"Little Bear" Captures North-South Tourney

Rollins' golf wonder, Marlene Stewart, scored one of the most major victories in her golfing career when she defeated all comers in the recent North-South Amateur Championship tournament. The meet, held last week in Pinehurst, N. C., is the most important tourney in the U. S. next to the American Amateur Championship.

Marlene qualified second with a 73, one under par, and Barbara McIntire qualified first with a 2-under 72 round. Marlene finished ed 6-4-6, and if she had finished with three pars she would have finished with a 69, which is five under par.

In her first match, "Bear" defeated Sally Carol seven and six. In the second round she defeated Ruth Jessen one up and had to get a birdie on 18 to take the match.

The third and fourth rounds were important matches as she had to play Barbara Romack and Wiffie Smith, both Curtis Cup players. She defeated them two up and two and one respectively. Wiffie was the previous North-South champion.

Although it was cold, rainy and windy until the last day, Bear continued playing well and defeated Wanda Sanches one up in the 18-hole final.

The second day of play was cancelled because of rain, so the finals weren't played until Monday.

This was the first time Marlene had played in this tournament, and it is the second tourney she has won in the United States. Bear attributes her success to hitting good drives and accurate iron shots.

10 Candidates Enter Council Contest: Three Top Student Positions at Stake

At the Monday night meeting, ten candidates were announced for Student Council offices in elections to be held next Tuesday, April 3, in the Student Center. Before elections each applicant will prepare campaign speeches and present them before the student body.

Candidates for President are Pres Hull, Ra Moody, and Matt Sinnott.

Pres Hull will be a senior next year and is a Student Council Representative. He has served on the Traffic and Beanery Committees through Student Council. Pres is also Delta Chi sergeant-at-arms.

Ra, a junior and present Business Manager of the Sandspur, is the Sigma Nu pledge trainer and has served as Student Council Representative. Ra has been on both the varsity baseball and basketball teams. He has worked on the Orientation Committee and is currently Head Waiter in the Beanery.

The third candidate, Matt Sinnott, filled the position of Fiesta

Anderson Wins Summer School Harvard Grant

Dewey Anderson, senior Independent, has been awarded a tuition scholarship to Harvard Summer School in the Rollins Competition.

Dewey, a talented music major, will attend Harvard from July 2-August 22, and will study French, a subject required for his graduate study.

President of the Key Society, a member of the Chapel Choir and the Phi Society, Dewey also wrote the 1954 Independent Women's show, "Royal Flush."

Mr. Yessin, music professor, included two of Dewey's original music compositions in his last concert.

Dewey was the Independent Women's entry in the Fiesta King Competition. He is a day student, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Anderson of Orlando.

JUDGES SELECT DEANNA LUND "MISS ORLANDO"

"I was so shocked, I was numb," said Deanna, "Dede," Lund, telling of her reaction upon being chosen "Miss Orlando of 1956."

A Rollins freshman, she was picked from eight candidates at the annual Orlando Jaycee-sponsored Miss Orlando Beauty Pageant, March 16, held with a ball at the Angebilt Hotel Skyroom. Dede was selected on the basis of personality, talent, and beauty. For her specialty in the contest, she danced the hula.

The next step for Dede will be the "Miss Florida" contest in July and, if she wins this, she will go on to compete to the "Miss America" crown.

A theatre arts major, she reigned as "Miss Daytona" in the beauty pageant held recently in Miami. She will now appear regularly as a television model and she has also had offers for photography modeling.

Chairman this year and was Midway Chairman the year before. He is past president of the X Club and is the student chairman of the Student-Faculty Committee. Matt has worked on the Flamingo, WPRK, and is sports editor on the Tomokan staff. He has been a Student Council Representative and a member of the Orientation Committee and the French Club.

Hull

Corky, a sophomore, was president of the freshman class last year and is the Sigma Nu Student Council Representative. He ushers in the Chapel and is a member of the Chapel Staff. Besides being the manager of the basketball and baseball team, Corky also worked on the Orientation Committee last fall.

Dave Williams is acting president of the Independent Men. He has been a Student Council Representative and has worked on various committees.

Five candidates are running for the position of Student Council Secretary. Jo Cayll, Delle Davies, Linda Turney, Fran Swicegood, and Anita Wadsworth have applied for this office.

Jo Cayll, present editor of the Tomokan, has served as scholarship chairman.

treasurer, and historian for Phi Beta Phi. She worked on the Sandspur her freshman year and has been a member of the Race Relations Club and the French Club. She will be a senior next year, and has been an alternate Student Council Representative.

Delle Davies, a junior, has served as Student Council Representative two years and alternate one year. She has also been recording secretary and intramural board representative and is at present second vice-president and social chairman of Gamma Phi Beta. Delle is a member of the Studio Club and is active in theatre arts. Currently she is playing in THE VIGIL.

Linda Turney is rush chairman and Fiesta chairman for Kappa Alpha Theta. In Student Council she has been a representative and has served on the Beanery Committee. Her extra curriculars have included the Sandspur and Community Service. This is Linda's second year at Rollins.

Sinnott she is vice-president of her sorority. She is also president of Phi Society and president of Pan Hellenic council. Her other activities are Community Service and Sandspur.

Anita Wadsworth has been a Student Council representative and on the Student Library Council. She has been vice-president of Alpha Phi and is now rush chairman and treasurer. Her extra-curricular activities include Sandspur, Phi Society, WPRK, and Chapel Reader. She has also contributed to the Flamingo and was a member of the Orientation Committee.

The business taken up next at Student Council meeting concerned Fiesta. Matt Sinnott reported a tentative net profit of $1,475. Pres. Denny Folken remarked that the amount was the highest he had heard of since coming to Rollins.

Two complaints came up about the aftermath of Borders Fiesta. There were too many unexcused absences from Tuesday and Wednesday classes, March 20 and 21. The second complaint was about the debris left on the Midway after it was closed. These matters will be discussed soon by the faculty.

Campus improvements were noted by a report from the Traffic Committee stating that the grading had been done on the parking lot. The next report concerned the surplus money the Student Council has on hand for the Pelican.

After estimates had been made on repairing the Pelican, it was decided that the Pelican wasn't worth repairing. It would be better to build a new building. The cost of such a building is estimated at $30,000. The new building plan was dropped upon learning the estimated cost. A furnace could be installed in the Pelican for $1300. No definite vote was taken.

A memorandum from the office of the Dean of the College was distributed to the Student Council Representatives present. The memo contained a resolution approved by the Board of Trustees involving the use of the Mills Memorial Library. Statistics have shown a progressive falling off in the use of the library.

