3-4 Of Student Body Votes In Spring Election

Over three quarters of the student body, the largest percentage ever to vote in an all-college election, turned out at the polls last Friday, April 8, to elect Bob Fleming, Student Council president; John Harkness, vice president; and Jean Abendroth, secretary.

Five hundred and nine votes were cast in both the presidential and vice presidential races, a total of nearly 77 per cent of the student body. This figure was topped only in 1958, when 513 votes were cast in the presidential race between Len Wood and Tom DiBacco, with 73 per cent of the students voting.

Last year only 442 students, or 65 per cent, voted in the spring elections.

The presidential race was won by only five votes, the smallest margin by which any Student Council office has been decided. Fleming received 257 of the votes cast, while Tony Toledo received 252.

The 1959 vice presidency was decided by seven votes after a tie on the first ballot, while the presidency was won by 17 votes in 1958 and by 34 votes in 1959.

This year's vice presidential race was won by the greatest margin of votes any candidate has received. Harkness received 345 votes, while 164 were cast for Rich Cole.

Five hundred and one votes were cast for secretary, with Miss Abendroth receiving 258 of those to win on the first ballot. Julie Smith received 159 votes, and Sally Zuengler received 84.

Indies Elect New Representatives

Two Student Council representatives each were elected by the Independent Women and the Independent Men at the polls Monday.

This election was originally scheduled to take place on Friday along with the all-college elections for Council officers. However, it was necessary to in-29 of the ballots cast contained votes for both men's and women's representatives.

Chosen to serve as the women's delegates in Student Council during the coming administration are Jane Ruble and Lee Rogers. John Reese and Jim McKee polled the most votes among the men's candidates to be elected to the office of representative.

Susan Harris and Sally Yerxa will be alternates for the women's group, while Matt Carr and Dave Cooper were elected Indie Men's alternates.

This is the second year that Independent representatives have been chosen at the polls in the Student Center. Previously the delegates were elected by the Independent social groups.

Over 100 Independents showed up at the polls in the Friday election, and Monday's revote brought out about 30 Independent Men and almost 40 Independent women.

Academic Honorary Taps Junior Warren Keene For Membership

Honored this past week with membership in Key Society, Rollins highest academic honorary, was Warren Keene, a business administration major.

Local equivalent to Phi Beta Kappa, Key Society recognizes juniors and seniors for outstanding academic achievement. To be eligible for membership, a student must have compiled an average of 7.8, or A minus, for a period of at least six consecutive terms, including one term as a junior.

Keene is the only student to be tapped for membership in the honorary this year and will be the only student member next fall. He transferred to Rollins from Florida State University in the fall of 1957 as an organ major, changing to business administration this year.

Active in music affairs, Keene has been a member of both the Chapel Choir and Rollins Singers. He has served as organist for student Vesper services and is currently assistant organist at All Saints Church in Winter Park. His name has appeared frequently on the Dean's List and was included on the new Term Honor List for the winter quarter. Keene is an Independent.

Other members of Key Society, which was founded at Rollins in 1927, are president Gordon Struble, vice-president Phyllis Zatlín, secretary Marilyn Dupres, and adviser Dr. Geneva Drinkwater.

Keene will be initiated into the society early next week.

Freshmen Elected To Vespers Group

Two freshmen have recently been selected to serve on the Vespers Committee, chairman Bob Fleming has announced.

The committee includes one man and one woman from each of the four classes. Freshmen representatives are chosen during spring term.

The two newest members of the Vespers committee are Jody Frutchev and Pete Kellogg.

Admitted to Rollins with honors at entrance, Miss Frutchev has participated in the program for independent reading. She appeared in the Chapel Staff Party fall term and in the Freshman Show winter term.

A member of the Sandspur staff, Miss Frutchev has reported on the After Chapel discussions and recently became the "Spotlight" columnist. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority.

President of the Freshman Class, Kellogg has served on the Rollins Union Planning Committee. Fall term he participated in the Chapel Choir, and he has appeared in Annie Russell productions of "Guys and Dolls" and "Romanoff and Juliet."

Council OK's Union, Installs New Officers

The new Student Council officers were installed last Monday at Student Council meeting. Bob Fleming, president; John Harkness, vice-president; and Jean Abendroth, secretary; were sworn in by outgoing president, Dick Mansfield.

The meeting was opened by the outgoing officers, after which the new officers were sworn in with the Student Council oath of office:

"I do solemnly swear and sincerely promise to uphold the Constitution and By-Laws of the Rollins College Student Association. I further promise to do everything in my power to bring about sound student government, a unified, spirited, and loyal student body. I promise not to be prejudiced or biased in my administration, but to be fair with all groups for the betterment of the college as a whole. All this do I promise, so help me God."

The new president requested that all letters of application for the position of Comptroller be in to him by Monday, April 25, at 12 noon.

In order to be eligible for this office, a student must have taken two terms of intermediate accounting and have received an average of "B" in all accounting courses taken at Rollins. His application must be accompanied by a certification of this fact by his accounting professor.

He must also be a member of the junior or senior class by the end of this term.

Application for the position of corresponding secretary must also be submitted to the president by noon on April 25. Both the letter for this position and the letter for Comptroller should contain the student's over-all academic average, his Council activities, and any other pertinent information.

