Dean of Men Fred Hicks

Hicks Challenges Students To Gain "Political Awareness"

"Political awareness should begin in college," states Rollins College new Dean of Men, Dr. Fred W. Hicks. In assuming his post, the new Dean expressed a belief in strong student government and commented on his plans for the Rollins students.

"There are two things I'd like to see the students of Rollins do," remarks Dean Hicks. "First I would like to see them do some real thinking, take a firm stand, and participate in the coming political campaign, taking advantage of the opportunity this election year offers."

"Secondly, I would like the students to do some real thinking on the issues facing the United States today. I'd like to see these students come up with some tentative answers to the perplexing domestic and national questions that face this nation today."

In accordance with his philosophy of challenging the students, Dr. Hicks will encourage them to invite to the Rollins campus speakers of state, national, and international importance, members of the United Nations and Congress, and educators and scientists. "Our job is to challenge and stimulate the students," states Dr. Hicks. "I want to see them debate the issues and expand their interests beyond the classroom."

Political awareness is developed on two levels, according to Dr. Hicks. While the students are concerned with the national issues they are also part of the college community and should learn to govern themselves as such. "We will give them as much responsibility as they can handle," he affirms.

Dr. Hicks comes to Rollins from Arizona State University where he was Director of Financial Aids. At the University of Michigan he was Assistant Director of Financial Aids, worked with the Counseling department, and conducted research in the public relations department. He has taught history at both Arizona State University and the University of Michigan.

The new Dean of Men at Rollins was graduated from the University of Michigan with three degrees: A.B. and M.A. in history, and the Ph.D.

New Professor Increases French Dept.

The Rollins College French Department will be increased this fall with the addition of Bill Bradley as Assistant Professor of French.

The new Rollins faculty member has taught at the College Classique et Moderne Frederic Mistral, Arles, France, and at West Texas State University. He held graduate assistantships at Tulane University and Newcomb College in New Orleans.

Expecting to receive his Ph.D. degree at Tulane University next year, Bradley has also had graduate study at the Linguistic Institute of the University of Texas. He received the B.A. degree from Tulane, and was recipient of the Alcee Fortier Memorial Prize. Bradley also received the French government award.

The new professor held an assistantship with the French government in 1958, and studied for two years under a Fulbright Travel Grant. He is a member of Phi Sigma Iota, Romance language honor society.

Rollins Given Scholarship Grant

Several deserving Rollins students will receive financial assistance this year because a successful New York businessman and his wife share a deep belief in the importance of a college education.

The Stella and Charles Guttman Foundation has notified President Hugh F. McKean that the College has been selected to participate in a new program of aid for qualified students who aspire to higher education, but lack the necessary resources. A grant of $5,000 has been awarded for the 1964-65 school year and similar grants will be made in each of three succeeding years.

According to Charles Guttman, head of the Foundation who is President of the Paddington Corporation, Rollins is one of a number of private liberal arts colleges in the United States that will share in a total allocation of $400,000. Rollins is a participant, he said, "Because I regard it as one of the finest colleges in the United States."

President McKean expressed the deep appreciation of himself and the trustees in announcing the grant. "If our freedoms including the right to private education are to continue," he said, "it will only be through the efforts of foresighted individuals like Stella and Charles Guttman."

Mr. Guttman stressed that attainment of success in our modern society requires specialized training. Moreover, he said, our nation must have superbly educated and dedicated men and women if it is to continue to advance. It is his belief that "Only education will provide . . . these essential people."

Too often, Mr. Guttman pointed out, a student simply cannot receive the financial assistance he needs from his family. According to a 1960 Roper survey made for the Ford Foundation, three out of five families who hoped to send sons and daughters to college lacked a definite savings plan specially created to college-educate their children. These, among others he said, "are the students our scholarship program should aid."

The educational institutions chosen for the grants reflect the conviction of the Foundation's trustees that private liberal arts colleges preserve the finest traditions of the American way of life. These schools are uniquely equipped to turn out the kind of young people our nation needs in these troubled times, Mr. Guttman said.

Funds from the grant may be divided among as many students as the school desires. The Foundation has requested only that "preference be given to students of recognized ability who have completed two academic years of

Jack Lindquist Joins Staff As Asst. Dean

For the first time in its 80-year history Rollins College will have an Assistant Dean of Men. He is Jack Lindquist who comes to Rollins from the University of Michigan where he served on the staff of the Dean of Men for four years.

