Home Staging-Ground for the War in Indochina

SCENIC POINTS OF INTEREST

●—Be sure to visit all U.S. Military-occupied lands indicated by blacked-out areas on map of Oahu.

A—My Lai Jungle Training Center ("Hawaii's Little Vietnam")

In 1967 the members of Charlie Company, 1st Battalion, 20th Infantry, with their officers Calley and Medina, trained here in a mock Vietnamese village in search and destroy tactics for a tour of duty which took them to the massacre at My Lai on March 16, 1968.

B—Pearl Harbor

Docking point for attack aircraft carriers on their way to Indochina and for nuclear submarines to undisclosed destinations. (Carrier planes train for Indochina by making bombing runs over the Hawaiian island of Kahoolawe, held since 1953 by the U.S. Navy for exclusive use as a bombing and strafing target.)

C—Hickam Air Force Base

Intelligence and targeting center for the most intensive air war in history—over North and South Vietnam, Laos, and Cambodia. Hickam's Directorate of Targets coordinates reconnaissance photography and written reports for targeting the air war.

D—Camp H.M. Smith Headquarters CINCPAC

The underground Headquarters of CINCPAC (Commander-in-Chief, Pacific) controls the largest military command in the world, covering 40% of the earth's surface and extending from Pakistan to the West Coast of the United States including all of Southeast Asia.

DID YOU KNOW

That 3,156 nuclear weapons are stored on the island of Oahu?

That the U.S. Military is Hawaii's largest source of income ($660 million in 1970, $150 million more than tourism)?

That two of the most deadly gases in the Army's arsenal, chemical agent "BZ" and nerve gas "GB", were tested secretly in 1966 and 1967 fourteen miles from Hilo, second largest city in the Hawaiian Islands (facts reportedly denied as late as July 1969 but finally confirmed by an Army spokesman on September 16, 1969)?

That the runways at Honolulu International Airport are used by U.S. Air Force planes on their way to join bombing missions from Guam to Indochina?

That Hawaii is the most heavily militarized group of islands in the world?

PROTESTS PLANNED AT CONVENTIONS

Coalitions have been formed recently in Tampa, Fla., and San Diego, Calif., to organize demonstrations for the Democratic and Republican national conventions to be held in those states this summer.

The Florida People's Coalition, held its founding conference in February. The 35-50 delegates, composed primarily of young white students and former students, were drawn from several of the state's youth-oriented newspapers, community organizations, the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW) and the Shirley Chisholm campaign committee, which attended but did not participate.

The San Diego group, called the Convention Coalition, has 125 representatives, mostly from local groups and includes political views ranging from Marxists to liberals and anarchists.

Both coalitions seek to coordinate activities with a number of other organizations to build a representative united front which will focus on the war, the economy, and civil rights. Each also seeks support from such national groups as the National Peace Action Coalition, the National Welfare Rights Organization, VVAW, and other anti-imperialist groups.

The Florida group is drawing up a "People's Platform" which will be based on the Citizen's Action Pledge, created by members of the San Diego coalition. The "pledge" stresses specific actions that presidential candidates would promise to take to end the war immediately after assuming office, including the following: halt within 24 hours all U.S. military operations in Indochina, a withdrawal of all U.S. military forces from Indochina by April 31, 1973 and the resignation of the Thieu regime in Saigon. The San Diego group is also demanding that the President accept the PRG seven-point peace plan.

Both coalitions plan to organize medical care, legal aid and information services for large crowds of demonstrators which may attend.

In San Diego, a Mayday-style preventive detention policy is anticipated by local attorneys, even though emphasis has been placed on non-violence by the local organizers.

BLACKS RECEIVE MOST COLLEGE AID, STUDY SHOWS

A nationwide survey by Educational Testing Service indicates that black college students come from poorer families than white students and receive more financial assistance.

The study showed that 83 percent of black students in the survey were from families with an annual income of under $10,000. 36% of the white students in the survey came from similar families.

Black students received 21 percent of college costs from their families while whites received 44 percent.

However, black students averaged $1,235 in student aid while whites received an average of $858.

Twenty-nine percent of the black students surveyed received scholarships and another 21 percent received loans, compared to 10% for white students in each aid category.

Additionally, the survey showed that women graduating from college have a more difficult time getting jobs than men.

STRIPPERS PICKET FOR "RIGHTS"

In Seattle, Washington, five strippers from the New Paris Theatre picketed City Hall to demand the right to take more off.

Their most imaginative signs read "Free the Flesh," "Ban the G-String," and "Suppress Crime, Not Entertainment."

FEDERAL PANEL TO HEAR SUIT ON LEGALITY OF VIETNAM CONFLICT

PHILADELPHIA (CPS)—A federal judge, noting the "loss in human resources" and economic hardships caused by the war in Southeast Asia, last week ordered a three-judge panel convened to determine whether the conflict is legal.

U.S. District Judge Joseph S. Lord III said the claim by seven peace activists that the war is unconstitutional "is not so insubstantial as to warrant dismissal," as the government sought.

The surprise move came in a suit filed by the group headed by Rev. David M. Gracie, an Episcopal minister from Philadelphia. The suit asks a permanent injunction against the use of government funds to continue the war.

Judge Lord wrote: "The citizen's interest in having his nation free of war was the very one being considered when . . . the power to authorize was (was vested) with the Congress rather than the President."

The peace group argued that the war was illegal since it had not been declared by Congress.

