Hallbauer, Frutchey Chosen To Fill Council Offices

Rosalie Hallbauer and Jody Frutchey were chosen to serve as comptroller and corresponding secretary of Student Council at the April 26 meeting.

A junior, Miss Hallbauer has an A average in three accounting courses and has had practical experience in accounting at the E.L. Hallbauer Construction & Engineering Co., where she spent three summers as bookkeeper.

Miss Frutchey was chosen by Pres. Bob Fleming from among eight applicants, to fill the position of corresponding secretary. Selection was based on the quality of the letters of application.

Pres. Fleming also appointed Council committees to serve under his administration.

Appointed to the Student-Faculty Disciplinary committee, which hears appeals of students threatened with expulsion, were Ginger Cornell, chairman; Bruce Aufhammer; Chick Guerrero; Marilyn Koopke; Tony Toledo; and Gayle Jordan and Ed Leal, alternates.

Alan Coleman was named as chairman of the Student-Faculty-Trustee committee. Serving with him will be Jane Goodnow and Sylvia Peters, with Diane Boggs and Luis Dominguez acting as alternates. This committee functions as a discussion group, permitting students, faculty members and trustees to exchange opinions and ideas.

The Student Academic committee, a sub-committee of the Student-Faculty-Trustee committee which handles academic affairs will be headed by John Hughes. Mary Frances Amick, Ted Bradley, Ginny Campbell, and Sylvia Peters were appointed to the committee.

The Campus Improvements committee will consist of John Reese, chairman; Betsy Barkwell, Beanery; and Julie Smith, internal and external improvements.

Pete Kellogg will head the Traffic committee and will be assisted by Bill Lauterbach and Jim McKee, with Marsha Mead and Lee Rogers serving as alternates.

Pelican committee members include Jim Brown, chairman; Don Nesbitt; Nini Thompson; and alternates Hal Abbott and Diane Scott. Pres. Fleming pointed out that Pelican affairs may eventually be handled by the Rollins Union.

Zeta Alpha Epsilon Honors Junior

Steve Browder, junior chemistry major, was recently tapped for Zeta Alpha Epsilon, national scientific honorary. Browder has been at Rollins for three years and has served as a lab assistant.

John Harkness, has been elected to head the scientific honorary for the coming year. Also a junior, Harkness, a TKE, is presently vice president of the Student Council.

President of the Rollins Scientific Society, he is a member of ODK and Phi Society. He has also worked for the Sandspur and contributed to the Flamingo.

A junior must maintain a 7.5 average, both in science and overall, and also must have taken 40 per cent of his work in the sciences.

REEVE ESSAY CONTEST WINNERS in the 1959-60 competition are Burt Jordan, John Harkness, and Tony Toledo.

Reading Theatre Presents Excerpt From Shaw Play

Coming near the end of the Annie Russell Theatre's busy schedule for the year, the next Reading Theatre presentation will take place Friday, May 13, at 8 p.m. The evening's entertainment will be a reading of "Don Juan in Hell," followed by an audience and panel discussion.

Directed by Robert Chase, who also portrays Don Juan, the selection is a dream sequence of George Bernard Shaw's "Man and Superman." Other characters in the cast are: the Devil, played by Jim McKee; the Statue, Clint Trowbridge; and Dona Ana, Dana Ivey.

The piece is set in Hell, of course, and is in contrast to the main body of "Man and Superman" in that it is basically a philosophical discussion, whereas the rest of the play is essentially a comedy. Chase says of "Don Juan in Hell," "It's the most interesting drama of ideas that's ever been written."

The main conflict of the selection is between the Devil's and Don Juan's attitudes toward life. The Devil is sentimental and rather idealistic. Don Juan is realistic, attaching little emotional value to anything.

Shaw's play "Man and Superman" is so long that it is rarely presented in its entirety. The "Don Juan" portion, shorter than a regular play, is usually the only part done. Mr. Chase, however, played the part of Octavius in a full-length production of "Man and Superman" at the Hedgerow Theatre, when the curtain rose at 7:30 and did not come down until one in the morning. Commented Chase, "We never lost more than four people on hard benches."

"Don Juan in Hell" was done on Broadway in 1954 by the Drama Quartet with Charles Laughton, Sir Cedric Hardwick, Agnes Moorehead, and Charles Boyer.

Council Votes To Table Policy On Cheating For Second Week

The proposed uniform method of dealing with cheating was tabled for a second time at the May 2 meeting of Student Council so that representatives might further discuss it with their groups. The proposal, presented to Council by the Academic committee at the meeting of April 25, is as follows:

"Feeling a need for a uniform plan of dealing with students who are found cheating, the Faculty Honors Committee and the Student Council Committee of Academic Affairs submit the following recommendations:

"1. Upon the detection of a student's cheating in class, the professor will use his own discretion in determining whether or not the offense is of a nature to warrant action.

"2. If the professor decides that the cheating which has taken place merits action, he shall report the student's name to the office of the Student Deans.

"3. The Office of the Student Deans will act as a central clearing house of offenses, and a permanent record of the nature and the number of violations will become a part of the student's file.

"4. Upon notification of a professor that a student has cheated, the Student Deans will summon the student involved, the student's faculty advisor, and the professor, and will meet with the student and determine a course of action.

"5. While many factors can and must be taken into consideration in determining the punishment for cheating, the following suggestions are offered to serve as basic guides in dealing with offenders.

Three Men Named As Essay Winners

John Harkness, Burt Jordan, and Tony Toledo have been chosen as winners of the Reeve Essay contest. Although up to six winners may be chosen in the competition, last year was the only time in the past five years that all six of the $75 prizes were awarded.

The three winners competed in the Reeve Oratorical Contest which was held Wednesday, May 4, in Carnegie. At this time, each presented a ten-minute speech condensed from his essay, and the entrants were judged on effective presentation of material and quality of content. The winner in the Oratorical Contest receives a award of $50.

Harkness, a junior pre-med major, writing on "The Dead Sea Scrolls and Christianity," attempted to show that the ideas produced by members of the Qumran-Escave monastery on the western shore of the Dead Sea and those expressed by John the Baptist were in the same general trend as the thinking of Judaism which led to most of the Christian ideals.

