Nancy Hubsmith

In my three years of experience in the Rollins College community, I have consistently involved myself in the student government of the College. I have been an active member of the College Senate, the CAC and its various subcommittees, the Student Assembly, Phi Mu Sorority and the Pan-Hellenic Council. I have had the unique opportunity to observe the workings of these

In presenting my platform, I do not want to make any promises that can not be fulfilled. Further, I don't want to present what seems to be popular issues for the sake of getting elected. I am running for President to accomplish the goals that I envision for the college, and I therefore feel obligated to outline these goals, be they popular or not. I will only make one campaign promise that I know can be realized. That is that I am dedicated to the ideal of truth, and therefore I will always be honest and truthful in speaking out on issues.

In the past few years, the role of the President of the Student Association has been purely social. I intend to continue working on social issues, and

I have served on each of the three main organizations on campus—the Student Assembly, the Student Center, and the Student Court.

I believe the Assembly is the best possible form of student government. I have been very disappointed with attendance at the assembly meetings this past academic year. There are fifty-four members of the Assembly yet only a quorum of thirteen has barely been attained at the meetings this year. Since Assembly membership is an elected position which can be declined, I would demand a maximum of two unexcused absences per year with a five dollar fine being imposed for each absence after that or a resignation from the position.

Our college catalog states that the purpose of the Student Association is, "To increase campus-wide communication and promote leadership for participation in developing creative ideas and diverse activities." These general goals and overall purposes I believe are attainable in the upcoming year. The Student Association offers a unique forum in which student ideas can be

Do you know what goes on in the Student Government here at Rollins? Do you feel that you have the power of input into the system? Does apathy exist here at Rollins?

My main goal is to eliminate a communications gap that exists between the Rollins student and the Student Government. I believe that students of the "Rollins Community" need to know what

Reagan Visits Rollins

by: LAURIE PAINE

In 1776, Thomas Paine, author of the famed pamphlet, "Common Sense," wrote, "I offer nothing more than simple facts, plain arguments and common sense." Political values have changed little in 200 years. Ronald Reagan, Republican candidate for the Presidential nomination, relates much the same message: "We must offer progress instead of stagnation, the truth instead of promises; hope and faith instead of defeatism and despair...Conservatism is common sense."

This article is not a tribute to Thomas Paine, nor is it even a salute to the bicentennial. Rather, we are concerned with the present, with Ronald Reagan the man and the politician.

Ronald Reagan was graduated from a small college, not unlike Rollins, with a degree in economics and sociology. At Eureka College in Illinois, he played football, was a member of the Tau Kappa Epsilon (TKE) fraternity, was involved in dramatics, worked on the yearbook staff, and was captain of the swimming team. After graduation in 1932, Mr. Reagan began his career as a sports announcer and editor for WHO in Des Moines, Iowa. He became known as "Dutch" Reagan, a nickname his father had given him as a child. In 1937, Ronald Reagan made his film acting debut. After 17 years, and 50 movies, he moved into television where he became production manager and made guest appearances for "General Electric Theater." He later hosted "Death Valley Days."

Politics became an important part of Mr. Reagan's life when, in 1947 he was elected president of the Screen Actors Guild. During the six terms he held this position, he became deeply involved in the McCarthy hearings and helped the industry survive that tremulous era.

During these years, Mr. Reagan was undergoing a political transition. That is, he was transferring his political sympathies from the Democratic to Republican party. When, in 1964, he served as co-chairman of the California Citizens for Barry Goldwater, his conservative inclinations came to the fore.

Mr. Reagan was elected governor of California for two terms in 1966 and 1970. His record while in office is an impressive, if not astounding one. An inherited $900 million deficit was turned into a $500 million surplus. Taxpayers were relieved of a staggering $2 billion in welfare payments as the number of people on welfare rolls decreased by 400,000; but, at the same time, the truly indigent received a 30% increase in benefits. The size of government bureaucracy was stabilized through his "cut squeeze and trim" policies. Property owners and renters saved $378 million and $110 million respectively in property taxes. All this was achieved through a common sense approach to government, by letting the people decide how much government they wanted, and often by going straight to the people with the issues.

Today, Governor Reagan's stands are essentially the same; they are poignant, stringent and sensible. "Today, there is an economic autocracy, born of governments' growing interference in our lives. Yet Washington, for all its power, seems powerless to solve problems anymore. Too often, government is not the solution, government is the problem." In response to this dilemma, Reagan's economic policy advocates cuts in government spending (by as much as 90 billion dollars on the Federal level). As he successfully proved in California, this can be achieved by "a systematic transfer of authority and resources to

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

On March 9 and 10 you, the Student Body, will find yourself in a position to elect: a new president, vice president, college senate and representatives to various committees. This is an election that should not be taken lightly for these positions can work "pro-student" if the representatives are conscientious people. While past experience with Student Government is beneficial, I think that the most important facet of the people to be elected is their deep down, honest concern for the well being of the student body. Let me urge you at this point to make an honest effort to listen to and ask candidates their feelings as to the running of the school. This decision should be one that has been thought through completely, and you should know yourself that you are making a sober decision. Do not just ask a friend who they are voting for and check the same ballot without sincerely researching the facts of the actual election. Many students just sit back and say why should I vote, it's only a popularity contest. My answer - BUNK. It is to some degree, because of the size of the college, but you are making it more so by not being aware of platforms or issues.

I think this year is a good example of people who are starting to give a damn; we had a strong Student Assembly, and while this Assembly gave more money to more causes, I do not think one penny was given away without close scrutiny by the representatives present. While policy making is an important aspect of student government, I think the process continued far too long with stimulus coming from within the committees and student administration, instead of coming from the student body. I think it is safe to say that more of the student body is actively engaged in all aspects of student input and that the majority of the campus is more aware of what is going on within the college. NEWSWEEK uses the term "street politics" which is receiving and giving information straight to the person on the street. This, to me, is the most important and effective chain of immediate communication, and there must be people who represent you to relay the information. Without this, a small campus can be riddled with destructive rumors, which cause either damage to an issue or over-reaction on behalf of the people misinformed.

I feel like I am pontificating, and this is the last thing I want to do. My primary reason for writing this is just to express to you, the Student Body, that the people you put into office do represent you, they can do a lot for you, if and only if you give them your input and backing. With this in mind vote for the person you feel will do the job.

LIFE'S IMPORTANT THINGS

To the Editor-

This is for two people whose articles appeared in the February 20 issue of Sandspur:

I'm sick of reading in this paper people's complaints about other peoples life-styles - namely derogatory (and STUPID) comments about, of all things, CLOTHING! It seems that the only people who make a big deal out of "alligator shirts and initialled button-downs" and "a pair of painter's pants and top siders for your feet" are you. Why concern yourselves with such superficialities? There are more important things to worry about these days. . .

TEACHER EVALUATIONS

Dear Sandspur Readers,

Quite a few issues have been brought to my attention thus far into the school year which concern each and every student at Rollins College. The first pertains to the teacher-course evaluations which we so diligently and hopefully, constructively take time with, not only for our benefit, but also for the advantage of the instructors self improvement. The evaluations in themselves I feel are a fine idea and we would certainly complain if we didn't have them. However, departments being as small as they are here at Rollins, usually results in students having to study under the same professor for more than one course, like it or not! This is where I feel the current evaluation system places the students at a disadvantage. Presently the teachers are permitted and encouraged to read each and every evaluation in hopes that the professor might discover areas in need of improvement, be it course structure, materials, or teaching methods themselves. The administration has taken some measures to safeguard the students from rebuttals on the part of the teacher, stipulating that evaluations may not be read until after grades have been turned in. However, after an extensive course or two and especially due to our conveniently small classes, a professor can easily recognize phrasing and handwriting of his or her students.

First of all, a student may not criticize honestly or criticize at all for fear of rebuttal in future classes. Secondly, I'm sure many students abstain from commenting at all, defeating the purpose of the privilege which could so advantageously be used. In talking to an active member of the faculty, I've come to understand that in earlier years the teachers were presented with an IBM read-out or summary of the class evaluations. Perhaps these read-outs were not as informative as the actual evaluations, but I see no reason why the reviewing committee could not. Submit a concise and effective summary in its place. This appears to me to be advantageous to both the students and faculty in that, (1) students are safeguarded, leading to a more honest and perhaps more in-depth evaluation, and (2) teachers are saved the time of reading each and every student's report, also perhaps sparing the instructor insulting or ambiguous remarks.

