FSU Meet Shows Rollins, IFC Strong

By George Draper

Florida State University was host for the State Inter-Fraternity Council Conference in Tallahassee this past weekend. Delegates from Jacksonville University, the University of South Florida, the University of Miami, Tampa University, the University of Florida, and Rollins College were invited to attend the conference. Each fraternity at Florida State University also sent two delegates. The Rollins delegates were Norm Freidland and George Draper.

In past years the State Inter-Fraternity Council Conference has been a weak organization owing to the fact that the host schools took very little initiative in sponsoring a constructive and beneficial program. There was also the problem in getting the colleges and universities of the state to send representatives to the Conference. However, over this past year Florida State University worked diligently in changing the course of past conferences. After being nominated host school for 1967 at last year's conference in Jacksonville, F.S.U. gathered pertinent information necessary for a successful State Inter-Fraternity Conference. This information had never before been collected at State conventions so F.S.U. had the laborious task of compiling this information from various colleges around the state. To make the Conference more attractive and to arouse participation, F.S.U. held the Conference during Circus Weekend. As it turned out, only two schools failed to send delegates, Jacksonville University and the University of Miami.

The day-long program featured discussion groups, committee chairman reports, a general discussion session and concluded with a banquet.

The Conference began at 8:45 a.m. Saturday with a welcome from F.S.U. Greek Goddess, Marianna Morrison, followed by a short address by Dean William L. Proctor, F.S.U. fraternity counselor. The group was then orientated by Convention chairman Joe Billow, after which they split into three separate discussion sections, each lasting 45 minutes.

At 12:15 the group met in the conference room where they took a break for lunch. The visiting delegates were dined in the sorority houses. At 2:00 the group convened again for the last discussion group, and at 3:00, committee chairman reports were given in the general session. The four committees were broken down to specific topics, finance, Public Relations and Rush, I.F.C. Constitution and Policies, and Internal Control.

The Conference, however, was not a complete success and shortcomings were quite obvious. The Rollins College delegates realized that much of the problems presented in the discussion groups and summarized by the committee chairmen were not relevant to our problems at Rollins or to be the other smaller colleges. As a matter of fact, the Rollins delegates left the Conference with a feeling of superiority with regard to our Inter-Fraternity Council. The Rollins I.F.C. does not have near the problems of the other Inter-Fraternity Councils in the State. However, this problem can be mostly attributed to the size of the other universities. Furthermore, fraternal life at Rollins ranges between 60 to 70 per cent, whereas at most of the other schools the percentage ranged from 10 to 21.

During the General Session period the Rollins delegates explained some of the shortcomings with regard to the smaller colleges represented, such as Rollins, Tampa, and Stetson. From this, the Rollins delegates suggested that at next year's conference the host school split the schools into two different groups providing a more well-rounded convention dealing with the problems of both the small and large schools. The suggestion was unanimously agreed upon. Concluding the General Session, Dave Zimmerman, president of F.S.U. Inter-Fraternity Council, proposed that Florida State University assume the position of "temporary" headquarters for the State Inter-Fraternity Council Conference and would collect and compile all information pertinent to the State Inter-Fraternity Council Conference, and the F.S.U. would work in accordance with the host school for the year of 1968. The only opposition encountered came from the University of Florida which tried to take another "monument" back to the Gators.

Nevertheless, the proposal was passed unanimously. Then to wouldn't feel slighted it was proposed and passed that the University of Florida would be the host school for 1968. Summing up the day-long convention, Joe Billow, Convention chairman, stated that for the whole the convention was a success, yet it had its shortcomings. Furthermore, for the first time since its beginning the State Inter-Fraternity Council Conference, had finally served in a constructive and beneficial manner. Finally, he added that he hoped there would be more participation from the other schools in the State in the coming years.

Enyart Groundbreaking Starts Building Progress

A longtime dream became a reality last Saturday during Rollins Annual Alumni Reunion as ground was broken for the new Enyart-Alumni Fieldhouse while Rollins graduates from many parts of the nation watched.

Rollins Student Association President Bob Gustafson, an All-American baseball player, summed up the feelings of those attending the ceremonies when he said, "this will be a place which the students can call home."

Alumni, college officials, Rollins students and Winter Park city officials watched as the Barr House, one of several buildings on the site where the structure will be built, was moved by a truck.

Rollins Alumni President Robert F. Stonerock of Orlando acted as Master of Ceremonies for the event.

Speakers included Gustafson, J. Sands Showalter, the immediate past president of Rollins Alumni; Thomas Johnson of Pittsburgh, a Rollins Alumnus and member of the College's Board of Trustees and Quentin E. Bittle of Winter Park, a Rollins alumnus and close friend of the late Dean Arthur D. Enyart.

The new structure is a tribute to Enyart, who served as Dean of Men at Rollins College for many years. To cost in excess of $700,000, it will provide the Rollins Tars with a home basketball court seating 2,500 spectators and will house the college's physical education programs.

Such college related activities as convocations, commencements, academic conferences, concerts, Alumni events and community activities will be held in the nue behind the Annie Russell Theatre.

Each of the speakers called on the Alumni to continue contributing to the Fieldhouse fund and repay the government loan. Stonerock pointed out that Alumni contributions had accounted for forty-five percent of the funds needed for the building.

