court, another factor that will make it tough on the Tars.

Coach Nyimicz, who was responsible for bringing about the game, was pleased with the prospect of playing the game both because of the experience it will give his team in playing an opponent of Bradley's calibre and the trip that the squad will enjoy.

The idea of the game was given birth early last summer when Nyimicz talked to Bradley coach Forrest Anderson, for several years an outstanding small college coach before coming to Peoria. The game was originally scheduled for Orlando, but when complications arose that wouldn't allow the Bradley team to make the trip, they agreed to pay all expenses in flying the entire Rollins squad to Peoria and back if the Tars would play the game there.

Deacs Drop Tars In District, Win National Baseball Crown

Rollins lost in the N.C.A.A. playoffs to the national championship team for the second consecutive year last June, as they dropped 4-0 and 6-2 decisions in the District 3 finals to a Wake Forest team that went on the next week to capture the national championship in Omaha, Nebraska.

Rollins, after dropping Southeastern Conference champion Alabama in two of three games, had only the Demon Deacons standing between it and a second consecutive trip to Omaha.

But Wake Forest put a quick end to the Tars' dreams as Jack McGinley and Lowell Davis outpitched the Tars' Art Brophy and Bill Cary at Harper-Shepherd field early in June.

McGinley hurled a seven-hitter, the same number of hits Wake Forest got off Brophy, in the 4-0 opener, but the Tars, with their big guns, Connie Butler, Nick Vancho and Bob MacHardy, all going hitless, left 10 men on base.

Brophy walked seven, but worked out of most of his jams. A wild relay throw allowed an unearned run that put the Demon Deacons ahead 1-0 in the third. All American catcher Lynn Holt, a thorn in the Tars' back the entire series, singled and stole second in the seventh, and then rode home on Frank McRae's single. Holt walked in the ninth and scored ahead of rightfielder Tommy Cole's homer.

Poor Tar fielding and inability to hit in the clutch hurt the Tars in the second game. A two base error and McRae's single gave Wake Forest its first run off Cary in the fourth inning.

The Tars tied it at 1-1 in the top of the fifth as MacHardy doubled and scored as Dickie Williams' hard smash went through Deacon first baseman Bob Waggoner's legs.

Wake Forest went ahead in their half of the inning on McKeel's double and Holt's single. They added two unearned runs to make it 4-1 in the sixth as MacHardy threw wild trying to catch Jack Bryant at third with the bases full.

Jim Davis' pinch hit double and Don Finnigan's single accounted for a run as the Tars threatened a big inning in the eighth, but Davis worked out of a jam. Wake Forest added two clinchers off reliever Don Tauscher in the ninth to win 6-2.

The Demon Deacons defeated Colgate, 1-0, Colorado State, 10-0, lost to Western Michigan, 9-0, beat Western Michigan, 10-7, Oklahoma A&M, 2-0, and Western Michigan, 7-6, for the national championship.

GRAD GRADUATES INTO FULL TIME HYDROPLANER

by Jim Locke

"God bless you and don't get killed". With this consoling instruction Horace E. Dodge, a man who has gained some prestige in automotive circles, entrusts his hobby to the intrepid guidance of his youthful helmsman as he sends him forth to compete and flaunt providence in the hazardous sport of hydro-plane racing.

Don "Cannonball" Wilson, a graduate last year from this moss-covered institution by the lake, has been, for six years, an active participant in the little publicized sport of directing an oversized engine encased in a trifling bit of shell over an expanse of water. Yet Don's placid and unruffled nature belies the fact that he gambles with oblivion every time he dons a crash helmet and snuggles into the cockpit of a hydro-plane.

Last June Horace Dodge, on the strength of Don's record of winning the National Sweepstakes and the National Hydroplane Championship with his boat "Who Dat" in 1953, asked Don to work for him as pilot for his $40,000 boat "Dora—My Sweetie".

As Dodge's hireling, Don has experienced meteoric success. Youngest of the hydro-plane drivers, he nonetheless came in third in the Silver Cup Races held on the Detroit River last August. He took the boat, powered by twin Allison airplane engines to an average speed of 95 M.P.H. First place was captured by "Tempo VII", a sweet little boat owned by a band-leader whose ensemble is reputed to play the "sweetest music this side of heaven."

Recently Don entered the Presidents Cup Race run at

Wilson in his boat "Dora-My Sweetie" at start of Presidents Cup Race

Washington D. C. Approximately enough, the entrants were vying for a $30,000 trophy donated by the President of these United States. Again Don gained third place and again he was bested by "Tempo VII" and the second place boat "Miss Thriftway". The latter boat is owned by the Thriftway grocery store chain and was driven by another Rollins alumnus, Bill Muncy, who graduated with the class of 1951.