At Rollins Lindquist will serve as head resident and counselor of all freshmen boarding students and all transfer boarding students. Residing in New Hall, he will assist in staff training and supervision of New Hall, Chase Hall, Pinehurst Hall, and Independent men off campus.

As assistant to Dean of Men Fred Hicks, Lindquist will be advisor to student government in the Independent Men's dorms and will aid in the implementation of the full Student Union Program. He will be liaison man with the local law enforcement and health officials, and will help in the orientation of new Rollins students.

An all-state athlete in high school, where he lettered in three sports at Escanaba, Mich., High School, the new Assistant Dean of Men at Rollins will assist in the Rollins intramural athletic program, as well as in the social program for independents and freshmen.

Lindquist holds the B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Michigan, where he graduated with honors in English. While at Michigan he served as a dormitory counselor for four years, was an all-intramural athlete, an honor roll student, and advisor to various undergraduate residence halls activities.

This summer the new Rollins staffer served as Assistant Concert Manager at the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Mich. He was in charge of concerts and information at the camp which is affiliated with the University of Michigan.

Dr. Leo Muller Heads Institutional Planning

A long-range planning project is now underway with the arrival of Dr. Leo C. Muller, new vice president for Institutional Planning. The 10-year college plan includes budget projection and coordination and extension of long-range planning, public relations and development activities.

Dr. Muller served Rollins as a consultant last year. He is now gathering material for the first part of the 10-year study and projection in formulating a set of assumptions and needs as a basis for a statement on the college's case for support.

He is also establishing and outlining the responsibilities of the public relations and development offices and organizing their activities.

President McKean has said that the Centennial Development Program will continue.

President McKean has expressed the hope that the student legislature will form a committee for institutional planning to work with both the President's and Dr. Muller's office. McKean hopes that such a committee will enable the students to better contribute to the future of the college.

Vice President Dr. Leo Muller

THE 'SPUR SPEAKS

The Sandspur and Rollins extends to all entering students a very warm welcome. It is a very real and sincere welcome, but with it comes responsibilities.

Those of you who attend "How to Study Week" have a bit of a jump on other new students in that you have had time to begin to adjust to Rollins and prepare and organize for classes which soon begin.

Yet, I doubt that any of you are wholly in preparation for what is to come. We of the Sandspur, Faculty, Administration, and Student Body are here to help you, but that is impossible unless you ask us. So don't hesitate when you have a question... ASK us!

On a more somber note, you must realize that you are now college freshmen and if you are to be a success you must responsibly face the challenges that will soon confront you.

Your parents do not owe you an education. Rollins does not owe you an education. The world does not owe you a living.

You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy, and your talents so that no one will be at war, or in poverty, sick or lonely again.

In plain, simple words, Grow up. Quit being a cry baby. Get out of your dream world and start acting like a man or a lady.

You are now Rollins, you are her students, her actions, her image. Don't let her down. Don't let your parents down. Don't let the world down. Don't let yourself down.

The Chapel Tower

It may seem strange that amidst the clarion call of "Welcome to Rollins College" that the Dean of the Chapel should sound a sour note. Really it is not sour just a word to those who are not too wise. What I mean to say is this: Because we at Rollins are so glad to have you with us and we welcome you from the bottom of our hearts (and we do have hearts) don't get carried away and believe that you are so welcome that you begin to think that you are God's gift to Rollins College. We are happy to have you here not just on your terms but on the terms of this college. So never forget that the college in both its academic and social life never slackens its call to summon you to righteousness of life.

DR. "KNOW"

Do mosquitoes find you tasty? Do they hum around you persistently while seeming to ignore others in the immediate vicinity?

You may be "mosquito-prone" and simply irresistible to the little buzzers, according to a recently completed coast-to-coast survey.

To find out whether mosquitos actually do play favorites — and if so, why — the manufacturers of "6-12" insect repellent conducted intensive tests on 799 people in 16 cities ranging from Albany, N. Y. to Portland, Oregon, and from Boston, Mass. to Fort Worth, Texas. They found that complexion, health, temperament, even the type clothing worn — determined who was first in the heart of Culex pipiens, the common house mosquito found in all 50 states.

What sort of person strikes a mosquito as particularly delicious?

He or she is dark-complexioned and favors dark-colored clothing, even in the summertime.

