Romita Wins City Commissioner Post

By JANE MORGAN
Associate News Editor

"I have no political machine," claimed Dr. Joseph Romita, Rollins economics professor-turned-politician, "and Dr. Douglass' Center for Practical Politics did not assist me at all."

Dr. Romita, Winter Park's newly-elected city commissioner, was discussing his new position and the path he took to reach it. "I have had no past experience other than theoretical knowledge and a PhD in political and economic science," he said. "My cards said only that I am an 'educator and economist' . . . and I did not emphasize my connection with Rollins."

Calling his campaign "relatively easy," he pictured it as being surprisingly non-political in nature. "Unlike my opponents," he said, "who gave political talks and spent money on advertising, I didn't spend a single penny on advertising, and most of my campaign speeches were non-political in nature. In fact, I was just accommodating the community service clubs with requests to fulfill a speaker's engagement." And none of the clubs, he reported, would allow him to even mention the fact that he was running for office.

When asked why he chose to be a candidate, Dr. Romita replied that he felt it was his "civic and patriotic duty" to do so. "I feel that it is the . . . duty of an educator to work for better government," he said.

Questioned about what he hoped to accomplish as a commissioner, the professor referred to one of his campaign circulars, which called him a conservative who planned to work for progressive city government and promised "persistent planning to meet the needs of our city through and budgeting of the taxpayer's dollar."

Although he is not yet officially a city commissioner, Dr. Romita says that he has already begun to run into political pitfalls. "My opponent had me kicked out of a meeting in City Hall a few nights ago," he said. He explained that one of the men whom he had run against had objected to his presence in a closed meeting because he was not yet an office-holder. But he spoke favorably of his new position, and said he was very happy about having won his first seat in local government.

Choir Presents Christmas Service

CANDLEBEARERS IN LAST MONDAY'S Christmas Service were Cynthia Ramsey, Joan Chase, Ruth Lynn Whittaker, and Susan Hazard. The service is an annual event given by the Chapel Choir.

Community Service Club Presents Annual Party For Needy Children

Sixty-two children, the largest group ever, were feted by the Community Service Club at their annual Christmas party this year, held Sunday, Dec. 10, at 4:15 p.m. in the Rollins Union.

The children, ranging in age from 1 to 16, were from the Orange County Parental Home. They were entertained at the party, which was co-sponsored by the Special Projects Committee of the Rollins Union, with carols, stories, and a visit from Santa Claus.

The biggest attraction of the day was, of course, St. Nick, who talked to each of the children and distributed gifts. A professional Santa, he was described by party chairman Glancy Jones and Bebe Willis as "just wonderful with the children."

Jeanne Deemer, Laura Jane Clayton and Jeannine Neubert entertained with some of the classic Christmas songs, including "Santa Claus is Coming to Town," "Frosty the Snowman," and "Silent Night." The traditional favorite story, "A Visit from St. Nicholas," was read by Teri Varley, and the program was concluded with group carol singing.

Cookies and punch were served at the party, and the children ended the day with dinner before leaving Rollins.

Community Service Club president Paula Horwitz termed the party "very worthwhile and enjoyable." "The children seemed to have a wonderful time," she added, "and the girls certainly had a good time working on it. I know they all felt it was very rewarding and satisfying."

Webber Represents College At Tampa

Dr. Emily Webber, associate professor of music education and piano at Rollins, represented the college recently at a meeting in Tampa on "Music for the Elementary Education Major."

The session was sponsored by the Teacher Education Advisory Council, State of Florida, Department of Education.

Active as a lecturer, piano soloist and accompanist, Dr. Webber has served on national committees for the Music Educators National Conference.

Bonnie Stewart Named To Upper Court Position

Bonnie Stewart was appointed senior member of the Upper Court at a meeting of the Student Council last Tuesday evening. She will assume her position on the court winter term and serve until graduation. Bonnie was recommended by the executive council to replace the department senior member, Jeannie Abendroth Dixon.

A motion that members of next years entering class not be permitted to have cars on campus until their sophomore year was submitted by David Hines, Chairman of the Traffic Committee, and was defeated. The motion, which had been passed previously by the faculty, was proposed to alleviate the parking problem on campus.

Another fact considered in submitting the motion was that statistical studies on other campuses indicate that grade point averages of freshmen tend to drop when they acquire cars. In addition, permission of freshmen to have cars on campus tends to be a condition regarded unfavorably by high school counsellors when recommending colleges.

A suggestion was made that the finishing of the recently enlarged lot adjacent the K. A. house would provide adequate parking space for most of the cars on campus and would relieve any future parking problem.

In addition, if a portion of this lot were reserved for the faculty, whose cars aren't moved during the day, some of the present faculty spaces could be relinquished to students. This would give those students who need to move their car several times during the day greater access to their cars. It is not known whether construction of the field house would require part of the proposed parking area.

An alternate motion that all upperclassmen maintaining a C average be permitted to have cars and all freshmen maintaining an average of C-plus be permitted to have cars the last two terms of their freshman year was proposed by Bill Tone and was tabled until the next Council meeting.

Danny Carr and Jim Stein were appointed as student members of a committee to discuss with other small Florida colleges the possibilities of establishing a league for non-subsidized football. Faculty members of this committee are Dr. Wendell Stone, Dr. Dan Thomas, and Joe Justice, Athletic Director. Each social group has been asked to select two members to serve on a subcommittee with Carr and Stein.

Comptroller Sally Zuengler reported a balance of $40,387.76 in the Student Association fund. The total income to date has been $44,404.91. This amount is made up of $33,160 from Student Association fees, $3,138.66 cash brought forward, $7,650 from the Investment Account, and $456.25 general.

Expenses for the fall term have been $800 in returned Student Association Fees, $2,101.88 for Sandspur, $1.91 for Flamingo, $804.67 for Tomokan, and $308.69 for general expenses. This makes total expenditures to date $4,017.15.

