NEW STUDENT MIXER AT CLOVERLEAF

Annual Reception Given By the Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. entertained most delightfully last Saturday night. An unusually large crowd, composed of the faculty, students, alumni and the ministers of the town and their wives, enjoyed the Cloverleaf reception, an annual event of much importance and pleasure, at which the Y. W. C. A. entertained. The reception, which always occurs the first Saturday evening of the school year, is anticipated with delight by both old and new students, for the occasion serves as a student mixer, and it is at this time that the students form many acquaintances which ripen into friendships as the year continues.

The parlors of the Cloverleaf were artistically decorated with pink coral vine, Spanish moss and bowls of roses.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Esther B. Ferguson, dean of women; Sara Muriel, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Miss Bellows and Elizabeth Russell.

Both the old and new students wore their names written on a card by way of introduction. After the first greetings, cards and pencils were distributed to all the guests, who were instructed to obtain each other's signatures by exchanging cards and so become acquainted.

After this the guests were divided into three groups, according to the section of the country to which they belonged and informed that within ten minutes each group would be required to give an original "stunt." The Southerners responded first with a hearty rendition of "Dixie," which was greeted with much applause. Then the middle westerners created much merriment by their individual rendering of "Tipperary," according to syllables, a stunt not so easy to perform as it might seem, for under the circumstances the memories of some did not appear equal to the task. The New Englanders not be outdone, sang "Yankee Doodle."

Later, Cloverleaf moving pictures were displayed, which proved to be the appearance of certain college notables in a frame of blue and gold to the accompaniment of amusing and appropriate college songs.

Dainty refreshments of punch and cakes were served.

By the end of the evening everyone

"BOYS' ANNUAL STUNT NIGHT"

AN EVENING OF FUN AT THE NEW BOYS' EXPENSE

Every year it has been customary for the new boys to have the courtesy (prompted by the old boys) to give an evening's program for the edification and entertainment of all the campus folk. Of course, new boys are ever resourceful and with no preparation and little warning they were able to give a performance varied in theme and certainly not destitute of interest.

Just after study hour on Wednesday evening the "Rats" hastened to prepare for the function. So eager were they to participate in the program that they, with one accord, made the error (?) of dressing in a back-forward manner. The performers were carefully numbered with large placards and with much dignity (?) marched to the scene of the plot, the front lawn of Cloverleaf, where an expectant audience of young ladies, faculty members and old men was awaiting the affair.

The entertainment was under the personal direction of Rat C. N. Fletcher, who opened the way to the main program by a great flow of oratory. The first act was a formal "Try out" for the Rollins Glee Club. Several voices from the prospective new members were heard to great advantage in the clear evening air sounding in aria and recitative parts as well as in ensemble production.

Next followed various admonitions by a dignitary bearing upon the station and duties of a "Rat." Fatherly advice was given generously concerning proper conduct especially in the presence of mortals of higher rank.

The audience was then charmed by a two-part duet rendered more or less skillfully by numbers 12 and 4 of the concert troupe. This was followed by contemporaneous stump speeches by Messrs. Wilson and Hughes of the Theatrical Corps. Sullivan, No. 1, delivered a final oration and dismissal was announced. The curtain fell with heavy applause which was followed by a song for the new boys by the Cloverleaf girls.

The whole evening showed fine school spirit and college cheers and yells echoed across the campus until late that night.

felt they were well acquainted.

This is but one of the many delightful social affairs of the year for which the students are indebted to the Young Women's Christian Association.

STUDENTS CONTEST FOR HONORS

RHODES SCHOLARSHIP EXAMINATIONS HELD AT ROLLINS

The Rhodes Scholarship examinations were held at Rollins College during the past week, under the supervision of Dr. E. M. Hyde, Professor of Ancient Languages.

Seven young men are competing for the honors: Clinton D. Miller of Ruskin College; C. E. Robertson and James E. Mixson, of the University of Florida; Frank A. Barger, Henry Lofquist, Douglas Rosebough and Benjamin Hulley, of Stetson University, the latter the son of President Hulley of Stetson.

The honor for which these applicants are contending is a scholarship in Oxford University good for three years and valued at $1500 per annum. It is awarded to that one of the applicants who passes the examination and who is found, moreover, by the commission appointed for that purpose, to possess athletic ability and to have a reputation for good fellowship and strong character.

