Fox Pays Surprise Visit Today

Sheriff, Posse, Band To Appear In Fiesta Parade

Led by Sheriff Dave Starr and the Orange County posse, the quarter-mile long Fiesta parade will open the three-day celebration of "Wild West Days," at 12:30 Thursday, April 2.

Bands, 14 floats and close to 150 mounted horsemen will be featured in the parade, which will go through Winter Park only.

Groups riding in the parade will include the Orange County Riding Club, the Dusty Boots Saddle Club, the Eustis Rough Riders, the Silver Spurs Riding Club from Kissimmee, and the Volusia County Cattlemen's Association, as well as 17 Rollins students.

Sixteen-year-old Sandra McKinny, one of the best trick and fancy riders in the South, will be another highlight of the parade.

Pres. and Mrs. McKean, who will ride in a chuck wagon drawn by a pair of mules, are sponsoring trophies to be given for the best group performance in the parade and for the best individual male and female riders.

The Fiesta King and Queen candidates will be dressed in Western clothes. Also featured in the parade will be a group of square dancers and a band, which will perform on a trailer.

This year, for the first time, all classes will be called off from B period Thursday until Monday morning.

"The faculty has been most cooperative in this matter," Fiesta co-chairman Toni Periza points out. "This is being done on a trial basis and we hope that everyone will stay on campus and participate. If not, it will not be repeated."

The Fiesta committee has asked that students dress in Western clothes, particularly on the Midway, which will represent a Western town.

Informal Dance Held At Dubs Tomorrow

Student Council will sponsor an informal dance at Dubsdread Country Club tomorrow night, March 14, from 9-12. Proper dress will consist of bermudas and other informal attire. Music will be supplied by the Lovetones.

Because the Student Council social committee is operating on a low budget, there is no special theme planned for this dance. Decorations will consist primarily of travel posters, palm fronds, and drawings.

This is the third in a series of Student Council dances this term designed to add to the social life of Rollins. The first was a semi-formal, the second formal, and this one informal. The social committee will be in charge of two more dances during spring term.

The Rollins chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa, national leadership honorary, requests that all junior and senior men bring their activity cards in the Student Deans' office up to date.

PRES. McKEAN welcomes Rollins honored guest, the Fox, to the campus. The Fox arrived at the college at 6:00 this morning to spend the day. A treasure hunt, a square dance, and other activities have been planned in celebration of his visit.

Classes Called Off In Visitor's Honor

After an absence of more than a year, Rollins' favorite visitor, the Fox, arrived on campus bright and early this morning and took up his traditional position in front of the library.

In honor of his visit, classes have been called off and various activities for the Rollins Family have been scheduled.

Pres. Hugh McKean was at the Beanery for breakfast this morning to make the announcement of Fox Day official. At the same time he explained some of today's activities to the students.

First on the agenda is a treasure hunt. A dozen small treasures have been hidden on campus, and McKean has supplied the students with clues as to their whereabouts.

At a square dance tonight in the Center Patio, the students who find the treasures will draw for a $100 credit at a travel agency. The credit may take the winner to New York, Miami, or wherever he wants to go for spring vacation, the president explains.

In addition to the treasure hunt and tonight's square dance, there will be a navy "oil-drum" band from Tampa in the Beanery at lunch-time for a jam session.

Other activities, such as a candle-light vesper service or lake-front activities, will be added to today's agenda if the students want them.

The Fox spent a day on campus last winter giving the students who were worn out from the flu epidemic and the cold weather, a much needed rest.

The last time his visit brought with it a day of fun for the college was in the spring of 1957. At that time many students ignored their guest and left the campus; the Fox threatened not to return.

Whether or not the Fox will continue to surprise the campus with his visits in the future will depend upon how he is treated today, friends of the Fox report.

Sunrise Service Vespers Planned For Holy Week

Rollins Holy Week activities, which will begin immediately following spring vacation, will include six services.

The Chapel Garden will be the site of vesper services on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 24 and 25, at 6:45. Dottie Englehardt, Chapel Staff president, and Garry Goldfarb will be the speakers.

On Thursday evening, March 26, Dean Darrah will officiate at the traditional communion service. This service will take place in the Frances Chapel at 7:00.

A Good Friday service for the college will be held in Knowles Memorial Chapel at 12 noon on March 27.

Both a sunrise and the regular 9:45 Sunday morning services will mark Easter Sunday, March 29. Sociology professor Dr. Dudley DeGroot will speak at the sunrise service down at the lakefront. Following this, Chi Omega sorority will invite the early-risers to a breakfast at Corrin Hall.

The regular Sunday morning service in Knowles Memorial Chapel will bring to a close the campus observance of Easter.

Council Argues Float Cost, Hears Publication Reports

The cost of materials for Fiesta floats was the main topic discussed at the Student Council meeting Monday night.

Council recommended that the face value of the floats not exceed $100 in total expenses. The suggestion was referred to the Fiesta committee for a final decision.

In debating the issue, Pres. Len Wood pointed out that Council had previously voted in favor of $75 for float decorations, cutting the Fiesta committee's original recommendation of $150 in half.

However, Les Sladkus said that this amount had not included any donations that a group might receive.

Bruce Aufhammer asked, "How is the Fiesta committee going to check everything that goes into the float?"

Wood explained that if a group's float was much over the set cost, this fact would be recognized. "If a float's cost is challenged, the group must be prepared to show a record of its expenses," he added.