A motion to allocate $1,500 to the Fiesta Committee was tabled until the next meeting of Council.

Non-Expensive Gifts For Friends, Gas Certificates, Subscriptions, Pins, Suggested

By PAT TEAGUE
Sandspur Feature Editor

If you've been putting off your Christmas shopping for this year, perhaps yours is the usual problem of what to get for your friends that will be appreciated, yet not expensive to your budget.

And if you're the social type with more than a few close friends, but less than a few dollars, then you're looking for gifts which look expensive but really aren't.

This year why not try the practical approach to gift-buying? The gift, though not expensive, will be appreciated just as much if it is something that can be used.

As an example of someone on your list, take your sorority sister who's pinned to Mr. Wonderful 2000 miles away. She'd be more than enthusiastic to get a large box of very feminine stationery with a book or two of stamps tucked inside.

If your fraternity brother really puts the mileage on his four-wheeled chariot, be it Jaguar or jalopy, then a gift certificate for a tank of his favorite brand of gas might be in order.

A freshman coed who's trying her best to collect a collegiate wardrobe will be thrilled to receive a gold or silver circle pin for the added touch to sweaters and blouses.

Maybe your best friend is an avid reader on current events or a girl who feasts on the fashion news. Why not give them a gift subscription to an appropriate magazine like "Time," "U. S. News and World Report," "Mademoiselle" or "McCall's?" A magazine subscription is a gift that keeps on giving and reminds your friend of your thoughtfulness throughout the year.

The fellow or coed who seems to be in a million-and-one activities and has a heavy schedule of courses will appreciate an engagement book that gives a picture of the month's, the week's or the day's plans at a glance.

Such a book would be comparatively inexpensive yet invaluable for keeping track of meetings, term paper deadlines and other obligations.

A large box of thank-you notes would be the most practical gift to that chum you know will be flooded with Christmas gifts or perhaps gifts for an upcoming wedding.

If your roommate is the type who's always rearranging her hair style on a do-it-yourself basis, she'll be delighted with some new hair curling gadgets and a can of hairspray.

When it comes to buying gifts the magazine, for kid brothers and sisters, the Rollins bookstore can help you out. A pennant, or stuffed animal with the Rollins name or in the college colors will be something "special" for the youngster who brags about his big brother or sister who's "off at college."

Deadline For 'Flamingo' Set For February

Flamingo editor Kristen Bracewell has announced that the deadline for manuscripts to be submitted for publication in the winter term issue of the Flamingo, has been set for February.

The tri-annual literary publication strives for variety in its content. The Flamingo publishes essays, satires, and one-act plays as well as short stories, poetry and art work.

Elle Wise, Shoreen Tews, and Alberto Sepulveda are members of the advisory board. Pat Corry is art editor; Sally Zuengler is business manager. Dr. Charles Mendell, head of the English department, is the faculty advisor for

Indie Women, Lambda Chis Win First Union Spelling Bee Tuesday

The Independent Women and Lambda Chi were proclaimed the dual winners of the first Rollins intramural spelling bee, held in the Union on Tuesday, Nov. 28.

Trophies were awarded to the fraternity and sorority whose representatives were the last to be eliminated from the contest. Each social group on campus sent two representatives to the contest, sponsored by the Union Indoor-Outdoor Recreation Committee.

Jane Ruble and Jane Morgan represented the Independent Women, and Jeff Hicks and John R. Hughes were the contestants from Lambda Chi. Miss Morgan and Hicks were the last spellers to be eliminated from the contest, with Miss Morgan edging out Hicks and Alpha Phi's Posy Wilson to clinch the trophy for the Independents.

The spellers were given two chances to spell their words correctly and were eliminated if they failed to do so. No contestant was required to spell words missed by other contestants.

Though the trophies were awarded by the process of elimination, scoring was done by a point system in which each group received one point for each word spelled correctly by their contestants. Point-wise, the Independent Women were on top with a score of 27, and Alpha Phi was next with a score of 17.

Callers for the spelling bee were Al Colman and Doug Prevost. Breck Boynton served as scorekeeper.

This was the first of three spelling bees to be held this year. One will take place every term, and the trophies will be awarded each time to the winning social groups, who may keep them only until the next contest. Then, if a group wins the trophy for three successive terms, they will be allowed to keep the award permanently.

Four Union, Two Foreign Films Set For Winter Term

Once again during the winter term, the Rollins Union will present a series of four films to be shown on Sundays during January, February, and March. The first of the films "Les Girls" will be shown on Jan. 7, price 50 cents. The second, "Helen of Troy," will be on Feb. 4 for 35 cents, "High Society" will be shown on Feb. 4 for 50 cents and on March 4, "Pride and Prejudice" will be shown for 35 cents.

All Union films will be shown at 6:30 in the Fred Stone Theatre.

Two foreign films will be shown during the winter term. On Jan. 4, a Spanish film "Calle Mayor" will be shown. The Russian film "Inspector General" will be shown on Feb. 13.

Foreign films are shown at 7:30 p.m. in the Annie Russell Theatre.

Katharine Gibbs Offers 2 Awards For Senior Girls

Two national scholarships for college senior girls are offered for 1962-1963 by the Katharine Gibbs School. These awards were established in 1935 as a memorial to Mrs. Katharine M. Gibbs, founder and first president of the school.

Each scholarship consists of full tuition $935 for the secretarial training course, plus an additional cash award of $500, totaling $1,435. The winners may select any one of the four Gibbs schools for their training—Boston, New York, Montclair, or Providence.

Winners are chosen by the Scholarship Committee on the basis of college academic record, personal and character qualifications, financial need, and potentialities for success in business.

Each college or university may recommend two candidates, and each candidate must have this official endorsement. Students who may be interested in competing for one of these Katharine Gibbs awards may obtain full information from the college placement bureau.