Rollins has no representative in the examinations this year, but with the college department growing in numbers and strength as it is, it is quite safe to predict that next year will find several representatives of the school competing for honors.

The first Y. W. C. A. meeting of the year was held at Cloverleaf last Tuesday evening, with Miss Sara Muriel presiding. The subject was: "A Journey Along the Road of Friendly Hearts," and the talks, given by the cabinet members, were helps in packing our suitcases for the journey along the road of friendly hearts. Elizabeth Russell spoke first on the need of a goodly store of commonsense. Then Katherine Gates added "Thoughtfulness for Others," and Winifred Hanchett suggested that we would need good times and enthusiasm, too. Virga West tucked in a few Kind Words with a liberal supply of Helpfulness, and Sara Muriel closed the meeting by reminding us that he or she who would journey along the Road of Friendly Hearts must have the friendly heart itself.

The many friends of Paul Thoren welcomed his arrival Monday afternoon, and are glad that after a year's absence he has returned to resume his studies at Rollins.

Ada McKnight of Kansas City entered the Sophomore class Tuesday. She now lives in Orlando, and will travel to and from school on the bus.

Y.M.C.A. ADDRESSED BY DR. WARD

First Meeting of New Year Very Well Attended.

Dr. Ward addressed the College Y. M. C. A. Tuesday evening at 6:45.

All the young men anticipated an unusually enjoyable and profitable evening, and were by no means disappointed.

Dr. Ward's talks are nothing if not practical, and what the young man of today wants is something practical, above all in religion.

The audience listened with intense interest while Dr. Ward illustrated his subjects with stories and incidents taken from his own life, the lives of his friends, and other notable men. He dwelt on the fact that there is room for but one man at the top, and he emphasized this by saying that this is the age of specialists. Later Dr. Ward said that, invariably, "the man at the top" is a specialist in his line of work, knowing all that there is to know on his chosen subject, and, to quote, "can command his own price."

The culmination of the talk was that the members of the Y. M. C. A. were in a training school, which was fitting them to be specialists of the soul. Our President said that many times in his life, great business men had made the statement to him that they were too busy making money to think of the soul, and that they had failed to realize that our stay on this earth was not THE important life.

Dr. Ward hoped that every member present would not forget to fit himself for the life to come, and as they became specialists in their respective lines, prepare their souls for that Great Infinite World to which we must all go sooner or later.

At the conclusion, Dr. Ward was hailed with rounds of applause.

The attendance at this meeting was the largest the Y. M. C. A. has had in some time, fifty men being present, and the general sentiment seemed to be afterward that it was positively the best meeting of its kind that the Y. M. C. A. has ever held.

SOPHOMORE CLASS HOLDS FIRST MEETING.

The Sophomores met Tuesday at 12:45 p. m. Three new Sophomores were added to the class this year—Ada McKnight, Elenor Emery and Robert Stone. Plans were made and committees were appointed to prepare for the annual Sophomore-Freshman reception to be held Saturday evening in Carnegie Hall.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1916.

The first week of real school work is gone. What has it meant to you? What of your best efforts did you give to it? What did it give you in return?

If the week seems to have brought but poor results, if it seems to have passed without putting you any farther on the road to "settling down" and getting started for the year's work, whose fault is it? Maybe you did have some difficulty in getting your schedule arranged, but should that have marred the possibilities of the whole week?

Our school year is eight months long, you say, so there's plenty of time to do the work. But that is not true. We do not have plenty of time, and so it is necessary that every minute should be used to the best advantage. Eight months are a very short time in which to complete the courses of study, and it is essential that each and every student should start to work earnestly and faithfully at the beginning of the school year, not after school has been in session one week or one month. Not a single day should be wasted. Lessons neglected today are poor foundations upon which to begin the lessons of tomorrow, and there is no time to go back and "make up."

Each day brings us twenty-four hours, which are to be used for the performance of the duties which the day brings also. If you use today's time for today's duties, not for the duties of tomorrow, it will never fall to your lot to look regretfully at the lakes on the tennis courts and forego their pleasures because you "haven't time," for in each twenty-four hours there is time for recreation and pleasure if only you are wise enough to search for it and use it.

Dust is mud with the juice squeezed out.—Ex.

How would you vote next November were you allowed the privilege of doing so? Some of the more fortunate ones of this earth will vote, of course, but how would the vote of Rollins College stand were each every student and faculty member allowed to express an opinion on the most stirring questions of the day by means of the ballot?

