THANKSGIVING DAY

A Graphic Story of The Life At Rollins on This "Day of Days"

Thanksgiving is always one of the greatest events at Rollins. We always look forward to this day of joy and recreation and we're never over thankful when the orchestra finishes the encore "Home, Sweet Home."

Let us endeavor to make this Thanksgiving Day even more successful than those of former years. This will mean a lot of hard work as well as fun on the part of the students, but, never was the Rollins student to be found that was not ready for both, especially if it furthered his personal interests, as well as those of the college.

The day begins promptly at 7:30 when we are awakened by the bugle. (Item, one extra hour of sleep; this is where our thanksgiving commences.) The morning is spent according to one's personal taste; some of us work hard at decorating the "gym" for the dance, others attend the church service, and the others occupy themselves in different ways. (However, it may be added, no one has ever been caught studying at this time.) Then, after a pick-up lunch, don't be alarmed at this term, as it is really quite substantial, the tables are waiting to be decorated. Don't forget to engage your table several days ahead, for, if you should, you might not get your share of the Thanksgiving feast. The tables are decorated according to the taste of the party in charge. Freshmen, take warning; don't get rattled and sit down at the faculty table. Also, be prompt. Dinner is served at five o'clock sharp, and if you are late you'll have small cause to be thankful, as the door will be locked as usual.

This year we have something new which will add to the enjoyment of the afternoon. A foot-ball game between the "Would-Be's" (students) and the "Has-Been's" (faculty and alumni) has been called for three o'clock. Don't miss it. These games between the students and faculty are always full of interest and are at times highly amusing. This will probably be a closely contested game as the boys are in good form as shown recently in the Rollins-Southern game, and there are many former stars among the faculty and alumni who are anxious to prove their title of "Has Been's," not altogether appropriate.

That the dinner is always greatly enjoyed by all, is needless to state. (Continued on Page Three)

Southern Eleven Beats Rollins In Fast Game on Morse Field

In a hard fought battle, Southern College Football team defeated Rollins Eleven by a score of 12-0, making touchdowns in the first and third quarters. Those who knew the playing ability of both teams before the game, looked for a most decided victory for Southern.

The Blue and Gold marched onto the field and at the sound of the whistle, the plucky players of old Rollins charged their opponents and the battle was on. "Torchy" met up with the pigskin and planted it far into the background of Southern's field. A Southernite muddled the ball and was downed in his tracks.

For the greater part of the game the ball was se-sawed back and forth from one side to the other, the most of the playing being in the center of the field. The first score made by Southern was in the last part of the first quarter when they pushed the ball over the line, Rollins being penalized 30 yards during the play for over-anxiousness. Southern failed to kick goal.

"Torchy" kicked the pigskin far into the opponents' territory and again the playing remained in the center of the field. The third quarter brought Southern another score. After considerable playing Southern gradually gained ground and plunged over the Rollins line for the second touchdown, again failing to kick goal.

Both teams fought well in the last quarter; Rollins was determined not to give over another score, and the final whistle found them hard at battle in the center of the field.

Lewis at left tackle played the star game of the day, often breaking through and tackling the runner for a loss. His loss was felt severely when in the middle of the game he had to be taken out on account of injuries.

Huntsman, at center, though penalized repeatedly for over-anxiousness, played a smashing game and not an inch was gained through him.

It was Bob Greene's first game of football, and he played like a veteran, opening holes, and smashing through the line, repeatedly downing the runner in his tracks.

Rodenbaugh, at right tackle, deserves honorable mention for the plucky kind of a game he put up. He was knocked out in the early part of the game, but after taking his two minutes he was on his feet again fighting better than before.

Brannon at quarterback, although he seemed to lack at times good generalship, yet when we remember that it was his first game at quarterback,

'LOVE, HONOR AND OBEY?'