Cast Rehearses For Next ART Production

Freshman Class Begins Rehearsal For 1962 Show; Cast Of 119 Chosen For Play

The Class of 1965 has started the ball rolling for the production of the annual Freshman play. The play, called "Where Are We Going," was written by George Morgan; he was assisted by Dave Ward, Paul Kordy, and a committee of other freshmen. It will be produced the first part of February.

The scripts have been passed out to the principles of a cast of over a hundred. There is still a need for stage, costume, and scenery crews. The Freshman Class hopes to encompass all of the class that are interested.

This year, because of speciality act and new ideas, one will see a bright uplift in the traditional play.

The play will run for seven acts. Its cast of 119 is said to be the largest in the history of the freshmen shows at Rollins, and it includes such variegated roles as carrot eaters, sandwich men, pallbearers, nutcatchers, pledgewatchers, confetti spreaders, and a lynch mob.

"It will be well worth everybody's trouble to go and see the show," the producer Morgan, said, when asked to comment on the play. Concerning the progress of the production, he said, "We have had only two rehearsals, but so far, I am very well pleased."

The committee has announced that rehearsals are to continue every Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights until the date of the show. Participants are requested to bring scripts and cast sheets to each rehearsal and to be present at the Fred Stone Theater promptly at 7:15 p.m.

Freshmen participating in the show are the following:

Roberts, Harry Rodda, Anita Roncaglione, David Roy.

Teri Varley, Tom Walker, Harry Ward, Libby Westgate, Bonnie Whitwell, Renee Wolfe, Terry Young, Lynn Zwillman.

This year, unlike last year's show, continuous musical accompaniment will be provided by a band in the orchestra pit. Members of the band are:

Trumpet, Randy Kelley; drums, Harry Rodda; guitar, Elliot Randolph and Dave Roberts; piano, Sarah Dudley Brown; and clarinet, Sheila Stacy. Special accompanists for Scene V will be Elvin Johns and Evelyn Bedient.

Chase Announces Casting Schedule For Williams Play

Robert Chase of the Theatre Arts Department has announced the casting call for A Streetcar Named Desire. It will be held in the Fred Stone Theatre Green Room at 7:00 p.m. on Wednesday, January 10, and Thursday, January 11. If necessary Friday, January 12, will also be used.

All people who want to read should be on hand from 7-7:30 on Wednesday, January 10 for announcements and a setting up of readings. Readings will have to be worked in with rehearsals of Look Homeward, Angel.

Copies of Streetcar are available at the library reserve desk. Mr. Chase requests that any one interested in trying out for the play read it through first.

Catharine Crozier Presents First Organ Vespers Jan. 3

Catherine Crozier Gleason, Knowles Memorial Chapel organist, will present the first program of the year in the series of Organ Vespers on Wednesday, January 4, at 4:30 p.m. in Knowles Memorial Chapel.

This series, presented annually by Mrs. Gleason, includes the great works for organ, as well as for other instruments and the voice.

This program, which is designated to illustrate two musical idioms — the passacaglia and the chaconne — will feature the Chaconne in G minor, by Louis Couperin; the Chaconne in D minor, by Johann Pachelbel; and the Chaconne in E minor, by Dietrich Buxtehude.

The portion of the program devoted to the passacaglia will include the Trio en Passacaille, by Andre Raison; and the Passacaglia and Fugue in C minor, by J. S. Bach. The program will conclude with the Chorale in B minor, by Cesar Franck.

All of the programs in this series are free to Rollins students.

Dr. Hellwege To Speak At Seminar

Dr. Herbert Hellwege of the Rollins Science department will speak at the Analytical Chemical Division Seminar in Oak Ridge, Tennessee, on Dec. 20. He will leave for the meeting on Dec. 17 and remain at Oak Ridge until Dec. 23. The speeches will be given from Dec. 18-20.

Dr. Hellwege's speech, "Thermodynamics of the Solvent Extraction of Metal Chelates," is the fourth in a series on Solvent Extraction.

This past summer, Dr. Hellwege conducted research at the University of Tennessee. He has continued it this year at Rollins and will return to the University this summer.

Alpha Phi Pledges Plan Peppermint Lounge Party

The pledges of Alpha Phi will hold their annual Open House on Sunday, January 7, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The theme this year is "Come to the Peppermint Lounge." The Peppermint Lounge is the birthplace of the twist. All the college is invited to Cloverleaf Hall to the open house.

I WOULD LIKE TO WISH THE STUDENTS AND FACULTY A DELIGHTFUL CHRISTMAS AND A HAPPY NEW YEAR.

Poetry Club Hears Ferlinghetti; Plans To Study, Criticize Poems

Ferlinghetti accompanied by bongo drums was the subject of the first meeting of the year for the Poetry Discussion Club. "This was just by way of introduction," explained Mr. Folsom, faculty advisor of the group. Its main purpose is "to look at member's poetry and give and get constructive criticism."

The latest activity is the sponsoring on the local level of a national poetry contest. This competition, announced by the Student Poets Association, is "to encourage poetry writing among college students and to provide an opportunity for student poets to compare their work with the work of their contemporaries." Open to all undergraduate and graduate students in colleges throughout the United States, the reward for the best poems submitted will be publishing in the association's forthcoming anthology as well as cash prizes for the best seven of those printed. Deadline for the contest will be January 20, 1962. All styles of poetry will be encouraged by Rollins' group, perhaps with accompaniment by poetry's sister art, music—as was the case with the Ferlinghetti record heard by the members. Occasionally, when "the muse lapses," discussion will be of modern poets in print. All students interested in either the writing band or the discussion of this art are invited to come to Woolson House every other Wednesday at 7:30.

Sandspur Editorials

LET'S MAKE SOME RESOLUTIONS

Fall term at long last is over! There's a feeling of Christmas in the air even though the air is a trifle warm for that snowy, bundled-up feeling usually associated with Christmas. There has been music in the air and wrapping paper flying and then the ever-faithful suitcase packing that heralds another vacation here at Rollins.

