14 Seek Upperclass Presidencies In Class Elections Wednesday

Sixty-three students are vying for office in next Wednesday's class elections. Elections will be held in the Union Building from 9 to 4 on that day. The necessary runoffs will be held the next day.

As the Sandspur went to press, the names given in this article were the ones in the running. The Standards Committee has not yet checked the candidates so it is possible some will be eliminated.

ANDERSON BRADLEY

Twenty members of the senior class are vying for the four class positions. Candidates for president are Bob Anderson, Ted Bradley, Whit Chase, Rolly Lamontaigne, Tal Lovering, and Bill Tone.

Anderson, a business administration major, has been on the Varsity crew for 4 years and has served as captain. He has also been president of Sigma Nu.

Bradley, a biology major, is president of Tau Kappa Epsilon. He is a member of the German Club, the Indoor Recreation Committee, and has participated in intramural sports.

Chase, president of KA, is an English major. He is also president of the Men's R Club and has been a member of the Student-Faculty Disciplinary Committee. He is presently on the Lower Court.

Lamontaigne was vice president of his freshman class. A Human Relations major, he is a member of the R Club and plays Varsity Golf.

Tone, a KA, is chairman of the lower court and a student council representative. A pre-law major, his freshman year he was co-director of the Freshman Show, and was on the advertising staff of the Tomokan.

president are Mike Bailey, X Club; Rich Cole, Delta Chi; Bruce Kennard, Sigma Nu; Clay Nicolaysen, Delta Chi; JoAnn Wagner, Gamma Phi; Ruth Lynn Whittaker, Theta, and Barbara Batman, Pi Phi.

Candidates for the office of secretary are Sue Hazard, Phi Mu; Arthella Hines, Independent; Jim Swan, Sigma Nu; and Jaye Tourgee, Gamma Phi.

Seeking the treasurer's post are Hal Abbott, Delta Chi; Jesse Lee, X Club; Diane Scott, Chi Omega; and Ralph Tanchuk, Sigma Nu.

Members of the junior class nominated twenty people for class offices. Presidential candidates are Dana Ivey, Mike Maher, Pete Marino, and Ken Salmon.

LOVERING TONE

Miss Ivey is a member of Phi Mu, Rollins Players, and the Chapel Choir where she is social secretary. She has appeared in the many ART productions. A term honor and president's list student, she is also active on the Sandspur staff and as a chapel reader.

Maher, a Lambda Chi, is rush chairman, intramural representative, and Student Council Representative for his group. Active in the Union, he is now on the Rollins Union Board of Managers and President of the Rollins Union Program Board. Mike was recently appointed by the Student Council to the Student Investigation Committee.

Marino is a member of X Club and Secretary-Treasurer of the Inter-Fraternity Council. He is president of the American Institute of Physics and a physics lab assistant. This year Pete was chosen Chairman of the Fiesta Midway Committee.

Legislature Passes Union, Publication Allocations

The voting of $6440 to the Sandspur climaxed the Legislature's allocations of a total of $23,455 to some of the Rollins publications, the Union, and the Annie Russell Theater.

The Sandspur's request for $6440 was contested by the Executive Committee who recommended $6300 on the grounds that $138.82 had been returned by the paper last year and that the telephone bill had amounted to $200. Editor Lauren Kiefer explained last week that the bill was exorbitant because the phone had been used for private long distance calls without permission. Miss Kiefer said, "the additional $140 is necessary to keep the budget flexible enough to allow extra pictures and pages for coverage of special events."

Joan Spaulding added, that "in order to meet students' requests for a superior paper, a sufficient amount of money is needed." Don Nesbit remarked, "The Legislature's reserve funds ought not to lie idle if they can be put to good use." The final outcome was approval of the requested $6440.

The Flamingo was allocated $1500; the Tomokan, $10,000; the Union, $3515; and the Annie Russell Theatre, $2,000 with relatively little controversy.

The R Book was asked to re-submit its budget to include printing costs of inclusion of the Rollins Constitution and Rules.

Bruce Greene, curator of the Rollins Museum of Natural History, asked for $500 to store the collections and finance several more such as a display from the Museum of Natural History of New York and his South American Indian artifact collection, one of two of its kind in the world. Most of the collections must be stored until the museum has permanent housing in the proposed new science building.

Greene pleaded his cause by saying that "the Museum is a part of Rollins that should be preserved for future students, which is impossible."

Legislature tabled motions to allocate $250 needed immediately and to keep another $250 tabled indefinitely until needed.

It was voted that in the future all editors and the business managers of publications be required to be present at all Legislature meetings concerning allocations in order to answer questions about their budgets.

Bill Tone, Chairman of the Lower Court, announced that court procedure is to send a written account of any rule infraction to him. Although the Court doesn't go into effect directly until November 6, cases are now referred to it by the Deans' offices.

A suggestion was made by Bill Tone that Legislature members consider action to supply sororities and fraternities with free meal tickets to issue to visiting alumni.

Freshman Beanies Winners Told

O'Brien's Pharmacy has announced that Mary Harrison and John Turner are the winners of the store's annual Beanie Contest.

The names of the winners were drawn by Rollins Tar coach Joe Justice from those submitted by freshmen who visited O'Brien's. A prize of $10 each will be awarded to Turner and Miss Harrison upon presentation of their beanies at the drugstore.

