Fred Gittes, Jack Lindquist and Norman Friedland congratulate each other after victorious debate.

Rollins Debate Team Wins

By Bob Doerr

The Rollins Debate Team returned from the 16th Annual Garvey Debate Tournament held at King's College with a successful record. Representing the Speakers Bureau were Norman Friedland, Fred Gittes, and Dean Lindquist, coach. The Garvey Tournament is one of the largest debate tournaments in the country and this year attracted such noted schools as Dartmouth, Brandeis, Rutgers, University of Pennsylvania, Illinois, Georgetown, Duquesne, Lehigh and Fordham.

The Rollins Team composed of Norm Friedland and Fred Gittes won both the Affirmative and Negative rounds by defeating Bucknell University and Susquehanna University. The Rollins Team was strong in all of the rounds but lost to last year's national champions, Carson-Newman, by only one point. The topic which was being debated was resolved: Law Enforcement Agencies should be given greater freedom in the investigation and prosecution of crime.

Both Norm and Fred were individually successful in achieving first and second place awards in several rounds.

Participation in the Garvey Tournament is another example of the expanding activities of the Rollins Speakers Bureau. The success which Norm and Fred achieved at King's College follows the victories that Rollins won at the University of South Florida Debate Tournament. Coming up for the team is the All South Debate held at Florida State University. The season's highlight will be the annual Harvard-Rollins Debate that will be held in the Spring term.

Next year's plans indicate an extensive schedule which will feature more public debates with top schools.

Credit for part of the success that Rollins has achieved goes to coaches Prof. Marion Folsom and Dean Jack Lindquist, and the researchers, Mark Billson, Bob Hochschild and Carol Skodje.

New Dorm Being Constructed

Construction of a new dormitory for independent men which should be ready for occupancy by next fall is now underway, according to an announcement made recently by Dean Hicks.

The new residence hall, located on Chase Avenue next to Neville House, is planned to house 78 independent men in the graduate programs. Residents of the new dormitory, as yet unnamed, will be offered a choice of single rooms or a two room suite (bedroom and study room) on the basis of two men to a suite. The residence will include a large multi-purpose room in the basement for recreation.

James Gamble Rogers, Lovelock, and Fritz, Architects, and Frank Rooney, Contractor, are handling plans for the $530,000 building.

Financing is being handled through the Community Facilities Administration, Washington, which has granted Rollins a loan of $512,000 to underwrite construction.

Construction begins on new Independent dormitory.

Welcome Parents

More than 255 parents are expected for the third annual Parents Weekend to be held at the College on the 11th, 12th and 13th of February. They have come to the campus from as far away as Canada and California. There is a strong representation from the Northeast and the Middle West. Following registration at the Student Union Building on Friday, the parents are welcome to a number of special receptions and meetings.

The Center Street Gallery will have an exhibition of paintings and collector's items hosted by Sue Stiles, Ele Riker and Vee Stacy. This will run from 2 P.M. to 4 P.M. on Friday afternoon at the 136 Park Avenue office of the Gallery. During the same period, the First National Bank of Winter Park will have an open house hosted by bank officers, directors, students and parents. Those in attendance will be Mrs. John Green, Mrs. Howard Showalter, Mrs. George Rackensperger, Mrs. Meritt Britt, Mrs. Robert Langford.

To complete a full afternoon, Professor Lionel Summers will be moderating a panel on "The United States and Africa South of the Sahara." The panelists for this occasion are: Professor Thomas R. Adam, Mr. Edward W. Mulcahy and Mr. Hendrik van Oss, Department of State, Mrs. Donald Killiany, formerly with USIA in Africa, Miss Rosamond Deming, student, Rollins College. Moderator—Professor Lionel M. Summers, Rollins College.

That evening at 6:15 the Langford Hotel, Pavillion D, there will be a Parent-Dean Reception to which all parents are invited. Following this, at 7:00 P.M. the Annual President's Dinner of the Parents Association will be held in Pavillion A and B at the Langford Hotel. President Hugh F. McKean will address the parents and give an outline of the plans and aims of Rollins College in the coming years.

During the next morning for those parents who have requested it, appointments have been made with individual professors. These have all been prearranged so that the parents and teachers will have a better opportunity to discuss common interests.

At noon on Saturday, at the Annie Russell Theater, there will be the Annual Meeting of the Parents Association, at which time there will be an election of officers and the setting of the goals for the coming year.

Following this, at 1 P.M., there will be an all college picnic attended by parents, students and faculty members on the "Horse-shoe" in front of Mills Memorial Library.

Saturday afternoon and evening have been left free for parents and students to get together on an informal and family basis.

Sunday morning, Dean Darrah will conduct a special service for the parents in Knowles Memorial Chapel at 9:45 o'clock. Following this, there will be two Coffees, one in New Hall and one in Elizabeth Hall, hosted by the following students: Margie Williamson, Sue Probasco, Sue Stiles, Joanne Dembitz and Pam Booth.

The Weekend officially comes to a close at 12 Noon on Sunday.

We want to take this occasion to welcome all parents to Rollins College Campus. We are especially appreciative of the interest which you have evidenced in your attendance. With your solid support and encouragement, we know that Rollins College will become a better school.

Crummer School Invited For Business Conference

By Gerald Gnazzo

The new Crummer School of Finance and Business Administration here at Rollins College has been honored by a special invitation to enter a team in the Intercollegiate Business Game and Conference to be held at Emory University in Atlanta on March 10, 11, and 12, 1966. This is a management decision game sponsored by the Sales and Marketing Executive International. Emory is the host University this year and is donating its computer facilities. The International Business Machines Corporation is donating the computer time and programming.

Capt. Gnazzo and teammates Jim Ackerman, Roger Badgett, and John Turner plan strategy for upcoming business games competition.