The two principal reasons for failure to make better use of the library appear to be the lack of faculty members requiring library work from the students, and the other is that many students abuse their privilege by making the library a social and conversational center. The meeting adjourned to Pres. McKean's house at his invitation for an informal chat.

ROLLINS STUDENT DIES IN CHICAGO

Thomas Walter Nichols, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols of 2009 Benjamin Lane, died Sunday night at St. Luke's Hospital, Chicago. He had been ill for eight months. Tom attended Rollins in 1954.

He was born March 22, 1935 in Heyworth, where he spent most of his life. He graduated from Heyworth Community High School in 1953.

He is survived by his parents. A brother, Darwin Nichols, died during World War II.

YOUR PAPER

A student publication is perhaps the most integral part of the college machine.

We carry home our Tomokans, knowing well that many summer evenings will be spent pausing over its pages, reflecting and reminiscing. In the Flamingo we find the most powerful expression of the creative mind. And it is in the pages of the Sandspur we find the news that will influence our opinions and actions more than any other single factor on the campus.

Yet freedom of the press does not mean complete freedom. Only verified facts must be presented as news, thus enabling students to work from truth to form individual opinion.

The Sandspur can only accomplish this through co-operation, a co-operation that not only works through the relationship between editor and staff but which extends through the faculty, administration and other students. To present truths the Sandspur must have a strong affinity to all those with whom it comes in contact. The Sandspur must be able to listen to both sides of an argument and present these arguments in full and in truth, favoring neither one side nor the other.

An editor has the right to express his opinion on current college concerns. But it is not his place to mould student opinion to his views. His foremost duty is to guide student thought in its pursuit of this truth. He is the sounding board of student opinion, open to criticism but capable of defending his principles and beliefs as he sees most beneficial to the majority.

The Sandspur represents the entire college. The Sandspur is YOUR paper. Into its pages goes the news—from the Rollins sports world to the current Annie Russell production, news from Beanery construction to faculty concert.

Being a liberal arts college, the Rollins campus is fortunately diversified. Although Rollins students, faculty, and administration are basically similar, our differences find each of us in pursuit of his own individual interests and goals. Each of us is important and each of us must be recognized. It is up to the Sandspur to give recognition, to bring the many phases of Rollins life into the light of understanding to all. Each group and its members must be given equal representation, for each group has its equally important story to add to the many-sided picture of Rollins life.

The editor and staff gather the news, work to meet deadlines, and finally publish it. But it is YOU who is most important. YOU create the Sandspur, for YOU are Rollins College.

Parade Of Opinion

Morgantown, W. Va. —(ACP)— The overemphasis placed on the "rah, rah" side of collegiate life drew this sarcastic bit of writing from Sam Chapman, columnist for West Virginia University's Daily Athenaeum:

It is time for the old fogies to realize that this is not an age of books and learning. This is the age of mass production sports and enforced freshman rules.

CONGRATULATIONS

The last bright light on the midway has been dimmed and the couples have long since deserted the dance floor. All that remains of the floats are photographic memories and the Queen's crown reposes in her box of souvenirs. But Rollins College looks back to less than a week ago when one of the most extravagant and successful Fiesta weekends was staged.

There can be no possible conception of planning, time, and effort that goes into an annual event such as this. Plans are begun early in the fall and from the bare beginning comes steadily an ever increasing plan of action, finally resulting in the finished product—the Rollins Fiesta.

The man behind the success or failure of this undertaking is the Fiesta Chairman, this year in the form of Matt Sinnott. He and his committee chairman, with their committees, are the ones who started the ball rolling and kept it going until the last penny profit was counted and the record book closed at last, not to be opened until next year.

It is upon these people that the main congratulatory words should fall. Matt and his committee have done their job so well that the 1956 Fiesta will be one of the most memorable in Rollins' history. From the opening parade to the dance climax, Fiesta activity was kept at its highest possible peak and each event was carried through with the inevitable ease that comes only with accurate planning and effort.

But it is not only the chairmen on whom plaudits must fall. Congratulations are in order to all who contributed in any way to this year's Fiesta—, from the chairmen within the social groups, the co-operative faculty and staff, and the interested townspeople, right down to those who wired floats and hammered booths—in fact, to everyone who helped make the Fiesta such a success.

The Fiesta is staged by Rollins for Rollins' benefit. Because of the efforts of everyone concerned, worthy students will receive the scholarship aid they both need and deserve.

The Sandspur congratulates you who made this year's Fiesta one of the best ever. It is the success of an endeavor such as this that makes us all proud of not only ourselves but proud to be a member of the greater group, that group known as the "Rollins Family."

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Since our literary magazine represents Rollins just as much as our athletic teams do, and since for some Rollins people it can be just as much a matter of pride—or of embarrassment, I thought you might be interested in printing the following letter. It was sent to me, as Faculty Advisor of the Flamingo, by Mr. Malcolm Scott of the Admissions Office. (I might add that in my opinion the letter does Mr. Scott credit too. While adverse critics are a dime a dozen, the ability to give praise where it is due, and to give it spontaneously and generously, is rather rare.)

Dear Irv,

Just a note to tell you how much I enjoyed the current issue of the "Flamingo." The contents most stimulating, and the layout most professional.

Reading it was a great pleasure and the article by Anderson makes it a good piece for Admissions work!

Congratulations to the staff and contributors.

Dear Sue:

Thank you for all the good publicity on Founder's Week and also for your fine editorial.

It is this kind of thoughtfulness and support which makes us "a family."

The Chapel Tower

By T. S. Darrah

About this time in the college year some begin to feel that college life is monotonous. The fact that things didn't come off as expected leads them to conclude that the world is all wrong, that people aren't friendly, that college isn't worthwhile and so they decide to drop out or transfer. It seldom crosses their minds that they and not the world may be out of sorts; nor do they feel responsible for how life uses them; nor do they feel any compulsion to do anything about it.

Darrah

Two little frogs fell into a churn full of cream. One swam around, got tired and decided he might as well drown. The other kept swimming until he felt an island forming under him—an island of butter formed by his paddling.