Bittle referred to Dean Enyart as "A man who had respect worthy of his popularity on this campus."

The Fieldhouse is financed by donations from Alumni and friends of the college, and both a grant and loan from the federal government.

The late A. G. Bush, former board chairman of 3M and a former member of the College's Board of Trustees, donated $100,000 to the building fund.

Young Dems Involved In Politics As Government Activities Increase

The Young Democrats are off to one of their biggest starts this year has ever seen. The club is under President Ron Gilbman.

Last Saturday the club distributed literature in one of the voting precincts for the Orange County Democrats. Tuesday night, they attended a reception for the Democratic candidates in this area. Ron said that the response of the people and candidates to the YD's was excellent.

Last night was their first big meeting of the year. There was a large, enthusiastic turnout at the meeting. Their new constitution, drawn up by Ron and Josie Bidgood, was presented last night. It was ratified by the members.

This Saturday the Young Democrats will ride in a motorcade with the Democratic candidates. Ron stated that there was a good chance that a seminar will be held here in Orlando to discuss current political happenings. Many of the state Democrats would be in attendance. Also, the Young Democrats are planning to form a Young Democratic Club at Seminole Junior College.

Also planned is an attempt to start Young Democratic clubs in the local high schools. Ron said that he felt that high-school students should become civic-minded. They are the future leaders of our country, so therefore, they should know about our government system.

It is Ron's aim to familiarize the students with Florida's government system. People don't seem to realize that Florida has a different system than most of the states.

It appears that now Rollins College Young Democrats are moving in the right direction. The club will be an asset to the State Democratic Party, and it will be a tremendous asset for Rollins College.

The Fine Arts Committee of the Rollins Student Center invites its fellow students to view an exhibit of assemblages by artist Maud Trismen at the Morse Gallery of Art on Tuesday, March 28 from 3-5 p.m.

The unique art forms won for the artist a gold medal at the World's Fair. Miss Trismen, a Rollins graduate, will be at the gallery for the special student reception. Refreshments will be served.

THE SPUR SPEAKS

Pass - Fail: Another Look

Several weeks ago the Sandspur ran an editorial in favor of a pass-fail grading system. Although it was an article of some length, some important aspects of the problem may not have been given due explanation and emphasis. This week another facet of the proposed system will be brought to light.

This idea has been suggested by a faculty member. He rejected the idea of an indiscriminate pass-fail system, but felt that many of the points made were valid. For him, the answer lay in a kind of compromise, whereby the pass-fail system would be reserved for those students who had proven themselves worthy of it.

Exactly how long a student's trial period ought to be is a moot point. It seems important to invoke the system as early in the student's career as possible, since as the curriculum is now set up, many of the freshman and sophomore courses would be prime candidates for the pass-fail system.

There would be a real value in terms of helping the student to maturity if when he was successful in making the Dean's List his first semester, in school, he would be allowed to pass-fail a limited number of standard courses, which he takes according to, and often enough only because of his block schedule in the catalogue.

This privilege could be probationary, based on his continuing performance each semester. As students made Dean's List in other semesters, they too would receive this consideration, until at the beginning of the junior year an assessment could be made and the permanent two-year privilege of passing-failing courses and electives awarded to anyone who had made the Dean's List half the time in his two lower division years.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

It has been only two busy weeks since I joined the staff of Rollins College as Director of Alumni Affairs, but I can't resist writing you to comment on an initial impression I've had.

I came here from the staff of a medium sized (6,500 students), midwestern, private university. The students there, in general, were rather aloof, apathetic and difficult to get to know. There were, unfortunately, many "beatnik types" who reveled in getting adverse publicity for both themselves and their (?) school.

At Rollins, in the short time I've been here, I have become extremely impressed by the apparent maturity intelligence and friendliness shown by every student I have had occasion to meet! Without exception, each young adult I have come in contact with has made my decision to come to Rollins an even more happy one.

Let this be notice that the doors to my office will be open at any and all times to students who continue to impress me the way I've been impressed so far!

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

Night At The Flics

It's hard to tell whether "Kiss the Girls and Make Them Die" is a satire of the secret agent of the secret agent movies.

All analysis aside, however, the movie proves to be fastpaced, action-packed, and unclichéd, despite these clichéd adjectives.

Michael Connors is a supersuave American agent who comes up against Dorothy Provine, who turns out to be a British agent. Since most of the time, Connors proposes to join forces. Yes, dirty-minded reader, that's not all he proposes.

During the movie Connors has this thing about bananas. He eats them constantly, and even uses a peel as a weapon once. If anyone can figure out the symbolism in this, please let us know. It must mean something.

The Villian they're both after is played by Raf Val-lone. They're not sure what he's up to, but they know it's no good.

He has many girl friends, and one by one they disappear mysteriously. Actually, they're being incarcerated in giant plastic cubes for resurrection at some later date.

They really know he's up to no good when they stumble upon one of his no-good experiments in the jungles of Brazil.

A group of Indians is performing fertility rites, and upon being questioned, they tell the agents that there has not been a child born in the tribe for four years.

The women are doing their best, but all the men seem to want to do is sit around.

Just then Miss Provine gets herself kidnapped by the bad guys, and her captors lead Connors to the underground bad guy headquarters.

Finally we learn of the dastardly plan of the villain.