Another issue which should be brought to the attention of the student body is the current policy changes in academic probation and dismissals and minimum grade average in the major field for graduation. There are policy changes in the 1975/76 College Catalog (see page 39) in the area of academic probation and dismissal. In addition, up before the Academic Standards Committee is a policy concerning the requirement of a minimum of a 9.0 or "B" average in your major field in order to graduate. Whereas I feel these changes are not necessarily unfair, (though I personally do not agree with them) I do feel it unfair to impose these policy changes on students who did not enter the College or sign a contract stipulating these conditions.

It's a pretty picture of Rollins becoming the "Harvard of the South," but let's not try to do it overnight. I'm concerned and I'm sure others of you are too, so let's see what we can do about unjustly imposed regulations.

Thanks.

Rockin' Randy Rollins reveals a rabid review for you every Sunday night. Confused by the babbling alliteration? Forget it, just listen and enjoy. It's Randy's sound that pleases, his words are just pieces of mind, his mind coming at you like military commands - or dirty fraternity songs. That's right, he's full of words. But he does slow them down. I got a chance to interview him at a docile hour in his room at the Sig Ep house. I even got a chance to confuse him with words, but unwittingly and it made things a little awkward - interviews are delicate, you know.

Unlike Richard Spencer of last week's fame, Randy Taylor placed Rollins as his first choice when it came to applying to colleges. He wanted Rollins specifically for its uninhibited living conditions. "Buck" liked the idea that one could walk around campus in bare feet and leave one's dorm without any garment alterations. He agreed with me that Rollins induces a unique and lasting cultural awareness to its students, and he thinks that this is good.

Taylor affirms the Greek system. He is the Inter-Fraternity Council President. I couldn't expect him to say anything derogatory. Furthermore, he asserted that Freshmen and transfers need some method whereby they are initiated and introduced to Rollins and its social milieu. A Big Brother. A Big Sister. A Tour Guide. A Governess... The freshman must be ushered into the social life at Rollins. According to Mr. Taylor one of the Greek Group's purposes is to help the inexperienced find a foothold, but here are other Greek effects. Many of the students at this school need some group identification, something concrete to associate one's existence with. As in the rest of the world today one finds comfort in escape from the standardizing world; participating in a group and thereby being able to say "I belong." Affiliation with some limited-member group provides self-esteem and self-awareness, but there are also those who neither need nor want a fraternity or sorority.

Randy came to Rollins with the pre-med plague. This was premeditated in his high school, but he'd also had a lot of experience with electronics. "I was always fiddling around with electronic devices," he explained. On his second day at Rollins he walked into the WPRK office and hasn't come out yet. Doc Rogers was there, but the great staff that services the station now was not; so Randy was accepted with open-armed encouragement. Since that day he has grown fat with radio-vocal talent. His eloquent way of regurgitating music lingo has become a Rollins characteristic.

Randy Taylor has contributed much to Rollins. Consequently he was listed on the Who's Who in American Colleges in the fall. He's WPRK's Big Daddy. He's the Inter-Fraternity President. And above all, he's a jovial extrovert, expressing amusing intimacies throughout Rollins College - particularly in the Sig Ep house where the Little Sisters dwell, giving him his spirit.

Randy would like to continue to one of the better post-graduate institutes for Broadcast Management. He's gotten a few connections via WPRK with local T.V. networks which he may take advantage of for either short or long term employment. Luckily for Randy his future could very well fall into place with grace, and his great affection for broadcasting and affinity for a good line will be the catylist.

Reagan

the states" in the areas of education, housing and welfare. Furthermore, by stabilizing the market place through these Federal budget cuts, unemployment will consequently drop; "...the tolls of unemployment all stem from a single source: the belief that government, particularly the Federal Government, has the answer to our ills."

Mr. Reagan opposes abortion and the legalization of marijuana. Forced busing is unnecessary - "It is insulting and demeaning to infer that a black child can only get an education by sitting between two white students." National health insurance, he feels, is a fallacy-ridden solution to a problem caused by "Government intervening in the health scene." The Equal Rights Amendment could eventually deny women the rights they have now ("I think that it opens a Pandora's box. I would prefer to solve things by statute."). Governor Reagan opposes gun control, but advocates more austere punishment for crim involving firearms.

In the areas of detente and defense spending, Governor Reagan fervidly contends, "There can not be a peaceful world or a guarantee of our continued existence as a free people unless we start now to build whatever is necessary to insure that we will never be second to anyone in the ability to defend ourselves... It must not be compromised by some cosmetic concession by the Soviets..." Detente with Cuba and China will depend on "internal developments" in both countries and forthright recognition of policies and mutual cooperation thereof.

The "simple facts" have been stated and "plain arguments" set forth by Ronald Reagan. The race is on.

As in 1776, our country is beset with grave concerns. We, as college students, will carve the destiny of our country. It is essential, therefore, that each of us becomes aware of the issues at hand and the various candidates' views in this Presidential election year. Each eligible voter must make it his responsibility to cast his ballot at the appropriate time and place. After all, the 70's and 80's will be the dawning of our age of rule. We will be responsible for the maintenance of what was born 200 years ago.

The words of Thomas Paine again become appropriate: "This is not the concern of a day, a year, or an age; posterity are virtually involved in the contest, and will be more or less affected to the end of time, by the proceedings now."

Student Association Candidates

college governmental bodies, and I realize that the structure of our government can provide us with endless opportunities for dynamic change. My foremost goal as President of the Student Association would be to make the Student Assembly more intimately involved with the responsibility to the students themselves.

Although the Student Assembly has improved the quality of student life during the past three years, I do not believe that it has been a truly representative organization. When, in the recent past, has your representative inquired about what YOU would like to see occur at Rollins College? Are you even aware of who does represent you in the Student Assembly?

Do you realize that a representative may vote on allocation of funds for a specific purpose even if he missed the discussion concerning what the money would be used for? Are you being fairly represented by a person who only periodically attends meetings? Are you aware of the importance of the function of the Student Assembly? The Student Assembly has control of more than $70,000.00 of your money. It is responsible for making decisions about where your money goes. So, if you are uninformed about who spends it and on what, it can only be said that $70,000.00 of your money has been wasted.

As Student Association President, I would like to see an informed student body with a Student Assembly which does its job effectively everyday, not just on Thursday nights. I also recognize the need to make certain that every student is informed about what actions the Assembly takes. How do I propose to make these changes come about?

-It will be necessary for each representative to have been present at the meeting at which a specific issue was discussed before he will be permitted to vote on it.

-Each representative will be held responsible for the students whom they represent by reporting back to them after every meeting.

-There will be a Student Government column in the Sandspur to inform all students about what is happening in the different governmental organizations on campus.

-The Student Association budget must be designed so that every allocation is justifiable, in the sense that a majority of the student body will benefit and not just a small elite group.

-All campus rules and policies must be opened to criticisms and suggestions for change by the students, so that the Student Assembly becomes a means for all students to have a voice in governing the College.

-The need for more student involvement could be accomplished through the sponsorship of an annual campus-wide event by the Student Assembly, possibly a Basketball Homecoming during the Winter Term.

I have only touched on a few of the problems that affect us as students of Rollins College. I realize that there are many more problems to be solved and questions to be answered, and I want to get involved and do something about them, and I am asking you, the students to let me know how I can help. I hope that you will give me the opportunity to put these ideas into action by giving me your vote for Student Association President.

expressed and exchanged. Furthermore, it can be effective in molding student concerns into concrete policy proposals.

In this regard it is the function of the Student Association President to provide the kind of leadership which will facilitate the realization of these stated basic organizational goals. This is the kind and quality of leadership I believe I can honestly pledge. It would be unrealistic and deceitful for any candidate for this office to promise this campus a specific list of objectives or policies he or she would see obtained. What I can genuinely promise, however, is a presidency which will be service oriented. One which will strive to be responsive to the needs and desires of the entire student body.

