FOUR MEMBERS OF THE 'TEAHOUSE' CAST rehearse for tomorrow night's opening performance in the Annie Russell Theatre. Norman Boone as Sakini, Wendy Hirshon as a villager, and Rick Halsell as Capt. Fisby look on as Steve Kane describes the signs he, as Col. Purdy, wants painted.

'Teahouse Of August Moon' Opens In ART Tomorrow Night

By PENNY FLACK
Sandspur Staff

The 1958-59 Annie Russell Theatre season will begin Saturday evening at 8:30 when the curtain rises on the opening performance of Teahouse of the August Moon.

After the special student opening night, the play is scheduled to run Nov. 4 through 8.

Arthur Wagner, director of the Annie Russell Theatre, will give a lecture on "American Comedy" Saturday afternoon, Nov. 1, at 2:30 in the ART. All members of the Rollins Family are invited to attend.

Teahouse, written by John Patrick, the author of Auntie Mame, is an entertaining and gently amusing story about an Army officer (Capt. Fisby, portrayed by Rick Halsell) who is sent to the small Okinawan village of Tobiki.

His assignment to set the village back on its feet is greatly impeded by his interpreter, Sakini, who is played by Norman Boone.

The presentation of Lotus Blossom (Cleia Ganoza), number one Geisha girl, to Capt. Fisby and her effect on the people of Tobiki also add interest to the play.

Theatre arts department director Arthur Wagner considers the intricate and authentic set for Teahouse of the August Moon, designed by Director Bob Grose, probably the most beautiful and sensational set ever to appear on the stage of the ART.

Worthy of special notice is the delicate teahouse itself, which was constructed so that in one scene the villagers "build" it before the audience's eyes in a period of three minutes.

There are a number of delightfully amusing scenes in the play, among them Capt. Fisby's speech on democracy and the testing of potato brandy on Miss Higa Jiga's goat.

Another highlight of the play is the wrestling match between Hokaido (Bob Schermer) and Seiko (Bob Harrison).

The Kabuki dance, performed by Wendy Hirshon, Sandra Scott, Sandy Mayo, Muff Murphy, Barbara Behm, Ginny Davenport, and Penny Flack, adds a note of grace to the teahouse scene.

At the Monday night rehearsal for the production, Director Grose stated that, if necessary, the cast was capable of giving a polished performance on the following night.

He commented on the hard work and cooperation which he has received from his cast and crew and remarked that a surprising amount of talent has come to light from members of the cast during rehearsals.

"The cast has approached it (the play) professionally from the beginning, and I anticipate an excellent performance," concluded Grose.

Council Sponsors Hallowe'en Dance At Dubs Tonight

This evening, from 8:00-11:30, the Panhellenic and Inter-fraternity Councils will hold an all-college dance at Dubsread Country Club.

The purpose of this dance is to give Rollins students something to do on Hallowe'en. The administration, hoping to prevent rioting and raiding on the campus, and especially concerned over possible damage to the new living rooms of Elizabeth Hall and Cloverleaf, asked the aid of Student Council.

Student Council decided to sponsor this dance, and the Panhellenic and Inter-fraternity Councils agreed to handle the arrangements. TKE is taking care of publicity, and the Pi Phi's are in charge of decorations.

Dick Mansfield, chairman of the Student Council Social Committee; D. A. Sharp, president of Panhellenic; and Dick D'Alemberte, president of Inter-fraternity Council, all hope for a good turnout at the dance.

D. A. thinks that this dance is one of the best ideas that's been on this campus for a long time.

Dick Mansfield said, "I think it's a very good idea, and I think this 'funny business' (previous unorganized Hallowe'en activity) is ridiculous and immature for college students, especially when it damages property."

In keeping with the "Nassau" theme of the dance, dress will be Bermudas or similar informal attire. Freshman girls will be granted 12:00 o'clock permission.

Dining Hall Dress Regulation Changed

"The Student-Faculty-Trustee Committee has okayed Bermuda shorts as dinner-wear for Saturday and Sunday evenings," reported Larry Hitner to Student Council Monday night. "Now it is up to you to give the final ruling on the matter."

After a sparse discussion, during which Bev Milikan, Pi Phi representative, commented that her group thought people should get dressed up on Sunday night, the question was passed unanimously.

Hitner also reported that regular hours will be kept by the women students during Thanksgiving vacation. "This is to give the housemothers a chance to rest up during vacation," he explained.

Hitner also explained Dean of Women Helen Watson's reason for insisting that women students be back in their dorms by closing time on the last night of vacations. Dean Watson had told him that so many mothers worry about their daughters' trips back to school that it is necessary to set a definite time for them to be in their dorms.

Pres. Len Wood then called for a report from Barth Engart concerning campus lighting improvements. Engart replied that, although he was working with Dean Vermilye and Pres. McKean, nothing definite had been accomplished yet.

"New improvements which are going to be made on campus must be taken into consideration before lighting is set up," he added.

Wood then stressed the severity of the problem to Council. He told them of a prowler who had been seen near the entrance of the Gamma Phi sorority house on numerous occasions.

"The main reason no accurate description of the prowler has been obtained is the lack of light in the area. We should at least get something temporary set up," he stated.

Wood then brought before the Council a request from the Tomokan office for $200 in addition to the $9,000 tentatively allotted last spring.

"We need his money largely because it is costing us $2 per student this year as opposed to the $1.50 photographic fee last year," explained Larry Hitner, Tomokan editor.

Wood then commented, "If this request is passed, the Council's limit of funds for publications will be reached. However, since this is the only formal request we've received from a publication, I think we should get this out of the way now."

The allocation was passed unanimously, and the meeting adjourned.

Prizes Announced By English Dept.

Four creative writing contests open to Rollins students were announced this week by Prof. Nina Dean, chairman of the English Department.

