Students Turn Out To Elect Hull President

Pelican Plans Deferred For Further Info.

Student Council decided in meeting Monday night not to make any definite move toward improving the Pelican until more information is obtained on the financing of a new building. Pelican chairman, Frank Wolfe, will make a further report at the next meeting. Proposed improvements for the present building are a heating system and modernizing the kitchen.

Fiesta chairman, Matt Sinnott, announced that the final figures on Fiesta should be ready in two weeks.

President Dennis Folken and Dean Justice asked that Council to remind all students that no alcoholic beverages will be allowed at Harper-Shepherd Field. The field is college property and so subject to the college regulations concerning drinking.

Council approved adding the duties of the Student Academic Advisory Committee to those of the Student-Faculty Committee, thus eliminating the Academic committee.

A motion for a whirlpool bath for the athletic department was defeated.

The students were reminded of the elections on Tuesday for Student Council positions and publications. A vote will also be taken on the semester vs. term proposal.

French Student To Join Rollins On $2,500 Grant

A $2500 scholarship to enable a student from France to attend Rollins College has been established by Mme. Pierre Lecomte du Nouy.

Mme. Lecomte du Nouy is the widow of the author of Human Destiny. In 1952 she also established a trust fund of $3000 to award the annual essay prize of $100 to the best student essay on her husband's famous book.

Shirley Miller now a Senior won the prize in 1955. The students are given a choice of various themes to write their essays upon in the annual contest. The entries are judged upon their literary form and content.

CIBA AWARDS CARROLL $800 FOR RESEARCH

Ciba Pharmaceutical Company of Summit, N. J., has awarded Dr. Donald Carroll, Associate Professor of Chemistry of Rollins College, an $800 grant for research work this summer.

The money is to help Dr. Carroll continue his research in making a series of new derivatives from alkyl cinchoninic acids which he began sometime ago. When his work is completed, he will send results to Ciba to study for possible pharmacological properties. The New Jersey company is interested in compounds having anti-tubercular and anti-spasmodic functions.

Dr. Carroll will do his summer research in Knowles Hall, Rollins Science Building.

Dr. Carroll has been head of the Science Department for the past two years.

Library Honors 28th President With Exhibit

An exhibition commemorating the 100th birthday of the late Woodrow Wilson, twenty-eighth President of the United States, opens Sunday, April 15, at Mills Memorial Library, Rollins College.

Included in the exhibit are photographs, reproductions of letters and state papers, newspaper and magazine clippings, and memorials pertaining to the life and work of Wilson. Also on exhibit are selected books, based on an authoritative list by Katherine E. Brand, Manuscripts Division, Library of Congress, and brought up to date by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

Of special interest locally will be personal papers of the late Dr. Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins College, which show how he and Wilson worked together for the League of Nations and world peace. These items were selected by Dr. Warren Kuehl, Rollins '49, who is currently working on a biography of Dr. Holt.

The exhibit will be open to the public 7-10 p.m.; Monday through Friday 8 a.m.-5 p.m. and 7-10 p.m.; and Saturday 9 a.m.-1 p.m. Closing date will be April 30.

ROLLINS SINGERS TO PERFORM FRIDAY NIGHT

The Rollins Conservatory of Music will present the Rollins Singers in the sixth recital of its concert series at 8:30 p.m., Friday, at the Annie Russell Theatre.

The Singers compose a group directed by Robert Hufstader, Director of the Conservatory. Gerson Yessin, pianist, will be the accompanist. Members of the group are: Sarah Barber, Lee Boardman, Ann Bowers, Leon Brauner, Angela Burdich, Donald Cobb, Richard Burns, Martha Decker, Ronald Fishbaugh, Sandra Fogarty, William Hardy, Edward Hotaling, Joanne Lange, Joan MacLelland, Fred Mauk, Susan Mauk, Thomas Morris, Jeanne Newton, Kenneth Pahel, John Poellein, and Barbara Works.

Soloists will include Ann Bowers, Susan Mauk, and Jeanne Newton, who are sopranos. Fred Mauk will sing tenor and Kenneth Pahel will sing baritone solos.

The program will include six love waltzes by Johannes Brahms. Handel's L'Allegro-Il Penseroso will also be presented and Orlando Di Lasso.

Haldeman Wins Editorship Of Sandspur; 2 Run-offs

The largest number of students in the history of campus elections turned out for last Tuesday's balloting. Approximately 71% of the student body which totaled 408 voters took part in the elections.

Pres Hull gained a first-ballot victory over Moody and Matt Sinnott in the race for the president's chair. Pres has been a Student Council Representative and has served on the Traffic and Beanery Committees.

Corky Boders will be Pres' running mate for the coming year in the position of vice president.

Delle Davies and Fran Swicegood were both unable to gain a majority on the first ballot for the secretarial office of Student Council. A run-off will be held in the Student Center April 5th, with the polls opening at 9 a.m. and closing at 4 p.m.

Delle, who has served as a Student Council Representative two years and as alternate one year, has also held the position of recording secretary in Gamma Phi Beta and is present second vice-president and social chairman.

Fran has represented Kappa Gamma for two years as Student Council Representative as Delle has. She is also vice-president of her sorority. Fran is president of Phi Society and president of Pan Hellenic council.

Dick Haldeman was also announced as an election winner over the Beanery loudspeaker system. Dick will hold down the editorship of the Sandspur for the coming year. He has previously been co-sports editor for the campus paper and sports publicity assistant for the Rollins News Bureau.

Bob Tate will assist Dick as advertising manager of the Sandspur. This will be Bob's first large job on the newspaper. Another newcomer to the staff will be Jack Powell who was former comptroller. Jack will handle the position of business manager.

Unopposed candidate for the editorship of the Flamingo, Bob Eginton, will assume his duties immediately. Paul Ackerman, also unopposed, was elected to the position of editor of the "R" Book.

The second run-off to result from Tuesday's elections is that of the Tomokan editor. Sandy Hose and Jim Simmons will vie for the post in the same balloting for the secretarial office of Student Council.

Sandy has formerly been advertising manager for the Sandspur and business manager of the 1955 Tomokan. Jim has also worked on the Tomokan staff.

Haldeman will continue on the Tomokan staff as before but this time in a new position. She will be the business manager for the year book.