The Sandspur staff has covered their typewriters, hidden the rubber cement again, and that copy of last year's Tomokan that keeps disappearing. The staff is caroling joyously about no more deadlines to meet for three weeks, just lots of relaxation and FUN! The Sandspur editor is wending her way out of her basement residence delighted to see that people really do exist outside and that there IS a sky

In the past years, the Sandspur has written long lists to Santa Claus with great hopes that he will bring the things Rollins needs. Four years ago, the Sandspur asked for a journalism class. It has never materialized but it is something for which many would be most grateful. A field house was wanted. This present is much nearer than it was then and maybe in a couple of years, the Sandspur can mark that off the list as present received.

Higher salaries for our professors were also asked for. We're still hoping, Santa! We'd also like some of those classes that are as zealous as the freshmen class. The longer a student stays at Rollins, it seems, the more spirit dribbles from his veins.

Two years ago, the Sandspur asked for a new science building. Let's hope that Santa has it under construction somewhere in his shop in the North Pole because it is still on our list. A Russian course was also asked for, and this was accomplished last year. Thanks, Santa!

And the Sandspur office could still use that IBM machine that writes headlines to fit that was wanted in 1959.

This year, the paper would like to add to its list and elementary course in Italian—something for which many music students would be thankful. We would also like a greater feeling of school spirit to bind us as a school together and eliminate the overabundance of small group feeling.

And we'd like a new and sturdier building to replace Lyman so that it could fall gracefully into the hole that it is presently living near. While we're dreaming and thinking of that jolly man up North, how about air-conditioning for the Union? Air-conditioning made great strides on the campus last summer but there are still places where it would be most useful.

On the more positive side, let's make some new year's resolutions. Let's resolve to be friendly to everyone and do away with cattiness and gossip and become more perfectly that Rollins Family that we are called.

Let's try to strike a happy balance with the proper emphasis on academic and extra-curricular activities. And for heaven's sakes, let's resolve to develop more of that intellectual atmosphere that every college should have.

Let's learn to think more and talk less so that when we leave Rollins we'll know we've spent our four years (that we'll never have again) well. Let's resolve to develop a more mature outlook on life so that when we are gone we can serve some useful purpose in this world that is so full of difficulties and misunderstandings.

And before we go home to old friends, Christmas trees, caroling, presents and all the fun things of Christmas, let's remember how Christmas began. Think of the Christ Child who came to save the world. And think of our world and what we can do for it. Remember that Christmas does have a serious side.

Think about all these things—and in the meantime the Sandspur staff would like to wish you the merriest of Christmases and the happiest and best of New Years. Have a marvelous vacation—and we'll see you again in 1962.

Have you noticed that the venerable student center clock has resumed its rightful place on the center wall, above the entrance to the post office. Surely this is a great convenience to all, since center time has been the campus standard (unofficial) for a long time. Wrist watches have been dependable timetellers, because everybody seems to have a different time. Having no way to synchronize everyone's timepieces at any one time, the only logical alternative was the replacing of the one dependable device on campus. Now we can all sit in the center between classes and be sure of leaving no more than thirty seconds ahead of time. Now we don't have to waste any time waiting around in class rooms for classes to begin, when we could be still sitting in the center discussing the important issues on campus.

We noticed that the roast beef at the Beanery last Sunday was somewhat on the well-done side. Wonder if the student body will stand for such a change, when it is used to having its roast beef I mean really rare. It's hard to get away from old traditions like this. Maybe the Student Council will get on the Beanery committee and make them right this deplorable state of affairs, or at least make them consult the students before making any more drastic changes in policy.

And while we're on the subject of the Beanery, the lake side serving line in there is getting tired of being discriminated against. It seems all the students invariably turn into the other side of the line rather than walk over to the far side, especially when the lines aren't too long on either side. Beans chairman Barry Lasser has been trying to correct this situation by collaring all the students at the door and directing them to either one side of the line or the other, as conditions warrant at the moment. We're all proud of you, Barry.

A chorus of boo's was heard recently in Beans when a city (Winter Park?) policeman was on hand to remove a mean ol' dawg from the premises. The culprit was gently taken in hand and led from the building and on to parts unknown, while Mrs. Lamb looked on approvingly from a distance. Odd that not one of the stalwart college men present could be entrusted with the performance of the maneuver.

And the yawning aperture in the earth behind Chase Hall grows bigger and bigger. Hope there's not a real heavy rain someday, or that hole may become filled up with water and Chase Hall. The old place has always leaned a little, but that's pushing things a little too far.

Issue Of Who Paper Should Represent Raised In Colorado

BOULDER, COLORADO (UPS) — The old issue of whether a college newspaper should represent the views of the majority of students or of the editor was raised again recently in Colorado — this time by a professional paper.

The Rocky Mountain News, of Denver, Colorado, the professional paper involved, carried an editorial saying, "The Colorado Daily . . . has a curious and, we think, irresponsible, editorial policy." The editorial, which was reprinted in the Daily, went on say that the paper "sneers at the traditional homecoming festivities . . . (but) demands U. S. assent to the admittance of Red China in the United Nations, contrary to bipartisan and State Department policy. It repeatedly has supported a soft approach to Castro's Cuba."

The editorial also said, "Being the only daily on the campus, the Colorado Daily is presumed to represent the best interests of the students . . . Yet how strangely the editor carries out his responsibilities." Later, the editorial says, "Since this is the only campus daily, the casual reader would be inclined to believe that it presents a fair representation of the point of view of the average C U. student."

"This we emphatically believe is not the case. "Yet the Board of Student Publications apparently has not used its capacity as advisors to bring some sense to these editorial distortions."