The game consists of about ten quarters of business decision made at the rate of two a week prior to the trip to Atlanta. The final decisions will be made there. The competition will be made up of approximately 40 teams from colleges in the southeastern United States. At the conference in Atlanta, in addition to playing the final rounds, participants will attend lectures and seminars conducted by distinguished businessmen and educators. This will also be our opportunity to meet and compete with the top students from other leading business schools. Interviews will be available with representatives of some of the nations largest firms.

At the end of the conference winners will give oral presentations explaining their winning strategies. Trophies will be awarded to teams and individuals.

The Central Florida Sales and Marketing Executive Club is sponsoring the Rollins Team. On February 7, Mr. R. F. Wolfe and Dr. Kenneth Osborne, representing the club, presented Mr. John Tiedke and Dr. Charles A. Welsh with a check to cover transportation expenses to and from the conference. The members of the team were selected jointly by classmates and the Crummer faculty, one Mr. Jerold Gnazzo, captain, Mr. Jim Ackerman, Mr. John Turner, and Mr. Roger Badgett, Jr., alternate. The faculty advisor for the team will be Dr. Philip Ragan of the Crummer faculty.

Decisions and results in the preliminary sessions of the game are being transmitted to and from Atlanta via a TWX network. This network was set up through the cooperation of the Winter Park Telephone Company, the Southern Bell Telephone Company, and DynaFronics Incorporated. Decisions are sent from the DynaFronics plant every Monday and Thursday during the course of the game.

Dr. Walsh, dean of the Crummer School had this to say about the team's chances; "Although many colleges and universities around the country have participated for several years in Management Decision Games, this effort will be the initial entry of a Rollins and Crummer Team into competition. The competition itself will be keen. We are confident however, that the team will acquit itself creditably."

Shakespeareana Starts Feb. 25

A flag erected by Skip Carlson and Bob Heinesmann will fly over Strong Hall on Feb. 25 at 4:00 p.m. to announce that the twentieth anniversary performance of the Shakespeareana program is being presented in the courtyard by Prof. Nina Oliver Dean and her Shakespeare class. The courtyard, by courtesy of Gamma Phi Beta, suggests the Elizabethan innyards in which the plays were performed and the Globe Theatre but the "groundlings" will have chairs.

Students are urged to "brush up on their Shakespeare" as a brief quotation is required for admittance. For another quotation, one may have from a pretty orange girl a tangerine or a camellia. The orange girls, who will wear bright Elizabethan costumes, are Patsy Blackburn, Linda Grisham, Constance Kirby, Gerry Langford, Virginia Schram, Milly Trapkin, and Kathy Ten Eyck.

THE 'SPUR SPEAKS

Parents Welcomed

All of us often hear the phrase "The Rollins Family" tossed about by the faculty and staff in discussing the school. What do these words actually mean in practice? Well, we will be given a major portion of the answer to that question today, when the annual Parents Weekend opens.

Parents Weekend is the only time that the entire "Rollins Family"—parents, students, faculty and administration—can meet together on the campus in the college environment of study and extracurricular activities.

In this age of computerized mass education, which at such nearby schools as Stetson, requires students to punch in and out of classes on IBM time clocks, it is refreshing to know that Rollins is different. Even with the great progress in construction changes that have taken place in the past year, Rollins still makes it a point to take time to be interested in the education of the individual student and realizes that college life affects not only the student, but his entire family as well.

Naturally all parents are deeply interested in the campus life activities of their sons and daughters. Parent's Weekend gives them a first hand opportunity to see for themselves what takes place at Rollins.

As you can see, Parents Weekend is an important event, not only from the viewpoint of the parents, but from the standpoint of the administration as well, because a small college like Rollins that does not have the interest and support of a strong parent's organization is missing out on a vital source of strength for future expansion.

At the business meeting of the Rollins Parents Association on Saturday we would like to see the parents organization given a definite role to play in the growth and development of the college. As everyone knows these parents have an abundance of talent and ability which could easily be put to work for the benefit of Rollins.

During this weekend we hope that all students will take advantage of this opportunity to give the visiting parents an accurate and lasting impression of Rollins.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I would like to focus some attention to the seriousness of the condition in the men's bathroom in the Student Union. What is a visiting student, educator, or parent going to say when they see some of the immature and non-appropriate sayings on the walls and doors. Let's stop with the kid stuff and grow up.

Sincerely,

JIM OPPENHEIM

— Night at the Flicks —

by Benjamin Morrison

With the demise of My Fair Lady at the Colony Theatre in Winter Park, the Colony has become The "New" Winter Park Art Colony. What is perhaps most new is that many of the outstanding films of the last year that this area has somehow missed will now be here. Cause to celebrate. Also cause to go to the movies.

First on the list is Repulsion, a "controversial" film directed by Roman Polanski. It's a horror flick, but with a difference — insanity is viewed through the eyes of an insane person. Thus the viewer sees the horror concocted by a disturbed mind. Catherine Deneuve, who distinguished herself as the beautiful ingenue in Umbrellas of Cherbourg, portrays the catatonic schizophrenic. The movie is a "shocker," with its share of sexual and blood-and-gore shocks. Not for little old ladies in tennis pumps, but certainly of interest to students with preference for horror, or sex, or art films, or beautiful women, which I guess includes just about everyone.

After Repulsion, which opens Friday at the Colony, comes The Knack, directed by Richard Lester, who made the Beatles even more marvelous in Hard Day's Night and Help! The star is Rita Tushingham, and the movie is funny. One of the funniest films, in fact, this reviewer has ever seen. The humor is planned spontaneity, and it works. The plot revolves around a young man who doesn't have "The Knack" with women, so he asks a friend who has "The Knack" (more than his share, in fact) for help. Most of the laughs are visual, audial, and Freudian. Very funny movie. See it, at least twice (it'll take that much to catch all the lines). Opening after Repulsion at the Colony.