The recently elected staff members, editors, and managers will assume their duties on the Sandspur next week. These elected to positions on the Tomokan will take over their jobs next year.

Bureau Sets Interview Dates For Students

During the week of April 9th, three representatives will visit the Rollins campus to talk to interested students.

On April 10, Lt. Richard A. Kiel, Medical Service Procurement Officer, will hold a meeting of pre-medical students, prior to entry medical or dental school or the scientific professions, to acquaint students with opportunities available in the Army Medical Service.

On April 11, Mr. S. Lyle Graham, Personnel Director of the Davison-Paxon Company, one of Atlanta's largest department stores, will interview men and women students for the Junior Executive Training Squad. Davison-Paxon is one of the Macy stores and has seven branches in Georgia and South Carolina.

On April 12, Mr. Earl R. Weaver, Personnel Director of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, will visit the campus to interview students for home office positions for both men and women in Prudential's new, large home office organization in Jacksonville.

Fred Stone Theatre, Rollins College, will present William McCleery's comedy, Good Housekeeping, directed by Donald S. Allen, April 11, 12, and 13 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets will not be sold in advance. Box office opens at 7:45 p.m. each evening of the performance.

On April 17, Mr. W. T. Gunter of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, will interview men students. This is the first time he has been here since 1954.

Further information about these visits can be obtained in the Placement Bureau. Dr. Greenhut directs the activities of the Placement Bureau here at Rollins.

EDITORIAL

Heaven's to Betsy

This is the 29th and last issue of The Sandspur under my direction as editor-in-chief, and I find it rather a shock. So much so that during my month's reprieve during the trial editions I often threw myself back up here to the office to use the typewriters and atmosphere for homework or letters.

The whole year has been delightful and all too fast, but each moment (I know it's trite) is memorable climaxing, of course, in the receiving of the All-American award. However, one of the most outstanding rewards of being editor is getting to know people with whom otherwise little contact would be made. This statement includes the administration, faculty, students, President McKean and also implies my appreciation of the great help they have not only given but often offered.

The new editor-in-chief and the new staff will be confronted with many, many, many problems, but these are more than offset by the pleasure of technical work on the Sandspur, making new contacts, attending meetings involving major problems of Rollins College, writing nasty editorials, and on and on and on . . . I may not be the first but certainly am the most sincere and ardent congratulator of Dick Haldeman on winning the election and the privilege of being editor-in-chief of the Rollins Sandspur. It's an unforgettable although wearing experience.

Parade Of Opinion

VOTE . . . BUT VOTE WITH CARE

(ACP) — College elections are important and so is the vote of every student, as this editorial in the Mississippi State Reflector observes:

Your vote is important.

What difference will one vote make? you ask.

It might make a lot of difference. One vote in one state's delegation in the House of Representatives gave Thomas Jefferson the one-vote margin he needed to become third President of the United States.

(One more vote for Jefferson in the Electoral College would have prevented the crisis which resulted in the election being thrown into the House of Representatives.)

One vote in the Senate saved Andrew Johnson from impeachment and the office of President from disgrace.

Less than a thousand votes in New York state elected Grover Cleveland president over James G. Blain.

A change in a thousand votes in California would have defeated Woodrow Wilson for reelection.

Here at Mississippi State last year one vote dealt a stunning setback to an entrenched political machine.

It may have been cast early in the morning. It may have been cast late in the afternoon. It may have been the vote of someone who was vitally interested in seeing the clique's power broken. It may have been the ballot of someone who didn't much care one way or the other.

Your vote does count, so use it carefully.

Make an honest effort to find out about all the candidates running for your class offices.

If you don't know the candidates personally inquire about their qualifications and character from friends or from other students who come from their hometown. When you are in doubt or have not been able to find out anything about the candidates, refrain from voting in that particular race.

Never, never take a blind guess and arbitrarily pick the first name on the ballot or the name that strikes you as sounding best. Disqualify yourself and skip over that section of the ballot. Someone does know the candidates, someone does have a vital interest in the race. Don't void his vote with a wild guess.

Voting is a serious responsibility. Exercise it with thought and discretion.

THE BARD: LESSON NUMBER TWO

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. — (ACP) — Continuing our lesson on Shakespeare and student life, here are some quotes from the Augsburg Echo:

CRAMMING AT MIDNIGHT:

'Tis now the very witching time of night,
When churchyards yawn, and hell itself breathes out
Contagion to this world: now would I drink hot blood
And do such bitter business as the day would quake to look on. — Hamlet 3:3

DAY OF FIRST EXAM ARRIVES:

O woe, O woeful, woeful, woeful day,
Never was seen so black a day as this:
O woeful day, O woeful day. — Romeo & Juliet 4:5

EMERGING FROM TEST:

No hat upon his head, his sticking foul'd,
Pale as his shirt, his knees knocking each other,
And with a look so piteous in purport
As if he had been loosed out of hell. — Hamlet 2:1

FROM ROUND ABOUT

CINCINNATI, OHIO — (ACP) — These from the University of Cincinnati News Record's "Cruising on Campuses" column:

From the University of Kansas comes this little bit of advice. Setting out on the auto trip at 4 a.m. enables you to minimize most traffic hazards, except being hit by the other fellow who started so early he fell asleep at the wheel.

A Kansas State College freshman wanted to quit smoking. A doctor hypnotized him at a student assembly. The hypnotist told him he would be able to quit smoking because cigarettes would now taste like burnt rubber. The student was then released from the spell. "I still have the habit" he has since remarked — but that burnt rubber flavor annoys him!

A recent plea in our column for toothbrushes (to help a girl at the University of Texas pay off a bet by scrubbing all the seats in the stadium with a toothbrush) was answered by one of the fraternities on our campus. They sent her a load of toothbrushes and the senders received a letter of thanks for the contribution. We wonder if she made it to the fifty yard line yet!

LAUGHS?

EMORY UNIVERSITY, GA. — (ACP) — The Emory Wheel included this short-short in its "Humor Panel" column:

"Yes, I'll give you a job. Sweep out the store."

"But I'm a college graduate."

"Okay, I'll show you how."

The Chapel Tower

By T. S. Darrah

The people that make the college go are the ones that are busy working at it; they carry their own load and a good share of the load that the indolent and indifferent shirk. It is strange — or is it? — that the aimless and bored are not only unhappy but easily swept away and lost.