He is about to send up a rocket which emits radioactive rays as it orbits the earth, with the purpose of eliminating the world's sexual appetite, except for himself and his suspended cuties.

We now pause for a few seconds of contemplation on the implications of this scheme.

Will Connors get there just in the nick of time? Will he rescue the very rescuable Dorothy Provine? Will they live happily ever after? What do you think?

ART, IT'S NOT. Good entertainment, it is.

One of the better parts of the movie was Terry-Thomas' portrayal, first of a jungle explorer and anthropologist, and later of Miss Provine's chauffeur.

It's hard to tell whether the role was suited to Terry-Thomas or he just does well in any role he takes.

Regardless, he is perfect as the self-sufficient chauffeur and Miss Provine's protector.

Refusing to be ruffled, he quickly disposes of five ruffians whose intent is bodily harm.

The only time he appears to be disturbed during the entire movie is when Connors asks for Scotch but instead receives Bourbon from the Rolls Royce's automatic bartender.

The important thing, and the thing everybody had been waiting for, of course, is the verdict. After all, this is a very important decision. It could mean a couple of hours and a dollar to many fun-seeking Aggies.

In the light of this, and after careful deliberation, the movie is . . . recommended. Oh, these decisions.

GRAPEVINE

Meanwhile, the Grapevine was matched up with a computer date and got a psychodilic Alpha Phi junkie, who plays the nose flute and lives with a bunch of falling trees. This happening, as it is called, proved to be not only pschodelic, but also traumatic.

Draft dogers and laundrymen beware! This week marks the return of the WHITE KNIGHT.

Despite the jeers and heckles of a capacity crowd, Fleet Peeples managed, once again, to put on a really fabulous water show for the Alumni Weekend. This year he had four alligators sing "Dixie" while dancing the soft "shoe?" and seven freshmen boys dove from a 200 foot tower into a vat of flaming weeds. The show was a great success despite poor reviews.

A new sequel to the "Archie" comic books is out. It called "The Results of the Faculty Evaluation." Copies can be found at the reserve desk in the library or at lover's leap.

As soon as Fish "leaves" a party he turns into another Joey Chitwood thrill driver.

Animal lovers everywhere! Come see Rip Cunningham in a cage. Two performances daily. According to Rip this is a fairly easy life in all he has to do is "lie around and eat bananas." Although there seems to be good publicity in the act, the job does have its problems. Rip told us that a cage of this sort not only cramps his style but also his body. Therefore it seems likely that the performances will not continue too much longer. The last showing will be in front of the Beanyery sometime.

Members of the Speakers Bureau recently participated in a model United Nations Seminar.

Rollins Speakers Active In Bureau

The Rollins' Bulgarian delegation of seven students returned to campus with mixed emotions after attending the annual Harvard sponsored model United Nations in New York City, March 9-12.

Representing the Peoples' Republic of Bulgaria, the Rollins delegation spearheaded the Communist Bloc in committee meetings and whenever possible insured the interests of the Communist nations in the simulated crises.

Such a vital position is normally occupied by the Russians. The University of Missouri acting as the Russian delegation lacked both the preparation and the talent to carry out Russia's role in the United Nations. Consequently, they either turned to Rollins for help or remained silent.

As the responsibility of Communist leadership fell more and more to Bulgaria in the committee meetings, Rollins proved herself to be one of the most outstanding delegations present.

Rollins performance in the model United Nations was the result of weeks of preparation under the astute guidance of Professor Lionel Summers. Seminars on Bulgaria were held twice a week during the winter term.

A panel consisting of Professor Summers, Dr. William G. Fletcher, and Dean Fred Hicks interviewed members of the Rollins Speakers Bureau and selected the six delegates. Bob Hochschild presided as chairman of the delegation with Mark Billson, Norm Friedland, Gary Justice, Jim Leahy, Craig Wandke, and Jim Watkins (alternate also attending).

Once at the model U. N., each delegate went to a respective committee (colonial, economic, legal, political, social and humanitarian, and special political), where he functioned as a diplomat acting and maneuvering for his country's interests.

The highpoint of the model U.N. was a lengthy interview given by Ambassador Nicolai Fedorenko of the U.S.S.R. to the student General Assembly.

Approximately 130 colleges and universities from all over the country attended the 1967 National Model General Assembly.

The Rollins Speakers Bureau has elected its new officers for the year 1967-1968.

Bob Hochschild was elected president of the Bureau. Joining him on the executive committee will be Steve Gordon, vice-president; Carol Skodje, corresponding secretary; Sue Hall, recording secretary; and Garry Justice, publicity chairman.

When asked what he planned to accomplish during his administration, Bob stated that it was his desire to have the Bureau sponsor more on-campus activities, as well as extend the present program which the Bureau actively pursues in the areas of off-campus speaking and intercollegiate debate.

Student Council Reports

By JACK MYERS

The March 20 meeting of Student Council was called to order by President Gustafson at 8:30.

Carole Conklin began the meeting by accurately reading the minutes. They were approved as distributed.

After a brief interruption for a photograph of the legislature, the committee reports began. Dave Lord asked the Traffic Committee to check into the parking problem which will be created by the construction of the Enyart Field House. There will be a report given in the next meeting concerning this change.