Daily editor John Farrell replied in an editorial entitled "Will the News Reprint This?" His editorial began by saying, "The Rocky Mountain News . . . has a curious and, we think, irresponsible editorial policy."

Farrell said the News considered the Daily irresponsible "because we tried to put homecoming in perspective by publicizing the events composing the celebration only during the week of their occurrence; and because we proposed the admission of Red China to the United Nations. We based this argument on two points: the inevitability of Red China's admission . . . and on a conception of the U. N. as composed of all nations, especially those who create the problems with which it is designed to seek solutions . . ."

Farrell charged that the News editorial contained falsehoods, citing the fact that no editorial his year has mentioned Cuba.

Most important to Farrell as proof of the irresponsibility of the News is that the newspaper is apparently unconscious of the First Amendment, that a newspaper that is ostensibly so patriotic apparently doesn't understand the essence of our system . . ."

Farrell concludes by asking, "In suggesting that the University squelch the Colorado Daily, is the News speaking in favor of a freedom of the press; of the kind of discussion and debate on which our system thrives?" He also asked the News to reprint his editorial to show "that the lessons the News editor learned in their eighth grade civics classes have not been forgotten."

The Chapel Tower

By T. S. DARRAH

The Christmas season is always so warm, friendly, and cheery. The fact that its spirit comes afresh each year suggests that it gets lost in the traffic of the year. In our sober moments, we know that how we carry on at Christmas is how we ought to carry on all the time with one another and our less gracious spirits

Shakespeare puts it this way in Hamlet: "Some say that ever 'gainst that season comes wherein our Savior's birth is celebrated, the bird of dawning singeth all night long: And then, they say, no spirit dare stir abroad; The nights are wholesome; then no planet strike, No fairy takes, nor witch hath power to charm, So hallow'd and so gracious is the time."

Graduating Senior Mort Dunning Plans To Fly Copters, Later Construction Business

By ANN PUDDINGTON
Sandspur Staff

Mort Dunning, a recently elected Who's Who member, will begin his Christmas vacation today as a graduate of Rollins. "I plan to fly helicopters," said Mort, now in the Army National Guard Aviation Division. He will probably remain in the army for a year or so, then enter the construction business, well prepared with his business and math major.

A transfer student from the University of Miami after his freshman year, Mort has had the experience of feeling like a number in a large institution. "In my opinion," he said, "it's like Sing-Sing. They call your number and you bark." Throwing in an anecdote, Mort added, "I registered in the University as Robert Mort Dunning, and signed all my test papers with just 'Mort' Dunning. So . . . at mid-terms, Robert Dunning was called into the Dean's office for cutting classes and flunking out!" Robert Mort began looking around for a smaller school.

Since his three years and one term here, Mort has become President of ODK and President of Lambda Chi Fraternity. He started his activities with Chapel Staff and Chapel usher. "If I had to do it all over again," he reflected, would require more interest and work, such as in publications. As for fraternities, I didn't even know they existed on the Miami campus, but I've learned a lot since. Lambda Chi has probably done more for me than I have for it."

A varsity tennis player, Mort has been seen mostly on the tennis court and occasionally on the lake manipulating a sailfish, which he built himself. "The sailfish, plus a small gyrocopter, are all part of a wood-working hobby," he explained.

Asked how it feels to be leaving the college behind, Mort replied with conviction, "When I was sixteen I knew everything. Now I know much less."

One of the things that Mort is not leaving behind is a lot of criticism about Rollins, except perhaps a dislike for "people who play the role, or try to play it."

Shell Museum Contains Largest Shell Collection In Western Hemisphere

The largest collection exhibited in the Western Hemisphere of nature's sea jewels, rainbow-colored shells, was opened at Rollins College Nov. 1.

Beal-Maltbie Museum on Holt Avenue will welcome visitors to see its thousands of shells from various habitats in the world. Museum hours are 1 to 5 p.m. weekdays and 2 to 5 p.m. Sundays. Educational groups and children under 12 supervised by adults may see the exhibit at no charge. Funds raised from the regular admission price of 50 cents are used to maintain the collection and to add other rare shells from time to time.

The late Dr. James H. Beal, the nationally known pharmaceutical chemist from Cocoa, presented the shells to Rollins more than 20 years ago for public display. Dr. Birdsey L. Maltbie of Maltbie Chemical Co. in Newark, N. J., a lifelong friend of Dr. Beal, then gave the college a Mediterranean-type building designed for the collection.

The shells vary from the giant clam, which has closed its strong jaws on careless divers, to the minute univalve, which could be placed on the head of a pin.

Most of the specimens were taken alive and never subjected to the sun's rays. Some look like delicate flowers, butterflies, glass, cones or holiday ornaments.

One of the rarest shells in the world is also shown in the collection. The Glory of the Seas, a cone-shaped shell found on a Pacific Island which was later destroyed by earthquake, has been loaned to the College by Alastair Bradley Martin of New York City. The only other two specimens known to be in the United States are at the American Museum of Natural History in New York City.

The Rollins museum is directed by Dr. Paul Vestal, professor of biology. Its curator is Mrs. Robert F. Mason, an alumnae of the College.

Harvard 'Lampoon' Makes Record; Penguin Will Compete With Twist

CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS (UPS)—The Lampoon, a Harvard humor magazine, has entered the realm of rock 'n' roll. Their entry is a record entitled "The Harvard Lampoon Tabernacle Choir Sings at Leningrad Stadium."

The record will feature such old favorites as "My Fall-out Filly with the Atomic Kiss," "The Harvard Coop, boop-boop, boop-boop," and "I'm Losing Irv to the Ready Reserve."

The Lampoon will also go into competition with "The Twist" with a new dance called "The Penguin." According to the songwriter, the song has an original rock'n'roll rhythm. If "The Penguin" is a success, it may be reproduced as a 45 rpm record.