'ROUND ROLLINS

By Edge

The people returned from Nassau, tired, hungry and untanned. Others remained snow bound. And in general the term started with as much apathy as usual . . . Fiesta is over and MATT SINNOTT's ulcer can go back to pumping the normal quart of gastric acid required to digest beanery food. Matt deserves at least three or four hours on a good analyst's couch with the student body picking up the tab. Don't get me wrong, Matt's psyche is quite normal, but with all the heart breaking frustration of the worst job in student government, he may feel the need to express himself . . . It all started off with a Jazz concert. Featuring athletic music for the foot stompers and ice burg stuff for the frozen ones. DON COBB really swung on Over the Rainbow. And everybody, including the three Sigma Nu's who snuck in, enjoyed the session. (That is the Sigma Nu's enjoyed if their conscience let them. And they didn't look as if they were sweating it.) . . . The midway made money . . . Sunday PRESIDENT MCKEAN was seen in torn shirt and levies rumaging through the debris. Obviously looking for money for the school . . . The dance was a success because more people got drunk than ever before. In fact some people drank for the first time; people who previously had belonged to the local branch of the Temperance Union. Glad to welcome these new recruits to the ranks of the student branch of the Friday Club which doesn't necessarily have to meet on Fridays . . . All these things considered and derived with a watery blue eye on objectivity, we can safely assume that this Fiesta was the best. Thank you Mr. Sinnott and associates . . . Baseball week offered two sterling attractions, in the ball playing of one Howard Cassidy sometimes referred to as Hopalong and the genial North Carolinian witticisms (?) of Coach Joe Justice. Mr. Cassidy could've easily won the most popular player award. (If there were such an award and you didn't count the votes of opposing pitchers.) He was a really nice guy without a scrap book . . . Win or lose, Coach Joe puts on a good show with his kettle full of spells and his mouth full of southern incantations with which he attempts to overcome the opposition (with varying amounts of success) . . . Speaking of athletics; with this raise in tuition maybe Rollins will get a field house. How in the name of Bill Russell can Rollins ever have a good basketball team when they don't have a court of their own. If you should happen to get a good big man down here and you have him all set to come here and then you show him our lack of field house he promptly goes off to Niagra where basketball means something . . . Don't make sense; trying to play big time basketball without the accoutrements necessary to play . . . A Rollins athlete was asked what his greatest thrill in sports was. Without hesitation he replied, "When the coach told me I didn't have to play." . . . Overheard (addressed to a couple of theater art majors): If I spent half the time studying that you spend looking in the mirror, I could be through medical school . . . Can you imagine Buck Class with socks, Dr. Stock letting a class out early, or President McKean without a story.

Nine Vie For Editorships

The Publications Union has released the following list of candidates for the publications elections next Tuesday.

SANDSPUR

Sidney Kromer and Dick Halde- man are candidates for the editor- ship of the Sandspur, Rollins weekly newspaper.

Dick has been co-sports editor of the Sand- spur one year. He is correspond- ing secretary of his fraternity, Delta Chi, and is sports publicity assistant for the Rollins News Bureau. Dick has participated in the Rollins intramural program.

Sid has been the feature editor of the Sandspur for the last two years. She is a vice-president of Alpha Phi, a member of the Wom- en's "R" Club, and on the staff at WPRK, Rollins radio station. She has been a member of the Chapel Choir, the Rollins Singers, and a Chapel Reader.

Candidates for advertising man- ager of the Sand- spur include Bo- Tate and Anita Wadsworth.

Bob has been a Chapel Reade and was a mem- ber of the Chap- Choir. He is members of th Rollins Player and is known on campus for his abilities as a pianist and all-around musician.

Anita has been a member of the Sandspur news department for two years. She is treasurer and rush chairman for her sorority, Alpha Phi, and was their student council representative this year. She is also a member of Phi Society and a participant in many intramurals.

Announced as candidates for Business Manager of the Sandspur were Jack Powell and Stu Maples.

Jack is a member of Phi Society and a former treasurer of the X Club. This year he has served as Comptroller of the Rollins student body.

Stu has been circulation manag- er of the Sandspur. A Sigma Nu, he writes the reports for the national Sigma Nu magazine. Stu is a Chapel usher and a member of "R" Club. He formerly played golf for the men's varsity team.

"R" BOOK

The candidate for "R" Book editor, Paul Ackerman, is running unopposed. The R Book is the book of rules and reg- ulations publish- ed at the begin- ning of the year mainly for the benefit of incom- ing freshmen.

Ackerman has been on the To- mokan staff and Sandspur staff for two years. He is now photographic editor of the Tomokan, scholarship chairman of Delta Chi, and treasurer and social chairman of the Pan American

Ackerman

Club, in which he takes an active part.

FLAMINGO

Another unopposed candidate is Bob Eginton, who is running for editor of the Flamingo, Rollins literary magazine published every term.

Edge has been poetry editor of the Flamingo and this year served as co-editor. He also is on the staff of the Sand- spur, having been a co-writer of the column "Round Rollins." Edge has been on the editorial staff of Eginton the Sandspur for two years. Last year he was awarded the Charles Hyde Pratt award for creative writing and also received the Flamingo award for the best Fla- mingo story. Last year he was chairman of the Fiesta dance com- mittee. This year he is making his initial appearance on the Annie Russell stage in "The Vigil."

Running for Editor of the To- mokan, Rollins' yearbook, are five candidates, Jonathan Dunn-Ran- kin, Jim Simmons, Brian Bird, Sandy Hose, and Mary Ann, "Win- kie", Colado.

Bird

Winkie, a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, has been on the Tomokan staff for three years and is co-layout editor this year.

Brian Bird, a Sigma Nu, was the advertising commissioner for both the Sand- spur and the To- mokan his fresh- man year. He was with the original staff of WPRK and is now work- ing with the Rol- lins photography department.

Last year she was a co-editor of the R Book and was on the Sand- spur staff her freshman year.

She has also been a participant in various intramu- rals as a Pi Phi. Dunn-Rankin has returned to Rollins this year after two years in the army. While at Rollins two years ago Dunn-Rankin was was on the Tomokan staff for two years and in 1953 was the designer. He was also very active on the WPRK staff. He placed twice in the Reeves essay contest and this year won it with his presentation, "The Gift of Laugh- ter." Sandy was business manag- er of the Tomo- kan in 1955 and has been on the Sandspur adver- tising staff for one year. Sandy is one of the most eminent Dunn-Rankin photographers on campus and does all the photo- graphy for the Sandspur adver- tisements.

Jim Simmons has been on the Tomokan staff and is secretary of his fraternity, Delta Chi. He is a member of the Scientific Society and serves as program chair- man.

Candidates for Business Manag- er of the Tomo- kan are two sop- homores, Bruce Beal and Anne Wilkinson.

Bruce has worked on the Tomokan staff for two years and was copy editor of the Sand- spur last year. This year he served as social chairman of Delta Chi.