During the New England hurricane of 1938 the railroad bridge at White River Junction, Vermont, was in danger of being swept away by the floods. It was saved by backing out upon it heavily loaded freight cars. The empty bridge was in danger and it was saved by carrying a load.

'ROUND ROLLINS

By Magoo

MAGOO IS PERMITTED ONE LAST BLAST:

This is Sue Dunn's last issue of the SANDSPUR. It's an honor to be summoned out of retirement to aid "Legs" in piloting her last SPUR to bed. I'll try not to be maudlin.

Rollins has been fun. I guess as a Senior I'm supposed to reflect on the past to see where I fit into the future. I have reflected, but I've come up with a frightening conclusion. About the only place in the future for me . . . is another four years at Rollins.

THINGS TO BE DONE BEFORE GRADUATION:

Find out what the WALK OF FAME is all about.

Step inside the SHELL MUSEUM . . . if only to sign the guest book. (Ditto for the KEY MUSEUM.)

Go to chapel so that I may legally attend the AFTER CHAPEL CLUB.

Read the copy I put into the FLAMINGO.

For one month I'd like to hand out more cigarette SAMPLES than I smoke.

THINGS I COULD NEVER DO:

Join a Fraternity. I've seen frat men, and I've never figured out a diplomatic way of informing a fraternity "brother" why he couldn't date my baby sister.

Be elected FIESTA KING. In an election, Rollins' co-eds are ruled biologically. I can face it . . . I don't have "it."

Condemn sororities. I've found out that the Rollins' man who condemns a sorority feels that the sorority is another form of competition.

I'M PROUD OF THESE:

I've never — by choice — been mentioned in SPOONBOY'S column.

I don't walk across campus at 8:30 in the morning with an insipid smile on my face . . . and slurping "HI" to every bite on campus.

I'm more fortunate than proud of being financially able to eat at least fifteen meals a week away from the Beanery. I've never been afraid to sit alone for fear I might think. What has always fascinated me is the way people deliberately categorize themselves. From the time they join a fraternity or sorority they'll sit at the same table every day . . . saying the same thing . . . every day . . . to the same people . . . every day . . . UGH!

I've never spent term after term on the dock . . . prostituting myself to my body.

ENOUGH OF THIS PERSONAL PRO-NOUN TWADDLE — I'm off to FRANKS — prostituting myself to my Spring Term Thirst . . . or as one X Clubber said to another X Clubber, as they watched "Uncle Walt" on T.V., "What I like most about Rollins is the extra curricular inactivity."

Jeanne Newton To Be Presented In Senior Recital Sunday Night

Miss Jeanne Newton, Winter Park, will be presented by the Rollins College Conservatory of Music in her Senior Recital at 8:30 p.m., Sunday, April 8 at Annie Russell Theatre.

She is a member of the Bach Festival Choir; German Club; Student Music Guild; Phi Beta, National Honorary Music; Speech Fraternity, and is soloist with the in her Junior year to meet requirements, and has presented many programs in Winter Park, Cocoa, and Daytona Beach. She has been a member of the Winter Park Congregational Church Choir since Junior High School, and has been soprano soloist there throughout her college years.

Her program will include works by Handel and Mozart, the song cycle Frauenliebe und -Leben by Robert Schumann, Trois Chansons de Bilitis by Debussy, and a group of modern American, English, Italian, and Russian songs.

Katherine Carlo, member of the Extension Division of the Conservatory and well known in music circles in Central Florida, will accompany Miss Newton.

Mills Library Adds Volumes of Whitman Given By Patrons

The Mills Memorial Library has recently received a number of books from patrons. Several items concerning Walt Whitman have been given by Charles E. Feinberg, Detroit, Michigan, in memory of Horace and Anne Montgomerie Traubel.

The gift included 105 Whitman Fellowship Papers 1894-1918; 6 Whitman Facsimiles; 1 Conservator Supplement; 1 Original Autobiographic Note; and a leaves of Grass Reprints Prospectus.

General George E. Stratmeyer of Winter Park presented the Library with a copy of John Beaty's The Iron Curtain Over America.

Other books have been received recently from Winter Park residents and many other patrons of the Mills Memorial Library from all parts of the United States.

Jeanne Newton

Rollins Singers. She was recipient of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan award in her Sophomore year, and was awarded the Phi Beta Scholarship in her Senior year.

During her Junior year she was heard in a leading role in Puccini's opera Gianni Schicci, and in the current season in the amusing Golden Apple, Annie Russell Theatre, Rollins College.

Defensive Judo Offered Students; Expert Says Muscles Not Needed

Rollins students will be given special half price rates for the 5 week course in defensive judo being offered by the newly formed Orlando School of Judo.

Mr. Larry, instructor with 7 years judo experience, announced that classes are scheduled to start soon. The course will include instruction in defense against attackers using knives, guns, clubs, kicks, chokes, and throws.

Mr. Lent stated that special classes will be open to co-ed students. He emphasized that size and strength are not required in judo since it deals mostly with balance.

Classes are scheduled to be held twice weekly from 8 to 9 p.m. A special certificate will be awarded upon completion of the course.

Students wishing to enroll in the classes may do so by calling Mr. Larry Lent at Pine Castle Air Force Base at phone 3-7661, extension 8210.

Mr. Lent announced that a special sport judo class will be open to those who have completed the defensive judo course. Participants in the sport judo class will have opportunities to have matches with students from other schools.

Charges for the 10 hours 5 week course will be $20 dollars. A special bonus of a free final lesson will be given to students bringing other students to the class.

Small monthly dues will be charged members of the sport judo classes.

The defensive judo course has been carefully planned by Mr. Lent so as to give adequate time to the history of judo as well as adequate reviewing of the previous lessons.

Delivers Sermon

Harry Gooch, senior at Yale Divinity School, delivered the sermon at the Good Friday service March 30 at noon in the Knowles Memorial Chapel, Rollins College.

Gooch who was graduated from Rollins in 1950 was active during his undergraduate days here. He is the son of Col. W. G. Gooch, USAF retired, 1740 Glencoe Road, Winter Park. He is married to the former Sally Harris, daughter of Bucky Harris, Manager of the Detroit Tigers, and they have two daughters.

