New Profs Add To Rollins Faculty; Staff Expands With Institution

This year Rollins welcomes twenty-seven new faculty members to its growing family. They will hold places in eighteen different departments.

James David Kornwolf and Fred J. Triplett are new to Rollins' Art department. Mr. Kornwolf is a native of Racine, Wisconsin. This instructor in Art History traveled and studied in France and Italy in 1958-59. He has, for the past two years, been a teaching assistant in art history at the University of Wisconsin, where he received his M.A. in June of this year and completed his Ph.D. minor in history.

Mr. Triplett is the new Executive Director of the Morse Gallery of Art, Curator of the Museum of Living Art and Assistant Professor in Art. Since 1960, he and Mrs. Triplett, who holds a Ph.D. degree and is a practicing clinical psychologist, have traveled extensively in the U.S. and abroad, residing for some time in London and Spain.

Added to the Biology department are Elwood Heiss and Carl Sandstrom. Heiss received his A.B. from Lebanon Valley College, and M.A. and Ph.D. from Columbia University. Mr. Heiss has had 41 years of teaching experience in high schools, colleges, and universities. He has also published several articles.

Visiting professor of biology, Carl Sandstrom obtained his S.B. and Ph.D. from the University of Chicago where he was a teaching fellow from 1927-29. Mr. Sandstrom comes to Rollins after 33 years at New York University.

Wallace Martin Nelson, Assistant Professor of Economics and Business Administration, received his Ph.D. in Economics from the University of Florida in 1962. He is a graduate of the Armed Forces Staff College and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces.

Born in Detroit, Michigan, Miles Chapline McDonnell will be a visiting lecturer in Business Law. In 1956 he received his B.A. degree from Rollins and in 1959 and LL.B. degree from Stetson University of Law. He is presently practicing law.

A former Rollins student, Robert Fitzwater, will be a professor of Chemistry here at Rollins. He received his Ph.D. from the University of Florida and was a recipient of a general Motors Fellowship Award. He is a member of the American Chemical Society.

Donald Hill, Associate Professor of Economics, has now rejoined the Rollins Faculty. He attended Wilkes College in Wilkes Barre, Pa. and received his B.S. degree in Commerce and Finance and served as a part time instructor in Economics at Bucknell. In 1955 he received his M.S. degree in Industrial and Labor Relations at Cornell University. He left Rollins in 1958 to return in 1962.

There are three newcomers to the English Department. Ross Barekney completed his work for the A.B. degree at St. Benedict's College in Kansas. He earned his M. A. degree at the University of Notre Dame and his doctoral work was completed at Stanford where he was a University Honors Fellow and an instructor during the years 1956-59.

Orientation Week Marks Start Of 1962 School Year

Freshmen Are Helped By Upperclassmen At Beginning Of 1st Week.

Monday, Sept. 24 saw the checking-in of three-hundred and eighty-eight new students for Orientation Week before the arrival of the main body of returning students.

On campus to greet the new arrivals were the one-hundred and twenty-one upperclassmen members of the Orientation Committee. This committee had laid the ground work for the freshmen's first Rollins experiences last spring term.

The Orientation Committee itself is set up on a framework part traditional, part flexible. There is a permanent standing committee of Faculty members and Administrative staff consisting of Dean Darrah, Dean Rich, Dean Scroggs, Dean Watson, and Mr. Wolfe. Each year, President McKean appoints a faculty chairman and two other key faculty members, positions occupied this year by Dr. William H. Dewart, Chairman; Dr. Dudley DeGroot and Dr. Arthur Landsman.

The student members of the Committee are headed by a group of co-chairmen who are chosen from sophomore, junior and senior classes. Ann Johnston, Jeff Hicks, Camille Jones, Larry Abraham, and Marilyn Fisher will do this job this fall.

The chairmen and the permanent members chose the student group advisors and okayed upperclassmen to fill such positions as biology, chemistry, and physics laboratory assistants, bookstore aids, helpers in the dining hall, student counselors, staff of the Sandspur, WPRK radio station broadcasters, and post office assistants.

The City of Winter Park also welcomed the new students to the community with speeches by Mayor Allen Trovillion and Chief of Police Carl Buchanan.

The aims of Orientation Week as stated by the Chairman, Dr. Dewart are two-fold; "First we want to acquaint the college with the students." To this end, the entering students spent most of Tuesday taking English and foreign language placement tests and all of Friday on Sequential Tests of Educational Progress. Less formally, they met individually with Faculty Advisors.

The other main aspect of Orientation according to Dr. Dewart is "to acquaint the student with the college, academically, personally, and socially." This was the function of the faculty group advisors and three student advisors for each group of about twenty entering students. The use of three student advisors per group is a new idea to ensure that none of the freshmen questions are neglected.