The Sandspur has decided not only to find out what the people on the campus think about these things, but it is going to give each and every one of them an opportunity to vote. Votes for women? No! Only a straw vote which will give all Rollinsites a chance to express themselves concerning presidential candidates and also some of the most vital questions which may affect for good or ill the welfare of our nation.

Full particulars concerning this voting will be published in an early issue of The Sandspur. Watch for the announcement, and get ready to cast your vote.

SANDSPUR DAY.

We notice that "Sandspur Day," which, so far as we have known, has always been a Rollins tradition and out-door social event, is assuming popularity among schools of the state.

The first institution which has come under observance is the Orlando High School. This school has called upon all loyal students to be out with hoes and rakes to help exterminate that troublesome little pest, the sandspur, from the athletic field.

The custom of having Sandspur Day has been observed in previous years at Rollins, and every one remembers the day with those sticky little burrs as a most pleasant occasion. This year, owing to the work of Mr. Gym Greene and his men, with the kind and efficient aid of the football men and their blue jerseys, Sandspur Day will not be observed.

We are glad that our efforts in the past have amounted to enough so that the sandspur is under control at last. Those who play on the field under "spurless" conditions do not appreciate the condition of former days, when sandspurs took up more time than football.

BEN HULLEY HERE ON RHODES TRY-OUT.

Among the young men from other colleges in Florida who have been taking the examinations for the Rhodes Scholarship under Dr. Hyde during the past few days, is Ben Hulley, son of President Lincoln Hulley, of Stetson University. Mr. Hulley is a Senior at Stetson this year, and has specialized in Greek. Last June at the Southern Student Conference, held in Blue Ridge, N. C., Mr. Hulley won the tennis championship. Considering that all the large colleges and universities of the South competed in this contest, a great deal of credit is due young Hulley for his skill.

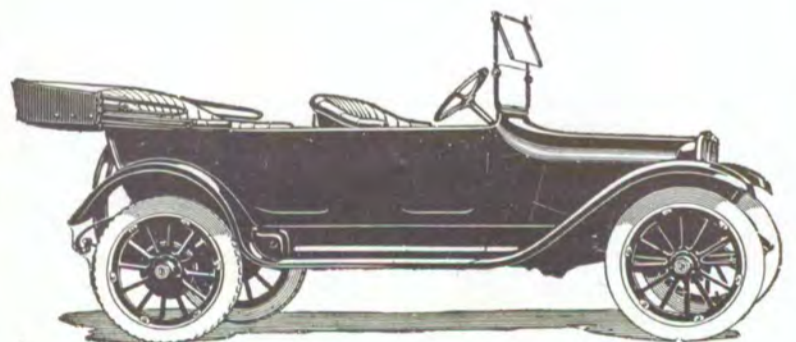

During his stay here he had an opportunity of trying out our courts with a number of our tennis sharks.

ANNUAL "RAT DAY"
TO BE HELD NOV. 29.

"Rat Committee" Get Busy and Start
Something.

All ye rats and rookies, attention! By the decrees of the mighty, ye are to be set free, never more to fag, to be servile, to be dog-like, to be chambermaids, to be shoemsmiths, to be fire departments; in short, you are to cease to be rats and rookies in the vulgar sense. But not too soon.

A new institution has arisen in Rollins affairs of state, and this new institution is known as the "Rat Committee"; it has been formed not for the extermination of rodents in general, but to superintend the conduct of those new animals which are prevalent, without exception, at the opening of college. In some respects it may resemble the "Committee of Safety" in the days of French turmoil, but that is all that can be explained at this time.

Freddie Hanna, chairman of this committee, was seen by a "representative of the Rollins Sandspur" yesterday and had the following to say about the matter: "The Rat Committee has set aside November 29 as the first 'Rat Day' to be observed at Rollins College. Our first reason for this decision is that two months of fagging in a college the size of our own is sufficient for any rat or rookie. The second is, that we want all our new men to get out and manufacture enough 'pep' and fighting spirit to win that Rollins-Stetson football game which we hope to schedule for the following day, Thanksgiving. Thanksgiving Day at Rollins has from time immemorial been a gala one, and with another incentive for the new men, enthusiasm should run higher this year than ever before. Then, of course, we believe the new men can enter into the Thanksgiving spirit more fully if they have something out of the ordinary to be thankful for; and so we're going to see that they get it."

