Rollins Welcomes 250, Looks To Future

Rollins Gets Loan, Land To Build Dorms, Beanery

Receipt of a $900,000 government loan to build a new dining hall and women's dormitory and acquisition of the Kappa Alpha fraternity house from the Alpha Psi Corporation highlighted a series of important moves by Rollins College during recent weeks hastening growth towards the Rollins campus of the future.

The college will erect a modern dormitory for the Kappa Alpha's on the property transferred from them.

President McKean will speak on The State of the College at an ALL-COLLEGE CONVO-CATION Tuesday, October 2 at 10:45 a.m. in the Knowles Memorial Chapel.

The College also converted the Genius Drive estate of the late Dr. John Martin into a new Conservatory of Music. The college inherited the $50,000 estate of the late educator last spring. The building contains seven classrooms and offices for the conservatory staff and faculty.

To cushion the shock of increased enrollment Rollins purchased the Matthews House on the corner of Chase Avenue and Virginia Court for a men's dormitory, and acquired a year's lease on the Detweiler house on the corner of Holt and French Avenues for an additional women's dormitory.

The government loan, approved by the Federal House and Home Finance Agency, will go towards building a $600,000 dormitory to house 132 freshman women, and a $300,000 dining hall, with facilities to provide meals for more than 500 students.

The women's dormitory will be located on the lake front on the western end of the campus. It will possibly be completed in two years and will contain recreation rooms, study rooms, laundry and other facilities.

The dining hall will be located between Mills Memorial Library and Lake Virginia and will also contain facilities for banquets and small dinner parties. It will possibly be completed a year from January.

Both buildings are to be designed by J. Gamble Rogers II, Winter Park architect, in the Spanish Mediterranean style of the campus. They will be decorated with tropical plantings.

Hamilton Jefferson, campus planner for the University of Florida and Stetson University, selected sites for the buildings.

President Hugh McKean announced that models, drawings and elevations of the new buildings will be on display in the Visitors' Lounge in Carnegie Hall upon completion this winter. President McKean plans to travel through New England next week to study buildings on various other campuses.

The buildings are being financed at 2 3/4 pct. interest, in a loan to be repaid in 40 annual payments.

The total Kappa Alpha property was conveyed to Rollins in a transaction with the Alpha Psi Corporation completed last week. The college agreed to build a new dormitory for the Kappa Alpha Order between the old house and Lake Virginia.

Rollins is now actively working on plans to select an architect and to investigate possibilities of having the dormitory built for the opening of school next fall. The deal involved the mutual cooperation of the Alpha Phi Corporation and its president Jim Ernster and the college.

Rollins Treasurer John Tiedtke announced after the transaction that the college believes the move a fine thing for all parties concerned. "Rollins hopes to build a building of which we will all be very proud," he announced.

The former Kappa Alpha home will be used as a dormitory in the indefinite future, he added.

Rollins also moved the entire publications and student council offices to the basement of the Student Center, freeing additional class room space in Carnegie Hall and giving the Student Council an office of its own for the first time. Previously the Council had held meetings in the Alumni Office.

DEAN HELEN L. WATSON

Helen Watson Assumes Dean Of Women Role

President McKean announced the appointment of Mrs. Helen L. Watson as dean of women at Rollins College on June 27th. Mrs. Watson succeeds Miss Jean Day who had resigned as dean at Rollins during May.

Mrs. Watson, who holds the rank of associate Professor, was known to many members of the Faculty and in the community for she is a long-time resident of Winter Park where her husband, John Thomas Watson, is a well-known architect.

All returning staff members, freshman and transfers with journalistic leanings are cordially invited to a Sandspur Organizational meeting this Sunday evening at 7:00 p.m. in the new Spur office located in the basement of the Student Center. All editors and managers of separate departments will be on hand to greet students interested in the Sandspur.

She comes to Rollins directly from the Presidency of Webber College, Babson Park, Florida. Mrs. Watson served Webber College for twelve years, successively holding the position of Assistant Professor, Dean of Women, Vice President and President.

A fact that few people know is that Webber College is the coed part of Babson Institute and is supported by Roger Babson. It is a two-year college for upper-class women and offers a B.S. degree in retailing, secretarial sciences, and business and investment management with a selective enrollment limited to sixty.

A native of Indiana, Mrs. Watson grew up in Florida, and received a B.A. degree from Florida State University and her master's degree from Simmons College in Boston, Massachusetts. She also did graduate work at the University of Florida.

Prior to the war she served as Personnel Director of Furchgotts, in Jacksonville, Florida. During the war she served as civilian personnel assistant for the United States Navy at San Diego, California and went to Webber College in 1944 as assistant professor in the retailing department.

Mrs. Watson is a member of the National Education Association, the American Association of University Women, the National Association of Deans of Women, and the Alpha Xi Delta Sorority.

She was 1955-56 president of the Florida Association of Colleges and Universities and is a member of the educational committee of the American Association of Junior Colleges.

During a recent interview Mrs. Watson was asked what the most impressive quality was that she saw at Rollins. She replied, "What I really noticed most was that everyone is so friendly. Several girls have written me during the summer and have come by to say how glad they were to see me. And you know, coming in and being the stranger in the group as I was, it really makes you feel good. I only hope they're just as pleased to see me a year from now."

Mrs. Watson also said that she was so pleased to be able to come to Rollins as she had previously commuted to Webber College in Babson Park daily. It was a four hour drive which she considered could have been spent doing something more enjoyable such as golfing which is her favorite sport.

Frosh And Transfer Registration Period Ends Exciting Week

More than 250 new students invaded the Rollins campus early this week to raise the Rollins enrollment to more than 600 students.

The newcomers, from 32 states of the Union and Belgium, France, Colombia and Cuba, began arriving Saturday and Sunday and were put through a week-long orientation by a student welcoming committee under the guidance of Director of Admissions Jack Rich and his assistant Charles Farrar.

The increased male registration overflowed the men's dormitories and filled the Matthews House, purchased as an additional men's dormitory this summer.

On their first day at Rollins, the new students received their room assignments, registration permits and meal cards and were designated to their student advisors and introduced to campus leaders. The opening dinner at the Beanery was followed by the introduction of administrative leaders, who reminded the class of 1960 of its special distinction — that of being the class to graduate during Rollins Diamond Jubilee celebration.

Monday through Thursday the days of the freshman were filled with the important business of registration and placement and College Board examinations, while the nights gave way to the traditional pleasures of the roller skating party at the Coliseum and picnic on the lakefront, plus a new feature of orientation week, a square dance in the center patio.

Florida contributed the largest number of students to the 1956 entering class, with 70 students, while New York had 26 students, New Jersey 15, and Ohio 14. Following these states there was an even distribution of students from among all sections of the nation. Included among the foreign students were two from France and one each from Belgium, Colombia, and Cuba.

The total registration for the fall term at Rollins is expected to be about 610 students or about 50 more than were registered last year. This is due in part to the rising percentage of old students returning to Rollins. The Rollins Board of Trustees voted in 1955 to raise the enrollment of Rollins until it eventually totals 800 students a few years hence.

Mrs. Edith A. Stanley welcomes freshmen students, Philippe Mussard of France and Walt Hallskin, Hudson, Ohio, to Matthews House.

Regardless of what the sign says, these freshman girls are bound for Rollins. They are Suzanne Lewis, Sandra Shell and Cherry King.