In 1955-56 he served as Assistant minister, Centre Congregational Church, Brattleboro, Vermont.

FLIGHT SCHOOL INTEGRATES WITH COLLEGE STUDY

A new flying program for college undergraduates was announced by the Marine Corps. To be known as the Platoon Leaders Class (Aviation), its major features will be that members belong to it at the same time they attend college and are guaranteed flight training as officers immediately upon graduation from college. No Marine Corps training takes place during the year, however.

College-time training will consist of six-week indoctrination sessions during two summer vacations from school. These will be held at the site of most Marine officer training, the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia.

Upon completion of the training and coincident with graduation from college, members will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve. At this time they will be designated student aviators and immediately begin the 15-18 month Flight School at the Naval Air Station, Pensacola, Florida.

Applicants must be college undergraduates majoring in fields other than art, music, theology and medical and dental subjects. They must be of good moral character, of commissioned officer caliber, and physically and mentally qualified for aviation duty. Candidates must be at least 17 years of age. They must be less than 26 on July 1 of the year in which they will graduate from college. There are no restrictions on marriage.

Applications are being accepted by the Marine Officer Procurement Officers in 21 cities throughout the nation. Information may be obtained from Marine recruiting stations, reserve units, and Marine Corps Headquarters, Washington 25, D. C.

Painting, Sculpture To Be On Exhibition At Morse Gallery

An exhibition of modern paintings and sculpture loaned by the Norton Gallery and School of Art will be on view for the public March 29 through April 11 in Morse Gallery of Art, Rollins College. The gallery is open from 2 to 5 p.m., daily.

Exhibited are 22 oil, tempera, and watercolor paintings by Burchfield, Chagall, Derain, Grosz, Klee, Leger, Lipchitz, Marin, Miro, O'Hara, M. Prendergast, B. Robinson, Signac, Soutine, Utrillo, and Vlaminck.

The great French painters, Degas and Picasso, and the American sculptor Zorach, are represented with sculptures in bronze.

Minority Report

By William Behrmann Jr.

Deep Dish Hypocrisy Dept.
Well, elections are over and the campus is saved until next year. This year's crop of candidates varied in qualifications; from capable and sincere to richly comic. One of the latter group who was running for a Tomokan post enacted I Am A Camera by flitting about the campus snapping pictures of the electorate. "Click! I've got you! (If I'm elected you'll see it in the Tomokan.)" But, as one critic wrote of the play, the student reaction to this rare avis, was,—no leica.

Behrmann

Like a losing basketball team, one of Rollins' oldest traditions is its Spring Horseshow. April 15, then will see a renewal of this gentle competition, when Mrs. Anna Wheeler, for the twentieth consecutive year, sponsors an equitation contest for Rollins riders.

At her show ring opposite the Ben White Raceway, Mrs. Wheeler daily introduces the two to the four-legged,—students and community people to her saddle horses. A practiced eye catches imperfections in style, posture. A kindly voice, straight from Virginia soothes the beginner, cautions the intermediate, and chides the advanced rider. The year canters along to the climax of two horse shows; the first for the community and the second strictly for the college.

This year's show will move through the beginners and intermediates to the championship class in which the best boy and girl riders compete for one of the trophies captured by Mrs. Wheeler in her riding days. After the bareback class, the show concludes with what for many is the highlight of the afternoon; the jumping.

The last barrier cleared, the ring deserted, the 1956 horseshow passes to that special place in the affections of the Rollinsite that holds the sum of memorable diversions that make Rollins the most distinctive small college in the land.

The Fred Sone Theatre which shrank six inches from the Annie Russell after the A.R.T. presented La Gamine is firmly back on its foundation today. The reason, of course, is the fine production given Ladislav Fordor's "The Vigil." I am happy to report that this play did terrific business and had so many high points that even though it was reviewed and praised last week your minority reporter is going to comment further.

To begin with it is well that this

KANSAS COED'S COLUMN LISTS DAFFYNITIONS

LINDSBORG, KAS. —(ACP)—Sharon Moffat, the "Swid Bits" columnist for the Bethany College Messenger, recently listed these daffynitions:

OLD FLAME—What a girl uses to burn up her new boyfriend.

PINK ELEPHANT—Beast of bourbon.

HYPOCRITE—Undertaker trying to look sad at a thousand dollar funeral.

In the same column, there was this example of college progression:

FRESHMAN—I don't know.
SOPHOMORE—I am not prepared.

JUNIOR—I do not remember.

SENIOR—I don't believe I can add anything to what has already been said.

play utilized the first string of the Rollins Players because "The Vigil" is all dialogue and no action. Therefore the play depends on the acting of the character parts that act as stepping stones for the plot. In this connection it was clear that these characters were for the most part better acted than the leads. Specifically we refer to Bill Cochran, as the detective, Maurice Class, as the fisherman, and Pete Adams as the Saul of Taurus.

If anyone cares, the school year has come and almost gone without the appearance of a name band on Campus.

Apparently, however, a few do care and are complaining loudly. To these discords let me suggest that if instead of talking about new photo labs and whirlpool baths our Student council would appropriate some of our money for a good band we would have a better Fiesta Week.

Fellow seniors, let me remind you that when considering a class gift it is well to remember that Rollins although on a lake has no beach. By donating a sand beach to the school, the class of '56 assures its members a haven, in case of divorce, a place to turn to should the store burn down or the crops fail.

Mystery of Alonzo W. Rollins Still Remains Unsolved For Rollinsites

Probably many Rollins students have wondered, as I have, about Alonzo W. Rollins, the man for whom Rollins was named.

The most puzzling question about the man seems to be what the W. in his name stands for. For years both school officials and students been completely in the dark on this matter. But a week ago President McKean decided to do something about the puzzle and wrote to L. Whitney Elkins, a friend and resident of Gorham, Maine, who did extensive research in Portland in order to solve the riddle of the missing middle name. McKean received the following letter from Elkins:

"I have before me your letter asking if I can tell you what the W stands for in Alonzo W. Rollins' name.

At various odd jobs I have tried to find the answer. In Lebanon a conscientious interested woman has gone through the town records and made inquiries of the townspeople and has learned nothing. I

SENIORS RECALL FRESHMAN YEAR AS BUSY LIFE

Seeing as this issue terminates the reign of the senior members of the Sandspur staff, a recollection of the year when these talented incumbents were merely freshmen seems in order.