There is one specific issue I will address myself to: the "housing issue." In the past three years no issue has had a more divisive or destructive effect on this campus, mainly because this issue has been diluted in an atmosphere of ethical abstractions. This problem can only be resolved by placing it into a more realistic and objective scope. I believe we must begin, not as "Greeks" and "Independents", but rather as equal members of the common Rollins community to work together to devise a solution to this problem which will be beneficial to the entire community. I am advocating egalitarian housing, viz., equal rights to housing preferences for all students.

Bicentennial Spirit

During a telephone interview with Mr. Grant Hunt, Winter Park's Bicentennial Coordinator, I found out that Winter Park is quite a bit more involved with the Bicentennial Spirit than I had ever imagined.

Winter Park started off the Bicentennial Celebrations last Spring when on April 15, 1975 the famous ride of Paul Revere was recreated on the Rollins campus. The ride started out at the Field House while 500 members from the Orange County Choral Group gave a concert.

On June 7-12 the Bicentennial Travelling Exhibit, consisting of a few trailers, parked at the Winter Park Mall. The theme surrounding this exhibit was "America - Past, Present, Future."

On July 1, 1975 the Lake Baldwin Bicentennial Park was officially opened. This is located near the corner of the Navy base. At the park you find sandy beaches, recreation houses, picnic tables, pavilions, and nice water to swim in.

October 12 was the Annual Autumn Arts Festival, and December 6 the Christmas Parade marched up Park Avenue. Freedom Week, February 8-15 was set off with a rally at Sir Walter Field with Presidential Candidate Ronald Reagan present to lead the rally. Performances were done in all of the local schools to celebrate Freedom Week.

The next big event on the schedule is the Armed Forces Day Celebration, May 15-16. There will be a parade down Park Ave. with many floats and bands. The parade will end at Central Park where there will be many Bicentennial displays. Also found here will be tanks and trucks belonging to the different branches of the service.

The big July 4 celebration will be held at the Lake Baldwin Park. There will be a picnic, games, and fireworks (which the Navy is spending $10,000 on) making it an all around family day.

The final event on the schedule is the Winter Park Founders Day Celebration on October 16 and 17, 1976, featuring Rollins students involved in the drama presentations.

On the smaller scale, the committee has had the fire hydrants and city vehicles painted red, white & blue and is flying historical flags on Park Ave. There are many garden and flower shows going on weekly, and tours are being given through the historical homes of Winter Park.

Located on the Rollins College campus is the most famous site of Winter Park - The Parsonage of Congregational Church. This building has stood since 1881 and has been allowed to deteriorate.

Get into the Spirit of '76.

The Winter Park Bicentennial Committee is looking for volunteers from the Rollins Community to help gather the memories of Winter Park residents. Many of the residents remember when Rollins was begun and many other historical foundings. These volunteers will have tape recorders and questions to ask; so will only need to give up a bit of their time. If you are interested please contact Mr. Grant Hunt at 644-0692.

Diver's Guide to a soon to be completed term as President of The Phi Delta Theta Fraternity. These different activities have given me an opportunity to develop my skills in research, and Parliamentary Procedure, while providing me with experience in presenting the views of others as accurately and as fairly as possible. I would like very much to be able to continue my work in these areas as a member of the Senate.

Thank you very much.

WILL GRAVES

For the past three years, I have been involved in student government here at Rollins. During this period the Rollins community has been guided along a steady line of improvement. In running for re-election to the Senate. I am in no position to make fool-hardy promises. But I can assure you, the Student Body, I will give my best to the position and do everything in my power to represent the opinion of the students at Rollins. I strongly urge you to vote and support your student government on March 9 and 10.

Sincerely,

EPHRAIM W. HELTON

SENATE

I have spent the last two years on the Student Assembly and the C.A.C. In those two years I have dealt with student, faculty and administration problems. I would like to bring this knowledge and experience to the Senate.

TINA HOWARD

I am running for a seat in the college senate because I would like to bring to attention the desires of my fellow students. There is much that can be done to improve the life of the students.

ED KELLY

Candidates' Platforms Expressed

I really wanted to run for President, but I'm not good-looking enough to beat you-know-who, so I'm just running for the College Activities Committee and Senate. Seriously, it has been a rewarding experience this year on CAC, and I would like to continue in that capacity. And even though most legislation from the committees ends up in the Senate, its importance is often underestimated. I strongly support the movement toward reform of our housing policies, and feel that the success of the houses this year is indicative of the strength of "alternative housing". My involvement includes the Housing Review Board, Resident Aide in Holt, Student Assembly, and the CAC Student Life and Government subcommittee. I would appreciate your vote, and any input throughout the year.

RICHARD A. ATWOOD JR.

The College Senate is an important entity on our campus. The issues and their subsequent decisions affect the entire student body. As the needs of society change so do the needs of the student. The ability to maintain a tight yet progressive educational philosophy is vital to our purpose as an institution of higher learning. The Senate is just one of the instruments of the students which helps mold the direction of school policy in areas such as academic standards, academic objectives and standards of ethics. As a member of the Student Assembly for the past two years, I have come in contact with many of the same issues and considerations facing the senate. Student senators are agents of the student body. The responsibility of an agent is to his principal (the student). Keeping this in mind I ask for your vote on March 9 & 10. Thank you.

WILLIAM BREDA JR.

I am asking for your vote to help elect me to the College Senate because I feel I have the capabilities, qualities, and experience necessary to serve you to your maximum benefit. If elected, I pledge to use this office to the fullest in improving the Rollins experience; placing special emphasis on the social atmosphere. I am also seeking a position on the Professional Standards and Ethics Committee.

During my last two years at Rollins, I have been a member of the Student Assembly, founded and served as vice-president/treasurer of the Chess Club, and maintained the post of House Manager for the Phi Delta Theta fraternity. I was also active in numerous community and high school government and service organizations.

Again, I ask you to please lend me your support. I won't let you down.

GRAIG DITTRICH

Being a concerned student I would like to be elected to the Senate and make a lasting contribution to Rollins. I will work to improve communication and relations between students and campus security - for the benefit of both groups. I would like to see more interaction between Winter Park residents and Rollins students because I think each has a lot to offer the other. I will be an active contributing member of the Senate, responsive to student ideas, and work to make Rollins a better institution for educational and social activities.

Sandspur:

Thank you for the opportunity to express my views to the students prior to the election.

JOHN F. DURKEE JR.

As a member of the College Senate and the Academic Standards Committee, I would try to maintain a balance in my mind between meeting student interests and maintaining a high quality college community when dealing with issues that arise. I would especially like to see a policy on academic dishonesty that would place more responsibility on students while maintaining high academic standards.

COLLEEN P. GILRANE

If given the opportunity, I feel that I would be able to make some positive contributions to the improvement of the Rollins community, as a College Senate representative and a member of the College Activities Committee.

Thank you

LUTHER P. GRAHAM

My name is Will Graves, and I am running for a position on the Senate for the coming year. My sincere interest in the Rollins Student Government may be traced back to my freshman year when I was a member of the House Council and a candidate for the Student Association Vice-Presidency. Since that time I have gained valuable experience in a variety of jobs and extra-curricular activities ranging from a Research Associate position with The International

My name is Federico Ruiz and I am running for the College Senate and the Standing Committee on Academic Standards. Being a sophomore, a member of the Lambda fraternity, a member of the Spanish-American club, and having played on the soccer team here at Rollins, I realize that student involvement is an important factor here at the college. Students should take an active role in the policy and regulations that effect them.

One of the most important changes that should be made here at Rollins is for there to be a supplementary section added to the R-Book on the academic policies. This would help to inform the students of the proper procedures and outline the policies to which the college adheres. Students should be made more aware of these policies.

I have a sincere interest to represent the student body on the College Senate and the Committee on Academic Standards. Student representation is very important. I would appreciate your vote on March 9 and 10 to represent you.

FEDERICO RUIZ

It is my desire to become a working part of the school mechanism rather than viewing it from the outside in. As a member of the Senate, the singularly most important legislative body, I will make a sincere attempt to reflect the student opinion. In addition, if elected to the College Activities Committee, my efforts will be directed towards further exercising those opinions.

JOHN SHUBERT

I am running for a position on the College Activities Committee for this coming next year. I feel that with your support, I can be of some beneficial use to the college community as a whole. I have been a student here at Rollins for almost three years now and have knowledge of what runs and affects this campus. With your consideration, I hope to contribute to making Rollins a better environment in which to work and live.