An annual prize of $100 is awarded to a Rollins student who submits the best poem or group of poems to The Academy of American Poets Poetry contest. Contributors should keep copies of their poems as they will not be returned. The deadline for this contest is May 10.

The Orlando Poetry Society Prize of $10 is to be awarded to a student of Rollins for an original poem written during the year. After the award has been bestowed, "the recipient shall appear at the next regular meeting of the Orlando Poetry Society and read his or her poem." The deadline is March 1.

The Rollins student who is outstanding in creative writing will be eligible for The Charles Hyde Pratt Creative Writing Award of $50. May 10 is also the deadline for this competition.

The $50 Howard Fox Literary Prize is provided from the income of a $5,000 fund given to former Rollins College president Hamilton Holt. Due on May 10, entries will be judged on the basis of originality, human interest, and craftsmanship.

The American Poets Poetry Prize, the Charles Hyde Pratt Creative Writing Award, and the Howard Fox Literary Prize are presented to the winners at the annual awards assembly held during graduation week.

Mrs. Dean commented: "I hope that these contests might stimulate our Rollins students to lure Pegasus from Mobile Oil to graze on the Rollins horse-shoe."

Manuscripts are to be turned in to Mrs. Dean, and students are asked to keep copies of their work.

Play Casts Announced For Two FST Experimental Productions

Casting for the two experimental plays scheduled for a two night run in the Fred Stone Theatre next month has been completed.

Randolph Strout and Sally Reed will play the professor and the pupil, respectively, in George Ionesco's The Lesson. Freshman Claudia Melton has the role of Marie.

Sally Reed, a Rollins Player, starred last year in the Annie Russell Theatre production of Born Yesterday.

Theatre arts department director Arthur Wagner will direct The Lesson.

Aria de Capo, by Edna St. Vincent Millay, will be produced with The Lesson. Both plays will be given Friday night, Nov. 14, and Thursday night, Nov. 20.

Robert Chase is directing Aria de Capo, and has cast Steve Kane as Pierrot; Nelle Longshore, Columbine; Lynn Pflug, Catherina;

Kay Leimbacher, Thyrsis; and Marion Love, Corydon.

Kane is opening as Colonel Purdy tomorrow night in the ART production of Teahouse of the August Moon. Nelle Longshore appeared on the ART stage last year in a minor role in Death of a Salesman.

Senior theatre arts major, Pflug is also a member of the Rollins Players. He appeared last year in the experimental FST production of Sophocles' Electra, produced "in the round" on the ART stage, as Aegisthos.

Director Wagner expects that most of the interest in the plays will come from discussions which will be held after each performance. A panel of faculty members will discuss the play with the cast and audience.

Freshman Bill Tone is stage managing both productions.

Honor Students To Be Presented In Formal Convocation Tuesday

An address by a prominent civic leader and the presentation of Rollins honor students will highlight the all-college convocation Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 4.

Marking the 73rd anniversary of the opening of Rollins College, the convocation will be held in Knowles Memorial Chapel at 5:30 p.m. Members of the choir, faculty, trustees, and special guests will form the procession.

Dr. Karl Lehmann, secretary of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce, will speak to the convocation about the community and business values of an educational institution. Lehmann was awarded an honorary LL.D. degree from Rollins in 1927.

Following the principal address, Pres. Hugh F. McKean will present the entering students who were granted honors at entrance on the basis of their academic records and the returning students who were listed on the Dean's List of Distinguished Students last year.

Pres. McKean will also confer the George Chandler Holt Scholarship Cup. A new award, the cup has been established in the name of the father of the late Dr. Hamilton Holt, former president of Rollins.

Rev. T. S. Darrah, Dean of the Chapel, will offer the invocation, and the Chapel Choir, under the direction of Robert Hufstader, will sing "King of Kings," an anthem by Joseph Clokey. The convocation will close with the singing of the Alma Mater and the formal recessional.

4 Outstanding Students Tapped By Science Group

Four outstanding Rollins science majors were tapped for membership in Zeta Alpha Epsilon, honorary scientific fraternity, at a Rollins Scientific Society meeting in Woolson House last Sunday afternoon.

The students, three seniors and one junior, are Bill Dunnill, Clelia Ganoza, Gary Goldfarb, and Walter Cain.

Established at Rollins more than 20 years ago, Zeta Alpha Epsilon gives recognition to outstanding science students and promotes a broadened interest in science on the campus.

To be eligible for membership, a senior must have maintained a B average in both his science courses and his other studies, and 40 per cent of his courses must be in the science department.

A junior must maintain a 2.5 average, a high B plus, in his courses in science and other fields, and 40 per cent of his courses must be in the natural sciences.

Dunnill, a physics and math major, is a member of X Club. Last year he served as chairman of Student Council improvements committee and vice-president of the Junior Class. He is also a member of the varsity baseball team and a Chapel usher.

Clelia, a pre-med major, is currently appearing in the role of Lotus Blossom in Teahouse of the August Moon.

Also a pre-med major, Goldfarb is secretary of Theta Alpha Phi, alternate Student Council representative for the Independent Men, and a member of Rollins Players.

The only junior to be tapped, Cain is a physics and math major. A member of Phi Society and Chapel Choir, he is Independent.

Other members of the honorary are Joan Abendroth, president; Gordon Struble, Dick Anderson, and all members of the college science department faculty.

American Film Next In Series

The American film, Fear and Desire, will be shown in the Fred Stone Theater Sunday evening, Nov. 2, at 6:30 and 8:45.

Second in the series of famous films being sponsored by the French Club, Fear and Desire is an extraordinary motion picture produced, directed, photographed, and edited by Stanley Kubrick. The story deals with four soldiers, of unidentified nationality, lost behind enemy lines in an unidentified war.

"A brilliant and unforgettable film . . . the incident of the girl . . . will make movie history; it is at once beautiful, terrifying, and weird," was Mark Van Doren's comment on the movie.

Tickets for Fear and Desire may be purchased at the door before the performances. Price is 70 cents for the public and 50 cents for Rollins students, faculty, and staff.