Freshman Burt Jordan, corresponding secretary of Delta Chi, wrote on "Birth Control and The Law," presenting a resume of the inception and rise of the present feeling toward birth control. Using as examples the birth control legislations in Massachusetts and Connecticut, he brought in the political and religious controversies on the subject and showed how they interrelate and might eventually be resolved.

The subject of the essay by junior pre-med major Tony Toledo. Outlining first the structure of the DNA molecule and the "zipper theory" of its self-reproduction, Toledo discussed the quantitative determination of species by DNA and the experimental evidence proving its presence in chromosomes.

Toledo then cited evidence showing that the DNA molecule is the message-carrying faction in the cell nucleus. "The best theory that has been put forth to date," he pointed out, "is that the gene is made up of DNA, and that this molecule is the determiner of our heredity."

Four Chapel Clubs Select Officers For Coming Year

Four Knowles Memorial Chapel organizations have announced the results of their elections of officers.

Their newly elected presidents, who will be installed as members of the Chapel Staff, are: Gwen Mansfield, Chapel Choir; Ginny Willis, Community Service Club; Sally Hunt, Human Relations Club; and Sue Hazard, Vespers committee.

As president of the Chapel Choir, Miss Mansfield will be aided by Barbara Behm, social secretary; Dave Cooper, Gene Allen, and Jeannette Cecil, recording secretaries; and Astrid Delafield, Don Brown, and Dave Lindemann, librarians. Gwen, a Junior Independent, has been president of the Music Guild.

Miss Willis, as president of the Community Service Club, will serve with Joan Watzek, vice-president; Marcia Mead, secretary; and Patti Barth, treasurer. Ginny, a junior and member of Chi Omega, has held class offices and has been a representative to Student Council.

The Human Relations Club has announced Patti Barth and Sally McCutcheon, respectively, as its newly-elected Secretary and Publicity Chairman. President Sally Hunt who is presently participating in the Washington Semester Plan is a member of Chi Omega and has been a Panhellenic Council representative.

The Vespers Committee has elected to serve with Miss Hazard, Pete Kellogg, vice-president; Jody Frutchey, secretary; and Don Brown, Doorman. Jack Frieze was elected to permanent membership on the Vespers Committee to replace Robert Fleming who resigned because of other duties. Sue, a sophomore Phi Mu, has been a chapel reader and Vespers speaker.

Mansfield Takes Stand On Allocations, Representation

Ed's Note: The following is the first half of past president Dick Mansfield's report and recommendation to the new Student Council. The remainder of the report will be included in next week's paper.

This report contains my own personal observations on Student Council during the past year. I make the following remarks, not as president, but as one individual member of the Rollins Student Association.

Most of the past presidents' reports have criticized the administration and the students in general. But criticism of Student Council itself has not been the practice to any extent in the past. Maybe this is because the reports are given in front of the Council.

Although I appreciate the fact that members of the Council give a part of their free time to represent their groups, I feel that at times some members have not represented their groups well. I think you all know that I was not happy with the way Council handled appropriations, especially in the field of publications. It seemed that anybody could ask for any amount of money, no matter how foolish the amount was, and get it without a fight from anyone but me. The amount of salaries Council gave the Tomokan and the Sandspur was ridiculous. All positions, except the editor, should be taken by students who are willing to be rewarded with the work itself, not with money. If the students are not interested in working on student publications without being paid, we should not have a school newspaper or school yearbook. The members of Council should remember that the money they are throwing away is the money of the people they are representing.

One bright spot in the appropriations was John Hickey, who made an honest appraisal of the money he needed, did not ask for any raises in salaries, and cut his appropriation request. I might add he put out a very good Flamingo too.

FIESTA ALLOCATION

I think Council showed the same irresponsibility in giving Fiesta $1300 besides the $1200 and the $3 student assessment they were already receiving. To throw all this money away on one weekend seems a crime to me, especially for a college this small.

There were some other things that bothered me about Student Council. I found out that certain members of the Council were not taking tabled motions back to their groups. Instead, these representatives were voting the way they wished, without consulting their groups. This to me seems a betrayal of trust by these representatives. I also think it is unfair to the other representatives who cannot necessarily vote the way they want because they have to vote the way the group wishes.

And then, of course, there is the problem of bermuda shorts, which I consistently tried to avoid. But Council, on the other hand, repeatedly voted to have the matter looked into to see how much we could get away with. This could be a pretty dull life if everyone put as much of their time and interest into bermuda shorts as Council has. The rules on this subject, in my opinion, are not very strict. Compare the situation with other schools.

All in all, I recommend that all new members of Council be taken in hand by the president and vice-president and be given a training session to point out their responsibilities as members of Council. I also recommend that the different groups should not be so anxious to shove their representative responsibilities on their new initiates or pledges. Freshmen should first be alternates, in my opinion, and not representatives.

INVEST FUNDS

I also recommend that Council invest its carry-over funds so it will not feel that it has to spend all the money that is lying around. I have talked to Mr. Tiedtke about this, and he and Mr. Ward will be glad to help us set up some system in which our money can collect interest. After a few years of this, we might have enough money to make a large and worthwhile contribution to the college.

What then have been the achievements of the past administration? After criticizing Coun-

CPS Regional Test To Be Given Here

Rollins College has been selected as one of the 82 test centers throughout the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico to hold the annual Certified Professional Secretary examination on Friday and Saturday, May 6 and 7.

The CPS exam is administered each year by the Institute for Certifying Secretaries, a department of the National Secretarial Association. It is open to all qualified secretaries over 25 years of age.

The test is a two-day, six-part examination based on actual secretarial duties and responsibilities. It covers such areas as Personal Adjustment and Human Relations, Business Law, Business Administration, Secretarial Accounting, Secretarial Skills, and Secretarial Procedures.

Alumna Receives Teaching Award

Mrs. Florence Nichol, an alumna of Rollins, has been chosen as Florida's outstanding teacher for 1960.