It is understood that this liberation day, which comes on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving, is to be climaxed by a bonfire celebration and chicken purlieu given by the new men in honor of the old ones down on the Point and that the preparation of this affair is to be the last of the menial tasks.

THE DEAN KNOWS
HOW TO COUNT.

Mr. Hanna's table was most pleasantly surprised last Monday night, when, after desert was served, a beautiful birthday cake, brilliantly lighted, was placed before a much loved girl who has been for five years a loyal "Rollinsite," namely, Katherine Gates, or "K. G." K. G. was greatly surprised, especially when those who came to congratulate, stayed to count candles! Finally Dean Enyart came over—he counted quietly. When he finished, he said: "Congratulations, Miss Kitty—no, Miss 'Sweet-Sixteen.'" To which K. G. replied: "Well, Dean, you are the only man here who can count!" We wonder——.

SOCIETY GIRL GOES INTO SETTLEMENT WORK.

Miss Rogers, Former Rollins Student,
at West Tampa Mission.

Miss Margaret Scott Rogers, society girl of Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, and former women's tennis champion of Rollins College, has surprised her many friends in Pennsylvania and Florida by entering the mission field in West Tampa.

Miss Rogers teaches the Cuban children in the Congregational Mission in Laurel street, and has during the past summer endeared herself to many a Latin family in the Cuban settlement by her earnest manner and splendid work. Although she has been engaged in this work for only four months, she has received the highest commendation from all those with whom she has come in contact.

Miss Rogers is the niece of the well known mural artists, Mr. and Mrs. William Willett, who maintain one of the most artistic and magnificent Italian studio dwellings in the fashionable Wissahickon district of Philadelphia.

SUNDAY INSPECTION.

Saturday, small groups of girls
In deep discussion could be seen,
And, list'ning, anyone could tell
That they were new and "green."

"Is it true, or is it not?"
In Hamlet-like dejection
We asked. "Are those girls stinging us?"
"Is it true about inspection?"

"As though we couldn't dress ourselves!"
"It is perfectly absurd!"
"Don't they credit us with any sense?"
On all sides could be heard.

On Sunday morning we lined up
As scared as kittens, side by side,
Too frightened to observe the smiles
The older girls all strove to hide.

Anna Funk inspected us,
Both old and new girls in the crowd,
And sent Ruth back to change her clothes
Because her skirt was "much too loud."

She gave to "Sunshine" ten demerits,
And fussed about a dozen things,
And capped the climax by forbidding
Plain gold pins and signet rings!

Our dainty dresses all rejected,
We poor girls were made to feel
With hate and indignation burning,
Inspection was—oh VERY real!

Dick: "No! I go to the Beanery after my meals."

ATHLETICS

RICHARD G. DARROW.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL—INTEREST STARTING ALREADY.

Interest is already manifesting itself in girls' basketball. It seems slightly premature at this time; but when we come to look over the promising material in Cloverleaf, the girls can scarcely be blamed for getting impatient.

"Peg" Hall, Varsity star forward, has returned, bringing several girls from Oberlin, Ohio; these girls are all good basketball players, and all hope to do their share in putting Rollins at the head of athletics in this state.

Among the new arrivals, Gladys Smith, a varsity player from Madison, Ohio, is expected to strengthen the basketball squad. "Pat" Richards comes to us from Oberlin High School, where she has had considerable experience, playing guard and as a utility substitute. Alice and Helen Waterhouse, the "Twins," played together as forwards in Jersey City. We hope that they will be able to make the varsity here; but even if they do not, it is certain that the varsity will have plenty of practice trying to hold their positions. Helen Shelton, another of our "New Girls," plays center. Leonora Fortner, one of the taller girls, is also a center. The girls say that Miss Fortner looks good to them, as they have need for just such a player as she appears to be. Eleanor Emory is considered a good utility player and we are certain that she is going out to help the girls in their efforts to have the best team ever, this season.

The members of last year's team, with the exception of one or two, have all returned. Florence Stone, forward; Virga West, guard; Annie Stone, guard, and Winifred Hanchett, sub side center, are all here. These players, coupled with the new material which has come in, and with the addition of Harriet Mansfield, Antoinette and Vivian Barbour to the squad, it seems as though Rollins should have a girls' basketball team that would put the college on the list as the best institution for girls' athletics in the state.