Visitor From Columbia Univ. Predicts Rollins Could Begin Tech Institute Soon

Rollins College could undertake the beginning operations of an Institute of Technology in the near future with its present three-year pre-engineering program, Dr. J. M. Garrelts of Columbia University has disclosed.

He explained that if the need were great enough, the college could offer the basic courses for the Institute while the buildings were being constructed. Engineering laboratories would not be essential until the last two years of study, he said, giving Central Florida the opportunity to start its Institute of technology now.

Dr. Garrelts visited the college last week to consult with Pres. Hugh F. McKean and other administration officials on the proposed complex of colleges Rollins has suggested to fulfill the educational needs of this area.

The Institute of Technology outlined would call for students to take a three-year pre-engineering study, followed by a two-year program in engineering. This would lead to a Bachelor of Arts degree from Rollins and a Bachelor of Science degree in engineering from the college's Institute of Technology.

The Institute would also offer a Master of Science degree in Engineering. Dr. Garrelts commented that many of the courses could be taught by faculty members of the undergraduate program.

As he has observed in his visit here, Dr. Garrelts said, the Rollins proposal could answer the demands of local businesses seeking space-related educational facilities.

Both the Institute of Technology and the Institute of Space Science must be carried out on a high level, Dr. Garrelts stated. "Only the most competent people should teach and conduct research there."

A high quality educational program such as Rollins now offers in its liberal arts college must be maintained, he said, and this demands community backing.

Rollins Pres. McKean proposed the complex of colleges at a recent meeting of Central Florida businessmen.

Gamma Phi Tops Women In Spring Term Averages

Spring term grade averages have showed Gamma Phi Beta to be tops in scholarship for the second term in the 1960-61 college year.

Gamma Phi topped the list for fall term, was edged out by the Unaffiliated Women at the end of winter term, and regained their title with a 5.38 spring term average. The sorority barely won over the Unaffiliates, who attained an overall average of 5.31 last spring.

The grades attained by Rollins women as a whole secured for them a total average of 4.92; while the all-sorority average for the campus was 4.73.

The remaining spring term average for the respective groups are listed as follows:

Chi Omega	4.89
Kappa Kappa Gamma	4.88
Kappa Alpha Theta	4.64
Pi Beta Phi	4.56
Alpha Phi	4.39
Phi Mu	4.27

Fine, Bang, Bang, And You Are So Dirty

Center Teaches 'Art Is Knowledge'

By Jane Morgan and Steffan Schmidt

This startling headline is based upon an amazing little boy with beastly dirty hands who ran through the corridors of the Loch Haven Art Center, situated on the road from Winter Park to Orlando, where he was supposed to have classes in painting.

The Loch Haven Art Center has not existed for a very long time. As a matter of fact, two years ago, funds were raised for the brickstone-building on Rollins Ave. at Mills Street—a building which contains a unique institution for the fine arts.

We interviewed Mrs. Holden, who has been for the last two years, president of the center. She told us, and we checked it, that there is a desperate need for an educational art institution in Central Florida which may have enough sunshine but not enough creativity. From the four to five thousand art centers which are established in the United States, only 30 can be found in the state of Florida. Few cities the size of Orlando are devoid of any. Soon after the establishment of the Loch Haven Art Center, it became clear that the population not only wanted to have Cokes and Cars but also the possibility of becoming acquainted with works of art and taking part in their creation.

The Art Center is closely connected with the Orlando Art Association, and is also a member of the Florida Federation of Art. And of special interest to the students of Rollins is the fact that President McKean is a member of the board of trustees of Loch Haven.

"FOR A LONG, LONG TIME..."

One of their activities is the giving of courses to children who are interested in but don't have the opportunities to enter the summer courses at Rollins College. Little Jane was very busy but still could tell us that she is taking the course for kids for one year now. With a very serious face she revealed that she wanted to draw a horse. However, she appeared to be drawing a man. "How long have you been drawing horses?" we asked. She frowned in concentration, wrinkled her nose and answered in a thoughtful voice: "For a long, long time". (Little Jane is eight).

We also talked with several older students, whose ages ranged from 14 to 18. Among those who hoped to continue art in college with scholarship help from the Center was Laura Weir, an Edgewater High School Junior, whose grandfather was once president of Rollins. While she was waiting to turn in her work for the day, she showed us one of her pieces, an original cartoon character who bore a resemblance to Jiminy Cricket. "I do cartoons for my high school yearbook", she said, "and I might like to be a commercial artist someday if I don't go into landscape architecture."

PERCEPTION

Drawing-instructor J. Weidley told us, that he has never had a finer group of young people to work with. They all are willing to learn and, what is more important, they all have a gift for this kind of creative work. It is no wonder that each year several participants of the Loch Haven Courses get scholarships, which enables them to become what they want to be: an artist. At this center they learn the basic principles of the profession and more.

As Mr. Weidley says: "Art is knowledge. Art is also interpretation. Constantly seek knowledge and you will know more about your world." Loch Haven Art Center stands for perception.

Douglass Address In 4th Printing; Army To Read Leadership Booklet

The fourth edition of an address made a few years ago in Washington D. C. by Paul Douglass of Rollins has just been distributed to the U. S. Seventh Army in Europe.

The volume, a study of leadership called "Spiritual Experience in Administration," was originally printed as a keepsake of the occasion at which Dr. Douglass spoke. However, the attention given to this first copy by management engineers from all over the world was so great that two more editions were released. "Spiritual Experience in Administration" soon was adopted by New York University's College of Engineering as a manual for management students, and a third edition was printed for their use.