President Ford vetoed a $6.2 billion public-works bill that supporters said would create more than 600,000 jobs. The President called the bill "an election year pork barrel," and said that it would create only about 250,000 more jobs.

Ford sent Congress proposals to increase Social Security taxes and to provide Medicare recipients with insurance against "catastrophic" illness. Under Ford's proposals, the Social Security tax rate would be increased to 6.15 per cent from 5.85 per cent, and Medicare patients would be required to pay a larger share of doctor and hospital bills than they do now, but, limits would be set on their yearly payments for health costs.

In related news, the House of Representatives passed a bill creating 280,000 public-service jobs and continuing such jobs for 320,000 other persons. The White House said President Ford probably would veto the $6 billion authorization bill.

President Ford offered House Speaker Carl Albert "all services and resources" of the executive branch to investigate a leak of segments of the House Intelligence Committee's report. The weekly Village Voice, a New York newspaper, published what it said was a partial text of the committee's report, which the House has refused to make public.

Casino Night, one of the activities scheduled to highlight Parent's Weekend, is being sponsored by the Student Center and will be held in the Fieldhouse. Saturday, March 13. STUDENT CENTER

STUDENT ELECTIONS

Bill Breda

Student Center Elections will be held Saturday, March 20. Anyone interested in becoming involved in helping to determine the social atmosphere of Rollins next year should submit their name to Marie Brown in the Student Association office (ext. 2186) by Monday, March 15. Positions are open for President, Comptroller and people to co-ordinate dances, films, lectures and special activities.

Look for some changes in the upstairs of the Student Union! Games and sports equipment will be made available to all students through a loan policy.

The Student Center's purpose is to make life at Rollins more enjoyable and profitable for you. Come to the Student Center meetings on Tuesdays at 4 p.m. in the office on the first floor of the Student Union and air your views.

A survey to determine student interests was distributed to all students Friday, March 5. The Student Center would appreciate your taking the time to fill out and return it since the object of the survey is to aid next year's Student Center in determining what sort of activities Rollins students prefer to see on campus. The Student Center spends our money and would like to do so in a manner pleasing to the greatest number of students, and your completion of this survey is one way to help determine where and how this money is spent.

The Student Center social calendar for early March is packed with exciting events including a concert by Livingston Taylor, movies, lectures and Parents' Weekend.

Livingston Taylor preceded by Vernon Hall will perform in the Rollins College Fieldhouse Sunday, March 7 at 8 p.m. in a free concert sponsored in a joint effort by the Student Centers of Rollins and F.T.U.

Anyone interested in spending their summer overseas should look into the program to be sponsored by Rollins which offers round-trip air fare from New York to Zurich, Switzerland for a mere $450. The cost of the excursion includes up to 14 weeks free lodging at a camp ground in Lauterbrunnen and free guided hiking tours in the Swiss Alps. Application forms and flight schedules will be distributed at a Meeting Tuesday, March 9 at 6 p.m. in the Student Center Office. If you are interested in the program, attendance at this meeting is mandatory.

DR. SER MEETS BOZ

by: ROBIN SHURTZ

If sometime you should wonder, "Whatever happened to whatszname, I wanted to take an easy distribution course from him this term," the answer may be that he has taken a Leave of Absence. As the faculty handbook describes it, it is an "enrichment program for professional development." The program is open to tenured professors who have been at Rollins for at least five years, and who hold the rank of Assistant Professor and above. The leave shall be granted during either the fall and winter terms, or during the winter and spring terms. Faculty members receive full salary during the leave period and receive priority consideration for grants from the Faculty Research Fund. This is not to mean that this is a period of time for the profs to prop up their feet and relax; it is, indeed, an enrichment period for the faculty members to work outside of the classroom on a specific project related to their field.

This is exactly what happened to Dr. Cary Ser, English Department Head, during winter and fall terms of this school year. The program is a relatively new one, instituted within the last two years, and for Dr. Ser, it was a profitable experience, in more ways than one. The primary purpose of his leave of absence was a trip to England with more than a vacation in mind. Dr. Ser has been contracted to write and edit a volume entitled Sketch by Boz for the Oxford University Press, as part of the series The Clarendon Dickens. The series is Oxford's attempt to establish the definitive reading texts of the works of Charles Dickens. Boz, as the astute student will remember (go back to your foundation courses, kiddees!), was the pseudonym used by Dickens during his early days as both parliamentary stenographer and general observer in and around London in the 19th Century. Dr. Ser will be responsible not only for Dickens' Sketches By Boz, but also Sketches of Young Gentlemen, Sketches of Young Couples, and his completed contributions to Bentley's Miscellany - a popular periodical of the day - with the exception of Oliver Twist, which Dickens wrote first under his nom de plume of Boz. Another of Dr. Ser's tasks is the selection of the variant forms of Dickens's manuscripts; those being the changes and general corrections that "Boz" made before and after publication. Dr. Ser chooses the best "variant," for inclusion in the main text, and footnotes the rest. Often, the variants number upwards of six and seven, and Dr. Ser footnotes them all.

The purpose of the general trip itself was to get access to rare manuscripts of Dickens, and to examine copies of the original editions of the periodicals - like Bentley's - that he wrote for publication. He also conferred with his general editor and publisher as to the continuity of the series, and the guidelines that he had to work within. Another of his chores within the title of editor is the writing of the various introductions, appendices, and notes on illustrations, if applicable.

Dr. Ser spent his evenings, as any good tourist would do, visiting London and its environs, catching up on the newest films, both foreign and domestic. As the foremost authority of films on campus (a few contenders come immediately to mind), Dr. Ser feels that the films he saw will add to his expertise in the genre, and in the long run, will help him in general class discussion. Some of his more memorable evenings were his attending a oneman show given by Ron Moody (he played Fagin in the movie Oliver!), and watching a film of dubious merits called Blow-Out, dealing with a group of people who eat themselves to death...one wonders if perhaps the varieties of human experience have been exhausted for use in the cinema.

When Dr. Ser attended the various libraries and museums in England, the procedure for entry was quite different from the States. A visitor must write formal applications, get recommendations, and cards for admittance. Ser visited the Reading Room and Student's Room of the British Museum, as well as a sojourn to the firm of Bentley and Sons for a look at Dickens' original manuscripts. Often the procedures were even more difficult; for the Victoria and Albert Museum, not only did Dr. Ser need a special card, but the card had to be specially endorsed by the curator of the museum before he could view the manuscripts. Another of the more famous places he visited was the Bodlian Library at Oxford, where the bulk of the work was completed.

If you are a "Dickensian" as Dr. Cary Ser professes to be, and are waiting with bated breath for his definitive edition of the early works of Boz, you better relax. The publication date is set at 1978, and you may find the cost prohibitive. In fact, the price will be so high that only college and university libraries will have copies. Because of its limited interest, Dr. Ser will most probably receive little or no financial remuneration for his efforts. "Even with the help of the ALC on campus," says Ser, "the entire project will cost me, personally, about $2000...it is a labor of love, and done for the gratification of a Dickensian."

I plan to open the question of 24-hour visitation and co-ed housing. I feel that if the student body strongly favors these issues, then the administration should provide them as options.

Aside from the social concerns, I also want to accomplish goals in the academic segment of the college. I intend to recommend to the 4 college committees issues that I believe are relevant and that should be discussed, and I will work closely with each committee to bring about improvements. My main concern is with academic dishonesty, which I believe is the most serious academic problem at Rollins.

If I become President, I plan to re-institute the college forum, where the whole student body can come together, twice monthly, in a social atmosphere, to discuss relevant social and academic problems with faculty, administration and amongst themselves. This forum could examine such college problems as: 1) the increase in the faculty-student ratio in the classroom, especially in Economics; 2) the infringement on the student's right to privacy that the teacher evaluations create; and 3) the infringement on the student's right to privacy that is created by security guidelines for entering rooms, specifically in denying the student the right to be read his constitutional rights. I feel that this forum is needed so that students can have a positive input in their government and so there can be a greater system of communication at Rollins.

In closing, let me urge you to vote in the election on March 9th and 10th, no matter whom you vote for. All the candidates are good, and whoever becomes President deserves and wants your support.

I would also propose a faculty review board be initiated consisting solely of students. This board would represent the student opinion on tenure and termination of faculty members.