Anne was as- sistant business manager of the Tomokan last year. She has ap- peared in "La Gamine" and "Mrs. McThing," and was stage manager this year for the An- nie Russell pro- duction, "Dial M

Simmons For Murder."

Voting for these candidates will take place all day Tuesday, April 3, in the Student Center.

All of these students have met the requirements set up by the Publications Board which consists of the various editors of all Rol- lins student publications.

CIVIL SERVICE JOBS OFFERED TO GRADUATES

Several excellent positions avail- able to college seniors after grad- uation have recently been an- nounced by the United States Civil Service Commission.

Among the positions having openings are the U. S. General Ac- counting Office, the Internal Re- venue Service, and the Depart- ment of Defense. Accountants with the Federal Government can specialize in any of several areas—general accounting, cost accounting, tax accounting, sys- tems accounting, and auditing. Salaries range from $3,670 a year with excellent opportunities for advancement.

An examination for filling Geophysicist positions in the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the Department of Commerce and other agencies in Washington, D. C. has also been announced. Sal- aries in this department range from $4,345 to $11,610 per year.

Further information for both the accounting and geophysicist positions are available in the Col- lege Placement Offices and the Sandspur office.

On April 4, a Wave Procure- ment Officer will be on campus to acquaint Junior and Senior women with the Wave Officer Candidate Program.

Courses Given By Operation Bootstrap Plan

"Operation Bootstrap" is offer- ing ten courses for college credit in cooperation with Orlando Air Force Base and Pinecastle Air Force Base.

Among the courses are: Biology Survey, Principles of Accounting; Business Law; English Composi- tion; American National Govern- ment; College Algebra; Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Integral Calculus; General Psychology; and Social Psychology.

All classes meet Monday and Thursday, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

CHAPEL SERVICE TO BE TONIGHT

As the climax to the Holy Week services in the Chapel, a Commu- nion service will be conducted by Dean Darrah in the Frances Chap- el tonight at 7:00. On Good Fri- day, a service will be held in the Chapel at 12:00 noon. "C" period classes will not meet. The ser- mon will be delivered by Henry Gouch, Rollins class of '50. On Easter Sunday, a sunrise service will be held at the lakefront at 6:18. Professor Nina Dean will be the speaker. Following this at 7:00, the Chi Omegas will serve as hostesses for an Easter Break- fast. The Sunday service will be held at 9:45 in the Chapel.

There is probably more than one reader of the Sandspur who has never seen this man, for he rarely makes an appearance until after ten, and even then he is likely to go unnoticed.

Night Watchman Shows Humor Writing Talent

You seldom see him, but he sees you; he has an eagle eye out for trouble. No, he's not the Shadow, but Mr. W. H. Chedwick, Rollins night-watchman.

For the last ten years Mr. Chedwick has hovered over Rollins Campus. "My job is looking for fires mostly, but the only one was in Cloverleaf last year." His working night is from 7:00 P.M. until 7:00 A.M. "After 1:00 I'm usually alone, except for when the Sandspur staff works into the wee hours of the morning." He feels some nights the fellows know his route because he finds bicycles hanging on the flag pole or a cow being smuggled into Cloverleaf! About such doings he said, "That must have been some job—hauling a cow through a window. If the students worked as hard on their lessons, they'd all pass." "But," he recalled after a pause, "Kids must have their fun. I know that; my daughter went here in '36."

Despite his lack of spare time he has a keen interest in Rollins activities. He's gathered quite a pile of Sandspurs composed of every issue published during his years here. His concern for newspapers began when he was a reporter for the Poughkeepsie (N.Y.) Courier some 45 years ago. In 1952 he displayed his journalistic abilities through an unsigned letter printed in the 'Spur as an answer to a "Just Foo Lin" article. Here is a sample of the literary talent of our night-watchman—who goes unnoticed as he moves silently over the campus with only moonlight and the stars to guide him.

To: Just Foo Lin by: No Foo Lin
c/o Rollins Sandspur

Men have two feet, two hands, and sometimes go out with two girls, but never have more than one collar button, or one drink at a time, and like Turkish cigarettes, men are all made of the same material, only some are better disguised than others.

Generally speaking, they may be divided into three classes: husbands, bachelors, and widowers. After you get married, you will find that husbands are of three varieties: prize, surprise, and consolation prize.

If you're not the clinging vine type, but the advanced and independent type, he doubts whether you have a heart. If you are surly, he longs for a bright mate; if you are brilliant, he longs for a playmate.

Making a husband out of a man is one of the highest plastic arts known to civilization and requires science, sculpture, and common sense, faith, hope, and charity.

It is a psychological marvel that a soft, fluffy, tender, violet-scented little thing like a woman should enjoy kissing a big, awkward, stubby-chinned, tobacco-and-bayrum-scented thing like a man.

If you flatter a man it frightens him to death, and if you don't you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired of you in the end, and if you don't he gets tired of you in the beginning.

If you wear gay clothes, rouge, and startling hats, he hesitates to go out with you. If you wear a little brown torgue and a tailor-made suit, he takes you out and stares all evening at the woman in gay clothes, rouge, and a startling hat.

If you are popular with other men, he is jealous—and if you are not, he hesitates to go with a wall-flower.

If you please him, he seldom mentions it. But if you displease him, he never fails to tell you about it.

If you put on lipstick, you look like a painted doll; and if you don't, you look like the very devil. I could keep on for a lifetime telling about the beast, man.

But after all, what good are men anyway, except to marry and live happily forever after.

MUSIC MAJORS MISCHIEF MEANS MORE MELODY

Have you ever gone to a concert and been seated next to a character who swayed to the sound of the music with closed eyes and a blissful expression on his face? Usually, these people are music majors. Always, they are misunderstood! The conception of the longhair genius may be true in other colleges, but it is not true at Rollins. The students majoring in music spend, of necessity, a great deal of time at the conservatory, but their activities are as varied as those of any student.

Dewey Anderson is a senior in the conservatory. Along with his regular courses, Dewey wrote the Independent show "Royal Flush" last year. The inspiration for the show came easily for Dewey who commented, "Two of my pet peeves are the commercialization of Christmas and card playing. Every show needs some crazy gimmicks to make everyone think that they could write a better one, so I chose these. It worked too. Everyone was sure they could have written a better show."

Along with many short stories and poems, Dewey has written two other musical shows. "Writing music is not easy," he affirmed. "I write the words and then the music. Ideas for songs appear in many places you would least expect to find them. Some of my best ones come when I'm shaving."