Other selling points for the record include two recitations; a jazz number called "A Christmas Prayer"; "I love you too, sweet earthbound teen lover," a combination answer and death song; and "The Great Namedropper," a baseball song.

FROM SEA TO SHINING SEA

America is a great country. America's cities are full of houses. America's forests are full of trees. America's rivers are full of water. But it is not houses and trees and water that make America great; it is curiosity—the constant quest to find answers—the endless, restless "Why?" "Why?" "Why?"

Therefore, when I was told that Marlboro was a top seller at colleges from USC to Yale, I was not content merely to accept this gratifying fact, I had to find out why.

I hid myself to campuses in every sector of this mighty land. First, I went to the Ivy League—dressed, of course, in an appropriate costume: a skull-and-bones in one hand, a triangle in the other, a mask-and-wig on my head, a hasty pudding in my chops. "Sir," I cried, seizing an Ivy Leaguer by the lapels, which is no mean task considering the narrowness of Ivy League lapels, but, I, fortunately, happen to have little tiny hands; in fact, I spent the last war working in a small arms plant where, I am proud to say, I was awarded a Navy "E" for excellence and won many friends—"Sir," I cried, seizing an Ivy Leaguer by the lapels, "how come Marlboro is your favorite filter cigarette?"

"I'm glad you asked that question, Shorty," he replied. "Marlboro is my favorite filter cigarette because it is the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste."

"Oh, thank you, sir!" I cried and ran posthaste to several campuses in the Big Ten, wearing, of course, the appropriate costume: a plaid Mackinaw, burling boots, a Kodiak bear and frost-bitten ears.

Spying an apple-cheeked young coed, I tugged my forelock and said, "Excuse me, miss, but how come Marlboro is your favorite filter cigarette?"

"I'm glad you asked that question, Shorty," she replied. "Marlboro is my favorite filter cigarette because the flavor is flavorful, the flip-top box flips and the soft-pack is soft."

"Oh, thank you, apple-cheeked young coed," I cried and bobbed a curtsy and sped as fast as my little fat legs would carry me to several campuses in the Southwest, wearing, of course, the appropriate costume: chaps, canteen, and several oil leases. Spying a group of undergraduates singing "Strawberry Roan," I removed my hat and said, "Excuse me, friends, but why is Marlboro your favorite filter cigarette?"

"We are glad you asked that question, Shorty," they replied. "Marlboro is our favorite filter cigarette because we, native sons and daughters of the wide open spaces, want a cigarette that is frank and forthright and honest. We want, in short, Marlboro."

"Oh, thank you, all," I cried and, donning a muu muu, I set sail for Hawaii, because in Hawaii, as in every state where Old Glory flies, Marlboro is the leading seller in flip-top box. On campus, off campus, in all fifty states, wherever people smoke for pleasure in this great land of ours, you will find Marlboro.

And you will also find another winner from the makers of Marlboro—the king-size, unfiltered Philip Morris Commander, made by a new process to bring you new mildness. Have a Commander. Welcome aboard.

Record Review

New Recordings Available For Xmas Shoppers; Opera, Broadway Shows

By GERRY SHEPP

Christmas time always brings up the problem of what to give friends. A good present can often be a record. Many new recordings are available this year. These recordings run from opera to musical comedies.

London records has several new opera recordings recently released. Among these are Otello with Del Monaco, Tebaldi, and Protti; Lucia di Lammermoor with Sutherland, Cioni, Merrill, and Siepi; and Ballo un Maschera with Nilsson, Bergonzi, Simionato, and MacNeil. Another perfect holiday gift is London's Gala Recording of Die Fledermaus with an assembled cast of special guests who perform in the second act ball scene. The performance is perfect, for it captures the complete spirit of the New Years season.

RCA Victor has also released an Otello with Rysanek, Vickers, and Gobbi; The Flying Dutchman with London, Rysanek, Tozzi, and Liebl; and Aida with Price, Gorr, Vickers, and Gobbi. There is also a song recital by Miss Nilsson and a special memorial album of Jussi Bjorling.

Angel records has also released a Flying Dutchman with Fischer-Dieskau, Schech, Frick, and Schock and a new Norma with Callas, Corelli, Ludwig and Zaccaria.

Capitol does not have any complete operas coming out, but they have released three memorial albums to Jussi Bjorling and three for Sir Thomas Beecham which include Ein Heldenleben, My Favorite Overtures, and a two disc anthology. Fans of Victoria de los Angeles may find it hard to give her albums as present since many have been withdrawn by Capitol to be rerecorded and released on the Angel label.

In the classical division, it seems most likely that the Joan Sutherland recording of Lucia will be chosen as this year's best opera recording. The recording has been extended to include almost all of the regular "cuts" in the score. This, and the added fact that Miss Sutherland has restored bel canto singing to opera, makes Lucia the most outstanding effort of the year.

In musical comedies, there are new recordings of Sail Away, Camelot, Carnival!, West Side Story, Kiss Me, Kate, How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, Milk and Honey, and Kean.

The musical with the longest title on Broadway, How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying, and currently the show whose tickets are most in demand will probably win the Music Critics award this year.

All in all, it has been an exciting year for the recording companies. These companies also speak of ambitious recording projects for next year. Any of these records would make a fine gift, and I am sure that anyone receiving one would be most grateful to have it.

Radcliffe Slates Publishing Classes For Next June

The 15th Session of Radcliffe's six-week course on the theory and techniques of publishing has been scheduled from June to August 1962. Enrollment, open to both men and women graduates, is limited to 50. Over 45 book and magazine executives and editors will comprise the faculty.

The course serves several important functions. First, it surveys the requirements and opportunities of the field, and it enables a student to fit his or her talents to the most compatible job. Not all publishing jobs are editorial, and publishers seek special skills in art, production, design, sales and administration. Second, it provides a basic training in publishing skills and techniques. Third, it places students in contact with the publishing field. The placement record is high, and publishers normally offer at least as many jobs as there are students.