In other business of the evening the motion to adopt the proposed Rollins Union Charter was passed. The new Union will attempt to serve as the official center of student life and to sponsor a broad program of activities. It will also serve as a tie between the students, faculty, and staff of Rollins.

The Rollins Union will be governed by a Board of Managers consisting of five student and four non-student members. The vice-president of the Student Council will be a member of this Board. Under this Board will be a Program Board made up of the chairmen of all the different committees. These committees will have to do with such things as outdoor recreation, entertainment, the arts, films, and special projects.

The amendments to the Student Association By-Laws proposed at last week's meeting concerning the Rollins Union were also passed.

Services Planned For Good Friday, Easter Sunday

The Good Friday Service for the College will be held at noon today in the Knowles Memorial Chapel. Classes will not be held during D1 period.

Student readers and the Rollins Chapel Choir will participate in this service, the fifth in Rollins observation of Holy Week.

The Sunrise Service, to be held on the shores of Lake Virginia at 5:58 a. m. Easter Sunday, April 17, marks the first of the two services to be observed by Rollins on this day. Dean Vermilye will be the speaker.

Following the Sunrise Service, Chi Omega sorority will invite the college to a breakfast at Corrin Hall.

The Easter Morning Service, at 9:45 in the Knowles Memorial Chapel, will be initiated by Alphonse Carlo who is to play the prelude. Following the Prayer of Invocation and the Responsive Reading, given by Bill Moulton and Marilyn Dupres, respectively, the Chapel Choir will offer the anthem, "Surrexit Pastor Bonus."

Bob Fleming will read the Old Testament Lesson, after which the Choir will present the Choral Interlude, "Ye Watchers and Ye Holy Ones" by Holyrold.

The New Testament lesson is to be read by Patty Stevens, and Dean Darrah will give the sermon.

This service brings to a close the campus observation of Easter.

AT HOLY WEEK MEDITATION Monday evening, Chapel Staff member Walter Cain addresses students in the Chapel Garden. Margaret Carmichael and Dick Mansfield spoke Tuesday and Wednesday.

Fla. Gubernatorial Candidates Featured On T. V. Program

Under the auspices of the Rollins Center for Practical Politics, all twelve candidates for the office of governor of Florida will be brought together Sunday evening, April 17, on a special "Pro and Con" show from 5:30 to 6:30.

The show, designed by Rollins students to bring controversial issues before the public eye, is a public service in cooperation with station WLOF-TV.

The purpose of the governor's program is to provide the maximum exposure of candidates as they deal with issues and proposed solutions. Grilling the candidates will be former governors and political powerhouses of the state, Fuller Warren and Millard Caldwell.

Dr. Paul Douglass, "Pro and Con" moderator, will control the crossfire. Near the end of the show, the former governors will identify what they jointly consider to be the most important issue of the campaign.

They will then ask each candidate to evaluate the stated issue as he sees it and propose his specific solution.

This is the first time all twelve candidates have assembled anywhere to face the questions the public asks.

Also on Sunday, April 17, the Center for Practical Politics will sponsor another in the regular series of "Pro and Con" programs. This week's discussion, entitled "Is America's Youth Apathetic?" will be broadcast at 12:30 p.m. over WLOF-TV.

Members of the student panel for the program will be Bill Hitchcock, Pat Hauser, Ned Rippengille, Ginny Willis and Sally Satchwell.

Audience reaction to the Sunday series, which will be presented through the next academic year, is to be sought in further programs this spring.

Sunrise Service Worth Getting Up For

By CAROL SITTON
Sandspur Staff

This coming Sunday morning, Easter Sunday, for all the early risers there will be a Sunrise Service down at the lakefront. The service will begin at precisely 5:58 a.m., time when the sun will come up. It is suggested that students get there a little before that time so they may enjoy the lovely sight which it will present.

The speaker this year will be Dean Dyckman Vermilye and students participating in the service are Valerie Baumrind and Bob Rauch. As in previous years, the service is completely arranged by a student member of the Chapel Staff and, with the exception of the speaker, all other participants are usually Rollins students.

This year, however, there will be a slight change. The Christian Youth Fellowship of this area, which includes young people from all the churches, will attend the service with the Rollins family, and the president of the group will read a portion of the service. The members of the Christian Youth Fellowship asked if they could join Rollins in the early morning Easter service, and perhaps if they have good participation, some sort of similar arrangement will be made in future years.

As the custom has been in previous years, everyone is invited to the Chi Omega house for a breakfast after the service.

The Sunrise Easter service has been a tradition at Rollins ever since the Chapel was built. Before that the students were urged to attend the Congregational Church in Winter Park. The actual ceremony of the service has not been changed much since its beginning. Never once has it rained, so it has always been held down at the water's edge. The main change has been the addition of a cross of rough lumber that is used especially for the service. At one time trumpets were used as something special, and once a boy went to the top of the Chapel tower and played the trumpet from there.

This Easter Sunday service is one of the nicest of the entire year. It is an inspirational reward to be had only once a year (and one that is worth getting up early for).

Northrop To Give Lecture Series; First To Deal With Atomic War

Dr. Filmer S. C. Northrop, Sterling Professor of Philosophy and Law at Yale and Elizabeth Morse Genuis Professor of Philosophy at Rollins, will give three lectures to the College during the next three weeks.