In other business of the night, the four publications turned in records of their expenditures as compiled so far this year. The reports were given in accordance with Council's request of Feb. 23 and ended a two week debate over the publications' finances.

The R-Book has spent none of its allotted $550 as yet. Jean Rigg, Publications Union chairman, mentioned that the administration is considering paying part of the printing cost.

Sally Reed, Flamingo editor, stated that the literary magazine spent $435.05 for the fall issue.

Flamingo is allowed $450 each term.

The Tomokan report was incomplete because none of the large bills have been received. Over $7,100 of the $9,200 allocation remains.

Tom Dolan explained that the Sandspur had $3,513.05 left to cover the final ten issues. Expenses thus far have been $4,313.61, which was taken from the $6,500 allocation and the $1,326.66 income from ads and subscriptions.

Continuing last week's discussion of college rules concerning dress in the Beanery, Bruce McEwan requested that bermudas be allowed until 6:00.

Wood reported that he had checked into Blue Book regulations about Beanery dress. He verified that students participating in intramurals were allowed to come to supper in shorts only if the game ended after 6:00.

However, he added that in a Blue Book printed when supper hour began at 5:30, the Beanery regulation stated that shorts could not be worn after 6:00.

Several representatives and guests pointed out that the rule should have been changed to read the earlier hour and that the student deans' office has sent out memos to this effect.

Oslo Scholarship Winners

SURPRISED Oslo Summer Scholarship winners Danny Laurent and Walter Cain received letters notifying them of their awards Tuesday morning. Laurent, a Sigma Nu, is coxswain of the varsity crew and president of the French Club. An Independent, Cain is a member of the Chapel Choir and of Zeta Alpha Epsilon. Both junior men belong to Phi Society, national scholastic honorary. The two, who were chosen by the faculty honors committee, will sail for Norway aboard the S.S. Oslofjord on June 26 and will spend the summer studying Norwegian life and culture at the University of Oslo.

After Chapel Play Accused Of Wobbling, Characters Termed Apathetic

By JUDY CARL
Sandspur Staff

Dr. Irvin Stock, professor of English, stimulated a thoughtful discussion of Anton Chekov's play The Three Sisters over coffee at last Sunday's After Chapel session.

Discussion first dealt with the disappointments and weaknesses of the play. Some felt that Chekov could have said the same things in a shorter time, making it less boring.

Jean Rigg commented that the piece "lacks the rules of play-writing" in that it asks questions and doesn't answer them. Others pointed out the lack of climax and the numerous subplots.

It "wobbles around" like a "baseball game with no umpire," concluded Dean Theodore S. Darrah.

"By what means does Chekhov hope to interest us?" Dr. Stock then queried.

"He shows you life as it really is," responded Shoreen Tewes. "He raises questions in your mind but doesn't try to answer them; he doesn't preach!"

Bob White suggested that Chekov's success lies in creating a mood. Matt Carr maintained that the character development was "true to life; there was no 'star.'"

Dr. Stock stated his belief that "this is a play you couldn't take a line away from. He gets somewhere with every line . . . Chekhov does what every playwright has to do. But his method deviates from the standard in that his plot is a development of character," he explained.

"What is the play's unifying element?" was Stock's final question.

White offered "disillusionment" and Shoreen, the "futile search for happiness."

Dean Dyckman Vermilye's theory was that the characters were all apathetic with no drive, incapable of really doing something.

In conclusion, Stock stated, "the disease from which these people suffer is lack of will." The universal element of interest is the question, "What is life worth when you can't act?"

Campus Life Needs Positive Approach

"The thing that has surprised me most about Rollins," Dr. Robert Pettengill stated at the Wednesday night Pi Gamma Mu forum, "is that I fail to find in the Rollins students a deep pride in being Rollins students."

Finishing up his contribution to the panel discussion, which branched out from its original topic of "the role of the student in the life and government of Rollins College" to include an evaluation of the college, the student body, and Student Council, Pettengill commented, "Sometimes I think what Rollins needs is Dale Carnegie."

Explaining that he felt that the college should build up its self-confidence, the economics professor concluded that Rollins has many things to be proud of and that it can develop many more.

"I'm quite concerned about students not being able to express themselves in a positive way," Dean of Women Helen Watson commented, pointing out that Rollins students have more right to say what they think than do students at many other schools, but that they use this right in a negative way.

Both panel members and members of the audience expressed the opinion that Student Council could do much more than it now does if it approached matters in a positive way, tried to take substantive measures, and took more interest in the academic aspects of college life.

Lewis brought the two-hour-long forum to a close by returning to the subject of pride. Talking about people who refer to Rollins as "a water-ski school," he explained, "I'm downright nasty with them." The reply someone who persists in insulting the college gets from Lewis is, "Do you want a fat lip or something?" he laughed.

Soprano Sharon Voss Lorenzen To Present Senior Recital

Sharon Voss Lorenzen will present her senior recital in voice at Martin Hall, Sunday, March 15, at 4:00 p.m.

A student of Prof. Ross Rosazza, Mrs. Lorenzen has appeared in numerous musical activities at Rollins. A member of the Chapel Choir and the Rollins Singers, she has sung roles in several ART productions, among them "The Golden Apple," "Trouble in Tahiti," and last year's production of Menotti's "The Medium."

She also appeared in the freshman and the Independent Women's shows.