Concerning standards, Bill Blackburn reported that the legality of class offices will be discussed at their next meeting. One discrepancy is that the requirements for these officers has not been firmly stated.

Bobby Wharton announced that the Student Center is accepting applications for the president of each union committee as well as Union Board members.

Dean Hick's proposal to prohibit the use and maintenance of motorcycles and bikes for the 1967-68 year was untabled. After considerable discussion, Fred Gittes amended the proposal to read "in Orange County." The amendment passed and the proposal was then passed as amended.

Next on the agenda was the untabling of the Spring Weekend Committee's proposal to appropriate money to Mr. Rowen, an agent who contracted the singing groups. Dave Lord stated that if the legislature did not allocate $250.00 to Mr. Rowen for his expenses, he could have a court settlement of $4,000 to $5,000 dollars. Upon learning this information, the allocation was passed immediately by the legislature.

Bob Gustafson announced that the open Spring Weekend has been accepted by Dean Hill and his committee.

Under the topic of new business, the legislature approved Dean Darrah's proposal to close the Union from 12:00 to 1:00 on Friday, March 25th for Good Friday services.

Carole Conklin, Bob Gustafson, Bill Blackburn, and Debbie Wood comprise the Student Association Executive Board.

Chuck Bauenschmidt then made the suggestion that either the present Student Council Room be changed or more seats be added to the present room since there were seven members which had to remain standing throughout the meeting. Bob thanked Chuck for the suggestion and then promptly appointed right hand man, Bill Blackburn to delue in to the matter.

The Faculty Evaluation booklets are now on reserve in the library for any student or faculty member. A suggestion was made that a modified evaluation of the winter term be developed to determine the value of individual study. Carole Conklin said that she would look into the matter.

There being no further new business, the meeting was adjourned at 9:15.

Happy Birthday, Carole!

Advertisement Controversy Arises

Editor's Note: Ed Wren, the News Bureau at Rollins College, was one of three persons directly responsible for the format of the ad on the College which appeared in the East Central edition of Time magazine on March 3.

I trust that this explanation of the evolution of the Time magazine ad will help answer some of the many questions raised by individuals directly or indirectly associated with this college.

Let me begin by saying that I have read former Rollins student Barbara Bodman's "Letter To The Editor" and listened to the views expressed by students during Wednesday morning's coffee with President McKean. I regard this as constructive criticism which indicates a personal interest in Rollins College.

I do believe, however, there are certain facts regarding this ad which should be brought to light in view of this criticism.

Time magazine's publisher announced last November that the magazine would grant a limited amount of FREE advertising space to colleges and universities throughout the nation.

This new policy on the part of Time stated that a maximum of fifty advertisements would be accepted during the year.

It further stipulated that the chosen ads must "demonstrate the imagination and scope that will appeal to Time's readers."

Within a few weeks after the offer appeared, Time was literally swamped with prospective advertisements from more than 400 educational institutions. Rollins College was one of these institutions.

Our entry was chosen almost immediately, and appeared in the edition of Time received by more than 900,000 subscribers living in Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Kentucky and the St. Louis-Minneapolis-St. Paul region.

The format of the Time magazine ad was approved by the College's editorial Board and several College officials.

From what I have been able to determine, criticism of this ad centers on three points which I will list and then attempt to clarify.

1. Rollins College could put its money to better use. As explained above, this advertising space worth $8,000, was provided free of charge by Time.

2. A "good" college should not have to resort to advertising. Most of the nation's institutions including the "prestige" ones spend a considerable amount of funds advertising both locally and nationally. Rollins has never advertised nationally, and this ad appeared only because of the opportunity provided colleges and universities by the editors and publishers of Time.

3. The format of the ad depicts Rollins College as a "Country club" with a play atmosphere. Anyone who objectively reads the entire content of this ad can only conclude that this institution offers considerably more to the prospective student than a "Summer all Winter long" climate. In fact the sentence immediately following this phrase would clearly indicate to a reader a truly representative facet of our academic program. The mention of Rollins' athletic teams in this same paragraph shows the college is dedicated to producing a well-rounded individual who will be able to make a significant contribution in any setting following graduation.

Obviously, one of the reasons our ad was chosen in such stiff competition is the cliché appeal of the 1884 coed. To my way of thinking, anyone who reads a literal interpretation into the phrase "What's A Nice Girl Like You Doing In A Place Like This?" is only looking for an argument.

Let me conclude by saying these are my own views. I am personally pleased that a magazine of Time's caliber saw fit to choose our ad. The great majority of criticism thus far has resulted from inadequate information relative to the background of the ad, and I hope I have clarified this somewhat.

What's a nice girl like you
doing in a place like this?

Getting a better education... and then some! A well-rounded education combining eighty-two years of tradition with a space-age approach to the four-year college course of study.

At Rollins it's called the "hourglass curriculum" and it's just one of many reasons why 1,136 students came to Rollins last September from forty-two states and twenty foreign countries.

Other reasons? How about championship baseball, golf and tennis teams... and Summer all Winter long? Or economic analysis, quantum mechanics and a field trip to Cape Kennedy's Launch Complex 39?

The arts, sciences, humanities, business and sports. All have their places at Rollins. All have more reason for being... in Rollins' environment of academic excellence.

Sound like a good combination? We think so.

What would your son or daughter be doing in a place like this? Probably getting a better education... and then some.