EDITORIAL

TO A FRESHMAN

As a freshman you are at a fresh beginning. There will be few times that your life will lay before you more opportunisticly nor less impeded by past mistakes. The upperclassmen in whose presence you seemed lost a few days ago might in many ways envy you. Already they have wasted dreams and talents and opportunities.

Your choice of a college is within your favor. In choosing Rollins, a small liberal arts college, you have chosen a concept of education, one that looks at college as an introduction to life, more than as an introduction to a profession.

The concept of a liberal arts education is that a man who has laid broad foundations in many fields of knowledge and life has received the best thing a four year college can give him. It stands against the idea of mass education, that knowledge can be taught. Rather it seems to say that all knowledge is self knowledge. Thus the stress upon individual contact with professors and fellow students, small classes and small enrollment.

One of the most quoted and least true of all expressions about Rollins is: "Rollins is like any other college. You get just as much out as you put in." If at Rollins, or any other college, you get no more out than you put in, then that college is not worth attending, and college itself as an institution is of no more value than trade school with lodging at the country club.

This much of the saying is true: College is an investment, not only of money but of yourself. How much you will receive from college does depend upon how much of yourself you are willing to invest. But like any other wise investment, you receive back not only what you put in, but also interest.

In his article, "Why I Chose A Small College," in the September Chores Digest, D. Elton Trueblood cites the number of leaders in all fields of life which have come from small colleges, inspired by the intellectual stimulation of single professors and close contact with fellow students and the ideals of their school. This formation of attitude towards learning is the interest you will collect from college, and we believe Rollins, as a privately owned and endowed liberal arts college, is a good investment.

You are entering Rollins at a time of growth. Growth in this time of increased college enrollments is often confused with bigness. But growth at Rollins, like growth of an individual, is built around fulfillment of an ideal — the fullest expression of the Rollins plan of education. Higher salaries for teachers, new classes and new dormitories are needed and are being built.

Often during your years at Rollins you will feel that the actions of the administration are contrary to what you believe to be the Rollins ideal.

Rollins is a college of individuals, and as an individual invested in its future it is your right to talk to members of the administration. And since Rollins is a college of individuals, it is their duty to listen to you.

You will find that you can talk to members of the administration. They are not something aloof, but like you members of the Rollins family. They are also invested in Rollins.

Welcome to Rollins. The next four years are up to you.

SANDSPUR: A DEFINITION

A few days ago a freshman asked us to identify for him a Sandspur. The best we could tell him was that it was that assiduous, many-pointed little plant that makes walking down to the lakefront barefooted a hazardous task.

Later, however, we wondered if the Sandspur was not worth a little more consideration. What had the editors of the first Rollins publication thought of the Sandspur plant when they named their first Sandspur?

So we reread that first Sandspur editorial of 62 years ago and found that first contemplative editor had found in a Sandspur a message and a goal which we had missed.

"Unassuming yet mighty," the editorial read, "sharp yet many sided, assiduous, yet as gritty as the name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of the Sandspur."

Since that time the Sandspur as a newspaper has changed many times with the many changes of the college and of its own editors. Yet in that time the name of the Rollins newspaper has not changed. And within its name still remain the ideals upon which its first editor, looking to what seemed a campus nuisance for inspiration, published the first Sandspur.

Parade Of Opinion

TOO MANY ACTIVITIES

(ACP)—Commenting on school spirit, the Campus Collegian, published at the University of Toledo, suggests that the lack of such spirit may stem from the number of events. The editorial refers to a local situation, but would probably apply to just about every college in the country.

Wondering why students of this University have a reputation for lacking school spirit? The answer is simple—too many social events. After a while the mad rush becomes boring and no one particularly cares if anyone supports the events or not.

A good example of this is Greek Week—two songfests, which require months of practice to achieve any noteworthiness; two dances, and numerous other events which the campus Greeks are supposed to support. Remember that the campus organizations have just put the WUS Carnival and Variety Show under their belts and now have the May Festival to look forward to. More booths and support will be required and then there is another dance—the spring formal, with Tex Beneke and his Orchestra.

At the same time the seniors are in a whirl with interviews and preparations for graduation, not to mention those foreboding exams which are just about ready to rear their fearful bodies. Underclassmen are busy planning spring elections at this time, too.

Now don't forget the ever present sorority-fraternity parties and the work which has already begun in planning the individual groups' spring dances. Soon every organization will be sponsoring its end-of-the-year picnic, and probably no one will attend.

Why will no one attend? Lack of school spirit? Sometimes it just becomes too much to maintain a long schedule of sleepless nights and professors' frowns when assignments are late.

Lack of school spirit? Let's get rid of some, so we can enjoy the events we have now—then maybe school spirit will emerge triumphant.

RUSSIA MORE LIBERAL?

(ACP)—The Daily Texan points out, in this editorial, that because of the McCarran-Walter act, Russia is actually placed in the position of appearing to be more liberal than the United States.

The McCarran-Walter Immigration Act has proven a halter to student exchange between the United States and Russia.

The University of Chicago and Moscow University were willing to exchange one student apiece, but the immigration law makes it virtually impossible to bring a Russian student in the country because it requires proof of lack of Communist affiliations.

This is interesting. Russia proves to be more liberal than the United States in this respect. As the St. Louis Post-Dispatch comments, "At least Russia does not demand proof of lack of democratic affiliations, while we make it impossible even to try to educate a Russian concerning the American way. Is that something to fear?"

'ROUND ROLLINS

By Edge

Well here we are at good ol' Rolly Colly where women are women and men are afraid of them . . . Speaking of the delicate kind of scenery (women not men) Jack Rich our admissions director should be a landscaper. Some of the young ladies look as if they had stepped out of the pages of Seventeen. Ah youth! . . . Have you dug the new hideout for the Sandspur, Tomokan, Lyman's happy Huntington grounds, and there is the new lounging room for the Student Council, who we hope will not. They are all located in the basement of the center, which is now quite bright and sort of shiny from all the renovations. It used to look like a subterranean wine cellar in a monastery on top of a volcano . . . Now for something political: FRESHMAN OF ROLLINS UNITE! ! ! Don't wear those cotton pickin' beanies. Rollins has always prided itself on being a school where the individual could be an individual. Beanies are certainly a step down the good old road to conformity. Conformity and discipline are not a bad thing if there is something worth while in what you're doing. But beanies, after all . . . Political suggestion which may not be a political suggestion at the time. Why not get Bill Mauldin, the World War II creator of Willie and Joe, to speak at the animated mag in Feb. Having covered some of his speeches this summer, he is stumping for a chance to represent New York's 26th congressional district in the house, I can really vouch for his speaking powers. He campaigns in a most unusual way too, he flies his own airplane to those out of the way spots like my home town. My favorite Mauldin cartoon involves two very dirty G. I.'s sitting in the rain in a rice paddy in the Frozen Chosen. One is reading a newspaper, the other is trying to heat a can of beans on the end of a bayonet. The one with the newspaper says to the other. "I see by the paper where we're obsolete." Anyway he really is a good speaker and he may say some interesting things from the Democratic point of view to Republican Rollins . . . See where "Rollin's own" Tony Perkins is slated to replace Jimmy Dean. I wonder how, maybe he'll take up sports car racing . . . Hearts still in vogue at the Club. Both kinds . . . why don't the powers that be conduct the new students through the publication offices. Maybe it would or could attract a few of them to the grand art of newspaper and magazine work and help boost the staffs which have been depleted by the migratory tendencies of Rollins transient population . . . Hear Magoo's been elected the mayor of Greenwich Village . . . Dean Darrah says business is good, but he's looking for a replacement for Jim Locke. Jim is now located in an apartment in Frisco which overlooks the Rock, a better known as Alcatraz. Move over Jim . . . For those, who like myself, can't spell, remember it takes imagination to spell a word more than one way . . . Did you hear about the two boppers driving down the street at about 70 in a Thunderbird? The door suddenly sprung open on the bop passenger's side. He closed it. The bopper who was driving asked without looking up, "Who got in?" . . . And as one sage old philosopher said, "You ain't nothin' but a hound dog."