The first lecture will take place in the Student Center next Wednesday, April 20, at 8:00 p.m. He will discuss "Can Atomic War be Avoided?" This lecture was originally scheduled to be held in the Morse Gallery of Art, but the large response for tickets necessitated changing it, first to the Fred Stone Theatre and then to the Student Center.

The Center will close at 5:00 p.m. on Wednesday evening to permit holding the lecture there.

The next lecture, on the subject "What is the Meaning of American Democracy?" will be April 25, and the final talk, "Can Asian, African or Cuban Society be Modernized Without Recourse to a Communist Dictatorship?" will take place May 4. Both of these lectures will be held at 8:00 p.m. in the Morse Gallery, unless otherwise publicized.

Tickets for all three of the lectures can be secured upon request to President McKean's office. Thus far, the requests for tickets have been quite numerous, so it is suggested that anyone interested obtain their tickets as soon as possible. The lectures are free to the faculty, students and patrons of Rollins.

ARTHUR 'MACBETH' WAGNER studies role which he had to take on unexpectedly when David Atkinson, scheduled to play the part, was unable to leave New York due to a T.V. contract.

'Macbeth,' Shakespeare's Tale Of Horror And Tragedy, Opens Monday In ART

By LAUREN KIEFER
Sandspur News Editor

"Macbeth," the last play of the Annie Russell Theatre season, will open next Monday, April 18, for the student night performance. The play will continue through Saturday night, April 23, including a Saturday matinee for high school students. This is the first play of Shakespeare to be presented in the ART since 1957 when "Romeo and Juliet" was given.

Heading the cast of the tragedy will be Arthur Wagner, ART director. Wagner, who had acting experience long before he became ART head, will also direct the play.

A community project, "Macbeth" will feature three Rollins professors besides Wagner and several members of the Winter Park community. Prof. Gordon Lewis, of the sociology and anthropology department, will appear as the Scotch doctor; Robert Chase, assistant director of the ART, will play Siward; and Prof. Clint Trowbridge, of the English department, will portray a murderer.

Among the community players will be Rod McManigal as Banquo and Bill Stubbs as Ross.

The play opens in the midst of thunder and lightning on a barren Scottish heath. There three witches crouch over a cauldron and, after they have intercepted Macbeth and Banquo returning from battle, favor them with prophecies for their future. These prophecies, the principal one of which is that Macbeth shall be King of Scotland, fire Macbeth with ambition.

Macbeth with the help of his wife, played by Kay Leimbacher, plans a brutal plot against the life of the present King of Scotland, played by Paul Flood.

Macbeth enters the bedchamber of the King, who is staying overnight at Macbeth's castle, and stabs him to death. He then lays the blame on the King's grooms of the bedchamber whom he has previously drugged. Lady Macbeth smears the unconscious grooms with blood and lays the bloody dagger beside them.

Macbeth is now crowned King of Scotland but the crown rests uneasily on his head. He is haunted by apparitions and the ghost of Banquo, whom he has also killed. Lady Macbeth goes out of her mind with the hideous memories. The play moves rapidly to its conclusion.

The horror and the blood in "Macbeth" are symbolized by the sets of the play, designed by Erwin Feber, ART technical director. The backdrops are symbolic projections.

Tickets for the student night performance of the show are still available in the Beanery. Tickets for other nights may be obtained in the ART box office.

Sophomore, 5 Juniors Added To Chapel Staff

One sophomore and five juniors were added to the roster of the Chapel Staff this past week to replace the Staff's six graduating seniors.

Nini Thompson, a Pi Phi, was the only sophomore to be elected to membership. A member of Phi Society, she has served as Student Council representative for her sorority. She was chairman of the Pelican committee last term and is a member of the Honor System committee. Miss Thompson, a member of the French Club, was one of those selected to go on the Term and Tour last year. She has been a Chapel reader.

The Juniors chosen were Babs Bertash, Robert Fleming, John Harkness, Iyer Moss, and John Reese.

President of Gamma Phi sorority, Miss Bertash is newly elected vice chairwoman of the Young Republicans. A member of Community Service Club, Future Teachers, and the French and German clubs, she has worked on both the Sandspur and the Tomokan. Her name has appeared on the Dean's List.

Newly installed Student Council president, Fleming has served as president of the Chapel Staff for the past year. A temporary member of the Staff, due to his position as chairman of the Vespers Committee, Fleming was elected to a permanent position on the Staff this week.

Crucifer of the Chapel Choir, Fleming, a Sigma Nu, has served as both librarian and recorder for that organization. A member of ODK, he is feature editor of the Sandspur.

New vice president of Council, Harkness was recently tapped for ODK. President of Rollins Scientific Society, he is the junior recipient of the Sigma Xi science award and a member of Phi Society and Zeta Alpha Epsilon, national science honorary. Vice president and past Student Council representative of TKE, he has contributed to both Sandspur and Flamingo and is a past president of the German Club.

Moss, a social member of KA, transferred to Rollins this year. Active in intramural sports, he has shown great interest in Chapel activities.

An independent, Reese is newly elected vice president of the Young Democratic Club. He was chosen independent men's Council representative and is a member of the Sandspur staff. He has also served as a Chapel reader.

In electing new members, the Chapel Staff looks for those campus leaders who have shown an interest in Chapel activities and who represent those ideals for which the Staff stands.