Dr. Douglass' address then came to the attention of Col. W. W. Ragland, an officer in the headquarters of the U.S. Seventh Army. The Colonel's interest was responsible for the printing of the fourth edition and its subsequent use as an Army manual.

THE DATING SEASON

I have recently returned from a tour of 950,000 American colleges where I made a survey of undergraduate dating customs and sold mechanical dogs, and I have tabulated my findings and I am now prepared to tell you the simple secret of successful dating.

The simple secret is simply this: a date is successful when the man knows how to treat the girl.

And how does a girl like to be treated? If you want to know, read and remember these four cardinal rules of dating:

1. A girl likes to be treated with respect.

When you call for your girl, do not drive up in front of the sorority house and yell, "Hey, fat lady!" Get out of your car. Walk respectfully to the door. Knock respectfully. When your girl comes out, tug your forelock and say respectfully, "Good evening, your honor." Then offer her a Marlboro, for what greater respect can you show your girl than to offer Marlboro with its fine flavor and exclusive selectrate filter? It will indicate immediately that you respect her taste, respect her discernment, respect her intelligence. So, good buddies, before going out on a date, always remember to buy some Marlboros, available in soft pack or flip-top box in all 50 of the United States and also Cleveland.

A girl likes to be taken to nice places

2. A girl likes a good listener.

Do not monopolize the conversation. Let her talk while you listen attentively. Make sure, however, that she is not herself a good listener. I recollect a date I had once with a coed named Greensleeves Sigafos, a lovely girl, but unfortunately a listener, not a talker. I too was a listener so we just sat all night long, each with his hand cupped over his ear, straining to catch a word, not talking hour after hour until finally a policeman came by and arrested us both for vagrancy. I did a year and a day. She got by with a suspended sentence because she was the sole support of her aged housemother.

3. A girl likes to be taken to nice places.

By "nice" places I do not mean expensive places. A girl does not demand luxury. All she asks is a place that is pleasant and gracious. The Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, for example. Or Mount Rushmore. Or the Taj Mahal. Or the Bureau of Weights and Measures. Find places like these to take your girl. In no circumstances must you take her to an oil-cracking plant.

4. A girl likes a man to be well-informed.

Come prepared with a few interesting facts that you can drop casually into the conversation. Like this: "Did you know, Snookiepuss, that when cattle, sheep, camels, goats, antelopes, and other members of the cud-chewing family get up, they always get up hind legs first?" Or this: "Are you aware, Hotlips, that corn grows faster at night?" Or this: "By the way, Loverhead, Oslo did not become the capital of Norway till July 11, 1924."

If you can slip enough of these nuggets into the conversation before dinner, your date will grow too torpid to eat. Some men save up to a half million dollars a year this way.

Chase Announces Casting For 'Thieves Carnival', 1961-62 Annie Russell Opener

Casting results for the first Rollins Players-sponsored Annie Russell Theatre production of the year were announced last week by director Robert Chase. The 1961-62 season opener, "Thieves Carnival," is a farce by the French playwright Jean Anouilh, and will run November 14-18. Student Night will be Monday, November 13.

The plot of "Thieves Carnival" is a case of purposeful mistaken identities involving three thieves, two dandys, and an assorted number of vacationing Britishers, not to mention several policemen, a nursemaid, and a musician.

The Thieves team is made up of Peterbono, to be played by Bob Haines; Hector, John Ott; and Gustave, Crick Hatch.

The dandys are Dupont-Dufort, Sr., Rich Chapman; and Dupont-Dufort, Jr., Gordon Reagan.

The British side is led by Lady Hurf, Dana Ivey; and Lord Edgard, Fred Chopell. Their two nieces are Juliette, Victoria Weeks and Eva, Sallie Off.

Other roles were cast as follows: Towncrier, Dave Renier; Musician, Peter deVoogd; and Nursemaid, Candy Diener. The policemen and crowd have not yet been cast, and vacancies are open to interested participants.

Contrary to the precedent of by-gone years, the cast of the first show is not completely made of ART veterans. New to the Annie Russell productions are John Ott, Junior; Fred Chapell, sophomore transfer; Rich Chapman, freshman; Dave Renier, freshman; Peter de Voogd, junior transfer; and Vickie Weeks, sophomore.

Bob Haines, senior, is well-known as a theatre major, and

SEA To Hold First Meeting Tuesday; Wolcott, President

The Hamilton Holt chapter of the Student Education Association will hold its first meeting of this school year on Tuesday, October 24. The meeting will be held in the Alumni House at 7 p.m.

SEA is an organization for all those interested in the field of education. The activities of the club are varied. At the meetings there will be speakers on subjects of interest to all. For example, the new course in communism in the schools, the effects of radiation on the community, and the foreign exchange programs. The Rollins SEA is also sponsoring a Leadership Conference on Nov. 11 and 12 for the various SEA organizations in the state.

All freshmen who are interested in joining the organization are invited to attend this meeting to learn more about SEA. Upperclassmen are, of course, welcome.

The officers for the coming year are: Barbara Wolcott, president; Ruth Lynn Whittaker, vice president; Ruth Lynn Whittaker, vice president; Bonnie MacMillan, secretary; and Diane Scott, treasurer.

remembered for his roles in "Guys and Dolls," "Brigadoon," "Romanoff and Juliet," and "The Flyers."

