Former Rollins Instructor Dies

Leah Rice Koontz, for sixty years a teacher in Michigan and Florida public schools and at Rollins College, died Saturday, November 15.

Mrs. Koontz was born on March 24, 1901, in Sparta, Michigan. She attended the University of Michigan and received the Bachelor of Science degree from Western State Teachers College, later studying at the University of Florida, Rollins College, and Stetson University. She was an English Speaking Union scholar at the University of Birmingham in England.

She and her husband, Lloyd, built their home with their own hands on Lake Charm in Oviedo, which she called "the prettiest place in the world."

She was interested in many things — travel to nearly every continent, photography, baseball, fishing, and in her youth, piano. Yet her joy and her art were in teaching. Many former students remember her as a favorite teacher in Oviedo, Geneva, Apopka, and Winter Park. In 1945 Mrs. Koontz started teaching writing and modern literature at Rollins College and became a permanent instructor in 1954. She continued to teach a course annually since her retirement. A Ernest Hemingway scholar, she travelled to most places where Hemingway lived and wrote, enriching her classes with slide lectures and anecdotes. Her published articles include a chapter in Hemingway and the Sun Set and an account of her acquaintance with Hadley Hemingway, the author's first wife.

Mrs. Koontz is survived by her husband, Lloyd, and her brother, Donald Rice.

In lieu of flowers, her family prefers contributions in the memory of Leah Rice Koontz to "Friends of the Mills Memorial Library."

STUDENT HEARING BOARD

Student Court a Sound System

The Student Hearing Board is the judicial branch of the Student Association here at Rollins. It is that body of students appointed by the Student Assembly who decide whether or not fellow students referred to them are innocent or guilty of violations of College rules as set down by the R-Book.

The basic definition of our Student Hearing Board is students helping other students become more aware of their rights and responsibilities within the College community. The Student Hearing Board is an instrument of the educational process. Its structure is designed to be not solely a method of forcing students to adapt to a society which maintains certain limitations and moral codes, but to foster student responsibility within the framework of a liberal arts institution.

Thus the Student Hearing Board is not merely a punitive body; rather it is a body whose main purpose is correction, that is, showing individuals that have made a poor or irresponsible decision how this decision has effected the rest of the College community. The Court tries to outline a program for the individual found guilty of a rule infraction that will help the individual realize his responsibilities.

The Student Hearing Board advocates and stresses individual student responsibility. This is the type of realization it tries to bring to the students that appear before it. The decisions that the Court reaches and the responsibility of action is a most important facet of human behavior if our College is to progress. It is difficult, however, for the Court to set up one standard penalty to emphasize this idea of student responsibility to violations of College rules. It is especially difficult when the cases that come before the Student Hearing Board are so diverse and unrelated.

The Court is constantly trying to set up new programs that deal with problems that students encounter. The Court has worked with Physical Plant to set up guidelines for students that have been found guilty of damage or destruction to College property. If a student is found guilty of damaging College property, the Court tries to determine the intent of the student. Accidental damage is understood, however, malicious damage should not be tolerated by the College community. Thus, a student who maliciously destroys or damages College property will have to work with the Physical Plant in restoring property. Extraneous to Court action, the student will receive a bill from the College for damages for which he is responsible.

The Student Hearing Board is dedicated to the principle that any defendant is innocent until proven guilty. To insure the individual every chance to defend himself, the new Bill of Students' Rights, Responsibilities and Conduct guarantees him the right to call witnesses in his behalf, the right to secure character references, the right to have an investigator, and finally the right to remain silent. The Court works through the Investigating Committee to explain these rights to individuals that come before it.

The Court is based upon the idea that each student should be judged by his peers. It feels that student should be able to strongly influence the rules they live under, that students should have a vital say in the regulations established at the College. Further, the Student Court feels that if students have a say in College rules, they should also assume the obligations which comes with the making of the rules. This then, is student government; students actively participating in creating and enforcing the rules that effect them. Thus, the Court feels that students, whenever possible, must judge other students in case of infractions. This is a student responsibility.