A member of Pres. Hugh F. McKean's graduating class, Mrs. Nichol now becomes a candidate for the National "Oscar for Teachers Award," to be presented by the General Federation of Women's Clubs at the national convention in Washington.

Mrs. Nichol, a teacher at Citrus Grove Junior High School in Miami, was chosen for the honor by a unanimous decision of the judges because of her work as an educator, her contributions to the citizenship of the foreign-born, her success in cutting down illiteracy, and her great contribution to Inter-American understanding. She is a winner of a Freedom Foundation award.

SCENE FROM 'STREETCAR,' here under rehearsal by Steve Kane and Nelle Longshore, will be among those presented in the student-directed production "Six for Tonight." Kane and Patti Stevens will co-direct the group of scenes from contemporary plays.

Six Theatre Students To Perform Scenes From Contemporary Plays

The student-directed production "Six for Tonight" will be presented in the Fred Stone Theatre Tuesday and Thursday, May 10 and 12, at 8:00 p.m.

Directed by Steve Kane and Patti Stevens, both members of the directing class, the evening will include five scenes from outstanding contemporary plays, performed by six members of the advanced acting class.

Scenes from "Hatful of Rain," "Dark at the Top of the Stairs," "Glass Menagerie," "Separate Tables," and "Streetcar Named Desire," will be presented.

Acting in the plays will be seniors Jeanne Cook, Kay Leimbacher, Nelle Longshore, Mary Jane Strain, Steve Kane and Chuck

Morley. Following the performances, a panel and audience discussion will be held concerning the method of acting taught at Rollins. Robert Chase, Arthur Wagner and the student actors will be panel members.

The production, points out co-director Kane, is designed to show the versatility of Rollins' student actors and the possibilities provided by the methods used here.

"It is hoped that the performances and the panel discussion to follow will answer questions and clear up misconceptions concerning the way we work," Kane adds.

This is the first time a student-directed production such as this has been presented at Rollins.

Choral Vespers Service To Include Selections By Mozart, Bach, Langlais

The annual Choral Vespers service will be held this year on May 8 at 4 p.m. in Knowles Memorial Chapel.

The service will begin with a violin prelude played by Alphonse Carlo. After this, the Chapel Choir will sing four selections: "Kyrie" from Messe Solennelle by Jean Langlais, "Adoramus te, Christe," by Mozart, "Flocks in Pastures Green Abiding" by Bach, and "Let All Mortal Flesh Keep Silence" by Holst.

The Offertory will also be played by Mr. Carlo. The offering collected will go into the Choir fund.

After the offertory, the choir will sing "O Jesu Sweet" by Bach, "St. Patrick's Prayer" by Burke, "Last Words of David" by Thompson, and the "Agnus Dei" from Faure's Requiem. The last selection will feature a solo by Eugene Allen, tenor.

The service will end with the "Gregorian Paraphrase on the Te Deum" by Langlais played by Catharine Crozier, organist. Miss Crozier, regular Chapel organist, has just returned from an extensive recital tour of the United States.

Jean Langlais, composer of the Messe Solennelle from which the "Kyrie" is taken, is a contemporary French composer and one of the most famous organists in his country. Last year the blind Langlais came to Rollins for the Bach Festival. The entire mass was performed by the choir last year for Choral Vespers.

Choral Vespers were originally held to earn money for the choir so that the members could receive choir keys for membership and hold a choir banquet at the end of the year. The first Choral Vespers service was held in the 1930's.

The Vespers service is now given primarily for its musical value. It serves as a goal toward which the choir may work during spring term.

Rollins Receives Research Grant

The National Science Foundation has granted Rollins $2,865 to participate in an undergraduate research program.

Under the direction of Dr. John S. Ross, associate professor of physics, several senior class majors will help in conducting a research project already in progress in the laboratories of the Physics department, investigating the experimental values of isotope shifts in the spectra of elements of intermediate atomic numbers.

The nation-wide NSF program of undergraduate research was established with the objective of determining the extent to which it is educationally beneficial for outstanding undergraduates to work with faculty members on research projects. Now in its second year, the NSF trial program involves about 2,000 students in various fields of science throughout the country.

Ross points out that undergraduates have worked on the Rollins project since its inception in 1955. The NSF grant, awarded under a program especially intended for schools with active research problems in progress, will provide funds to further this research and a small stipend for students taking part in it.

The NSF program enables the undergraduate who is not yet ready to carry on original investigation to share genuine research with experienced scientists.

Students Attend English Club Tea

Forty members of the English Speaking Union were the guests of Rollins at a tea in Woolson House Wednesday afternoon, April 27. Students majoring in English were invited to attend.

Col. Warren Winn, president of the newly formed Central Florida branch of the organization which numbers 60,000 among its international membership, stated that the purpose of the ESU is to "foster between the people of the United States and the Commonwealth, mutual understanding, trust, and friendship."

Winn pointed out that the Central Florida organization is interested in aiding the Rollins English Department in any way it can. At the May meeting will be announced the winner of the Oxford University summer scholarship, offered by Dr. Norman Bradish to the outstanding junior man majoring in English.

Union Explained

During the "B" period Wednesday, May 11, Jack Sutliff, newly elected Chairman of the Rollins Union Board of Managers will present the Union program to the college. It is hoped by the Board of Managers that the explanation will stimulate the students into signing up, and becoming active members in the Union program for the coming year. Students are asked to register with the members of the Board of Managers then.

WHAT HAPPENED TO A SUMMER TERM AT ROLLINS?

Last May, Student Council unanimously approved a proposal to introduce a summer term into the Rollins program — a project which, Council was informed, had been under consideration by Administration officials for over a year previous to last spring. The summer session would put Rollins on a four-quarter system and enable the college to use its facilities on a year-round basis.

This suggestion which was discussed at Rollins is also being studied for the state-supported universities and junior colleges. "Growing enrollments which are filling present education institutions are bringing about demands for more buildings and more institutions. The idea of keeping the schools open the year around is to meet the demands for more space without the expense of more buildings," a St. Petersburg newspaper explained the purpose of the suggestion.

