MUSKIE IN PUERTO RICO

Sen. Edmund Muskie (D-Main), the leading Democratic contender for President, told the National Governor's Conference in San Juan, Puerto Rico, that "The Attica tragedy is more stark proof that something is terribly wrong in America" and shows that "we have reached the point where men would die than live another day in America."

PHILLY MAYORALTY

Philadelphia's Republican candidate for mayor, Thatcher Longstreth, is sending party regulars up the wall. Longstreth, who is opposing former police commissioner Frank L. Rizzo, a rough law-and-order advocate, is pitching his entire campaign to liberal and radical Democrats. In a speech last week to the Americans for Democratic Action, the GOP nominee proclaimed "I'm six-foot-six and 235 pounds of white dynamite and a black fuse. If you'll light that black fuse, we'll blow Rizzo right onto that farm he said he'd retire to."

CABINET NARCOTICS CONTROL

President Nixon has announced the creation of a cabinet-level committee to coordinate all federal narcotics control policies and particularly to try to use the weapons of diplomacy and intelligence more in the war against drugs.

The exaltation in the war on narcotics appears to be focused on slowing the international traffic of heroin.

Serving with Secretary of State Rogers, who was named to head the committee, will be Attorney General John Mitchell, Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, Treasury Secretary John Connally and the United Nations Ambassador George Bush.

Sneaky Labor

Researchers for the Americans for Constitutional Action have pinpointed 44 groups used by organized labor to funnel funds into political campaign. During the two years leading up to the 1970 election, labor used these fronts to channel more than $4.1 million to each "candidates"—almost all candidates were Democrats.

SMOKE-IN at MADISON, WIS.

Madison, Wis. (CPS)—Over 800 people held a "smoke-in" on the steps of the state capitol here on Saturday, Sept. 25. The demonstration was to protest the laws which prohibit the use of marijuana and in support of yippie activist Dana Beal who is jailed in Madison for marijuana possession.

The smoke-in occurred without incident on the steps of the capitol, as twenty police officers looked on. Rally leader Mark Knops called the event an unqualified success. "We definitely proved that the marijuana laws are unenforceable. Knops later claimed that over 40 pounds of the "killer weed" had been consumed during the afternoon.

The day was drawn to a conclusion when the demonstrators marched on county jail to cheer up Dana, they were discouraged from getting too close to the building by a network of city police. The demonstrators then proceeded past the jail several blocks and set up barricades. The police then rushed the demonstrator's barricades and serious hand-to-hand fighting ensued.

When the dust cleared nine people were arrested for minor offenses and Dana Beal was still in the Dane County Jail.

Tufts Gets Tough

Medford, Mass. (I.P.)—The results of Tufts' Affirmative Action Program for hiring more minority and women personnel "have far exceeded expectations," according to the University's latest report to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Robert L. Albert, director of Tufts' Office of Equal Opportunity and Intergroup Relations, stated in a letter to HEW's Boston office, "A comprehensive recruitment program, an accelerated in-house promotional program, and a University-wide training program have enabled Tufts to make progress."

The report to HEW also noted:

Tufts has begun to monitor all of its referral sources. Should the survey reveal that certain agencies are not referring minorities or women, corrective action will be taken.

More than 400 universities and colleges throughout the country have learned of the Tufts program and requested copies of its booklet.

Tufts is maintaining approximately 20 percent minority work forces at various on-campus construction jobs.

An Outreach Program is underway, covering all of the greater Boston area and other sections of the nation in search of minorities and women.

Promotions within the University have not been overlooked by Albert's office. "We have endeavored to work with department heads to provide opportunities for minorities and women employees to attain higher rated positions with added responsibilities."

The Student Center Presents !

Lynne Henshaw

"What's Happening?" This was the by word of the NEC (National Entertainment Conference) Unit meeting held at Florida State University on October 1-3. Three members of the Board of Directors, Diego de la Guardia, Lynne Henshaw, and Peter McCarthy, attended the meeting which accentuated the positive aspects of the campus, and programs of action. Upon recommendation by the three, Rollins Student Center is now a member of this new non-profit corporation, (formed two years ago, which involves students and staff in the programming situation on campus.)