The ideal mosquito target is tremendously energetic, constantly on-the-go — and in excellent health!

He or she bathes once daily, or more rarely... slathers on cologne, after-shave lotion or some other preparation which imparts "a noticeable fragrance."

The person who is "sucker bait" has a warm skin and moist palms.

Are men or women more attractive to mosquitoes? This isn't known, but it is a fact that only female mosquitoes bite or hum. Their "song" is a mating call to attract the harmless male — who lives exclusively on plant juice!

If you'd like to foil the female Culex pipiens, wear only light colors, try to be calm and quiet, bathe two or more times daily, and avoid any kind of scent. No matter what kind of complexion you have, an application of insect repellent will induce loathing in even the friendliest mosquito. If you want to be "completely unappetizing" without such aids, you may have to settle for only "fair health," warm heart and cold hands, and make your own decision about whether they are worth putting up with to be spared the stings and arrows of the outrageous skeeter.

All that a cool moist-skinned pale motionless man in a white suit has to do to ensure freedom from mosquito attack is, in the words of one entomologist, to "stop breathing."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

SOME OF THESE FRESHMEN COME HERE WITH THE IDEA THAT COLLEGE IS JUST ONE GIGANTIC PARTY."

YOU NAME IT

Folks in Browning, Montana, stared at their thermometers in disbelief one January day in 1916 as the mercury fell 100 degrees in 24-hours — from 44 degrees Fahrenheit to minus 56 degrees. It was the greatest temperature drop ever recorded.

The strangest rise in temperature happened in Spearhead, South Dakota, when the mercury rose 49 degrees in just two minutes: from minus four at 7:30 a.m. to 45 degrees at 7:32, on January 22, 1943.

The next time you wipe your brow and say, "Boy, it's a scorcher today!" consider the highest shade temperature ever recorded in the world! The mercury hit a record 136.4 degrees Fahrenheit at San Luis Mexico on August 11, 1933.

The few hardy scientists based near Hope Bay in Antarctica wish they had a heat and humidity problem! There the highest thermometer reading ever registered was 53.0 degrees Fahrenheit. Their neighbors at Vostok Base think 53 degrees is tropical. Their world's record lowest screen temperature is minus 126 degrees, reported on August 24, 1960. ("Screen" temperature refers to the fact that the thermometer was protected by screening from contact with ice or snow.)

The coldest place in the world with a permanent population is, as you might have guessed... Siberia. In the region around Verkhoyansk, in Eastern Siberia, temperatures of minus 94 degrees Fahrenheit are recorded.

The most equable climate in the world is probably found on Majuro Atoll in the Marshall Islands in the north central Pacific Ocean. Temperatures on this coral island average 80.9 degrees year 'round never falling lower than 70 degrees Fahrenheit or rising higher than 89.

The hottest place in the United States is Greenland Ranch in Death Valley, California. On July 10, 1913, a sizzling 134 degrees was recorded — and that was in the shade.

One of the oddest facts about temperature is that heat can lower it! In one type of gas air conditioning, for example, a flame aids evaporation... cooling in much the same way that evaporating perspiration cools your skin.

The difference between Fahrenheit and centigrade always causes problems. The Fahrenheit scale is most commonly used in English-speaking countries, but the most convenient system is the centigrade scale, used by scientists the world over. On it, the freezing point of water is zero degrees and the boiling point 100.

To change a reading from centigrade to Fahrenheit, first multiply by nine-fifths and then add 32. To change Fahrenheit to centigrade, subtract 32 and then multiply by five-ninths.

American slang is full of the influences of temperature. "Hot under the collar" and "cool off" are two well-known phrases. Another is "as cool as a cucumber."

Beauties Beware

If little girls are made of sugar and spice, what bathing beauties made of?

A suit and a tan, a figure spic and span, that's what bathing beauties are made of.

The bathing suit comes first because it can make break the beach beauty. In fact, it is all that stands between a girl and her figure problems! The suit should never be an impulsive or haphazard choice and if you can sew, you are well advised to make your own. Fashioning your own swimsuit is one way you can choose not only the style but the fabric that does the most for you — and be sure of a perfect fit to boot.

The five styles below are "in" this year. One of them can emphasize your best feature.

Dropped waistline: This is great for the girl with the long waist and slim hips. If you are broad-hipped, beware that horizontal line right across your widest proportion!