Eddie Hotaling is also a senior in the conservatory. He will have the distinction of being the first student to graduate from Rollins in Choral Conducting. Rollins is one of a very few colleges in the country offering this course.

This conducting major requires Eddie to learn the techniques of conducting orchestra and chorus plus the styling and composition of music. Said Eddie, "The more you study conducting, the more apparent it becomes that in order to be successful, you must know as much about voice and diction as a singer, as much about composition as a composer, and as much about the bassoon as the bassoonist. Since this is well on the way to the impossible, no conductor need ever become satisfied with himself."

In addition to regular classes, Eddie is also doing honors work. Being a member of Rollins Singers, Chapel Choir, and German club also takes a lot of his time.

Both Dewey and Eddie are planning to attend graduate school. Although music majors, they have had fun and companionship with the Rollins "lollers" as well as the Rollins "students." So anyone who thinks the life of a music major is dull should follow the zany, yet serious—mischievous, yet sincere activities of the so called "long-hair" music majors.

Fashions Arouse Passions

by The Bystander

Since women's clothes are a subject dear to many of us, especially the guys who have to pay the bills, I think it's about time we look at the bare facts and see what lies beneath feminine clothes (the fashions that is).

Ever since the last war the modern girl has had the same ambition in mind while dressing as she has when playing golf—to go around in as little as possible.

If women dress to please themselves (as many of them say they do) it certainly doesn't take much to please them. I also read that girls spend all they earn on clothes. If this is true, some of them look as though they've been unemployed for a long time.

Once when a girl had nothing to wear she stayed at home, nowadays she goes to a formal affair. I walked over to one of the girls modeling a gown and told her I'd like to see more of her. She slapped my face. Naturally, I explained that I wasn't referring to the gown. In fact I told her that I didn't care for the dress so she just laughed it off.

All women insist on the same things when buying a new frock, "Give me a snug fit." I always thought that tight clothes stopped circulation, but it seems the tighter a girl's clothes are, the more she's in circulation.

Now we come to bathing suits—ah yes, Bikini, you sweet atoll.

Recently I gave a girl a piece of my mind, she's wearing it for a bathing suit this season.

When a girl gets into a new bathing suit she's more than half out. Women were born naked and it seems they're doing their best to return to their original state. Once they used to call a little girl a little dear. Now they call her a little bare.

I suppose it's silly to change the general trend. After all—clothes make the man—lack of them, the women.

It's not that the modern female isn't interested in nice clothes, it's just that she isn't wrapped up in them. Probably they're following the theory advocated by the great well-known poet—whose name I have forgotten. To be perfectly honest, he wasn't great and wasn't well-known either.

Anyway he said, "The less clothes, the more beaux." He's got something there.

Men, regardless of styles, women have always been women. If they look old, they're young. If they look young, they're old. If they look back—well, brother, take my advice and follow them.

OHIO STUDENTS PREFER SHULMAN

(ACP)—Dick Budd reports this in his "Off the Record" column in the B-G News:

"College newspaper polls can often be disastrous to the ego, as members of the Kent Stater campus publication found out. The paper conducted a student poll to find out which feature was the most widely read.

"Among the usual stories, including pinnings, parties, movies, football and columns . . . what was to stand out above all others as number one on the poll? Max Schulman!"

Prosecutor Jon Dunn-Rankin questions Delle Davies in a tense scene from The Vigil which opened Tuesday at the Annie Russell Theatre and continues through Saturday night.

"The Vigil" Opens as Holy Week Drama Production at Annie Russell Theatre

YOU'RE AN UNMERCIFUL LOT. Yes you—you the audience. For my review of THE VIGIL I spent the first act watching you from the stage, and for the two remaining acts I joined you in the Annie Russell orchestra, and now at the end of a college career of reviewing plays I have the firm conviction that you are a pitiless mass.

You have an important role in THE VIGIL. The author of the play, Ladislav Fodor, has assigned to you the role of jury in a trial deciding whether Jesus' body was robbed from the Tomb, or ascended into heaven.

I don't criticize your role as a jury. I find fault in what your reactions do to the cast. In case you didn't know, your reactions definitely effect every member of the company. They pass judgement upon you. Of course their review of your performance is as erudite as a professional criticism of a play. No, to the amateur actor you are good if you applaud, and bad if you don't.

But do you really applaud them? As I've stated, I've sat and watched you from the stage and I've sat among you. I know what you do. Why you applaud yourself . . . you applaud to conform . . . you applaud and glare about to see if others agree with your recognition of talent. Oh, how cruel you are. Think of the swelling. think of the people you've sent scurrying off to the Pasadena Playhouse, The Actors Studios, and the professional stage. And those people you've sent with a swelled head . . . a misguided . . . bulging head that tried to fit in that wee opening termed SUCCESS.

I sat on the stage during the first act of play. I sat through the exposition. I watched Jon Dunn-Rankin. He is the prosecutor. He is Satan. His rich, voluminous voice booms with sneer and snicker as he tries to prove that the Resurrection was a ridiculous fraud. Jon not only has a beautiful voice, he has intelligence . . . and these are certainly important components for acting.

Clark Warren handles the defense. Clark Warren plays Clark Warren the actor. I'm not being impudent. I liked Clark's portrayal. For once, he is alone on the stage without the gimmick. He has no make-up, no baggy pants, no tie that lights up in the dark. He is left on the stage with only Clark, and he comes across as a qualified and competent actor. He could have interpreted his role as a saccharine sweet pious boor. Instead he gave a professional touch to his part that was commendable.

The applause getter of the production (He's leaving for Pasadena in April) Ford Oehne was strikingly humorous. Mr. Oehne is the play's authority on angels. His walk, costume, make up, stage movement, and a voice that reaches way up into the abode of angles makes him the play's effective comedy relief.

Pass THE VIGIL up and you are missing one of the better productions of the year. Those of you who snicker, "Here comes Mr. Antrobus again" when Pete Adams struts the boards, are in for a surprise. His portrayal of Saul is invigorating with its strength. As Peter, Buck Class gives a ten minute operation on his association with Jesus. Carol Enz's role as the harlot Mary Magdalen is emotionally superb.

A very good looking Joseph of Arimathea is Tom Hoffman, but his voice lacks inflexion. As for Mr. Hoffman's portrayal I offer it to all readers of this review who have been searching for a fifth wedding anniversary gift.* On the whole the casting of THE VIGIL leaves very little to be desired. Every member of the cast turns in a remarkable performance . . . even me . . . I matriculate into The Actor's Studio in September.