Being a judge on Student Court the past two years, I have seen a great deal of improvement in this branch of government. However, the court has much work yet ahead of it. First, the Student Bill of Rights, Responsibilities and Conduct is very foggy and somewhat paradoxical at parts. Since it is the court which works with the R-book more than any other group on campus, I believe it is this group's responsibility to completely review the R-book and implement the necessary changes (with the review and approval of the Assembly). Second, the court must work out the various legal complications in the open court proposal. It is my opinion that it is a student's right to request an open court if he so desires. Third, the court must review the reasons and procedures for the appeal of cases. This again is a very foggy area which needs to be made clear.

With regards to the Student Center, one of the complaints I frequently heard was that the Board of Directors was a small family unit whose election of new officers was not objective but predetermined. I helped correct this by proposing five amendments to their constitution and by-laws in the Assembly this year, all of which were passed. Also, the Student Center was allocated $30,600 this year out of total budget allocations of $86,450, or just over 35% of the allocated funds. Before their budget is accepted for next year, I would want a thorough review of where their funds went this year and what the returns to the student body were (how many events were held, attendance at events, etc.).

Student Association Candidates

In addition to the Assembly, I would recommend the formation of an executive council consisting of the president, vice-president, and treasurer of the Student Association, the chairperson of Student Court, the president and treasurer of the Student Center, the president of the BSU, the presidents of IFC and Panhell, and the editor of the "Sandspur". This would be a great asset for the co-ordination of activities on campus.

I have had experience in each branch of student government at Rollins. I hope you will let me put my experience to work for you with your vote. However, no matter who your favorite candidate is, please vote. Let's Get Involved!!

WM. BRED A JR. FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

The concept of student government at Rollins is self-government. A responsible Student Assembly makes this more than just a concept. The problems facing students at Rollins will be resolved only if we, the students, challenge them. As real as the issues, is the need to explore the underlying sources of our dissatisfaction.

The present appointment procedure for Student Court judges should be a major concern to all students. Individuals are now nominated and appointed by a committee within the student government. Court decisions ultimately affect students in areas such as social probation and in some instances even dismissal from school. Clearly then, the entire student body should be aware of the general ideologies of a perspective judge. For these reasons I feel that judgeships should be filled via general elections.

As a member of the Student Assembly for the past two years, I have observed some of the shortcomings within our present system. One of the basic problems is apathy among student representatives. Although a somewhat vague term, by apathy I mean the failure to adhere to principled responsibility. Attendance at meetings has been below par. Partly to blame is that elections for assembly representatives have not been conducted in a proper manner. For example, there have been students elected to the assembly who were not even aware of their candidacy until long after they were elected.

The elections of assembly representatives must be made more formal. I suggest that each dormitory hold a special session, under the supervision of the head resident of that dorm, to conduct the election of their appropriate representatives. Hopefully this would produce more responsible representatives. Strict enforcement of attendance regulations is also imperative in order that students not be deprived of representation. In addition I believe the quorum requirement should be changed from a majority to 2/3, a move which would make voting a truer representation.

Communication of the business and affairs of the assembly has been lacking in the past. Many students aren't even aware that meetings are open to all students. How many students realize the amount of dollars appropriated by the student government? And to whom is this money given? In fact, the assembly allocates approximately $85,000 to the various campus organizations. This figures to $70 per student. Students should be informed as to where this $70 is spent. Therefore, the minutes of all assembly meetings should be published in the Sandspur.

The campus bookstore is plainly a ripoff. Prices are excessive, yet as students we are at the mercy of the bookstore. There is no reason why the bookstore should be run at a high profit ratio. I propose the formation of an ad-hoc committee to investigate the present bookstore situation.

Another student concern is tenure. While tenure does allow for progressive teaching it also allows for complacency by teachers who become too secure. Rather than granting "standard" tenure, I suggest tenure be granted on a constrained basis.

the powers, activities, and decisions of the Student Government are. I propose "unification through communication." This essential communication can be accomplished via the Sandspur and/or summary newsletters distributed to mailboxes. These newsletters would provide knowledge of past and future activities. These letters would be an invitation for student input. Without communications between the two bodies, no efficient reform can take place. Communications will decrease apathy, and those progressive individuals who do have an idea or grievance, will have an avenue to follow. For example, there has always existed controversy on the allocation of the student budget. Some students want more concerts, other individuals desire more cultural programs. How does the Student Government know what the students want? They can decipher through a process known as student input. Student Input can not exist without the communication of a message to the student; therefore, the unification of the student body with the Student Government is essential.

BRIAN S. MOORE FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

As Vice President of your Student Association, I will be able to offer you a responsible and determined candidate, dedicated to a closer relationship between the Student Body and Student Government. This lack of communication which now exists, must be corrected. The Student Association controls a great deal of money through student fees, which the students should know what their money is being allocated for and what this money is accomplishing.

The primary duties of the Vice President of the Student Association are to assist the President in his or her job and to serve as a member and an advisor to the Standing and AdHoc committees. Additional duties include sitting on the Board of Trustees meetings and helping to select the Student Center and Student Court chairpersons.

There have been major advancements in the Rollins Community over the past two years. New living situations, such as the possibility of living in a politically oriented, fine arts, and/or coed dorm provide an incentive for other ideas that increase the range of our educational opportunities for student interaction. Unfortunately the Greeks and non-Greeks both play a very important role in the Rollins community, which could be greatly enhanced by mutual cooperation. If elected I would push to have this immediately referred to committee for study and answers to the problem.

In my three years at Rollins I have been involved on campus in several capacities. In this past year I have served as a member of the Academic Objectives Committee, member of the Financial Subcommittee, the Board of Directors of the Student Center, an investigator for the Student Court, and a member of the Student Legislative Action Center. Through these activities I have worked with and observed the Rollins student government, sometimes functioning well and sometimes not so well.

I feel the expectations and promises of this school rest with the students, but can only be brought into student government by representatives responsive to the Student Body. Give me a chance to be your Vice President and I will strive to be responsive to the central pulse of Rollins College.

The visitation guidelines now in effect are too rigid. Coed housing has proved successful at Rollins. The restrictions of our present visitation policy fail to reflect popular opinion. I propose that each dorm determine their own visitation policy.

If you have any questions concerning my position on any issue, drop a note in Box 1283 or call extension 2630. The election is March 9 and 10, please do vote. Thank you.

This student input is essential to decrease the monopolistic power of the faculty and trustees; to increase the possibilities of 24 hour visitation, and to examine the tenure system that Rollins has adopted. In short, student input is directly related to reform and both are dependent or directly related to communications.

To decrease the apathy that exists in relation to the outside world, I propose another form of communications. I feel that the Rollins Community has a need for more intellectual guest speakers. I believe that these programs tend to promote a more realistic experience that is essential in a Liberal Arts education. Again communications is essential because the Student Center needs to know who and what you want!!

At this time I see housing as the most controversial issue that concerns members of the Rollins Community. I plan to devote my time to the solution that will be most equitable to all students.

Communications is essential to alleviate the discriminatory social structure that exists here in the Rollins Community. I believe more community sponsored activities are needed to promote desegregation in the Greek and Independent System. Again this depends on student input.

I have not had much experience in the Student Government here at Rollins; however, I believe an unprejudicial attitude in objective viewing is essential for progressive reform. I am not going to make any radical unfulfillable promises, and historically, change doesn't occur overnight; however, progressive creativity and patience will prevail in my encounters with the communications gap, housing, visitation, trustee and faculty power, and any other problem that presents itself to me!

PETER A. SHARP FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

The student association is a vital and necessary means of communication and action within the student body. It is through this body that students can participate and voice their opinions on school policies, activities and regulations. At times, a feeling of apathy tends to engulf the student body, making administrative duties by the student association somewhat difficult. This lack of concern not only stifles the Student Association, but, also creates a bad rapport between the faculty and the students.

As a concerned student, I recognize the importance of the student association and the many ways it can be valuable to the entire student body and college community on the whole. I feel that the position of vice-president is a viable means in which to participate and enact the benefits which the student association is capable of doing. Many important duties surround the office of vice-president of the student association including membership on the standing committees, direct involvement with the student court, and most important the organization and responsibility for the student association elections.