NEC was formed specifically to help colleges and universities find and provide profitable leisure-time and recreational activities for their students. Some of the benefits of membership, $75.00 annually, are Unit meetings, National Conferences, a monthly newsletter, and summer workshop opportunities. Briefly, the Fall Unit Meetings are devoted to talent, showcases, previewing films, and concert attractions in a buying situation; and the Spring meetings are more for the education of new chairmen. (Units are composed of schools that are interested in working together.)

Impressions of the meetings value to Rollins were made by Peter McCarthy as being: "1) the potential of a good coffeehouse, 2) the potential of working with Florida Tech. University on concerts and coffeehouse circuit, 3) the potential of the communications network setup by the NEC, 4) the potential of setting up four to six college network of block-booking, and 5) the potential of (the following groups: Freeway, Jeffrey Arthur and his Friends, The Drambuies, Russ Kirkpatrick, Don Crawford, John Loudermilk, Mike Williams, Danny Cox, John Walters, and the film "The Killing of Fred Hampton.") Program expansion will depend in part on the result of present talks with the Ford Foundation, the Music Foundation and others; these are primarily for developmental projects. The NEC Board of Directors just approved a National Inter-Collegiate Arts Festival to be held at the Kennedy Center in Washington. This is a $250,000 project which would be based on regional elimination.

This week the sound system in Bush Auditorium will be tested, and the three Foundations Courses and the Student Center will bear the cost of additional speakers. This will improve the sound of all films presented. October 15, the Films and Special Projects Committee presents the film "The Seventh Seal." The film concerns "the Black Death which is wiping out the population of Europe as Antonius Block, a knight, returns disillusioned from the Crusades. (Death appears before him, but he asks for a chance to live and proposes a game of chess. Around him religion is becoming fanatical and society is collapsing. A witch is burned, but not before he questions her. He takes under his protection his squire, a troupe of traveling players, and a deaf and dumb girl. Death takes his toll one by one, but Block manages to stall him long enough that the young family of players may get to safety. Then Death leads his prisoners away doing their dance of death.")

A contest is being sponsored by the Student Center for the creation of a Student Center Emblem. It should be small, simple, easily reproduced, clean, with the initials RCSC (Rollins College Student Center.) A cash prize of $10.00 will be offered to the winning emblem creator. All entries must be received by October 20 and sent through campus mail to Box 826.

The Publicity Committee will have the Travel Board completed within the next two weeks. It will be posted by the Student Union Office (near the fireplace in the Union.) and will be available for any student, or faculty-staff member.

On Saturday, October 16 at 1 p.m. in the Student Union the Orlando City champion Mark Ryan and Florida Chess Association President Don Haffner will conduct a simultaneous chess exhibition, and lecture for all those interested. Admission is free and prizes will be awarded to any person defeating Mr. Ryan during the simultaneous. Ever see anyone play 25 games at the same time? This truly amazing feat will be the kick-off for a Rollins Chess Club. Bring board and men if you own them. For further information contact Mike Peterson, Box 555 or extension 2482.

From The Basement

By Barbara Bowen

There is a movement on the Rollins campus to do away with the language requirement. It is considered by many to be a useless waste of time and a basic hinderance to specialization in one's major field of study.

I, personally, am of a different view. For one thing, why should the language requirement be considered more vexing than similar requirements in Biology and the Humanities? Isn't a three hour lab aimed at detracting from the directional behavior of the theatre major as much as learning fifteen Spanish vocabulary words? Isn't Social Science a meaningless task for the music major or the Math major? I think not.

There is a danger in universities for students to become over-specialized in their major and come into contact only with students who have their same interests.

This is the main reason for the existence of what is called the Liberal Arts College. It seeks to encourage a wide range of experience and involvement, uniting all areas of study.

Thusly, the language requirement, the biology requirement, etc.; all are given for one purpose: to force one into a broadening of oneself. People are inclined toward self-limitation and a little push toward greater awareness of others and surrounding life is a welcome and needed thing. One can fight against involvement and knowledge by the resultant narrowness.