We wish to welcome the new passengers aboard the Rollins, the flag ship of the College Fleet. The first stop will be Thanksgiving. The flying time will be two months and three weeks. The weather report at Thanksgiving is clear and cool. We will fly at varying altitudes depending upon your attitudes. Please fasten your belts for the take off and observe the no smoking sign and other signs when they appear. Your cooperation will ensure a good flight and contribute to your comfort and to ours.

We wish you a pleasant journey. The crew will be glad to be of service to you. Thank you.

Dearing Announces Drama Schedule For ART Stage

The Department of Theatre Arts under the direction of Peter Dearing has released the schedule of plays in the Annie Russell Theatre for the 1956-57 school year. Other members of the theatre arts department are Donald S. Allen, Arthur Wagner, Clare Kelly, Robert Grosse, Mrs. Leslie Lockamy, secretary.

The first play on the schedule is "Pygmalion" by George Bernard Shaw. This brilliant comedy on which the current great Broadway musical "My Fair Lady" is based will be presented as part of the world-wide celebrations commemorating the centennial of "G. B. S." The play will run November 6th thru the 10th.

"Bus Stop" by William Inge was selected by the New York Drama Critics as one of the Ten Best Plays of the 1955-56 season. It will be the first production of "Bus Stop" in Florida and will open December 4th and close the 8th.

Jean Anouilh's "Ring Round The Moon" will run January 29th thru February 2nd. This sophisticated "charade with music" was adapted by the distinguished poet-playwright, Christopher Fry, and has been produced with great success in London, Paris, and New York.

On February 26th "The Crucible" by Arthur Miller will be presented nightly closing March 2nd. This is a powerful and timely play by the Pulitzer Prize winning author of "Death of a Salesman" which was voted one of the best Ten Plays of the 1953-54 season.

The annual Shakespearian production for the coming year is "Romeo and Juliet", which will be produced on April 2nd thru the 6th. This play with Tchaikovsky's musical score will combine the talents of the students, faculty, and community as has been done in previous years.

On April 30th thru May 4th a double bill of Leonard Bernstein's "Trouble In Tahiti" and James Thurber's "Thirteen Clocks" will occupy the ART stage. These plays will be presented in association with the Rollins Student Musical Guild. This double bill will be the last production of the year at the Annie Russell Theatre.

News concerning the activities at the Fred Stone Theatre will be published in the Sandspur at a later date.

Freshmen got into the swing of things Tuesday night in a square dance in the Student Center patio. The dance, an innovation this year to the Orientation schedule, proved a big success.

ROLLINS BOASTS OF FOUR NEW HOUSEMOTHERS IN 1956-57 YEAR

Four new resident heads join the Rollins staff with the opening of Orientation Week activities. Mrs. Edison Botts, Mrs. Hazel R. Burruss, Mrs. Sally Norman, and Mrs. Edgar Stanley were on hand to help welcome new and returning students to their respective dormitories.

Mrs. Edison Botts, who is resident head of Pinehurst, is a graduate of the University of Washington with an A.B. in Home Economics. This is Mrs. Botts' first year as a resident head of the Independent Men in Pinehurst.

Mrs. Hazel R. Burruss was formerly resident head of The Kappa Kappa Gamma House at St. Lawrence University. She will be with the freshman women housed in Lakeside.

Mrs. Sally Norman will reside in the Detwiler House, one of the new buildings added to the campus this summer, where the Alpha Omegas will live. She has previously acted as official hostess on trans-Atlantic liners.

Mrs. Edgar Stanley, whose daughter attended Rollins, is now resident head of another newly acquired building, Matthews Hall on 520 Chase. Mrs. Stanley has been a Winter Park resident for many years and will advise incoming male students at Matthews.

MRS. BURRUSS

MRS. NORMAN

MRS. STANLEY

Two Former College Presidents Join Academic Staff at Rollins

Two former college presidents will serve on the Rollins College faculty this year. They are Mrs. Helen L. Watson, former president of Webber College, Babson Park, Fla., who will serve as the new dean of women, and Paul F. Douglass, former president of American University in Washington, D.C., who will serve as professor of Government in the History department.

Dr. Douglass, a native of Corinth N. Y., has had several distinguished careers, having been a reporter and editor, an ordained and practicing Methodist minister, a member of the bar, legislator, university president, advisor to foreign governments, author, and director of recreational and community services. Dr. Douglass received his A. B. from Wesleyan, his A. M. and PhD from the University of Cincinnati, where as a Taft Fellow he studied with Professor Selden Gale Lowrie, a visiting professor at Rollins last year. From 1933 until 1941, Dr. Douglass was pastor of the Methodist Church in Poulney, Vermont, during which time he served in the Vermont legislature and was admitted to the bar.

In 1941 Dr. Douglass became president of the American University and since 1952 has been advisor to the Korean Government. He was awarded the Haskam VII Cross (Norway), Order of the Ascending Star with Rosetts (China), Order of Taiguk (Korea). He is a member of the American Bar Association, the American Political Science Association, having recently served as president of the District of Columbia Chapter.

Seven other new professors were announced by President McKean and include:

Walter Blackstock, assistant professor of English, comes to Rollins from Florida State University where he has served as a member of the English Department. He holds a B. A. from Georgia, his native state; the M. A. from Vanderbilt, and PhD from Yale. As a Ford Fellow he has also studied with Archibald MacLeish at Harvard. Of special interest to Rollins and Winter Park is the fact that his Master's thesis was written on Cora Harris. He is widely recognized as a poet of ability and in 1953 received the Literary Achievement Award from the Georgia Writer's Association. He has also published seven volumes of verses.

William Herbert Dewart, Jr., instructor in English, is a native of Boston (Milton) where his father was rector of the Old North Church. He received his B. A. from Kenyon College and the M. A. from the University of Florida where he has also completed all course work and residence requirements for the PhD. Between the time of finishing his undergraduate work and starting graduate school he had extensive experience as a writer for radio stations, the Association Program Service, and free-lancing in England publishing short stories and articles in magazines.

John Grady Eldridge, visiting professor of Economics, holds the B.A. M.A. from the University of North Carolina, although he was born in North Dakota. He has also attended Columbia and the University of Virginia. He recently retired from his position as Professor of Economics at the University of Florida. His special fields of research are Taxation and Fiscal Management. He is a member of the American Economic Association, Beta Gamma Sigma, and Phi Kappa Tau.

Mrs. Elaine Kemp will serve as acting registrar this year during the temporary absence of Dolly Koehler, who has accepted a Graduate Assistantship in Mathematics at the University of Kentucky. Mrs. Kemp, who has already served three years in the Registrar's Office, is a graduate (AB) of the University of Pittsburgh, holds the M.A. from Clark University, and has also studied at the University of Rochester.

Robert Lee Morgenroth, Associate professor of French, was born in Delaware. He attended the University of Akron and received the B.A. from the University of Michigan in Oriental Languages. He also received the M.A. from Michigan in English and a PhD in French at the University of Colorado. He served as Instructor at the University of Colorado then moved to the University of Arkansas where he served as Assistant and Associate Professor of French and as Chairman of the Division of Foreign Languages and Literatures.