Next month Don will depart for Las Vegas where he will race for $150,000 prize money on Lake Mead. And while Don is resting his jaded nerves as he bides his time until he gets a shot at the Las Vegas bonanza, Dodge and his engineers are constructing a boat to be ready in time for the Gold Cup Race next year. This boat is to be the "Super Sweetie" with an estimated speed of 150 M.P.H. an added attraction, to quote Don, "of terrific acceleration". Not content with a boat that meanders along at a leisurely 150

M.P.H., Dodge with the assistance of the Navy Department, is building a jet hydro-plane that Navy experts believe will exceed 250 M.P.H. Don is enchanted with the idea that he will get the opportunity to challenge the world speed record set last June 23 by Campbell of England at 202.32 M.P.H. Not to be morbid but it must be remembered that Campbell's father, Sir Malcolm died instantly when the jet-powered boat he was driving was reduced to fragments in an effort to establish a world speed record. Don will not be denied or distracted by dire predictions that a similar fate might befall him for hydro-plane drivers are made of much sterner stuff.

The Locker Room

By Jim Locke

Though the academically inclined and the not so academically inclined are in the throes of adjusting their respective vacationing minds to the classroom, intercollegiate sport at Rollins must remain wrapped in the excelsior it was stored in last June. What is now a bygone era, there was a time when this present slack season from October through December was filled with teeth-rattling blocks and spine-jarring tackles as grid Goliaths went about their pleasurable business of blood-letting. When returning students marshalled behind the schools colors and soul-stirring strains of a "fight on bravely old Siwash" wafted out upon the autumnal air.

Today we must content ourselves and our athletic enthusiasm, not in speculating as to what we might expect of the 1955-56 season for it is much too early for any of us to turn suddenly clairvoyant, but upon the sporting deeds that highlighted the 1954-55 year.

Basketball season, opened and closed. An observation that is certainly not very astute. A clever pen would have trouble glorifying what irrefutably remained a poor season. Except for a surprise upset of N.Y.U., the team wallowed in an abysmal rut that led to a 14-12 season, 10 of the losses coming after the N.Y.U. fracas of December 31.

Accorded the distinction of being one of the top tennis schools in the country, Rollins netters and their coach Jim McDougall played to a 10-6 season while at the same time rebuilding a squad that lost, through graduation, the net ace Alfredo Millet and Alberto Danel.

The golf team experienced an excellent year in an unsuccessful drive for a state championship. Only losses in the seven game slate were inflicted by University of Florida.

Rollins crew maintained their hold on the Florida State Championship for the third consecutive year and took a second place in the Dad Vail Regatta.

The baseball season speaks for itself. Of 28 games, the Tars lost only 5, won the state championship for the fourth time and missed a repeat trip to the college world series by losing to Wake Forest in the District 3 playoffs.

Shorts In Sports

by Melissa Hudgins

Welcome frosh and entering students. You who returned yesterday; it's great to be back, isn't it?

Right now, there isn't much to tell about Rollins women in their summer's sports whirl of golf and tennis tournaments. However, their names have appeared in various newspapers throughout the states.

Congratulations to Marlene Stewart for winning the Women's Canadian Open Golf Tournament for the third time and the Canadian closed for the 5th consecutive year.

Roma Neundorf, Barb McIntire and Ann Richardson also played on the golf circuit.

Basketball practice will begin shortly. Last year, there was little doubt as to who would be the reigning victor; now, because the core of "that" team has graduated, it's anybody's game.

There are always some freshmen who have the idiotic idea that you have to be really great to participate in intra-murals. They're too scared to even go out and try. A shy effort is made in required Phys. Ed. classes, but they're not "good enough".

Hudgins

Please, put these ideas out of your head. No matter how unathletic you've been or how many teams you never made in high school, you can still "make good".

Sara Jane and J. P. are two of the finest Phys. Ed. instructors anywhere and can, with lots of patience and hard effort on your part, make a real player of you in your four years here at Rollins.

So, get the urge, work hard in class and get out for intra-murals. They're great fun!

FIBC Holds Fall Meeting Sunday At Carnegie Hall

The Florida Intercollegiate Basketball and Baseball Conference will hold its annual fall meeting Sunday at 1 p.m. in Carnegie Hall at Rollins.

Athletic directors and coaches of the six member schools, Rollins, Miami, Florida State, Florida Southern, Stetson and Tampa, will mainly discuss officiating and other matters pertaining to basketball, but each school was also asked to send its baseball representative to the meeting.