So, Bravo for French! Bravo for the Senior English and History major course! They are there only because people should understand as much of the world as they can, but usually won't take the initial steps toward learning, and must be coaxed.

Your Remarks

THE BEANERY AGAIN

Dear Editor,

As everyone knows, the food served here at Rollins is no where near home cooking. Of course we don't expect it to be, but we should at least expect a meal that is not unappetizing and undigestable. We simply are not getting what we are paying for, and I think this calls for a change.

Night after night many students eat out, if they can afford it, but is this what is necessary to get a decent meal? Maybe it is. At any rate, we shouldn't be charged for a meal we don't eat. It seems most unbelievable that we have to pay for food we don't even like or want. Therefore, I would like to propose a new system that would appeal not only to us the students, but to our parents as well. Each student would have a beanery card, as now, and at each meal he attends it would be punched, as it is now. The only difference would be that we would turn our cards in at the end of each month and be charged accordingly. This seems to be a much fairer system, and should even improve the food if we are to eat there at all.

We the students of Rollins College are being cheated out of good meals, and whoever is paying for them is being cheated out of good money.

Sincerely,
Bruce Ely

STETSON UNIVERSITY, DELAND, FLA.

A unique program, the Model United States Senate, will be held at Stetson University, this November 11, 12, 13 and 14, 1971. For four days, Thursday through Sunday, one hundred students from across the nation will drop their own identity and become United States Senators. This program is in effect a realistic simulation of the U.S. Senate. During the four days, the "Senate" will be in general sessions; committees will hold hearings to question witnesses and act upon proposed bills; party caucuses will meet to draw up party strategy; and the "Senate" as a whole will "advise and consent" on a Supreme Court nomination. The Model Senate Committee has been fortunate to draw some "very important persons" to our program. Speakers will be Senator Robert Byrd (D., W.Va.), the Majority Whip; Senator Lawton Childs (D., Fla.), former Senator Spessard Holland (D., Fla.). We are awaiting acceptances from Senator Ed Guernsey (R., Fla.) and Gov. Reuben Askew.

The cost for each "Senator" will be approximately $40. This includes motel room, food, and registration fee. If you have any questions, please contact your school's political science and/or history department, or write The Model United States Senate, Stetson University, DeLand, Fla. 21789.

SCANDINAVIAN SEMINAR

Scandinavian Seminar is now accepting applications for its study abroad program in Denmark, Finland, Norway, or Sweden for the academic year 1972-73. This living-and-learning experience is designed for college students, graduates and other adults who want to become part of another culture while acquiring a second language.

An initial 3 weeks language course, followed by a family stay, will give the student opportunity to practice the language on a daily basis and to share in the life of the community. For the major part of the year he is separated from his fellow American students, living and studying among Scandinavians at a "People's College" (residential school for continuing adult education) or some more specialized institution.

All Seminar participants meet at the Introductory, Midyear and Final Sessions, during which the American and Scandinavian Program Directors work closely with each student on matters related to his studies, experiences and progress. The focus of the Seminar program is the student's Independent Study Project in his special field of interest. More and more American colleges and universities are giving full or partial credit for the Seminar year.

The fee, covering tuition, room, board, one-way transportation and all course-connected travels is $2,500. A limited number of scholarship loans are available. For further information write to SCANDINAVIAN SEMINAR, 140 West 57th Street, New York, N.Y. 10019.

"The Student Association is in trouble. Due to several key resignations we find ourselves long on ideas but short on personnel to carry those ideas out. Projects under consideration are a torn and eventually a county-wide, voter registration drive, a new campus-wide ecology organization, a comprehensive review of the rules and regulations regarding the students with the particular aim of establishing a student Bill of Rights, exploration into the possibilities of establishing a campus-wide video network, and many more. If you're tired of playing pinball or just sitting back complaining about how bad things are, send a note to me Box 163 Campus Mail and I'll put you to work. Winter Park-on Park Ave. North*

For anyone with the slightest degree of sensibility, Attica will forever symbolize the ultimate in human tragedy--the controlled catastrophe that could so easily have been avoided.