With their groups, the freshmen were given tours of the Campus, had group meetings with faculty and student advisors, and will attend Sunday morning worship in Knowles (Continued on page 5)

Growth Brings Quantity & Quality; Enrollment Increases From Last Year

According to the figures recently released from the Rollins College Admissions Office, there will be 385 entering students at Rollins this Fall.

Incoming students hail from 32 states and 11 foreign countries. Florida sends the most students, with a total of 98. New York runs second with 40. The states of Illinois and Connecticut are tied with 33 freshmen coming from those states. Twenty-one new students will represent Pennsylvania and New Jersey.

The list of foreign countries represented includes Venezuela, France, Switzerland, the Philippines, Nicaragua, Colombia and Saudi Arabia.

Three hundred thirty-six of the 385 freshmen will be boarding students; this figure represents the largest number of incoming students who will live on campus in the entire history of the college.

This year's total is expected to reach 888 for an all time record for Rollins. Last year there were 831 students.

Wagner Returns

Returning this fall after a year's leave of absence is Arthur Wagner, director of the Annie Russell Theater.

Dr. Wagner's year was spent at Stanford University working on his Ph.D. which he was awarded last spring. For this, he did a dissertation on The Technique in the Revolutionary Plays of Clifford Odets. These were the early plays of the American Dramatist including Awake and Sing, Paradise of Fools, and 'Till the Day I Die.

Dr. Wagner is pleased that his study was done, but infinitely more pleased to be back and directing after a year of writing. He also looks forward to "an exciting season and my first chance to work with John Ezell and along with Mr. Miller." Since the latter two became members of the Rollins faculty last year, this is the Director's first year of working with the present theatre faculty.

Bookstore's New Look Aids Rolly

The Rollins College Bookstore is offering special student rates on a number of national magazines this year according to Miss Clarice Yarbrough, Bookstore manager.

News, sports, amusement and digest magazines will be among sixteen periodicals offered. In addition to this new stock, the Bookstore will continue to sell textbooks and paperbacks in a wide variety of fields. A complete range of general school supplies and specialized equipment for the various courses will also be in supply.

Students Need C To Keep Cars

The Traffic Committee of the Rollins Student Government announced that the rules instituted last spring concerning automobile registration are in effect as of this fall.

Restrictions on those allowed to maintain a vehicle on campus are for upperclassmen that no one that does not have a cumulative average of C may have a car on campus. No freshman may own or operate a motorized vehicle — including motor scooters, go-carts, and motor cycles — during his entire freshman year.

Those who have vehicles on campus must register them by October 9 or pay a $19 late fee. During class registration, there will be a desk for car registration at the Park Avenue Building; after that at Dean Vermilye's office. Students are reminded that they must show their owner's registration cards to register.

The Theta and KA parking lots are not considered to be off campus; therefore, all college rules will apply.

Anyone with further questions about vehicle registration or traffic regulations may contact the chairman of the Traffic Committee through Campus Mail at box 470.

In less academic categories, drug sundries, stationery, greeting cards, clothing, and college novelties will be available.

In the way of room furnishings, on sale will be waste baskets, desk accessories, and bookshelves all with the Rollins insignia.

In addition to merchandise, the bookstore renders various services to the student body without charge. In this category, personal checks will be accepted in payment for any Bookstore item, and there is a special order service through which a student may order any kind of book not ordinarily stocked.

The Bookstore is open throughout Orientation Week, on its usual hours of 9:00 a.m. to 4:40 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Choir Scheduled To Sing Sunday

The Rollins College Chapel Choir will perform this Sunday at the first Chapel Service of the college year. The choir, which is recognized as one of the finest choral groups in the area, is composed exclusively of students attending Rollins.

The choir will begin work on the big project for Fall term, the Christmas Service, almost immediately. The Christmas program is one of the few performances that the choir gives for the general public.

The major undertaking for the Winter term is the Verdi "Requiem," to be performed with the Bach Festival Choir and the Florida Symphony Orchestra. Last year the choir took part in the nationally televised presentation of Honneger's oratio "King David."

Also on the agenda for this year are the completion of a recording for RCA Victor and several out of town trips.

This Sunday the choir will perform the Chorale "Alleluia, Sing Praise," from Cantata No. 142 by J.S. Bach and a Scottish psalm tune "Stracathro."

Pan-Hellenic Rush Rules Explained For Freshmen

Women's informal rush will begin tonight with four welcoming teas scheduled to take place between 6:30 and 10:30. Four more teas will be held tomorrow afternoon from 1:00 to 5:00. All freshmen women are expected to attend every tea whether they are planning to go through rush or not.