Students elected to the Staff serve until they graduate, provided they continue to show interest in the organization.

In addition to the elected members of Chapel Staff the president of Chapel Choir and Community Service Club and the chairmen of the Chapel Ushers and the Vespers Committee serve on the Staff during their term of office.

Senior members of Chapel Staff are Margaret Carmichael, Carol Sifton, Anita Tanner, Walter Cain, Barth Engert, and Dick Mansfield.

Vestal To Head Attempt To Unify Biology Teaching

Dr. Paul A. Vestal, professor of biology at Rollins, has been named to head the American Institute of Biological Sciences (AIBS) experiment in central Florida.

The area is one of fifteen in the country selected as a testing center for the nationally coordinated teaching of biological sciences.

Working under a grant from the National Science Foundation, the AIBS will attempt to unify the instruction of biology through writing textbooks, selecting equipment, and suggesting experiments which may eventually be used all over the country.

As a member of the group, Dr. Vestal will begin work June 20 at the University of Colorado. Along with approximately 60 instructors and professional wr-college professors, high school teachers, he will meet to coordinate the material which will be used in AIBS texts, for which writing will begin this summer.

Dr. Vestal will serve as college consultant for the seven high school teachers selected to use the AIBS program in this area for the academic year 1960-61. Among these is Mrs. Mary K. Vestal, teacher of biology at Edgewater High School, Orlando, selected independently to participate in the program.

These seven instructors will meet once a week to discuss mutual problems, with Dr. Vestal acting as consultant and aide.

The AIBS feels that these nationally coordinated programs serve two purposes. First, students are insured the most up-to-date course possible; and second, the many variations and approaches are brought together to allow more uniform instruction on the national level.

Government Student Phil Scott Wins National Defense Fellowship

Senior Phil Scott is the first Rollins student to be awarded a National Defense Graduate Fellowship while an undergraduate at the college.

Created under the National Defense Education Act, enacted by the 85th Congress, the National Defense Graduate Fellowships provide a stipend of $2,000 for the first academic year of graduate study, $2,200 for the second year, and $2,400 for the third year. The fellowships are particularly designed to enable outstanding college seniors to go on and to graduate work in preparation for a career in college teaching.

Scott was awarded the three-year grant from the U. S. Office of Education for work in Russian area studies at Georgetown University, in Washington, D.C.

A History and Government major, Scott has served as vice-president, pledge trainer, and alternate Student Council representative for Delta Chi fraternity. He has also served as vice-president of Inter-Fraternity Council. His name has appeared on the Dean's List and was included in the new Term Honor List for winter term. He has participated in the Program for Independent Reading and has recently completed a senior honors paper in history.

Previously a Rollins alumnus had been awarded one of the government-sponsored fellowships. Since last fall Jacques Mitchell, class of '58, has been doing graduate work in English at Florida

State University under the auspices of the National Defense Graduate Fellowship program.

MAKING THE ROLLINS UNION A REALITY

Monday night Student Council unanimously approved the proposed charter of the Rollins Union. This indicates a decidedly favorable student attitude toward the project, but more than passive approval on the part of the student body will be necessary to make the Rollins Union a reality.

For the past several months, seven students and four faculty members have been meeting to discuss the Union and to draw up the charter which was voted on last Monday. Under the leadership of Jack Sutliff, this committee has shown great interest in the establishment of such a Union, and they are to be commended for their work on the project.

Now that Council has approved their plans, no group of 11, no matter how interested and hard-working, can alone bring about the establishment of the Rollins Union. What is necessary now is the cooperation of the entire student body — and more than a few students willing to work to see the idea completed.

As stated in the charter, the first object of the Rollins Union is "To serve as an official center of student life, to unify student activities, and to sponsor a broad program of co-curricular education, recreation, and entertainment for the College community." Thus it will be something every student can benefit from, and a goal well worth working toward.

But the Rollins Union is not to be merely a "Student Union." In aiming to "sponsor a broad program . . . for the College community," the charter means just that—faculty and staff as well as students. The second of its object, "To serve as a tie binding faculty, students, staff, and alumni," emphasizes this point.

Finally, the Union hopes "To aid in establishing a cultural pattern which will distinguish Rollins Students." If students will work together to establish the Union, they may themselves go a long way toward achieving this goal.

Many of the activities which the Rollins Union could carry on were enumerated in last week's Sandspur. These include not only recreation and entertainment, but also the coordination of other student activities.

In time, planners of the Union hope that it will become a "nerve center" of student activity at Rollins, self-supporting, so that funds allocated by Student Council will no longer be necessary, and with a building of its own. This goal is not likely to be achieved without the cooperation and effort of those for whom the Union is planned.

WANTED:
GUEST EDITORIALS

The editorial page of the Sandspur is open to guest editorials by Rollins students, faculty, staff members, or alumni. Any member of the Rollins family having views on a subject which he considers worthy of editorial treatment may submit a column to the newspaper. Articles approved by the Sandspur editorial staff will be scheduled for publication and will be printed with the author's name.

The Sandspur began to accept guest editorials last fall at the suggestion of a transfer student from the University of Miami, where such a column has been a highly successful feature of the newspaper.