Season tickets for the remaining seven films in the series are available at $4 for the public and $3 for Rollins students, faculty, and staff. Checks, made payable to "FCS, Rollins College," may be sent to Box 276, Campus Mail.

Furor Over Panhell Ruling Subsides As Sororities Organize Open Houses

By PHYLLIS ZATLIN
Sandspur News Editor

On Wednesday evening, Oct. 22, Panhellenic Council passed a ruling prohibiting freshman and sorority women from sitting together in the Beanery.

By Thursday morning, the murmurs of discontent from the freshman women were getting loud enough that they even threatened to drown out the campus complaints about Beanery food.

The immediate reaction of the freshmen women to the new ruling was one of rebellion. Councils of war met in the two dormitories and ideas were thrown around.

One suggestion made in Cloverleaf was for the freshman women to go to the Beanery en masse, get their trays of food, set the trays down at tables where sorority girls were sitting, and stand to eat.

"You want us to get to know these girls so we can decide what sorority we'd like to be in. How can we get to know them if we can't talk to them? About the only chance we had was in Beans," one puzzled freshman asked.

"We're not supposed to be sorority conscious, but there is such strain and pressure on us that we can't be ourselves," another remarked. "We'd like to get to know the sorority girls better than we can from the superficial conversations at the teas," she added.

"If we're not going to pledge until January, why can't we associate with the sorority girls?" queried a third. "In a college as small as this, it's just tearing it up."

"If this rule is necessary, I don't think we should object to it," was another opinion. "But if this goes on until January, we'll all go crazy."

On Thursday evening, Oct. 23, Dean Helen Watson visited the freshman dormitories to explain the reasons both for the new Panhell ruling and for having delayed rush, and the murmurs of discontent subsided.

On the other side of the Panhell ruling, the sorority women sympathized with the freshmen, but felt that the regulation was necessary.

"The situation in the Beanery was too strained for both the sorority and freshman women," Panhell officers explained. "As a result, the Panhellenic Council felt that the situation should be alleviated."

"We want to give delayed rush a fair chance," D. A. Sharpe, Panhell president, added.

The main purpose for initiating delayed rush on the Rollins campus this year was to bring up the freshman grades for fall term.

"If 90 per cent of the freshman women make their grades fall term, it (delayed rush) will have accomplished a great deal," D. A. commented.

Another sorority viewpoint was that it is much better for a girl to make her grades and then pledge, than to pledge and then not be initiated because her grades are too low.

In order that the sorority and entering women can get to know each other better, Panhell has scheduled a series of open houses to be held during fall term.

The first of these open houses was held last Monday. The others are scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 4; Wednesday, Nov. 12; Thursday, Nov. 20; and Friday, Dec. 5. They will take place from 4 to 5:30 in the afternoon.

All entering women are invited to visit any sorority house during these times. However, they may only stay for one hour at any house at one time.

"We realize that the freshmen may feel shy about visiting a house to which they have not been personally invited," Panhell officers commented. "However, we want to stress that every entering woman has a standing invitation from all of the sororities during these open houses."

At After Chapel

WILBUR DORSETT begins last Sunday's After Chapel Club discussion with an appropriate remark or two by Sir Richard Livingstone.

After Chapel Club Says 'Virtue Is Own Reward'

By CHARI PROBASCO
Sandspur Staff

"This is what I came to college for!" was the comment heard from amidst a group of freshman girls at the close of After-Chapel Club last Sunday.

Mr. Wilbur Dorsett presented a question to the club which evoked a heated, hour-long discussion. It was: "Should character be taken into consideration when a teacher is giving out a grade?"

The English instructor explained that it was possible for the situation to arise whereby a student would do exceptionally good work in class; however, his character might be so disagreeable that it would disturb the teacher to have to give that student an excellent grade.

To indicate the disagreement which learned people have over this question, Mr. Dorsett quoted two leaders in education who had visited Rollins in past years.

Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchens wrote, "College is an institution for the mind. It is not the object of the college to make the student good . . . The family and the church must assume this responsibility."

On the contrary, Sir Richard Livingstone of Oxford University stated in one of his speeches, "The major task of education is improving character." Mr. Dorsett continued by saying that both these men agreed that the objective of education is to prepare responsible citizens.

Bringing the question back to Rollins, Mr. Dorsett pointed out that character was stressed here or we would not have a full-time minister or a Chapel Staff. "But should character be a part of your grade?" he asked the group.

Joan Abendroth felt that character should be emphasized but not as a grade. She explained, "If I were a teacher I would hate to put myself in the position of having to grade someone else's character."

"Perhaps it should be a question of instilling character rather than grading it," suggested Bob White.

The fact was mentioned that character references were required for positions after graduation. ("Has this character got character?" — Dean Darrah.) Some of the group agreed that ratings might be of assistance in this case.

"Certain personalities will jibe and others will not. A grade on character is next to impossible," stated Maggie Carrington.

Jeanie Hall commented, "Even teachers are fallible. God is the only one with the right to judge character."

Mr. Dorsett summed up the discussion by saying that the consensus seemed to be that there should be no character grade. "Character is its own reward," he closed.

College Students Offered Chance To Work Abroad

The American Student Information Service, located in Limburg/Lahn, Germany, has announced that it will again have jobs to offer to American university students who wish to work in Europe next summer.

Most of the jobs available are on farms, in factories, on construction projects, at resorts, with the forestry service, and in various technical industries.

The American Student Information Service was founded last year as an experiment to see if American university students would be interested in working in Europe during the summer months.