Not much interest has been shown yet in tennis; but later on, when the tournaments are scheduled, we look for some players to develop. Professor Palmer says that he is confident that we will have mixed doubles in the regular college tournament next spring, and if so it might be well for the girls to start while there is nothing to take their time and while the days are still long. The way the fellows are going at the making of a tennis team this year should be some incentive to the girls to try to form a team also. We had one here several years ago, which, in connection with the men, played Stetson in three tournaments, one men's and one women's, and a mixed doubles. What is to hinder trying this again?

The girls are giving their loyal support to all athletic activities among the boys, and as soon as the time comes the fellows are going to back the girls to the limit. Yet in standing behind any team we must remember the words of our coach, "HARD and CLEAN." Let's enter girls' athletics in this same way, and then we can always look back on our records with a feeling of pride.

"SUPPORT EVERY TEAM EVERY MINUTE" and we will always have teams to support.

SNAP AND PEP.

Rand is going to show us how it's done as soon as he gets out. You know Rand ! !

Lewie is having a little trouble with those broken ankles which he received in the Southern game last year.

Say ! ! ! if you can't find anything else to do, go out and watch the Coach make a football team. The fellows would appreciate your presence.

So far all the squad has "stuck." Don't that "listen" good?

Speaking of tennis, aren't the courts in an awful fix for this time of year? Why not do something for them?

"Little" Tilly sure looks like an old head when he plays the Dean.

"Gym" Greene is a busy man these days; he's trying to find someone who is not going out to help make a team for his Gym Class. Duck, Rats!!

Let's watch Dudley Wilson; he looks as if he might have some football hidden away in his large frame somewhere.

We have to hand it to Jimmy Noxon; he is "all there" when it comes to going out. Jim is light, but he certainly has the spirit.

Bob Stone, one of our new men from Oberlin, looks like the real stuff.

Mansfield says he wants to join the tennis squad. If Stan has improved in tennis as much as he has grown since leaving here two years ago, he can just naturally "be on" without asking.

Manager Darrow and the Coach are hard at work on the season's schedule. They are going to have six college games, and as many if not more academy contests.

How would you like a game on Thanksgiving with Stetson? Don't all speak at once—there isn't room.

What do you say to a Cheer Leader? Isn't it time we were learning some good yells for this season? Let's get busy. Remember we are not all Old Students, and it takes time and practice to perfect good yells. Do it now ! !

Marshall (trying to persuade Dean Enyart to let him take Domestic Science): "I could bake biscuits that would surprise the teacher."

Dean: "No doubt they would!"

Maxine (as Douglass stands up when students clap for K. G.): "Is that K. G.?"

SENIORS HOLD FIRST
MEETING OF THE YEARProfessor Palmer Is Chosen Faculty Adviser.

The college class of Seventeen, the dignified seniors, held their first meeting of the year Tuesday morning in Carnegie Library. Many matters of business, attendant upon the opening of the new year, were transacted. When the election of a Faculty Adviser was brought before the meeting, Prof. Eric Palmer, head of the Natural Science Department, was unanimously chosen to fill this office. Professor Palmer is a Yale man and will be a splendid acquisition to the class in many ways.

The election of officers is scheduled for the coming week. The members of this year's graduating class are: Miss Anna Funk, Miss Mary Louise Conoway, Mr. Edwin A. McQuaters, Mr. Paul Thoren and Mr. Alfred J. Hanna.

CLOVERLEAF SPREAD.

The new girls were most excited upon receiving invitations to a spread to be given by the "old" girls Sunday evening in Cloverleaf Hall. By nine they were all assembled, making a goodly array as they sat Turk fashion upon their cushions, and looking mighty hungry, too! Presently a big tray appeared, upon which was heaped a big white bed-spread! When this was passed, groans of disappointment were wrung from the guests, but they ceased when another tray full of fudge appeared.

Just as the lights flashed they all arose and marched, according to custom, through the halls, singing "Here's to all the new girls, love them well."

William Wilson (coming out of Knowles): "Gangway!"

Miss Holiday: "Over to Carnegie if you want to know."

Teacher: "Give me a sentence using the word 'officiate.'"

Pupil: "My father is sick from a fish he ate."—"The O-High," Oberlin, Ohio.

"Coach" Royall (giving an exhibition of tackle on the gridiron)—Dive into me! Hit me hard! If you should break my leg, I wouldn't kick.

Hutch to Bryan Clark—I thought we all had to wear coats at the beanery.