Two-piecer: Shows the very young girl off to advantage and is flattering to any woman with a taut midriff and narrow ribcage.

Classic one-piece suit: This shows the well-rounded figure at its best when it is made of dull fabric, dark colors and is well-tailored. It doesn't do much for a figure that's on the very slim side.

Cuffed suit: Good for the girl with slimmer hips and thighs. Girls with thicker thighs are often tempted to wear it, thinking to hide that upper bulge, but a horizontal line of the cuff makes that risky!

Dressmaker suit: There are some excellent plays in bathing suit garments that fit under this general category this year made of gingham and all sorts of light fun fabrics. Fashioned with a comfortable fit, trimmed with braid, gathered with a drawstring at the waist, they are flattering to the gal with the too-slim shape. Tailored versions show off a sturdy, well-proportioned figure to advantage, too, because their looseness helps hide small bulges you wish weren't there.

(Will be continued next week)

Worth Remembering

Reality — Dreams = Animal Being
Reality + Dreams = A heart-Ache (Usually called Idealism)
Reality + Humor = Realism (Also called Conservatism)
Dreams — Humor = Fanaticism
Dreams + Humor = Fantasy
Reality + Dreams + Humor = Wisdom
So then, Wisdom, or the highest type of thinking consists in toning down our dreams or idealism with a good sense of humor, supported by reality itself.

Professor "Falstaff" Dorsett Returns From England

Dorsett Spends Shakespearean Summer

Wilbur E. Dorsett, associate professor of English, will probably teach his English classes with a renewed enthusiasm for Shakespeare this year, for he has just returned here from what he terms an "Elizabethan summer."

Studying at the Shakespeare Institute at Stratford-on-Avon, Dorsett spent eight weeks in England during the celebration of Shakespeare's 400th anniversary. The usually active area was even busier and more elaborate this year, he said, and the Royal Shakespeare Theatre was presenting all seven of Shakespeare's history plays.

"It was probably the only chance I would have in my life time to see all the history plays together like that," he remarked.

The professor's theatre-going was not limited to the plays of Stratford-on-Avon; he attended productions in London and New York also, seeing more than 20 plays this summer.

Dorsett studied at the Shakespeare Institute under the English-Speaking Union Scholarship given by the Central Florida chapter every two years to promote Anglo-American relations.

The Shakespeare Institute was offered at Stratford-on-Avon by the University of Birmingham, and some of the most noted Shakespeare scholars lectured to the 100 students who came from 16 different countries.

He named as one main feature of the summer the Shakespeare Exhibition which is in Stratford-on-Avon. The visitor walks through Shakespeare's life, seeing displays of his birthplace, marriage, life in London, and death. A small replica of the Globe Theatre is included in which Shakespeare's plays are given with only the voices and lights.

Rollins Cagers Face Schedule With Last Year's Full Squad

Rollins College basketball coach Boyd Coffie has announced that his Tar cagers will compete in 22 games during the upcoming 1964-65 basketball season.

Coach Boyd Coffie

The Tars will participate in one tournament, the Citrus Tourney at Lakeland, Dec. 4-5, after opening their season with a Florida Intercollegiate Conference match against Stetson, Dec. 1.

The 1964-65 Rollins cagers will be out to improve on last year's 5-21 record. The entire Rollins club will return, including the two leading scorers, Phil Kirk and Millard Nixon, both freshmen last year.

Expected to aid the Rollins cause will be three promising newcomers: Dave Pearlman, a 6-2 player from Louisville, Kentucky; Ken Hill, a 6-2 standout for Colonial High School in Orlando; and 6-6 Jack Ceccarelli, a top prospect from Bridgeport, Conn.

Only one new foe appears on the Tars' schedule. Rollins will host Asheville-Biltmore College, Asheville, N. C., on Jan. 27.

As Coach Coffie enters his third season at the Rollins basketball helm, the Tars will again compete in the tough Florida Intercollegiate Conference. Defending FIC champ is the University of Miami.

Tennis and Soccer Teams also visit

Mexican Team To Row Alumni Crew

By Dick Cohen, Sports Editor

On September 25, 1964, just two days from today, a group of Mexican amateur athletes will arrive in the Orange County area to participate in rowing, tennis, and soccer. The name of the festival is the "Mexican Festival of Sports of Orange County, Florida, U.S.A."