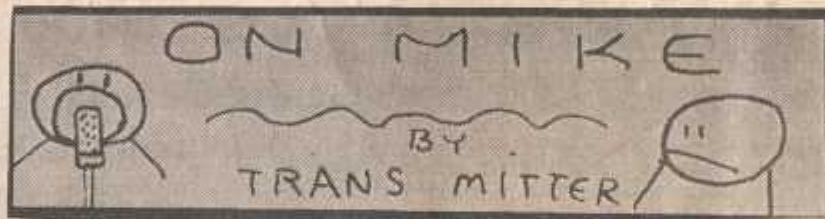

A non-profit organization, its main purpose is to promote closer relations and understanding between the future leaders of Europe and America.

By entering into and becoming a part of a European community, the American student will be able to further appreciate its advantages and disadvantages, its products and its needs, as compared with his own community, the ASIS officials feel.

Students interested in working in Europe next summer may join the American Student Information Service at a cost of $12. This membership is renewable, and is valid for four years.

In addition to the membership fee, the organization must have the student's name, university address, age, sex, course of study, previous work experience, and the date the student wishes to begin working, in order to process job applications.

Applications should be mailed to American Student Information Service, Josef-Ludwig-Str. 4a, Limburg/Lahn, Germany.

The advanced class at WPRK is fast and furiously trying to familiarize themselves with technical television terminology — such as, truck to the right, dolly in, take camera, long shot, medium close up, and boom out of the picture — before Tuesday, Nov. 4.

On this eventful day, the second yearites will get their first stab at television production and experience on Orlando's WDBO-TV.

The students will be participating in a proposed year long series of public service programs that are somewhat educational in nature. As it looks now, the first show will revolve around the never-ending subject, art.

If everything goes according to schedule, WPRK is anticipating the appearance of several members of our renown Rollins faculty during the course of the series.

Joan Brand, a theatre arts major acting as mistress of ceremonies, will give the first show an appropriate send off. Jody Boulware, Nancy Haskell, and Anita Tanner will be executing the production. Coordination and props will be handled by Mary Whitman and Nancy Nystrom.

Never fear, though, the men are very much in the picture in this challenging TV venture. In fact, there would be no picture if Bob Harrison, Warren Wallace, and Tom Miller were to suddenly not man the cameras. And if trouble brews WPRKers will consult Bill Moulton, floor manager.

Ad Building Offices Find New Locations

Last week was moving time for several offices in the Administration Building.

In an attempt to gain more space for the constantly expanding development program of the public relations department, the public relations and news bureau office, formerly located on the second floor of the Pink Palace, has been moved to the Guest House behind the Sparrell Annex.

The old news bureau office is now being used as a second headquarters for the admissions office.

The third change made was the moving of the purchasing office into the former admissions workshop on the second floor.

SANDSPUR-LESS BOWL

In last week's Round Rollins column, Mink mentioned that there were no longer any sandspurs in the Sandspur Bowl.

We feel that this minor miracle should be clarified.

It seems that a Rollins alum has taken on the care of the Sandspur Bowl (and well-being of intramural touch footballers' feet) as his personal project. Warren "Grub" Ingram, who graduated from Rollins with a bachelor's degree in business in 1922, has been out on the Bowl every morning before seven, weeding.

Mr. Ingram lives on Fairbanks Avenue, right across the Sandspur-less Bowl from the campus. A long time Winter Park resident, he worked for many years in this area as a clothing merchant.

While at Rollins, Mr. Ingram was on the Sandspur staff and in the Athletic Society—which may explain his concern for the Sandspur Bowl. He was a member of Phi Alpha fraternity, which went national to become the Rollins chapter of Kappa Alpha.

Homesick Northerners can also be grateful to Mr. Ingram for the autumn aroma produced by his burning the sandspur plants—there's nothing like a good bonfire in October to make us feel at home.

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS

Conversations and discussions—and arguments, if you will—cannot be one-sided. When they are one-sided they cease to be conversational and become soliloquial.

When students voice displeasure or ask questions through the Sandspur, someone should answer them. Our questions are not purely rhetorical, and we don't always complain just to hear the whine of our own voices.

The Sandspur is a mouthpiece for the students and not for the administration. The Sandspur can only ask questions; it has neither the authority nor the responsibility for answering questions which are directed toward the Pink Palace.

The ad building inmates, however, remain silent. Sometimes they will answer, with qualifications, a question in the privacy of their own office, but President McKean's Center chats appear to be the only administration attempt to speak directly to the entire student body.

Even Wednesday morning get-togethers don't reach all the students. The Sandspur on the other hand, finds its way into every mail box in the college post office.

We'd like to print some answers to our questions.

Letters To The Editor

Irate Country Club Performer Says To Keep Choir In Chapel

Editor:

In one passage of The Iliad, the Greeks make a sacrifice to Apollo, partake of a bountiful banquet, and sing the beautiful paean. Think ye that this ancient custom is dead? Just ask any member of the Chapel Choir!

Last Thursday night the choir, fully vested, filed through the bar of the Pine Hills Country Club to sing before the Orange County Chamber of Commerce. Not one drop of liquid refreshment were we offered, neither before nor after. And not one hymn of praise did we sing, but six—to the accompaniment of a very ill-tuned piano.

Somehow what belongs in Knowles Memorial Chapel on Sunday mornings does not fit in the Pine Hills Country Club on Thursday night.

The Chapel Choir performs every single Sunday morning at a service which is open to all. Must the choir also sing at every nearby banquet? At least if we must sing, can't we also have something to eat?

Now if the choir received remuneration for anthems rendered, the members as a whole might feel somewhat different about these extra-Chapel activity. Perhaps such payment might eliminate the need for the Chapel Chest drive.

There is an organization on this campus known as Rollins Singers. Cannot this group fulfill such social obligations as entertaining the Orange County Chamber of Commerce? Madrigals and folk songs would no doubt suit the occasion better than "Hear My Prayer, O God." Let's keep the Chapel Choir in the Chapel!

Editor:

How long do these nightly prowler escapades have to continue around the girls' dormitories before we get the campus lighted?

The incident at Corrin Hall last week was disgraceful and avoidable. It is the administration's responsibility to protect the students not only physically but emotionally in this respect. It is rather disconcerting to have an indecently exposed man standing outside of your window.