For her outstanding musical activities, Mrs. Lorenzen was chosen as a member of Phi Beta, national music and speech honorary.

Besides her work in music, Mrs. Lorenzen has participated in other organizations and activities. A member of Gamma Phi Beta she has been both treasurer and vice-president of her sorority. She is a member of German Club and has appeared on the Honor Roll.

Last term she was tapped for Libra, the Rollins honorary for women based on leadership and outstanding service in activities.

Mrs. Lorenzen's recital program will include songs from all periods of music and will close with three songs by contemporary composers.

Community Service To Repair Furniture

As one of its latest projects, the Community Service Club is planning to furnish the children's waiting room of the new welfare building in Orlando.

Members of the service club are collecting children's furniture from residents of Winter Park and then will paint and repair the furniture before giving it to the welfare agency.

Other projects which the group is planning include giving money and supplies to Lake Mann Nursery, a colored day nursery, and holding a party in the spring for orphans.

The Pelican will be open during the spring holidays. Students wishing to spend all or part of their vacation there should leave their names in the student deans' office.

Publications Union Approve Candidates

In spite of the extension of time for applications for publications positions, candidates for five of the seven publications offices will be running unopposed in the April 8 elections. Only nine candidates were approved last Tuesday by the Publications Union.

Jody Bilbo and John Hickey are vying for the position of Flamingo editor. Jody, sophomore Independent, is a member of the editorial board of the literary magazine this year. An English major, she appeared in a Fred Stone production last year and participated in the Freshman show.

Hickey, junior Lambda Chi, is also an English major. He has been a Flamingo contributor and has had a short story published.

The only other office for which there is a contest is that of editor of the R-Book. Candidates for this position must have worked for one year on a publication.

Maggie Carrington, Chi O, has worked this year on the R-Book and has been copy editor of the Sandspur. A sophomore, Maggie is active in the theatre and a member of Rollins Players.

The other candidate for R-Book editor is junior Robert Todd, Delta Chi, a member of the Tomokan staff. He is also on the Rollins crew and a member of "R" Club.

The editorships of the remaining two publications, the Tomokan and the Sandspur are uncontested. Lloyd Hoskins will take over as Tomokan editor, and Phyllis Zatlin will become editor of the Sandspur.

Lloyd, a junior Kappa, is a member of the yearbook staff. Secretary of Panhellenic Council, she is also serving this year as co-chairman of Fiesta.

Astronomer To Speak On Campus Tomorrow

A noted astronomer, Dr. Alexander N. Vyssotsky, will speak to the Sigma Xi Club tomorrow.

A past teacher of astronomy and author of many books and articles on the subject, Dr. Vyssotsky has recently come to Winter Park from the University of North Carolina with his wife, who is also a well-known astronomer.

After an informal luncheon for members only in the Student Center, the Sigma Xi Club will adjourn to Dyer Hall at 1:00 for a business meeting and Dr. Vyssotsky's talk. Club members would like to encourage students to attend the discussions.

Phyllis, a junior, has worked on the Sandspur in the capacities of reporter, proofreader, and associate news editor. Independent Women's Student Council representative, she is a member of Key Society, Phi Society, and Chapel Staff.

The position of Tomokan business manager will be filled by junior Alan Coleman, Delta Chi. Alan, a member of Chapel Choir, has been sports editor of the Tomokan for two years.

Accounting student John Henriksen, sophomore Sigma Nu, is running for the position of Sandspur business manager.

Only candidate for advertising commissioner of the Sandspur is sophomore William Kintzing, also a Sigma Nu.

Famous Thespian Fred Stone Dies

Fred Stone, 85, well-known actor for whom Rollins' Fred Stone Theater is named, died last week at the North Hollywood, Calif., home of his daughter, Carol Stone.

On an invitation from Pres. Hamilton Holt, Stone appeared here in an ART production of Lightnin' with a faculty, student, and townspeople cast, playing the role he had made famous on Broadway. This play sold more tickets than any other production in ART history, running six performances with the SRO sign out at each.

Later the proceeds from this and from a two week tour of the state by the Lightnin' cast were used to build the Fred Stone Theater.

Stone also appeared in two other plays at Rollins, You Can't Take It With You and Mark Twain.

Fiesta Royalty Candidates Announced; Voting To Be By Machine In Center

As the plans for Fiesta are nearing completion, the social groups on campus have announced their candidates for the annual King and Queen Contest.

As in previous years, the results will be announced at the formal Fiesta Dance, Sat., April 4, at 9 p.m. at the Bahia Temple in Orlando. This year's dance will feature the music of Buddy Morrow and his orchestra.

The method of selecting the king and queen has been changed this year. Instead of the usual penny voting, regular voting machines will be placed in the Center Wednesday and Thursday, April 1 and 2, when students will select the winners.

In the queen's contest Chari Probasco, sophomore Kappa and member of the Sandspur staff, will represent the Delta Chi's. The KA's have chosen Cherry King, junior Pi Phi who was this year's Queen of Hearts, as their candidate, while the Independent Men have selected Dottie Englehardt, Pi Phi and president of the senior class.

Lambda Chi has chosen Sid Burt, junior independent, and Sigma Nu has named Pam Rial, senior Phi Mu who has written for the Tomokan, as their candidates.

Completing the entries for queen are Claudia Melton, freshman Independent and member of the Chapel Choir, representing the TKE's, and Patti Boyd, a freshman Chi Omega pledge, the X Club.