The Panhellenic tea will be held on Sunday from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. All freshmen women are also invited to attend this. All sororities will be represented. Sunday night open houses begin and will take place from 7:00 to 9:00. Rushees can attend the houses of their choice but may not stay longer than one-half hour.

More open houses will be held Monday from 3:30 to 5:30 and from 7:00 to 9:00. Only a half hour stay is permitted. Tuesday and Wednesday there will be open houses from 3:30 to 5:30. At these the rushees may stay one hour. Silence begins Wednesday afternoon at 5:30.

On Thursday there will be three preferential open houses between the hours of 6:30 and 9:15. Rushees must be invited to these. Friday night there will be two formal parties between 7:00 and 10:30 and Saturday night one final formal party from 7:20 to 9:30. Rushees then sign their preferentials at 9:45. Sunday at 1:30 bids are given out.

The following rules will be in effect during the informal rush period which begins at 4:30 Sunday, September 30 and ends at 10:00 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 3.

1. There will be no pre-arranged contacts between sorority and entering women initiated by either sorority or entering women.
2. No male dates may be arranged for an entering woman by a sorority woman or by sorority women through the men.
3. There may be no telephone calls, written or unspoken communications, or treating between sorority and entering women.
4. Entering women may not sit with sorority women in the Beanery or in the Union.

5. If there are two sororities represented entering women and sorority women may:

a. ride to golf and music classes

b. play tennis together, as arranged by the Physical Education Department.

6. Day students will be expected to conform to all informal-rush rules.

7. Panhellenic officers will be available for rushees to talk with them during times that will be posted.

Formal rush rules will be in effect from Thursday, October 4 to 1:30 p.m. Sunday, October 7. During this period the following regulations will be in effect:

1. Rushees will not eat with sorority women in the Beanery nor sit in the Union with sorority women with the exception of the Student Counselors in Elizabeth Hall.

2. There shall be no gifts or treating between sorority women and entering women, except during the formal parties.

3. There will be no double dates involving sorority women and entering women.

4. Rushees who are day students must conform with all rushing regulations.

5. Rushees and sorority women may not ride in the same car, even to classes.

6. Silence means that there is to be no speaking, writing, or any form of communication between sorority women and rushees, other than at the scheduled invitational parties. Exceptions to the silence rule will be made for the following:

a. Scholarship students working in the same office.

b. Lab instructors.

c. Panhellenic officers — if approached.

d. Student Counselors.

7. No freshman woman is to call a sorority woman for any reason.

8. Quotas for each sorority will be stated.

9. Any rushee who, in the opinion of the Panhellenic Council, disregards or abuses the above regulations shall be suspended from rushing.

Improvements Are Highlighted

During the summer many changes have been made on the Rollins campus, commented George Cartwright, Superintendent of Grounds and Buildings. Some of the improvements are very noticeable such as the renovation of a number of formerly off-campus buildings that now are part of the college; others are not immediately noticed but are there regardless.

Several buildings on Interlachen Avenue have been completely changed during the summer. Bingham Hall, formerly the Baptist Church, has been redecorated and converted into a meeting room. It will be used for campus-sponsored motion pictures and for large assemblies. It has a seating capacity of 174.

Barrows Hall, formerly part of the Baptist Church property, has been converted to classrooms. There are now geography and cryptography classrooms in the basement, geology and geography rooms on the first floor, and additional classrooms on the second floor.

Also on Interlachen is the Ingersoll Building which will house offices and classrooms. Next to it is Trevillion Cottage which will contain offices. In back of the Ingersoll Building, the new Learning Laboratory is being constructed.

Changes have also been made in Elizabeth Hall, the freshmen women's dorm. Since Elizabeth will now have three resident heads instead of one as formerly, two new suites have been constructed. On the first floor, the new suite now occupies part of the recreation room, and on the third floor a cottage has been constructed on the sun deck.

Linen service has been added to the campus. Because of this, a linen supply center has been set up on the first floor of Elizabeth for the women's side of the campus. A similar center for the men has been temporarily set up in Rex Beach Hall. This center will be moved to the new men's dormitory when it is completed.

Another improvement on the women's side of campus is in five of the sorority houses. Living rooms have been redecorated in the Chi Omega, Gamma Phi Beta, Phi Mu, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Pi Beta Phi houses.

Another major change on the campus is the changeover of Lakeside from a men's to a women's residence hall. This year it will house transfers and the overflow of freshmen from Elizabeth. The re-decoration of the house was done by Bruce Marcellus and Mary Ann Colado under the direction of President Hugh McKean.