"Conservation groups," Lord said, "have been granted standing to challenge agency action which would affect natural resources such as our rivers and forests. There are few citizens who could be so callous as to be unmoved by the almost daily reports in the media of the death and destruction being caused by this war."

"REVOLUTION SCRIPT": HOLLYWOOD AND THE FLQ GET TOGETHER ON THE BIG SCREEN

HOLLYWOOD (LNS) — The movie industry has always been known to jump on the bandwagon when the money's good-managing to distort reality in the process.

Now the moguls of Hollywood filmdom are shifting their sights northward and zeroing in on Quebec. A movie, which according to the scriptwriter is going to be a "political thriller", based on the 1970 FLQ kidnapping of Pierre Laporte and James Cross, is now in the planning stages.

The screenplay is written by Brian Moore, from his book "The Revolution Script" which he called a "non-fiction novel". Moore narrates the events from what he imagines is the viewpoint of the kidnappers. The film too will focus on what he thinks they were like and not on the political climate which produced the violence against Laporte and the subsequent introduction of the War Measures Act. Topics such as the economic exploitation of the Quebecois, English Canadian racism and the imposition of a temporary police state by a liberal government don't seem to have much box office appeal for American producers.

SUPREME COURT KILLS MASS. BIRTH CONTROL LAW, UNWED WIN EQUALITY

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Over the lone dissent of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, the Supreme Court has ruled that the decision "to bear or beget" a child is a private one.

Population control spokesman Bill Baird, who instigated the case by passing out birth control devices and literature to Boston University women in 1967, had been charged then by Massachusetts with violating the state birth control law which prohibited distribution of these devices to unmarried women.

He called the decision "really a victory for the people because it's the first time the people have been granted freedom to deal with their own bodies." He also predicted the demise of abortion restrictions.

In the majority opinion (only seven justices were on the court when the case was argued), four justices said, "If the right of privacy means anything, it is the right of the individual, married or single, to be free from unwarranted governmental intrusion into matters so fundamentally affecting a person as the decision whether to bear or beget a child."

The four justices, William J. Brennan, Jr., William O. Douglas, Potter Stewart and Thurgood Marshall, also comprise a majority of the seven members who have Texas and Georgia abortion cases under advisement.

Two other justices, Byron R. White and Harry A. Blackmun, concurred in the decision, but without adopting its broad language and without declaring whether the married-unmarried distinction was valid.

The principal area preserved for federal or state regulation in this area are possible health hazards posed by some contraceptive methods.

Burger's dissent criticized all six of his colleagues. If the Constitution can be thus strained, he said, "we could quite as well employ it for the protection of the 'curbstone quack' reminiscent of the 'medicine man' of times past, who attracted a crowd of the curious with a soapbox lecture and then plied them with 'free samples' of some unproven remedy."

CHASTITY RULED UNRELATED TO TENANCY

NEW YORK (LNS) — "The question for decision," said Judge Irving Younger, "is whether chastity is a requisite to maintenance of the landlord-tenant relationship." The case before the bench was a petition submitted by the owner of an upper Manhattan rent-controlled apartment building to evict one of his tenants, an unmarried woman in her late 20's, on the ground that "she used the premises for illicit relations."

According to New York State law, however, sexual intercourse carried out in private between consenting heterosexual adults is perfectly legal.

During the hearing, the landlord, a physician who lives in the same building, testified that he was offended by the friend, who would leave his car parked all night in the street outside the apartment.

In an historic recognition of the obvious, Judge Younger ruled that, as the defendant wasn't breaking any laws, the landlord would have to swallow his sensibilities and put up with his tenant until her lease runs out.

"THE NATIONAL PREOCCUPATION"

December, 1971 - "Nah, Teddy's too irresponsible, I couldn't trust him for a minute." February, 1972 - "He's a bright young senator, always has been, but '72 isn't his year, he'll go for it in '76." April, 1972 - "Kennedy's sharper on the issues more than ever before, I might vote for him, why doesn't he come out in a primary?"

Welcome, ladies and gentlemen, to the new national preoccupation: Ted Kennedy. No matter where one turns today in magazines, newspapers, television editorials, the senior senator from Massachusetts is always around. Commentators and journalists alike, seem to salivate at the very mention of his name and also of the particular and rather peculiarly romantic idea of a "Draft Kennedy Movement" at the National Democratic Convention - Presumably by all those perplexed and puzzled delegates who just couldn't see it in their hearts to support Humphrey, Muskie or McGovern. It's an American political dream, Kennedy style.

Unfortunately and fortunately for Ted Kennedy, he is the inheritor of the Kennedy mystique, the Camelot his brother John created while in the White House, the well-meaning liberal arrogance and bravado his brother Robert generated in his story-book quest for the Presidency in 1968, and finally, the undying Kennedy determination to be a winner.

Extolled by many people close to the Kennedys as the best "pol" in the family, he has become the co-leader, along with Sen. George McGovern, of the liberal-left wing of the Democratic Party. Since Robert's death, Ted Kennedy moved more consistently than ever toward that left wing in the party. He was quick to take on the old Kennedy style of concentrating on the "bread and butter" issues. For instance, over three years ago, he called for a new China policy, admitting that country (People's Republic of China) to the U.N., removing all U.S. forces from Taiwan and rejuvenating the Warsaw Talks to get that movement underway; Kennedy played a major role in the battle over the eighteen-year-old vote and easier methods for registration; Tax reform, here Kennedy proposed a "minimum tax" on millionaires; Outward concern for the refugee problem created by the recent Indo-Pakistani War; A national health care program; An early supporter of the lottery system; A deep interest in the plight of the American Indian (a longtime, favorite political interest of all the Kennedys). You can see, the list is a long one. Kennedy comes from the Senate with a good, stable record and is emerging as one of the best senators Massachusetts ever had.