I wish to address myself exclusively to the citizens of Cell Block D, because I was honored among men to be named their attorney. And I will confine myself to what I saw, heard and felt during my dozen or so hours in what I choose to regard as a sublimely liberated zone.

When I initially passed from official to inmate control, deep in my white middle-class subconscious, I half expected to see a replica of every prison movie I had ever witnessed. I was reasonably sure that power would be wielded by a few psychopathic killers with little or nothing to lose, who had terrorized their fellow convicts into seizing the cellblock and committing unspeakable crimes of violence along the way. It would hardly have surprised me if the yard had been the scene of impromptu executions, medieval torture, and brutal and bloody struggles for suzerainty.

Instead, I was to have every such ugly stereotype swiftly and totally shattered. The rebels were superbly organized; inmates inclined to violence were quickly subdued and incarcerated; and an acceptance of all shades of opinion was promoted and encouraged. With much sophistication and even some genius, the leadership speedily established an Athenian democracy freed from the racism and class lines of the outside world, which could and did survive everything--but bullets and buckshot.

From the moment the members of our observers' committee first entered the yard, we were aware that we were in the middle of an ongoing community. There was a command post, complete with conference table, loudspeaker system, floodlights, and typing pool. Even the most critical of us could easily see that everyone had been assigned a task--whether it was to dig a defense trench, guard the hostages, man the perimeter, or stand impassively in the long lines of marshals protecting the entrances and exits to the compound.

Even the occasional flurries of panic that every one in awhile, rippled insidiously through the year did not seriously disrupt communal organization. Sensible precautions were taken at once; rumors tracked down to their sources; and their spreaders sternly admonished.

Once, when it was feared that an attack was imminent, lights were quickly extinguished, visitors escorted to a relatively safe and out-of-the-way spot, and everyone cautioned to act only when ordered to do so.

I am a veteran of hundreds of endless movement meetings, and I marvelled that there men--given their socioeconomic backgrounds and the tension and uncertainty that pervaded their newly found freedom--could have so quickly learned to rule themselves with efficiency, dispatch, and bedrock fairness. Their essential politeness toward each other and their visitors, and toward each other and their visitors, and their

Rebels In Chains

By William Kunstler

easy tolerance of all points of view, however strange or unorthodox, made me realize that necessity is as much the mother of accommodation as she is of invention.

Our negotiation sessions were reasonably businesslike and, with rare exceptions, rhetoric was kept to an irreducible minimum. Although we were asked for our opinions, it was obvious to us from the beginning that they would be advisory only. All final decisions were to be made, not by outsiders or those in leadership capacities, but by the entire constituency.

The fabled New England town meeting had at long last suffered a latter-day revival in, of all places, a cluttered prison yard.

Most of the observers were startled to find how versed our hosts were in the art of practical politics. They understood full well how power is gained and utilized in contemporary society and never lost sight for a moment of the fact that their only leverage lay with the blindfolded hostages, who sat on the ground within a demarking circle of wooden benches.

But of even more importance, the inmates, despite the uncertainty of their collective survival, relied heavily on the basic humaneness of the world without and were genuinely and deeply shocked when they began to sense it was as illusory as everything else in their lives had been.

In the end, it was they and not their oppressors who yielded to the pressures of harsh reality. Of their two "nonnegotiable" preconditions--total amnesty and the removal of Superintendent Mancusi--they were prepared to drop the latter if assured of the former.

"We are ready to give up the Mancusi thing," Brother Richard Clark told us as we left the yard for the last time on Sunday night, "if we are guaranteed amnesty."

In the last analysis, they failed because they, as well as most of the observers, so tragically misjudged their society's devotion to its own expressed value. From the beginning they were truly convinced that, given a choice between life and death, the high and the mighty would always opt for life.

Even up to the awful moment of truth on Monday morning, most of them simply refused to believe that their fellow countrymen could so easily forsake even their most cherished shibboleth--the myth of our common humanity--in the face of political expediency.