Several improvements have been made on Harper Shepherd field. An addition has been made to the dressing room area which will accommodate 60 more persons. Two new dugouts have been added to the field, and the position of the soccer practice field has been changed. The extension of the grandstand at the field will be painted.

Besides these major changes, many rooms in the various dormitories have been painted, and gas and electric lines have been re-adapted when necessary.

How To Study Week Helps Frosh Class Learn

The third annual "How To Study Week" commenced Monday, September 17th, with a rigorous schedule aimed at helping the 106 freshmen students adjust themselves to the demands of college professors.

This concentrated study week originated in 1959 when Rollins President Hugh F. McKean noted that college academic tools were not taught at many secondary schools, making it difficult for even some of the top students to use the skills of study properly. Dr. Dudley DeGroot, Assistant Professor of Sociology and director of "How To Study Week," notes that, to his knowledge, Rollins is the only college in America to offer a program of this nature.

The students arrived on campus Sunday, September 16th, and received their first taste of college life Monday morning when they took Language Placement Tests and a Diagnostic Reading Test. After the tests the students' schedules consisted of intensive study in note taking, library usage, rapid reading, oral and written English, and study techniques and budgeting of time.

Dr. DeGroot and Dr. Wendell Stone, instructors in note taking pointed out the essentials of taking good notes, then gave practice by giving brief lectures, classroom discussions, and assignments in outlining chapters in other books.

The Mills Memorial Library, housing Rollins' own radio station, government documents, and historical records of the college, as well as a more than adequate source of information on any subject, was made familiar to the students by Mrs. Mahony.

Dr. Carol Burnett of Psychology asserted the necessity of rapid reading in college work and administered tests to show and improve the individual student's speed and comprehension.

Dr. Stock and Mr. Dorssett gave intensive instruction in how to take exams, pointed out the essentials of good writing, and had them applied in oral and written reports.

Dr. Momsen emphasized the importance of budgeting time in college life by giving a brief summary of what would be expected of the students both academically and socially.

In order that "How To Study Week" not be all work, Mr.

Fleetwood Peeples and Mr. Clarence Varner offered the students two hours of organized recreation each afternoon. For most of the students this was a welcome relief from a strenuous schedule.

After a summer's leisure for most students, the schedule was tight and rigorous, but most effective. It not only gave the students many vital fundamentals on organized study but also a brief insight to what would be expected of them the coming year.

As Dr. DeGroot says, "The best indication of the success of the study week comes from the students themselves." When confronted with the question, "What did you think of 'How To Study Week'?" this is what some of the students commented.

Terry Gilbert said, "In my opinion 'How To Study Week' was very educational and beneficial; it gave us a chance to get organized on campus and get back into the swing of thinking and studying."

Barnie Gray, remembering her class notes says, "Having never before been able to take notes, Dr. DeGroot saw to it that I became an expert in the art of note taking and putting my foot in my mouth!"

Ruthie Edwards said smiling, "I think it was better from a social aspect than academic."

"It was most worthwhile," commented Richard Zerbe, "I learned the fundamentals of how to study and became acquainted with many of the students."

Sharon Siegner summed up her week like this. "It gave me a chance to become familiar with the campus, students, a few of the professors, and on the whole it was a good preview of what one might expect for the coming year."

Welcome Freshmen . . . Infiltrate!

Well now, here we go again! We are once again beset by the rush of incoming Freshmen, so I suppose the best thing to do is to welcome you all to Rolly Colly.

By now, you all have been exposed to the official propaganda of RC, and

A Week Of Snicker

Good morning. Actually, this isn't being written in the morning a tall, nor, chances are, are you reading this in the a.m. since nobody can see before noon anyhow.

Now, for introductions. I'm Benj. (pronounced like, but in no way connected with, "binge") Morrison, one of the lowly frosh at Rollins. In case you haven't noticed me (you must have your eyes closed), I'm the ruggedly handsome member of the Class of '66 — a specification which parents are quick to point out in all letters addressed to this year's idiot freshmen — a human with acute modesty, introversion, feeling for mankind, and et cetera. I also have four legs, two of them being aluminum and two of the flesh and bloodless variety. Don't mention it, though, 'cause I'm quite sensitive. Now that you know who I am, who the heck (it wasn't "heck" on the rough draft) are you?

Enough of intros. Now to the serious business of the purpose of this purposeless penmanship exercise — the reactions of a freshman to "How to Study Week."

Arriving in an already sleepy condition from an all night suitcase — packing session, I entered Rollins one minute late — punctual as usual. The ride to school was filled with frantically puffed cigarettes and vocal fears of tardiness. On arriving at the KA house (no dirty rushing, please) where I saw several freshmany-looking boys, I found out that the KA house was really Rex Beach Hall which was really my place of residence for the week.