Outside of Florida, at least two leading schools, the University of Pittsburgh and Columbia's School of Business, have already established a year around plan on a trial basis, and both have been highly successful. Among other universities seriously studying the plan are Dartmouth, Michigan, California, Penn State, Wayne State, and Massachusetts.

Three possible plans under consideration by the Florida board of control are the four quarter system, the three semester system, and the two semester-summer school system now in use in the state schools.

While the state schools will probably have to make some changes in their current academic year in order to adapt themselves to a 12 month plan, Rollins, with its quarter system, could easily make the change-over, and its advantages, both to the college and the students would be great.

By making full use of its facilities, Rollins could handle up to 250 more students without any extra outlay for buildings or major equipment. The savings to the student, who could thus earn a bachelor's degree in three years, would be considerable, not only in money, but in time, which becomes increasingly important in this age of specialization, when so many students continue in post-graduate work.

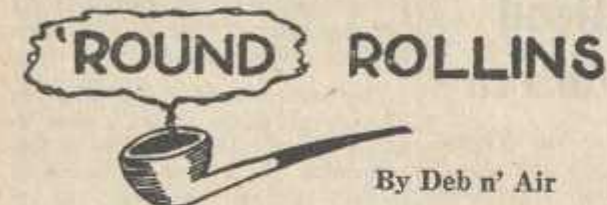

One of the major problems connected with such a plan is the shortage of teachers, which would make difficult the necessary staff expansion. However, Columbia University president Dr. Grayson Kirk, in his Saturday Evening Post article, "College Shouldn't Take Four Years (March 26, 1960)," points out that this obstacle would probably be more than offset by the number of qualified people who would be attracted by the increased pay made possible by the change.

Dr. Kirk terms the present four-system "an anachronism in a jet-propelled age," and "a schedule geared to the 17th century."

"The most insistent problem in education today," he continues, "is the necessity to reduce time spent in preparation for careers."

The "intolerable social and economic waste" of the four-year plan, Dr. Kirk points out, is something that students, parents, colleges, and the country as a whole can no longer afford. In the United States, where college enrollment has grown from 1,500,000 to 3,600,000 in the past 20 years and is expected to nearly double in the next decade, every foot of unused space is valuable.

This is a need which the colleges and universities of the nation will soon be forced to recognize. Rollins, with the term plan now in effect and a faculty and administration which have already studied the proposal, is in an ideal position to join the leaders in this movement.

Variations on a Theme of Johnny Appleseed, or Arbor Day at Rolly Colly:

With the coming of Spring and warm weather and an imminent end to the school year and to college education for many (both seniors and non-seniors), who knows what evil lurks in the hearts of men? The Shadow (i.e. He who many years ago on a trip to the Orient discovered the strange power to cloud men's minds) knows!

What heart or hearts perpetrated the unseasonal Arbor Day ceremony recently held on the Rollins Campus?

Ed's Note: For those of you who slept late on Saturday, April 23, that was Arbor Day on the Rollins Campus, celebrated with a second planting of palm trees in the Center patio, these decked with numerous festive decorations and "Welcome Alumni" posters.

And what was in the strange little box wrapped in white tissue paper? Was it U. S. D. A. pamphlet No. 7263369 entitled "Native and Exotic Palms of Florida," or a few notes on the care of Fishtail Palms, or perhaps a package of petunia seeds for the coming year? Will we ever know?

Perhaps we should ask the Whispering Pine of the Rollins Campus. (In no way related to the Family Tree, though many have wished to include the Whispering Pine in their family tree) Undoubtedly the sharpest needles and biggest cones on campus will reveal the Whispering Pine to you, and there, perhaps, you can find the answer to your questions. If not, the Shadow knows all and sees all, but tells nothing.

What more beautiful Arbor Day celebration could one ask than that observed at Jolly Rolly? Publicity for same was complete and far reaching, and all who wished to watch the ceremony would have been welcome. It was "Free to the college," in the vernacular.

It even included a symbol of the republic in which we live, the U. S. A. How many paused to salute that noble symbol? Old Glory has not flown above the Rollins Campus since early in the Fall term, and those nobles to whom we owe the Arbor Day celebration included this fair emblem in their "Welcome to the Alumni," "in memoriam of those who have gone before us."

But should we praise this work that can be undone by mightier powers in less time than was taken to complete the noble task? There are overtones of the falling of a bomb upon an edifice which took years and lives of men for its construction.

What day shall next be celebrated so unseasonably. Bastille Day, with its unforgettable aftermath, or May Day (perhaps not completely unseasonably), in the manner of celebration observed in the Soviet Union. We even see some hint of "Flower Day" as the paper goes to press, though this day may have come and its celebration be forgotten by the time of publication of this journal.

Unbeatable Instead Of Beat

In a recent talk John Mason Brown, drama critic, book reviewer and author made the following statement:

"To me 'anger' is a great word — like 'wrath' in the Bible. These 'angry' young people are disassociated from life. I am sick to death of the snivellers, the defeatists and whiners who believe that ugliness is beauty, disease is health and delinquency is delight — I can't understand young people who haven't tasted life turning their backs on it".

For some time I have been an admirer of Mr. Brown's philosophy and approach to life. Particularly today it would seem that his positive outlook could do much (for old and young alike), in successfully meeting the challenge presented by today's atmosphere of pressure and perplexity.

Let us consider for a moment the varying nature of the challenges faced by the American people during the past one hundred years.

The reconstruction period following the Civil War coupled with the increased westward movement during the same space of time brought manifold problems that all of us have considered and reconsidered in our high school and college history courses. Although trial and error was often the rule in the solution of these problems, nevertheless, progress continued and our nation became one of the "great powers" of the world.

Although salved by the promise of a "world safe for democracy," Americans once again met the challenge and played a decisive role in World War I. Following this dramatic, and apparently conclusive struggle our citizenry soared into the lush green era of the nineteen twenties. The many issues of this period received rather inconsistent treatment with many remaining unsolved behind a curtain of rising dividends and an optimism too frequently hinged to the pyramiding of the financial gains of the day. Nonetheless, progress of a realistic nature was recorded and new landmarks in material gains were established.