On the male side of the contest, Chuck Berger, junior KA, will represent the Alpha Phi's, as will Ted Murray, sophomore X Clubber, the Chi Omega's.

Larry Hitner, senior Delta Chi who is editor of the Tomokan, has been chosen by the Gamma Phi's, and Bob Fleming, sophomore Sigma Nu and member of the Chapel

Choir, by the Independent Women.

Chuck Mattraw, freshman Sigma Nu pledge and manager of the crew team, will represent Kappa Kappa Gamma; Moe Cody, senior Sigma Nu who is a member of ODK, Phi Mu; and Bruce Aufhammer, sophomore Sigma Nu representative to Student Council, the Pi Phi's.

This is the last issue of the Sandspur for winter term. Because of spring vacation, the next edition of the paper will not come out until April 3.

The Chapel Tower

By T. S. Darrah

Calvin Coolidge was known as a good boy. One day during the lunch hour at the country school he attended, the boys "sodded" the chimney and so wrecked the stove. When the teacher returned to school from her lunch hour, she began to question the boys and began with young Calvin. "Did you do it?" she asked. "No Ma'am," he replied. "Did you see it done?" "Yes Ma'am," replied young Coolidge. "Did you know what the boys were doing?" "Yes Ma'am." "Well why didn't you stop them," shouted the teacher at Coolidge. His only reply was "Taint my stove."

The moral is obvious and applies to our life at Rollins. The plant, the facilities, and the reputation of Rollins belong to all and to each.

Editorial

OUR GOAL: IMPROVEMENT

For the past four years, The Rollins Sandspur has continuously earned an all-American rating, the highest rating that a college paper can receive. But the problem facing a candidate for the editorship of the 'Spur is, not only to maintain the standard that the paper has achieved in recent years, but to improve upon it. A paper that is not continually improving does not remain at a status quo — it soon slips backward.

A college newspaper has various functions. It should, of course, inform the student body of college happenings through objective and thorough news coverage. It should serve as an organ of student opinion; and, as a major means of campus communication, it should serve as a link between students and administration. Through its feature department, it should provide reading that is interesting and entertaining. Whenever possible, it should also devote some space to national problems of student interest. Above all, it should concern itself with seeking out the truth, and then apply mature judgment in deciding how the truth should best be used.

One of the projects that the Sandspur should undertake is to better fulfill its purpose as a link between students and administration. Clarifying administrative policies which the student body does not completely understand and publicizing changes of policy which affect the students are obvious steps in this campaign.

Improved writing, more careful proof-reading, and a more proportionate coverage of the various phases of campus activities are goals which any college newspaper staff should keep in mind.

The most important element necessary for producing a successful newspaper is a hardworking and interested staff. Ideally this staff should consist of members from all the social groups and of students with different academic and extra-curricular interests. With such a diversified group of co-workers, the editor can better understand the trends of student thought on campus. Moreover, this staff should always be open to new talent and new ideas.

Along with the goal of constant improvement of the paper comes the necessity for changes and experimentation. The opinion of the student body concerning what changes it would like to see made should serve as a guide in helping the editorial board to make decisions. For this reason, today's issue of the paper includes a questionnaire asking for student comment on the Sandspur.

Perhaps an even more satisfying reward than an all-American rating that an editor could receive for his services would be the knowledge that he is editing a paper for which his staff enjoys working and which the college enjoys reading.

College Views

Blue Book, Fieldhouse, Council Problems Not Limited To Rollins

(ACP) — Have colleges become too paternal, too concerned over student welfare?

University of Michigan Daily editor Richard Taub tells of "paternalism" in academics. Some professors take attendance and give frequent quizzes to make sure everyone keeps up. He cites the elaborate counseling system, the close supervision of class schedules, of fraternities, sororities, and dorms. Parents of freshman girls get letters telling how their daughters are doing. Adjustment, personality and general behavior of residents is recorded.

"We submit that all of this should not be; that students come here because they wish a college education (or perhaps a spouse), and that they should be responsible for getting it; that the only way students are going to grow or mature is to learn how to go it alone; that if students flunk out because they fail to attend classes or read assignments it is their own fault; that if an upperclassman is not able to work out his own schedule satisfactorily he should not be here; that a student's personality is nobody's business but his as long as it does not inconvenience those with whom he lives . . ."

(ACP) — Students in many schools are fearing tuition increases. Letter-writers to University of Utah Daily Utah Chronicle caution fellow students about adding to "the growing uproar for a new fieldhouse . . . with a new fieldhouse we can expect a tuition raise" and "our legislators are talking of reducing the University share (of state funds) to less than half the requested amount. A fieldhouse will not be built on that kind of money."

(ACP) — Seeking to make student government "as effective as possible," Cornell University students are considering "a strong central student government, with the power of review over groups such as Interfraternity council, Cornell Panhellenic and women's student government association," reports Cornell Daily Sun.

The central group would have authority to delegate jurisdiction to student groups and review their decisions. For example, under the plan, a change in rushing rules would have to be approved by IFC and the central organization.

Student leaders questioned by the newspaper seemed generally favorable to the plan, feeling it would add strength to student government and prestige to the central group.

Sandspur Poll of Opinion

In an attempt to find out what improvements the student body would like to see incorporated in future issues of the paper, the Sandspur is running this questionnaire. Completed forms should be sent to the paper through the campus mail.