Coming up later are Life at the Top (a sequel to Room at the Top) and Children of Paradise. The Colony is to be congratulated for its "new look," and students should find the walk (a couple of blocks) well worth it.

Made in Paris, currently at the Park West Theatre (across from the Winter Park Mall), is made in Hollywood. Luckily. This is unadulterated entertainment, an "escapist" movie, and Ann-Margret never allows the plot to get in the way of being libidinally entertaining. She plays a virgin (Can you imagine?) who gets in all sorts of compromising situations but somehow manages to maintain sexual status quo until hubby-and-house-in-the-suburbs are guaranteed. Louis Jourdan is in it for the ladies. It all reminded me of those mindless musicals of the early fifties, which is a point in its favor. For forgettable fluff, Made in Paris is recommended.

The Pawnbroker, which is anything but forgettable fluff, is back again, this time at the Park East. A devastating film filled with emotional impact, Pawnbroker is frighteningly effective cinema. Performances, direction, writing, and just everything are top-notch. The plot is best left to surprise, but one warning is necessary: If you prefer Doris Day and Troy Donahue for "entertainment," don't see Pawnbroker. If you think films are capable of being more than just entertaining, don't miss it.

Walt Disney's Ugly Dachshund, along with a cartoon short of Winnie the Pooh, opens Friday at Parkwood Cinema. Pooh looks promising, with stylized animation and A. A. Milne-based script. Dachshund, if nothing else, has Suzanne Pleshette.

Thursday at the Seminole Cinema is The Great Race, with Jack Lemmon, Tony Curtis, and Natalie Wood. A spoof on slapstick "chase" movies, it is the most expensive Hollywood comedy ever and, according to reviews, is at least occasionally funny.

Our Man Flint opens Friday at the Plaza Rocking Chair. James Bond Revisited, but with James Coburn, who can be quite a comic. Lots of gadgets and girls and the usual.

And, SURPRISE, The Sound of Music is still on at the Beacham.

See you in pictures.

KA Plans Old South Weekend Political Clubs Host State Chairmen

The tradition of the Kappa Alpha Order's Old South weekend will again become a reality at Rollins this year. The opening event on Friday, February 18th will be a parade down Park Avenue, including a band, police escort, and all of General Lee's bearded supporters on horseback. At the Beanery that same night they will officially announce their secession from the Union. The Offbeats will provide entertainment that night at the customary "Sharecropper's Ball." All the K.A.'s and several alumni from the Winter Park area will be guests at the Planter's Punch party on the patio of an alumni's home.

The South rises again

The climax of the weekend's events will be a formal dinner, followed by dancing to the music of Al Prince and his orchestra, highlighted by the crowning of the Old South K. A. Rose. The terminal gathering of the weekend will be a breakfast the following morning.

The Rollins College Young Democratic and Young Republican clubs, in cooperation with the Center for Practical Politics, sponsored a joint Tea at the Alumni House on Thursday afternoon, February 3.

Since Dr. Paul Douglass, director of the Center for Practical Politics was unable to attend the reception because of illness, Alva Hollon, President of the Rollins College Young Democrats, went out to meet and escort Warren M. Godrich, Chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee of Florida; and Tom Fairfield Brown, Chairman of the Florida Republican Committee, after the gentlemen had just finished taping a Pro and Con show.

The officers of both clubs formed the reception committee and welcomed the guests as they arrived. Among the dignitaries were Colonel Rushing, Chairman of the Republican Orange County Committee; Mr. Turnbull, Chairman of the Democratic Orange County Committee; Sheriff Dave Starr; Orange County Commissioner, Mr. John Talton; Charlie Martin, Congressman Gurney's administrative assistant and Dixie Barber, Orange County Supervisor of Registration.

During the Tea, Colonel Rushing invited Mr. Brown and Mr. Goodrich to say a few words. Both men thanked the College, the Young Democratic and Young Republican Clubs and the Center for Practical Politics. Tom Fairfield Brown said that "chances were very good for Republicans to gain more seats in the House during the coming election." In answer to Mr. Brown's statement, Mr. Goodrich said that he is strongly in favor of a "stable two-party system in our government" and went on to say that "in order for a two-party system to function effectively in spite of the fact that the Democrats have a huge majority, the Republicans would have to try their best to win additional seats since they have so few at present."

It is very seldom that Democrats and Republicans have the rare opportunity to come together in such a manner; the joint Tea at the Alumni House gave members of both parties a chance to discuss current major issues and to exchange different viewpoints and opinions. Affairs such as the Tea help to promote good relations and mutual understanding between the two parties so that the representatives of our government, whether they be Democrats or Republicans, can work together well in our American democracy.

Castro's Policies Discussed At Cafezinho Review

This past Saturday, the Cafezinho Book Review Series had as its speaker Dr. Lewis F. Hines, Professor of Humanities at the University of Florida and Director of the University of Florida Press. Dr. Hines has spent 26 years in this dual capacity at the University of Florida.

Dr. Hines reviewed a work by Loree Wilkerson entitled Fidel Castro's Political Programs from Reformism to "Marxism-Leninism", a monograph centering in the conviction that "Castro's rise to power in Cuba presents the picture of a democratically inclined idealist who succumbed to an intense desire to reign rather than lead." Dr. Hines pointed out that Castro's program from the outset was primarily a vehicle for his personal ambition rather than the instrument of firm ideological conviction. Moreover, Dr. Hines showed that Castro's political inconsistencies are merely a cover for his consistent desire for personal power.

The Cafezinho Book Review of February 12, will feature Dr. Wallace M. Nelson, Assistant Professor of Economics and Business Administration at Rollins. Dr. Nelson shall review Latin America: Today's Economic and Social Revolution.

The Cafezinho Book Review Series is held on Saturdays at the Casa Iberia, starting at 10:00 A.M. The Book Reviews are open to students and faculty without charge.

Construction of the new building for the Roy E. Crummer School of Finance and Business Administration is rapidly nearing completion. The building is expected to be ready for classes by September.