Instruction consists of lectures, informal seminars, field trips and discussions. In so far as is possible, students perform the actual functions of publishing from manuscript reports to sales campaigns, from proof reading to book ideas.

The 1962 prospectus will be published in the spring. At that time, more information will be available.

Wagners Wish Rollins Merry Xmas; Would Like To Hear From Everyone

Editor:

Just a short note to tell you how much Molli and I look forward to our weekly copy of the Sandspur. We are missing Rollins so very much, and reading the Sandspur makes us feel a good deal closer.

California is just lovely (don't tell the W. P. C. of C.), and we are enjoying our stay, but look forward to our return to Rollins next fall. By the way, the weather has been so fine and the tennis partners so scarce, I have given up the motorcycle, although we still have it, and taken up an Italian racing bicycle—much more exercise and not as many starting problems.

We want to wish all at Rollins, students, faculty and staff, the happiest of Holiday Seasons and would love to hear from any who may be so inclined. Our address is 405-8 Stanford Village, Stanford, California.

Institute Of International Education
Accepting Applications For Summer

Four British and two Austrian summer schools are offering American students the opportunity to combine 1962 vacation travel abroad with six weeks of liberal arts study next July and August. Applications for study at all six summer schools are now being accepted by the Institute of International Education.

Under the British University Summer Schools program, students can apply for study at various schools, each concentrating on a particular subject and period. Although the courses are designed for graduate students, undergraduates in their last two years at a university will be considered.

Both Austrian summer schools include in their programs the opportunity to attend performances at Salzburg's famed music festival. The Salzburg Summer School, sponsored by the Austro-American Society emphasizes German language study, but courses in art and music and on foreign policy are taught in English. Also included, in addition to attendance at the music festival, are a variety of conducted tours of Salzburg.

The University of Vienna, offering summer courses at its St. Wolfgang Campus near Salzburg, combines study with outdoor life at a mountain lake. Its aim is to enable English-speaking students to become acquainted with Austrian educational and social values.

Applications for both the British and Austrian programs may be obtained from the Information and Counseling Division, the Institute of International Education, 800 Second Avenue, New York 17, N. Y. British Summer School scholarship applications must be received before March 1, 1962, and admission applications before March 31. Scholarship applications for Austrian schools must be returned by March 1, and admission applications by May 1.

Rollins Tars Defeated In Last Two Games Against Sewanee, Jacksonville

By PETE MARINO
Sandspur Staff

Last Tuesday night the Rollins Tars traveled to Lakeland to participate in the fourth annual Citrus Invitational basketball tournament. Rollins, ahead most of the game, lost out in the closing minutes to an inspired University of the South team.

The Tars jumped off to a 6-2 lead and once were eleven points ahead 29-18. Sparky Edgin and Tommy Dykes closed the gap for Sewanee, and when the two teams left the floor at half time Rollins led 30-26.

Sewanee tied the score early in the second half, but the Tars led by Leon Hollon and Ralph Tanchuk once again pulled ahead.

With Rollins leading 58-55, in the closing minutes, Sewanee came back on baskets by Duncan and Edgin. In the closing seconds, with the game tied, Duncan scored a field goal to give Sewanee the victory.

Last Friday night the Rollins basketball team traveled to Jacksonville for their first away game. Jacksonville features one of the leading scorers in the country, Roger Strickland who is averaging 37.2 points per game.

Strickland and his four other teammates rolled by the Tars 92-55. It was Jacksonville's first triumph in the Florida Intercollegiate Conference this year, and Rollins' second defeat.

Butch Hearn was high scorer for the Tars with 10 points, while Strickland was high for Jacksonville with 31. Dennis Casey, Leon Hollon and Phil Hurt each got 8 points for the Tars.

R Club Announces Women's Honorary Varsity Basketball

By BONNIE STEWART
Sandspur Staff

On Monday, December 4, the Women's "R" Club announced the members of the 1961 women's honorary varsity basketball team. Selection to this team is based upon the individual's ability, sportsmanship, and participation in the intramural program. Receiving this recognition for the season are Sally Charles, Stevie Dean, Jeanne Deemer, Jane Faxon, Sue Hazard, Amelia Hunt, Sandra Jordan, Karen Parachek, Joan Pinkerton, Linda Qualls, Lee Russell, Sandy Smith, Bonnie Stewart, Nancy Thompson and Janie Woodworth.

In addition to the above mentioned team, an All Star team was chosen to conclude the intramural program with a game against the winners of the IM trophy. The following girls were chosen for the All Star team: Sally Charles, Stevie Dean, Jane Faxon, Sue Hazard, Amelia Hunt, Sandra Jordan, Margie Smith, Joan Pinkerton, Linda Qualls, Bonnie Stewart, Nancy Thompson and Jane Woodworth. With a score of 22-18, the All Stars defeated the Thetas on December 6.

X Club Wins Football Championship; Lambda Chis, Sigma Nus Tie In Tennis

The X-Club went through the Flag Football season without a defeat to take the championship and defeated the Delta Chis and Lambda Chi's in the Shaughnessy play for the title. In the final game against the Lambda Chi they won 27 to 6.

The game was close all the way with the long passes of Jesse Lee making the difference.

Lee connected with two touchdown passes to Brazel Moore and Hoppy Conner that were over thirty yards and these long passes broke the back of the Lambda Chi defense.

The blocking in the line was rough and Bob Fox and Jim Emerson played some good defense for the losers while Danny Carr and Jim Cooper were outstanding for the X-Club.

In the semi-final game the Lambda Chis defeated the Sigma

Nus in one of the best games of the year.