Eleven hundred and thirty-six other students are!

Founded in 1885, Rollins is Florida's oldest nonsectarian liberal arts college. In addition to the campus enrollment, more than 2,000 students are registered in three graduate programs and two evening undergraduate programs. ROLLINS COLLEGE • WINTER PARK, FLORIDA • 32789

*Rollins' unique "hourglass curriculum" is an across-the-board integration of concepts within major fields of knowledge for freshmen; depth-concentration on a major during sophomore and junior years; and return to broad re-integration of fields of knowledge in the senior year.

Harvard To Face Tars In Debate

Rollins College will confront Harvard University in their fourth annual debate tourney on Sunday, April 2, at 8:00 p.m. in Annie Russell Theatre.

The public and students are invited to attend this vigorous forensic contest over the controversial question, "Who caused the Cold War?" The debaters from Rollins will be Mr. Norman Friedland and Miss Evelyn Cook, who are both active members of the Inter-collegiate Debate Team of the Rollins Speakers Bureau.

Mr. Friedland and Miss Cook will debate Miss Fran Pritchett of Radcliff College and Mr. Larry Silver of Harvard College.

Rollins, victorious in two of the last debates, will be trying to increase its lead even further in this annual speech highlight of the Spring Term.

This past Monday, March 20, Mr. Pat Crowley and Mr. Steve Gordon debated the question of "Should the State Capitol be moved to Orlando?" on the Bill Beary Program on WDBO.

Mr. Martin Brewster, past president of the Orlando Toastmaster Club, acted as moderator. He commented that reaction was so favorable a tape will be made of the program and contributed to WPRK for further broadcast.

Rollins Girls Gain Laurels At SFEA Convention

On Thursday, March 16, 1967, five members of the Hamilton Holt Student Florida Education Association and their advisor, Mr. Harold Peebles, drove to Jacksonville, Florida to attend the State Convention of the Association. In the group were Carole Conklin, State President of S.F.E.A. for 1966-67, Sara Perrott, Carole's Corresponding Secretary and also President of the local chapter, Pamela Booth, Secretary of the chapter, Julie Wolf and Marilyn Mueller. After registering at the YMCA, the girls went to their hotel, the Seminole Hotel, where all five stayed in one room. That evening was the Opening Assembly for the Florida Education Association, also meeting in Jacksonville for their State Convention. During the Assembly various awards were given but the most outstanding ones were presented to two Orlando Television stations, WESH and WFTV, for their contributions to educational programming and advocacy of junior colleges. That evening there was a short meeting of the S.F.E.A. at the Roosevelt Hotel while the Credentials Committee reviewed candidates eligible for state positions in the organization.

At 7:30 a.m. there was a breakfast at the Roosevelt followed by the Business Meeting at the YMCA. During this time the committees gave their reports and general business matters were discussed. Afterwards nominations for officers were entertained followed by the nominating speeches. Pamela Booth was nominated for the office of Recording Secretary. The Business Meeting was adjourned until 2:00 when three keynote speakers were presented. These included such prominent educators as Ed B. Henderson, Executive Secretary of the F.E.A., who spoke on "Where has Florida Come in Education?"; Dr. Phil Constans, Jr., Associate Executive Secretary of the F.E.A., forecasting "The Outlook for Education in Florida," and Mrs. Lallah Waite, Recruiter-Interviewer for Broward County Schools, who asked, "So You are Ready to Enter the Profession—". A question period followed these interesting speeches, revealing important issues which will affect the future teacher. That evening there was a dance at the Roosevelt Hotel for all S.F.E.A. members.

At 9:00 Saturday morning the General Business Session resumed to discuss unfinished business and elect officers. Pamela Booth, a junior at Rollins, was elected State Recording Secretary. Pamela, a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Secretary of the Junior Class, is an English major planning to teach on the High School level. At the close of the Business Session, Carole Conklin was presented with a gavel by the members of the Executive Board for her outstanding job as State President of S.F.E.A. during the past year. Sara Perrott was also praised for her efficiency as Carole's Corresponding Secretary. Luncheon was served at the Roosevelt Hotel followed by the keynote speaker, Dr. Richard Burnette of Florida Southern University. His stimulating speech brought to light many of the problems facing the American teacher today and was an appropriate way to end a weekend filled with exciting experiences and new acquaintances.

The Hamilton Holt Chapter of the Student Florida Education Association will hold its election meeting on Thursday, March 30, 1967 at 7:15.

Tekes, X Club Claim Volleyball Leadership

TKE and the X Club breezed through their first three matches to share the intramural volleyball lead after the first week of play.

TKE crushed Delta Chi 8-0, 15-1, in its opener Thursday, then polished off contenders Sigma Nu 15-4, 15-4, and Lambda Chi 15-4, 15-7, Friday and Monday.

X Club blanked Phi Delt 15-8, 15-13, Delta Chi 15-7, 15-10, and Sig Ep 15-8, 15-7, in its first three matches.

Also unbeaten through Tuesday's matches was KA, which posted three set victories over Lambda Chi 12-15, 15-13, 15-12, and the Faculty-Grads 15-6, 14-16, 15-10.