But, there are still doubts. Many observers on Capitol Hill believe that Kennedy relies too heavily on his staff to become an effective speaker on the floor and an effective doer with gathering votes and moving legislation. They claim his interests with most of his program, lie far deeper with him than his staff and hence, makes Kennedy a difficult political property to handle and guide through advice. Yet, the greatest roadblock is Chapquiddick. Pre-accident Kennedy people felt greatly disappointed at this juncture, their "David" had been defeated, by himself. As a result, he was defeated for majority whip in the Senate and probably, for the first time in his life, came face to face with himself. A difficult position to be in if you are a man of the public.

Despite the incident, Kennedy was re-elected to the Senate in Massachusetts by a plurality of over 400,000 votes. And the White House is still quick to counter any anti-administration remark made by him.

The day will come when the myth of Ted Kennedy must be tested. The American public should not have to wait around for this man to decide on whether or not he will be available for the Presidency. We have some suggestions that might settle this national preoccupation once and for all. Here they are: (1) The press should take a more active role in Kennedy's political life, they should find out how he is standing up under the pressures of the primaries, who his political links are with, more analysis of what he says and who he says those things to (2) Delegates to the Convention should feel free to declare for Kennedy, he should also have a speaker's bureau, as the other candidates have (3) Voters in the primaries should write him in, if they wish to, and these votes should be tabulated along with the other candidates totals.

With such a three point plan, we could determine one thing: Is all this Kennedy brew-ha-ha true or false? We could confront the situation instead of dreaming about it. As Senator Kennedy said after Robert's death, "There is no safety in hiding, not for me nor for any of us here today." Americans, in the generality, hate to crush myths, but that quote should remain as a very penetrating reminder to the Senator.

YOUR REMARKS

ANIT-WAR ACTION AGAIN

Dear Editor:

The student movement has been a major force responsible for creating majority antiwar sentiment in this country. In 1965 when they told us this was the "first consensus war in American history", it was students who organized teach-ins to question that consensus. In 1966 and 1967 it was students who helped shatter that consensus. It was students who organized the first mass marches which have involved other sections of society in active opposition to the war. Today, 65% of the American people believe that the war is immoral — in large measure because of the work of the student antiwar movement.

The only thing that stands between majority antiwar sentiment and majority antiwar action is a lie — the lie that the war is winding down. The facts are that the bombing is heavier than ever before and Nixon plans to leave a residual force of American GIs in Vietnam indefinitely. In the first three months of 1972, Nixon has sent more bombing raids against North Vietnam than in all of 1971.

The student movement must take the lead in exposing Nixon's lies. Nixon, the man responsible for the invasion of Cambodia and Laos, would like nothing better in this election year than to point to the campuses of America and say, "I have silenced antiwar dissent. America is united behind my 'plans for peace'."

Nixon has incredible resources at his disposal — free TV time, crack public relations teams, and millions of dollars. All we have are the meetings we can organize, the leaflets we can pass out, and the mass demonstrations we can build. But then, Nixon has to maintain the most ambitious network of lies the world has ever seen. All we have to do is to tell the truth about Vietnam.

There are massive, peaceful demonstrations for the immediate, total, unconditional withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Southeast Asia and an end to the bombing NOW!

A MISUNDERSTANDING

Dear Editor:

Regarding my statements concerning the Student Court in the previous issue of the Sandspur ("ACLU Gets Underway"): Let it be said that it was not my intention to defame or to derogatorily refer to Court members or investigators. On the contrary, the student body should sincerely appreciate the enormous amount of work that these people have done. Without them, student violations would all be dealt with by the Dean of Student Affairs, and certainly no one wants this — least of all, the Dean himself.

What I was trying to point out in the article was the fact that the court jurisdiction, its procedure, and the investigative procedure as outlined in the R-Book have in many ways come into direct conflict with the most fundamental aspects of "due process" as defined by the Constitution of the United States. Perhaps at a time in which the legislative body for all student activities is faced with a possible revamping, it would also be in order to realign the judicial system to better meet the needs of the community. The ACLU and I, for one, certainly hope so.

Sincerely,
Rick Blundell

O'MALLEY ON -- No Fault Insurance

State Insurance Commissioner Tom O'Malley said today that many out of state students driving their parent's car while attending school in Florida may have purchased no fault auto insurance unnecessarily.

The law requires that all non resident students who physically have their out of state car in Florida more than 90 days beginning Jan. 1, 1972, must have no fault insurance on it. "But students who have not changed their residency and are still covered under their parent's policy back home do not have to purchase a separate policy in Florida," Commissioner O'Malley said.

O'Malley stated that all companies licensed to sell auto insurance in the state have agreed that any of their policyholders who are driving in Florida after ninety days during 1972 will automatically have the no fault benefit coverage added to their out of state policy on the 90th day.

He added that each company has filed a certificate of compliance to this effect with the State Insurance Department.

"It was brought to my attention that some non resident students were told by insurance salesmen that they needed a separate no fault policy. This is not true. And many students may have been trapped into cancelling from their parent's policy and buying a separate no fault policy," O'Malley said.