Crick Hatch, a junior ART regular, has appeared in many Rollins Players productions, among which are "Guys and Dolls," "Romanoff and Juliet," "Macbeth," "Brigadoon," "Playboy of the Western World," and "Tiger at the Gates."

Junior Theatre major Dana Ivey also has a list of credits to her name. She is remembered particularly for performances in "The Chalk Garden," "Romanoff and Juliet," "Brigadoon," and

"Tiger at the Gates."

This is the first major role for sophomore Sallie Off, who has worked in many other areas of the theatre.

Junior Candy Diener has been seen notably in "Guys and Dolls," "Romanoff and Juliet," and "Playboy of the Western World."

"Thieves Carnival" has been produced in Washington, D. C. and Greenwich Village, but has never been on Broadway.

At the first rehearsal, Director Chase commented, "This cast works together just about the best of any show I've worked on."

Got The Weekend Urge To Wander? Try Short Tours Around The State

By PAT TEAGUE
Sandspur Feature Editor

A weekend with nice weather and a car with some gas are all that it takes for Rollins students to think about moving off the campus into unexplored parts of Florida.

According to Orlando Chamber of Commerce information, the Central Florida area is well blessed with swimming and picnic areas. Sanlando Springs, midway between Sanford and Orlando, and just off U. S. 17-92, has a constant water temperature of 72 degrees plus swimming and sunbathing facilities. Restaurant and picnic area are also available.

A six-acre park surrounds the "Big Tree" or largest cypress in the U. S., 10 miles north of Orlando on U. S. 17-92. The tree is believed to be 3000 to 3500 years old and has a height of 127 feet with a 17-foot diameter at its base. Another "woodsy" park area is Rock Springs, 18 miles northwest at Apopka via U. S. 41.

The Chamber of Commerce also offers suggestions of short trips to sightseeing attractions. Driving south on 17-92, one can see Owen Godwin's Gatorland, 12 miles from Orlando the Tupperware headquarters with museum showing the evolution of dishes, 15 miles south; and Kissimmee with its Silver Spurs Rodeo grounds and Monument of States. The Monument, near the Kissimmee downtown area, contains 1500 stones from every state in the nation. It adjoins a zoo and public park. Admission is free.

If one prefers to strike out for western Florida, he might be interested in such places as the Clermont Citrus Tower and Weekiwachee Springs. The Citrus Tower, on U. S. 27 and one mile north of Fla. 50, has an elevator to the highest observation point in the state, a glass blowing exhibit, gift shop and restaurant and citrus processing exhibit. You can see the tower, glass blowers and citrus exhibit for 93 cents.

Weekiwachee Springs, just beyond Brookville at the intersection of Fla. 50 and U. S. 19, is known for its underwater mermaid shows. The shows can be seen hourly from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. from the million-dollar, air-conditioned underwater theatre.

Twenty-two miles north of the Springs on U. S. 19 is the Nature's Fish Bowl at Homosassa Springs. Visitors walk through an underwater room, and look out into the spring with thousands of fresh and salt water fish. Admission is $1 for adults.

A trip in a northwest direction from Rollins might include swimming at Ponce de Leon Springs just beyond DeLand on 17-92, and visiting well-known Silver Springs with its glass bottom boat tours. Admission is $2.20 for adults. The 45-minute jungle cruise is $1.10. Other attractions at the Springs are the Ross Allen Reptile Institute, Carriage Cavalcade of old cars, Tommy Bartlett's Deer Ranch and the Prince of Peace Memorial.

Northeast from Winter Park is Daytona Beach, with its International Speedway and Ormond Beach with its War Memorial Art Gallery showing 62 religious paintings by Malcom Fraser.

Ten Vie For Freshman Class Presidential Office

Nominations were held for freshman class offices Wednesday, October 18, during the freshman class orientation period. It was decided that this year there would be no limit to the nominations as to the number of nominations made from the floor.

A few of the candidates previously submitted lists of high school activities, which were handed out at the door.

Since there was no set limit to nominations, there will be a run off after the voting this Wednesday.

Those running for the office of President are: Tim Brown, of Alexandria, Virginia; Russ Blazer of Hawthorne, New Jersey; Sue Cochrane of N. Y. City; Tracy Doetsch of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Cal English of Narberth, Penn.; Bob Gundek of Byram, Conn.; Morgan Moses of Indianapolis, Indiana; Dave Shephard; Jim Stein of Rehoboth Beach, Del.; and Karl Weickhardt of Alexandria, Virginia.

For the office of Vice President, these people were nominated: Allen Burris, Sally Charles, Kennedy Clark, Ron Culbreth, Don Daus, Doug Draper, Cary Howard, Bill Jancke, Paul Korody,

Countess To Speak At French Meeting

La Comtesse de Reiset will be the speaker for the first French Club meeting of the year which will be held next Thursday, Oct. 26.

Enrique Huber, president of the French Club, has announced some of the year's other activities. Among them will be the presentation of French films, a trip to a French colony, and several other outside speakers.

All students interested in French are invited to next week's meeting.

Monica Mann, and Elliott Randolph.

Candidates for the office of secretary are: Charlotte Bertram, Laura Jane Clayton, Karen Lesneski, Bob Reagan, Stevie Spaulding, Gay Thomas, and Bidie Walker.