In other first week action Sigma Nu stayed within reach by downing Sig Ep 15-10, 15-3, for a 1-1 log. The Faculty-Grads edged the Phi Delt, 3-15, 15-10, 15-12, Lambda Chi toppled Delta Chi, 15-9, 15-2 and Sig Ep beat the Faculty-Grads 15-6, 15-8.

Favored Snakes Lead In Softball

Pre-season favorite Sigma Nu opened its 1967 campaign with convincing wins over the Indies and TKE to claim a share of the intramural softball lead.

Sig Ep knocked off the Faculty-Grads and the Phi Delt to match the Snakes' 2-0 mark through Wednesday. Also unbeaten are Delta Chi and KA, which defeated TKE and the Indies respectively.

Against the Indies last Thursday Sigma Nu opened a 6-0 lead before the Indies scored a lone run in the third and continued its 17-hit attack to emerge with a 19-8 victory.

Tallying four times in the fifth, the Indies sliced the deficit to 11-7 but the Snakes rallied for seven markers in their half of the fifth to put the game out of reach.

Bill Jackson fanned seven men in three innings before moving to shortstop. Willie Flohr. Jeff Scholenberger, Sandy Sulzycki and Bill Hartog slammed three hits each for the winners.

Sigma Nu spotted TKE unearned four runs in the first inning, then exploded for eight markers in the second frame enroute to an 18-4 win Tuesday.

Jackson fanned ten batters and banded out three hits to spark the Snake attack. Jay Wood and Hartog registered four hits each, while Sulzycki collected three safeties as Sigma Nu slammed 21 attacks.

Sig Ep scored four runs in the fifth to nullify a six-run Faculty-Grad explosion in the top half of the inning and give Sig Ep a 17-7 victory by the now defunct ten-run rule.

Second baseman Bob Taylor paced a 13-hit Sig Ep attack with three safeties including a home-run and a triple.

A 21-run second inning boosted Sig Ep to its second win Wednesday, a 35-12 victory over the Phi Delt. Winning pitcher Bob Bisplinghoff led the attack with five base hits.

Delta Chi erupted for eight runs in the fifth inning Mar. 15, erasing a 6-4 TKE lead and powering the Delt to a 13-8 victory.

KA came up with a run in the bottom of the seventh to edge the Indies 15-14 Monday. The Indies had tied the score at 14-all with a five-run explosion in the seventh.

Sigma Nu returns to action next Thursday against X Club.

Girl Netters Seek Sixth Straight Win

Seeking their sixth straight victory this season, Rollins' women netters journey to Gainesville Saturday to face the University of Florida.

Heading the Tar aggregation is junior Kathy Blake joined by freshmen Jane Butts and Lucia Turnbull and juniors Guiliana Peterson and Nona Gandelman. Last year Rollins defeated Florida 9-0.

Miss Virginia Mack's charges extended their dominance over state women's tennis Mar 3-4 as they captured the championship of the fourth annual Women's Collegiate Invitational Tournament in Tallahassee.

Sophomore Wendy Overton of Ormond Beach, Fla., seeded second, upset Miss Blake, the top seed, 8-6, 6-3 to take the singles title.

Miss Overton and Miss Blake then lived up to their top rating as the swept through the doubles competition without being extended to three sets.

The Tar pair downed second seeded Peggy and Ann Moore of New Orleans Loyola 6-3, 6-3, in the doubles finals after breezing through four rounds.

Things were just as easy for Miss Overton in the singles ranks as she knocked off four opponents, including seventh-seeded Tish Adams of South Florida, in straight sets before meeting Miss Blake.

Miss Blake crushed three foes in straight sets, then toppled fourth seeded Ann Moore of Loyola 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, to reach the finals.

Mary Ann Foniri and Lucia Turnbull also represented Rollins in the tourney, reaching the third round before falling to fifth-seeded Carol Hughes and Andrea Martin of Mississippi State College for Women 6-0, 6-3.

Miss Foniri downed Margaret Clinkscales of Converse 6-0, 6-0, in singles, then lost to Toni Barone of Broward Junior College, 7-5, 7-5. Miss Turnbull was eliminated by Florida State's Kathleen Geraghty 6-2, 6-4, in the first round.

Rollins finished with a 20-point team total, four better than runnersup South Florida and Loyola. Last year Rollins tied Broward Junior College for the crown as Miss Overton teamed with Pam Sullivan for the doubles title and took third place in singles.

SINGLES — Turnbull (R) lost to Geraghty (FSU), 6-2, 6-4; Foniri (R) d. Clinkscales (Converse), 6-0, 6-0; lost to Barone (Broward J.C.) 7-5, 7-5;

Blake (R) bye; d. Valz (St. Pete J.C.), 6-0, 6-0; d. Martin (Miss State College for Women), 6-1, 6-2; d. Koutras (Broward J.C.), 6-4, 6-1; d. A. Moore (Loyola), 6-3, 3-6, 6-2; lost to Overton (R), 8-6, 6-3;

Overton (R) bye; d. Ornstein (Tulane), 6-0, 6-2; d. Johnson (Agnes Scott), 6-1, 6-0; Venning (Fla.), 6-2, 10-8; d. T. Adams (USF), 7-5, 6-2; d. Blake (R) d. 8-6, 6-3.