Commissioner O'Malley has asked non resident students who have been sold such a separate policy to take the name of the agent and the policy number to the nearest State Insurance Department Field Office or write directly to him in Tallahassee for clarification and appropriate action.

Student Center Has New Officers

It's a Spring change-over in personnel, policy and programming! The members of the Student Center Board of Directors for 1972-73 have been chosen after careful deliberation. They are: Lynne Henshaw, President; Krisita Jackson, secretary; Nancy Christensen, comptroller; J. C. Clark, social entertainment; Charlie Perlo, coffee house; Joanne Rambone and Jeff Gardner, films; Theda James, educational entertainment; and Helen Walter, publicity.

The new Board is preparing an increased program of student activities for next year. In order for these activities to represent the interest of students, the Board needs interested students to help. All persons interested in committee positions should notify Lynne Henshaw, Box 604 as soon as possible.

The Student Center has decided to keep the Student Union open 24-hours on a TWO WEEK TRIAL BASIS beginning April 18. Students will be collecting data on the amount of use, the type of use, the amount of trash and the amount of damage during this period. After an analysis of the reports, a final decision will be made on the Union hours.

The formal opening of the new Coffee House will be April 22 at 8 p.m. with performer Russ Kirkpatrick. He has been voted the "most dynamic entertainer on the national college conference circuit. He appeals because of his unpretentious personality and his great vocal talent."

The Coffee House is located on the lower level of the Union; and the redecoration and intimacy will come as a shock to those who remember its previous use.

Jonathan Round will be the second performer appearing on April 28; to be followed on May 6 by Mike Williams. Any student who wishes to perform should contact Charlie Perlo, Box 982.

The films committee will present the award-winning movie M*A*S*H on April 21 in Bush Auditorium at 8 p.m. There is no smoking, drinking or eating in this facility.

First Rollins Swimming Pool Underway

Groundbreaking ceremonies were held recently for the new Rollins College eight-lane championship swimming pool complex.

On hand to take a turn with the gold shovel were Mrs. Hamer Wilson, president of the Rollins Parents Association and a College trustee, Harry Meisel, Rollins swimming coach and President Dr. Jack B. Critchfield. Mrs. Wilson has been instrumental in establishing a $75,000 gift, to be matched dollar for dollar by the Parents Association. Many of the association members were present for the ceremonies, held during Parents Weekend.

The new complex, to be located on the shore of Lake Virginia, directly behind Rose Skillman Hall, will include dressing rooms, bleachers and coach's office. Target date for completion of the pool is September 1.

According to Coach Meisel, the pool will be used for swimming instructions, intercollegiate competition, recreation, and even scuba diving lessons.

Max Steele, O'Henry Prize short-story writer and head of the creative writing program at the University of North Carolina, will read and discuss one of his stories on Tuesday, April 25, at 7:30 p.m. in Woolson House.

Steele, who is also a founding editor of The Paris Review, won the coveted Harper Prize for his novel Debby. His 1955 story "The Wanton Troopers" won an O'Henry Prize, as did "Color the Daydream Yellow" in 1969.

Holder of an Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching Award in 1971, the author has an honorary doctor's degree from Belmont Abbey College as well as a Distinguished Alumnus Award from Furman University. Besides undergraduate work at the universities mentioned, he has studied engineering at Vanderbilt, meteorology research at U.C.L.A., literature and language at the Sorbonne, and painting at the Academic Julianne, Paris. He has also served on the National Foundation on the Arts and Humanities.

Copies of his most recent collection of short stories will be available at very small cost following the reading.

All students and others interested are welcome — up to the capacity of the room — to this event sponsored by the English Department.

An Informal Interview with the Chief

SANDSPUR: What was the largest problem you faced this year that remains undone at this point?

CRITCHFIELD: The single most depressing problem is to finalize a person for the chief academic officer's role, for which there is major agreement. . . . I hope to either resolve the final appointment of a candidate at next week's Senate meeting or, in fact, determine the College is more unsatisfied with the current operation as it exists, and make an appointment from within, of possibly not a provost but a dean of academic affairs to take us through next year's self-study. I really think if we can't settle on a new candidate within the next couple of weeks, it's going to be necessary for me to administratively take action. . .

SANDSPUR: When will construction on the new swimming pool facility begin?

CRITCHFIELD: We are awaiting one additional gift to be secure in our financing of the pool. But, I think there's a pretty good chance to be underway by next week.

SANDSPUR: How have students performed in college government within their own realm of the Student Association?

CRITCHFIELD: In the short time I've been here, the leadership within the Student Association and the various positions of influence within the College has been, if not outstanding, very close to it. The difficulty that those student leaders have had, in getting the current of interest and involvement and positive, constructive support that is so vital for both getting things done if students are, in fact, mature and ready for responsibility and be accountable and learn the process to change an institution, has been terribly difficult. Too many of our students, for good or bad reasons, have simply a lack of confidence in the effectiveness the student group — for instance: "I'm here for fun, I'm here for study, but it's not my duty to perform college governance." For whatever reason, the majority of the students in this College simply didn't get involved in a meaningful manner.

SANDSPUR: How you would react to additional student membership on the College Senate?