The year was 1952 and the biggest news at the beginning of the year was the marriage of Jack Rich, present Admissions Director, at the Knowles Memorial Chapel. The local KAs once more returned their prized Elephant statue to the group at Florida Southern.

Rollins was granted permission to operate an educational FM station and Walt Kelly brought "Pogo" to Rollins to appear on the Animated Magazine. Parties progressed much as they did today but Fiesta functioned much differently. Dances were held both Friday and Saturday night—at Rec Hall, of all places.

Truly the memories must be many for the seniors of today. We bid them farewell with a lump in our throats and many a wish for a happy future and a thanks for giving us Rollins as it is today.

have sought information from the files of the Portland Public Library and of the Portland Press Herald-Express-Telegram without results.

In Portland, the Maine Historical Society has a book published about 1880. As often as Alonzo's name appears it is always Alonzo W. Rollins. The only suggestion that I can give you is this; You have graduates of Rollins who are settled in Chicago and who would be glad to help you. Beginning with Alonzo's former address it might be possible to note changes of property in the records and note Alonzo's signatures, or in any other projects in which he may have been concerned. Even so, however, the chances are the investigator would find nothing else than the exasperating Alonzo W. Rollins."

So the mystery goes on. Surely the man must have a middle name. Someday, somewhere we may find it—the problem is, WHERE?

Sorority Girl's Diary

Friday. Couldn't be more bored. Place absolutely like a tomb. Tried to read but couldn't—too restless. Tried the Center—simply no one there that I'd be seen dead with. Finally ran into Annie—simply covered with the most divine gossip. Its all true about Marty and Mary—too scandalous. Bobby dreadfully bored with Midge but she simply won't let him alone—can't see what he saw in her all this time anyway. Ran into the most divine Yale man who knows simply scads of people that I knew—told him that I used to go up there for weekends and so what if it was to see my rother. Lost one of my favorite earrings—simply feel naked without it. Why does everything happen to me. Haven't got a date tonight, too depressed. Damn!

Saturday. Saw the most divine play last night—too clever and the costumes were simply stunning. All about a beautiful love story and the male lead was dreamy. "La" something or another—why can't they have more like it? Practically flipped when an Ohio State boy asked me out tonight and what do I care if he's only the manager. Simply can't decide whether to wear green crepe or red wool. Decisions are simply dreadful. Damn!

Sunday. Last night was too screaming. The drinks were absolutely flowing. My date was the wittiest. That simply divine Billy B. came in with his drink in an old fruit jar saying it was the Holy Grail—couldn't have been funnier. Met a devastating boy from Air Base who wants to be a writer. Told him that I do get bored with the same old routine and all and I do feel that I have some talent in painting. Date passed out stiff. Said he loved me—don't believe a word of it. Simply ruined my best dress last night.

The worst things always happen to me. Damn!

I am told that this is the last appearance of Mainstreet in the Sandspur. Many thanks to Frank. If you have agreed with the opinions here expressed you are no doubt a Southerner of good breeding and education. If you have not then may the Devil take you!

A far more definite sign of the approaching spring than the migration of birds or the large amount of suicides (April is the cruellest month) is the appearance in the Center of a number of Rollins men outfitted in coats and ties—Jim Locke in a grey flannel, Bud Bilensky in his blue suit, etc. This means that representatives of American commerce and business are descending on the campus to enlist certain of our seniors under their banner. These interviews are usually conducted by one of those triumphant catastrophes known as an American businessman and are, or so I am told, quite amusing. The prospective employee must be very careful of what he says for it is to be remembered that a premium is placed upon a well-adjusted and well-adapted personality. "We have no place for non-conformists in business," these gentlemen seem to say. One in particular was very persuasive. After enumerating the various advantages that his company offered he pulled his trump card, "the company will give you a new car every 20,000 miles, now what'dya think of that?" The young man replied that indeed he did think it was great and asked to see the car. Pointing out the window the gentleman indicated that the car was parked just outside. Sure enough, there it was; even the numerous Camel stickers which almost blotted out the color of the delivery truck were bright and shining.

WAR ORPHANS SEND LETTERS OF GRATITUDE

Some of you wonder where the money goes that you contribute to the annual Chapel Staff Drive. Well, some of it goes over to Korea where there are two war orphans.

These orphans are sponsored by Chapel Staff through the universal Foster Parent's Plan. The Chapel Staff sends these children gifts and packages throughout the year in order to help them through their tritulations in Korea.

Letters of thanks have been received by the Chapel Staff from Rollins' two adopted war orphans to whom we sent Christmas gifts this year. The following are from Kim Young Hwa and Nina Nastiuk in gratitude for their gifts:

Dear Foster Parents of the Chapel Service Fund,

I believe you were much blessed in Yuletide of 1955. As I have become one year older, I feel like being grown up much bigger in size and mind.

It is sometimes as cold as 9 degrees below zero at times. When it snows much, I make snow-men and when it is too cold to play outdoors, I just stay indoors to study alone. I do fulfill taskbook for the winter vacation.

Thank you very much for my Christmas box. There were towels, candy, soap-bars, toys and other swell things. Thank you very much. I can and would never forget you. I am at ease, for I know you are backing me up to become a reliable man.

With the warmest regards to you, I am closing for now.

Truly yours,

Kim Young Hwa

Dear Foster Parents,

I let you know that I am quite well, I am thankful to say. I thank you very much for your X-mas parcel we received. Many thanks to all the girls and boys of that school for such a nice X-mas cards and greetings. And now I tell you about how we spend our X-mas.

On the X-mas Eve my mother made everything ready for the supper and trimmed the X-mas tree. At five o'clock in the evening we sat down to supper. Father lighted the candles in the X-mas tree, we said our prayers and sang X-mas carols. On the X-mas Day we went to church and in the afternoon we took part in the nativity play, afterwards we went singing carols with our teacher. In this way we celebrated our X-mas.

Yours respectfully
Nina Nastiuk

Geri Pacino, Rollins graduate last year, in a shot on location for the filming of Empire Studio's "The Osceola Story."