DOUBLES — Foniri-Turnbull (R) bye; d. Tomlin-George (Miss. State College for Women), 6-1, 6-1; lost to Hughes-Martin (Miss. State College for Women), 6-0, 6-3;

Blake-Overton (R) bye, d. Clinkscales-Rogers (Converse), 6-0, 6-0; Fuller-Crowe (Broward J.C.), 6-0, 6-0; d. Hughes-Martin (Miss. State College for Women), 6-2, 6-1; d. Koutras-Barone (Broward J.C.), 8-6, 6-4; d. P. Moore-A. Moore (Loyola), 6-3, 6-3.

Golfers Compete In Tournament

Rollins' golfers are competing this weekend in the Miami Invitational Golf Tournament in Coral Gables.

Heading coach Bob Kirouac's Tar squad are lettermen Sam Martin, Joe Browning, John Kirouac, Terry Law and Bob Lewis.

The tourney began Wednesday and is slated to finish Saturday.

Baseball Week Opens Monday

Rollins' baseball season reaches its climax next week as Lafayette College of Easton, Pa., Colgate University of Hamilton, N. Y., and the University of Notre Dame (Ind.) invade Winter Park for Rollins' 19th annual Baseball Week tournament.

The four participants meet Monday through Saturday in a series of daily doubleheaders with the opener beginning at 12:30 p.m. and the nightcap starting at 3:30 p.m.

Coach Joe Justice's Tar nine tunes up for the big week at 3:30 p.m. today in a practice game with Notre Dame and at 2:30 p.m. Saturday against Duke University.

Little is known about the Notre Dame nine, but Colgate and Lafayette are perennially among the top teams in the East, ranking with such teams as Connecticut and Rider, which played here this week.

Lafayette, which lost its famous coach Charile Gelbert this winter, has 14 lettermen returning from a squad that reached the NCAA District playoffs last year. The year before they went all the way to the College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

Heading the veteran contingent are pitchers John McCombs (5-1, 2.27), Bob Clements (5-2, 2.18) and Dick Noll (4-3, 3.20). Graduation claimed three infielder starters who must be replaced.

Colgate, like Lafayette, kicks off its 1967 slate Monday. However, the Red Raiders have just seven lettermen back from last year.

Duke, stopping over enroute to Miami's baseball tournament, has nine veterans back from a squad that finished 1966 with an 8-16 record, including a 4-9 Atlantic Coast Conference slate.

Right-hander Carter Hill (4-4, 2.84) is the only starting pitcher back. Top batters for the Blue Devils are left fielder John Hines (.294) and shortstop Larry Davis (.284).

With sophomore southpaw

Gale Coleman (2-1, 2.92) bearing most of the mound load, coach Justice appears to be heading into daily action with a shortage of pitching talent.

Sophomore righty Joe Lasorsa (4-1, 1.45 last year) was counted on heavily, but is still sidelined with an injured pitching arm. Lasorsa fanned 17 men in 11 innings last week and posted a 0.82 ERA before reinjuring his arm.

Rollins' hitting is equally questionable, since the Tars carried a .181 team swat mark into Wednesday's game with Rider. Last year the Tars rated in the top ten teams in the nation in batting with a .297 average.

Leading the Tar attack is senior left fielder Bob Gustafson at .375 going into the Rider game. Gustafson has won the Rollins batting title twice in his three years at Rollins.

Netters Upset 5-4 By F.S.U.

Florida State won two doubles matches 7-5 in the third set last Friday to edge Rollins 5-4 and snap the Tar netters' winning streak at six.

The loss was only the second for Coach Norm Copeland's Tars in two years. Rollins faces the Seminoles again April 3 on campus. Last year the Tars downed F.S.U. twice by 5-4 counts enroute to a 24-1 campaign.

After tripping Pennsylvania 7-2 and 6-3 Monday and Tuesday, the Tars returned to action this weekend as they join 10 other schools in the fifth annual Cape Coral Tennis Tournament in Ft. Myers. Defending co-champion Mississippi State, Wisconsin and Southern Illinois loom as the teams to beat in the tourney.

The Tars returns to actions on their home courts Monday, hosting Clemson, Hope, Duke, Davidson, Jacksonville, Amherst and Notre Dame in their Tennis Week.

F.S.U.'s Danielson and Procopino defeated Bob McCannon and Chick Hawley, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5, while Seminoles Bruner and Jobson edged Jim Griffith and Bill Kinne, 1-6, 6-4, 7-5, to win Friday's match.

The score was tied 3-3 after singles play as Ron Van Gelder, McCannon and Kinne won while Hawley, Cliff Montgomery and Griffith fell by the wayside. The loss was the first for Montgomery in 32 singles matches.

Hitting Lapses Cost Tars

After evening its record at 3-3 with a 4-3 comeback victory over St. Leo Friday, Rollins baseball team slipped into a three-fame skid through Wednesday.

Without consistent hitting or pitching coach Joe Justice's Tar nine looked progressively worse in losing to Connecticut 5-3 and 4-0 and falling to Rider 11-1.

Spotting St. Leo a pair of first inning runs on two singles, a double and a throwing error, Rollins bounced back to tie the score at 2-2 in the sixth as first baseman Don Phillips singled home Bob Gustafson and Bob Schabes after three infield errors had loaded the bases.

Gustafson's RBI two-bagger after center fielder Chris Leedy reached second on a fielder's choice and an error in the seventh put the Tars in front 4-3.