Actually, we don't care what sort of lights are installed, just so they light up the campus enough for it to be safe to walk to your own dormitory at night. Is it fair to be afraid to walk home at night when a few inexpensive flood lights could help solve the problem?

Sincerely,

26 Names Withheld

(Editor's Note: The only bit of consolation we can offer you is the mere fact that Dean Vermilye and one of the Winter Park policemen toured the campus one night a few weeks ago to spot the "dark spots" for future illumination.)

However, Barth Engart's report to Council (see page 1) was not optimistic, and we wonder which "new improvements" must be taken into how much consideration before something can be done to stop this messy prowler situation.

The two policemen who are on duty at night, one from 9 to 12 p.m., the other from midnight to 3 p.m., are doing their best, however, to apprehend the night visitors. Past history indicates, however, that after a prowler is caught, a replacement quickly shows up.

We are certainly grateful to our friends of the Winter Park police department, but fear that their job is going to be a rather endless one if the administration doesn't find a few stray light bulbs somewhere.)

Editor:

I sincerely hope that all guests at Student Council meetings are not going to be treated as Mr. Burik was on Oct. 20. If Mr. Phil Scott thinks that the students should start "ruling things" around Rollins, some students first better take a course in basic human conduct.

"Congratulations, Mr. Burik, on your excellent peace offering at tonight's meal. We're going to expect more of the same in the future."

Now if that isn't about the most sarcastic introductory remark that could be made to an invited guest of Student Council, I'd like to know what is.

It's too bad all Council members didn't realize that Mr. Burik was in attendance to answer questions and listen to suggestions that might help him in providing better service and not to be the object of snide remarks and muffled laughter. . . . This is diplomacy?

All this was bad enough, but then I heard that an executive of Student Council confirmed certain statements of Council members and showed strong disapproval of one of Mr. Burik's replies.

If this is how the 1958-59 year is going to continue, we better go back to September and try again (with better food, of course). Perhaps it would be in order if certain individuals made apologies to certain other individuals, and if still other individuals re-clarified previous comments made to groups.

Thank you for the flattering "Spotlight" article which appeared in last week's issue of Sandspur; however, I must hasten to point out that my association with Army Intelligence was not nearly as glamorous as depicted in your column. To set the record straight, I was not an "agent" as reported, but rather a mere pencil-pusher at the Pentagon (one of about 30,000 to be found there). My activities, therefore, were not of the were concerned with research and analysis of incoming intelligence data.

I should also like to clarify the statement that I am restricted to the continental United States for the next few years because of the nature of my recent work. Actually, I am perfectly free to travel abroad at my choosing, except that I will not be permitted to tour behind the Iron Curtain or visit any possible "trouble spots" until a certain cooling-off period has elapsed, during which time it is rightly assumed I shall forget certain security information of current value.

Finally, it might appear that the Noble Award this past week to the Russian author Pasternak directly contradicts my answer regarding current Soviet literary expression. On closer inspection, however, my statements are fully justified and in fact supported by the award. It must be realized that Pasternak's work has never been published in the USSR itself, and that he is accused of deviationism not only by the Soviet Government but by all other Russian authors as well. His work therefore is obviously contrary to that permitted in Russia today and, of course, is neither standard nor typical. It is, however, encouraging to note that independent thought within the USSR has not been completely suppressed; and it is this very fact which provides the long-range hope that Communism may yet be overthrown from within.

Today a new style Halloween will come into being at Rollins. Student Council took about five minutes away from discussing the Beanery situation and voted for a dance on Halloween night to keep most of the students out of mischief.

This will probably put an end to many types of on-campus celebration. The X-Club cages will be devoid of freshman girls for the first time in many years. The dance at Dubs may be a good idea, but watch out. Dubs-dread has a nice swimming pool.

The IFC seems to have come up with its own answer to stopping Halloween mischief. Any fraternity man caught taking part in these forbidden activities tonight will have his group's pledge date set back one week.

This punishment seems to be the standard one given out this year for any type of offense against the college. Any unauthorized person who set foot on college property during orientation week caused his social group to accept a punishment. This is also applied to any type of rushing offense.

Perhaps this is an outgrowth of the laws to stop juvenile delinquency. You should not punish the offender; you should punish his parents.

Now the question of what good fraternities and sororities are at Rollins can finally be answered. They help to keep the students in line.

Last week President McKean made a whistle-stop tour around the campus, pausing for longer messages in the Beanery and the Student Center. Most of the freshmen had their first view of the President in one of his frequent talks.

Their general feeling was, "What did we do wrong now?" Nothing is usually wrong when President McKean starts making his little "fireside chats." It is just a device for getting a little closer to the student body.

"The Pres" may have gotten a little closer to the students by talking through half of C period, but I sure would have hated to be in his shoes when he told the students to miss the first part of their next class and stay and listen to his talk in the Center.

As one teacher said, "Hmmm, so this is the Rollins educational system."

The Chapel Tower

By T. S. Darrah

Joseph Wood Krutch tells this story on the late Professor Raymond Weaver of Columbia College:

When Weaver gave his first quiz, he wrote on the board: "Which of the books read so far has interested you least?" A whistle of joy went up from the group. But it stopped as suddenly as it started when Weaver wrote the second question: "To what defect in yourself do you attribute this lack of interest?"

There is something to be said for this point of view. If the "greats" of our tradition fail to set us on fire, the fault should be sought first in ourselves and only lastly in them.

Class Elections Result In Two Run-Offs

In the first election in recent Rollins history to result in two run-off ballots, officers for all four classes were chosen during the past week.

The first voting on Wednesday, Oct. 22, decided only two of the 15 races for class offices. At that time Pete Kimball was elected senior class vice-president by a vote of 42 to 28 over Gary Gabbard, and Ron Terpak edged past Larry Lavalie to become senior class treasurer by a vote of 36 to 34.