Those running for the office of treasurer are: Joan Bottomley, Anne Campbell, Lynn Carmichael, Mike Levine, Gene McCauliff, Heather McFarlin, and Donna Pounds.

Freshman may put up posters and distribute campaign material, but no time has been set aside for candidates to give formal speeches. The Freshman Class is the only class that can campaign in this manner.

The freshman class officers are responsible for planning the Freshman Show which is given every year and also various other day which has been held in the activities, such as freshman skip spring in the past several days.

Bankers Assembly Holds Workshop

Psychological aspects of personnel management were reviewed Oct. 12 for the Florida Bankers Association at its Instructor Training Workshop conducted on the Rollins College campus.

Dr. Alexander Waite, Rollins professor of psychology, delivered the address.

The all-day workshop, sponsored by the Personnel Committee of FBA, was attended by bankers from across the state. Rollins students in Prof. Joseph Romita's money and banking class were also invited.

Sessions were conducted in Carnegie Hall and FBA members dined in Rose Skillman Hall.

Robert Warfield, Jr., executive vice president of the first National Bank and Trust Company in Eustis, served as workshop chairman. Director was Asa B. Gardiner, assistant cashier at Barnett National Bank in Jacksonville.

CLASS ELECTIONS DESERVE ATTENTION

Next Wednesday you will vote for officers for your class. If you are a freshman you will almost certainly go to the polls and vote because you are a freshman and still possessed with a feeling of class spirit and enthusiasm.

However, if you are an upperclassman, chances are you may not vote. This has been the case in the past, but let us hope that it is not the case this year.

Sometimes at this time of year, one hears around the campus people discussing class offices. Many people seem to come to the conclusion that they aren't really any use so why bother to vote. Or else if the person does vote, they vote only for members of their social group.

If the students on this campus would stop thinking negatively about class elections and vote for people who they think are capable whether or not they are voting for or against members of their social group, the class officers would be better able to accomplish projects for their class as a class.

This campus is presently organized along the vertical lines of social groups cutting through all class lines. In order for the school to become also organized along horizontal lines, strong class officers are needed.

In the past, the classes have been doing more projects as a class. The freshman class has a Freshman Show and in the spring a skip day. The senior class has pre-commencement activities to think of.

If you want to help make the other two classes active as classes and also to make the freshman and senior classes more active, when you go to the polls on Wednesday (and do go to the polls), vote for the person that you yourself consider the most capable, and in this manner our classes will come to mean much more.

Why is it that the lines in the Beanery last so long? No matter what time you arrive for a meal, there seems to be a line which keeps your appetite waiting for at least twenty minutes. The management is perhaps making up for the losses cited to the students from last year by conserving food. The method of conservation seems to be policy of withholding the main courses until some of the patrons have given up and left in disgust for the Union Snack bar.

Last year one could always wait until about five minutes before closing time and be assured of missing the crowd completely. Now, if you have the audacity to try this trick you may go hungry, because the line will either be closed or there won't be anything left to eat. Cracks about the variety of edibles at Beans have always been in order, but one begins to wonder about the situation when the main course at dinner consists of cold cuts for two nights running.

The Fraternity pledges this year seemed to cause more consternation than ever before. In addition to keeping everyone waiting for many tense minutes, some refused to show up at the right time or the right place. Pledges-to-be were waved off at the houses and instructed to join the main body of the group at the post office (because they're more impressive when arriving in a group), and a couple didn't show up at the correct houses at all until Sunday afternoon, or even later. One pledge was pledged, but IFO has decided to trade him off to another group for some reason or another. Everyone is very hazy about the exact state of affairs as far as his pledgeship is concerned, and he is probably the most confused of all.

What's this about some fraternity men having private suites next year? Because of the new freshman dorm (which is supposed to be completed by fall of '62) the fraternity houses will house only fraternity men. This idea is so logical that one would wonder how it got past the administration, but let's not pursue the point. At any rate, the new plan would result in some houses being far from full, and the upperclassmen may be able to quibble about who gets the largest number of rooms to call his own next fall.

As usual most of the men's groups adjourned to the beach following the Sunday noon spectacle at the Beans. Which beaches they frequent was a moot question, but all the participants came back liberally sprinkled with sand and beverages, so we assume that the beaches were the rallying points for the afternoon. There was quite a show put on in the Beanery that night too, and the Dean seemed quite interested. However, things got back to normal, or even a little too normal, on Monday morning. It was a long, quiet day for all the celebrants. Beans got a rest at breakfast too.

Are Americans Losing Their Right-To-Know?

By Congressman William E. Miller

Chairman of the Republican National Committee
From Human Events

Should a Presidential press secretary be a qualified public servant whose primary function is fulfilling the people's right to know? Or do the American taxpayers employ him to operate as a political censor?

The answer is obvious. It applies not only to White House spokesmen but to their colleagues throughout government.

This Administration has shown, however, that it couldn't care less. It is too busy bottling up hard news while supplying the press with artificial and leaked information.

To start from the beginning, the information stew first boiled up at the Pentagon. In February the Kennedy Administration in effect admitted that the "missile gap" was the grand deception of the 1960 campaign. The lid flew off when Secretary McNamara, in a background briefing for newsmen, supported former President Eisenhower's position that no gap existed.

News stories sprouted. (White House Press Secretary Pierre) Salinger challenged the integrity of the writers, calling their stories "inaccurate."

President Kennedy was evasive at his news conference. After hammering at the definite existence of a missile gap in the 1960 campaign, he now told reporters it would be "premature" to conclude there was one.