Ed Note: A wooden gift is appropriate for the fifth Anniversary.

Two years ago Coach Joe Justice and Athletic Director Jack McDowell initiated the Baseball Week idea to revive interest in college baseball and give northern squads a chance to gain early season experience. What improvements do you believe could be made in it?

ED DINGA, junior: Night ball games would definitely attract more fans because working people who could not attend during the day could come at night. For those students who don't have a longing for the books these ball games would provide an opportunity for them to root for their Tars. The seating capacity and facilities at the ball park could also be enlarged and improved.

BOB FINNEY, senior: I would rather see Baseball Week, including Fiesta, earlier or later in order to avoid the Fiesta rush. It may be good to have the teams here when there is so much going on, but for us students there isn't enough time between the vacation and the festivities. Also, as it stands, the Baseball Week champion is hard to choose because the various teams do not play the same number of games.

JOHN TROY, sophomore: I feel that there are several improvements that could be made during Baseball Week, such as having seven inning games without restricting the game by a time limit. Improvements could be made in the appearance of the playing field and in facilities for parking and for spectators who do not wish to sit in the grandstands. I have heard opinions expressed in favor of starting the games earlier, and I entirely agree with this view.

Rollins number one netter Ben Sobieraj makes a return in his first match for the Tars Friday against Ohio State on the Rollins courts. The Tars took a 9-0 win to even their record at a win and a loss.

Netmen Meet Miami Today After Splitting 2 Matches

The Rollins tennis team, fresh from a 9-0 win over Ohio State, meets the powerful Miami Hurricanes in a match this afternoon at 1:30 on the college courts. The Tars traveled to St. Petersburg Tuesday to face Princeton and returned yesterday to play Duke in matches completed after press-time.

The Miamians, generally rated tops in College tennis, bring a star-studded lineup to campus today. Nationally ranked players like Johann Kupferburger, Allan Quay, and the Harum brothers, will face an upset-minded Rollins team. The Tars, incidentally, were the last netters to defeat the 'Canes in regular dual competition.

In a match March 13, a highly-regarded Presbyterian team spoiled Rollins' 1956 debut, 8-1. The Tars bounced back last Friday, however, and overwhelmed touring Ohio State 9-0.

The Presbyterian match featured the appearance of Allen Morris on the courts. Morris, who has a victory over Davis Cupper Vic Seixas this season, had too many shots for Memo Garcia at number one singles and won easily 6-1 6-0.

Rollins, with ace Ben Sobieraj available, regained its form against the Buckeyes of Ohio State.

SUMMARIES:
Rollins 9, Ohio State University 0

1 Sobieraj (R) def. Haring (O.S.) 6-3, 6-1

2 Garcia (R) def. Williams (O.S.) 6-1, 6-0

With the advent of Baseball Week and the arrival of numerous college ballplayers to the Rollins campus, many new individuals were seen during the past in the beanery. We happened to eat dinner last Sunday evening with one of these visitors from Ohio State University. Our five-foot, ten inch, one hundred-eighty pound guest was none other than Howard

DiBacco

Howard Albert Cassady was born in Columbus, Ohio, attended elementary and high school there, and entered Ohio State University in the Spring of 1952. During his four years at Central High School, he was All City in baseball, basketball, and football, and participated in just about every sport.

In his freshman year in college, he played in six football games, and scored three touchdowns against Indiana in his first game. The twenty-two year old senior has played four years of varsity football and three years of varsity baseball. In the thirty-seven football games in which he has appeared during his college career, he has scored thirty-nine touchdowns. He considers the time he scored three TD's against Iowa last year as his most thrilling experience.

If we were to list all the honors and awards that have been bestowed upon him, we would in all probability fill this entire page. For the past two years, he has been on all the National All American Football Teams, and was voted the "Athlete of the Year" in 1955, finishing ahead of Rocky Marciano and Otto Graham. He won his first trophy when he was twelve years old by winning the Columbus caddy golf tournament. Since that time he has been awarded twelve wrist watches and twenty-seven major trophies. At Ohio State University, he is majoring in physical education with a minor in biological science and business. Although his career in sports has kept him quite busy, he has managed to merit membership in the junior and senior honorary societies. Moreover, he is a member of Sigma Chi Fraternity and Reserve Officers Training Corps.

Hoppy is uncertain about his future plans and does not want to make any commitments until he graduates this Spring. In any event, however, we are certain that he will not be out of a job as he is the draft choice of the Detroit Lions of the National Football League and could either sign with them or with a major league baseball team. Hoppy does want to play professionally in either baseball or football.

As for Rollins he says, "My only regret is that I will not be returning here next year."

DICK BEZEMER PLACED ON CAGE ALL STATE TEAM

Rollins center Dick Bezemer was named to triple all star honors during the past few weeks, making the second consecutive year, the All F.I.B.C. team, and the Georgia Teachers' College All Opponent team.

Bezemer, who scored 440 points in 20 games this season—and Jimmy Oler of F.S.U. were among the few repeaters on the Florida Times-Union's All State team. The Florida Intercollegiate Conference coaches named him unanimously to their All Star team, one of only four players to gain that honor.

Being named to the All Opponent team of Georgia Teachers was a bigger honor than it might seem at first glance, since the Teachers went to the national NAIB tournament and played a select group of small college powers.

Bezemer, with a 24.5 point a game average in 10 F.I.B.C. contests, was second only to Oler in Conference scoring during the season.

The girl's golf team played Stetson last Friday at Sanlando Golf and Country Club. Marlene Stewart defeated Sandy Shearouse on the 12th hole, winning the maximum of three points. Barb McIntire defeated Betty McKee, winning 2 1/2-1/2 points. Barb and Marlene also won their best ball, and three points. Ann Rutherford defeated Babs Blakely, 2-1, and Kitty Edsell was defeated by Nancy Allen, 3-0.

Ann and Kitty lost the best ball, losing all three points. Rollins won the match by winning 10 1/2 points against Stetson's 7 1/2 points. Way to go team!

This same day, Marlene broke another course record. She had a 67, 33-34, which includes 5 birdies, and 2 boggies. It's a good thing Bear's graduating, because there aren't many more records to break.

Tar Oarsmen Race La Salle Saturday On Lake Maitland

The Rollins varsity crew team will be looking for their first win Saturday when they face the oarsmen from LaSalle College on Lake Maitland. The Jayvees, who have one win to their credit and no defeats, will meet LaSalle's junior varsity.

The varsity lost to Wisconsin in its only dual race and to Florida Southern in the Founders' Day Regatta three crew meet.