Clark—Sure we have.

Hutch—Shaw isn't wearing a coat; he's got a sweater.

Clark—That's no sweater; that's a kimona.

"As nearly as I can make out," said the supercilious person, "you are what they call a literary hack."

"No," replied Mr. Penwiggles, wearily; "I'm not even a hack. I'm a jitney."—Washington Star.

SPURS

"Hominy is derived from Latin," maintained a bright scholar.

"Prove it," challenged an unbeliever.

"Well, you see, it comes from the Latin homo—a man. When we decline homo, it is:

"Homo—a man.

"Hominis—of man.

"Homini—for man.

"So you see, 'hominy being 'for man' comes from the Latin."—Wit and Humor.

Fletcher: "Who is that Miss Wilcox who just started to school the other day?"

Wagner: "Mr. Wilcox's daughter, I suppose."

Mother: "Don't ever raise your hand to strike your little sister."

Small Boy: "How can I strike her, then?"—Ex.

Prep. Student: "Where is the best place to hold the world's fair?"

Experienced College Man: "Around the waist."—Ex.

Teacher: "Use gruesome in a sentence."

Johnny: "Papa stopped shaving and grew some whiskers."—"The O-High," Oberlin, O.

She: "Did he say anything dove-like about me?"

He: "He said you were pigeon-toed."—Ex.

When Willie saw a camel

He marveled at the humps.

"It is," he said to Samuel,

"A funny place for mumps."

—"The O-High," Oberlin, O.

If at first you don't get by, bluff, bluff, again.—Ex.

Miss Gonzales: "Write 'We' in Spanish."

Ward: "Singular?"

"I can't find 'aeroplane' in this dictionary."

"Have you looked on the fly-leaf?"—Ex.

"Mother," said the son, "I made a mistake when I took chemistry, but it is not too late to change even yet. I want to take astronomy instead."

The mother searched the eyes of her son sharply. Then she said:

"No. You will have to invent a better excuse for staying out at night!"—Ex.

Peg (to Vannie as she came down the hall singing): "What is that funny noise I hear?"

Vannie: "That is a mocking bird."

Hope (from obscure corner): "Pray tell, WHAT is it mocking?"

Orlando Water & Light Co.NEW JOKE EDITOR JOINS STAFF*Dorothy Bennett Invited to Become Sandspur Staff Member.

When the Rollins Sandspur decided that a new joke editor was needed, the attention of the staff was called to a new college freshman, Dorothy Dean, Bennett, a graduate of the high school in Jacksonville, who was, while there, an editor of the D. H. S. Oracle. Not only is Miss Bennett fitted for her place on The Sandspur staff by her high school training in journalism; but she should be especially well prepared with jokes, that having been her department for some time on The Oracle staff. She has also served as literary editor of the same magazine.

Miss Bennett's poems are, however, by no means all "jokes." During her senior year at high school her "Legend of the Cherokee Rose" received the prize awarded in the Colonial Dames' Indian story contest. Later this prize poem was published in an attractive advertising booklet of the Seminole Hotel of Jacksonville.

No doubt our new editor will find the "joke" in many of our Rollins Doings beside Sunday Inspection.

EXCHANGES.

The exchange department has been considerably neglected lately, but we hope to make it more successful this year. It is our aim to exchange with as many Florida school publications as we can, and we hope for the support of the entire student body in helping to make the exchange list a long and a good one. You can help by notifying the exchange editor of any school publication of which you may know. As this department is practically making a fresh start this year, we will need a large number of names.

The importance of exchanges to a school paper is apparent. They bring fresh ideas and helpful suggestions, and give us the news of school activities in other parts of the state. In this column we hope to print criticisms of other school papers, and occasionally an especially interesting criticism of our Sandspur itself by an exchange.

The history of philosophy class was on an extended march in quest of a suitable lecture room.

* A Voice from the Class: "Where do we go now?"

Hal Hill: "To find a fertile atmosphere for philosophic thought."

Dean Enyart (continuing a lecture) "What was I telling you of last, yesterday?"

Miss Yancey: "That we were to meet in this room regularly."

She: "In what course do you expect to graduate?"

He: "In the course of time."—Ex.

PERSONALS.

Miss Margaret Scott Rogers, last year's women's tennis champion, who is now engaged in settlement work in West Tampa, is expected to arrive in Winter Park on Monday afternoon, for a short visit at Cloverleaf Cottage. Miss Rogers is very popular, and her stay here is looked forward to with a great deal of anticipation.