1. What areas of campus life do you feel do not receive sufficient coverage?
2. What areas do you feel receive too much coverage?
3. Do you feel that the format should be changed — number of pages, size, or layout?
4. What other changes would you like to see made?

Ah, spring is here! But instead of concerning ourselves about the weather, the flowers, and young love, we must direct our attention to the ubiquitous and loud chatter of feminine voices from their humble abodes. The subject: "Where will we live next year?"

Deb 'n Air would like to offer the following solutions to this serious problem:

- 1) Since the Alpha Phi's do not want to live off campus, we suggest that they move into Rec Hall. Then the college could have the old Alpha Phi house torn down and have a field-house built there.
- 2) All the freshman women should be moved into Elizabeth Hall.
- 3) All the Independent Women should be moved into the sorority houses.
- 4) This leaves us with the big problem of what to do with the sorority women we have kicked out of the sorority houses.
  - a) Since the members of each sorority want to live together and by themselves, we suggest that large tents be placed around the lake front near Rec Hall, where the Alpha Phi's will live.
  - b) The tents would be large enough to hold at least 30 women.
  - c) If, due to the proximity of the tents, quarrels ensue, one of the parties could buy a houseboat and live on the beautiful, blue, shining waters of dear ole Lake Virginia.
  - d) Money for the houseboats and tents could be obtained by tearing down the sorority houses not occupied by the Independents and selling the scrap iron, tin, Mediterranean tile, wood, and etc. to the junkman.
  - e) Of course this action might not bring in enough money, so we suggest that the fraternity houses also be torn down and the scraps sold.
  - f) This leaves us with the problem of where to house the men; but we can't solve every problem. After all, just how much can you ask of two columnists without at least paying them something?

Anderson Tells Of Interest In Radio, Admits Weakness For Science Fiction

By SALLY RAGSDALE
Sandspur Staff

"I like to tinker with things — find out how they work," says Dick Anderson. This scientific interest is not surprising in Dick, a physics major, who won the Sigma Xi award last year for the most outstanding junior science major.

Dick started young with his career in science. He had his ham radio operator's licence at 13, and while other boys on the block were playing baseball, Dick was playing with chemistry and photography.

John Richard Anderson was born in Youngstown, Ohio, in 1937. His parents brought him to Florida via Arizona because of a bronchial condition. He grew up, came to Rollins, and has a lot of nice things to say about the place (possibly because his status as day student exempts him from having to eat at the Beanery).

His praise of Rolly Colly is strictly from a scientific slant. Lit majors tremble to hear Dick proclaim: "If Rollins weren't such an all-out liberal arts college, it could be a very good scientific school, something like Cal Tech." He adds superfluously that a new science building is badly needed.

Asked about his campus activities, Dick replies, "Not too much, actually." But it has been revealed that he was Lambda Chi president and veep, is a member of the Rollins Scientific Society, German Club, ZAE, Key Society, Phi Society and ODK. He is on the dean's list, and won the Reeve Essay Contest last year. He has an achievement scholarship and works as a lab assistant.

For relaxation Dick reads (you guessed it!) science fiction. And he doesn't think it's corny or kid stuff. He maintains, half-seriously, that "most science-fiction writers have fertile imaginations. Watch out — they come up with some good ideas sometimes."

Currently he is working on an honors project in electronics, his favorite branch of physics. He is developing a twelve-week lab course in practical electronics ("how your radio works behind the switch") which is to be taught next year. Dick hopes it will be open not only to science majors, but to anyone interested.

Dick likes electronics in particular because he feels that applied physics is more his line than theoretical. "I'm more of a mechanic than a brain." His vacation jobs have helped him make a practical application of the things he learned in class and lab. He worked two summers for the Naval Lab for Underwater Sound.

PHYSICS MAJOR Dick Anderson helps Prof. John Ross check over equipment which Ross is using on his atomic research project.

Next year Dick wants to go to graduate school at the University of Florida on a teaching assistantship. After that he may continue teaching, or may go into industry here in Florida.

But first of all, he has some very definite plans. Dick and his pretty fiancée, Lois Hart, are going to be married here in Orlando March 22 (scooped G-2 this time). We're glad it's happening soon, since starry-eyed Dick has been mistaking closets for front doors.

Famous French Duo To Present Next Concert Series Program

One of the most celebrated duos of the present day, Jean-Pierre Rampal, flutist, and Robert Veyron-Lacroix, pianist, will appear at the Annie Russell Theatre March 24 at 8:30 p.m.

Prior to this year these two artists, long prominent figures in the musical world of Europe, were known in this country primarily through their numerous recorded performances. They began their first major tour of the United States early this year, their debut performance being at the Library of Congress in Washington.

Rampal has been called "the best flutist now to be heard." Such phrases as "immaculate soloist," "breath-taking virtuosity," and "magic" have been used to describe the man and his playing.

Veyron-Lacroix is known as one of the finest keyboard artists today. As a student at Paris's Conservatoire National de Musique, he was awarded an almost unprecedented number of the Conserva-toire's First Prizes in all areas of musical study.

When not on tour, Veyron-Lacroix is Professor of Harpsichord at the Schola Cantorum in Paris and is occupied by his research in old and unedited music.

For their Rollins appearance the duo will play sonatas by Handel, Bach, Hayden, Poulenc, and Prokofieff.