At the White House, newsmen are trying to do their jobs under a catch-as-catch-can press relations system. The hazards of favoritism, secrecy and a gay, offhand approach to accuracy are ever-present. The New York Daily News listed a few of Salinger's lapses:

"A Salinger announcement that President Kennedy planned to have dinner at the White House with Speaker Rayburn and Vice President Johnson, but no mention that there would be others present, one a newspaper columnist, the other a newspaper publisher.

"Failure to disclose that the President was lunching with 22 guests, including congressional leaders, for a discussion of the Geneva test ban talks. When limousines began passing the White House gate the facts were finally disclosed."

At Palm Beach last May reporters were told not to expect any news of major import. But at a private dinner on May 13 Salinger gathered together a select group of favored newsmen and leaked plans for the Kennedy-Khrushchev parley.

The shut-out White House correspondents tried frantically during the ensuing week to confirm this story of vital public importance. Salinger denied daily for almost a week what he had revealed to his inner circle. "There are no plans for any such meeting at present," was Salinger's way of dividing first and second-class correspondents.

This is only a portion of the saga of news management Kennedy-style. Under it the news media suffer but the greatest loss is borne by individual Americans who find themselves on the receiving end of something less than the whole truth.

Their rights to know is being cruelly eroded and will continue to be until this administration comes to regard information as a public trust rather than a political puff operation.

McCormack Frontrunner For House Speaker Post

From Human Events

Jockeying for the speakership of the House continues, with Democratic Majority Leader John McCormack (Mass.) conceded to be the frontrunner. Only personal intervention by President Kennedy (a long-time factional enemy of McCormack's) can prevent the Bay State veteran from getting the job.

One thing, however, is certain. The next Speaker of the House will be a down-the-line liberal. There will be nothing conservative, nothing "moderate" about his politics.

Eight House Democrats, including McCormack, are mentioned as the possible Speaker. They are characterized in the press as "moderate," go-slow Democrats.

Analysis of their voting records, however, would show them all to be favorites of the ultra-liberal Americans for Democratic Action and of Big Labor.

An ADA score card for the last session just released shows that each candidate voted the liberal line at least 50 percent of the time. They are, in addition to McCormack, Albert, Boggs, Bolling, Elliott, Mills, Rains and Walter.

Republicans are standing aloof from the Democratic Donnybrook, but privately make no secret of their feelings about the speakership. They favor Arkansas' Wilbur Mills as the "most fair, most impartial of the lot." They do not deny Mills' generally liberal voting record, but they feel that he would not use the Speaker's chair for outright political warfare, would make impartial rulings and would respect GOP rights in the House.

The Chapel Tower

By T. S. DARRAH

One thing often leads to another in unexpected ways. A lady in Griswold, Conn., tried to burn the poison ivy from around her house. The home caught fire and was badly damaged. But the poison ivy was killed. It was trampled by the firemen. To be sure the lady was rid of the poison ivy but it seems as though there could have been a less costly and simpler way. But sometimes you wonder if students do much better with their goals. Many put themselves through so much trouble in their academic and private lives. In the end most grow up but the peril and expense in the meantime is too considerable.

Rollins Only Anthropology Major Greene Acts As Curator Of Natural History Museum

By ANN PUDDINGTON
Sandspur Staff

Bruce Greene, one of the members of the L. C. Whiton Peruvian Expedition of 1961, has plenty of artifacts to add to his museum collection and some credits to add to his Anthropology. He is the only student majoring solely in this field at Rollins.

The expedition, which included four people, began with a visit to one of the largest Inca Settlements on the coast. It also took in a flight over the Andes to Pucallpa and then to the Isco settlement via dugout canoe where they spent two weeks.

"When we weren't traveling," Bruce explained, "we were busy making an extensive cultural study, a geographical survey, as well as a medical study." As a result of this, an anthropology report written by Bruce and Louisa C. Whiton will soon be published.

With "professional ditch-digging" in mind, Bruce has done much work in the field of archaeology. Besides excavating in Lima, he has also written a paper on "The Stalling Island culture of Georgia" which entails his own discoveries.

As curator of the Rollins College Museum of Natural History Bruce commented, "Students should take an interest in the museum since it is a project which is valuable to Rollins. As a matter of fact," he added, "some of the pieces are irreplaceable." The two display cases in the student union are an example of the material, usually donated by students and philanthropists.

"Dr. Wilson of the geology department contributed a very fine mineral collection." Bruce went on to explain some of the problems involved such as storage room, proper cases, and a replacement for next year. "What I'm really concerned about now," he said, "is just preserving what we've got."

Bruce's interests at Rollins have not been confined to salvaging museum pieces. He does his own sculpturing and claimed, "I never realized I had any talent at all until I came to Rollins and took every course the school has to offer." Incidentally, this has produced amazing results!

Other activities include being treasurer of Lambda Chi Fraternity, sponsoring deep sea fishing trips for the Outdoor Recreational Committee of the Student Union, and instructing sailing.

These contributions to Rollins have made Bruce feel that, instead "Rollins has done all the contributing. I'm extremely grateful for the opportunities to follow up my interests, which only Rollins would do so completely, and I will hate to leave," he continued. But right now, Bruce has a very new and important concern off campus, and that is his daughter, born less than a month ago.