But the zenith had been reached, and, in a story that could be told in a single sentence, the hopes and ambitions of individuals as well as the nation were plummeted by a depression of gigantic proportions. Once again the challenge of the hour was apparent to many Americans, who, with unceasing effort, slowly returned the nation to a position of promise and solidarity.

Although World War II caught us needlessly unprepared, our experience, coupled with our tremendous resources, both mental and physical, brought us a hard earned victory. Also this victory was, to an extent, due to the fundamental truths which became apparent to all mankind with the harnessing of atomic energy.

I think that it can be maintained that the conclusion of this struggle brought the United States into its adulthood and the myriad problems of this stage of existence. But adulthood assumes maturity which is gained by placing one experience upon another in a wall of tested strength. So today we may view with impassioned pride the foundation of our existence which has come to us not through one experience but through the successful meeting of many challenges.

The trouble with trouble is that it is so all absorbing. When we are once in that delightful state of feeling sorry for ourselves, all other considerations disappear and our calamities become paramount in our thought and emotions. We may become so saturated with self-pity that we dampen every circuit of action that might lead us out and finally we become powerless.

A Japanese sage suggested one way out when he said, "When I dig another out of trouble, the hole from which I lift him is the place where I bury my own." This works if we are not so far gone in ourselves that we cannot appreciate the predicaments of some of our fellows.

Using the terms of Mr. Brown it is the "snivelers, the defeatists and the whiners" that abhor the present challenge on the American scene. They seem totally unaware of the fact that with today's improved methods of transportation and communication, our vast and ever-growing fund of scientific and technological skills, and the inherent quality of Americans to develop ideas we are today in the enviable position of approaching a complete world leadership never before realized or even imagined.

Let us not become disturbed by the lesser unfavorable portion of our inheritance but devote ourselves to the satisfying challenge of more completely developing all that is ours by the right of our acquired national maturity. John Mason Brown phrased it most aptly in a Commencement address he presented at Groton School:

"To say that the world at present stinks is to understate its fragrance. To say that it must stink forever is a lie... I trust that you and your contemporaries will earn the right to be known as the unbeatable generation."

In this connection I should like to mention that all the praise which was offered should deservedly be shared by the following people who have worked with me on most of our productions: my assistants in design, Linda Coke and Ruth Wilder; Maggie Carington who has handled lights, especially on Macbeth with skill and creativity; and Mark Tiedje who shares the position of chief provider of lights on the stage of the Annie Russell Theatre. It is with the help of these and other people that the work which is planned for the year can be realized on the highest level.

Famous Film Stars Fontaine, Jourdan To Finish Series

Set in Vienna in the late 1800's, "Letter from an Unknown Woman," final offering of the Famous Film Series at Rollins College, stars Joan Fontaine and Louis Jourdan.

Based on a story by Stephan Zweig and directed by Max Ophuls, "Letter from an Unknown Woman" is the result of a joint French and American effort. Miss Fontaine portrays an impressionable young Viennese who falls hopelessly in love with a concert pianist, portrayed by Jourdan.

"Some of Ophuls' scenes have such strong visual charm that the dialogue recedes to a sort of musical accompaniment," Time magazine commented on the film.

"It is rare enough for even the merest hint of love to reach us from the screen; this scene annihilates the whole repertoire of mimed emotions, from prudery to sensuousness, which do duty for love in the Anglo-Saxon cinema," Sight and Sound commented.

Tickets for the film, which will be shown at 6:30 and 8:45 on Sunday evening, May 8, in the Fred Stone Theatre, will be available at the door. They are 70 cents for the public and 50 cents for Rollins students, faculty, and staff.

Rollins To Host Mid-Florida Governor's Conference

Tomorrow Rollins will play host to the Mid-Florida Governor's Conference on Aging. It is one of two regional conferences on the problems of the aging which are being held in preparation for the actual Governor's Conference, which will take place in Tallahassee in June. This conference in turn will lead to the White House Conference on the Aging, scheduled for 1961.

Tomorrow's conference at Rollins is under the joint direction of Senator Harry P. Cain and J. M. Buck, members of the Governor-Citizen Advisory Committee on Problems of Aging. The conference was brought to Rollins by Dr. Dudley DeGroot, sociology professor.

The program will begin at 8 a.m. with registration in Carnegie Hall. At 9 a.m. members of the conference will gather in the Annie Russell Theatre for greetings from Rollins president, Hugh McKean and a talk by Sen. Cain on the problems of the aging.

Then the group will divide into six sub-committees to participate in workshops from 10 to 12 noon and 1 to 3 p.m. These committees will discuss the problems of health, income maintenance, education, employment, housing, and human relations which are encountered by the aging.

De DeGroot pointed out that this is primarily a working conference. Eighty to 200 people are expected to attend the event.

Permission was granted to the Winter Park Jaycees to advertise the forthcoming Miss Winter Park Contest with a display in the Center.

President Fleming emphasized that meetings of the student council are open to all students and they are welcome to attend. Regular meetings of the council are held every Monday evening at 8:15 in the basement of the Student Center.

Chemistry Major Leffingwell Favors Fox Day, Rollins Union, Palm Trees

By JODY FRUTCHEY
Sandspur Staff

Research assistant to Dr. Don Carroll in the chemical study of cancer, senior Jack Leffingwell chose chemistry as his major "because of the challenge it presents."

Jack, who plans to attend graduate school at Emory has already received a fellowship offer and hopes eventually either to teach chemistry in college or to go into some phase of research. "Possibly," he adds, "I can combine the two, as various teachers have done and are doing."

Originally from Illinois, but eil, it is only right that I should criticize myself. When I first stepped into office, I had troubles with the administration. First they wanted a list of names of those students who left campus during Fiesta. They asked each group for a list and wanted to know what punishment would be inflicted on the delinquents. I felt that it was none of their business, especially seeing that there were so few students missing that weekend. I called a meeting of all the group presidents, and we decided to give them only a numerical list with no names. The Pink Palace was upset, but they accepted it. We had no problems this year.