People ask me what I will do for the student body if elected to the office of vice-president. My main concern is to honestly represent the students, doing this with the aid of both the students and faculty who hopefully will become more involved with the activities of their student government. It is easy for one to complain of present conditions and policies at Rollins, but only through student involvement and action can the laws be changed.

As students, we are here at Rollins not only for the sake of education, but most important to learn how to cope with dilemmas that we may encounter in the future. No dilemma is at stake here, it is your responsibility as concerned students to take the time and vote for the candidate of your choice.

MIME PREVAILS OVER MATTER

BY: DEBBIE BOGATIN

The Annie Russell Theatre was the host of a celebration February 25th - The Celebration Mime Theatre, that is.

It was an evening of frolicking fantasy performed by talent-filled leotards. The group of eight mimic manipulators comes out of South Paris, Maine. They are under the direction of Tony Montanaro, who has brought more "life" to mime since Marcel Marceau. He has added sound.

The troupe performs an unlimited array of interpretations from "The Legend of Tilliston Twitchell," a Maine farmer, to an adaptation of Saki's short story, "The Lost Soul." Their ingenuity of making a human ball bounce, a fire out of wriggling toes, and a Sears catalogue tractor work is overwhelming.

The opening "American Collage" is a patchwork of modern American life executed in fast paced pano(mime)vision. Never before has the sport of wrestling been captured in less than two minutes or the most intricate operation been a failure so quickly. The sketch contains everything from subways to a roller coaster, a football lineup to a lesson in singing "America."

A very clever twist was given to the Garden of Eden when the forbidden apple was sold with the style of Monty Hall and a slithering serpent. Madison Avenue's hard-sell was concerned with the fate of man.

The group's contribution to boys' summer camps was wonderful Camp Wahoo. The antics were identifiably funny like the mosquitos' attack, a defiant bedsheet, and an evening fireside tale.

Seeing the Celebration Mime Theatre was a memorable experience. The troupe's attention to detail and facial expressions were amazing. The entire performance was two hours of delightful design.

Ballet Royal Performs on Campus

by: barb weiss

Though gyrating to the hustle and the bump seems to be the current dance craze, one of the oldest forms of dance, ballet, is still alive and kicking. (?) This past weekend "The Ballet Royal," the ballet company of the Royal School of Dance in Orlando, performed "An Evening of Ballet" in our Annie Russell Theatre. The performances were open to the public and Rollins students both.

This annual performance sponsored since 1950 by Theta Alpha Phi consisted of six different acts from popular ballets. Included among them were the famous "Swan Lake" Act II and "That's How It Was 200 Years Ago," the story of the Congressional proposal for the Declaration of Independence told through the combination of movement, costume, and song. "Variations From Day to Day" was the portrayal of the poem "Monday's Child is Fair of Face." "Stop, Look and Listen" was an unusual piece consisting of the screaming, hissing, and moaning of the dancers while they hopped and leaped across the stage in an attempt to communicate with the audience and illicit a reaction - an example of modern dance creativity versus classical ballet. The "Double Das de Quatre" and "The Village" completed the presentation.

"The Ballet Royal" is comprised of mostly high school age students who attend regular ballet school classes in addition to their company classes. They perform year-round for schools, civic organizations, and festivals in a serious effort to develop their skills and gain exposure performing outside of their own school.

The performances at Rollins were well attended though the night I attended hardly a Rollins student was present. Though the performances were slightly less than professional, time and continual practice and performances such as these will produce many fine performers. I'm sure.

I enjoyed the "evening of ballet" It was a nice change from Nickel's Alley's contortions. Besides, we can all use a little Cult-cha!

Charity Benefits from Kidnapping

On Monday, February 9, the Lambda Fraternity staged its 4th annual Indian activity for the benefit of local charity. The pledges, well made up as Indians of different tribes, were sent out in roving bands in pursuit of the six sorority presidents. Once captured and delivered to the house, the presidents were held for ransom. The sororities were informed of the kidnappings and were instructed to drop off one can of food for each sorority member in exchange for the safe release of their presidents. All sororities quickly responded, and by the end of the ordeal, the Indians had collected 350 cans of food.

As in the past, the food was given to St. Margaret Mary's Church which distributed it to the needy in the area. The Lambdas and St. Margaret Mary's extend their thanks to the sororities and their presidents in aiding us in this most worthwhile and enjoyable event.

Also, the Lambdas held their 2nd annual campus wide car wash for the benefit of the Chapel Fund. This event took place Saturday, February 21 at the Fieldhouse parking lot. Many students, faculty, and local residents stopped by and donated $1.00 to have their cars scrubbed. By the end of the afternoon, the Lambda's collected approximately $50 for the Chapel. We would like to thank all those who helped the Lambdas help the Chapel.

It takes the best to challenge all the rest.

Student Election Potential

As a second semester junior, I feel as though I am extremely well qualified to represent you on the College Senate. My involvements here at Rollins to date have given me the experience necessary to be sensitive to a wide range of students' Needs and Desires. These involvements include:

One of the founders of the Student Legislative Action Center (S.L.A.C.). S.L.A.C. provides you with the means to redress local, state, and national political problems; the first organization of its type at Rollins.

I am the co-founder of the first co-ed dorm to be approved in Rollins history; the Student Center for Social Concerns (S.C.S.C.). S.C.S.C. resident and non-resident participants alike, are provided the opportunity to implement constructive social change.

Chairman of Special Projects on the Student Center. My accomplishments include bringing the Broadway production of "Grease" to Rollins, bringing a car exhibit to Rollins, and the establishment of a Switzerland Camping Club. I sincerely believe that the combination of all these factors would make me a highly effective representative of yours on the College Senate.

JED STANDER

Having been on the College Activities Committee for one year speaking for my fellow students, I would like to continue to voice my opinion and the opinions of my peers in order to establish a better student life for all.

TYRONE STEPHENS

During my last term on the Student Life and Government Subcommittee I have shown much interest in both new housing proposals and in special committees on activities involving students. I will continue to serve in the best of my ability for the betterment of student government and college life here on the Rollins campus.

TYRONE STEPHENS

For those interested, (and I doubt the possibility of there being a large number), I am to maintain the desire to attain a position on the S.C.C. and the Professional Standards and Ethics committees. After reading the previous articles on the campaigns of President, Vice President, and on down to the inglorious "nobles", (myself included), whatever I had planned to relate would probably be of little interest and lack of prerequisites for inspiration. Accordingly, I only submit my humble ambition for the designated positions, and would appreciate your support in the upcoming election. At any rate, have a good day!

GEORGE A. SWEITZER

I am running for the Rollins Senate because I am extremely interested in student government and would like to become more involved and more related to the government policies here on campus. This position entails responsibilities that I am fully willing to undertake and will devote my time to. In an office such as Senate it is important for the one elected to be there as a representative for the whole student body and not just a select few. I feel I can represent students in such a way as to eliminate the complaints they have about the system and see what they like will continue. This can only be accomplished, however, by working with the system and those in it, and not against it.

I am also running for the Committee for College Activities because the issues with which the committee deals are important to me and can be detrimental to students unless those on the committee are there with benefiting the student body as a whole in mind. Rollins seems to be divided into groups of those who really like it here, those who are indifferent, and those who do not like Rollins. If elected I will capitalize on those things that everyone likes and try to change those aspects that make Rollins so unenjoyable to others. I will work with the administration to express the students' opinions and will always be there with the benefit of the majority foremost in mind.

CINDY TALLANT

Our school needs people who care, to bring the desires of the students to attention. The College Activities Committee is an excellent vehicle to do so. If able to serve on the committee, I will attempt to voice the student opinion, by first asking questions and only then relating responses to the committee on the diverse range of inquiries brought to its attention.

RUSSELL RIZOR

Having previously been a member of the Academic Objectives Committee and having held various offices as a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, I think I could contribute very much to the Senate. Having been involved in these various activities has taught me the parliamentary procedure used at meetings. I would not have to be taught these procedures, so the Senate would be able to go into direct action if people like myself were members. Having been at Rollins for three years I am very aware of the things that are going on around the campus. I am very interested in being able to be a part of this decision making body. My interest in law would be an asset to being a member of the College Senate. If interested people like myself were chosen as members of the Senate. I think it could be a very worthwhile body on the Rollins campus as I would be willing to take suggestions from people to the Senate and fight to see necessary changes. Thank you for your support.