Rollins Alumni Crew Team practices on Lake Maitland Course

The Mexican teams will be the guests and the opponents of the above Orange County teams until October 2. The contests should prove interesting, for the equipment used in the crew races will be those of this college. Also, some of the players in the Rollins Alumni Crew Club will, as the name implies, be Rollins Alumni. Among these players will be Jim Lyden, assistant crew coach at Rollins; Dennis Kaberad and Lawrence Brown, Ed Elicher and Jay Gustafson who competed in helping Rollins capture the Dad Vail Trophy last year; and Bob Carlson who also in bringing recognition to Rollins two years ago at the Henly regatta in England.

The races will be held on Lake Maitland on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday during the week of September 27, at 4:30. The tennis matches will be held at Winter Park on September 27, 30, and October 2. The tennis matches will be held on September 28 and 27.

The Mexican teams and their sponsors have gone through a lot of trouble to avail the public of these contests. They should prove very interesting and enjoyable to watch.

The Sandspur urges all students to budget their time adequately in order to be able to show their interest in the efforts of Crew Coach Jim Lyden and Soccer Coach Ernie Wrasche.

Gustafson Picked All-American; Clark Places On Second Team

Rollins College freshman outfielder Bob Gustafson was named to the 1964 College Division All-American baseball team recently, while Rollins hurler Mickey Clark was named to the All-American second squad.

Rollins and Old Dominion College, Norfolk, Va., were the only colleges placing one player on each of the first two teams.

The All-American team was selected by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches. Each of the eight districts of the National Collegiate Athletic Association was represented. Some 30 institutions are members of the NCAA's College Division program.

Bob Gustafson

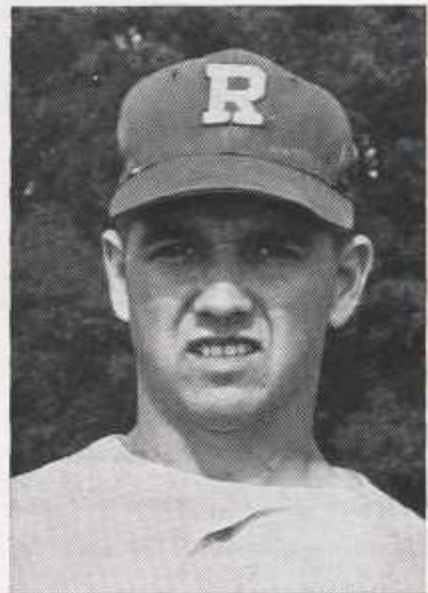

Gustafson, a first-year performer from Miami, Florida, batted .381 for Coach Joe Justice's Rollins Tars, as he paced the Winter Park club to a 21-11 season. "Gus" led the club in number of hits (48), runs scored (27), and tied for the lead in doubles (8). His .381 batting average tied him for team leadership in that department with Chuck Olsen, who saw limited action during the campaign.

The righthanded hitting and brawling Gustafson played for Sions Falls, South Dakota, in the Basin League, where he was a member of the team coached by Rollins' Joe Justice.

Clark, named to the second team All-American pitching staff, hurled a total of 60 2/3 innings for the Tars, recorded an amazing 0.44 earned run average, and ended the season with a 6-0-1 won-loss-tied record.

What makes Clark's pitching feat even more impressive is the fact that the 5-11, 165 pound junior had never started a baseball game as a pitcher before he took the mound and shutout Ohio State University, March 21st of this past season.

Mickey Clark

Both Gustafson and Clark will return to the Rollins College lineup for the 1965 season.

Sports Year Finishes With Banquet

By Rick Strauss,

On May 21 85 students and 35 guests joined to honor varsity athletes at a banquet at Rose Skillman Hall. Former Dean of Men Vermilye gave grace before steak was served. After the meal, Master of Ceremonies Bob Stewart began the festivities for what was officially called "President McKean's Athletic Awards Banquet 1964."

Ernie Wraschek, coach of soccer, was first in announcing the letter winners for the year and the giving of a very brief speech thanking his team for their efforts and hopes for better things to come.

Basketball Coach Boyd Coffie proceeded in the same manner and was followed by Dr. Rolfe Tainter, the donor of the Baseball Batting Trophy.

Coach Joe Justice followed the congratulations to freshman Bob Gustafson and then announced his players. Both Jim Lyden and U. T. Bradley announced their crew members and displayed the Dad Vail and Florida Championship Regatta trophies respectively.