Then the Dean of Women wanted to form a women's student government and set up a committee of girls to draw up such an organization. I was never notified by her of these proceedings. I found out from other sources. I thought not informing the Council and planning never to get Council's approval was bad taste. I also felt that on a small campus like this that two student governments would only serve to weaken the whole structure of student government at Rollins, which I believe is now very strong. It seemed to me also to be a case of "let well enough alone." There were plans for setting up rules for the girls' dormitories and having this new student government enforce the rules. (Shades of Elizabeth Hall). I gave the Dean of Women so much trouble that she decided to drop the whole matter. I hope for good.

Then the golf team, one of the best college teams in the country, wanted to go to the national championships in Oregon but could not convince the administration to finance the trip even after the Council offered to pay $500 of the cost. After talking to the president and the treasurer of the college, I was successful in getting the school to pay the additional $800 needed. I thought it was important for the college's reputation to support an athletic team of this calibre.

After this rather stormy spring term, there was nothing but peaceful co-operation between the administration and Council. Indeed, I am deeply grateful for all the help I received from everyone in the administration during fall and winter terms, especially Dean Vermilye and President McKean.

now residing in Winter Park. Jack likes Rollins. He feels the students are friendly and well-chosen.

"The change in Rollins since I came here has been a drastic one," he commented. "The standards have gotten tougher and the quality of the classes has doubled. It's like going to grammar school and then transferring to college."

Jack has served as secretary, treasurer and scholarship chairman of Delta Chi fraternity.

"However," he states, "I do think that Rollins is too small to have social groups. I think the majority of the senior class will agree with me on this point."

Jack is a member of the Rollins Scientific Society and of Zeta Alpha Epsilon, national scientific honorary. He was listed on the Fall Term Honors List this year, and he has received an honor scholarship and a Fiesta scholarship during his stay at Rollins.

When asked if he had any pet peeves, Jack smiled and said, "Yes; I definitely think there should be palm trees in the Student Center patio. They beautify the school and add to the esthetic value."

He then added, "I also think it would tremendously add to the spirit of the college if Rollins had a field house and offered athletic scholarships to outstanding athletes."

Still expounding, Jack stated, "I think Fox Day should definitely be brought back. It added to the quaintness of the college and promoted college spirit between the students attending the college."

"I think the idea of a Rollins Union is excellent," he continued; "but on this campus, there is so much talk by students that it is hard to know whether the idea will ever develop."

Jack is engaged to Dottie Englehard, a Rollins graduate of last year. They plan to marry on May 28, five days before Jack graduates.

PALM ENTHUSIAST Jack Leffingwell sits before a backdrop of his favorite kind of tree—but not in the Center Patio. Jack, a chemistry major, is a research assistant to Dr. Carroll.

Only one more month of school and the Rolly Colly students (?) are partying as if it is the last chance they will ever have to really rock! Which is true in the cases of some seniors who are about to graduate into the sedate world of adulthood.

There were more Delts and Snakes at the Kappa Pelican last weekend than there were Clubbers (that's a switch!). The grapevine has it that seven girls invited Pete "Mr. Wonderful" Marino to go, but he was too shy to accept. The Gamma Phi's rented Sanlando Springs for a day and had a party complete with steaks and a water slide. Then Dave Steven's party for the Lambda Chi's — well it was a typical Stevens party and far from dull! Poor Dave lost some of his calendar girl pictures from Playboy and has threatened to sue the pledge who took them. The Club party weekend before last was informal...in fact it was downright CASUAL! No comment necessary.

The Alpha Phi's also had a beer party. When the keg was tapped, the beer shot up like Old Faithful, but enough was left to last the couples for an hour and a half. Entertainment was supplied by Maury Merkin.

After extensive research, Dale Ingmanson has decided that drinkin' and swimmin' don't mix. The dance Saturday night was not crowded, but very lively. What did the KA's have in those milk cans?

At Theta State Day last Saturday, Sally Zuengler was seen leading a German band in some very large shoes. Did they come from the Lambda Chi-house? Some of the Theta officers insist that the nicest way to spend an evening is to have a cookout with dates. They neglected to add that it is also a good way for a girl to show a man how domestic she is!

Serenaded by KA — under the disabled baton of Jim McD. III, accompanied on percussion by Barth, were Judy Wells, Betsy Reutter, Jay Tourgee, Linda Coke, Jeanne Smith, and Nan Sturgis. The Singing Delts serenaded Mariellen Mercke and the Swinging Snakes visited Dianne Dicks and Margie Nichols.

With another A.R.T. season closed, some of the "gentlemen" of the stage are acquiring much-needed haircuts — let's get wigs for next year!

Burnam McLeod and Mel Nevergall almost expired from suffocation as a result of spending quite some time in a locked car trunk. The moral: a ticket to the drive-in costs less than a ticket to the Happy Hunting Grounds!

Sigma Nu Takes Swim Meet From Many-Time Winner

Lambda Chi swimming supremacy has been finally defeated. Sunday, Sigma Nu managed to push Lambda Chi from the top of the swimming pinnacle, where they have remained for the past several years. Led by Bruce Kennard, who copped a first place in the fifty yard freestyle and a second in the 100 yard freestyle, the Snakes managed to obtain at least three points in all events. The big win of the day was a first and a second in the fifty yard freestyle event, which put Sigma Nu in the lead where they stayed for the remainder of the meet.

Dyer Moss (KA) and Tom Parrish (Delta Chi) each got 10 points for their respective teams, but lack of depth proved to be the stymie for the Delta and KA.

Parrish broke his own 220 yard freestyle record, as he swam the course in 2:47.4; the old record was 2:49.3. The KA 200 yard freestyle relay team snapped the old mark of 1:54.6, set in 1958 by the KA's. On this year's winning team were Dyer Moss, Stan Moress, Bill Bently, and Larry Rand.