MARY HOVER

After attending Rollins for three years and serving on the ASC for one, I have become aware of the strong and weak points in the College's Academic realm. By way of the ASC, I would help to maintain the standards now in effect, and would work to improve those standards to any degree which would be accepted by and beneficial to the college community.

Libertarian News

In open debate with MacBride, it would be immediately apparent that a chap like Ronald Reagan is really Jerry Ford dressed up in a cowboy suit."

-Nicholas von Hoffman
Washington Post

Roger Lea MacBride, author, rancher, television producer, and lawyer, and now "politician" is the Libertarian candidate for the Presidency of the United States, in a nutshell, the Libertarians espouse a strict free market economy, full civil liberties, and a non-interventionist foreign policy. Expecting to be on over 30 state ballots, MacBride optimistically hopes for 10 1/2 of the total vote come the major election. The following interview was held on a bright Saturday morning as MacBride closed his Florida campaigning, part of his intensive nationwide tour, with a stop in Orlando. His personal red, white, and blue DC-3 touched ground at McCoy Airforce base to a modest gathering of curious news media and libertarians. The interview went as follows:

Sandspur: As an uncommitted Presidential Elector representing Virginia in the last election, you abandoned the conservative camp by casting your electoral vote for the Libertarian candidate, John Hospers, rather than for Richard Nixon as designated. (Final score: Nixon 521, McGovern 17, Hospers 1) What turned you from conservatism to libertarianism in order to make this move?

MacBride: I never really was a conservative, but I was made into a libertarian around 1946 when I met the late Rose Wilder McLane who wrote that great libertarian book, The Discovery of Freedom. But like many other libertarians, I was working within the Republican party trying to nudge it into the right direction of libertarianism. When I cast that vote, that was my "swan song" to politics: My recognition that you can't do it. Politicians are all alike and you can't nudge very far.

Sandspur: It is recognized that the libertarian party at its present infant stage is more of a learning program than a political program, but nevertheless, how are the voters reacting to your message?

MacBride: very well indeed, at least if you can judge by the rallies I have had or by the people who call in on these call-in shows. Most of the people say they have never heard anything like this ever and that "it sounds the way I've felt". Altogether the reaction is a very exciting thing.

Sandspur: There exists in the libertarian party today a split regarding the means to the end of a free society. Specifically, there are the "Austrian" and "Chicago" economists who rest their case on utilitarian grounds and the Ayn Rand Objectivists who argue on the moral grounds of reason and free choice. Which means do you present to the voters?

MacBride: I am really issue oriented in this campaign, and I'm not trying to lay out the philosophical framework of libertarianism. I leave that to the S.I.L. (Society for Individual Liberty) and other groups that are interested in exploring those things. I'm giving the principle of human freedom and applying it to foreign policy, economic policy, and social policy.

Sports Profile: Boyd Coffie

by: JOE UVA

Boyd Coffie came to Rollins College as a student in the Fall of 1955 from his hometown of Athens, Tennessee. He played four years of basketball and baseball here and became one of the top athletes in Rollins' history. As a freshman he started in basketball but saw little action in baseball. It wasn't until his sophomore year that he earned the starting catcher's job for the Tars' nine. In basketball Boyd made several All-Tournament teams and was tabbed for All-State honors in his senior year. In baseball his accomplishments were numerous. As a sophomore and again as a senior at the National Tournament in Alpine, Texas he was named to the NAIA All-Tournament Team which is equivalent to the All-American Team today. He was All-Conference 3 years straight and was the most valuable player in the conference as a senior. He also received All-State honors in his Junior and Senior years.

Upon graduating from Rollins, Boyd pursued a career in professional baseball with the N. Y. Yankees. He started in the Rookie League and moved up through the ranks to Class AAA of the minor leagues where in 1961 his 3 year career as a player was interrupted by his being recruited into the National Guard at Yonkers, N. Y. He then became stationed at Ft. Devins, Mass. where he played for the base team. In 1962 Rollins was in the market for a new head basketball coach and Boyd who had just completed his tour of duty in the reserves and who had just married was in the market for a job. So the two got together and before he knew it, Boyd was back at his alma mater.

He assumed the role of head basketball coach and led the Tars to 10 consecutive winning seasons ('62-'72) before turning the team over to Coach Jucker. During the 1969-70 season Coach Coffie's team showed a 16-9 record which up to that time was the best record in Rollins' history. He was also the assistant baseball coach under Coach Justice from '62-'70. In 1971 he took the helm of the Tars' nine, and in his first year as head coach his team finished with a 19-19 record. However, since then the improvement has been immense. The next year the team sported a 26-20 season, followed by a 29-18 year, and last year they enjoyed a school record 32-17 season.

To complement his coaching career here at Rollins he also managed professional baseball in the N.Y.-Penn League with the Auburn Twins, a farm club of the Minnesota Twins in 1968, '70, and '71. His team won the league title 2 out of the 3 years and he was named "Manager of the Year" all three. In 1972 and '73 Coach Coffie had the pleasure of assisting Hall of Famer Early Wynn, who at that time was the manager of the Orlando Twins another farm club of the Minnesota organization.

Today Coach Coffie is very optimistic about the future and would like Rollins to remain his home for quite some time. And how does Rollins feel about Boyd Coffie? Well, he's definitely their cup of tea.

Balance and Experience Key to '76 Baseball Team

For the first time since Boyd Coffie became head baseball coach at Rollins, some five years ago, he can boast of an experienced team sprinkled with several talented returning veterans and a handful of promising newcomers. "All preseason indications point to a well-balanced squad," offered Coffie. "We have depth at each position, highlighted by an exceptionally good outfield — potentially the best in the country."

Patrolling the outfield in '76 will be veteran performers John Castino, Larry Hart and David Hall. Castino, who knocked out 64 hits in 193 at bats last season, led the '75 club with a .331 batting average. The pro-prospect's nine home runs, 16 doubles and five triples led the Tars in the extra base hit category during the fifty game campaign.

The infield positions can also boast of top returning talent with Jim Liakos securing the first base spot and Woody Keys holding down the second base slot. Liakos batted a healthy .303 last year with 12 stolen bases to his credit — second only to speedster Woody Keys. Keys, a solid .275 hitter, has what Coffie calls "good range at second and excellent speed on the bases." On the left side of the infield third baseman Bill Walczak returns after hitting .218 in '75 and committing only 13 errors at the "coffin-corner slot." Bruce McAlister, veteran utility infielder will be the only new full-timer to the infield diamond crew as he enters the shortstop position filling the gap left by the graduated Frank Smith. As a utility infielder McAlister poked out 15 hits in 62 at bats (4 extra base hits) for a .242 clip.

Behind the plate this season will be veteran receiver Kevin Carney. "Potentially one of the best collegiate catchers in the country," according to Coffie, Carney knocked out seven extra base hits in '75 to contribute to his .237 average in 44 games played.

On the mound for Rollins this year will be last season's winningest college Division II hurler Blake Lorenz. Lorenz, who led the nation with a 14-4 record last year returns to head the mound corps which "is one of the best in recent years," according to Coffie.

Bill Miller (6-4); Scott Trethaway (6-2); Tom Anderson (2-3), Jim Poropatich (0-1), Bill Matzkevich and Todd Munson all return to aid in

BABY FACES IDENTIFIED

The Cheerleader - sponsored baby picture contest came to an end with Dede David correctly identifying the Rollins Cagers. Dede recognized Bruce Howland's free-throw stance in picture #1, as well as Bobby "Blue Eyes" Klusman's boyish grin. Tom Klusman's agile hand clutching his stuffed animal in picture #3 was unmistakable, according to Dede, as was Brian Campbell's (#4) gentlemanly pose. "Mo" Morris was a difficult one, most agreed, (#5) but that innocent gaze gave away his identity. Congratulations, Dede, and thanks to all who contributed!

Keep an eye out in future Sandspurs for more Cheerleader activities!

mound duties. Newcomers who are expected to add depth to the mound crew include Charlie Cacciabeve, Bob Krueger and John Ralston.

Rounding out the 1976 diamond squad are utility catchers Tom Meyer, Mike Johnson and Steve Uher. Ricky Page and John Brickley will help with infield duties with Don Kiwor serving as a backup outfielder.