Representing the golf team was Captain Bob Kirouac, who gave a few brief words of praise and then gave the program back to Bob.

In announcing Coach Norm Copeland, Bob presented him with the "World's Greatest Boss" award given by Manager Rick Strauss. Norm praised his team and gave out participation awards from the State Tournament before surprising the tri-captains with trophies of recognition.

Tom Doolittle, "R" Club president, gave blankets to the senior members and tapped the new members. Then, feature speaker Bill Hackney, sports editor of the Winter Park Sun-Herald and former sports announcer in North Carolina, spoke generally on athletics and on Rollins' outstanding achievements in the field.

Bob Stewart ended the dinner by thanking all the guests for attending and showing their continued interest in Rollins athletics.

Rollins Joe Justice Led Sioux Falls

Sioux Falls Captures Playoffs

By Richard M. Cohen,
Sports Editor

On June 14, 1964, Joe Justice, baseball head coach, entered his Sioux Falls team for the first year in the Basin League. There were six teams in this league competing in a total of 50 games. Coach Justice's team came in third place during the pennant league, but captured the championship during the Basin League playoffs.

The Sioux Falls team had a 26-24 win-loss record.

The league has been in operation for the past eleven years and is open to "all college boys or those who have college eligibility left." In other words, all students who have not signed a contract to play professional baseball may enter into the Basin League. The league is managed by college coaches, and because of the connection that the teams have with professional teams there is always an ample amount of professional coaches available at each of the Fifty games played.

Coach Joe Justice

Two of the members of the Sioux Falls team will be transferring to Rollins this year as sophomores. Bob Chandler hit .340 while he played shortstop for Susquehanna University. Don Sutton, who was named all league pitcher in the Basin League, had a 5-4 record at Gulf Coast Junior College while posting a 1.93 earned run average. These two newcomers will increase Rollins' chances of fielding an even better team than it has in the past.

Coach Justice predicts the expansion of the Basin League and of other leagues of the same stature. "The league gives students an excellent opportunity to play more baseball in the summer and to prepare better for a career in baseball." The coach plans to re-enter the Basin League next year and will look forward to having an even more successful record than he had this year.

Sports Editorial

Intramural Issues

By Sports Editor Dick Cohen

During the "How To Study Week" and the former part of "Entertainment Week," many of the freshmen have had a chance to play football and perhaps a bit of soccer at the Sandspur Bowl. During the college year there will be plenty of opportunity for everyone to continue to enjoy these facilities. Rollins offers a fine, exciting intramural program with competition encountered in every part of the campus.

During these past few days at Rollins, some have budgeted their time so that they may compete in their own "scrub" games. The same can be done during the school year. There is but one exception. The games played will be planned games with all of the rules in full effect.

The campus will be soon divided into fraternity, sorority, independents. All these various groups will be teamed against another on the sport field. In the fall there will be flag football, in the winter there will be tennis, soccer, basketball, and volleyball, in the spring there will be table tennis, softball, sailing, and track and field events.

All these events will be directed by Clarence Varner, who has become a legend at Rollins. There will be an Intramural Board Committee composed of Clarence and a member each from fraternities, sororities, and independents. This Board will decide changes in rules, qualification of students to play intramural sports, and anything else that has to do with intramurals at Rollins.

Intramurals, as well as varsity sports, are only as successful as the worst sportsman at the college. In the past years there have been some at Rollins who, by their actions on the field, have wanted to discontinue Rollins' Intramurals. The real value of athletics is not whether one's team wins or loses. Although the winning of a game is one of the most vital parts of athletics, the winning should not overshadow the manner in which a game is played. The ultimate purpose of Intramurals is to give non-varsity players a chance to show their talents on the field. Everyone may not be able to win every game, for not everyone is qualified to participate in all sports. But there is no adequate reason why one member of a group should not have the chance to play.

Rollins is a small college which has many of the problems of much larger colleges. One of these problems is the "bullies" who make believe that they are mature enough to be considered college students. It is up to the freshmen to aid the returning students in returning intramurals to its real purpose: To give those students who are not of varsity material a chance to show their efficiency in athletics. It is up to the freshman, and it is only the freshman who can help the Sandspur AND the returning students in their efforts to return Rollins Intramurals to the plateau on which they should always remain.