The Chapel Tower

By T. S. Darrah

One of Thornton Wilder's characters in "Our Town" says, "I don't care what they say with their mouths — everybody knows that something is eternal. And it ain't houses, and it ain't names, and it ain't earth, and it ain't stars. . . . everybody knows in their bones that something is eternal." Upon this sentiment men have spent some of their earliest and longest thoughts. In legend and myth men have aspired to transcend this life. But Easter celebrates this "something which is eternal" not as myth and legend but as a clear fact of history.

(Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your suggestions and your note cards, unless you have a completed term paper you'd like to dispose of for a small fee.)

"Adam had 'em, what there was of 'em."

And so to bed even without doctors orders. "What, me worry?"

In all seriousness, we have a great deal to look forward to. (So who wants a big deal, already?) Why, just think, in not so many years you may be standing before a great audience of people from all walks and stations of life (this means they can afford to ride a bus occasionally?), listening to these solemn words being spoken (Ed. note: those in parentheses are generally left unsaid):

"Francis Sanders Cudgel Newton: patriot, educator, father of five children, owner of six dogs, two cats and three canaries, (not to mention innumerable guppies, goldfish and snails); collector of baseballs, newspapers, (and nasty reputations); adventurer, scientist and explorer; star of stage (the Fred Stone), screen (the Teke-wood Theatre) and TV; noted critic (of the world population in general); noted analyst of international situations (of 'Ingemar Johansson is going to beat the trunks off the guy!' fame); noted story teller (so your wife tells me); and last, but hardly least, alumni of Rollins College. It gives me great pleasure, by virtue of the power in me invested, to present you with . . . , and all the rights and privileges appertaining thereto. Rollins Offers Opportunities
For Leadership

The opportunities for having an enjoyable and rewarding campus life at Rollins are indeed many. Because students often fail to appreciate this fact, the following article will attempt to point out a few of the more important yet overlooked advantages in our campus life.

When academic life at Rollins is mentioned, such things as the Conference Plan, small classes and personal relationships with professors immediately come to mind. But there is so much more than this. Because we are a small academic community, there are many opportunities even outside the office or classroom for gaining a liberal education. Through well planned conferences, events such as Pi Gamma Mu forums, and even spontaneous discussion in the Student Center, students and faculty from various departments are able to discuss subjects of common interest. Also because of the small size of our departments, these departments are often forced to call upon one another for aid. In this way a physicist who has never had a course in biology may become familiar with the problems of a botanist, or a mathematician may learn a great deal about music. Thus, being small and lacking some material resources is not necessarily a disadvantage; for if this develops ingenuity, creativity, and a spirit of cooperation in both students and faculty, something has been gained which no large university could give.

In the realm of cocurricular activities there is also a great deal to be experienced. The Rollins Players, the Rollins Concert Series, Organ Vespers, Shakespeareana, lectures, student publications, After Chapel Club, and the many other clubs and organizations on campus provide the students and faculty alike with both cultural entertainment and an outlet for individual creative endeavor. Social fraternities offer the student recreation and an enjoyable social life as well as an opportunity for establishing intimate friendships. And both the varsity teams and the intramural athletic program provide the student (and sometimes the faculty member) with opportunities to participate in almost any form of physical education he might choose.

Although Rollins does an outstanding job in educating a student and in allowing him to express himself creatively, the Rollins life is most valuable in developing leadership potential. In a large university experienced and naturally talented students assume roles of leadership. At Rollins any student, notwithstanding his social background or his experience, can assume as great a role in the leadership of the campus as he wishes. All too often students, engrossed either in their academic work or their social life, fail to take advantage of this important part of college life. It is true that society needs scholars and perhaps even playboys, but more than either of these it needs intelligent citizens who will be enlightened leaders in their various fields. Rollins offers the opportunity for developing these qualities, and it takes very little searching to find a situation where one's talents can be used.

Rollins is prepared to offer the student a great deal. By intentionally failing to accept the responsibilities associated with an active campus life, the student hurts not only himself but also the college. It takes a certain degree of self sacrifice to become a good campus citizen; however, the rewards are often worth the effort.

Gordon Struble

Shades Of Hyde Park

(ACP) — University of Minnesota DAILY staffers apologized to any Minnesota Student Association candidates who may have spent valuable time looking for the soapbox allegedly placed at the head of the mall for their use.

Persons who desired a Minnesota Student Association election campaign based on real issues, with candidates who would take a stand on matters of importance to students, supposedly placed the soapbox there. The DAILY passed the word along to campus political hopefuls.

Meanwhile, a patrolman spotted the soapbox soon after it was put in place—and removed it. Candidates wishing to take a stand will now have to provide their own platforms.

Wagner To Speak On 'Macbeth'

Arthur Wagner, director of the Annie Russell Theatre, will present a lecture on "Macbeth" Saturday, April 16, at 2:30 p. m. in the ART.

Said Wagner, concerning the topic of his lecture, "I will give my interpretation of the play not only as a director, but also as one of the characters."

Director-actor Wagner will interpret the "deeper meanings" of "Macbeth" and discuss in detail the mechanics involved in his forthcoming production of Shakespeare's play.

"Macbeth" opens on April 18, a student performance, at the Annie Russell Theatre.

Young Democrat, Republican Clubs Choose Officers For Coming Year

Both the Young Democratic and the Young Republican Clubs of Rollins College elected new officers last week.