'Osceola Story' Has Nine Rollinsites In Film Cast

The whirring cameras of Empire Studios ground to a halt last week with a fantastic account of "The Osceola Story" inscribed on more than ten miles of full color film.

The movie, begun in February and filmed at Kissimmee and Fernandina Beach, includes nine members of the Rollins Family, three who claim major roles and six who played in crowd scenes.

Geri Pacino, a Rollins graduate last year, plays the part of an Indian maiden, referred to as "Geri," the only other female role in the movie than Lita Milan, the lead.

"Whoever said movie work was easy has a lot to learn," said Geri. "It's a demanding work, both physically and mentally and takes the patience of a saint. We were at the mercy of the fates," related Geri, "but blessed with good weather." As the film was in color, weather conditions had to be the same each day in order to match film sequences. Geri had high praise for all the people she worked with. "They were absolutely wonderful," all of them have a genuineness and sincerity. If I do continue with movies, I just know I couldn't possibly meet the same calibre of people."

Peter Dearing, Rollins theatre director, plays the part of General Finch, an "Indian-hating American officer." While on location in Kissimmee, Dearing had to lead a charge in an Indian raid (the charge, in reality, members of the Kissimmee "Silver Spurs"). "I hadn't ridden for twenty years and was pretty stiff the next day," he reported with a grin. "We spent a lot of time sitting and waiting for the sun to come out," he said, "and after it would finally come out, a baby would cry or an airplane would go over and the whole sequence would have to be shot again. By then the sun would go behind another cloud."

Another Rollins participant in the movie is Mike Creco. Mike plays Chief Charlie Amathla, one of the chiefs under King Osceola. For signing a treaty with the U. S., Amathla is shot by Osceola. Mike reported that making a movie is nothing like being in a play. "Everything is in reverse," he said, "I was shot first, then they filmed the argument scene. They didn't tell me exactly how to die either," said Mike, "so I just died the best way I knew how."

Other Rollins students in the play, participating in mob Indian scenes, include Guy Filosof, Tony Haarstick, Mike Samuels, Ted Dittmer, Bill Dunill, and Terry Moffat.

When asked about the success of the film, Geri, Mike, and Dearing all thought the "Osceola Story" will be "better than a grade B movie." The scenery is reported to be beautiful and each member of the cast "did a wonderful job."

Scheduled to be released in early summer, the "Osceola Story" will certainly have the Rollins interest as well as the interest of movie-goers all over the country.

Sigma Nu Edges Indies In IM Softball Opener

Spring intramural softball got underway last Thursday afternoon with the Sigma Nu's belting the Indies to the tune of 12-7. The Sigma Nu's, who were third place finishers in the fall, came from behind to overtake the Indies with a five run outburst in the bottom half of the sixth inning.

In that inning, leadoff batter Mo Waite connected with one of the pitches of Indie hurler, Bud Davis, and sent it deep into left center field, enabling Mo to clear all the bases. Larry LaValle, Dick Trisman, and Corky Borders also homered for the Black and Gold in that frame.

Dick Bernard and Seymour Lapin helped the Indies cause by each blasting a round tripper off Black and Gold hurler, John Troy. The Indies held the Sigma Nu's to only four runs during the first four innings.

The complete spring softball schedule is as follows:

Tar Crew Upsets LaSalle In Close-To-Record Time

The Rollins crew, with a revamped boating and Dick Potter back in the stroke position, missed the course record for Lake Maitland by only 1.1 seconds as it upset highly favored LaSalle Saturday.

The Tars rowed the mile and three-sixteenths in 5:37.6 as against LaSalle's 5:43.8 as they won by almost two lengths from the crew which had earlier in the week defeated Florida Southern by two lengths of open water after opening with an easy win over Tampa. Florida Southern defeated Rollins by less than a length early last month in the Founders' Day Regatta in Lakeland.

Not to be outdone, the Tar Jayvees continued undefeated with an even easier two-and a half length victory over the LaSalle juniors. The Junior Varsity finished in the good time of 5:52 to back up its Founders' Day Regatta win.

Rollins fell a half length behind in the first third of a mile, understroking LaSalle at a 32 stroke a minute pace to LaSalle's 36. The Tars speeded up to a 34 to catch the Explorers at the midway point and had opened a stroke lead with a quarter of a mile to go.

The victory greatly enhanced the Tars prospects of another high finish in the Dad Vail Regatta. LaSalle has been touting this crew as the best since its crews of 1951, 1952, and 1953 which won the Dad Vail three years in a row.

The Rollins boatings: Varsity: Joe Dallanegra, coxswain, Dick Potter, stroke; Ed Gray, 7; Buck Class, 6; Bud Bilensky, 5; Lee Beard, 4; Larry Breen, 3; Don Salyer, 2; Maurice Cody, bow.

CLUBBERS NEAR SIXTH IM TITLE

X Club continued to dominate first place in the men's intramural standings as they copped the men's volleyball tournament with a total of 250 IM points, and came a step closer to winning the J. Gordon Clerk Intramural Trophy, which they have had in their possession for the last five years.

Delta Chi was second in the volleyball circuit with 190 points, followed by Kappa Alpha and Lambda Chi Alpha with 120 points, Sigma Nu with 110 points, and the Indies with 90 markers.

The overall standings are as follows:

X Club	895 pts.
Delta Chi	690 pts.
Sigma Nu	611 pts.
Indies	430 pts.
Lambda Chi Alpha	405 pts.
Kappa Alpha	393 pts.

The Locker Room

by Jim Locke

It seems that whether you happen to be the president of these United States, an exalted athlete, a consistent pie-baking champion, or even ensconced in the ignoble occupation of sports journalist, there comes a time when the limelight you have reveled in dims. It is at this juncture that you are asked to make a farewell address.

A farewell address may be a defense of your actions while you luxuriated in the garish limelight, a lugubrious teary-eyed swan song, or recommendations you wish, as a respected oracle of your profession, your successor to follow.

It has been a year since I first deposited myself behind a well-scarred desk in the upper reaches of Carnegie Hall where, as Co-Sports Editor of the Sandspur, I was serenely content. It was behind this desk that I would sit with my never failing companions, a dictionary and a thesaurus, and turn out reams of sporting copy, which, I had hoped, would not be found to be trite by the reading student body. But alas I have reached the eventide of my college journalistic career. I am about to gracefully bow off the college stage and tumble into the wings of oblivion. And in going I too should like to make a farewell address. Granted no one has asked me to make a farewell address so I shall exercise my editorship's prerogative and make one anyway.