Embarking on one of the nation's most rigid and competitive schedules, the Tars will be looking to improve on last year's 32-17 record — the best in the 29 year history of Rollins baseball.

Highlighting the diamond season will be the 29th Annual Rollins College Invitational Baseball Week Classic which is scheduled for March 22 through March 27. Highlighted by daily doubleheaders, this year's classic will feature the University of Cincinnati, Wisconsin and Tennessee along with host Rollins College.

"I think we are capable of having a good season," offered Coffie, now in his fifth year as head coach. "Our talent and desire should prove to be a winning combination in what we hope will turn out to be a highly successful season."

Tars Prove Exceptional Ability

by: FRED CAFFREY

The Rollins Tars are a tough, competitive baseball team and they proved their might with two victories against Florida Southern College last weekend. The Moccasins, 1975 small college national champions were dropped by the Tars 9-1 at Lakeland, Friday afternoon and then again 5-2 at Harper-Shephard Field Saturday afternoon.

On Friday, junior Blake Lorenz scattered seven hits through nine full innings, picking up his first win of the season for the Tars. The big glory of the day for the Tars was their timely hitting and excellent defense.

In the third inning, Rollins picked up all the runs they would need for the day as second baseman Woody Keys ripped a double to left center scoring Kevin Carney and Mike Johnson, who had both singled. The Tars continued to hit, pushing three more runs across in the fourth. This time, David Hall walked, Bill Walczak singled and Bruce McAlister also drew a walk to load the bases. Up came Kevin Carney who hit a sacrifice fly to right scoring Hall. The big blow was then dealt by designated hitter Mike Johnson who drove a long double over the center fielder's head scoring Walczak and McAlister.

The Tars turned the game into a rout in the sixth inning as they scored three more runs. Senior center fielder Larry Hart opened the inning with a 375 ft. home run over the rightfield fence. Bruce McAlister drew a walk, Mike Johnson reached on an error and then Woody Keys singled to left scoring McAlister. Jim Liakos walked to load the bases and John Castino walked as well to score Johnson.

In this game, a great deal of credit must be given to Rollins' outfielder's Castino, Hart, and Hall as all three came up with tremendous catches, keeping Lorenz out of pitching trouble.

Women Exhibit Prowess

The Women's Basketball team ended their regular season victoriously by beating two of their three opponents.

With St. Leo having the home court advantage, Rollins faced one of their least ferocious teams. Having a tough start, Rollins had to accept St. Leo's lead at halftime 27-22. Played for a rally, Rollins came through and won with final score 61-44.

For their next game Rollins faced the University of Tampa at Rollins. As the game progressed each side was almost even in their scoring, half time being 27-27. Rollins came on with another second half surge and out played Tampa 59-48. Leading scorers were Captain Cissie Collins with 20 points and Bonnie Bell with 12.

The last game of their season was played away at University of Tampa. Having led the entire game, Tampa won with a final score of 51-47. Rollins played well despite Tampa's effectiveness in scoring. Leading scorers were Lynn Welch with 13 points and Cissie Collins with 9 points.

again beat Florida Southern in a well played ballgame. Senior pitcher Bill Miller went eight full innings giving up seven hits while recording his second victory of the season. Miller was aided by two infield double plays keeping out of any serious trouble.

Second baseman Woody Keys reached first on an error and Jim Liakos doubled to left center creating a second and third situation. John Castino came up and doubled to right center scoring Keys and Liakos. Castino then stole third on smart base running and scored on Larry Hart's infield single.

Miller was provided with two insurance runs in the fifth as Mike Johnson singled, went to second on a sacrifice bunt, third on an infield out, then scoring on a wild pitch. This brought up Castino who got back on track with a 380 ft. blast over the fence in left center field.

When asked how he felt about his pitching performance Miller said, "I only felt about 60 percent out there today", but he still managed to keep the Moccasins at bay during the afternoon. Florida Southern threatened in the top of the ninth by drawing two walks off Miller, so on came senior Scott Trethaway to get the final three outs, doing a commendable job. The victory Saturday can be attributed to the combination of timely hitting, good defense and Miller's smart pitching.

Golf Not Up to Par

Rollins Places Last in Tallahassee

by: BILL APPLE

The Tar linksmen turned in a disappointing performance in their first tournament of this spring. Playing in the Seminole Invitational at Tallahassee, the Tars placed well behind the leading schools. Auburn University won the event with host Florida State finishing second. Rounding out the top ten were several schools from the powerful Southeastern Conference along with perennial power Georgia Southern. Pacing the Rollins team was Senior Jim McNamara with rounds of 76-76-79-231, followed by Senior Jeff Hadley, 77-79-77-233 and sophomore Mike Nicolette 80-77-77-234. Mike Davino was fourth, followed by Craig Watson and Tim Brennan. Rollins next golf outing is Friday at the Palm Coast Invitational and the next major tournament is the GAC Intercollegiate during spring break at Cape Coral, Florida.

Tars go to N.C.A.A.

by: JOHN PATTYSON

This past Tuesday Rollins College Head Coach Ed Jucker was informed that the Tars were selected and given an at large bid to participate in the NCAA post-season tournament in Chattanooga, Tennessee. Even though F.T.U. won the Sunshine State Conference and the automatic NCAA bid, Rollins will be competing as a result of its fine 18-5 record. The NCAA selection committee took Rollins' record and its caliber of competition into consideration before making their selection. The decision was due at 1 p.m., but it wasn't decided until 3 p.m. Jucker said, "I'm simply elated and words don't express the gratitude I have for the team and the appreciation I have for the fans. It's just been simply beautiful and wonderful." Center Steve Heis replied, "I was confident we would get a bid, but it's a whole new season now." Sixth ranked Rollins will play unranked University of Tennessee at Chattanooga in their first game on Thursday, March 11th. The University of Tennessee at Chattanooga has a 19-7 record while Rollins sports an 18-5 record. WPRK will broadcast the game direct from Chattanooga.

So let's get behind the team and help them to go further than any other Rollins basketball team has ever done. To the team I say GOOD LUCK-We're Proud of You!

ROLLINS HOSTS BACH FESTIVAL

by: MARGUERITE DANNEMILLER

Last weekend Rollins College was once again host for the 41st annual Bach Festival. Under the direction of Ward Woodbury, the 140 members of the Bach Festival Choir, the Singing Boys of Orlando, members of the Florida Symphony Orchestra and guest soloists joined forces to present selected works of J. S. Bach. There was also a special performance of Mozart's Adagio and Fugue for Strings in C minor and Requiem K. 626. Performances began at 4:00 on Thursday and ran through Saturday morning.

Upon arrival at the Knowles Memorial Chapel, one was greeted outside by the lucid tones of a brass ensemble conducted by William Gallo performing various works. Late comers found it difficult to find seats as all performance were filled to capacity. The audience also got a piece of the action when they were requested to stand and sing the more familiar chorales of Bach's Passion of Our Lord According to St. Matthew.

Unfortunately, those who missed it will have to wait until next year when once again the spectacular sounds of J.S. Bach will fill the Chapel.

Musical performance in the chapel resumes this Sunday, March 7 when senior music majors, Sally Albrecht, Patricia DeSisto, Kim Gaw and Patrice Shirer will present selected works

University of Alabama will be competing against both our mens and womens crew team this Tuesday, March 9. The race will be held on Lake Maitland, come to Craft Gardens and support your team.

Ronald Reagan

Reasons for Reagan

by: JED A. STANDER

Republican presidential candidate Ronald Reagan was invited to speak at Rollins by the administration, the members of the Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, and the Student Legislative Action Center. No bias has been rendered by having Mr. Reagan speak at Rollins. In fact, the administration, the T.K.E. fraternity, and the S.L.A.C. have extended invitations to all presidential candidates to speak at Rollins. We hope that all contenders will choose to address the Rollins Community this month before the Florida primary.

BIKING

Bikecentennial is seeking people who like people, 1,400 of them. As the inaugural tours on the worlds first transcontinental bicycle trail fill, the need for capable leaders is more urgent than anticipated. As many as 1,000 small groups of 8-12 cyclists including many foreign visitors from Japan, Europe, South and Central America will be requiring the services of competent leaders this summer. In addition to sharing this adventure with many people of widely varied backgrounds, leaders will receive food, lodging, and all other tour services, as well as a small daily expense allowance.