Running unopposed for junior class treasurer, Bunky Davis was automatically elected.

Ten more class offices were filled at the first run-off election last Friday.

In the senior class, Anne Benedict received 56 votes to become secretary. Her opponent, Jack Ruggles, received 22 votes. Eight more seniors voted in the run-off than did in the original elections.

All three remaining junior class offices were decided in the Friday run-off. The same number of juniors voted on Friday as did on Wednesday.

Jim Lyden defeated Dale Ingmanon 41 to 24 to become class president.

In a very close contest for the vice-presidency, Jody Boulware received 33 votes, while her opponent, Dale Montgomery received 31. Sally Reed won the office of secretary with 42 votes to Lloyd Hoskins' 23.

One hundred three sophomores turned up at the polls last Friday to elect Tony Toledo, president; Luis Dominguez, vice-president; and Becky Hazard, secretary.

Toledo polled 64 votes to defeat Bruce Aufhammer, who received 39. Dominguez defeated Ron Brown by a vote of 69 to 33; Becky defeated Kathy Mann 61 to 40.

With 35 fewer freshmen voting than did in the original election, three class offices were decided at the first run-off.

Roland LaMontagne polled 84 votes to Cynthia Ramsey's 52 to become vice-president of his class. Linda Qualls defeated Charlotte Townsend 81 to 58 to become secretary; Billie Wickman defeated Bonnie Baumbach 81 to 57 to become treasurer.

The presidents of the senior and freshman classes and the treasurer of the sophomore class were elected at a second run-off, held last Tuesday, Oct. 28.

Only 263 students turned up at the polls for this run-off to elect Dottie Englehardt, senior class president; Ginny Willis, sophomore treasurer, and Jack Sutliff, freshman president.

In three close elections, Dottie defeated Boyd Coffie with a vote of 38 to 34; Willis defeated Lis Jacobs, 38 to 27; and Sutliff defeated Bronhard, 66 to 60.

'Doll's House' Tryouts To Be Held In FST

Director Arthur Wagner has announced tryout times for student parts in Henrik Ibsen's A Doll's House, which will run in the Annie Russell Theatre Dec. 2 through 6.

Students may try out for the parts of Mrs. Linden and Krogstad in the Fred Stone Theatre from 4 to 6 o'clock next Monday after noon or from 4:30 to 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Students interested in "standing in" for Nora may also try out at the above times.

Mrs. Johanson Likes Role As Hostess To Rollins Students In New Beanery

By NANCY NYSTROM
Sandspur Staff

All this talk about the Beanery! But let's not forget a welcome addition to the Rolly Colly staff:

Blonde, tall (five feet, 11½ inches, to be exact), and 49 years of age. She has a smile for everyone and a desire to know the students of Rollins.

Yes, it is — Dining Hall hostess, Mrs. Johanson.

Cleveland to Orlando

Mrs. Johanson was born in Cleveland, Ohio, in the same house where her mother first saw the light of the world. When she grew up and first tackled the working world, it was as a stock girl in a department store.

Later she became a retail saleslady of negligee at Halle Brothers in Cleveland. After six years of negligee, Mrs. Johanson moved on to selling dresses for another six years at the Higbee Company, also in Cleveland.

When she first came to Orlando, Mrs. Johanson's persuasive abilities were continued — channeled into the sale of real estate.

Now Mrs. Johanson and her 19 year old daughter live in Orlando with their seven year old "animal." The animal, says Mrs. Johanson, is a Lergnom — "mongrel spelled backwards!"

Time for a Change

It's time for a change, thinks Mrs. Johanson. And here are some she has in mind:

First and foremost, she advocates romantic dinner music to serenade the Beanery diners from 5:45 to 6:30 every evening.

Secondly, hall trees are on order for hanging up coats during those chilly Florida days.

Thirdly, she is waiting for Mr. Cartwright to make her a key so that she can store lost and found articles in the closet near the back door exit from the Beanery.

Well-behaved Students

When asked her opinion on the students of Rollins, Mrs. Johanson praised, "They are very well behaved; although I know none of their backgrounds, I treat them all the same."

Going on, "I love working here and I missed and worried about the kids while I was in the hospital."

Mrs. Johanson says she "puts up with" both the good and bad.

Along the complaint line, she asks, "Look at the gnats in the food! Why don't we have screens on the doors?"

But here's compensation: After pouring a male student a second cup of coffee, Mrs. Johanson received this polite thanks: "This is better than home."

Duties of a Hostess

"I try to make the students feel comfortable and happy," explains Mrs. Johanson.

"One night a girl was handcuffed in the Beanery. I had to find the criminal who had trapped the innocent girl!" (For those readers who haven't heard the story, the guilty party and key were found.)

Another night, Mrs. Johanson relates, some boys were playing cards when she casually walked by and removed the kitty. This depreciated the card game so that the card sharks were unable to continue the pinochle game. The potential trouble-makers got their cards back when they departed from the Beanery.

Romantic Hearted

Says this personable gal, "I'm romantic at heart." Her favorite songs bear this statement out. They include: "Tenderly," "Stardust," and "Someone to Watch Over Me."

But she says she loves to jitterbug, too. "I had a good time at the KA open house jitterbugging with Mike Herwig."

Says Mrs. Johanson, "I'd like to go to some of the doings around campus, but only by invitation." But she's sorry that she was never given an orientation campus tour . . .

And in return for student hospitality — past and, we hope, future — Mrs. Johanson wants to tell anyone who would like a ride in to Orlando at 7 o'clock any night to just let her know.

Nice, don't you think?

MRS. JOHANSON plays hostess in the new Beanery, stopping occasionally in her coffee-pouring duties to chat with students. Here she is assured by Dale Montgomery that last Sunday's noon meal was edible.

Therapy Specialist To Visit Campus

Lt. Betty Estrada, Army Medical Specialist Corps counselor, will be on the campus Wednesday, Nov. 5, to speak to Rollins women about the professions of physical therapy and occupational therapy.