Through The Quarter Moon

by George Filippone

Yes Bruce, there is a Santa Claus, and this is a college. Look around you. Dresses are shorter, beards are longer, pants are tighter, sweat shirts are smellier, girls are looking more like guys, and the guys are still trying to figure out what they want to be. Plays are being played, guitar strums are being strummed, and Rollins still proceeds down the primrose path in all her pristine glory.

In short, Rollins has just about everything. What other college can boast its own Keystone comedy cast, which, at times, has been known to play basketball? (Yes Bruce, that is an athletic event.) However, it must be said that attendance at these Max Sennet productions has been abysmal. To increase attendance, a scholarship was offered to Buster Keaton, but he refused because he had to share a dressing room and stage with some local high-school cast. Charlie Chaplin refused on the same grounds, but Melvin Snurd from the cast East Podunk High has accepted. Let us all bow our heads in a moment of silent meditation for this miraculous accomplishment.)

George Filippone

Besides these stirring accomplishments, Rollins has added to her cast a group of quasi-Berkleyites. They are an extremely well dressed group to say the least. They sport, besides numerous accoutrements, button-down beards, double-breasted sweat shirts with a double flap in the back (the latest style from East Poland), and highly stylized bangs. These people come under the heading of quasi-Berkleyites, for, in the words of the immortal Batman, these poor deluded people have not found a cause as of yet. There is still hope, however, but Robin was heard to have remarked, "Holy demonstrations!!! When are they going to find a cause?" If they are in need of a cause, may I humbly offer that they embark on a "Keep America Clean" program.

If the news from the Capitol is correct, some Rollins students are in for trouble. A protest, lead by many of the sock manufacturer's, has been lodged with the Senate. Rather than give this group government subsidies, the Senate has been thinking about making the wearing of socks mandatory. As you can readily see, America is rapidly socializing and doing away with many of the time-honored status symbols. Now is the time for all non-sock wearers to come to the aid of the Party. Take a stand and exercise your franchise. "Students of the World unite!" Go to the polls and vote for the sock-wearer of your choice.

This week's Courage Award goes to that dauntless Rollins student, who in the face of great obstacles, took a stand. He was arrested four hours later, however, when it was found that the stand he took came from the Dobbbs House. He should serve as an inspiration to those students who have never had the audacity to take a stand.

Yes Bruce, there is a White knight, and this is a college. Look around you. Beer is foamier, Pizza crust is crustier, smoking gives you a dancer, and hot dogs come in various sizes.

Rollins Students look over the selection of items at the Park Avenue Scholarship Shop.

Scholarship Shop Earns Dollars For Scholars

The Rollins Scholarship Shop at 150 Park Avenue, may appear to be just another of Winter Park's interesting small shops, but it is a shop with a very special purpose. All of the proceeds from the Scholarship Shop go to the Rollins College Scholarship fund.

Each year the college grants over $239,000 in scholarships to aid those in financial need. About $25,000 of this money is provided for by endowments just for this purpose, but the remaining $200,000 must be covered by gifts or support from other sources.

The shop contains a wide variety of decorative and somewhat unusual objects, including a Victorian rocker, a Siamese temple bell, a new portable electric typewriter, books, and a marvelous lection of dolls from foreign lands.

These objects were donated by the friends and alumni of Rollins College. When the shop started in September, 1965, it had a full stock of goods from which to choose, but it now faces an acute need for more saleable objects. Any donations of furniture which is still in good condition but is no longer used will be sold and the proceeds will help pay for the education of some worthy Rollins student.

The Scholarship Shop which is under the direction of Midge Hill-singer, is open every day except Sunday, so why not drop by on your way to the Yum-Yum Shoppe or the drug store and see what interesting objects your college has to offer.

Profile On Sheri Bickley

By Bonnie Gill

Every year there is one typical question that is posed to every senior. "What are you going to do next year?" This question for the majority of seniors is very difficult to answer, because for most seniors, the year after graduation is full of expectation. For some, there is a definite job waiting or graduate school, but for many others, there is nothing certain.

Sheri Bickley who is a senior at Rollins is a Theater Major. She comes from New Canaan, Conn., and has some very definite plans for her future. Sheri, who has worked in some capacity on every show in the ART during her four years here with the exception of four, comes to Rollins with an interesting past.

Sheri began working summer stock theater in 1961. She has played in the Japanese Kabuki Theater, played in children's musicals, and in 1964, made her professional debut in Noel Coward's Private Lives. After talking with Sheri, it appears that she comes by this naturally in many ways, for her father is an actor and her mother was in the theater.

Currently, Sheri is not only working on The Fantasticks here at Rollins, but she is also in rehearsal for Tennessee Williams' The Glass Menagerie in Orlando for the Orlando Little Players. She considers this production a valuable experience, because she will be playing with Julie Haydon who created the role of Laura on Broadway in 1945. Miss Haydon will appear as Amanda, the mother, and Sheri will be playing

Sheri Bickley

Laura, her daughter, the original Julie Haydon role.

In asking Sheri how she felt about playing with Miss Haydon, she commented that, "It will be very interesting, because Miss Haydon does not get to Orlando until February 15, ten days before the show opens. However, when she arrives I am sure that her ideas and background will add a great deal of interest. The whole cast is looking forward to it." The Glass Menagerie opens Feb. 25 and plays through March 5.

In commenting on what Sheri plans to do next year, she said, "You never know in the theater. All you can do is try. I plan to try the stage, but you can never be certain."

Olsen Discusses Issues

The middle of April seems a long way off right now, but it is during this time of the year that many things happen on the Rollins campus. One of the events, Fiesta, is a long-anticipated weekend all the Rollins students await.