Cast Of 'Androcles' To Play In Daytona

Rollins Players will entertain members of the Daytona Tourist Club Tuesday, March 17, with George Bernard Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion," which was recently produced in the Annie Russell Theatre.

The Rollins Players have appeared before the Tourist Club for the past two years. Membership of the club totals 2500 and represents many areas of the country.

Prejudice, Race Problems Discussed

Even the liberal who claims to have no prejudices discriminates against others, Dr. Dudley DeGroot pointed out to the Human Relations Club last week. "All of us selectively discriminate in associations," the sociology professor stated, explaining that only the criteria for such discrimination differ.

In reference to the race problem the professor explained that genetically inherited characteristics may not be biologically important, but "because human beings think of them as significant, they are socially significant."

Some liberals expound psychological theories to explain prejudice. "If you're prejudiced, you're sick, sick, sick," DeGroot clarified this view.

Although it may be true that some prejudiced people are emotionally ill, it is dangerous to generalize, for then "everyone is sick, because everyone has prejudices," DeGroot stated.

In discussing the segregation controversy of the South, DeGroot suggested a method of testing the rationality of a man who doesn't want to "send his kids to school with dirty Negroes."

The professor commented that if the pro-segregationist is consistent in his desire to keep his children away from unclean, immoral influences, then he will agree that there should be three types of schools—one for "dirty Negroes," one for "dirty whites," and one for "clean whites."

The next step in the test is to suggest that as long as the basis of the discrimination is cleanliness, not color of skin, why not send clean Negroes to the same school with clean whites.

"Would you want your daughter to marry a nigger?" is the usual response, DeGroot concluded, "and the conversation is over."

Council Prexy Wood Wins Law Fellowship

Len Wood, president of Student Council, has received a full-tuition fellowship to the Law School of Duke University. Wood talked to the Dean of the Law School when he was visiting Rollins last term and then applied for the grant.

Wood, an X-Clubber, is a member of ODK and is active in many campus activities.

Time Out

Speed-Up Plan To Be Tested Throughout Baseball Week

By BOB STEWART
Sandspur Sports Editor

Rollins College baseball is again making national news, but this time it is not because of the baseball team at Rollins, but rather its coach and his ideas.

Coach Joe Justice last year introduced a speed-up plan for baseball, a plan that would cut down on the actual playing time of baseball by almost one hour.

Baseball is often referred to as the national pastime, but regardless of names, attendance at baseball games has suffered a sharp decline in recent years.

Many have blamed this drop at the gate on the length of the ball games. Justice also feels that the average length of modern baseball games is too long, and he has proposed a plan which will speed up the game and cut down on two and one-half hour contests.

Justice has come up with the following plan: (1) No pitcher warmups in a game. The pitcher can warm up while his team is batting. (2) No tossing the ball around the infield between outs. (3) A pitcher who gets on base always has a substitute runner. (4) On intentional walks the umpire is told and the batter automatically goes to first base.

(5) Also, if a catcher is on base with two outs, he is sent a runner so that he may prepare for the next inning. There are a few other rules, all with the same purpose — to speed up baseball.

Justice tried his plan in one game last year against Amherst, and the game was completed in less than two hours. This year Justice got the coaches of the visiting teams during baseball week to consent to play the speed-up way; if this week of college baseball is successful, there is no telling how far reaching the effects may be.

Justice has tried to use the rules before, but the common reply was negative because the other coaches thought that it would be to their disadvantage.

Justice was first introduced to the speed-up plan in 1937 when he was a freshman at Rollins. Frank Wright, publicity director at the Univ. of Florida at the time, persuaded both Rollins and Florida to try a modification of Justice's plan.

Both coaches accepted the idea, and the final result was a 14-7 victory for Rollins. This nine-inning game, marked by the Tars' seven-run first inning, took only one hour and 47 minutes to play.

Justice says that the games he enjoyed the most when he played baseball were the ones which were played without a drawn-out effect.

The National Assn. of Professional Baseball Clubs, parent organization of the minor leagues headed by George Trautman, has shown interest in Justice's speed-up plan.

I believe that Justice has good intentions, and with the right kind of support he might even begin the step in modernizing baseball as it is played today. However, if Justice's plan is to work, it is first going to have to be accepted by college baseball.

The fact that Justice was able to talk the coaches of N.Y.U., Ohio State University, and Wake Forest into playing under the conditions of speed-up baseball is a tremendous step. Perhaps the fate of Justice's plan will be decided when these three teams and Rollins meet during the week of March 23.

Coffie Named All-State

On Sunday it was announced that Boyd Coffie was selected to the 1959 all-state collegiate basketball team. Coffie's selection to the all-state team marked the fifth straight year in which Rollins has been represented on the 'dream team.'

When notified that he had been selected for the all-state team Coffie's remark was: "I don't believe it. I never thought that I could make it."

Coach Dan Nyimicz felt differently about Boyd's award. Nyimicz said, "Coffie is the best guard that has played for me at Rollins. He loves to play ball and that is the secret to success in college."

Others on the first team were Hugh Durham, Florida State, Dick Hickox of Miami, John McNamara of Florida Southern, and Gene Wells of Stetson.

Wells was a unanimous choice for the team. Bruce Hale, who guided Miami into big time basketball, was named coach of the year.