After an awkward exchange of pleasantries with those present, I found my room and roommate, and also discovered that I had enough suitcases for Auntie Mame's round the world tour.

Sunday was spent nervously not knowing when to smoke, meeting faculty and students whose names lasted only shortly on my brain, and trying to find what "How To Study Week" was. I soon found out.

"How to Study Week" is hard work. It is also no sleep, beau coup cups of caffeine, cartons of consumed cigarettes, meeting a cast of thousands, swimming amid seaweed and giant squid, discussing the unmentionable — they start with "f" and "s" and are Greek to me — getting really Joe and Josephine College by wasting hours in the Union talking, singing ("West Side Story," "Peter, Paul, and Mary," or "South Pacific"), playing cards, and complaining about anything handy. It also consisted of constant checking of the post office box and an inability to dial the darn combination. By the way, I think we had some classes, but this may be just a rumor.

Seriously, everyone learned a great deal in classes. Among other things, one particular freshman whom I have known intimately for eighteen years found out that in college "A" papers are not given out as freely as they were in high school. The one-hundred H. T. S. W.'ers got a glimpse of what to expect from Rollins in the various courses. This within itself was worth the money and time spent on the week.

During this seven day period, romances started and ended. Alarm clocks were cursed. Meals were first raved about and later were degraded. The campus was beautiful, but it surely did rain a lot. The profs were found to be "nice guys," though this fact wasn't always admitted. And most of all, everyone got over any doubts they may have had about Rollins.

This place really swings. I love it madly already and plan to spend four great years on its campus. So, all prepared in many ways for study, fun, and occasional sleep, I await anxiously for registration, orientation, and frustration to be behind me and for rush, classes, and chaos to begin.

have been properly impressed. You have read all about what Rolly does, looks like, and is. Now you are here, and you have the chance to find out for yourselves what Rollins is REALLY like.

It may be different from what you expected, or it may be just what you were looking for, but whatever it is, it is what you make it.

The beauty of any college lies not in what it is, but in what it does, and this is where you play the most important role. You are the doers, and whatever you do will count heavily in the over-all picture of Rollins College.

Rollins is a growing college, and you are the ones to help it grow. Without your help, Rollins can only remain an institution, a lifeless thing, unable to fulfill its primary objective — to HELP you grow and develop, so that you will one day realize your rightful place as an individual.

With your help, Rolly can be a vital, living thing, full of good things in life, an ever changing and exciting thing. There are many attractions to the active person; Rolly offers a wide variety of extra-curricular activities as well as a balanced planned program of courses. For the person who loves life and enjoys doing things, Rolly is a veritable paradise.

Live your college life to its fullest, do as many things as you can, learn as much as you can about everything. Ah yes, learn. That means STUDY, and lots of it. You can get most everything out of college that you can get in college, but going to school makes the task of learning much easier. College can give direction of your life, give you an idea of how to channel your talents, and help you prepare for the future — YOUR FUTURE.

If you will give Rolly a chance, it will give you something which you will always value — yourself. But you must let it help you; if you fight it, you, not Rolly, will be the loser. Become a part as quickly as you can and you will love it. We do. Good luck to all of you.

Too Real Illness Exists

While there seems to be no danger in this area from encephalitis (sleeping sickness) as spread by infected mosquitoes, there is another variety which may strike the campus.

It is more apt to develop into epidemic proportions as the term progresses farther than the students do. Symptoms are drowsiness in classes, a general feeling of apathy towards the school, a forgetfulness to dress in good taste, disregard for rules, and other assorted signs.

Unlike encephalitis, this sleeping sickness has a cure. The cure is dependent upon the patient's desire to be well again. It is a matter of motivation and self-discipline. Those people unfortunate enough to have contracted this illness must be willing to sacrifice poor study habits and their feeling of "I don't care" in order to function effectively again on this campus.

Freshman Fatigue, Sophomore Sleep, Junior Jag, and Senior Slack-off are too prevalent here at Rollins. We only lack Graduate Goofyness. This whole series seem to start with Orientation Oblivion. So help stamp out Rollins' Relaxation and begin the Wake Up And Work campaign.

If I Were A Frosh Again

One of the greatest hallucinations of man is that he would live his life in a different manner if he could live it over again. It is easy enough to see mistakes after they have been made, but not so easy at the time that we are making them. Our hindsight is much better than our foresight.

But though we cannot live our own lives over again, we at least can give others the benefit of our experience. We can try to warn them against making the same mistakes that we have made. It is chiefly in this that we are superior to other animals — the ordinary animal must always start practically at the same place, while the human animal can build on the experience of others.