Lynn Maugh was chosen as president of the Young Democrats. John Reese will serve as vice president; Rosalie Hallbauer, secretary; and Martha Fairchild, treasurer.

Presiding over the Young Republicans during the coming year will be Jamie McGill. Elected to serve with him are Babs Bertash, vice chairwoman; Sue Scribner, secretary; and Jane Goodnow, treasurer.

The young Democratic Club is now preparing a formal report of the precinct organization project which the club completed recently under the leadership of outgoing president Sally Satchwell.

Delegates from the Rollins Club attended a state convention of Young Democratic Clubs held in Jacksonville April 9. Florida gubernatorial candidates were present at this convention to present their platforms to the delegations.

The Young Republicans are presently preparing to step into the Republican campaign, both within the state and on a nation-wide basis. Ginger Cornell has presided over this organization for the past year.

What's happened to the ole Rollins "spirit"? We hear that Tony and Bob F. both studied last Friday night.

But the TKE's moved out to the Hauffbrau House to celebrate John's victory. Speaking of celebration parties, when is Walt Cain gonna have his long overdue party?

Seen at Clubber blast at Longwood Hotel: Jeff and a rockin' colored band, Mr. Rollins modeling a bright red jacket, and Scott and tion later on to buy some more, and apparently Anon was responsible for mixing their famous brew. ## Junior, Senior Recitals, Campus Sing Loom On Musical Horizon

By MELODY

Maybe we should write about love songs now that Spring is here — or at least melodious masterpieces on getting-a-tan-at-the beach — which — is — better — than — the-housemother's...

Young Democrats Win State Award

At the convention of Young Democratic Clubs of Florida, held in Jacksonville last Saturday, the Rollins College Young Democrats received an award for being the outstanding college Young Democratic Club in Florida.

In addition to the award for the club, Sally Satchwell received certificate for being the most outstanding college Young Democrat of the state. She was recognized for her work on the precinct organization project which the club undertook this year.

Delegates to the convention from Rollins were Sally Satchwell, Lynn Maughis, Martha Fairchild, and John Reese.

Seriously (and we try), there are several interesting musical events lurking on the big horizon.

A few weeks ago, Helen Moore performed an outstanding piano recital at ART. Her numerous numbers were received by a warm and responsive audience!

Of course, many music students have been, and will be (nothing like being thorough...) giving their junior and senior recitals... sooooo keep an eyeball peeled. Within a week or so, you will be seeing certain song leaders and such of various social groups creeping about the campus, sporting bloodshot eyes and trembling fingers. Don't be alarmed—they don't have hangovers, and they aren't fighting fires—it's Campus Sing time!

Every two years, in this case around May 22nd, the Greek letter gangs gather on the Center steps to lift their voices in a song fest, sponsored by the Indies. Each group must sing a previously selected prize song and an elective composition of their choice.

Watch out for those crazy notes and those crazy fingers...

Rollins' First 'Geologist,' Ingmansen Speaks On Theatre, Beanery Food

By JODY FRUTCHEY
Sandspur Staff

Dale Ingmansen, first geology major to be graduated from Rollins College, has had his finger in many so-called pies on this campus since his arrival four years ago.

Among his many activities, Dale has competed in many intramural sports for his fraternity, Lambda Chi Alpha; and he has been on the varsity soccer and basketball teams.

Offering a comment on Rollins, Dale stated, "Overall, Rollins offers fantastic opportunities for a student in any field. For example, it gives a science major a chance to work actively in the theater and politics, to attend concerts, etc. Summarizing, the student at Rollins has the opportunity to accomplish things which at most colleges, professional majors wouldn't be able to do."

Dale has been most active in the Annie Russell Theatre, working in twelve or thirteen plays. He is a member of the Rollins Players. Dale also participated in the Independent Men's Talent Night his freshman year at Rollins.

After being one of the members of the Theatre Department to attend the recent Yale Drama Festival, Dale enthusiastically commented on the Rollins Theatre Department. He stated, "I believe that Rollins College has the best Theatre Department in the country. This was certainly evident when the Rollins students presented John Hickey's original play there."

"I just regret, however," he added, "that Bob Grose isn't still Technical Director of the Annie Russell Theater. Grose is one of the most capable set designers in the country."

ALL SET to go prospecting, Dale Ingmansen, who will be the first geology major to graduate from Rollins, studies the terrain.

Among the impressive list of offices that Dale has held, present and past, are the following. He has been Student Council Representative and Alternate, Traffic Committee Chairman, Business Manager of the "Flamingo", Vice President of the Rollins Scientific Society, and Social Chairman of his fraternity. Dale also was recognized on the Winter Term Honor List last term.

When asked if he had any "bones to pick", this blond senior stated matter-of-factly, "No matter what the other students on this campus believe, I think the Beanery food is good — and you can quote me!" He went on to say, "It certainly is better than the food presented at most institutions."

When asked about fraternities and sororities, Dale said, "I don't think fraternities and sororities are necessary on a small campus like Rollins. The intense competition between the groups detracts from the college as one united body."

Philosophizing again, but this

Tars Take On Miami, Tampa After 11 Days Of Inactivity

By JESSE LEE
Sandspur Sports Writer

After an 11-day rest, the Rollins Tars returned to Harper Shepherd field this past week to meet a strong nine from the University of Miami on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. Tomorrow at 2:30 p.m. the Tars will play the University of Tampa. All three games are important to the FIC baseball race.