Chapel Bell Gift Of Winter Park Church

On an April afternoon 79 years ago the sound of a church bell echoed throughout the tiny hamlet of Winter Park, announcing that Rollins College would be founded in the five-year-old community. In November of that same year, 1885, the bell called together the first classes of Rollins College.

This same bell is still heard today as it tolls commemoration of important occasions from the temple of Rollins' Knowles Memorial Chapel. It was presented to Rollins by the Congregational Church which founded the College. After the historic bell was removed from the old Congregational Church belfry in the 1920's it spent many years in the yard of the new Winter Park Congregational Church.

It was Dr. Edwin Osgood Grover, vice president emeritus of Rollins, who persuaded the church to give the bell to the College. The old church bell was placed on a cement pedestal in front of the Alumni House on the Rollins campus where it remained until 1951 when Rollins President Hugh F. McKean decided that the bell should regain its usefulness. The bell was established in the steeple of Knowles Memorial Chapel where it remains today.

Its tintinnabulation is heard by Winter Park residents on Sunday mornings for church services and on days of College convocations. It sounds its toll upon the death of any member of the Rollins faculty or those closely associated with the College.

Constructed of bellmetal, the Rollins Chapel bell was cast in 1885 by the Henry McShane and Co. Foundry of Baltimore, Maryland. It weighs 1,100 pounds and is 36 inches in diameter.

Sandspur Meetings Are Open

The Sandspur editors and staff will hold open meetings in the Sandspur office at 7 p.m. on every Wednesday after Sandspur publication. Students and faculty are invited to give their criticism pro or con concerning the newspaper. The editors and staff feel that by encouraging the expression of opinion and criticism the paper will best represent and inform its readers.

The Sandspur is published weekly 25 times during the school year, except during mid-term exams and the last week of each term.

Prof. Sedwick Heads Program

Low-Cost Study Abroad Offered

College students in the United States have a unique opportunity to study in South America through an overseas program of Rollins College. Each year some 20 students from colleges throughout the United States are selected to spend a semester in Colombia at the Universidad de los Andes.

Living in private homes with Colombian families, the students attend the University which overlooks the city of Bogota. Students who attend the University of the Andes this year will spend the Spring Semester in Bogota, Feb. 5 to June 5.

According to Rollins Professor Frank Sedwick, Director of the overseas program, the Semester in Colombia was developed as a low-cost plan to enrich the United States students' college education with linguistic and cultural experience abroad.

The University of the Andes is privately owned and non-denominational. The cosmopolitan university offers courses in six schools, including architecture, economics, engineering, fine arts, philosophy and letters, and sciences. Classes at the University are taught in Spanish, and semester hours are transferable to the student's home campus.

The first independent college in South America, the University of the Andes has borrowed much from the North American system of education. While other Colombian schools are modeled largely after European schools, the University of the Andes offers a fusion of the Continental and American elements.

The students at the University of the Andes are carefully selected, and the University has helped to pioneer the idea of coeducation in South America. All students live off campus, and the cosmopolitan atmosphere of the University is evidenced in the 150 faculty members.

About half of the professors are from Colombia, while the other half represent the United States, Switzerland, Germany, France, Japan, and other countries.

Of the 19 students who spent last spring in the Rollins Semester in Colombia program, three were students at Rollins College: Lynn Rode, Skokie, Ill.; Parker Gray, Winter Park; and Judith Brister, Guatemala City, Guatemala. The others represented 12 different colleges throughout the United States.

Applications for this year's Rollins College Semester in Colombia close December 1. Further information may be obtained from Dr. Sedwick at Rollins College.

30,000 Fans Watch Game

Rollins Takes On Miami In Orange Bowl

By Dick Cohen, Sports Editor

Rollins is a small college with a student body of less than a thousand. Its main sporting activities are soccer, basketball, baseball, crew, tennis and golf. However, in intramurals, there is a curious game by the name of flag football. This game is similar to touch football with the main exception that the object is to pull any one of the three flags off the belt that is worn by the players instead of tagging the players with one or two hands. Not many students, both present and past and probably future, realize that in 1934 Rollins had a muscle-bound football team that ended its season with a 6-1 win-loss record. Present Director of Athletics Joe Justice was head coach of the Tars from 1949. Before Coach Justice took the position of the Tars' head coach, Coach Jack McDowall piloted the Tars for 20 years ending with a record of 84 victories, 36 defeats, and 7 ties.