LaSalle shows promise of being the best since 1953 when they captured the Dad Vail Regatta for the third straight year and posted a perfect win campaign.

Coach U. T. Bradley has made some definite changes in his varsity boating. He has moved Jayvee member Mo Cody into the senior boat at the bow position. Dick Potter has returned to man the stroke position with Ed Gray, who stroked in the previous races, moving back to no. 7.

week in Pinehurst, North Carolina the Rollins girls did very well-to say the least. Marlene won the championship, and Barb was the medalist with a 72, which was two under par. Barb was defeated in the second round by Jane Nelson, 1 up. Ann Richardson, who qualified with an 81, defeated Polly Riley 3 and 1, in the third round. Ann's next match was with the runner-up Wanda Sanchez. "Rich" was defeated 3 and 2. Ann Rutherford qualified with an 87, and was defeated in the first round 5 and 4 by Joanne Goodwin.

Did you notice those three baked, black girls on campus? They were Judy Bygate, Darlene Dicks, and Leigh Hay who went to Hollywood, Florida for a tennis tournament. Judy and Darlene lost their first matches, but Leigh went to the semi-finals where she was defeated by Pat Stewart. Pat, who is Leigh's sorority sister, went to Rollins last year. Congratulations on your big win, Pat.

Everyone seems to be traveling around and playing all kinds of sports, but the intramurals at Rollins are being neglected. The tennis at Rollins has been neglected terribly. If you girls don't get busy and play those matches, you had better default. There are many other sports this term and it would be nice if you all would get together and finish tennis off—now.

Have you had one of those delicious hot dogs at the baseball games yet? Well, if you haven't you are really missing something. The "R" Club is working very hard in the refreshment booth, trying to make money for the scholarship fund. So, do go down and get a "torrid canine" as soon as possible.

The point standing for the intramural cup is:

Kappa Alpha Theta	415
Alpha Phi	330
Kappa Kappa Gamma	295
Pi Beta Phi	260
Gamma Phi Beta	260
Phi Mu	250
Independents	220
Chi Omega	100

Volleyball will start next Wednesday, so get those practices in and let's have a good season.

Rollins first baseman Elmer Lott slides safely into third base during Friday's Virginia Tech-Rollins game. Rollins took its second Baseball Week win, 6-0, behind the five-hit hurling of Harry Bennett.

Weak Hurling Stalls Tars; OSU Tops Baseball Play

The most noticeable thing about the Rollins baseball squad was the absence of pitchers Bill Cary, Art Brophy and Don Tauscher, as Ohio State jumped to a wide lead in the unofficial team championships of the Baseball Week tournament last week at Harper-Shepherd field.

The Buckeyes won five of six games behind the slugging of center fielder Hopalong Cassidy, erstwhile football All American, and leftfielder Bob Schnabel. The Tars, plagued by weak pitching, dropped three of five games.

The tournament is scheduled to run until Saturday. Alabama became the final team to enter this week and Yale took over from Ohio State the role of co-host with Rollins. The Buckeyes ended their week-long stay here Monday afternoon.

Rollins, which has won the unofficial championship of the tournament in each of the other two years it has been held, got off to a bad start in this meet, losing its opener to Ohio State, 12-9, Monday, as Cassidy got five straight hits and drove across five runs.

The Tars bounced back with a 13-7 victory over the Buckeyes Tuesday, as Hal Lawler hurled his second victory of the season. It took a three hit performance by Al Fantuzzi, who drove across three runs with a single, two doubles and a sacrifice fly, and magnificent relief pitching by Harry Bennett in the final two innings to preserve the victory, however.

The Tars were given a day off Wednesday, as Ohio State came from behind to defeat Georgia Tech, 6-5. The Buckeyes took their third victory Wednesday, staging another comeback to hand Virginia Tech a loss in its opener, 8-6. In the second game of the twinbill Rollins led Georgia Tech, 6-3 going into the eighth inning and seemed to have things pretty well under control behind the hurling of lefty Jack Powell.

Tech put together three singles for a run in the eighth and Coach Joe Justice beckoned Bennett from the bullpen with two away. Tech second baseman Bobby Dover promptly put Bennett's first pitch over the leftfield wall for three runs and the ball game.

Ohio State staged the biggest scoring barrage in the three year history of the tournament Friday as it handed Virginia Tech a 21-3 loss. Schnabel, Tony Adornetto, and Norman Steagel, all homered in the Buckeyes' 21 hit attack.

Bennett came back in the second game to blank Virginia Tech, 6-0, on a five-hitter. The Tars scored five runs in the sixth as Jim Doran homered and Boyd Coffie doubled.

Schnabel hit for the circuit for the third time in as many days Saturday as Ohio State defeated Yale in its opening appearance as a Baseball Week participant, 5-2.

In the second game Rollins played its worst ball in several seasons, dropping a 15-8 verdict to the previously winless V.P.I. nine.

IM SOFTBALL OPENS SPRING SEASON TODAY

The second round of the men's intramural softball begins today with Sigma Nu, third place finishers in the fall, meeting the Independents, who finished fourth in the fall season.

X Club captured the fall championship and appears to be the team to beat for the spring softball crown.

Next week's games will see Delta Chi facing Kappa Alpha on Tuesday, Lambda Chi meeting X Club on Wednesday, and Delta Chi vying with the Independents on Friday.

BOYNTON TAKES STATE COLLEGE LINKS TITLE

Frank Boynton brought the state collegiate gold championship back from Ocala three weeks ago, closing with brilliant rounds of 69-68 to outstroke Ed Jenkins of F.S.U. in a sudden death playoff.

Rollins as a team didn't fare quite so well, finishing fourth behind Florida State, Florida and Miami in the team championships. Following the state championships the Tars dropped a close match to Florida, 161-104.

March 13 in Gainesville and then upset a good Georgia team, 21-6, on the Dubsread links. They lost, 18-9, to Miami March 16, but bounced back with a 13 1/2-4 1/2 victory over Stetson last Saturday.

Boynton, who won various championships as a junior player and is one of the few players to have held both the high school and collegiate golf championships of Florida, improved with each round of play in the intercollegiate. His first round 72 placed him seventh in the large field. Following his second consecutive par round he advanced to fifth.

Then he started his sub-par play. His three under par 69 advanced him to fourth place before the final 18 holes. With the pressure on, Frank fired a four-under par 68 to catch Ed Jenkins of F.S.U. at 281. In the sudden death playoff both players continued their torrid play for five holes, parring the first, second, third, fourth and sixth holes and exchanging birdies on the fifth. On the sixth hole however, Boynton shot another par, while Jenkins shot a bogie four.