CRITCHFIELD: A lot of people got down on the Senate on the representative form of government because of the language requirement. Yet, there was no reason to, other than to delay in the frustration and the kinds of verbiage that we all went through and got tired of listening to . . . which seemed to me to be unproductive. Number one, the various committees of the Senate, didn't do their jobs as they should have. To some extent, that was the student's fault because students were missing from key committee meetings when their point of views could have been heard. The Council did not do a thorough enough job, and I was there so I'm guilty, of reviewing it . . . in order to get a true enough response from the students and the faculty before letting it go to the Senate . . . I don't see anything that increased student representation could have accomplished to avoid that issue. If anything, the Senate vote to do away that we shouldn't have, for financial reasons, with language requirement would have been stronger. Yet, it is still the faculty's clear legal responsibility to determine what the curriculum of this College is going to be.

SANDSPUR: If there would have been a major policy change in language at Rollins, would any faculty from the foreign languages have lost their jobs?

CRITCHFIELD: From an administrative point of view, and I think this was clearly communicated to all concerned, there was never any threat of a dissolution of the language department in numbers or quality as a result of any action that would be taken. That should not have been a factor in position-taking by any member of the faculty. It would be a phony factor because it was never issued.

SANDSPUR: What type of a student are we not attracting that we should have here?

CRITCHFIELD: I don't think it's a matter of not getting the kind of students that we should have, it's a matter of taking too many students. Comparing our students to other students around the country, we are in very strong shape there. Last year we had a freshman class that was from ten to perhaps fifteen percent were marginally qualified in the sense that we had reason to believe that they were going to get excited about the educational process . . . We need to take the bottom ten to fifteen percent and get them excited and involved in the curriculum and place anywhere above that level, then we will have made giant strides in the kind of academic atmosphere at this institution.

SANDSPUR: In spite of all the things that have happened this year, or rather all the things that didn't happen, what remains to be the best thing about Rollins College?

CRITCHFIELD: I believe the strength of any institution is in the commitment of its faculty. I continue to believe that we have one of the finest small faculties in the country . . . [in regards to students] The one thing I wish I could create would be an "esprit de corps" — an attitude of commitment and to the goodness and opportunities available at this institution. As long as the students are profiting and are happy more at the times they are sad, for whatever reason, then this institution will continue to get better.

At The Vantage Point...Of Sorts

by Ken Bleakly

At the end of the term a President of the Student Association is required to write an assessment of his/her achievements and failures during the year. The following is my best effort at doing such, though I must admit a degree of skepticism that the best arbiter of an individual's efforts is the individual himself.

Quite simply, I see the past year as a failure. It is a failure created from an inaccurate assessment of proper objectives rather than incompetence or apathy. Things proposed this year were destined to fail, because of the mood of the campus. This mood was not based on apathy or incompetence, but on a deeper cause. The character of this year for the Student Association in particular, and Rollins in general, was one of a holding action; a watershed. Little was accomplished in the way of major changes in the social regulations, in fact, the only change of any significance was the extension of self-regulated hours to freshmen women. (While important, it was not of the magnitude of the Visitation and Self-Regulated Hours changes of a few years ago.) This then forces one to question the worth of the activities of the past year. Many of you were greatly displeased with the actions I believed necessary to preserve the Visitation Policy, and I fully appreciate your displeasure except for the fact that I believed that at the time those measures were required to get across to the vast majority of you what problems we were having with the program. Yet, against the facade of resentment which those actions created, I am doubtful the objective was achieved.

"Campaign '72" had a minor degree of success with the visits to the campus by several prominent candidates and their spokesmen. The reason for the less than spectacular results achieved by this committee were not due to a failure in effort on the part of the chairman who labored long and hard but rather, to the almost impossible task of attracting major candidates to a campus our size.

In the work of other committees new areas were explored: The Food Service Committee has taken a new active role in contract negotiations with the result being that next year you will have an option plan for the purchase of meals at "Beans." The College Re-Evaluation Committee worked long and hard for a better means of communication on the campus and part of their efforts can be seen in the GRAPE.

As in any endeavor you are never able to achieve all you hoped for and this was clearly the case this year. We still do not have a Student Bill of Rights: a truly effective Faculty Evaluation; an alternate plan of curriculum that would give all of us greater options in course selections. So these are things to look for in the coming year. With the organizational ability and just plain "moxie" of Jenni Kaplan and Fred Lauten, real progress can be made in these and other areas. Their plans for reorganizing the Student Association will move it from being a popularity contest and a pastime for a small group of students, to a meaningful and effective form of government for everyone.

If I may be allowed I would like to offer an assessment of what has happened across this campus in the past year. As said earlier, we seem in a holding pattern. Not just the students, but the faculty and administration as well seem unsure of our course, and as a result, have spent the past year examining the achievement of the past several years and assessing their meaning to the institution.

This is very similar to the Eisenhower years when the nation, as a whole, seemed to be resting from the rapid changes of the New Deal and World War Two. Yet, after that period of calm came the sixties, an era of great change and ferment. I sense such a period is not too far in the future for Rollins. It should not be feared for the threat it will pose to the status quo, but welcomed for the opportunity it offers to make the College experience even more meaningful. As a senior I have seen the real progress we have made in four years and now with a renewed energy the student body must set even higher goals for the institution.

So while this year has failed to provide much in the way of concrete achievement, perhaps its singular significant contribution can be that of an evaluation point from which great things might come.

In closing let me thank all of those people who have served with me in the many thankless jobs which keep this College moving. (Thanks gang!) To all of you best of luck and peace and happiness throughout your life.