It is perhaps more ironic than we yet realize that the men of Cell Block D, convicted felons all, yearned so fervently, out of the depths of their own desperate need, for an up-to-date certification of our national credo, while those most publicly committed to its sustenance rushed to nullify it. Men who may have once taken life, molested children or cracked safes understood more about shining ideals and elemental truths than those who professed to judge and condemn them.

Men died at Attica, to be sure, but innocence itself lay unnoticed among the victims.

Treasure Island Revisted !

Treasure Island is not inhabited by buccaneers (at least not the old fashioned kind). A man-made appendage of Yerba Buena Island, it lies in the middle of San Francisco Bay and is the home of about 10,000 Navy and civilian personnel. Most naval personnel returning from Asian duty pass through the base in the process of receiving discharge. Among them are a sizable proportion assigned to Barracks 209.8—known around the base as "Doper's Barracks."

The daily routine around 209.8 is the quintessence of monotony. Almost no one works, except for a few hours in the guard house. The typical day in 209.8 begins with getting stoned, breakfast, getting stoned, lunch, get stoned some more, dinner, followed by more dope, some acid maybe, then a brief period of unconsciousness after which it's time to do it up again before breakfast.

As the turnover of men in 209.8 is high, activities and moods vary considerably from week to week. We were told, for example, that had we come a month earlier we'd have found a barracks literally full of heroin addicts. As it was, only about 15% of the men were strung-out behind horse. Possibly 50% of them used heroin, but only to supplement their regular diet of weed, hash and acid. Even the "pigs" change from month to month, according to the men. Currently, one of the assistant Master-At-Arms is himself a head, and regularly buys and sells dope in the barracks.

The following story is taken directly from an interview with the men of 209.8. It is (believe it or not) representative of dozens of others' stories. When you get to know one Navy addict, you get to know hundreds, even thousands of Navy addicts.

Rumplestiltskin (anonymous) is waiting for a General Discharge, doing time in Barracks 209.8. He was an "Air Force Brat" who went Navy, held conservative political views, and had never done dope before attending electronics school at Treasure Island in 1968. That's when he was turned on to grass. "There weren't many dopers around then," he told us, "and if anybody got busted they got Red Line Brig and hard labor. Then a dishonorable." He was then shipped overseas on the Carrier Constellation and didn't notice much dope aboard ship, but on a second tour of duty he found things to be otherwise. "Man, the shit was all over the place. I was on coke (cocain) then, and because I used a needle to do my coke, I got into all the other needle freaks on board ship, and they were doing smack. So, I began mixing coke with smack and then I just tried to stay as muddle-headed as possible. I hated the f--king Navy, we (the other dopers) used to sabotage the ship. Once, when the President came aboard with all his emergency communication equipment, we cut the hot line."

Back in the States, he went AWOL and was busted in San Francisco for possession, then spent 17 days in the city jail before the Navy came to get him. He was then fined $200 and received a four-month suspended sentence by the Navy on Treasure Island.

All the men in 209.8 want to go home, and as a matter of fact, the two most popular topics in the barracks are of scoring dope and going home. Of course, the two ideas are mutually exclusive. Most of them are from small towns in the midwest and western states and they'll find it harder to score their brand back there. They'll settle for one or the other—hometown or dope—and the cards are stacked against them.

On a final visit to Treasure Island, my photographer and I were arrested and charged with "dealing with dangerous drugs and narcotics." We were detained and questioned and were much later released with formal orders never to return to the base.

Yet, two sailors in 209.8 who were arrested with us did not receive such treatment. They spent two weeks in the brig, during which time, no formal charges were brought against them and no lawyer visited them.

But, of course, they've learned to cope with such situations. They stayed stoned.

ROLLINS RECEIVES CRIMINAL JUSTICE PROGRAM GRANT

Winter Park—Dr. Daniel Riva, Director of Rollins College's Central Florida School for Continuing Studies, made the announcement this week of a second major Federal assistance grant for the institution. This latest grant was in the amount of $28,600 under the Law Enforcement Education Program through the U.S. Department of Justice.