One of the most common sayings among college men and women is: "If I had my college days to live over, if I were a Freshman again, I would do things quiet differently." I shall try to tell you here some of the things that I would try to do differently if I were a Freshman again.

I would not spend so much time in study, but I would study harder while I was studying. Too much time is lost in getting ready to study, wasted in preliminaries, or in fooling around.

I would not try to pick out the snap courses, but I would choose those subjects which are difficult. No real training in life comes from doing those things which are easy to do. We have no idea of what study will be of most value to us in later life; often the course that we care least for will be of practical value while our favorite subject may be quickly forgotten.

I would be more careful in the choosing of my companions and friends. The crowd with which one identifies himself at college is the crowd that he will be identified with during his college years and to a great extent in later life. A reputation established in college is a hard one to live down.

I would learn how to play some game well. Man's body needs care and exercise, and if a person does not take part in athletics during his college years, he will hardly do so later in life.

I would take every opportunity to speak in public, to train myself to think on my feet. Every man needs to know how to express his thoughts before an audience, and the training in college is of the greatest value in this respect.

I would form the habit of attending the religious organizations that are in college. Man's spiritual development is of more importance than his physical or mental development. The college years are the important years in making the decision for or against God. All of the information and help Welcome back to campus, Linda Peterson . . . and incidentally, the same all you other Grapevine readers . . . and welcome in general to the Freshmen.

Thanks to President McKean, the Gamma Phi's came back to beautiful new living room.

Rolly LaMontaigne has been back visiting Lissa.

Things still look good for John and Lin.

Dave Lindeman, do you really get letters from Korea?

We've heard that Glancy was in a wedding on short notice . . . what's that fatal charm of Purdue, Glancee?

Overheard in the 'Spur office; Posy: "Bill who?"

Rumor has it that Doug and Peggy were having trouble during Orientation Week . . . but we guess the rumors was prejudiced.

Linda still isn't accepted as a faculty wife.

Bebe, how's Europe?

Jane, how do closet doors . . . ?

And August's Mademoiselle looked like everybody's favorite campus.

Dean Scroggs Advises "Excite Your Curiosity"

In a new addition to the orientation program, Dr. Schiller Scroggs met with members of the freshmen class Tuesday afternoon. Seven professors gave brief talks describing their fields at the assembly in Anne Russell Theatre.

In welcoming the new class, Dean Scroggs said, "Nothing thrills me more than to see young Americans eagerly come to the colleges in the country and do a pretty good job of it." He stated that it is important for college students to leave the world of "things," and some into the world of ideas. Also, he said the knowledge of a foreign language is vital to the understanding of another people's culture and their way of looking at life.

The purpose of the experiment was to acquaint entering students with the various fields of study, and, as Dean Scroggs said, to "excite your curiosity."

Following him was Dr. J. Worth Banner, head of the Language Department. Dr. Banner described the courses offered in foreign languages. He commented that "it is more important to talk less about a language and more important to talk in the language."

Dr. Dudley DeGroot, head of the Sociology and Anthropology Department, said that the study of anthropology is "the study of man in the largest sense . . . showing man in his various social manifestations."

He illustrated his talk with such objects as a peace pipe from the tribe of a Northwest Indian and the recently discovered skull of a Florida Indian, some 500 years old.

Speaking of economics and business, Department head Col. Cain quoted Alfred Marshall definition of economics: "The study of mankind in the ordinary business of life."

He also said that everyone, no matter what his goal of study may be, should have at least a minimum knowledge of economics. ". . . For all of us are consumers," he added.

In his talk concerning English courses, Department head Wilbur Dorsett felt the same way about that field as did Col. Cain on Economics. He said that one does requires the ability to express oneself and communicate intelligently with others.

He also commented that studying English is "like buying an automobile, in that you must keep it up, keep repairing it, and keep giving it the staff of life." He implied that studying English does not end with the last formal English class.

"Professor" Hugh McKean described the study of art with three paintings and gave a brief picture of what the field offers. He said that art, whether it be painting or sculpturing, must "express ideas and emotions." He added that a new art course will be offered this year entitled, American Dwelling.

Rounding out the group of speakers was Dr. Dan Thomas, head of the science department. Also saying that science is the study of ideas, he gave as an example the passage of conservation laws, which were the result of scientific research.

Using a member of the audience, Dr. Thomas proved a law of motion by having the demonstrator stand on a stool and by moving weights in a certain manner rotate the revolvable stool.

Memorial Chapel.

Further welcome and information was imparted in addresses by President McKean, Dean Darrah, and in an Assembly led by Dean Scroggs in which several members of the faculty dramatized their subjects.