"The sun is the only remedy for dark clouds in the sky. Similarly, there is no other medicine than aspiration for our troubled hearts."

State Aid to Private Colleges Approved..... Under Critchfield's Leadership

The 1972 Legislature this week solidly endorsed the concept of utilization of private campuses through passage of a student assistance grants bill which will provide grants of up to $1,200 per year for Florida students to attend the college or university of their choice. The measure passed the House 71-9 and the Senate 31-0.

The grants legislation, proposed by the Independent Colleges and Universities of Florida, Inc. (ICUF) only awaits the signature of Governor Reubin O'D. Askew, whose Governor's Conference on Education in December, 1971, recommended the concept.

Passage of the act was hailed as a resounding victory by Dr. Jack B. Critchfield, president of Rollins College and Chairman of ICUF, which has devoted six years of effort to the promotion of the concept of effective and economical utilization of the campuses of Florida's fifteen four-year, degree-granting, accredited independent colleges and universities.

The progress of the bill through the complexities of the committees of the Florida House of Representatives was led by House Education Committee Chairman T. Terrell Sessums of Tampa, who will be Speaker of the House in 1973. The Senate bill was introduced and championed by Senator Robert M. Haverfield of Miami.

Though limited in funding to $360,000, the bill dramatizes the government of Florida's acceptance of the fact that spaces available in Florida's independent institutions represent a bargain for Florida's taxpayers. ICUF, an association of the 15 presidents of the member institutions, plans to continue to campaign vigorously for adequate funding for the program.

The grants will be administered by the Florida Department of Education, with priority based on unmet need. In passing the program, Florida joins over 20 states which have already adopted similar legislation to strengthen the dual system of higher education.

The ICUF institutions are Barry College, Miami Shores; Biscayne College, Miami; Bethune-Cookman College, Daytona Beach; Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University, Daytona Beach; Florida Institute of Technology, Melbourne; Florida Memorial College, Miami; Florida Presbyterian College, St. Petersburg; Florida Southern College, Lakeland; New College, Sarasota; Jacksonville University, Jacksonville; Rollins College, Winter Park; Saint Leo College, Saint Leo; Stetson University, DeLand; University of Miami, Coral Gables; University of Tampa, Tampa.

Grubbs Streamlines Courts

During the past year there has been considerable debate over the Student Court and its procedures. The primary questions were centered around the gathering and presentation of evidence to the Court. These problems have become more serious with the fantastic increase in the number of Court cases this year. A committee made up of faculty and students have been discussing ways of reforming the Court in order to solve some of its serious problems. Court Chairman, Cindy Grubbs, was interviewed about the current plans last week, and outlined the tentative procedure they are seeking to implement.

Cindy presented a hypothetical case and told how it would be handled under both the present system and the tentative proposal. The hypothetical case was as follows: A student is seen carrying what is allegedly a 1/2 empty fifth of rum out of Elizabeth Hall. The incident is witnessed by a security guard who makes out a report which is sent to the Office of Student Affairs. At this point, under the present system, the Dean and the Court Chairman would review the report and decide if there is sufficient evidence to send the case to Court. However, under the proposed system, the Dean would be eliminated from the process and the Court Chairman would receive the report. The chairman would select from a pool of investigators one person to gather information about the case. This investigator would not see the accused but would attempt to see everyone else involved in the incident and from this pre-investigation he and the chairman would decide if there is sufficient evidence to bring the case to Court.

If it is decided that there is enough evidence for a case, then the defendant is called in by the chairman and is informed of his rights. The chairman then gives the defendant the list of pool of investigators from which he must choose who will be his public defender. The people in this investigators pool would serve alternately as both investigators and public defenders. This is radically different from the current system in which an investigator is assigned to the defendant and the investigator has the dual role of being a prosecutor for the Court and of presenting the defendant's side of the case.

The important changes are that the Dean is eliminated from the process and the investigator is no longer both prosecutor and defense counsel. Cindy was quick to point out that the public defenders would not be utilizing Perry Mason techniques. The pool of investigators would be selected by the court chairman and subject to approval by the Assembly. Under the present system there is no penalty for perjury, but there will be a set fine for that offense under the new system. Cindy feels that these reforms will enable the court chairman to be a moderator of the Court rather than the prosecutor role the chairman has played in the past. These plans are to be finalized and brought before the Assembly before the end of May in order to implement them by next year.

EDWIN L. JUCKER APPOINTED BASKETBALL COACH ———

COFFIE TO STAY ON AS FULLTIME BASEBALL

COACH ———

JUCKER ALSO APPOINTED TO THE RAYMOND W. GREENE CHAIR OF HEALTH AND PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Winter Park, Fla. - Rollins College President Jack B. Critchfield announced today the multiple appointment of Edwin L. Jucker to the Raymond W. Greene Chair of Health and Physical Education; as chairman of the College's physical education department; and as the Tars' head basketball coach.

The 51 year old Jucker will resign his current position as Chairman of the Physical Education and Athletic Department at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute (Troy, New York) July 1 to become the first holder of the Greene Chair at Rollins. In addition to his noted ability as an educator, Jucker has also coached the University of Cincinnati basketball team to two national championships in 1961 and 1962; was selected National Coach of the Year in 1963; coached the professional Cincinnati Royals from 1967-1969, and is the author of Cincinnati Power Basketball, which sold more copies in one year than any basketball book ever written.