Another point of interest is that the Rollins Football Team on September 30, 1949, faced the Miami Hurricanes at the Orange Bowl before a crowd of 30,000 fans.

Rollins fine football team, however, was finally hampered by lack of sufficient funds to properly support our team. Thus, football at Rollins was ended. But there is no reason why the student body should end its knowledge of Rollins as a college previously hosting its own football team. The knowledge of that sport should remain in the minds of all students along with soccer, basketball, baseball, crew, tennis, and golf.

Soccer Team Needs Young New Talent

By Dick Cohen, Sports Editor

Ending last year's Florida Intercollegiate Conference in the place behind Miami and Southern, the Rollins Varsity Soccer team will commence this year's season against Miami at 2 p.m. on October 17 at Harper-Shepherd Field. The Miami Hurricanes have few lettermen turning, but have an unquestionable strong bench; the Tars, however, will have few letters returning and a rather weak bench to set against last year's champions. Then on the 24th the Tars compete against Southern on our soccer field; November 3, against Florida Southern; November 7, against Jacksonville; November 13, against Florida Southern; November 21, against Stetson; and November 28, against Jacksonville.

Unofficially, tryouts for Varsity Soccer team will be held during the last week in September and during the first week in October. Observing the jeopardy of the Tars not fielding an excellent team this year has in the past, the SANDSPUR urges entering freshmen who have ever played the fast-moving sport of soccer to show up at the practices for the Varsity Soccer team. It is amazing to serve the results of coaches like Wraschek and Joe Justice. Even if you do not play Varsity Soccer, you will surely gain a great deal of knowledge in planning and thinking soccer.

Almost as important as the players of varsity sports are the people who watch the sports events. When a player is involved in competition, he hears the cheering of the crowd. He is in a "one to one relationship" with the sport. But at this relationship is broken the roar of the crowd is present. The cheering gives the player more confidence in his ability with the roaring in his ears without it.

Outside the helping of the crowd is the enjoyment that an observer receives from a soccer match. He sees the fast footwork, thinking of the players; he sees or frowns, screams or (if already hoarse) claps at the outcome of the many plays before a goal is saved.

If it is a home game, it is a short ten minute walk to Harper-Shepherd Field. If it is an away game, there will be others who will want to take students to games. The students' attendance not only gives them an enjoyable few hours, but also helps the team's spirit, which is essential in winning events. Not everyone can play varsity soccer, yet everyone can participate in some way to help Rollins be this year's F.I.C. Champions.

Rollins To Join In Study Program With Researchers

Rollins College and the Merrill-Palmer Institute of Human Development and Family Life have announced that Rollins will become a participant in the Merrill-Palmer Institute Cooperating Colleges Program.

According to Rollins Professor Dr. Dudley DeGroot, faculty liaison member for the program, Rollins will select and recommend the undergraduate student or students it desires to send to Merrill-Palmer and will also assume the responsibility of crediting the student's Merrill-Palmer courses toward his degree.

During their period of residence at Merrill-Palmer, the Rollins students will engage in an intensive educational experience involving class work, research projects, and involvement in community agency work in the metropolitan Detroit area.

The Merrill-Palmer Institute is the world's most outstanding specialized educational institution dedicated to the study of human development and family life. The Institute offers a teaching program at the college level, conducts research, and provides community services in this field.

Dr. DeGroot reports that the three Rollins departments concerned with the program, Education, Psychology, and Sociology and Anthropology, will select the undergraduate students Rollins will send to the Institute.

Gen. Studies Begins Fall Term Three New Courses Added

The Rollins College School of General Studies, a Liberal Arts program designed for service to adults in the community, has begun its fall term.

A total of 37 courses are offered by the School of General Studies, covering the fields of business, languages, history, government, mathematics, psychology, and philosophy. Among the 37 courses are three new subjects: Intermediate Accounting, Introductory Geology, and Latin American Problems.

To meet the needs of employed adults the classes are all scheduled in the evenings. Director Saute commented that more than 600 students enrolled in more than 900 course registrations in the Rollins program.

"I think this is a real service to the community," remarked Saute. "The quality of instruction is quite high, and through this program many students are able to complete the work needed for a bachelor degree."

The eight-week summer term which ended in mid-July offered 25 subjects to some students. Adults who enrolled in the Rollins School of General Studies do so to complete bachelor degrees, to fulfill other certification requirements, professional needs, or for intellectual enrichment.