However, this is not the event I had in mind. The election of the new Student Association officers is the event I am thinking about. This year the election should be quite exciting and interesting. All four of the offices will be open to any student who is eligible. In order to run for one of the offices a student must have attended 10 student council meetings and maintained a cumulative 7.0 academic average. The student cannot be on academic or social warning or probation. These few qualifications do not make it difficult for any student to run. In fact, all a student needs is to show a little interest in the Student Association and to maintain a half-way decent average. These qualifications apply to the president, vice-president, and the secretary. The comptroller, in addition to the aforementioned qualifications, must have maintained a cumulative B—average in his accounting courses.

I am mentioning these qualifications now because I want to emphasize to students that they must have attended 10 student council meetings in order to be eligible. It is a shame that some students who are very qualified for one of the offices can not run simply because they did not attend the specified amount of meetings.

Of course, only four people can fill these much sought-after positions, but for any student who is interested in the Student Association, the opportunities are unlimited. Almost every committee falls under the Student Association jurisdiction: the Student Association has jurisdiction over such things as the Sandspur, the Tomokan, the R Book, the Flamingo, the Lower Court, the Upper Court, the Investigating Committee, and the Union. By jurisdiction I mean that the Student Association either appoints its members or gives the committee its budget.

Anyone who shows an interest in the Student Association can get appointed to any one of these committees. We are always looking for students who want to work and help us, and by doing this you are not only helping yourself and your Student Association, but you are also helping your fraternity or sorority. These positions in the Student Association always help fraternities and sororities towards securing the ODK and Library trophies.

It is now the second week in February. It is not too late for some of you to think about an executive office in the Student Association. We need students who want to work and help the student government. Believe me, it certainly is both a rewarding and a worthwhile experience. I hope each and every one of you will seriously consider this opportunity. I am sure you will never regret it.

tions of the Independent Men's representative Fred Gittes. The short meeting was marked by only two significant actions — both stemming from Gittes' moves.

The meeting was called to order at 8:35. Under the committee reports, Women's Rules announced a change in their meeting time to Wednesdays, 6:30 p.m. Standards announced Larry Pound as the new voting member of the Phi Delt.

Under Old Business Mr. Gittes' heatedly discussed Reapportionment Amendment motion. After the changes in both the Constitutional Amendments and By-Laws were untabled and passed, the Gittes plan was untabled for reconsideration. Fred harkened back to last week's electric maneuver which foiled his opponents; he advocated a change in last week's outcome. Despite his rather one-sided reporting, the motion was defeated. However, it should be noted that the voting did show a definite split in student opinion. The nays won 11-8.

New Business was started by the blackboard unveiling of the currently much discussed curriculum plan. President Chuck Olsen gave the basis since the plan was too complicated and involved for detailed explanation.

It should be noted that there are four major fields of interest, each with a student head. The four:

1. Humanities
2. Expressive Arts
3. Social Sciences
4. Natural Sciences

Fred Gittes again appeared with a new motion — a constitutional amendment which would strike the powers of student council voting from the class presidents. After a pregnant silence in the room, the motion was seconded by Larry Schrupf. This motion is automatically tabled for one week.

Under Announcements, Chuck Olsen asked for social group action under the Showalter Fund. Nominees for Student Association offices were reminded of the requirement of 10 meetings of Student Council. The Rollins Speakers Bureau announced a debate.

Chapel Fund Aids WUS

The Rollins College community contributes $1,000 a year to World University Service programs through the Chapel Fund Drive. World University Service, commonly called WUS, is an international organization dedicated to helping students help themselves. This organization is centered on and around universities; its chief concern is for students and faculty and their needs within the university community.

WUS assists universities which request it and which meet the conditions of self-help required by WUS. Universities which receive aid must raise funds to support other universities. World University Service is non-sectarian, non-political, non-governmental; it carries out its work without regard to race, creed, or nationality. Over 63 countries participate in the program.

Rollins College, with its annual contribution of $1,000, is one of six colleges or universities in the South that donate $1,000 or more to WUS. This year our money is earmarked for the new university bookstore in Hong Kong. Our support of this program enables Chinese students to obtain books that they would not be able to buy otherwise.

International headquarters for WUS are in Geneva, Switzerland. In the United States, national headquarters for WUS are in New York City. There are five regional offices. Rollins is in the Southern region centered in Atlanta, Georgia, under the directorship of Mr. Robert Farrelly.

Summers Heads Lectures On South African Affairs

By Rosamond Deming

A series of events concerning Africa South of the Sahara, are being held at Rollins College from February 7 to the 11th. The program consists of a film show, three public lectures, and a panel discussion held under the supervision of Mr. Lionel M. Summers, the Institute coordinator at Rollins College. Working with him are student assistants Suzanne Aguirre, Roy S. Kohlhausen, Charles E. Lawson, and Linda Yarri.

The first event, several films on Africa, took place the night of February the 7th in the Park Avenue Building Auditorium. On Wednesday, February 9th the first guest speaker, Professor Thomas R. Adams from New York University, gave a lecture on the "Politics of Sub Saharan Africa". At six that evening an African Safari took place at the Casa Iberia with Professor Adams and guest lecturer Professor Gwendolen Carter, director of the program of African studies at Northwestern University, as the main guests. After the dinner Professor Carter gave a lecture on "National Unity and Regionalism" in Bingham Hall at 8:00 p.m. The main event on Thursday was a lecture given at 3:00 p.m. given by Professor Adams on "White Supremacy in Africa." He also autographed his book, Government and Politics in Africa South of the Sahara in the bookstore at 11:00 a.m.

On Friday at 1:00 p.m. all interested students are invited to a lunch at the Rose Skillman Hall. A panel discussion on "The United States and Africa" will be held at 3:00 at the Annie Russell Theatre, with Professor Thomas R. Adams, Mr. Edward Mulcahy, Deputy Director of the Office of Eastern and Southern African Affairs, Mr. Hendrik Van Oss, Deputy Director, Office of Western African Affairs, Mrs. Dorothy Killiany, who has served in Angola and Ghana, and Rosamond Deming, a student at Rollins College, participating.