"There are serious shortages in these two fields," Emily Merrill, head of the Rollins Placement Bureau, explains. "There is a real opportunity for the trained worker."

Women interested in the allied medical fields are invited to attend the meeting with Lt. Estrada at 4:15 p.m. in Room 9 of Carnegie Hall.

Heads Of Fiesta Committees Announced By Co-Chairmen Of 1959 Celebration

Fiesta co-chairmen Toni Perzia and Lloyd Hoskins have announced the names of the committee chairmen who will work with them in organizing and planning Rollins' "big weekend" for 1959.

The chairmen were selected from among those students who signed up at an organizational meeting last Thursday, Oct. 23.

Aufhammer

Burt

In keeping with their plans to bring back the traditional floats and parade, the co-chairmen appointed Bruce Aufhammer to head the float decoration committee.

Last year, the floats were replaced with house decorations. The Fiesta heads feel that the float decoration competition among the social groups contributed more to Fiesta spirit than did house decorations.

Stan Moress has been chosen to head the committee which will work on the parade itself.

Moress

Hall

Named to help Toni and Lloyd on the administrative end of Fiesta are Ron Terpak, business manager, and Beth Halperin, secretary. Beth served on the Fiesta committee last year in the capacity of co-chairman of the booklet committee.

Heading the major money-making part of Fiesta will be Jim Hall, carnival chairman. He will be in charge of setting up and running the midway.

The major social event of the weekend will be handled by Sid Burt, chairman of the Fiesta dance. An experienced Fiesta worker, Sid served as dance decorations committee chairman last year.

Selected to handle dance decorations this year was Susie Lewis.

Serving as fashion show committee chairman for her second consecutive year, Mary Whitman will handle the details of this Fiesta project. Using models from each of the women's social groups, the show was held in the Annie Russell Theatre last year.

Mary Mudd and John Looby have been named to head both the Miss Rollins contest and the Fiesta King and Queen contest. Mary served as co-chairman of the King and Queen contest last year.

Held last year for the first time, the Miss Rollins contest is a beauty competition, while the Fiesta King and Queen are chosen on the basis of penny-in-box voting.

Kathie Rhoads will be in charge of the raffle, and Helen Carrell and Emilio Lebolo will serve as co-chairmen of field day.

Both the raffle and field day were also innovations of last year's Fiesta. The field day consisted of various athletic contests in which all social groups could participate.

Teel Oliver, Irene Lee, and Cherry King will handle the various aspects of the publicity campaign. Teel, who headed the publicity committee last year, and Irene will serve as co-chairmen of the publicity committee, and Cherry will head the poster committee.

Working on the booklet, which informs the student body about the various Fiesta activities, as well as picturing the Miss Rollins and King and Queen contest candidates, will be Barbie Works and Julie Van Pelt.

Barbie will be in charge of the booklet layout, and Julie will handle the advertising.

Students interested in working on the various committees should contact either the committee chairmen or the Fiesta co-chairmen.

Family Assisted By Service Club

Community Service Club has adopted as its first project of the year the buying of school shoes for an Orlando family of nine children.

A committee consisting of Irene Lee, Pam Rial, Sue Murray, Sue Barclay, Diane Peters, and Sally Hills will take the children to the store to be fitted.

Community Service Club, sponsored by Chapel Staff, not only investigates organizations and individuals in need of financial or material aid, but also tries to offer personal service whenever possible.

Services of the club include a wide range of projects. Members make toys for children in white and colored day nurseries. The club is also giving piano lessons to a foster child who could not otherwise afford to further her musical ability.

"We believe that by helping our community and becoming aware of its needs, we can learn to be better citizens in our own and future communities," states Sue Barclay, president.

Approximately 40 people attended the club's first meeting last week, "but we hope to have many more at our next one," Sue points out. The next meeting will be held at 7:00, Nov. 18, in the Chapel Conference Room, and the club will meet on the third Tuesday of every month thereafter.

Other officers are Sue Murray, vice-president; Linda Wolowitz, secretary; Pam Rial, treasurer; and Sally Hills, publicity and movie chairman. Miss Cynthia Eastwood, an experienced Orange County social worker, serves as advisor for the club.

More College Support Asked
For Soccer, Hoopster Teams

By BOB STEWART
Sandspur Sports Editor

This afternoon the soccer team will display its talent to the Rollins student body for the first time this year. The game against Florida Southern College will be played in the Sandspur Bowl at 2:30. I hope that the students will support the Tars this year, for the team certainly deserves some kind of backing.

Last week the Tar booters lost a heartbreaker at Jacksonville, and the game against Florida Southern will have a great bearing as to who will win this year's FIC title. Southern looked especially sharp last week as they had little trouble in defeating Stetson, 5-1.

Speaking about support, I hope that the college will back the Tar hoopsters when they open their season. This year Rollins will be facing a major task when they take the court in their first game. That is, they'll be playing without their star, Chick Bezemer.

In the past Rollins has been able to hold its own only because of Bezemer, and now he is gone. This year's basketball squad will be sorely missing the jumping ability of Bezemer, and almost every team which Rollins will play will have the advantage of height.

Height now dominates modern basketball, and every team has recognized this with the possible exception of Rollins. The University of Miami has a seven-foot center and several other players over 6'4"; Stetson University added five players to their team this year who are all over 6'4". Their center this year will be six foot eight inches, and two other players will be only two inches smaller.

Playing a schedule like Rollins has this year can become sheer suicide, especially if Rollins cannot match their opponent's height. Who is to blame for the lack of height on our basketball team? Don't you think that Dan Nyimicz would like some tall boys to work with? I doubt that you can blame the coach for this situation.

What about the administration office? I have heard that the college doesn't like big boys on the campus because of the difficulty of social adjustment. I swear that is what I heard. However, that does seem a little far fetched, doesn't it?