Pi Beta Phi Pledges Hold First Open House; Theme To Be Polynesian

MARINE CORPS RECRUIT

The Officer Selection Team of the U. S. Marine Corps will be on the Rollins campus for two days next week to interview prospective candidates.

The recruiters will set up headquarters in the basement of the Union building on Oct. 23 and 24. Tests will be administered to all applicants who present themselves at the office.

Dr. K. Griswold To Represent Rollins On FCEE

Dr. Kenneth E. Griswold, Rollins assistant professor of education, has been named the college's representative to the Florida Council on Elementary Education.

As such, he is attending the FCEE meeting in Daytona Beach today, Friday, October 20.

Dr. Griswold, who joined the Rollins faculty in September, has taught in both elementary and secondary public schools and has been an instructor and supervisor of student teachers at Adelphi College.

"Pu Mai Puma", or good evening, will be your greeting when you enter the Pi Beta Phi open house, Tahiki, to be held this Sunday, October 22, from 7:00 to 1:30 in Mayflower Hall.

The event will be hosted by members of the pledge class, and exotic refreshments will be served in keeping with the Polynesian theme. Since it's the first open house of the year, the committee heads Bonnie Whitwell and Karen Krein (publicity), Cary Howard and Karen Lesneski (decorations) and Monica Mann (refreshments), have been working industriously to insure its success.

First Display In MG Features Romantics

The first art exhibition of this year, featuring works by such masters as Cezanne, Renoir, Matisse, and Picasso, is now on display at the Morse Art Gallery.

The collection is made up of nearly 140 graphics, including pieces by Maillol, Turcios, Vuillard, and Degas, as well as the aforementioned artists. The display was arranged through the Roten Galleries of Baltimore, Maryland.

These particular works have been chosen for display because their prices make them available to art enthusiasts who are just beginning their collections. They are all for sale at prices ranging from $4.00 to $100.00, and James Anderson, Rollins art instructor, has revealed that many of them are fast becoming collector's items.

This exhibition may be viewed at the Morse Gallery from 2 to 5 a.m. daily.

Rollins Tars and Stetson Hatters Will Renew Sports Feud In Sandspur Bowl

BY BOB MAY
Sandspur Staff

The Tars will encounter their oldest rival in the Sandspur Bowl today at 3:30 p.m.

Stetson, who has never captured the Florida Intercollegiate Conference crown, is still one of the biggest threats that Rollins will face this year. Last year it was the Hatters who made it possible for the Tars to defeat Jacksonville in the Florida Intercollegiate Conference championship.

During the past two seasons Stetson, who has bowed to Rollins five successive times, will be eager to break their losing streak. However, if the Greek bandits are true to form, the Hatters may have to wait a little longer. Whatever the outcome, one can be sure that Stetson will be here in full force to support their squad.

Past years have proven that the Hatters are all business, when it comes to competing against the Tars. But no matter how many bands or how much spirit they have, Rollins is confident that they will make it six games in a row.

Since the soccer team has won its first two engagements, the boys feel that an undefeated season is in store.

In the past history of Stetson-versus-Rollins competition has shown numerous hard fought clashes. Last year another demoralizing defeat was handed to the Hatters basketball squad by the Tars. This victory was the highlight of Rollins basketball schedule. Tempers flared and elbows were thrown by Tar opponents, but in the end it was Rollins all the way 71-70.

On another occasion the Tars baseball team put the Hatters to shame. The clutch performance on April 22, when Stetson was held hitless and scoreless for a hard fought nine innings of top-notch ball. Then the next game Stetson beat Rollins for the first time in their last 12 games.

Also, in the last several years, Rollins has delivered convincing victories over the Hatters in tennis, golf, and crew. The convincing win in tennis was the Tars opener against Stetson, 7-2. The crew team keeps the edge over Stetson in a couple of ways, victory-wise and more open water. As far as golf is concerned the Hatters are not "sweet swingers" like the Tars.

Ed Flory Returns, Will Play Baseball; Doug Baxendale Giving Up Basketball

By WAYLON LEE

Welcome back to Rollins, Ed Flory. Ed came to Rollins as a freshman in 1956 and after his sophomore year in 1958 decided to get his hitch in the armed service over with. That was 3 years ago and this year Ed is back to finish up where he left off. Coach Justice speaks well of Flory since he makes the scholarship selection committee look good. Big Ed excels in baseball, but he is also an outstanding fullback on the soccer team. Playing two sports, keeping scholarship grades as a pre-med major, and being a heck of a nice fellow is about all you can ask. No wonder Joe speaks well of Ed Flory.

Carl Mutert is considering quitting baseball. Carl attended Rollins as a freshman in 1960 and since he felt that he was going to flunk out in spite of all he could do, he signed with the Philadelphia Phillies before school was out.

Coach Justice was out of town at the time and when he came home to find out the story, he wasted no time writing a letter to the front office of the Phillies letting them know his position. Joe also let Carl know that he was making a mistake when Carl came back the following spring on a visit.

"Moocher" Mutert played with Johnson City, Tennessee, the first year and last year played with Statesville, North Carolina. Now Carl has come to the conclusion that it isn't worth it. Right after Carl originally signed, his father passed away and since he was the oldest son, his bonus money helped tide the family over. For this reason he felt that it was best for him to have signed.