The funds will be used to enhance the development of the two-year old Rollins Criminal Justice Program which has received wide acclaim for its innovative approaches in offering extended educational opportunities to law enforcement personnel in the Central Florida area.

According to Dr. Riva, "We are delighted at the progress of this new program and of its fine reception by students involved in Criminal Justice course study this past academic year. These monies will mean much to our continued progress and success with this program which, I believe, indirectly benefits the citizens of this area."

"Registration for fall term course study in the Criminal Justice and other areas of instruction is now being conducted at the CFSCS Park Avenue campus," Riva said.

Rollins had previously announced this week that it has received a National Science Foundation grant in the amount of $196,500 to fund a 3 year series of research projects and program development.

The Confederate Battle Flag

(contribution By Peter Viering)

Every American in every state should hold this old flag in high respect. Today it flies as a protest against those who are creating an omnipotent centralized government in Washington, D.C. It is a reminder of a day in the United States of America when a state was more than a different colored license plate. Patrick Henry once argued that the Constitution should begin "We the states," but it was hoped that "We the people of the United States" would carry the same meaning.

The Confederate flag is an American flag. Needless to say, it is not anti-Negro. A glance into the lives of Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson, and Jeb Stuart must inspire even the most tired hearts. These men were as much American as Abraham Lincoln. Duty, honor and country were words they understood. And it is well to remember, that after the Civil War was over, when everyone thought there would be a victory ball, Lincoln asked the band to play "Dixie."

Today this flag is a symbol for those who would bring an end to the treason that is today running rampant in the federal government. And it flies as a symbol for those who would restore the Constitution, for it is the Constitution that protects the rights of the individual in our Christian civilization.

This is not belittling the "Star-Spangled Banner." There should always be a glory in your hearts and a tear drop in your eye when you see "Old Glory" waving high. But the Confederate flag, although not our national emblem, is an American flag.

Random Notes..... And Responses

By Jim Vastyan

The resurfacing of the six varsity tennis courts was completed over a week ago, and the courts are now in full use. The new surface is an asphalt and rubber composition base called Tenaflex. Coach Norm Copeland notes that these courts have two main advantages. They save a great deal of maintenance time because they never need relining or rolling, and this gives the players up to thirty hours more play each week. Also, the courts dry very quickly after a rain, thus adding even more potential time and lessening the chance of a varsity match being rained out. Hubbard Construction Co. installed the base for the courts and the E.E. Feise Co. was responsible for laying the red and green Tenaflex surface.

Freshmen candidates for the crew team have been working out for the past four weeks under the gaze of Coach Jim Lyden. The team will field a light and heavyweight squad, and although roughly 25 freshmen are currently working, the team would welcome any additional candidates. Rollins alum Fred Margeson and Co-captain Bert Martin are assisting Coach Lyden in his efforts to ready a tough freshman and varsity squad.

Three additional soccer games have been added to the Tar's schedule. They are as follows:

Oct. 12 V-JV vs. Shelton College 4:00

Oct. 13 JV vs. F.T.U. 4:00

Oct. 15 JV vs. Miami-Dade Jr. College
South 3:30

All games at Harper Sheppard Field.

Tars Whitewash V.P.I., 4-0

By Larry Hauser

The Rollins varsity soccer side pushed its record to 3-0 with a 4-0 victory Saturday, October 2, over the Gobblers of Virginia Polytechnic Institute. Dominating every aspect of the match, Rollins made the game more lopsided than the score indicates.

John Ross took up where he left off at St. Leo by scoring the only goal of the first half seven minutes into the game. Rollins took 22 shots in the half, but Ross' marker was the only shot that found its way into the goal.

Midway through the third period, Stan Gale headed in a Doug Welsh pass to make it 2-0. Six minutes later Welsh scored the third goal on an unassisted breakaway.

Senior link George Yarnall rounded out the scoring with a long shot that ricocheted off a V.P.I. defensive player and into the net. Rollins had an unbelievable 52 shots on goal compared to 11 by the Gobblers. V.P.I. goalkeeper Jack Barnold played a fine position game and had several spectacular stops among his 24 saves. Keeper John Borden made only 3 saves the entire match for the winners.