Throughout the week the guest lecturers visited various government classes such as Dr. Douglass' "Major Issues of Our Times" and Dr. Summer's "The Developing Countries."

The events that were held for the week's Africa South of the Sahara Program proved to be very informative and interesting. The program acquainted the student with the problems of today's developing nations in a part of the world that unfortunately, until quite recently, has been both misunderstood and neglected.

National Inter Fraternity Council Holds Convention

The National Interfraternity Conference, representing over 2,200,000 members of social fraternities in this country awarded its highest honor, the Iron Man Trophy, to the University of Tennessee at its recent 56th annual conference held in Washington, D. C.

The award, a large piece of bronze, was won by Tennessee's Intrafraternity Council for carrying out the most constructive leadership, scholarship, and community relations program among the hundreds of schools with Intrafraternity councils.

Runners-up for this significant award were Susquehanna University, University of Texas, and Ohio State University.

In other action, the record number of 1,100 delegates, representing active members of over 4,000 fraternity chapters, unanimously passed a resolution pledging its support to the efforts of the United States government to uphold freedom and oppose aggression in Viet Nam and other areas threatened by Communist take overs.

Continuing the NIC's emphasis on scholarship, ten fraternity chapters were awarded Summa Cum Laude Plaques for distinguished scholarship. Each of these chapters had scholastic averages at least thirty per cent above all men's averages at each school. Heading the list of Summa Cum Laude chapters for 1965 was Beta Theta Pi at the University of Kansas, with an average of forty per cent above the norm for that school.

Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark was presented a Gold Medal for his "outstanding work for youth through the fraternity system." Justice Clark is national vice-president of Delta Tau Delta.

Robert W. Krovitz, a Wollaston, Massachusetts, insurance executive and member of Alpha Epsilon Pi, was elected new president of NIC at the meeting.

Snakes Drop Club For Cage Margin

Tom Sacha, Sports Staff
On Monday, February 7, Sigma Nu defeated second place X Club by a wide margin of 74 to 48. Fred Suarez led the scoring with 36 points, 21 in the second half. This is the individual record for a regulation game. Boyd Coffee's 39 was in an overtime game. Sigma Nu was behind by 6 at the end of the first quarter. They took the lead as the half ended 33 to 31. In the second half, the X Club hit a cold spell and the snakes increased their lead. Jim Oppenheim had 17 points to take scoring honors for the Club. Chris Jones had 11 points to help the Club attack. George Filippone (12), Mike Miller (10), and Bill Jackson (10) also scored for Sigma Nu.

Lambda Chi received their second victory when Phi Delt forfeited on February 1, the same day the Sig Eps upset the Faculty Grads 29-25. Led by Tom Eaton, who scored 12 points and controlled the rebounding, the Sig Eps pulled the game out in the final minutes. Jack Lindquist scored 13 points for the Faculty.

The following day Sigma Nu rolled over previously undefeated KA by a score of 48-25. Fred Suarez again cracked the 30 point barrier. Gary Dering led the KA's with 10 points. At the same time, on the out-door court, hot shooting X Club defeated Sigma Phi Epsilon 62-29. Scotty Green and Jim Oppenheim, X Club pumped in 21 points and 14 points respectively. Dick Cohen had 12 for Sig Ep.

The TKE-X Club match was another game decided in the fourth quarter. Tied at the half and ahead by only 3 points after three quarters, the X Club scored 26 points in the fourth quarter to beat the TKE team by a score of 63 to 48.

Sigma Nu rolled over the Faculty-Grads, 57-26. The Faculty, playing without Boyd Coffee or Jack Lindquist could not stop the twosome of George Fillipone and Fred Suarez. Fillipone took scoring honors with 19 points while Suarez could only manage 17 points. Bob Balink scored 11 for the Faculty-Grads.

Independents received their second victory by defeating Delta Chi, 52-47 in a foul plagued game. The Independents played the last 1:23 with only four men and still hung on to the five point lead. Indies' John Knebel and Bob Christianson scored 18 points and 17 points respectively. Chuck Gordon led the Delta with 14 points.

The Faculty-Grads came from a three point deficit at half time to defeat TKE 47-42 in another make-up game. Jack Lindquist who did most of the shooting and rebounding, wound up the night with 23 points. Allan Curtis led the TKE's with 17 points.

Cagers Face Tritons

Returning from a disappointing week away from home, Rollins cagers hit the road again Saturday as they journey to St. Petersburg for a rematch with Florida Presbyterian College.

Coach Boyd Coffie's Tars, 68-55 losers in their first meeting with the Tritons, will be trying to snap a three-game losing streak before closing the 1965-66 campaign at home. Rollins has dropped 13 straight contests away from home.

Dick Dunkel's College Basketball index gives the Tritons a 13-point edge over the Tars.

Big man in the Florida Presbyterian attack is 6-4 forward Harry Singletary, whose jumping ability has won him the respect of Tar center Millard Nixon as well as other opponents.

Singletary grabbed 31 rebounds and scored 25 points against the Tars here Dec. 7. Other scoring threats for the Tritons are guards Dick Grimm and Jack McGuire and center Earl Whitlock.

After the Georgia-Tennessee road jaunt, Nixon still rates as the top Tar in scoring and rebounding, as extending his margins over nenerup Ed Siemer.

Nixon is averaging 15.6 points and 12.2 rebounds per game, while Siemer has slipped to 14.8 points and 10.3 rebounds.

Guard Bob Chandler is the other Tar in twin digits with a 13.1 point mark. Dave Pearlman (7.5) and Gary Kilmer (8.7) round out the Tar attack.

Percentage-wise Siemer leads Tar regulars in outside shooting with 41% of his shots. Pearlman is the top foul shooter with a 78% mark.