Girls' IM Tennis Now Underway

By BABS BERTASH
Sandspur Sports Writer

Tennis matches are rapidly progressing toward the finish and the competition is getting tougher.

In a doubles match, Phi Mu's Lynn Egry and Julie Smith were defeated by Theta's Rainy Abbot and Jane Feise 6-4, 6-2; however, in their next match, Rainy and Jane were defeated by Chi O's Owen McHaney and Nancy Haskell.

The results of the match, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5, prove that both teams were closely matched.

Kappa's Julie Van Pelt and Pat Ganson defeated Alpha Phi's Debbie Williams and Sally Ragsdale 6-2, 6-0, while Bonnie Stewart and Joan O'Brian, Indies, were victorious over Cherry King and Susie Lewis, Pi Phi's.

In singles matches Lynn Egry downed Nini Thompson 6-1, 6-0, but was defeated in her second match 6-0, 6-0 by Jane Feise. Jane also had a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Gamma Phi Nancy Grosshandler.

Pat Ganson had a 6-4, 6-1 victory over Bonnie Stewart, but then suffered a 6-0, 6-0 defeat at the hands of Owen McHaney.

Rainy Abbott had a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Sally Ragsdale, but then lost 6-0, 6-1 to Julie Van Pelt. Joan O'Brian had a 6-0, 6-0 victory over Debbie Williams.

In intramural softball, the Indies closed their undefeated season on Wednesday, March 4, after winning against the Kappa's 7-0. The Phi Mu versus Pi Phi game proved to be a 3-1 victory for the Phi Mu's.

The final standings of the teams will be published after the Gamma Phi-Chi O game is played.

Tar Oarsmen Prepare For LaSalle Race

By MOE CODY
Sandspur Sports Writer

Saturday, March 28, will mark the opening of the official crew schedule of the Rollins Tars. This first race of the season will be held on Lake Maitland, and the opponents of the Tars will be the rugged Dad Vail Regatta Champions of the 1958 season, LaSalle College of Philadelphia.

LaSalle has always been a power in Dad Vail competition. They have won the spring regatta three times straight in Philadelphia, but Rollins has never been far behind.

In 1956 Rollins beat them when they visited here for their winter races, but in 1957 they outdistanced the Tars here on the home water and took the race by a scant margin. There was no race in the early season last year.

For all rowing fans and supporters of the Rollins rowing Tars, this day of racing on March 28 should be one of the most exciting of the home schedule.

J. C. STRANGE, Tars first baseman, stretches for the third out in Saturday's ball game. The present Tars edged the alumni, 2-1.

Baseball Season Starts Today; Tars Lack Power

Last Saturday coach Joe Justice got his first glimpse of the 1959 Tar baseball team in action, when his team opposed a group of alumni. The present Tars edged the past Tars, 2-1.

Justice was pleased with the defensive showing of his team, but was disappointed in the lack of scoring punch which his team showed throughout the contest.

Pitching should be one of the bright spots on this year's squad. Justice was pleased with the hurling of Bunky Davis and Mabry Manderson.

The lineup which Justice will probably follow during the opening week is as follows: Strange, Pavia, Brown, and Cortese in the infield, Willis, Baxendale, and Beets in the outfield, and Coffie behind the plate.

After Saturday's game Justice announced that he plans to move Ronnie Pavia to cleanup in order to make the most of Pavia's clutch hitting.

Frank Willis will be moved to the second spot in the batting order, Coffie will be third, and Mike Cortese will bat fifth. Justice believes that this will prove to be the Tars best scoring punch.

Today the Tars travel to Gainesville to take on the Univ. of Florida nine. Tomorrow the Gators will travel to Winter Park.

IM Basketball Ends With Surprise Scores

The final week of intramural basketball play was marked by one upset, two near upsets, and a strong finish by Delta Chi.

In what was the upset of the season, Delta Chi edged Sigma Nu, winner of this year's basketball race. The final score was 45-43.

In the highest scoring game of the year Lambda Chi 'mauled' the KA's 121-59. Wally Ramsey led all scorers with 50 points, 32 in the first half.

In other games the Indies defeated the TKE's 54-30, X Club beat the KA's 54-49, and Sigma Nu won by default over the Indies.

In the final game X Club squeaked by the TKE's, 40-38. Tiedje and Bradley led the TKE's with 14 points, while Laverty was high for the Club.

Rollins Netters Undefeated, Face Miami Here Wednesday

Rollins College, victor in its first four collegiate tennis matches of the year, is busy preparing for the big match against the University of Miami on Wednesday.

On Tuesday the Tar netters traveled to DeLand to oppose the Stetson tennis team. The final result was a 9-0 victory for the Tars.

This marked the fourth straight 9-0 victory for Rollins this year. The Tars opened with a shutout over Jacksonville and then traveled to Florida Southern to whitewash the Moccasins.

Next Rollins opened its home schedule with a return match against Jacksonville U. The results were identical to that of the two teams' earlier meeting.

Although the Tars have not lost a single set of tennis in their first four matches, their true potentiality has yet to be tested. Miami will certainly serve as the Tars' final exam. If the Tars can beat the Hurricanes, they will be off and flying for the remainder of their schedule.

Against Florida Southern it was obvious from the very beginning that the Tars were far superior. The weather was windy and anything but good tennis weather, but still the Tars won at will.