Zens Lawrence Smith will serve as Visiting Professor of Mathematics this year. Professor Smith holds the B.S. from Knox College and the M.S. from the University of Chicago where he also completed all course work for his PhD degree. He has served as teacher and principal in high schools and as Assistant to the President of Knox College. Until 1954 he taught mathematics and science at the University of Chicago.

Arthur Wagner, Instructor in Theatre Arts, has the special distinction of being the uncle (though a young one) of two Rollins students—Joe and Leslie Sladkus. He received his B.A. from Earlham College in Philosophy, the M.A. from Smith in Theatre Arts working with Hallie Flannigan. He attended Columbia, Randolph Macon and Rutgers and has completed one year of work toward his PhD at Stanford. He is a member of the National Collegiate Players, has attended the Shakespeare Institute, Stanford-Upon-Avon, and is interested in sports, modern dance and ballet.

COMPETITION OPEN FOR ORIGINAL COLLEGE VERSE NATIONAL CONTEST

All college students are cordially invited to submit original verse to be considered for possible publication in the Annual Anthology of College Poetry.

This is the thirty-first Annual College Competition. Over a hundred thousand manuscripts have been submitted to the National Poetry Association in the past ten years. Of these, about 5000 have been accepted for publication.

Manuscripts must be typed or written in ink on one side of a sheet. The student's name, home address, name of college and college address must be appear on each manuscript.

Students may submit as many manuscripts as is desired. Theme and form may be in accordance with the wish of the student contributor. In order to give as many students as possible an opportunity for recognition, and because of space limitations — shorter efforts are preferred.

The closing date for submission of manuscripts is November 5. Manuscripts should be sent to the College Poetry Anthology, National Poetry Association, 3210 Selby Avenue, Los Angeles 34, California.

The Teachers Poetry Anthology also cordially invites all college teachers and librarians to submit original verse to be considered for possible publication in the Annual Anthology of Poetry of Teachers and Librarians.

The same rules apply to manuscripts to the Teachers Poetry Anthology with the exception that appropriate certificates will be sent to those whose poetry qualifies for publication. The deadline for these manuscripts is January 1 at the same address.

Members of the Orientation Week Committee get final instructions from Jack Rich, Pres Hull and Charles Farrar on the Center steps.

Welcoming Committee Assists New Students

Serving as guides and counselors to entering students were thirty-eight upperclass students who arrived on campus early to assist with the orientation of more than 250 newcomers during Orientation Week Sunday through Wednesday. Included in the duties of the Welcoming Committee were meeting students at train, plane and bus depots, assistance with moving them into their respective dormitories, and guided tours of the Rollins College campus.

Orientation Week officially opened Sunday at 7:30 p.m. when students met President Hugh F. McKean and members of the administrative staff at the Student Center patio. An informal reception, sponsored by the Rollins Alumni, for parents and faculty followed this meeting.

Members of the Welcoming Committee and the organizations they represent are:

President of the Rollins Student Association, Pres Hull; Chi Omega, Sandra Fogarty and Lee Lazzara; Gamma Phi Beta, Billie Jo Whipple and Joanne Anthony; Kappa Alpha Theta, Roma Neundorff and Jo Davis; Alpha Phi, Lu Vick and Mary McKeever; Phi Mu, Joan Bennett and Sarah Barber; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Liz Hudgins; Pi Beta Phi, Ann Webster and C. J. Stroll; Independent Women, Mary Wright, Marion Polson, Elina Aguero and Blanca Laborde; Alpha Omega Club, Shirley Goldstone and Mary Lee Sands.

Delta Chi, Jim Simmons and Webb Walker; Kappa Alpha, Cole Church and John Hemphill; Lambda Chi Alpha, Frank Wolfe and

Gordon Hahan, Billy Pace; Sigma Nu, Ford Oehne and Tom Hulihan; X Club, Eddie Overstreet and Mike Crecco; Independent Men, Bob Pratt, Dave Bowman and Sanford Brickman.

Members of the committee at large include Ken McColester, president of the Interfraternity Council, Corky Borders, vice-president of the Student Association, and Fran Swicegood, president of the Panhellenic Council.

The assistants to the resident heads this year are Judy Adams and Janice Hamilton in Cloverleaf which houses the freshman women under Miss Rogers; Joan MacLellan is assistant to Mrs. Payne in Lakeside, another freshman women's dormitory.

A new look has been added to this year's orientation and registration programs. The two major changes in the orientation program are the language proficiency tests and the College Boards which were taken by entering students.

For the first time Registrar's Runners were used in registration. Mr. Farrar, assisted by Mrs. Wendell Stone, worked with twelve students who were members of the welcoming committee. The Runners were posted at Carnegie Hall and carried inquiries from one faculty advisor to another concerning the individual student's questions on courses outside of their proposed major interest.

The registration had previously taken place in the Mills Memorial Library where all faculty advisors had met with their advisees. This year all faculty advisors were located in their offices.

Rollins Offers Variety Of Clubs To Incoming, Former Students

For the benefit of the freshmen and transfers, we would like to introduce them to the various clubs and organizations and honorary groups found on the Rollins campus.

Libra — honorary service fraternity for women. It chooses as its members women who have contributed outstanding service in activities and leadership.

ODK (Omicron Delta Kappa) — national honorary service fraternity for men. Membership is conferred upon upper division men who have distinguished themselves in campus activities and leadership.

O.O.O.O. — men's honorary organization, the purpose of which is to create, preserve and foster the traditions and ideals of Rollins; to promote respect for the customs of the College and to develop a spirit of leadership and cooperation in the student body.

Rollins Key Society — Membership is based on scholastic work and activities and is limited to upperclassmen.

Phi Society — sponsored by Phi Beta Kappa, elects to membership those who have attained high rank in scholarship as first-year students.

Phi Beta — national honorary for musical or dramatic women students who also maintain a high scholastic average.

Theta Alpha Phi — national honorary for dramatic students.

Zeta Alpha Epsilon — honorary for men and women who have a distinguished record in science.

Phi Gamma Mu — the social science honorary for both men and women.

LADIES' CHOICE

LAKE LAND, Fla. (ACP)— Ever wonder what a young lady is really looking for when she goes out to snag a husband? Here's what they say in the Southern, published at Florida Southern College:

Surprising or not, almost the last thing today's college girls look for in the men they want to marry is . . . money.

The traits preferred for a husband-to-be are loving, affectionate and of a sympathetic disposition; thoughtfulness and an agreeable personality. Next comes good character, honesty, conformity to social and ethical standards and (some girls also prefer) religiousness and temperance.

But the money angle . . . that the man be wealthy, thrifty, or a good provider is thought of by most girls almost as an afterthought, possibly because under present prosperous conditions few fear that their husbands won't earn a living.

Competition Deadline Nears For Bowl Queen Candidates

Rollins College candidates for the 23rd annual Orange Bowl Queen's title are warned time is running short to enter the charm marathon. The 1957 Orange Bowl Queen and four princesses will be selected November 10 at a Miami hotel. Contestants must submit required photographs and personal resumes before Nov. 1 to the Orange Bowl Queen Contest, 615 S. W. Second Ave., Miami 36, Florida.

Competition is limited to Florida residents and girls from other states attending Florida schools. They must not be married, cannot be professional entertainers, and must be between 18 and 24 years of age.