Rollins alumnus Raymond W. Greene, a Winter Park realtor, former mayor, and long time friend and benefactor of the College, endowed the chair in physical education, requesting that "The professor who occupies the chair should be of the character and stature of Amos Alonzo Stagg - he should be a strong personality who would attract students to his courses and command their respect." In mentioning Stagg, Chicago's "Grand Old Man of Football," Greene said Stagg had played tennis at Rollins on many occasions while recuperating at Orlando's Florida Hospital.

The chair was endowed by Greene in 1967 through property gifts valued at more than $250,000 in the hope that such concern for health and physical education would encourage reverence for the "amazing creation of the human body and its functions."

In making the appointment, Dr. Critchfield stated that "I cannot think of anyone better qualified to represent the high ideals of the Greene Chair than Ed Jucker. He is a proven leader and educator who has gained national respect from his academic peers. Coupled with our outstanding physical education faculty, I believe he can give Rollins the kind of imaginative and forceful guidance that will give us a truly distinguished academic program in this area."

Jucker received his undergraduate degree in Physical Education in 1941 from the University of Cincinnati; his M.A. in Physical Education from Columbia University in 1950; and served as Basketball Coach at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute before returning to Cincinnati in 1953 as Assistant Basketball Coach and Head Baseball Coach. In 1960 he became Varsity Basketball Coach at Cincinnati where he compiled an amazing record of 110 wins and 28 losses in five seasons.

After coaching the Spanish Olympic Basketball Team in 1966, Jucker became head coach of the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association in 1967. He returned to R.P.I. in 1969 to hold his present position as Director of Physical Education and Athletics.

Jucker will replace Boyd Coffie as Rollins head basketball coach beginning with the 1972-73 season. Coffie resigned his basketball post after nine seasons to devote full time to his duties as the Tars' baseball coach.

The Juckers, his wife Joanne and 4 children, plan to reside in Winter Park. He will assume his duties at Rollins in September.

Tars Grab Third With 2-4 Slate, Dump Amherst, Gators

By Randy Xenakis

Baseball week opened on a happy note for the Tars as they dumped the Wildcats of Northwestern University in the Monday opener by a 10-3 count. Rollins began their 14 hit barrage in the first inning when lead-off man Tom Austin tripled and was driven home by Bob McCabe's double. The Tars remained scoreless until the fourth inning when Mike Rix led off with a single, moved to third on an error, and scored on Soup Campbell's sacrifice fly. The Tars made it 4-1 in the sixth on singles by Rix and Campbell sandwiched between Rich Magner's triple. Rollins added 6 insurance runs in the final three frames. Right hander Kim Tuell went the distance for the home club and scattered six hits and fanned five men.

In the first game of the tournament Princeton and Cincinnati battled to an 8-8 standoff. Cincinnati scored their runs on seven hits while Princeton garnered nine hits. The game was called when the 3:15 curfew was reached.

Rollins came out on the short end of a 4-3 decision in their second game of the tournament against the University of Cincinnati. The Bearcats got on the scoreboard first in the fourth inning on a lead-off homer by Don Good. The Tars tied things in their half of the inning, but Cincinnati put together three singles in the fifth to chalk up another run. The Tars stubbornly fought back in their fifth to score twice on Frank Smith's long home run and an RBI single by Bob McCabe. But Cincinnati took the lead for good in the sixth as they tallied twice on two walks and two singles. Rollins failed to score in the final frames, so the score remained at 4-3.

Princeton outlasted Northwestern 7-6 in the opening game of the day.

The third day of the tourney proved to be another long one for the Tars as they dropped a 4-2 decision to the Tigers of Princeton. Rollins sent lefty Marc Flaherty to the mound in an attempt to stop last year's tournament winners. Flaherty worked a total of six innings and gave up four runs (three earned) on six hits and two walks.

The game was played fairly evenly as the Tars made seven hits, committed one error, and left six men on the bases while the Tigers made six hits and left six on the bases. Consecutive triples by Dave Merullo and Frank Smith gave the Tars their only two runs. Princeton's big inning came in the sixth as they scored three runs on three hits. The Tars helped them along by committing an error and a passed ball.

In earlier action Northwestern upset Cincinnati by a 7-2 count. Northwestern made twelve hits while limiting the Bearcats to two runs on eight hits.

Rollins found Northwestern to their liking again as they recorded another big win at the Wildcat's expense in the second meeting between the two teams. The Tars banged out eleven hits which were good for ten big runs and a 10-2 win. Steve Winchester made his first start of the season and seemed to be rounding back into last year's form very well. Steve pitched six frames and yielded two runs on six hits. Rollins put things out of reach early as they scored nine runs in the first three innings of the game.

Cincinnati upset Princeton in the opening game of the day by an 11-3 margin to pull themselves into contention for first place in the tourney.

Friday was another tough day for the Tars as they dropped a 5-2 decision to the Cincinnati Bearcats. Tar hurler Kim Tuell allowed a run in the first inning on a walk and a double and the Bearcats got a solo homer in the second from catcher Joe Hensley. Rollins got one back in the third on two Cincinnati miscues, but the 'Cats added another in the fourth by capitalizing on Tar errors. Cincinnati increased their winning margin to three on two runs in the ninth inning. Rollins committed three errors and stranded six men while the Bearcats made three errors and left ten on the bases.