50 yard Freestyle: Kennard (SN), Payne (SN), Fox (LXA), Bently (KA). 26.8
100 Yard Freestyle: Rand (KA), Kennard (SN), Ingmanon (LXA), Bently (KA). 1:4.7
50 yard Breast Stroke: Parrish (DX), Mendell (LXA), Payne (SN), Sutliff (SN). 31.1
220 yard Freestyle: Parrish (DX), Bricken (SN), Proud-fitt (SN). 2:47.4
50 Yard Back Stroke: Moss (KA), Montgomery (SN), Molt (DX), Breckenridge (LXA). 33.7
200 Yard Freestyle Relay: Moss, Moress, Bently, Rand (KA). 1:59.9

Club Wins Twice, Sigma Nu Bows To Faculty In Intramural Softball

By JACK SUTLIFF
Sandspur Sports Editor

After a week's respite by the Sandspur staff, there are a number of intramural softball games to catch up on.

Sigma Nu bowed to the Faculty early last week by the devastating score of 16-9. Ed Scheer led the faculty's hitting attack by blasting two homers off the pitching arm of Bruce Kennard.

Faculty	084	0211	16	8	3
Sigma Nu	130	3020	9	13	4

The next day, in a four and one half inning contest, Lambda Chi Alpha defeated Kappa Alpha, 18-6. Lambda Chi was ahead all the way, as ten batters went to the plate in the bottom half of the first inning. Six of those ten batters crossed the plate, and Lambda Chi remained in complete possession of the ball game.

innings	123	45	R	H	E
Kappa Alpha	032	10	6	3	3
Lamb. Chi A.	662	4	18	13	1

On the day following, the X-Club chalked up its fourth straight win by defeating Delta Chi, 12-6.

In the last game of the weeks past, KA defeated Sigma Nu, 16-7. Ralph Oestricher and Chuck Berger, each hit four baggers for KA. Bruce Kennard hit two homers, but it wasn't enough.

Sigma Nu	301	1200	7	9	3

The day after, the Delta came back to defeat the Faculty, 12-2. Four homers by the Deltas proved to be the powerhouse of the day. Doug Marquis got one of the round trippers in the third inning with one on; Breck Boynton and Cope Garrett got back-to-back homers in the fourth; and Dave Martin finished off the quatrain with one in the sixth with nobody on. The only power for the Faculty was supplied by Dudley DeGroot in the fourth as he managed a double with two on.

inning	123	4567	R	H	E
Delta Chi	022	6100	12	12	1
Faculty	000	1100	2	5	5

The first extra inning battle was staged between Lambda Chi and the X-Club. Frank Dunhill pulled the game out in the top of the eighth by belting a double with two on. Bob Fox led off the Lambda Chi half of the inning by slamming a single through the hole between short and third. A base on balls to Kip Sheppard kept Lambda Chi hopes alive and moved Fox to third, who scored on Ray Hyde's single after Dale Ingmanon forced Sheppard at second. But the one run wasn't

Rollins Tennis Team Defeated By Miami, Jacksonville Netters

Saturday, April 23, brought the undefeated U. of Miami tennis team to Rollins. A large crowd at the college court watched the defiant Rollins team bow 8-0 to their superior opponents. However, a score on paper does not always afford a true picture of reality. It was apparent that the cock-sure Miami team were not as confident on departure as they had been a few hours before.

Miguel Alegre, the Rollins number one man, did himself proud and consequently set the pace for the entire team. In the first set with John Skogstad, the crafty and cunning Hurricane, Alegre managed a number of set points. Skogstad's experience and skillful tactics were the main reasons for the 7-5, 6-1 defeat handed to Alegre. After a solid match the Rollins number two John Hendriksen was defeated 6-3, 6-3, by Roger Macormick of Miami.

In one of the two three-set matches of the day, Luis Dominguez, the Rollins number three man, was defeated by the pressure hitting John Keapel, 4-6, 6-3, 7-5. In the number four position, Minic of Miami ousted Dunning of Rollins 6-3, 6-3. Unfortunately Mandel and Moulton the number five and six men from Rollins respectively, had no better luck than the others. Bossong defeated Mandel 6-3, 0-6, 6-1, and Moulton was defeated by Copper 7-5, 6-3. Miami captured the remaining two doubles.

The U. of Florida's tennis team followed the example set by Miami in defeating the Rollins tennis team 6-3, last Saturday. The Gator netters managed to win five of the first six singles and clinch the match before any doubles were played.

Jimmy Shaffer defeated Mike Alegre of Rollins 6-2, 6-2. The sole Rollins victor, John Hendriksen, defeated Francisco Montana 6-3, 6-1. Roy Lang of Florida defeated Luis Dominguez 2-6, 10-8, 3-0, default. Art Surloff of Florida defeated the Rollins number four man Mort Dunning 6-1, 4-6, 6-2.

In a like manner Mandel was defeated by Hay 6-4, 6-3 and Moulton by Moser 6-2, 8-6. Rollins took two of the three remaining doubles. Dunning and Mandel defeated Montana and Fry 6-1, 6-love. Moulton and Barns ousted Weisman and Cullinane 6-3, 3-6, 6-4. Lang and Hay of Florida defeated the Rollins number one combination, Hendriksen and Alegre, 6-4, 6-8, 6-3.

LEAVING THE BOATHOUSE on Lake Maitland, the Rollins crew prepares to defeat Jacksonville in last Saturday's race.

Crew To Travel To Tampa For Championship Race

This Saturday the Rollins crew will travel to Tampa to compete with four other crews in the Florida State Championship. Competing crews will be Florida Southern College, Jacksonville University, Tampa University, and the Jacksonville Naval Air Station. The Naval Air Station will be rowing in the State Race for their first time. The race will be held on the Hillsborough River around 11:00 a.m., according to wind and tide conditions.

Rollins will be entering the State Championship, with a six and one record, having beaten all the crews entered in the race. Stiff competition should come from the Florida Southern crew which Rollins defeated in its first race of the season by only one foot. Southern has an impressive record for the 1960 season, holding victories over such crews as Tampa and LaSalle. Although the Tars and the Moccasins seem to be the favorites in tomorrow's race, none of the other crews can be considered as not being formidable competition.