The only game scheduled for the Tars last week was rained out. The Tars were to have traveled to Jacksonville on April 5, but because of unfavorable weather conditions, they did not make the trip. The game has been rescheduled for May 9 in Jacksonville.

Preceding these past two weeks of comparative inactivity, the Tars undertook a heavy schedule of games against such teams as Duke University, Furman, and Wesleyan.

On March 28-29-30, the Tars met Duke in three contests and dropped all three. This was the first time in two years that the Rollins baseball team had lost more than one game in a row. Either Duke was good or the Tars had three bad days. It was probably a little bit of both, but the Blue Devils of Duke have gone and that's enough said.

Thursday, March 31, saw a doubleheader. In the first game Furman played Wesleyan, and in the second game, Rollins showed the South Carolina boys from Furman a few tips on hitting. The final score was a 13 to 5 victory for the Tars.

Mike Pohlman and Doug Baxendale led the Tars with two hits each, and Jim Cooper, the Avon Park Kid, who has power to burn, poled a long homerun over the left field wall. Ralph Tanchuck also did a good job in the game as he scattered seven hits and was never in serious trouble.

Friday the Tars were in both games of the doubleheader and the first game ended in a tie with Furman that brought about some changes. As in the other ties, Rollins had the game won and ill fate played the big role of a spoiler.

In the second game there were some changes made in the line-up and although the rain shortened the play to six-innings, there was never any doubt as to the winner. The final score was 5-2, Rollins over Wesleyan, but this is no indication of the excitement of the contest. Larry Heiden, the Lake City flash, pitched a whale of a game. He not only looked like a million dollars on the mound, he also looked like Mighty Casey at the plate, as he hit a line drive over the right center field wall.

The other outstanding spectacle of the day was accomplished by Carl Mutert. The strong fellow put two shots out of Harper-Shepherd that never left any doubt from the moment they left the bat. Had not the rains come, there might have been several more hit out.

On Saturday, the Connecticut Wesleyan team again offered the opposition and it was really a slugfest. The pitching wasn't any too good, so the Tars won it with the timber. The final score was 15-10. Mabry Manderson appeared to be the first baseman that Coach Joe Justice has been hunting all season, as he hit like an old pro. A homerun, two singles, and three RBI's are a pretty good day's work. Again Carl Mutert was not to be denied his moment of glory as he hit another one out of the park and took his strut around the base-path.

Back at the first of baseball season, Bob Stewart focused his camera on Mutert, and it looked odd to see a freshman in the spotlight before he even donned a uniform. But if he keeps hitting, none of the veterans will mind how often he gets his picture taken.

Last week's lone game was rained out, and the Tars rested. This week, however, the big test is at hand. If Rollins can win all of the remaining games it will bring the magic number of wins up to 20 and this looks very good when tournament selectors consider a team.

Rollins Outrows Jacksonville, Clashes Tomorrow With LaSalle

By William Kintzing
Sandspur Sports Writer

Last Saturday saw the Rollins oarsmen up against the Jacksonville Naval Air Station in their fourth race of the season. The Tars took an early three-quarters of a length lead in the race and increased it to almost two length in the second half of the mile and a quarter event. In the final minute of the race the Naval Air Station pulled up on Rollins, but could not muster enough strength to overtake the varsity eight. The time for the two crews were 5:48:8 and 5:53:8, Rollins winning by a length and a quarter.

The Rollins JV crew also showed their usual form, by defeating the Naval Air Station's JV's by a good three to four lengths margin. The winning time for the JV race was 6:02.

This week the Rollins will be facing much stiffer opposition. Saturday will see them competing against the always tough LaSalle crew and Monday they will face Purdue. The outcome of these two race will be good evidence to determine any chance that Rollins may have in their bid for the coming Dad Vail Championship.

Both the LaSalle and Purdue races will be held on Lake Maitland over the long course ending at the crew shed. The times for the two events will be 11:00 a.m. on Saturday and 4:30 p.m. on Monday.

Tar Netter Henriksen Wins County Tournament

John Henriksen, number one man on the Tar netter ladder, last week defeated Dave Hewitson, 6-0, 7-5, in an all Rollins finale to the first annual Orange County Tennis Tournament to be played since 1939.

Henriksen, seeded number three before tournament play began, entered the finals by defeating top-seeded Roger Pharr of Orlando, 7-5, 6-2, in the biggest upset of the week-long tournament.

Second-seeded Hewitson of Rollins defeated Jack Borling, also of Orlando, to meet Henriksen for the tournament trophy.

"Henriksen played the smoothest tennis of his career," commented Rollins Physical Education director Clarence Varner of the tournament winner's performance. Rollins men made a clean sweep of the tournament by claiming the doubles too, as Henriksen teamed up with Louis Dominguez to outplay locals Jack Grimes and Bob Threadgill, 6-0, 6-2, in the finals.

In women's singles, Owen McHaney advanced to the finals before being ousted by Florida State women's champion, Miss Carole Ann Prosen of Orlando, 6-2, 6-0. In the senior men's doubles, Varner, along with Orlando's John Gibbons, topped Dr. Fred Turner, who went on to win the singles division, and former Rollins netter Bob Robinson in the finals, 9-7, 9-8.