On the entertainment part of Orientation, there was a Union open house and informal dance on Tuesday, a roller skating party on Wednesday, and there will be an all-college picnic and motion picture to be shown tonight. Saturday's entertainment will be the annual All-College Chapel Staff party in the Union Patio.

Dr. Dewart expressed enthusiasm about this year's Orientation Program, saying "It was all done by student co-chairmen who operated in the framework of the general Committee as laid down by the President of the College."

ART Announces Season Musical To Open Nov. 6

On the Town, the Leonard Bernstein musical, will open the 1962-63 Annie Russell Theatre season, theatre director Arthur Wagner has announced. The musical, whose plot concerns the antics of three sailors on shore leave in New York City for 24 hours, will play November 6 through 10. Dr. Wagner will direct the musical and the musical direction will be done by Robert Hufstader.

A meeting will be held at the ART on Monday, Oct. 1 at 9 p.m. for all students interested in the theatre productions from either an on-stage or backstage viewpoint. Dr. Wagner emphasized that this meeting is not just for theatre majors but for all people interested in the theatre. The coming theatre season will be discussed and the Rollins Players will provide entertainment.

Auditions for On the Town will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 2 at the theatre. They will run from 4-6 o'clock in the afternoon and resume at 7 p.m. Scores for the show are available in Dr. Wagner's office. He pointed out that this musical does not require excellent singing ability.

Four more plays are included in this year's season. The second will be All the Way Home, the Tad Mosel play which is adapted from James Agee's Death in the Family. It will be followed by Bernard Shaw's Caesar and Cleopatra.

Wed. IFC Meeting Sets Rush Rules

David Hines, president of the Inter Fraternity Council, spoke Wednesday night to the entering freshmen class. The main functions of the IFC is to formulate the rules and regulations that govern the six fraternities on this campus. This organization correlates the interfraternity activities throughout the year. Therefore this body controls the rush program and in this capacity has prepared a rush booklet for all entering freshmen. The rules for rush and the week of orientation are as follows:

1. Geographical Limits. All rushing is to be carried on within the Winter Park-Orlando city limits and the Dubsread Country Club. No fraternity member may be seen in the company of a rushee outside these limits without violating this regulation except on varsity athletic trips and the night of the formal party.
2. Off-Campus Parties. No parties will be permitted during the rush period in motels, hotels, or private homes except those scheduled by the IFC.
3. Double Dating. A rushee receiving an invitation to an IFC scheduled party may not double date or attend another party with a representative of any other group on the night for which the invitation has been extended.
4. Cars. Rushees will not be allowed to use fraternity members' cars.

In his Wednesday night discussion of rush, David Hines pointed out the pros and cons of fraternity membership. The question of "join or not join" is best answered by his statement, "I would advise against joining a fraternity now if there is a real doubt in your mind about whether you will be able to meet the academic requirements or if you feel that you lack the necessary funds. Fraternities do take quite a bit of time and you will be expected to pay dues. Obviously we feel there are real advantages in being a fraternity member or we would not be in them. We will be happy to explain them to you. In fact, we will probably pound them into your heads. Relax, attend the rush activities of every group and by the two week rush period you should be able to make an intelligent decision.

Thursday, October 4, Rollins will be visited by the Naval Reserve Officer Candidate Program Team. They will be set up in the Rollins Union from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. hoping to find interest among Rollins students and have the opportunity of answering any questions.

New Residence Heads Greet Returning Rollins Students

Returning Rollins students will find six new faces among the resident heads waiting to greet them. New on the men's side of the campus are Mrs.

Ruby Penn and Mrs. Ida Slusser.

Mrs. Penn is replacing Mrs. Hasty as resident head of Pinehurst. She comes to Rollins from Alexandria, Va. where she has had experience in hotel managing and directing and in personnel work.

Mrs. Slusser, who comes from Marietta, Ohio, is replacing Mrs. Ruth Reed in Hooker Hall. She also has had experience in personnel work.

New women's residence heads are Mrs. Henrietta Hanna, Mrs. Lennie Hurt, Mrs. Ruth Patten, and Mrs. Frieda Williams.

Mrs. Hanna, who is replacing Mrs. Regan at Fox Hall, comes from Bloomington, Ind. There she was a resident head at the University of Indiana.

Mrs. Hurt will be residence head of the first floor of Elizabeth Hall. Formerly she lived in Savannah, Ga. where she was an underwriter for the Jefferson Standard Life Insurance Co.

Mrs. Patten, who has been a residence head at Purdue University in LaFayette, Ind. and at Butler in Indianapolis, Ind., is replacing Mrs. Armstrong in Pugsley Hall. Mrs. Armstrong will remain on campus as resident head of the transfer students in Lakeside Cottage.