Contestants enter the glamor race by submitting three untouched, black and white, 8 x 10 photographs of themselves. These include a portrait, one in a shorts ensemble or bathing suit and a third in street or evening wear. Pictures should be accompanied by resumes including schools attended, hobbies, ambitions, color of hair and eyes, height and bust-waist-hip measurements.

Selected from photographs, semi-finalists will be invited to Miami to a luncheon and interviews. The queen and four princesses will be selected the same day. In addition to a smart wardrobe and other awards, the 1957 Orange Bowl Queen will receive a $500 scholarship to a Florida school of her choice.

Mary Jane Doar, a senior at Rollins and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta, last year was one of the four princesses selected to be on the Orange Bowl court. As a member of the court, she attended all functions of the Festival, appeared on television programs, and rode in the Queen's Court float which appeared during halftime in the Orange Bowl game.

Selected already this year as a semi-finalist is Dede Lund, a sophomore at Rollins and a member of Alpha Phi. Dede last year was "Miss Orlando" and has held the title of "Miss Daytona Beach" and "Miss Florida Television."

FOREIGN STUDY SCHOLARSHIPS SET DEADLINES

Rollins students are again urged to make applications for Marshall and Rhodes Scholarships. The deadline for the Marshall Scholarships is October 31 and December for the Rhodes Scholarships.

The Rhodes Scholarship provides two-year scholarships annually for study at Oxford University. The Marshall program provides twelve two-year scholarships annually for study in British Universities.

Each Marshall Scholarship includes fare and $1,540 a year cash. The Marshall program was begun in 1953 by the British Parliament as a gesture of appreciation for America's Marshall Plan Aid which ended in 1950.

Further information will be published at a later date in the Sandspur.

Campus Gives Entering Class Of 1960 The Big Hello

Upperclassman Frank Wolfe lends a hand and pen to registering gang.

Will I ever get it all in? Sally Reid gave up in disgust for just a few minutes . . . but it's blissful disgust.

Lish Jacobus gets the loan of two gallants to carry her skirts and Bermudas, wastepaper basket etc. into first floor room. Below, Liz Hudgins points with knowing hand to the "Walk of Fame" giving her freshman their first taste of history in stones.

Is this the place where Rollins is? Ivey leaguers arrived and a few minutes afterward were rushed to cars and on to the dorms.

Sandy McKean receives the helping hoist from Bob, Al, and Sandy while Mary Weir, Jean Rigg, Anita Alexander and Chris Jones chat.

Down goes Annie Robinson with escort Web Walker, who looks more like he's waving than falling. The truth is that he let Annie fall while holding his bandaged finger high.

Gilmore Jennings has finished his unpacking and relaxes on his bed, blowing a few Anthony notes. Below, is the picture of the week. The photographer was inside the post office mail box of Anita Tanner when she unsuspectingly opened her box to grab her mail. When she saw who was in there instead, she gave a smile and photographer "Flash" caught the mood of the moment. Watch in your mail boxes!

Heads back . . . eyes to Dean French, the freshman meet in the Annie Russell Theatre for an orientation speech.

Tests! Tests! Tests! Will I have to take Freshman English? Am I half as smart as my application blank said? With "dinkies" on head, they concentrate on their applications like orange juice.

Town Hall Series Brought To Stage Of Annie Russell

Dorothy Lockhart, director of the Town Hall series of lectures, has accepted a Rollins request to present the series this winter in the Annie Russell Theatre.

The Town Hall series had been held since 1937 in the Winter Park high school auditorium which was destroyed by fire last June. The invitation to use the Annie Russell stage was made by President Hugh McKean of Rollins.

The series was first presented in the Annie Russell Theatre in 1933, and the coming year marks the 25th anniversary of the theatre. In 1937 the series had outgrown the theatre and was presented for the first time in the Winter Park high school auditorium with Cornelia Otis Skinner as the main attraction.

Edward R. Murrow, Ogden Nash, Lowell Thomas Jr., Henry Hull, the Dublin Players and Virtuosi di Roma are some of the famous people appearing on the Town Hall in recent years.

Miss Lockhart came to Winter Park from the New York professional theatre originally at the request of Annie Russell to assist with the dedicatory production on March 12, 1932. Following the death of Annie Russell in January, 1936, the late President Hamilton Holt of Rollins appointed Dorothy Lockhart director of the theatre where she remained until the spring of 1942; throughout these years she has brought many famous people from the realm of music, theatre and international affairs to Winter Park.

The season will open January 8 with a two-piano concert played by Allison Nelson and Harry Neal. Five other attractions will be presented at both a matinee and evening performance on Tuesdays during January and February. The matinee series is an innovation this season and Miss Lockhart reports that there has been excellent response to the idea by season subscribers.

Those who subscribe by September 15 will be invited to attend three press interviews scheduled to be held in February with the artists. At this time Town Hall subscribers will have the opportunity to visit informally with the guest star on the morning of the performance.

The pre-season mail order sale of season tickets is handled personally by Miss Lockhart. This ends on the first of October. After that date the regular season prices go into effect and tickets will be placed on sale at the Hamilton Hotel in Winter Park and with Edna Paul in Orlando. All inquiries until October 1 should be addressed to Dorothy Lockhart, Town Hall Series, Winter Park.

DRAMA STUDENTS MEET THURSDAY

All drama majors, members of the Rollins Players, Phi Beta, and Theta Alpha Phi, as well as ALL interested students, are invited to attend an important meeting in the Annie Russell Theatre on Thursday, October 4 at 7:30 p.m., announced Peter Dearing, head of the Theatre Arts Department at Rollins, recently.

All freshmen interested in the theatre are urged to come to the meeting. The two recent additions to the Rollins theatre department, Arthur Wagner and Bob Grosse, will be on hand to meet all drama students.

The forthcoming 25th Anniversary Festival of Drama, covering the six productions from November to May, will be outlined, and try-out readings for the first two plays will also be held. Dearing will conduct the meeting.

McKean Collect Norway Art Work

President and Mrs. Hugh F. McKean sailed to Norway during August of this summer on the S. S. Bergensfjord. While in Norway, the McKean's assembled Norwegian paintings, ceramics, sculpture and textiles which will be shown in a February exhibit at the Morse Gallery of Art on the campus.

In Norway they were the guests of U. S. Ambassador L. Corrin Strong, a former trustee of Rollins and benefactor of Corrin Hall.

Mrs. McKean, who is a well-known painter under her maiden name of Jeanette Genius, built the Morse Gallery of Arts in 1941 in the memory of her grandfather, Charles H. Morse, a Winter Park pioneer.

Scholastic Ranks List Students and Group Averages

The following is an alphabetical list of students who earned a point average of 2.65 or better during the spring term of 1955-56 academic year. These students comprise the Honor Roll at Rollins for that term:

Anderson, Henry D.	1.83
Anderson, J. Richard	1.81
Atwood, Ronald	1.76
Banks, Franklin	1.74
Burroughs, George M.	1.73

The maximum point average is 3.00.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

STOCKTON, Calif. —(ACP)—A couple of quips as recorded in the Stockton college Collegian:

Disconsolate teen-ager to mother: I've used up three kiss-proof lipsticks and I still don't know if it works.

Mrs. Terry D. Morehouse Successor At Mills Library

Mrs. Terry D. Morehouse has been recently appointed to reference librarian and assistant archivist at Mills Memorial Library. This position was held last year by Miss Anna L. Weaver, who has become librarian of Queens College, Charlotte, N. C., at the beginning of the 1956-57 session.