Oarsmen End Winter Season With 3rd Loss

By Skip Carlson
Sports Staff

Massachusetts Institute of Technology junior varsity and varsity crews defeated the Tars Friday by a margin of about four seconds in each race. The weather conditions made the afternoon a cold and wet one for both competitors.

The varsity times for the 1-3/16 mile course were M.I.T., 5:56, Rollins 6:00.7, and the JV times were, M.I.T. 5:56.4, Rollins 6:00.9.

The Tar varsity shell again lacked its potential experience, due to the illness of Ken Payne and Jim Ehle. This race ended the pre-season competition for Rollins with an 0-3 record.

The Tars lost to Wisconsin, Columbia and M.I.T. The Tars will compete in their first spring race on Lake Maitland Mar. 29 against Amherst.

The scheduled training program for the following two weeks will include weight-lifting, running and gymnastics.

Delts, Snakes Clash For 1st

Delta Chi and Sigma Nu clash at 4 p.m. today at Ward Park for the intramural soccer crown. Both teams enter the match with identical 5-1 marks.

Led by varsity starters Willie Flohr, Doug Kerr and Ricky Mello, the Snakes have shutout all of their opponents except Lambda Chi and Sig Ep. Sig Ep upset Sigma Nu 1-0 in the first game of the season.

Chuck Thomas sparks the potent Delt offense, which has crushed KA (6-1) and the Indies (7-0). Delta Chi's only loss was a 3-1 defeat at the hands of the X Club.

Lambda Chi dumped the Clubbers 2-1 Tuesday to take third place in the soccer race with a 4-2-1 record. The Club and TKE finished at 4-3.

Sig Ep was 2-3-1 through Wednesday's match with the Delts, followed by KA, 2-5, and the Indies, 0-7. KA thwarted Sig Ep's bid for third place Monday with a 3-1 win.

TAR CAGERS SEE ACTION IN TENNESSEE
... Millard Nixon, Ed Siemer frolic in snow

Cagers Fall Three Times On Journey

Poor shooting and rebounding plagued the Tar cagers last week as they completed a disappointing three-game road trip into Georgia and Tennessee.

Consecutive road losses to Mercer, Georgia State and Sewanee dropped Rollins' overall record to 4-12 and road slate to 0-9. The Tars have lost 13 straight away from home since defeating Georgia State in Atlanta Jan. 29, 1965.

Erasing a 20-19 deficit with 5:40 left in the opening half, Mercer's Bears rattled off nine straight markers in Macon, Ga., Feb. 2 to dump the Tars 74-59.

Rollins, hitting only 35% of its shots, stayed within nine points until the Bears tallied 10 in a row midway through the second half.

Led by guard Jack Manton with 18 points on nine field goals, Mercer registered 44% of its shots and out-rebounded the visitors 60-36.

Tar forward Ed Siemer topped all scorers with 23 but was the only Tar in double figures. Rollins led by four, 16-12, halfway through the first stanza.

In Atlanta the following night Rollins was surprised by Georgia State 65-54 in ancient Brown High School gym.

Freshman Frank Cason, returning to his old prep court, seared the cords for 25 markers, including a pair of 1-1 free throws with 14 seconds left in the contest.

With the score tied 54-54 at the one minute mark Rollins worked for a final shot, but center Millard Nixon was charged with an offensive foul as he drove for the winning basket, setting up Cason's heroics.

Although they hit only 28% of their shots, the Tars managed to salvage a 24-23 halftime advantage, coming from five points back in the final two minutes.

The game was tied three times in the second half before the Panthers took a 39-37 lead with about 10 minutes remaining. Georgia State stretched the margin to seven points, 50-43 with five minutes left, but the Tars battled back to knot the count 52-52 two minutes later.

Four Tars, Nixon and Bob Chandler (12 each), Ed Siemer and Dave Pearlman (10 apiece), were in double figures. Rollins lost the rebounding battle 55-51.

The win was Georgia State's first in eight games with Rollins and snapped a 13-game Panther skid.

Attempting to reinstate themselves, the Tars led an excellent Sewanee team 46-43 at halftime Feb. 5, but could tally only 28 markers in the final frame for an 86-74 defeat.

Dave Pearlman, back in his native mountain country, poured through 19 points, 14 in the first half, to spark the Tars.

Trailing as much as seven points midway through the half, Rollins managed to tie the Tigers 41-41 with 0:53 remaining in the opening stanza, then pulled away to a 46-43 advantage.

The Tars opened the gap to six points, 55-49, with 16:28 left in the second half before Sewanee reeled off five straight to tie 55-55 at the 14:52 mark.

The lead changed hands four times until the Tigers went ahead to stay, 64-63, on captain Bob Swisher's jumper with 11:26 left. Swisher paced all scorers with 23 points.

Rossiter Leads Crew

By Dave Lord
Sports Staff

If an unappreciated athlete had to be picked at Rollins, Fred Rossiter, captain of the 1966 crew, would be among the leaders. Over the last four years he has led the JV and Varsity crews to many important victories.

Rossiter rowed at South Kent School for five years in four-oared shells and lost only one race in his freshman year. In 1961 he sparked South Kent to the finals at Henley, England. Henley can be considered to be the world series of crew.

After a distinguished prep school rowing career, Fred came to Rollins where he rowed number six in his freshman year. In the spring of 1962 Fred went with the Varsity to Henley where the Tars won three of four races, losing to the Argosy Boat Club of England in the semi-finals.

In his sophomore year Rossiter led the JV crew to the Dad Vail championship. Last year he rowed stroke on the varsity and as co-captain led the team to third in the Dad Vail.

Going into his senior year, Rossiter is an experienced crewman and should help Rollins have a successful season, even though the crew has lost its first three races.

To achieve such status as an oarsman takes many hours of work during the season, and Fred certainly isn't the kind of person to sit back. For example, last summer he rowed 1,200 miles in his own one-man shell to keep in shape.