The winner of the 1959 State Championship was Tampa with, Florida Southern second, and Rollins third. To retire the State Championship trophy, a crew must win the State Race five times. Rollins retired the last trophy in 1955. The present trophy was donated by Rae Hickok in memory of his father. In the four years since it was donated, both Rollins and Tampa have two wins toward acquiring it.

Tomorrow will be the twelfth holding of the Florida State Regatta. In the past 11 State Races, Rollins has won six times, Tampa has won three, and Southern two.

The Tar JV's will also go to Tampa to compete in the Junior Varsity State Championship. The JV's have a 7 and 0 record and appear to be highly favored in their race tomorrow. In their four victories over the other Florida JV crews this year, they have not come up against one that has even closely challenged their two year winning streak on Florida waters.

Last week saw both the Rollins Varsity and Junior Varsity defeat Jacksonville University in two dual meets held on Lake Maitland. Jacksonville put up a good effort in the first half of both races, but then fell behind to lose to the Tar Varsity by a length and three-quarters, and to the Tar JV's by three lengths. The winning times for the two Rollins crews were 6:08 and 6:17 respectively.

The line-up for tomorrow's races will be, for the Rollins Varsity: Ed Rupp stroke, Tim Morse seven, Wit Chase six, Jim Lyden five, Art McGonigle four, Bill Kintzing three, Dennis Kamrad two, and Bob Carlson bow; for the Rollins JV: Jay Banker stroke, Sid Chase seven, Bob Anderson six, Larry Strimple five, Pete Davenport four, Bill Houston three, Jim McDermott two, and Bob Todd bow. Jerry Thompson will coxswain both races.

Rollins To Join Cypress Gardens Ski Competition

On Saturday, May 14th, the varsity water-ski team will travel to Cypress Gardens to compete in the Southeastern Intercollegiate Water-ski Tournament. The team is ably coached by Henry "Gramps" Snyder and captained by Roger Ray and June Worthington.

There will be three events in the meet for men: trick riding, slalom, and jumping. Jumping is eliminated in the girls' competition.

Roger Ray and Bruce McEwan will be skiing in all three events for the men with Stan Moress skiing tricks and jumping. Barth Engert is entered in the trick event, and Tom Miller will be skiing slalom. Garry Payne will be the fourth jumper for the Tars.

Engert, McEwan, Miller, and Moress are all returning letter men, while Ray, team captain, has won a number of tournaments and has held several records. Before entering Rollins, Ray was one of Cypress Gardens' famous Champions. Payne is expected to do well with his snow-skiing background. The Citadel, Florida Southern, Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami, and the other entries will have a tough time against this experienced squad.

Sue Morganthaler and Sue Curtis will be skiing both tricks and slalom for the girls. Miss Worthington, team captain, will be skiing tricks, along with Owen McHaney. Betsy Reutter will be entered in the slalom event for Rollins.

Miss Morganthaler and Miss Worthington received letters last year, while Miss Reutter and Miss Curtis both placed in the Collegiate Slalom Tournament in November. With the past record of these skiers and with Miss McHaney's skiing equal to her tennis, the girls can expect their ninth straight victory.

Both teams are hoping that a good number of students will be able to come down and support the team. The tournament will begin at 7:30 a.m. and continue throughout the day. REMEMBER, IT'S FREE THIS YEAR!

All students with Student Association cards will be admitted free to the Southeastern Intercollegiate Water Ski Tournament at Cypress Gardens, Saturday, May 14.

Baseball Tars To Take On Fla. Southern With Hope For Championship Chance

By WAYLON LEE
Sandspur Sports Writer

Tomorrow Rollins' baseball team will take on Florida Southern College in Lakeland. This game will be the most important of the season for both teams, since the winner will have an inside chance at a tie for the Florida Intercollegiate Conference championship, should Miami lose one more game.

The Tars, as of today, are sporting a 16-6 record, and the reason the record looks so good is because the Tars have won the last eight straight games. It just seems that Coach Justice's boys have caught fire, and it's a shame it couldn't have started earlier. If Miami is smart they won't lose another ballgame, because Rollins isn't the same team that Miami played earlier in the season. The hitting has improved greatly, and the pitching could hardly be better.

On Thursday, April 21, Rollins beat their usual country cousins from Stetson. In the last inning with two down, the Tars pulled a come-from-behind victory that sure was sweet. A triple started it off and then Ronnie Brown hit sharply through the shortstop, bringing in one run. After Billy Shirah's walk, John Stutz hit a pinch hit homerun over the leftfield wall some 350 feet away. The final score was 4-2 and big Ralph Tanchuck pitched a very good game.

On the following day, little Bunky Davis pitched a four-hitter over the Jacksonville Green Dolphins and the final score was 4-1. Doug Baxendale played like the great centerfielder he is, as he hit a two-run homer that was enough for the victory. Mike Cortese collected two hits and the Tars played good steady ball for a rainy afternoon.

On Wednesday, April 27, Florida Southern came to town, riding high on one of the best winning records in the school's history. However, Rollins put an abrupt halt to their winning. Fireballer Ken Salmon resembled an old pro as he allowed the Moccasins only three hits and pitched the first shut-out of the season for the Tars. Carl Mutert once again displayed his power as he poked a homerun over the right center field wall and calmly strutted around the bases. Mike Cortese doubled and Ronnie Brown singled to produce the other run, making the final score 2-0.

Last Friday and Saturday, Rollins completely outclassed the Stetson Hatters 11-9 in Deland and then 12-2 the following day at Harper-Shepherd field. Carl Mutert took advantage of Stetson's pitching as he hit a grand slam homerun, a double, and two singles for the two games. Bunky Davis continued to display the form which has made him one of the winningest pitchers in Rollins' history, as he toyed around with the Hatters in gaining the 12-2 victory.

If Rollins wins the remaining games, the season will definitely be a success. Coach Justice has already said that it will be almost impossible to get into a tournament this year, but we at Rollins would be just as happy if we can bring home the championship. With a little luck, it can be done, and to you, Tars, we say, "Second best is for somebody else; we would prefer number one."