Freshman Men's Hall in Final Stages Of Construction.

New Men's Residence Hall Opens For Winter Term

We left our canoe by the edge of the wind swept lake. The night air-dank, misty nipped at our exposed faces. Ahead the lights glared yellow-white against the unfriendly darkness. The building gave an almost human tremble — then slowly at first, then with increasing speed, the building disappeared from sight. Gone. Gone completely into the now calm waters of Lake Virginia. New Hall . . . gone. We thought of the better times. The time of construction. The scooping of the earth. Workmen swarming over the empty halls. Students standing in groups watching the construction go on . . . and on . . . and on . . . and on. The wagers made while tramping to the Virginia Inn and the Seminole — "in by Thanksgiving," or "in by Christmas," or "in by my junior year." Thoughts of air conditioning that exists only in the blue prints, and rooms with a view — of Chase Hall, these and more roamed our minds.

But then it was completed. It was terrific. At last the boys could stop eyeing the housing facilities at Elizabeth. Maybe they were just eyeing the girls. Too bad it had to go; especially the way it did. At night. Into the lake. Sad.

Hold On To Your Hats, Freshmen!

The Freshman Beanie Contest conducted annually by O'Brien's Pharmacy closes on October 17. Freshmen who wish to enter the drawing should leave their names in a box at the downtown store. Cash prizes of $10.00 each will be awarded to one freshman man and woman. In the former contests, the beanies were exchanged for the prize, but this year's winner will keep their beanies.

Tars' Seventh Season Opens October 17th

The Rollins soccer squad will open its 1962 schedule Oct. 17, traveling to Jacksonville University to begin a nine match season.

Jacksonville University is returning to the Florida Intercollegiate Conference after dropping out for the 1961 season, playing host to the J. U. contest, Rollins will open its home season, playing host to Florida Southern College, Oct. 20, at the Sandspur Bowl.

Rollins will enter its seventh season in intercollegiate soccer, sporting an overall record of 18 victories, 16 defeats, and 8 ties. The Tars will open practice for the 1962 season Oct. 1.

Graduation cut deep into the Tars' offensive punch, leaving coaches Joe Justice and Ernie Wraschek with just three top notch returning performers, Senior Ed Flory and juniors Mike Watson and Hank Hencken.

Coach Justice calls Flory the most experienced player on the squad. "He is a good, steady fullback who is particularly strong defensively," said the Rollins coach.

Watson is a versatile aggressive player that Justice calls "about the best all round man we will have on the squad. He is equally adept at goalie and halfback."

Other returning booters which the Rollins coaching staff will be counting on include: Jerry Appleton, Bob Carlson, Calvin English, Bob Ennis, Enrique Fajardo and Doug Gordon.

Coach Justice added that included among this year's list of incoming students is a record number of freshmen who were soccer players in high school.

In summarizing Rollins' soccer chances for 1962, it must be noted that the Tars were hit heavily by graduation, and with only three outstanding veterans returning, the Tars coaching staff will have to depend strongly on some top notch performances by first year men.

Rollins Graduate To Assume Basketball Coaching Position

An alumnus of Rollins College, Boyd Coffie, has returned to coach the Tar basketball team. As a student and an athlete, he was selected as a member of the Florida Intercollegiate Conference All-Conference basketball and baseball teams, was included in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities, and was the recipient of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award.

Boyd Coffie

Graduating from Rollins in 1959, Boyd Coffie was signed by the New York Yankees to a professional baseball contract. He was assigned to Greensboro, North Carolina and then to Binghamton, New York. In the fall of 1961 the United States Army recalled him to active duty for a year. The Sandspur would like to wish coach Coffie and the 1962-63 Tar basketball squad the best of luck as they fight back after last year's losing season (0-25).

"Vertigo" To Begin Union Film Series

Thomas Brew, Chairman of the Union Films Committee announced that his committee's first movie of the season will be the Alfred Hitchcock technicolor thriller, Vertigo, starring Kim Novak and Jimmy Stewart. Stewart plays a detective hired by a man to catch his wife who is suspected of being insane.

As the story progresses, Stewart becomes the victim of the husband's plot to kill his wife. From here on, Hitchcock's genius of the cold sweat takes over for a thrilling and unconventional ending.

Vertigo will be shown in Bingham Hall on Friday night at 7:30. Admission is free to Rollins students.

The Union Films Committee offerings for the rest of the fall term, as selected from a student poll last spring are:

- Oct. 10 Bridge of Toko Ri
- Oct. 28 Man Who Knew Too Much
- Nov. 11 A Farewell To Arms
- Dec. 2 Cot on a Hot Tin Roof