He gained added experience by rowing for Club Lake Undine Barge Club and the College Boat Club, both of Philadelphia. In 1963 the College Boat Club competed in the Olympic trials until they were forced to withdraw because of an injured oarsman.

Fred also runs three miles daily and usually rows a couple of hours a day while at Rollins to prepare himself for the physically exhausting sport.

When Fred expressed himself about the future of crew at Rollins, he had some very interesting remarks to make. He feels that if the all freshman JV can improve and if there is a good turnout for crew next season, Rollins should be able to remain on its present high plateau.

He also feels new head coach Jim Lyden with his progressive ideas and Dr. U. T. Bradley with his conservative concepts make an excellent coaching combination. The coaching staff also is working hard to obtain a new boat house and new shells, Fred said.

The crew, with a good future, ought to bounce back this year for a successful season.

Pitcher, Catchers Open Baseball Drills

About 15 pitchers and catchers began baseball drills at Harper-Shepherd Field this week in preparation for a 34-game season which opens this month.

Head coach Joe Justice and assistant Boyd Coffie welcomed five experienced hurlers and two veteran backstoppers, plus a number of promising newcomers.

Heading the veteran moundsmen is sophomore Jack Ceccarelli, who posted a 5-0, 2.33 E.R.A. last season. Also back are lettermen Charles Schoene (5-3, 4.12) and Ken Sparks (1-4, 4.22), along with Ed McNair (1-1) and Tony LeVecchio (0-0).

Battling these five for a place on the starting rotation are freshmen Scott Clay, Gale Coleman, Jim Hardee, Joe LaSorsa, Gary Mercer, Mike Regan and Rick Shotwell, plus sophomore Jack Zimmerman.

Gruhn (.278 last season) and Lynch (.253) face a stiff challenge in besting freshman Jeff Burns, a top defensive mittman who was drafted by the N.Y. Yankees last summer.

All other players report for drills next Monday as the season opener with the University of Florida Mar. 11 nears.

Hats Clinch FIC Crown

DeLAND — Stetson clinched at least a tie for the Florida Intercollegiate Conference basketball crown Saturday by defeating Florida Southern 71-65.

The Hatters led all the way except for two one-point Moccasin advantages and stretched the difference to as much as 10 points in the second half.

The victory closed Stetson's FIC slate at 5-1 and FSC is now 2-1 with two games against Tampa and a Feb. 21 meeting with Rollins remaining. Tampa is 1-3 and the Tars are 1-4 in conference play.

Stetson's defense restricted FIC leading scorer Mike Huber, averaging 20.5 points in conference games, to six markers and shutout third place Scott Fitzgerald (17.0).

Moccasin guard Jim Hayes took over scoring honors with a 17.3-point per game mark, followed by Rollins' Ed Siemer and Tampa's Dick Pusins at 15.8.

Florida Southern crushed Stetson 69-49 in Lakeland earlier in the year.

Rollins Girls Host O.J.C.

Rollins women host Orlando Junior College in their annual field hockey match at 4 p.m. Friday on the Sandspur Bowl.

Last year the Tar team, composed of members of the field hockey physical education class, crushed the Highlanders 5-0. This season OJC has beaten Evans High School, 3-0.

At least six of the starters were varsity players in high school. Miss Siegnener has the most experience, according to Miss Mack, since she was a regular at powerful Friends School in Washinton, D.C.

Women's Hours To Be Debated

Care about women's closing hours? Sure! Who doesn't? Well, that's going to be the matter under discussion at the fourth intramural debate this Sunday night at Bingham Hall, starting at 7:30. Alpha Phi and Sigma Nu will be on the negative side arguing that women's closing hours at Rollins should be abolished. Arguing the affirmative will be Gamma Phi Beta and Sigma Phi Epsilon. The representatives will be Evelyn Cook of Alpha Phi, Janet Lynch of Gamma Phi Beta, Dave Ernsberger of Sigma Nu, and Charles Dillon of Sigma Phi Epsilon. This debate will be the last in the preliminary stages of this debate series, sponsored by the Union Educational Entertainment Committee and the Rollins Speakers Bureau.

Rollins, Where's Your Spirit?

By Patrick Crowley

The majority of Rollins students entertain an apathetic attitude towards the idea of school spirit. Interest in college activities is labeled blatant exhibitionism, and the minority who are genuinely concerned with the promulgation of Rollins ideals are often subjected to public ridicule by a completely disinterested majority.

Rollins students are primarily occupied with their own individual activities, which are predominantly demoralizing and detrimental to the reputation of the school and affiliated alumni. Student participation in extra curricular functions would serve as a constructive impetus to initiate a rejuvenation of school spirit and raise it out of its present lethargic state.

One of the caustic factors of this problem is the antagonistic division between the fraternities on campus. Each of these organizations regards itself as a separate corporate body, elevated and superior to its contemporaries. Because of this persistent isolation, the school is unable to operate in unity. Advantages which would invariably stem from such a union are sacrificed because of selfish rivalry. If a policy of reciprocity could be endorsed, then a fraternal interrelationship might be formed. Juvenile jealousy would be eliminated and confederation would replace it.

The majority of our admirable student body is content to relax and leave the administrative organization of student government to a few dedicated individuals. They do not grasp one of the most rudimentary concepts of college education. Students don't just attend a school, they ARE the school. If sloth and lassitude dominate an individual's character, and he rejects participation in any productive activities, he will treat future responsibilities in the same indifferent manner.

Another example of this extra-curricular paralysis is the relative lack of student turn-out at sports functions. Do they delude themselves with the fallacy that because they've paid their annual tuition, they have thereby alleviated any further obligations? Their obvious inconsideration is indicative of the present apathetic feelings. When the student body finally realizes that they are retarding their own progress as well as jeopardizing the success of Rollins competition as a whole, they will inevitably rise above their petty rivalries, and unite into a body which can operate with efficiency and spirit! Give it a try.