14 Hoopsters Report For Drills

For the past two weeks 14 men have been practicing for the on-coming basketball season. The Tar hoopsters open the 1958-59 season at Lakeland, Fla., when they play Florida Southern on Dec. 1 in the Citrus Invitational.

Women's Basketball Enters Third Week

By LLOYD HOSKINS
Sandspur Sports Staff

The women's intramural basketball schedule is about to enter its third week of games, and all the groups seem to be fairly strong. Although it is unusual, no team is running away with the league this year.

The best game which was played in "wreck" hall last week was between Theta and Chi Omega. These two teams have looked exceptional in their early games; and when they met, Theta won a very close game, 39-35.

Tied for individual honors in this game were Gayle Jordan and Rainy Abbott, both of whom scored 19 points. It looks as if the Theta's may have some trouble keeping the basketball trophy this year.

The Rollins basketball team will play a 24 game schedule this year and will be playing such teams as the U. of Florida, Memphis State, Kentucky Wesleyan, and the U. of Toronto.

This year's team will be led by co-captains Boyd Coffie and Garry Gabbard. Returning lettermen besides the co-captains are Bob Schuder, Jack Ruggles, Dick Bishop and Lee Martindale. Also returning will be Claude Crook, Jerry Beets, and Bob Griffith.

Freshmen who have reported for early drills are Ralph Tanchuk, Pete Pawlack, Mike Bailey, and Otis Delaney. Also reporting for basketball this year is Jay Dolan.

Of the newcomers on the Rollins team, both Pawlack and Tanchuk are over 6'4", but both are freshmen and cannot be counted on to carry the load which the big man in basketball must do.

This year's squad will be smaller than any of their opponents', and for this reason coach Dan Nyimicz has been emphasizing running in early drills. Coach Nyimicz will have to try to replace height with speed.

Booters Loose To Jacksonville; Play Florida Southern Today

By DOUG MARQUIS
Sandspur Sports Writer

The Rollins College booters suffered their first loss of the early season last Saturday at Jacksonville when Jacksonville University defeated the Tars, 2-1.

Rollins was handicapped through the entire game by the loss of two of their top players, Desi Csonger and Tibor Manyhart. Desi Csonger didn't play in the game at all because of a leg injury, and Manyhart was knocked out during the game. Also absent from the game was Emilio Lebolo.

The play was completely dominated by Rollins during the first quarter, and the Tars scored in the last two minutes of the first quarter. Rollins scored when Enrique Huber made good a free kick resulting from illegal use of the hands by a player for Jacksonville U.

Throughout the first quarter the Jacksonville goalie was kept busy by Manyhart and Captain Denny Learned. The goalie, Bill Curtis, played an outstanding game as he was kept busy throughout the entire game by the Rollins booters.

In the second quarter Jacksonville scored both of their goals as the Rollins defense began to slacken. Jacksonville scored its first goal on an out-of-bounds kick when Harold Coffin passed the ball in to Koloway who scored.

The final score of the game came in the closing minutes of the second quarter when the Jacksonville fullback passed up field to Bob Poppell, the captain of Jacksonville, who scored the deciding goal.

After the half, a determined Rollins team took the field and played possession ball through the third quarter. Denny Learned had numerous shots at the Jacksonville goal, but two of his shots were deflected by Curtis and two more bounced off the goal posts.

In the third quarter, Rollins actually tied the game with their second goal, but Jacksonville disputed the goal because of illegal use of the hands and the referee upheld the plea by the Jacksonville players. Rollins was given a free kick.

Enrique Huber attempted his second free kick of the afternoon. Hubers shot was the hardest shot of the afternoon, but an inspired stop by Curtis prevented the Tars from scoring their second goal of the afternoon.

The fourth quarter saw both teams fight on even terms, and the Jacksonville defense prevented Rollins from moving the ball past mid-field. The play throughout the game was very rough, even for soccer. Anun Pora and Bill Tone both played exceptional games for the Tars, along with the entire squad.

Today Rollins plays host to Florida Southern who last week defeated Stetson, 5-1. This game should prove to be a real thriller, for both teams have great scoring ability. The game will be played at the Sandspur Bowl at 2:30.

Sigma Nu, X Club Clash On Monday

Last week's games in the intramural football league did much to build expectation and anticipation of the clash between Sigma Nu, the defending champs, and X Club. This meeting, which will take place on Monday, should prove to be the deciding factor as to who will win the title for the first half of play.

In last week's games, the Delts broke into the win circle as they defeated Kappa Alpha, 19-0. The score was tied at half time, but the delts came storming back to score three TD's in the second half of the game. The Delta Chi defense proved to be very tough in the second half as rough Jeff Miller kept giving the KA backs fits.

In an important battle played the next day, Sigma Nu defeated Lambda Chi, 35-0. This game proved to be a rugged battle, and it was soon obvious that the heavier Snake line was a bit too much for Lambda Chi. The outcome was never challenged as Sigma Nu scored early in the game and never let up the rest of the way.

In the only other game played last week, the X Club completely outclassed Delta Chi. For the second straight day the game was never in question. As soon as the Club got the ball they scored, and they continued to do so throughout the remainder of the game.

Other games next week are Lambda Chi vs Kappa Alpha and Delta Chi against the Independents.

IM Golf Play Begins Nov. 10

On Nov. 10 the intramural golf tournament will begin. Each social group will have their line-up submitted to Clarence Varner by Nov. 4.

Varner will be in charge of the entire program this year, and he is very anxious to begin this match play. Each entering team must have four players who will in turn play match play in twosomes.

With the exception of the varsity golfers, everyone will be eligible to participate in this tournament. The varsity golfers are: Dick Diversi, Bob Ross, Jim Curti, Jay Dolan, Bob Craig, and Ronnie Terpak.

Mr. Varner is hoping that interest in this year's intramural golf schedule will be much better than it has been in past years. This year Nassau play will govern play in golf.