Miss Weaver, on the library staff at Rollins since 1953, holds a B.A. and B.S. in library science. She has served on the library staffs of the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, the Pan American Airlines and the Eastman Kodak Company. She is also a member of the Florida Library Association.

Mrs. Morehouse, a 1954 graduate of Rollins, was a student assistant in 1953 and circulation assistant and reference the following year. She attained her Master of Arts degree this summer at Florida State University. She has lived in Winter Park for six years and previously attended Wellesley, Harvard and Columbia.

A recent announcement by librarian Mrs. Alice Hansen disclosed that four prominent residents of Winter Park have become members of the Book-A-Year Club of Mills Memorial Library.

They are: A. G. Bush, chairman of the finance committee of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. and a trustee of Rollins; Mrs. B. R. Coleman, who took the membership in memory of her husband, the late Mr. Benjamin Ray Coleman, former mayor of Winter Park; Dr. George H. Opdyke, a Rollins trustee, and Miss Anna Stone, who took a membership in memory of her father, the late Mr. Benjamin William Stone, a pioneer resident and for many years superintendent of grounds at Rollins.

Taking out the membership with Miss Stone were her sister, Dr. Florence M. Stone of New York City, and her brother, William E. Stone, Mexico City, Mexico.

Each membership cost $150, and dividends from this sum will be used to buy a book a year for the Rollins Library.

The library will be open to the public of its usual winter schedule. Beginning Friday, Sept. 28, the library will be open Monday through Fridays, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 at night; Saturdays from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and Sundays from 7 to 10 at night.

Former Women's Dean Succumbs

Mrs. Esther Ferguson, former dean of women at Rollins College, died on August 15th at the age of 81 in an Orlando hospital.

Mrs. Ferguson had taught social science and had been dean of women at Rollins from 1911 to 1917. At the time of her death she was resident head of the Casa Iberia.

Mrs. Ferguson graduated from Hiram College in Ohio, and then served as secretary to the president of Case School of Applied Science.

During her active career, Mrs. Ferguson served as an executive of the Young Women's Christian Association in California, New York and Turkey. She returned to Florida in 1935 to become a resident head at Florida State University.

Upon retirement there she was appointed resident head of Casa Iberia at Rollins. In 1955 Rollins College conferred the decoration of honor upon her for her contribution to the progress of the college.

Frank Johnson Inaugurates Four-Year Plan at Jacksonville Junior College

Under the new reign of president Franklyn A. Johnson, former professor of government at Rollins, Jacksonville Junior College this year became Jacksonville University in the first step of a transition to a four-year institution.

The announcement was made by Dr. Johnson, who also officially announced a third-year curriculum will be started this month and a fourth-year program the following September.

The president, at 34 the nation's youngest college head, explained that the name Jacksonville University still must be approved through amendment of the charter presently held by Jacksonville Junior College.

Dr. Johnson spoke at an introductory meeting of the University Council attended by approximately 70 business, professional and civic leaders of Duval County. Johnson called on the University Council for advice and support. He said the time is at hand when decisive steps must be taken to bring about objectives already established.

Foremost among Dr. Johnson's plans will be raising funds to give the school the sufficient endowment necessary for application for four-year accreditation.

"I was never one to go begging for a handout," Dr. Johnson said. "Instead, I believe in giving something worth supporting if you are asking for support, and that is what we intend to do here at Jacksonville University."

A brief outline of the university's plans include:

Start of a third year in 1957, comprised of courses selected from ten proposed majors.

Start of a fourth year in 1958. Increasing the faculty by 12 to 15 members to compensate for the third year; constantly increasing the number of faculty members holding doctorates.

Immediate expansion of the

physical plant, including a student center, athletic facilities, and a home for the president.

And increasing the present library of 12,500 volumes to 40,000 volumes.

"These changes are obviously based on the assumption of community support," Dr. Johnson said. "Without moral and material backing they cannot be carried out, but we are convinced the area will support a four-year liberal arts college, as well as a junior college, under independent control."

The college, which has doubled in enrollment since 1954, is expected to double again by 1959, Johnson said. Last year's enrollment was approximately 1,100 and is expected to reach 3,000 in 1959, he added.

Dr. Johnson graduated from Rutgers University, where he was president of the student body, and received his masters degree and PhD from Harvard. He also attended the London School of Economics of a Fulbright scholarship.

Dr. Johnson came to Rollins in 1952 as professor in government. Among his many activities since that time he helped to form the Florida Citizenship Clearing House, in which students in Florida colleges and universities are able to study government at first hand. While serving as director of the Clearing House, it received the Honor Medal of the Freedoms Foundation.

A veteran of World War II, he is the author of "One More Hill," a book about the experiences of his unit in North Africa, Sicily and Normandy. He is included in "Who's Who in American Education and American Men of Science" and has published, in addition to his book on war experiences, several articles in prominent publications. He plans to publish "Defense by Committee," a book on British government, this fall.

ANNUAL CHAPEL PARTY SAT.

The annual All-College-get-together, sponsored by the Chapel Staff, will be held tomorrow night in the Student Center from 8:00 until 10:00.

Entertainment will be provided by Camille Chapman, Ann Bowers, Ken Pahel, Liz Otis, Ford Oehne and Judy Howard.

Rollins Student Govt. Serves Each Student

Perhaps the most integral and all-inclusive phase in campus life is the Rollins Student Government. Just as democracy is stressed in this country, so also does Rollins stress the importance of government by the students and fosters the basic principles of good citizenship, responsibility, honesty and integrity.

When one enters Rollins, he is automatically a member of the Rollins Student Association. Council officers are chosen at the end of the year and student representatives to this council are chosen in their respective social groups (sororities, fraternities and independent groups).

Officers are chosen from upperclassmen meeting the requirements of the constitution. A unique feature of the Student Council is that all Rollins students are invited to meetings. Although only official representatives are allowed to vote on issues, each student is free to voice his opinion directly and thus aid in solving council problems.

Haldeman

Presiding over the weekly Student Council meetings this year is President Pres Hull.

The TOMOKAN, under the editorship of Sandy Hose, is the Rollins yearbook. Published in the spring, it is a pictorial account of all campus life and views during the college year. Interested students are invited to seek positions on the Tomokan staff, positions including writing, typing, proof-reading, photography, art or business.

The SANDSPUR is the weekly newspaper on campus. Editor Dick Haldeman and his staff gather college news for publication every Friday morning. Every Sunday and Monday night is reserved for Spur; on these nights the paper is composed, sent to the typesetters, then to the press. The SANDSPUR is also a publication which urges all those interested in its many phases to seek positions on the staff.

Every freshman is acquainted with the pocket-sized, blue "R" BOOK he is equipped with before coming to college. In this book are contained the rules and regulations of Rollins College, from constitution to modes of dress. This book is automatically sent to all entering students and is available to all upperclassmen upon request. This year the editor is Paul Ackerman.

The FLAMINGO, edited by Bob Eginton, is the campus literary magazine published every term. Inside its covers are stories, poems and art work by talented students and faculty. Here also is a publication in which the Rollins Family is invited to participate.

All publications are financed through the Student Association and are staffed entirely by students. All publications are given without any additional cost to the student besides the student association fee.

DELTS TO HAVE COFFEE SUNDAY

The annual Delta Chi coffee will be held Sunday in the patio behind Lyman Hall immediately following Chapel Services.

All students, faculty and staff are invited to the annual coffee, held at the beginning of each year to acquaint members of the Rollins family with each other in an informal atmosphere.