Comment

Statistics show the steady improvement of the Tars. For example, their shot total has gone from 48 to 49 to 52 over the first three matches, while shots against us have been lowered from 19 to 15 to 11. What i

Three Golfers Cop Honors

By Jim Vastyan

Three Rollins golfers swung into the All-American bracket at the N.C.A.A. College Division Tournament held this past June at Youngstown State University in Ohio. The All-American list was divided into three teams and an honorable mention category based on the final individual finishes of the golfers competing in the tournament.

Mike Ford, son of former P.G.A. champ Doug Ford, led the Rollins contingent with a 294 total score. This fine performance placed him second in the competition and earned him a first team slot on the All-American list. Mike was named to the second team the previous year.

Steady Fred Schick was named to the second team this year, marking his third consecutive appearance on the exclusive list. He made the first team his sophomore year and second team his freshman year.

Mike Brelsford, a senior last year, closed out his career as a Tar standout by also grabbing second team honors. Mike was named to the honorable mention slot the previous year.

The Rollins team of Ford, Schick, Brelsford, Cavicchi, and Metcalfe looked as if they would successfully defend the team title they earned the previous year, but a Brelsford, Cavicchi, and Metcalfe looked as shown by these numbers is that our defense is maturing and our offense is awesome.

The Rollins team of Ford, Schick, Brelsford, Cavicchi, and Metcalfe looked as if they would successfully defend the team title they earned the previous year, but a bad final round finish placed them third overall behind L.S.U. at New Orleans and San Fernando Valley State.

In the V.P.I. match, the defense, led by senior Jim Rudy, played its best game of the young season. They continually pushed the ball out of their zone and into the attacking area, thus putting great pressure on the Tech defense throughout the match.

The biggest test for the team, possibly the biggest match of the season, will come Saturday against the University of South Florida, currently ranked fourth in the South and 18th in the nation. We will need a total team effort to defeat this fine squad.

Intramural Corner

By Chris Tully

Last Thursday, the KA's pulled a startling upset with an 18-0 whitewash of the TKE's. Pete Stroh, the KA quarterback, played a fine game to lead his offense to three scores, two on passes to receiver Carter Dye. The TKE defense fought hard throughout, but could not contain the Stroh-Dye combination.

The X-Club ruined the 10 game winning streak of Sigma Nu on Friday by downing the Snakes, 24-20. Behind quarterback John Lowman, the Club offense got two quick TD's on passes to Dave Kidd and Randy Carlee. Both extra points were good. Snake quarterback John Marzalek ran 15 yards in the second period to put his team on the board, but another score by each team gave the Club a solid 10 point bulge at the half. It stayed that way until the Snakes pulled close on a Marzalek to Jim Strathern aerial, but the Club defense held and preserved the 24-20 victory.

TKE and Sig Ep went at it on October 4, in a continuation of their traditional intramural rivalry, but neither team came out on top in this encounter. The SPE's took a 12-0 lead at the half on a 50 yard romp by Pat Brontos and a Matt Brown to Steve Leon pass. The TKE's stormed back in the second half on two TD passes by Jim Maynard. A successful conversion made it 14-12 in their favor. Their opponents pulled out a tie on a rare two point safety in the final period.

Lambda and Phi Delta Theta fought a close battle Tuesday as both teams were vying for their first win.

Mark McGuire put the Phi Delt on the scoreboard first by successfully running both the touchdown and extra point in. But Lambda came back strong when QB Dan Kinney ran an 8 yard touchdown and then passed to Dave McComb for the extra point. Kinney did it again 5 minutes later when he connected with John Hall for a TD and an option to McComb for the extra point. The Phi Delt's fought back as McGuire ran in for six points, but at the end of the half found themselves trailing Lambda 16-14.

Phi Delt started strong in the second half as Bruce Ely ran 12 yards for a touchdown, putting Phi Delt out in front 20-14. However the Lambda's went ahead to stay, 24-20, on another Kinney scoring jaunt.