Three years ago I was entrusted with the task of writing for the Sandspur. I was ambitious and my editor desperate for sports writers so I became, for lack of a better word, a writer. During those three years I believe I have used every sporting stock phrase and every tried and tested cliché known to the sporting jargon. Perhaps this is an exaggeration but I know no other type of writing so largely abandoned to trivia. Sports writing can become exceedingly tedious to the writer, and if he isn't careful, boring to his reader. The majority of the time of the sports writer is spent in describing some sporting event for his public. There is just so much you can do with this form of material. You, as the writer, must report what happens in the game, no more, no less. That is the writer's responsibility to his reader. He is not permitted to interject his thoughts into the story in an attempt to color what otherwise might be a colorless game. This is when sports writing becomes an agonizing chore. This is when you must be wary of inflicting your boredom upon the reader.

Fortunately the salvation from stereotyped reporting comes when the sports writer reaches the column writing stage in his young career. With your first column you suddenly become a pillar of authority, you discover how powerful the printed word is, how easy it is to twist and mold public opinion, how similar Red Smith's column is to yours and then—you are confronted with a revelation—no one reads the blasted thing so of course you send your literary efforts home to the family. It is a wonderful thing having parents, it's great for the ego!

On occasion a column is a splendid place to vent one's opinions, one's hopes, one's grievances. Often in airing your opinions, hopes and grievances you are at the same time airing somebody else's opinions, hopes and grievances. Sometimes you stand alone, especially when you censure a popular athlete or motherhood. It is then that the columnist must stand forcefully behind his convictions until he is proven absolutely wrong and then he man enough to retract his statements.

There can be a tendency for a sports columnist, or for that matter any columnist, to become overly critical. It is so very easy to criticize and it makes for such good copy. Practice a little restraint by criticizing only when you feel such action is justified and constructive and keep it in good taste. Ethics play a large part in any profession.

Now I am through pontificating. I have no regrets that I am stepping down from my editorship for I feel quite certain Tom DiBacco, as the new sports editor, will be more than adequate for the job.

Though I shall soon be tramping off into oblivion, I shall always hold fond memories for the Sandspur and my little niche in "The Locker Room."

Basketball and softball seasons have passed for '55-56. Spring term is jam-packed with Intramural tennis finals, volleyball, archery, swimming and golf. The confusion that this crowded variety of sports offers is a perplexing situation. How much can one accomplish in ten short weeks? To get the 'job' done usually means additional 7:00 a.m. practices, but everyone usually manages to survive the torture.

The first games of volleyball were played yesterday between the Independents and Chi Omega, Theta and Kappa, Alpha Phi and Gamma Phi, Pi Phi and Phi Mu. Slated on the schedule are the following games:

(1) indicates game time at 4:15;
(2) indicates 5:00.

April 9 (1) Independents vs. Kappa
Chi O vs. Alpha Phi
(2) Theta vs. Pi Phi
Gamma Phi vs. Phi Mu

April 11 (1) Independents vs. Alpha Phi

Swimming enthusiasts have already begun getting in shape for the girls' swim meet, held the latter part of May. From now until the meet, Gingy Carpenter, Betty Brook, Su-Su Dunn, Leigh

Hay, Winkie Colado, Sid Kromer and other such "fish" will be swimming laps, smoothing out the kinks and knots caused by softball, basketball and tennis. The Thetas won the meet last year. Kappa and Alpha Phi placed second and third consecutively.

Fleet has the lanes up for practice. For those smart enough to begin building up their wind and endurance now, the events to practice for are: 25 yd. dash, 25 yd. back-stroke, 25 yd. breast-stroke, 50 yd. free-style, 50 yd. relay, plunge, and diving.

Although the Rollins Horseshow (April 15) is not in the Intramural Race, it promises to be one of the best yet. This year's number of entries have already practically doubled those of last year. New stables are located across from the Ben White Raceway. Mrs. Anna Wheeler, owner, provides horses and instruction any afternoon during the week. The charge is $1.25 per hour. All participants in the show have their choice of horses. Classes will be beginner, intermediate, advanced and jumping. See your group representative or Bill Behrmann for further details.

Lady golfers at Rollins hold enough interest for the sport so that it is not necessary to over-emphasize golf intramural participation. Theta won the tournament last year; Kappa came in second and Pi Phi third.

Since this is the last "Shorts in Sports," it is time to bid adieu to "Chiefs" Jim Locke and Dick Haldeman. Their instruction in this column has been most beneficial and inspiring, particularly vocabulary-wise. Thank youse, Mr. Websters!

Don't miss Roma Neundorf and "Bermuda Shorts" next week and throughout the year.

An Alabama player slides into third as Tar third-sacker Jack Gaudette awaits the peg. Alabama won the game, 10-2, ending Baseball Week.

Tars Play UF Saturday, Win 7 of First 12 Games

Rollins meets possibly the strongest Florida baseball team in several seasons Saturday at Harper-Shepherd field at 3:30 p.m. The Gators have won seven consecutive games this season, including a sweep of a three game series from Georgia Tech, immediately after the Engineers had split even in the Rollins Baseball Week.

The Tars will ring a 7-5 season's record and a three season unbeaten streak against the Gators into the game. They won their latest game Monday as lefty Jack Powell pitched his third consecutive victory to shut out Presbyterian, 9-0, on four hits.

Jim Doran, with his third homer of the year and a single for three runs-batted-in, and Ronnie Paiva with two doubles led a ten-hit Rollins attack against Presbyterian. The victory for Powell, who struck out eight men, gave him the distinction of pitching the last three Rollins victories. He halted Alabama, 4-2, on a five-hitter Thursday and came in in relief to win in Rollins' 4-3 victory Saturday over Yale.

The Tars' fast close gave them a 5-5 record for Baseball Week, placing them behind Ohio State (5-2) and Alabama (3-2) in the unofficial championship standings. Other teams in the tournament included Yale (3-5), Georgia Tech (1-1), and Virginia Tech (1-3).