The Student Hearing Board is aware that one of its most hindering factors is the fact that it has perpetuated an information gap between itself and the rest of the student body. This is mainly caused by the fact that the Student Hearing Board holds closed sessions. The Court does not feel that it should go into open sessions because it is dedicated to the principle of confidentiality, whereby only the individuals involved will release word of the circumstances of their visit to the Court and its outcome. Another of the Court's programs is that each member signs a contract of confidentiality which states that the Court member realizes that he cannot make any statement about a case that is to be brought before the Court or a case that has already been heard by the Court. This contract goes on to explain that the Court can hear any charges of violations of this contract.

... it is a body whose main purpose is correction, that is, showing individuals that have made a poor or irresponsible decision how this has affected the rest of the College community.

The Student Hearing Board is always open to suggestions from other members of the student body. Changes have been made within the Court and will continue to be made. The Student Court is not perfect, but it is a sound and just system. Parts of it need refinement, and this refinement will come as its members evaluate the need for such changes.

Craig Crimmings
Chairman, Student Hearing Board

No Response Means No Progress

By April L. Gustetter
Student Center Publicity Chairman

With Thanksgiving Break on its way, the Student Center has nothing for this week in the way of events. The next BOD meeting will be at 5:30 PM on December 4 (Thursday) in Woolson House. All are invited to attend and participate.

More in response to the lack of attention given to Student Center's efforts by the faculty, I should like to take this opportunity to bring to light a few things that have been swept under the carpet in the past. In one of the Center's first articles this year, the purposes of the organization were outlined, and we have done our utmost best to assure that our events and all that pertains to them meet with those purposes. Generally, the response has been an understandable one, as we are perfectly aware that a majority of faculty members have families and other previous obligations that prevent them from participating in our events to the ideal degree that we would like to see. Specifically, however, the response has been more than disappointing. Let me clarify:

Again, according to the Charter of the Rollins Student Center, the purposes are (Article II):

- a) To serve as an official center of student life, to unify student activities, and to sponsor a broad program of co-curriculum education, recreation and entertainment for the college.

To aid in establishing a cultural pattern which will distinguish Rollins students.

In our estimation, and by the positive response we have received towards our events, we have successfully fulfilled the first of these purposes. What remains as a hurdle to overcome is the second purpose, though not due to lack of effort on Student Center's part. Twice now, we have extended invitations to faculty for attendance at dinners in honor of our Guest Series Speakers. We are absolutely amazed at the miniscule amount of response received. It was our understanding that "R.S.V.P." meant some sort of verification, but apparently some faculty members do not feel as though we are serious in our attempts to achieve these goals. For those professors that responded, whether affirming or declining the invitation, are grateful for the consideration. Perhaps those of you who do see the effort we are extending can talk to those who do not.

The situation is a most frustrating one, indeed, as we are restricted by many things. It is somewhat exhausting and defeating to find that the few that the could run smoothly won't. We continue to provide the opportunities and cooperation that our purposes outline and we will be sure that our endeavors are no less warranting because of the absence in response; but it would ease the way if there was a bit more consideration and sensitivity involved on the parts of others.

The Rollins Sandspur, Florida's oldest college weekly, was established in 1894 with the following editorial:

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and tenacious as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation, all these will be focused upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of the Sandspur."

The Rollins Sandspur is a weekly publication produced by the students at Rollins College. Sandspur offices are located in the Andrew Carnegie Building, Rollins College. The Rollins Sandspur is produced at The Type People, 1524 Fonnosa Ave., Orlando, Fla. and printed at the Oviedo Outlook, Oviedo, Fla.

In an effort to establish a continuing dialogue within the Rollins community, the Rollins Sandspur promotes discussion indigenous to the scholastic environment. Hence, this paper encourages students to voice their opinions or concerns on pertinent issues in the form of letters to the editor.