Last Saturday Rollins made it three in a row with an easy win over Jax. U. This is only the second year that Jacksonville has played in collegiate competition. The best match of the afternoon was the number one match in which Jose Ochoa defeated Tom Mickler of Jax., 6-2, 6-3. At times Mickler showed signs of brilliance and steadiness, but Ochoa was too much for him.

On Tuesday the Tars faced their stiffest competition to date, but they did well in disposing of Stetson 9-0.

In this match Mike Alegre, playing number five for the Tars, won his seventh and eighth straight 6-0 sets. Alegre has yet to lose a game of collegiate tennis.

Throughout these first four matches coach Norm Copeland has played what will be his first six men in different positions. In the Stetson match Copeland used Ochoa, Dave Hewitson, John Henriksen, Luis Dominguez, Alegre, and Steve Mandel.

These six look as if they will be playing in that order throughout the season, and if their future can be judged on the first four matches the Tar netters have played, it looks as if Rollins is in for a banner year of tennis.

Later on in the schedule the Tar netters will get a real test of their ability. This year's schedule includes such teams as Miami, Georgia Tech, Presbyterian, Princeton, Univ. of North Carolina, and Georgia.

Intramural Volleyball Season Ends Monday

With the exception of the TKE-Lambda Chi game, the men's IM Volleyball schedule will draw to a close today. The TKE's play Lambda Chi Monday afternoon.

At the time of this writing only Sigma Nu and X Club remain undefeated. These two teams meet on Wednesday with the winner having a strong hold on first place.

Last Friday the X Club defeated the KA's in two sets. Also, Lambda Chi won a thrilling game when they squeaked past Delta Chi, 15-13 in the third set. This game was played Friday.

Monday's action saw the Club beat the Delta by default, and Sigma Nu defeat the TKE's in two sets.

Rollins Golfers 3rd At Ocala; Season Underway

By BOB CRAIG
Sandspur Sports Writer

Last week the Rollins College golf team competed in the Florida Intercollegiate Golf Tournament held in Ocala. The tournament was won by the Univ. of Florida.

Florida State was second and Rollins finished third. Other teams entered in the tourney were Stetson, Miami and Florida Southern.

In individual competition Frank Beard from the Univ. of Florida was the winner with a score of 284. Roland Lamontagne and Bob Ross were low for the Tars finishing sixth and seventh in the tournament, respectively.

After the first day of competition Rollins led in the scoring and Bob Ross led in individual scoring, but during the last two days Rollins played far below par.

Before the next edition of the Sandspur the Rollins golfers will play the Univ. of Florida, Georgia, Florida State, Jacksonville, and Miami. Florida and FSU figure to be the two teams which will tax the Tars' undefeated string the most.

On March 26, 27, and 28, the Tars will travel to Miami to play in the Miami Invitational. Last year the Tars won the tournament.

Club Wins Tennis

Tuesday afternoon the X Club clinched first place in the tight intramural tennis race by defeating Sigma Nu 4-0.

Sigma Nu and the Club both went into the match with 5-0 records, but the Club had little trouble in disposing of the challenging Snakes.

Barry Barnes defeated Ken Tall in the number one match by the score of 6-4, 6-4. Jerry Kein had to go three sets to down Larry Lavalle. The final scores were 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

Bill Lauterbach defeated Bob Stewart in straight sets in the number three match, and Nick Longo wore Bill MacLeod down in three sets. The score was 7-5, 1-6, 6-0.

Last week the Independents defeated the Lambda Chi's 4-1 and moved into a tie with Delta Chi for third place.

BIG DADDY Jim Lyden looks admiringly at his one week old son, Scotty Allen, who Jim hopes will row for the Tars someday.

Papa Jim Lyden Believes Crew Can Win This Year

By JOE ENRIGHT
Sandspur Sports Writer

Jim Lyden, president of the Junior Class and stroke on the Rollins crew, has just become the father of a 7 pound, 14 ounce baby boy named Scott Allen Lyden. Jim says he hopes his new son "will be a future oarsman for Brad."

Besides his responsibilities as a husband and father, Jim is one of the keys to the success of the Rollins crew this year, carries a full load of subjects (He is a business administration major), and is active in many extra-curricular activities.

At the Blessed Sacrament High School in his home town of Mount Vernon, New York, Jim was captain of the crew in his junior and senior years and played four years of varsity football.

After high school he spent two years in the army in Hawaii, Japan, and Korea.

Coming to Rollins on a crew scholarship, Jim has also played soccer, was a Student Council representative, and participated in the musical show, "Heads and Tales," during his freshman year. Between his freshman and sophomore years, he married Kris Allen, who was a Theta at Rollins.

As for marriages in college, Jim says, "I think it's great if you're ready to settle down. Marriage tends to stabilize a student, helps him to face responsibilities, and forces him to mature faster."

Jim first started rowing at the New York Athletic Club at the age of seventeen. While he was in the army, he participated in the Olympic trials of 1956.

Jim is optimistic about Rollins chances in rowing this year. He says, "We should have a better squad than last year. If the weather, injuries, and probation don't hurt us and if we keep going the way we have been, we'll win the Dad Vail."

Among his many honors and activities at Rollins, Jim is a member of the R Club, treasurer of Sigma Nu, the only junior member of ODK, and is on the circulation staff of the Sandspur.

After his graduation from Rollins, Jim hopes to enter the Foreign Service. He acquired a taste for more travel while in the army and hopes to fulfill this desire in the Foreign Service.