However, St. Leo rallied to knot the count in the eighth as third baseman Phil Hopkins singled home right fielder Pete Longo, who had walked and reached third on a pair of errors.

With two-out in the ninth Hopkins booted Schabes' grounder, permitting winning pitcher Donnie Smith, who had walked and moved to second on a passed ball, to score all the way from second. The miscue was St. Leo's eighth of the contest.

First baseman Ron Bugbee's two-run homerun in the sixth erased a 3-2 deficit and sparked Connecticut to a 5-3 win over Rollins Monday.

Sophomore southpaw Gale Coleman yielded a pair of unearned runs in the third on two singles and two errors, one of them his own, but the Tars bounced back to cut the lead in half in the fourth.

Schabes forced Gustafson, who had singled, then stole second and scored on Gordy Lynch's double to left.

Rollins took the lead in the fifth as Pedro Fonts singled, Jeff Burns tripled and scored as Sterling Case singled up the middle. Connecticut added another unearned run on a walk, an error and a single in the eight.

In the series wrapup sophomore right-handers Bill Hogerty of Connecticut and Lasorsa of Rollins matched goose eggs for five innings before Lasorsa pulled a tendon in his arm, forcing him to leave the game with seven strikeouts.

Connecticut tagged reliever Ed Siemer for three runs on two errors by Siemer and two hits.

Rider College invaded Harper-Shepherd Field Wednesday and unleashed an awesome 27-hit display in downing Amherst 12-2 and Rollins 11-1.

The Roughriders exploded for five runs in the second inning on two singles, two hit batsmen, a walk and second baseman Richie Bechtel's three-run double. Winning pitcher John Merten scattered four hits and slammed a two-run homerun in the sixth.

The Smithinpoofs entertained Rollins Students Wednesday night in Annie Russell Theatre.

Smithinpoofs Sing

By Josie Bidgood

On Wednesday night Rollins College experienced an entirely different and enjoyable cultural experience. Ten Smithinpoofs (the female counterpart of the famed Yale Whiffenpoofs) presented from their repertory of traditional songs musical selections ranging from humorous, catchy ditties to current, popular show tunes. Their style, strictly their own, was equally appealing to the students and to the adult guests.

The Smithinpoofs began in 1936 when four Smith College girls who were pinned to four Whiffenpoofs decided at a picnic one day to have their own school singers, thus becoming the oldest vocal group on the Smith campus.

There have traditionally been sixteen members, and each spring new girls are tapped to replace the others who are graduating. Their songs have been passed down through the years with new ones being added each year to keep the selections up to date.

Originally the girls toured in the New England area only at men's colleges and various other college functions. It has been just in the past two years that they have travelled extensively, sharing their talents with Smith alumnae and college students along the Atlantic coast.

Guests of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority while at Rollins, the Smithinpoofs were entertained with a picnic supper before their show and a reception afterwards so that the girls could become better acquainted with the college students. Although the group was sponsored by the Pi Phis, Mrs. Nina Dean of the English Department was largely responsible for their visit here.

Their performance was very well received by the Rollins students.

Crew Splits, Hosts Carolina Today

Rollins' crews bid for their second win of the young rowing season at 4:30 p.m. this afternoon as they meet East Carolina College on Lake Maitland.

Tomorrow the Tar oarsmen join Marietta, Alabama, East Carolina, Florida Southern, Tampa and Jacksonville in Winter Haven for the Cypress Gardens Regatta.

Coach Jim Lyden's crews continue their busy schedule next week, facing Amherst College Monday, Iona College Wednesday and Tampa in Tampa Saturday.

Marietta (Ohio) College, last year's Dad Vail Regatta champion in all three divisions, spoiled Rollins' home opener Monday by soundly whipping both the Tar varsity and the JV.

Crossing the 1 3/16-mile Lake Maitland course in a near record 5:27.5, Marietta finished nearly two lengths ahead of the Tar varsity. Rollins set the course standard with a 5:26.2 run versus Amherst in 1965.

Marietta's junior varsity finished in 5:36.7 to defeat Edgewater High School (5:44.7) by two lengths and Rollins (5:55) by three.

Rowing at an unhurried 31 strokes per minute, Rollins' crew whipped Marist College of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Tuesday for their first wins this year.

Both the varsity and JV boats finished about five boat lengths in front with the varsity turning in a 6:02 time to Marist 6:26. The Tar JV posted a 6:20 clocking, 27 seconds better than Marist.

Bowling Race Goes To Wire

Lambda Chi and the Graduates moved into the final night of intramural bowling competition Thursday with identical 22-10 slates. Lambda Chi met the X Club, while the Grads faced the Indies.

The Grads narrowed the gap last week by blanking KA 4-0 as Lambda Chi tied Sigma Nu 2-2. The Phi Delt (21-11) and Delta Chi (20-12) stayed in third and fourth place respectively by splitting their match 2-2.

The Phi Delt faced TKE Wednesday and Delta Chi took on KA Thursday.

TKE 17-15, remained the only other team over .500 by tying X Club (15-17) 2-2. Sig Ep shutout the Indies (24-18) 4-0 to climb into a eighth place tie with Sigma Nu at 10-22. Sig Ep met the Snakes Thursday.

KA is last with a 9-23 slate.