Letters will be printed on a space available basis. All letters must be signed and must be received on the Friday before the paper appears. All letters should be addressed: Editor, Rollins Sandspur, Box 2742, Rollins College.

Greek System Debate, 90% Greek, 10% Independents

By Dean Kilbourne

On Wednesday night, November 19, a panel discussion was formed in order to discuss the philosophy behind Greek existence. A joint effort between Pinehurst and IFC/Pan-Hel, moderated by Dr. Hoyt Edge, the panel consisted of Greeks John Balden and Beth Perry, the presidents of the two previous mentioned organizations. The audience consisted of about 90% Greeks and 10% Indies, with Bob Davis as the chief Independent spokesman.

The discussion was aimed toward the Greek system in general. But, as the night progressed, it turned out to be more of a mud-slinging of many trivialities. Nevertheless, the evening was an informative learning experience for many who attended, especially Independents.

Like any system, Greek life seems to have its pros and cons. It apparently is blamed for many on-campus problems which are not necessarily the fault of the system.

But the main concern expressed was the misconception that the Greek system is just a bunch of parties and socializing. In a number of ways, it also provides intellectual development through academic standards and much more, Greeks cited. They are more than just a social club, it was noted, and they are working whole-heartedly to convey this message. The preconceived notions of the system by many Indies, Greeks claim, are often unfounded. Perhaps in the past, some organizations existed on campus for the mere purpose of partying, but this is no longer the case. The Greeks have a "false image" that they are desperately trying to erase.

The next major topic brought up was rejection within the system. The Greeks say that they are very tolerant of many people and personalities. Then why do they reject certain bids? In a few organizations there is even a "black ball" system. The particular fraternities and sororities sit down after Rush and determine who they do and do not want in their organization. Is this fair?

The Greeks responded that they do not look for any certain characteristics or attitudes; they emphasize diversity. Cross-sections of people can be found in every organization. They say that Greek life is not for everyone. It should be an individual choice; it is not forced upon anyone. Dr. Edge commented that this is a rather shallow remark since they are such a power structure. Pressure is exerted in any group.

Dr. Williams adds, "What you are unconsciously stressing is much more important than what you are consciously stressing or offering."

Rush is stressed so that students are able to make their own choices. Basically, in recruitment, they look for those people who they feel will be happy in the organization and beneficial as well. They want people who will be cooperative and those who be "tomorrow's leaders." Greeks do not automatically turn people down. They say they will be able to help person in any way to become more well rounded, etc. A point was made that rejection occurs in any organization and all, there is "rejection in life."

Other problems discussed were: dating at Rollins, sexism, attrition, lack of involvement, and the list goes on. The scapegoat here seems to be the Greek system. It may be unfair to a large extent.

In summing up the benefits of the system Greeks stated: "They donate time and money to needy causes such as Heart Fund, give time tutoring, etc. they are a standing structure to do good for others, they provide a good opportunity to extend yourself, they do not detract from other group and they are another dimension, an alternative."

The Greeks, consisting of 43% of the population, would like to be looked upon more as the "Students of Rollins" rather than by specific organization names. They look forward to a more unified student body.

A forum will be set up during winter term. At this time suggestions will be taken on how to improve the Greek system here at Rollins. It will discuss their perception of image and much more. Hopefully, more Indies will attend to express their views rather than simply say, "the problem exists."

Tars Win State

By Tracy Strickland

The Lady Tars won the State Volleyball Championship in their division last weekend. In a decisive victory played at Florida Southern College in Lakeland, Rollins crushed the Florida Institute of Technology, 15-1, 15-6, 15-4.

the Tars accuracy was nearly flawless statistically in the first game. They started aggressively and stayed up mentally throughout their final match. "We peaked at the right time," said Coach Peg Jarnigan. She said the accuracy of the serves and the effective serve receives contributed to the Tars victory. The offense was extremely effective, due to the spiking ability of Maria Smith and Sally Diffendal. "Maria's spikes were unreturnable and Sally hit some of her best this season," Jarnigan said.