Another Rollins player who turned in a good performance, Varner adds, was Steve Mandel. He defeated top Orlando player Nat Gill in what was also something of an upset. "He was pushing Hewitson," notes Varner.

The tournament, open to Rollins students and Orange County residents, drew about 80 entries in the men's division, while 16 women were entered.

ROLLINS' John Henriksen was the winner of the trophy in the men's singles division of the Orange County Tennis Tournament, defeating Dave Hewitson, also of Rollins, in the finals.

Reverse TV Set Presents Problems

(ACP) — The DAILY O'COLLEGIAN of Oklahoma State University supplies this tale aimed at viewers:

"Shades of 1984. One of the new faculty members at Oklahoma State has invented an instrument that watches you as you watch television.

"By spying on people watching the program the producers could get a better idea of how well the program was received, although Dr. Charles L. Allen, head of the journalism department and inventor of the Dyna-Photo-Chron, has said he doesn't intend to enter the programming field.

"It could prove very embarrassing for a great many people.

"Think of the sweet young thing blithely viewing the Saturday afternoon movie with rollers all over her head and go on her face in preparation for a Saturday night date. She would surely be shocked to find that a sneaky little instrument had recorded the unglamorous effect."

X CLUB plays Lambda Chi in the intramural volleyball finals. The Clubbers won the match to take the volleyball championship.

Club Takes Championship In Intramural Volleyball

Jack Sutliff
Sandspur Sports Editor

In the semi-finals of the Volleyball play-off Kappa Alpha made a strong bid to overpower the X-Club in a match that lasted the full five games. But, to the chagrin of the Southern Gentlemen, the men from the den proved the stronger in a 16-14 outcome in the final battle.

Lambda Chi, the number two team for the season defeated Delta Chi by default; but was not strong enough to hold back the Club as the latter was victorious again, this time in four games.

To re-cap, the X-Club won the first game; with Lambda Chi coming back to win the second. The final two games and the championship went to the X-Club.

This year's second season of Softball got underway last week. The X-Club won two, and the Deltas won one.

The first official game was played between Kappa Alpha and the Club. The Club won, 18-3, in five innings. Barry Barnes was the winning pitcher, and helped his cause by hitting a home run in the second inning with the bases loaded. Bill Lauterbach hit a four-bagger in the fifth with two on base.

Ralph Oestricher hit a round tripper for the KA's in second inning as the lead off batter.

innings	1	2	3	4	5	H	R	E
X-Club	9	4	2	1	4	11	18	2
KA	0	2	0	1	0	2	3	4

Last Friday, the X-Club again proved victorious; this time at the hands of Sigma Nu. The Snakes started the game by scoring twice in the first inning on three hits.

Five runs in the bottom half of the inning by the Club put the damper on the Snakes, and the X-Club kept scoring through out the game.

Ted Murray was the winning pitcher.

Dick Bishop and Bill Lauderbach each hit home runs for the Club in the fourth; Bishop's, with nobody on, and Lauderbach's with one on, his second of the season.

innings	1	2	3	4	5	R	H	E
Sigma Nu	2	1	0	0	3	8	5
X-Club	5	2	2	3	1	13	11	1

While the above contest was going on, the Delta Chi's were devouring the KA's at Winter Park, 19-8. Jack Bofinger got credit for the win as well as getting two hits for four official times at bat, and scored four times. Dave Martin and Breck Boynton each hit home runs for the Deltas. Martin had four hits for four times at bat.

Chick Guerrero hit a round tripper for the KA's but it was in a losing cause.

It is interesting to note that Bofinger, the Delta Chi pitcher, had five strike outs.

Orlando To See Major League Soccer Contest

Saturday night, April 16, will mark the initial showing of major league soccer in the Orlando area when the Reforma-Mexico Athletic Club tangles with the Miami Soccer Club in a contest slated for the Tangerine Bowl. Kickoff time is 8:00 p.m.

Behind the scene of this soccer match, pitting two top amateur teams against one another, is Rollins' soccer coach, Ernie Wraschek, who played such an important role in the Tars second place finish in the Florida Intercollegiate Conference this fall, is the original founder of the Miami S. C.

In 1953 Wraschek started a group of players booting the ball around, and soon formed the Coral Gables Soccer Club. From there the group moved to Miami and started the present Miami Soccer Club.

The Miami S. C. is one of the best amateur soccer outfits in the United States, boasting players from 17 different countries. Also included on the Miami roster is one American, a school teacher when not playing soccer.

The Reforma-Mexico Athletic Club is five time champion of amateur soccer in Mexico. Paced by an all star list of booters, the Reforma Club will have met the Miami team twice prior to their Saturday clash in the Tangerine Bowl.

The two teams first clashed last Sunday in Miami's Curtis Park. A return match was scheduled for yesterday afternoon. During the break the Mexican squad traveled to the Bahama Islands to display its talents.

Wraschek, the Tars mentor, is no longer player-coach of the Miami squad, but he has, however, maintained his love for the game of soccer. It is due to this broad shouldered coach that two top squads, such as Miami and Mexico, will be performing before the Orlando public.

Tickets for Rollins students are being sold by Bill Tone and Bob Stewart. The price is 50 cents, and the reward for attending is major league soccer at its best.

I don't care WHO authors a legislative measure
... only HOW it benefits the people of Florida."*