Paul Thoren, who took his freshman and sophomore years at Rollins, but last year attended the University of Chicago, returned to Rollins on the 2nd and is now at home in Chase Hall. Paul was a star of the basketball nine year before last, a member of Phi Alpha Fraternity, and is a leader among the boys. He has received a very warm welcome from his old friends.

Rannie Lake, the irresistible, did not arrive until last Saturday. Randolph has had a wonderful summer in Minnesota and comes back to start the fun and studies. He was met at the station by a number of his friends. He was just MAD to get back.

Not to be outdone by the Freshmen and Sophomores, who are to enjoy a reception tonight, the Juniors and Seniors are to have a pow-wow of their own this evening in the Phi Alpha Fraternity rooms. The Faculty advisers of each class, Dean Enyart of the Class of '18, and Professor Palmer, of the Class of '17, and Mrs. Palmer, are also expected to be present. Miss E. Ethel Enyart will preside over the refreshments.

Miss Edna Galloway, of Maitland, who was a member of the Junior Academy Class last year visited old friends on the campus last Wednesday. Miss Galloway has registered for work in the School of Music, much to the delight of members of the Girls' Glee Club, of which she was a faithful member last season.

Mr. O. E. Maple, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., stopped at Rollins Wednesday evening and remained a guest upon the campus until Thursday morning, at which time he continued his passage to Tampa. Secretary Maple has become a good friend of the old students at Rollins and they all enjoy his frequent though brief stop-overs on the campus.

Richard G. Darrow of the class of '20 was happily surprised Wednesday morning by a short call from his father, Dr. C. R. Darrow, of Okechobee, who was motoring through from Sanford to Okechobee by way of Kissimmee.

Minister: "My mission is to save young men."

Pretty Girl: "So glad to meet you. Save me one."—"The O-High," Oberlin, Ohio.

Inspector "Is the water you use here healthy?"

"Yes. We use well water only."—Ex.

DEAN ENYART ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF DR. AND MRS.
WARD.

Thursday afternoon, from 4 to 5, Dean A. D. Enyart entertained the faculty at a delightful at home in honor of Dr. and Mrs. George Morgan Ward at Chase Hall. The parlor was beautifully decorated with tropical foliage and flowers. Delicious refreshments of punch, sandwiches, cakes and salted pecans were served by Elizabeth Russell, Sara Muriel, Vanetta Hall and Sara Yancey.

Sadie Pellerin, DeWitt Taylor, Robert Hutchinson and Maynard Froemke, all old and popular students, arrived Saturday afternoon in time for the Cloverleaf reception.

Prof. J. A. Osteen, the principal of the Winter Park public school, will reside in Chase Hall.

Margaret Mulholland of Orlando entered the Junior Academy class Tuesday.

CLASS OF '18 HOLDS MEETING.

The Juniors met Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A new member, Katherine Waldron, has been added to the class. Those now composing the class are: Sara Muriel, Elizabeth Russell, Annie Stone, Sadie Pellerin, Katherine Waldron, James Noxon, Benjamin Shaw and Robert Hutchinson. After a short business discussion, the meeting adjourned till Saturday evening, when the annual election will take place.

FRESHMAN CLASS ORGANIZES.

The Class of '20 met for the first time on Thursday, the 28th, immediately after chapel. Richard Darrow and Geraldine Barbour were elected president and secretary pro tem., respectively. After a short address by Richard Darrow relative to class pep, the meeting adjourned until Tuesday morning, the 3rd, when the following officers were elected: Richard Darrow, president; Norman Fletcher, vice president, and Gertrude Hall, secretary-treasurer. A social committee was appointed, the chairman and the members being Katherine Gates, Ruth Greene, Hester Bedinger, George Cutler and Alfred Fuiggitt.

AFTERNOON TEA.

Miss Margaret Boggess entertained the young ladies of the town and campus at a tea on Monday afternoon, in honor of Mrs. Maude Enlow Barze. The afternoon was delightfully spent in chatting and singing.

Mrs. Boggess made the announcement that she would be at home to all of the young ladies of both town and campus on the afternoon of the first Monday of every month.

Smith: "I almost had a dream last night."

Jones: "Well, why didn't you?"

Smith: "Her mother wouldn't let her out."—"The O-High," Oberlin, Ohio.