The Tars took three out of five games in the second week of the tournament. They lost to Yale, 9-8, March 27, as the Eli knocked ace Harry Bennett from the box with a five run fifth inning. That gave the Eli an 8-4 lead. Rollins, led by Nick Vancho's single and Al Fantuzzi's double, came back with a three run rally in its half. Yale added a run in the next inning, but Boyd Coffie's pinch single put the Tars to within a run again in the eighth. Rollins threatened with two men aboard and one away in the ninth, but Yale reliever Dick Gillespie squelched the rally.

Rollins returned the next day on Powell's pitching to defeat Alabama, 4-2, immediately after the Crimson Tide had beaten Yale, 16-2. Jack held Alabama hitless after the fourth inning.

Another five-hitter, this one by Hal Lawler, gave the Tars a 4-1 win over Yale Friday. Rollins wound up the twelve-day meet Saturday with a double-header split with Yale and Alabama.

GOLFERS SMASH TARHEELS TWICE OVER WEEKEND

Rollins golfers finally began to display the form expected of them before the season began, as they swept consecutive matches from Patrick Air Force and North Carolina twice.

The Tars looked their best of the year against the Tarheels, winning 28½-8½ and 24½-12½ in eight man matches Friday at Dubs-dread and Saturday in Sanford at the Mayfair Country Club.

Frank Boynton, Ed Dinga, Jim Curti, Bob Ross, Bob Craig, Denny Folken, Marlene Stewart, Ronnie Terpac and Mano deUrresti played for Rollins during the three matches.

It was the first time this season that Miss Stewart has played as a member of the Men's Varsity, but she swept both her matches from the men's tee. Friday she fired a one-under men's par 70 at Dubsdread and Saturday a 75 in Sanford.

Bob Ross shot the best Rollins round of the week, a 65 against Patrick Wednesday. His 31-34 rounds were six under par and only two strokes off the Dubsdread record.

Ross, Boynton and Craig all fired three-under-par 68's Friday to lead the Tars to their resounding win over the Tarheels Friday. Curti was medalist with a 69 Saturday in Sanford.

The three victories gave the Rollins golfers a 6-3 record for the season. The Tars have now defeated Stetson, Patrick, Sanford Air Force Base, Georgia, and North Carolina twice while losing twice to Miami and once to the University of Florida.

The Tars next match will be Wednesday, when they oppose Florida State, the Florida Inter-collegiate champion which is undefeated in all competitive play this season. The match will be over the Tallahassee Country Club course in Tallahassee.

NETTERS LOSE TO HURRICANES

The number one Rollins doubles team of Ben Sobieraj and Memo Garcia defeated Al Harum and Ed Rubinstein of Miami, 3-6, 10-8, 6-4 shutout against the Hurricane tennis team Thursday, but Miami won its 57th consecutive match nevertheless, 8-1 on the Rollins courts.

The match ended an otherwise successful week for the Rollins netters, who Tuesday defeated Princeton, 6-3, in St. Petersburg and Wednesday trounced Duke, 8-1. After the Miami match the Tars had won three of five matches for the season.

Sunrise Service Draws Large College Crowd

At 6:15 on Easter Sunday, the annual sunrise service was held on the shores of Lake Virginia. A cross had been placed near the dock, and a large crowd gathered near the lakefront to participate in the service.

Jim Locke read the Invocation which was followed by two hymns. Peter Adams read a Canticle to the sun just as it was rising in the sky.

After Judith Adams had given the scripture reading, Prof. Nina Oliver Dean gave a short talk on the promise of the morning, the glories of nature, and the duty of all of us to make the most of each day. After the service, the Chi Omega's served as hostesses for an Easter breakfast.

BITS O' NEWS

Mack Harrell, baritone, considered one of the greatest oratorio singers in the country, has been engaged for the 1957 Bach Festival. The festival is held each March in Knowles Memorial Chapel and was taped this year for a re-broadcast over NBC by Mr. Frutchey of WPRK.

The Phi Mu House became headquarters for the Easter Bunny Saturday afternoon, March 31, when the sorority entertained twenty children from the Winter Park Day Nursery. Janice Hamilton was in charge of the function. A party of this type is given annually by the Phi Mu as a social service project.

Comdr. Donald B. Hawley, U. S. Naval Reserve, spoke on Functions and Facilities of the Underwater Sound and Reference Laboratory at a meeting of the Sigma Xi Club of Rollins College, Saturday, March 31, at 1 p.m., Knowles Hall. A luncheon at 12:15 p.m. was held in the Rollins Student Center before adjourning for Comdr. Hawley's talk.

"TV To Broadway" Hunts Shows For Television, Broadway Stage

An intensive campaign to find scripts by recognized or promising new playwrights will be undertaken by TV to Broadway Productions, a new producing firm established by Oscar S. Lerman.

TV to Broadway Productions has been organized to present plays in the various entertainment fields; first, on television and subsequently, on the Broadway legitimate stage and/or films. A new video show, "TV to Broadway," is planned to showcase these scripts.

"The demand for quality dramas for TV has grown tremendously because of increased dramatic programming."

Says Lerman, "it is the intention of TV to Broadway Productions to test new scripts on television, and, if successful, then produce them on Broadway. In a sense you could liken this to the role the summer stock tryouts play in the legitimate theatre. It has become increasingly clear this past season that both Broadway and Hollywood are looking eagerly to television as a showcase for potential properties."

Lerman also points out that there are thousands of talented writers throughout the country who never even get the opportunity of having their scripts read.

Television networks and advertising agencies responsible for some programs, he adds, will not accept a script unless submitted by an agent. "Who knows where another Paddy Chayevsky will emerge?" asks Lerman.

Before submitting scripts, an application may be secured by writing to TV to Broadway Productions, Suite 609 147 West 42 Street, N.Y.C., and enclosing self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Book-A-Year Club To Honor Mr. Camp

President and Mrs. Hugh F. McKean have taken out the 146th membership in the Rollins Book-A-Year Club.

The membership is in memory of the late George Camp Keiser, Washington, D. C., and Winter Park. Mr. Keiser practiced architecture in Winter Park until World War II, when he served in the Army Signal Corps. He was a trustee of the Foreign Service Educational Foundation and was a member of the Visiting Committee of the Department of Middle East Studies at Harvard.