On the final day of the tournament Boyd Coffie's nine found themselves in a position to upset Princeton and put the tournament championship into a tie. The Bearcats were upset by Northwestern in the opener and finished play with 3-2-1 slate while a Princeton loss would have dropped their record from 3-1-1 into a tie with Cincinnati.

Southpaw Dick Blackwell got the start for the Tars but was lifted in the fourth inning with the score tied at 4-4. Princeton got two runs in the first on two singles, a sacrifice, and two Tar errors and one more in the third on a walk and a double. Rollins came back in their half of the third on back-to-back triples by Tom Austin and Bob McCabe, but the Tigers added another run in the fourth on two walks and a single. Blackwell was lifted in favor of Dan Kinney in the fourth and the Tars quickly got back into the game in the fifth with two runs on two singles and a walk. Kinney held Princeton scoreless from the fifth through the eighth while the Tars scored the go ahead run in the seventh on a walk, a fielders choice, and a sacrifice fly by Mike Rix. The ninth proved tough for Kinney as he yielded two runs on two hits and a Tar error on a play at the plate. In their ninth the Tars managed to load the bases with one out, but the Tigers squeaked out the win when McCabe and Rix both hit short flies to the Princeton infield. Princeton got the win, the tournament title, and an invitation to return next year to defend their title.

The Tars finished the tourney with a 2-4-0 record and a third place tie with Northwestern. The Tars were not badly outplayed in any game. They lost several close decisions that could have easily gone the other way with a few more timely hits. The Rollins slate at the close of the week stood at 6-11.

Rollins continued regular season play on Monday with two games against the LordJefs of Amherst College. The Tars dropped the first game as Amherst struck for two runs in the first and fourth innings and put across five tallies in the fifth inning. The lone bright spot for the Tars was a 360 foot home run with two on in the first inning by second sacker Mike Rix.

The Tars bounced back on Tuesday behind the steady pitching of Steve Winchester to grab a 9-2 win. The boys in blue scored four big runs in the first inning and coasted the rest of the way. A double by Rix and a triple by McCabe were the big blows in the first.

Rollins played one of their best games to date in scoring in a 6-4 win over the Gators of the University of Florida. Kim Tuell came through with another good performance in scattering seven hits and four runs. The Tars picked up single runs in the first, fourth, and sixth, and pushed across three in the fifth on a barrage of Gator errors. At the midway mark in the season the Tar record stands at 8-12.

ROLLINS ROWERS!

The Rollins crew team found themselves quite active during the latter part of March and early April. The oarsmen had five races in the space of two weeks, including two large regattas. The Tars got off on a winning note against the Dolphins from Jacksonville University on March 25 when the varsity boat scored a win by two boat lengths and the junior varsity boat triumphed by about two seats. On March 30th the Tars were upset by the crew from Morris-Harvey College by the narrow margin of two seats.

The Cypress Gardens Regatta brought six teams to Winter Garden for a varsity and junior varsity race. The Tars won their qualifying heat, but were edged in the finals by the Coast Guard—again by two seats. F.I.T. placed third and Morris-Harvey and Florida Southern tied for fourth. The jayvees placed fourth in their race behind F.I.T., Jacksonville, and the Coast Guard. Three days later Coach Lyden's boys took on teams from Worcester Polytechnic Institute and FTU and came away with a convincing four length win over the WPI eight. The jayvees also had a big day as they trounced teams from the same two schools by six boat lengths.

The Tars departed on April 7th for the two day Miami Invitational at the Miami Marina. The varsity boat placed third behind the Oxford (England) crew and the F.I.T. eight. Florida Southern was fourth and Columbia finished in last place. The jayvee boat fared slightly better as they raced to second place one half length behind the strong F.I.T. boat.

The team is readying for the Southern Inter-collegiate on April 21st in Atlanta, Georgia and the Washington Regatta in Washington D. C. on May 6. The final race of the season is the Dad Vail in Philadelphia on May 12.

The Tars kept their win streak alive at 17 with wins over formidable teams from Kentucky, Cornell, and Illinois. The squad is currently ranked second behind University of California at Irvine in the NCAA College Division. The Tars have three remaining home matches, including showdowns with Miami and FSU.

Intramural Corner

Intramural softball action this season is spotlighted by the so-far undefeated effort of the KA's who presently lead the field with three victories. Behind the pitching of Derek Dinkler, they have overcome the Indies this year by a score of 10-8, routed the X-club by 9-1 count and defeated Lambda 2-0.

The round robin tournament is far from over, however, as several squads are close behind with many games to be played before a final victor can be announced.

Sigma Nu trails by only one game, that being their loss to the Sig Eps, 15-5. But it is the victories that count, and behind the pitching of Jex Wilson, the Snakes have done quite well in downing the Fac-grads 6-2, romping over the Guild 24-4, and defeating the TKE's 13-2.

The Indies hold third place with losses to the KA's 10-8 and the X-club 13-12. But behind Mark Crockett's fast ball, they've defeated the Sig Eps 4-2, the Phi Deltis 13-4, and the Guild 17-0.

The X-club holds the next position with the TKE's, tied at two wins and two losses apiece. The club, behind hurler Mike Ebner, have defeated the TKE's 5-4 and the Indies 13-12. Their losses are to the KA's and the Grads. The TKE's behind Bruce Barnhill, have overcome the Phi Deltis 10-4 and Lambda 7-6, lost to the X-club 5-4 and EN 13-2. The SPE's have only played two games thus far — a loss to the Indies 4-2 and a win over the Snakes 15-5.