Boynton took the medal again against Florida with a 68, with Dick Sucher backing him up with a 70, but the Gators picked up points in the second and third foursumes to win the match.

Against Georgia the Tars played their best golf of the season, with Joe Lopez winning medal honors with a 70 and Boynton and Bob Ross also matching Dubsread par with 71's.

1956 Fiesta Doubles Previous Profits

Blessed by good weather and the co-operation of the student body, Fiesta was bigger and better than ever before this year. Activities for the gala affair began March 11 at 3 p.m. with the Jazz Concert at the Annie Russell Theatre and ended with the Beaux-Arts Ball on Saturday night, March 24.

JAZZ CONCERT

Pete Nardi's band replaced the scheduled Dixieland combo led by Kenny Trimble. Nardi's rock-and-roll jazz alternated with Ralph Aldridge and his progressive jazz band during the two-hour format. The Orlando radio disc jockey, Clyde-On-A-Cloud, emceed the Concert.

The Concert was attended mainly by Rollins students. Three hundred and six tickets were sold at a dollar each. Due to the fact that the musicians played for minimum wages, a profit of approximately $175 was made. Lee Bauner did a splendid job on the stage set up.

PARADE

On Thursday, March 22, at 1 p.m. the Fiesta Parade left the campus, traveled down Interlachen, and into Orlando. The array of floats returned to the campus by Mills Ave. and each float was placed by the social group's booth on the Midway.

The parade was led by the Winter Park High School band followed by several notables. Among them were Mayor Greene of Winter Park, Mayor Davis of Orlando, Police Chief Buchanan, and President McKean, who was on horseback.

The theme of the float parade was spring sports. The many colorful entries ranged from pink whales to skunks to glittering queens. The candidates for the Fiesta King and Queen rode behind their sponsor's float in convertibles.

The incentive of trophy awards for the best floats undoubtedly added to the keen competition seen in this year's parade. The results were announced at the Beaux-Arts Ball. The judges of the floats were Pat Horrigan, theatre arts instructor at Rollins; Mrs. O'Brien of the local drug store; and Will Shockley, the owner of the Photographic Centre. Mr. Shockley took pictures of every float to aid in their judging.

The winner of the women's event was the Pi Phi's pink whale pulling two water skiers. The float had a striking color contrast of pink and turquoise. The men's event was won by the Delta Chis. Their float represented the "Queen of Sports" presiding over the various spring sports depicted on the float.

MIDWAY

The Fiesta Midway was open Thursday and Friday nights, March 22 and 23, from 8 to 12 p.m. with 12:30 permission for all women students both nights. Trophies were given to the best decorated booth and the biggest money-making booth.

The Alpha Omegas won the best decorated booth award with a motif based on card suits and a roulette wheel. The Delta Chis won the biggest money-making booth award with their penny pitching and dice booths.

Opening the Midway two nights increased the financial returns. The report on the returns is not yet completed. Proceeds of the Midway will go into the Fiesta Scholarship fund which provided approximately six scholarships last year.

KING AND QUEEN CONTEST

Buck Class, sponsored by the Alpha Phis, and Phyllis Lockwood, sponsored by the Delta Chis, were crowned Fiesta King and Queen at the Beaux-Arts Ball. The contest showed a profit of over $350, which is almost four times as much as previous years.

Boxes for voting were placed in the Student Center and in various local business establishments. Local merchants contributed gifts to the winners of the King and Queen Contest.

The Fiesta Queen candidates appeared on WDBO T-V on March 20, from 2:30 to 3 p.m. The half hour devoted to Fiesta by the Orlando T-V channel may possibly expand to a whole hour for next year's Fiesta.

BEAUX-ARTS BALL

The gala Beaux-Arts Ball culminated the Fiesta activities on March 24. The Ball was held in the Mount Plymouth Hotel in Plymouth, Florida.

The black and white theme was carried out well by Mr. Anderson and the Studio Club in their decorations. People attending the dance wore the required black and white. The costumes ranged from bermudas to tuxedos.

A maximum crowd of 400 or more saw the best costume awards go to John Opdyke and Sis Canales, who came to the dance as a champagne bottle and glass. Music was supplied by Brad Bradway and his eleven piece orchestra, and also Pete Nardi and his band. Both the bands carried out the black and white theme through their costume.

BASEBALL

Baseball Week occurred simultaneously with Fiesta activities as did last year. During the twelve days that games were scheduled, Rollins was featured in ten of them. Other teams participating were Ohio State, Georgia Tech, Virginia Tech, Yale, and Alabama.

General consensus of opinion was that holding both the Fiesta and the Baseball Week at the same time helped publicize both events to advantage.

FIESTA RESULTS

Fiesta Chairman Matt Sinnott announced a tentative net profit of $1,475 from the combined Fiesta activities. Last year the net profit was $767.44, which shows that the proceeds nearly doubled. Congratulations are due Matt and his many committee chairman and members for the splendid work they did to make the Fiesta a success.

The following students opinions are representative of the views of the student body on Fiesta:

Buck Class, the Alpha Phi nominee for King, and Phyllis Lockwood, Delta Chi candidate for Queen, presided as the winning royalty of the Fiesta King and Queen contest at the dance Saturday night at the Mount Plymouth Hotel. The Fiesta Dance this year featured a black-and-white theme of a Beaux Art Ball.

Billie Jo Whipple—I think the parade was fine with bigger and better floats. They showed that the students really worked hard to make a good showing for Rollins.

Dick Haldeman—The Midway was excellent. The Beaux-Arts Ball proved the Fiesta Dance could be a success without a name band, but future dances would be better if they were held in a larger place.

Roma Neundorf—The floats, especially the girls', were a lot better than ever before and the Midway did great work for the scholarship fund.

Tommy DiBacco—The activities were arranged and organized but I think it would be better to have the Baseball Week at another time so the students would be able to enjoy all the activities.

The Pi Phis conjured up a fantastic pink whale pulling two sun-bronzed and curvaceous water skiers and won the trophy for the women's groups this year. All the entries were very original.

"The Queen of Sports" came through with a smashing success for the Delta Chis to win the Fiesta Float award to the men's groups. Nearly every spring sport was represented on the float.

"I feel like a Coca-Cola,
Do you?"

Of course. Most everyone does—often. Because a few moments over ice-cold Coca-Cola refresh you so. It's sparkling with natural goodness, pure and wholesome—and naturally friendly to your figure. Feel like having a Coke?