In Intramural tennis the Faculty handed the Sigma Nus their first defeat of the season when they won 4 to 1. This loss threw Sigma Nu in a tie with the Lambda Chis for the championship in this sport. The Faculty ended their season with 5 wins and 2 losses which gave them a tie for second place. In the winter term a double elimination Soccer tournament will be held with some of the games at Harper Sheppard field and some at the Sandspur bowl. On Wed. Jan. 10 the TKE's play the Delta Chi's; On Thursday the X-Club meets the Lambda Chi's and on Friday the Indie play the Sigma Nus.

Regular bowling will get under way at the Medallion Lanes on Friday Jan. 12 with a warm-up session and the regular league will start the following Friday.

Eleven Groups To Form Seminars In European Cities Next Summer

Eleven groups, each containing twenty to thirty selected American college students, will form seminars in various European cities next summer to study the language, culture and civilization of these countries during a nine-week stay. Classrooms Abroad tries to give students a more profound experience through a summer of living in one of the following cities: Berlin, Munich, or Tübingen in Germany; Vienna, Austria; Besancon, Grenoble, or Pau in France; Neuchatel in Switzerland; Madrid or Santander in Spain; and Florence, Italy.

Members of Classrooms Abroad will live with private families in each city. Each group will follow its seven-week stay in a city or town with an optional two-week tour of German, French, Spanish, or Italian areas. Since most programs end in mid-August, participants have a chance to remain in Europe for private travel after the program.

Classrooms Abroad, now in its seventh year, has grown from eleven students in 1956 to an anticipated three hundred in 1962. Its former students represent some two hundred American colleges.

Full information can be obtained by writing to Classrooms Abroad, Box 4171, University Station, Minneapolis 14, Minnesota. Classrooms Abroad is looking for an agent to represent it on this campus.

Frosh Dorm Elects 1st House Council

Lee Russell, Elizabeth Hall student assistant, has announced that the following girls have been elected dormitory wing chairman for this year.

First floor, Lynn Zwillman and Stony Stonewater; second floor, Ann Johnston and Gail Buettner; third floor, Terri Maxwell and Biddie Walker.

These chairmen will serve on the House Council for the remainder of this term and the following two. They were elected under the condition that they would continue to uphold the following standards:

1. Responsibility
2. Trustworthiness
3. Good academic standing.
4. Leadership in a position is respected by the other girls.

Prof. Represents Rollins At Confab

Dr. Paul Douglass, Rollins professor of history and government, was a guest recently of the International City Managers Association at its 47th annual conference in Miami Beach.

Dr. Douglass was a member of the editorial staff of the Cincinnati Post when the movement for city manager government in the Queen City was championed.

A paper by the Rollins professor, "The Concept of the Public," appears in a publication of the 15th annual short course for Florida City Managers issued this week from Florida State University.

KA's Plan Old South Ball for Jan.

The South will rise again Jan. 19, 1962, on the Rollins campus. The local KA chapter is planning an Old South Ball in honor of Gen. Robert E. Lee, the spiritual founder of KA. KA chapters throughout the South will also be celebrating this event.

"Old South" is a tradition in all KA chapters. Beards are grown and confederate uniforms are worn by the fraternity members, and their dates resemble southern belles with their long dresses and hoop skirts. "Old South" was celebrated at Rollins in 1959.

Prizes for the contest, open to all undergraduate students in the nation's universities and colleges, will include scholarships for graduate study to the male and female first-prize winners. Money towards the winners' tuition to post-graduate school will be contributed by stations of the ABC Radio Network, by the AFL-CIO which sponsors the weeknight "Edward P. Morgan and the News" program and by Furman, Feiner & Company, Inc., agency for the sponsor. The first-prize winners will be chosen from ten semi-finalists. All ten will receive complete sets of the 1962, 24-volume Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Writers of the winning essays will also be awarded a three-day expense-paid visit to New York and Washington where they will meet and talk with policy-making leaders of government, labor and the broadcast industry.

Each contestant may submit any number of essays, with a maximum of 600 words each. Deadline for entries in the 1961 contest is midnight December 31.

The winning students will be interviewed on Morgan's Monday-through-Friday program of news commentary, and the journalist broadcaster will use their essays as a part of subsequent radio broadcasts.

Mr. Morgan, a key member of ABC Radio's Washington staff of correspondents, is one of the capital's broadcast reporters and analysts. He has received the Peabody Award for conducting the nation's "outstanding radio news program" and was cited by the Overseas Press Club for his coverage at the Geneva Summit Conference. The National Education Association has awarded Mr. Morgan a special citation for his "distinguished" coverage of the world of education.

He has reported the news since 1932, and he is an executive board member of the Overseas Writers Association as well as a member ex-officio of the Radio-Television Correspondents Association.

Official rules for the 1961 Edward P. Morgan Essay Contest follow:

1. In 600 words or less, write on the subject: "Youth's Role in U. S. Foreign Policy." Use only one side of each sheet of plain paper. Be certain to print your name, college, college address and class plainly on each entry. You may enter as many times as you wish.
2. Mail your entry to: Edward P. Morgan Essay Contest, P. O. Box 75, Mount Vernon 10, New York. All entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, December 31, 1961.

3. Any undergraduate student in the United States may enter, except employees of American Broadcasting-Paramount Theatres, Inc. and its advertising agencies, and the families of such employees. Entries must be the original work of the contestants submitting them and submitted in the contestants own name.

4. From the ten semi-finalists, a male and female winner will be selected to receive a graduate school scholarship, a New York-Washington expense-paid trip, and a set of the 1962 Encyclopaedia Britannica. The eight remaining semi-finalists each will be awarded a complete set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

5. All entries become the property of ABC Radio Network to be used as it sees fit and none will be returned. Releases signed by parents or guardians will be required from winners who may be minors. For complete list of winners enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your entry. Contest subject to all federal regulations. The winners will be notified by mail.

6. The two first-place winners will be flown to New York City at a date in February to be announced, as guests of ABC Radio, and will be transported from there to Washington, D. C. where they will remain as guests of ABC Radio during their 2-day visit to the capital.