A large plaque was presented to the Tars at the awards presentation. It will be displayed in the trophy case at the Enyart-Alumni Field House. Additionally, each team member received an individual medallion for their outstanding efforts.

Senior Kelly McLeod, Sophomore Suzanne Patterson, and Freshman Maria Smith were named to the All-State Tournament Team. These players are nominated and voted on by the various collegiate coaches, based on their season statistics. To be named to the team is quite an honor, Coach Jarnigan added.

Both Rollins and tournament runner-up, F.I.T., will participate in the Regional Tournament November 20 through 22. The Lady Tars first match has been scheduled for 6 p.m. on Friday, November 21 at the University of Central Florida.

SPORTS AWARD PLAYER OF THE WEEK

Kelly McLeod, a senior co-captain for the women's volleyball team, is the Miller

High Life, Player of the Week. Kelly's outstanding hustle and defensive skills contributed to the team's victory in the state tournament November 13-15. The Tars gained the State Championship Title sweeping F.I.T. in straight games, 15-1, 15-4, and 15-6. Kelly is one of three Tars to be named a member of the Division III All-State Team this season.

Kelly has been a starting player each of her four years. She has captained the team for the past three years. Although Kelly is an established defensive player, she has developed the offensive skills of spiking and blocking as well. She has gained these abilities by her determination in order to overcome her 5'4" height. Whatever she gives up in height, is made up for by her consistency and her hustle. Moreover, she is a dedicated team member and a fierce competitor.

Wendy, who was seeded number 7 in the tournament, finished a quarterfinalist. She also teamed with former Trinity star Mary Lou Piatek to advance to the semi-finals in doubles.

Wendy won her way through the tournament by first defeating Rosie Casals, 6-4, 6-4. She then defeated Caroline Stoll, 7-5, 7-6. In the quarterfinals, Wendy faced the 15-year-old superstar Andrea Jaegar. Jaegar's patient baseline game and astounding passing shots added up to defeat our favorite, 6-1, 6-3.

"I was pleased with getting to the quarterfinals," said Wendy after returning to Rollins, "but I wish that I had played a more aggressive game against Jaegar."

As Wendy walked off of the court from a tiring three set semifinal doubles match, she was told that she had fifteen minutes to get ready to face Andrea again for an exhibition match. Top-seeded Tracy Austin chose to default from the finals against Jaegar because of a pulled hamstring, and the promoters had to fill in the time allotted for the finals match. A very tired and unprepared Wendy walked out on the court to face Andrea once again (you may have seen this match on television Sunday afternoon on Channel 9). Her courageous efforts, her "exhibition proved too much too" Jaegar overpowered a tired Wendy.

One interesting side note to the tournament is the trend of young tennis players. The average of the quarterfinalists was 18 years old. Three of the quarterfinalists were amateurs. These included: Andy from USC, Kathryn Keil from USC, and 16-year old Sue Mascarini.

Benson Impresses Students

Along with being a member of the National News Council, the Trilateral Commission, and the Council on Foreign Relations, Mrs. Benson is a Woodrow Wilson Visiting Fellow. It was in this last capacity that she met with student and faculty for two and one half days at discussion on such issues as the 1965 Presidential election, the Equal Rights Amendment and U.S. foreign relations. A formidable, forceful person, Mrs. Benson intimidated many students. Her skills in assimilating information and articulating responses were reinforced with direct comments on inaccuracies we saw in student opinions.

Comparing Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan occupied one evening of Mrs. Benson's visit. In Pinehurst, she explained to a group of faculty and students that she had personally come full circle from support of the Carter administration, to criticism ending with her resignation in January of this year, and finally to support of Ronald Reagan in the last weeks of the campaign. She resists classification as a Reagan apologist, since she never considered him a serious candidate until his latter show of strength. Recognition of Carter's inability to follow a consistent policy pattern formed the impetus for her resignation.