The conference was formed a year ago in a meeting of the six schools on the Rollins campus to do away with scheduling problems of Florida schools in basketball and baseball and to improve competition and officiating between state schools.

Coaches Include Art Brophy On 1955 All American Squad

Art Brophy, whose left-handed pitching slants have helped put Rollins into the N.C.A.A. district playoffs for three consecutive seasons, became Rollins' third All American in two seasons when he was named to the N.C.A.A. Coaches' All American third team last season.

Brophy, who won his first 13 college games over a span of three seasons before dropping a decision, won seven games and dropped three, his only three college losses, last season. Two of his losses came in the N.C.A.A. playoffs against Southeastern Conference champion Alabama and national champion Wake Forest, in games in which the Tars were held to one run and shut out.

The nimble lefty, who tap dances in the off season, mixed his sneaky fast ball with his slow curve to best advantage in 1954, when he won eight games without a defeat. Combining with left-hander Bill Cary and outfielder

Connie Mack Butler, both of whom were on the All American team that season, Brophy helped pitch the Tars all the way to the finals of the College Baseball World Series in Omaha, Nebr.

Perhaps the top performance of Art's career came in that tournament, as he struck out 12 men in defeating Missouri, 4-1. That was the only loss of the tournament for Missouri, which went on to take the national championship, beating Rollins in the finals, 4-1.

Brophy was outstanding in that game too. Coming in to relieve Cary with the Tars behind 2-0 in the third inning, he pinch hit a double and held Missouri to four hits and two runs in the final six innings.

That pinch hit was no rare occurrence for Brophy. He came to Rollins as a left handed hitting center fielder three years ago. Late in the season during his freshman year, coach Joe Justice ran short of pitchers and since Art had doubled as a pitcher in high school, he got the nod.

Justice never made a better decision. Art responded with a four-hitter. He drew two more starting assignments that season, winning one, and pitching all the way in a brilliant 16 inning 1-1 tie with Florida that clinched the state crown for Rollins.

Only one gem has evaded Brophy in his three years at Rollins, a no-hit game. He came close to that masterpiece against North Carolina last spring when a swinging bunt single was the only hit the Tarheels could collect.

Marriage Not Advocated for Women

"Until the modern young woman can change the stigma of 'Miss' to the magic of 'Mrs.' she can't relax, she can't hold up her head in good society, she can't even think." This is the charge leveled in the September issue of MADemoiselle by Kate Hevner Mueller, an education professor at Indiana University, in her article The Marriage Trap.

"Funny," she says, "how ideas about love and marriage change with something so unromantic as the national economy. In the depression years of the 1930's the average young woman was willing or at least reconciled to waiting before mating. Now she knows that her parents can and probably will help. And she knows she can get a job that will enable her husband to manage. It may well be an uninteresting (if fairly well-paid) job with no chance for advancement, but she can thereby Help Her Husband with His Education—or make it possible for him to take, if necessary, a thirty-six-dollar-a-week job with a whale of a future. Perhaps she has always wanted to work her way up in a New York publishing house—or with the Department of State in Washington. She drops her plans like a hot cake to follow her husband to the spot on the globe where he can do what he wants to do—and she can't. It doesn't occur to her until later that she has walked wide-eyed into a trap."

She does not stop to think that, while the early sacrifices of the ardent young bride can be made with happy generosity, they will lead to later resentment when she discovers that she is an uninteresting person, unqualified for either self-respect or respect of others in a world that has moved ahead without her, where her own growth has been slowed and stunted. The husband will forget, in time, that it was she who helped him win success and grow beyond her very reach, that it was she who took upon herself the limiting routines and denied her own personal goals.

An early marriage, MADemoiselle points out, can trap the husband as well as the wife. He is not allowed the time and leisure for intellectual growth. His perceptions and judgments are sharpened only in his own professional directions. Weighed down by his desperate pressures in earning power, he has too many responsibilities too early—financing his wife, the two, three, or four babies, the mortgage. He does not have the leisure to write, experiment, explore, create. He too is cramped and harassed.

The marriage partnership is still the most rewarding of all human relationships. But it is not the first few months or even years of high emotional experiences that make it so. It is the steady hum of two congenial personalities, sometimes swinging along merrily in high gear, sometimes straining through the shadows in low, but always pulling together smoothly because neither the destination nor the route were matters of whimsy, magic or pure and unadulterated romance.

According to MADemoiselle, this kind of marriage can be attained today only if men can be convinced, can acknowledge intellectually that women are not inferior. "But," says Professor Mueller, "it is still hard for them to behave as if women were equals—difficult to admit that women's needs can (and perhaps should) cause them some inconvenience. Women must be strong enough, tactful enough to call their bluff."