Now, however, in Carl's own words, "I don't want Joe to know it because he will say 'I told you so,' but he was right. What I wouldn't give to be back in school again." Carl has a good job in the off season and hopes to sign with the Orlando Dodgers next year so he can keep his job in the daytime. However, this ought to be a pretty good hit for other boys who hope to play pro ball for a living that it isn't a picnic.

Doug Baxendale has decided not to play varsity basketball this season. Doug is a tremendous baseball player and anyone who has ever seen him play basketball would not doubt that he could make the team. However, since Doug is a senior, Coach Nymicz felt that it would be best to leave the place open for a freshman and look to the future. There are no hard feelings on either side but if Doug had it to do over, he would go out for basketball his freshman year.

Tars Top Southern 3-1 In 1961 FIC Opener

Last Friday Rollins played host to Lakeland's Florida Southern for the first game of the Florida Intercollegiate Soccer Championship. The Tars defeated the visitors 3-1.

The game was played on a rainy afternoon, but not even the weather could stop the Tars, for late in the first quarter, Elias Terzopoulos came through the first goal of the afternoon. Unexpecttedly Fla. Southern tied the score just before the quarter ended.

In the second quarter the semi-wet fans saw the Rollins half line put on a display of mastery as they kept the ball on the opposition's half of the field, and as a result, Demetrius Coutsoloutsos scored one more goal from a long pass. Still having control of the ball, Demetrius scored the last goal of the day after a series of beautiful plays starting with the fullback up through the half line to the front line and finally to the goal. The second half was controlled by Rollins.

This Friday, Rollins will take on their arch-rival, Stetson, in the Sandspur Bowl.

21 Cagers Report For First Practice

Tar Basketball coach Dan Nyimicz held the first day's practice session for the 1961-62 edition of the Rollins basketball team on Monday, October 16. Twenty-one men reported to the Winter Park High School gym for the initial workout.

Of the twenty-four men expected to try out this year, only Mike Bailey, Leon Hollon, and Ralph Tanchuk are returning lettermen. Five additional non-lettermen, Tom Weber, Rick Keller, Ken Salmon, Dennis Casey, and Dave Tanchuk are back from last year's squad which won seven games and lost fourteen.

Coach Nyimicz expects his team this year to be one with more height but less experience. Freshmen contributing their talents at the center-forward positions include Butch Hearn (6-4), Pat Farnworth (6-3), Jerry Joondepth (6-3), and Steve Fehmerling (6-3). Freshman Jim McCracken is expected to provide some badly needed experience in spite of the fact that this is his first year of college ball. Jim has had three years of experience playing basketball while in the service.

Inexperience notwithstanding, Nyimicz feels that the basketball team can be expected to improve on last season's performance, especially if the Tars can garner a few of the lucky points which spelled success or defeat in several close games last year.

Government Prof. Readies Recreation Statement For State

Dr. Paul Douglass, noted proponent of recreational growth and progress, has completed a statement for Massachusetts on recreational organization within its government which he was requested to prepare by the State's Legislative Research Bureau.

The government professor has been conducting research on such state-related recreation problems for a number of years, and at the 1959 Recreation Congress was one of the draftsmen of the Code of Ethics submitted to the American Recreation Society.

One of his articles on recreation, "Why States are Sparking Recreation's Growth," was recently reprinted by the State of Kansas and widely circulated, and was originally published in the American Recreation Journal.

Varsity Golfers Start Tournament At Dubsdread

The varsity golf tournament has gotten under way at the Dubsdread Country Club with most of the first round matches already played. Seven matches will have been played by the time of publication of the Sandspur. The other nine matches were Byes.

Of the seven matches played, most of them were very close. Of the nine Byes drawn, most of them ended in a close finish on the nineteenth hole, with the bartender playing an important role in the victory.

Results of first round matches played: Hollander defeated McCauliff; Kline defeated Brighthaupt; Daus defeated Choolgrian; Sladd defeated Watson; Justice defeated Sauer.

Second round matches: Lamontaigne vs. Ciglech; Breckenridge vs. Hollander; Kirouac vs. winner of D. Reagan-Lauterback; Reed vs. Kline; Van Gerbig vs. winner of Chapman-Hall; May vs. Daus; Doser vs. Sladd; B. Reagan vs. Justice.

had a one-man conference about your future lately?

You:

Why the gold bars?

Future You:

You're needed... just as your father and grandfather were. It's an obligation that a lot of qualified college men have to meet. If we don't...

You:

All right. But what can I do for the Air Force?

Future You:

The Air Force needs college trained men and women as officers. This is caused by the rapidly advancing technology that goes with hypersonic air and space flight. Your four years of college have equipped you to handle complex jobs.

You:

Say I was interested... how can I get to be an officer?

Future You:

You know about Air Force ROTC and the Air Force Academy. Then there's the navigator training program. You've probably heard about Officer Training School... where the Air Force takes certain college graduates, both men and women, and commissions them after three months of training.

You:

Starting salary is important. What about that?

Future You:

Add it up. Base pay, tax-free allowances, free medical and dental care, retirement provision, perhaps flight pay. You don't have to be an eco major to see it adds up to an attractive package.

You:

I've been thinking about getting my Master's.

Future You:

As an officer you can apply for the Air Force Institute of Technology. At no cost, and while on active duty some officers may even win their Ph.D. degrees.

You:

Let me more.

That's the job of your local Air Force Recruiter. Or write to Officer Career Information, Dept. SC110, Box 7608, Washington 4, D.C., if you want further information about the navigator training or Officer Training School programs.