Even the Dinky Line got into the flic when sound equipment and cameras, props and actors, flooded the campus this summer. Shamrock studios of Winter Park gave some of the local students their first break into filmdoms' wonder.

"End As A Man", which will be released under the Columbia label, was filmed here by Horizon American Co. of New York, and circles around the imaginary Southern Military College and stars many of the original Broadway cast. Included are the leads Carroll Baker and Ben Gazzara, former star of "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof." It is the first major motion picture ever to be filmed entirely in Florida . . . much of it here on home ground.

Sam Spiegel (who also produced "On the Waterfront" and "African Queen"), Burnett Guffrey (who filmed "From Here to Eternity") and Joseph Wright (who designed the sets for "Guys and Dolls" and "Oklahoma" and won two academy awards) are the experienced punch behind the scenes.

Helping the Broadway cast were Rollins aspirants Dean Mitchell, Bob Hartman, Gene Foster, Towne Windom, and Carlton Clark.

It took three days to shoot one short scene down by the college dock. They constructed a boxing ring, covered up the Dinky tracks with branches and shot a scene with Bill Fathauer and John Allmand sailing the Delta Chi boat in the background. The wind kept changing!

Jim Simmons, who played a be-uniformed cadet, tells of the Dinky being used in a train station scene in which Ben Gazzara was dragged from the path of the oncoming Dinky "just in the nick of time." First time anyone's been scared of the Dinky!

Jim worked with the studios about two weeks and took part in several of the cadet scenes including one shot on Church Street in Orlando where a Kangaroo court was held to oust one of the cadets, or something. He's not too sure of the plot but said "You lost all consciousness of being what you were and just became part of the movie." He even hated the actor who played the villain.

Columbia has scheduled two more pictures to be filmed at the Winter Park Shamrock Studios. First comes "Guard of Honor" with filming scheduled to begin October 15, followed by another film, whose name hasn't been disclosed yet, early in January.

Critics Pick Perkins As 'Hottest Property'

No more predictions for Tony knew Tony well when they both Perkins, one time Rollins theater arts student. We're through predicting fame and fortune for old-time actor Osgood Perkins' son. He's there!

In August, LIFE featured Tony with Gary Cooper on the cover, with a two page story describing him as "a young edition of the rugged Cooper" whose son he plays in his next movie, "The Friendly Persuasion."

Soon to be released is "The Jim Piersall Story" with Perkins in the leading spotlight. "I'm left-handed and I had to learn to throw with my right hand," Tony remarked. This seems to be his only stumbling block in the film for huge success is predicted for the film and its young star.

Tony left Rollins three years ago to take over John Kerr's role in the Broadway hit, "Tess and Sympathy." It was up up up from there, which was a pretty elevated beginning to start with. Now Louella Parsons writes from Hollywood, "I'm in a rut where this Tony Perkins is concerned, and I admit it. It's impossible to mention his name without predicting that Tony . . . is the most shining talent to hit Hollywood since James Dean. Without a picture yet released (he's made five) he's the hottest property hereabouts."

"Movie Screen" chose him as one of the five young artists whom they predict will definitely make the grade. That was last year. He did.

Peter Haskell, brother of Rollins sophomore Nancy Haskell, where he got the chance for the part in "The Actress."

TONY PERKINS

"The Actress" was Tony's first movie and he was picked for a part after playing it on the stage.

Tony hitched his wagon to a star . . . became one . . . and in three short years has become one of our most illustrious alumni.

History Is Made As Dinks Become Freshman Tradition

If you seen the "dinks"? Dey is blue and gold and adorn the tops of Betty Coed and Joe College heads.

Rollins has added one more tid-bit to make our freshman class more like the universally accepted and expected. At last the upper-classman can glance about and spy the freshman in a glance. When they stroll down town, shopkeepers have fair warning and pull out their best Bahama Bermudas and button down shirts.

The real value is in the fun . . .

but how nice it is going to be during rush. For the first time in history, the sorority girls will know to whom they were not supposed to have just spoken.

Pres Hull, student council president said, "I believe this to be the first time on any college campus that freshman are wearing 'dinkies' of their own choice and not because they were forced to buy them."

The class of 1960 has class pride already!

CENTER CELLAR GAINS OFFICES, DARK ROOMS

The center basement has a new coiffure . . . The photography department has had a face lifting and student council has a place to call home. All this and new Sandspur and Tomokan offices, too? But yes.

According to Lyman Huntington, college photographer, "We have the best photographic dark room set up that I have ever seen for our purposes. It's just what we have always needed." With the student council contribution of $560 for new equipment, and the addition of two new darkrooms, and a private office for Lyman, the photography department is in the best of shape to handle the Sandspur year book and college picture needs.

With the great demand for pictures of Rollins depicting college life, the conference system etc., it became necessary to set up a superior staff to produce movies and prints to fill the demand. On the staff are Lyman's assistant Win Taylor. Sandy Hose capably handles the Tomokan year book needs.

Last year Lyman taught a non-credit course in photography for curious and career students. Now that number can be doubled with the additional facilities and added physical convenience. Students provide their own equipment and the college provides the dark rooms and chemicals.

For the first time in the history of the college, the all-important student council will have a room of their own. Large conference tables have been built and soon an air conditioner will be installed. A luxury lounge!

Sandspur and staff are installed in a large room of their own with two small private offices. As soon as we can get organized we shall boast the best facilities ever seen by this newspaper.

The real convenience of the new set up isn't in the equipment but in the close proximity of departments which work closely together but have never worked close together.

The Sandspur staff can dash over to the dark rooms for some last minute action shots, and get the student council story before it leaves the conference room. The publications will work much more closely. In time and extra steps this is invaluable and by far as fine an arrangement seen on any campus.

With the new, superb facilities, added to the already superior photographic staff under the leadership of Lyman Huntington, the basement of the center should buzz with students headed for careers as fine as Bruce Lee, now with Newsweek magazine and Marcia Mattox working with Life magazine.

OAKS GO DOWN IN CENTER PATIO

From the giant oaks on Holt to the barren wastes of the center patio, Rollins is noted for its trees or lack of them.

We are sorrow to see our oaks which "from little acorns grow" leave the scene but their roots were erupting the floor of the patio. Neer more will square dancers ram their heads on the history witnesses while do si do'n, neer more will students run for shelter between B and C periods to the leaf-spread branches of our friends.

We'll miss them . . . but there's more room for freshman chairs now and in spite of predictions and provocations, the new beanery is not the cause of it all. It was the tile or the tree . . . it was the tree (in plural).

Marlene Stewart Captures U. S. Amateur Golf Title

by Roma Neundorf

Marlene Stewart, a Rollins graduate last June, recently won the U. S. National Amateur golf tournament in Indianapolis, Indiana. This victory was the seventh straight for the Canadian ace. Her winning streak started with the North and South championship in Pinehurst, North Carolina in March of this year. Since then she has added the National Collegiate, Ontario Open, Rochester Invitational tournament, Canadian Close, Canadian Open, and finally the U. S. National. One of "L'il Bear's" previous victories was the British Amateur. Let's face it, she's won 'em all!

None of these victories were easy for Marlene. She had to defeat many top American golfers to gain her titles. Bear was victor over Ruth Jessen in the finals of the North and South and the Collegiate, Pat Lesser in the Canadian Open, and Joanne Gunderson in the U. S. national.

This five-foot-one, 115 pound package of dynamite played on the Rollins mens golf team for four years, and put many boys to shame.

Anne Richardson, a Rollins sophomore last year who has transferred to Ohio State, hit the headlines this summer when she was low amateur in the "world" golf tournament. Anne broke the course record with a sizzling six-under-par 70 in the second round of the 72 hole tourney. Beside the honor of being low amateur, Anne's dad bought her a '56 Cadillac. Just a small reward I'd say!

Last, but certainly not least, is Barb McIntire. Another sophomore that left us for the cold North, Barb tied with Mrs. Kathy Cornelius in the Women's National Open golf championship in Duluth, Minnesota. In the playoff Barb was not successful, but she still deserves a feather in her hat. We are very sorry that these girls have left Rollins because they certainly were making our "little" college popular.

BROPHY GAINS 10-4 RECORD FOR ORLANDO

Art Brophy, former Rollins pitching ace, finished the 1956 baseball season with a 10-4 record for the Orlando Colonels before he was drafted into the army.

The slim southpaw, who helped put the Tars into the N. C. A. A. district playoff for three consecutive years, won his first seven duels for the Colonels and nine out of his first ten games.

While sporting a 9-1 record, Brophy became involved with his draft board in some business and left the team for a short period. Upon returning, he lost three straight pitching duels, two of which were by one run, and then went on to win his last game.

Last year, Brophy, who tap dances in his spare time, was named to the N. C. A. A. Coaches' All-American third team. He won his first thirteen college games over a period of three seasons before dropping a game.

One of Art's top performances came in the 1954 College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska, when he struck out twelve men in whipping Missouri. The Missouri nine did come back to defeat the Tars, 4-1, in the finals for the championship; however, Missouri's only loss in the tournament was to the Rollins ace.

Four Claims To Fame

Four ex-Rollins linksters, Ann Richardson, Barbara McIntire, Ann Rutherford, and Marlene Stewart, who brought fame to Rollins as a result of their summer performances, get together to discuss their favorite sport.

Welcome, welcome, welcome, to all freshmen, transfers, and returning students. Now that you all have been officially welcomed, let's get down to business.

Basketball season will start very shortly. Sarah Jane and J. P. will be visiting the freshman dorms on Sunday night after closing hours to get the teams organized. If you have any questions they will be very willing to answer them. If you are the least bit interested and are willing to try no matter how well coordinated you are, sign up for goodness sakes. You will have a great time!

Practices for basketball will be delayed for a week or so because the Rec Hall floor has to be re-finished.

Any transfers who are interested in playing should contact the Independent Women at Corrin Hall.

By now you have probably heard or read about our famous athletes. In golf we had Marlene Stewart, Anne Richardson, and Barb McIntire. Each one won or tied a major tournament this summer. We sure will miss these girls this year.

Shirley Fry who graduated from Rollins in 1949 took the Wimbledon Tennis Championship in England and the U. S. Championship in Forest Hills.

Barb Moynahan, one of our outstanding athletes, is returning to Rollins this year after a year of college in France. Barb, better known as "The Jewel", was the only freshman her year to make

"R" Club. She excels in swimming, basketball, volleyball, and softball, and plays every other sport offered. Nice to have you back Barb.

Don't forget the sports that are coming up in the next two terms. Intramurals include volleyball, softball, swimming, archery, tennis, and golf. Although there aren't intramurals in water skiing, horseback riding, and fencing, they are still offered for a credit in sports.

Try to keep all these activities in mind, cause they will be coming up slowly but surely. Let's have a big year and keep in mind the old saying that you have to be a good loser as well as a good winner.

Football To Invade Intramural Program

For the first time in two years, intramural football will invade the fall sports program in a few weeks. The grid sport was included in the intramural program as a result of action taken last spring by the Intramural Board.

The Board, which is composed of members from each of the six men's social groups, voted four to two in favor of the fall sport.

A committee consisting of the Tar coaching staff and student representatives was appointed by IM President Ra Moody before classes terminated last spring. This committee is to formulate rules for the sport.

Before actual play can begin, the committee must submit the rules to each of the social groups for approval.

The first Intramural Board meeting will be announced in the near future.

Vancho Included On All-American Baseball Squad

Rollins College baseball star Nick Vancho was named to the college All-American baseball team this summer. He was chosen to the second squad by the NCAA coaches representatives. The former Tar shortstop was also picked for the first team of the NCAA District 3.

Vancho was the fourth All-American from Rollins in the last three years. Bill Cary, Connie Mack Butler, and Art Brophy preceded him.

Vancho played his first season of pro ball this summer in the Nebraska State League, a league made up of former college and high school players in their first year of pro ball.

Vancho played for the McCook, Nebraska team in this Class D League, a farm team of the Milwaukee Braves. The versatile Tar was offered a $1500 bonus to sign with the Braves.

Vancho

In his last year of college ball, Nick batted .369 to cop the Rollins team batting crown for the second straight year. He also lead the team in RBI's with 25.

Playing third base, the position he occupied for a few games last year, Vancho hit .342 for his season's average. It was reported that he had injured his arm, but it was not supposed to be anything serious.

The Press Box

by Tommy DiBacco

Welcome, sports fans! One more vacation period has slipped through the fingers of old Father Time, and once again we're here to begin another year of schooling, despite the fact that many of us are not ready to adjust to the classroom routine after staying away from the books for some three months. However, we're glad to be back and glad to see all the old and new faces.

We certainly hope all of you had an enjoyable summer and hope you were able to take part in your favorite sport during the past three months.

DiBacco

For those of you who are beginning your first year at Rollins, we hope you will take full advantage of varsity, intramural, and physical education programs, for the success of each of these cannot be attained unless everyone contributes.

Unlike a large university or many other colleges, Rollins does not field a varsity football team, nor is there a great deal of varsity activity until basketball comes along in November. However, within the next few weeks, intramural football will commence thus becoming the first sport to invade the Tar campus.

Until IM football rolls around, we think it wise to give thought to the one question that plagued our minds last year, namely, "How can we improve school spirit?" It may well be too early to arrive at a definite solution to this problem, but with suggestions and discussions from the entire student body, an answer can be found within the near future.

To our minds, class organization may well be a factor that can contribute to better school spirit. In years past, only two classes, the freshmen and senior, have organized to any extent. Their duties have not been numerous and probably their greatest problem has been to get enough members at a meeting in order to carry on business. It might be that competition among classes could stir up more enthusiasm and spirit.

In any event, we can improve our spirit if we begin to take action immediately, for with better school spirit will come a more unified Rollins in any competitive event. Give some thought to this question. What are your answers?

ALUMNA WINS AT WIMBLEDON

Shirley Fry, who last July 7 won the Wimbledon Women's Championship by defeating Britain's Angela Buxton, is a graduate of Rollins College. The adroit St. Petersburg net ace was a member of the 1949 graduating class and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from the college.

The Wimbledon victory was the first major crown captured by the 29-year-old Miss Fry. She has been a member of the United States top ten for some 12 years, but was unsuccessful in capturing a major singles victory during that time. She followed up her Wimbledon win by capturing the U.S. National title from Althea Gibson.

Miss Fry, who was born in Akron, Ohio, began her tennis career at the age of eight. She capped the National Girls Championship in 1944 and 1945. In 1951, the Rollins graduate went to the finals at Wimbledon, only to be defeated by Doris Hart. In the same year, she lost to Maureen Connolly in the United States finals at Forest Hills.

While at Rollins, the veteran of twenty-one years of tennis playing was a member of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority; Libra, women's leadership organization; and Pi Gamma Mu, honorary social science fraternity.

Miss Fry now resides in St. Petersburg, Florida.