The entire Freshman class has at last been initiated. Yesterday morning the few remaining members who had not taken the oath of fealty to the upper classmen were escorted to the Sophomore class tree and there, under the most solemn auspices, and in the presence of the assembled multitude of conspirators swore to "love, honor, and obey" as long as they all should live, the class of '18.

Immediately after this initiation the Sophomores held a short class meeting, and made arrangements for having a class table at the coming Thanksgiving dinner. The Freshmen will follow the lead of the older students and have a table also.

put up a remarkably good game, and at one time, had it not been for an injured knee, would have doubtless made a touchdown from a return punt.

Martin, at right end, put up a corking good game, always tackling hard, and many times throwing his man for a loss.

The back field, made up of Mizelle, Tilden, and Funk, worked well together, and with a little more experience ought to make good running mates. Hutchinson and McQuaters, while not standing out particularly as stars, played a hard, consistent and well fought game. Dancy, who substituted for Lewis, filled in his hole in the line with the pluck and determination of an experienced player.

It was a hard game to lose although Southern outclassed our men in weight and experience. The game was lost but our boys took the beating in the proper spirit.

The game was not without its picturesque side, and Rollins spirit was everywhere manifest, the Blue and Gold waving high above the heads of the Rollins rooters as they cheered their gridiron warriors to the finish.

"The best of the game
Is the zest of the game,
And the rest of the game
Is a bore;
For the best of the game
Make a jest of the game,
And the pest of the game
Is the score."

THE FLORIDIAN'S CREED

Enthusiastic Acceptance of "Creed," By Washington Society

William Fremont Blackman, D. D., Ph. D., LL. D., formerly president of Rollins College, and now the owner of an extensive ranch on the Wekiwa river, recently received the following letter from Florida's senior United States senator, Hon. D. U. Fletcher:

United States Senate,
Washington, Nov. 9, 1915.
Dr. William F. Blackman,
Winter Park, Florida.

Dear Doctor:—A few evenings ago nearly a hundred Floridians assembled at Hotel Logan and organized the "Florida Society of Washington." While a committee on constitution and by-laws was out, I read to those present your "Creed for Floridians," and it was most enthusiastically received. By resolution it was ordered inscribed on our minutes and adopted as our guide and pledge.

I was asked to enquire whether you had on hand a supply of copies to spare for distribution among our members. If not, I presume we are at liberty to print it at our own expense and distribute it. In either case I wish you would let me have a correct copy, approved by you. The copy I have was taken from the Florida Times-Union, and may possibly have an error, typographical or otherwise.

A word to the Society from you would also be appreciated.

Very sincerely yours,

DUNCAN U. FLETCHER.

The Woman's Club of Tampa some time ago asked and received permission to print Dr. Blackman's "Floridian's Creed and Covenant" in their Year Book, which also attests its great and wide-spread popularity.

Y. W. C. A. Meeting

The Y. W. C. A. meeting this week was one of the most interesting of the year. The meeting was led by Sara Muriel, a popular member of the Sophomore class.

Because of the proximity of Thanksgiving the subject for the evening was "Pollyanna," or the "Glad Game." The number of rejoicing texts to be found in the Bible was emphasized and a large number read. The leader then enumerated the things that we have to be especially thankful and glad for upon the campus this year.

The remainder of the time was given to explanation and discussion of the national Y. W. C. A. jubilee to be held during the month of February. The organization will be fifty years old in 1916, and in honor of this anniversary a jubilee following the idea of the old Hebrew jubilee will be held.

THE SANDSPUR, PAST, PRESENT, AND FUTURE

Just twenty-one years ago the first Rollins College student publication, The Rollins Sandspur, appeared. There were on that editorial staff several names which have since come into prominence. Little did anyone foresee that the local editor of the Sandspur of '94 would materialize into a famous and nationally popular author of short stories of the present day, Rex Beach. Yet that is history. The publication has passed through various vicissitudes during the time that it has been attaining its majority, sometimes appearing as a quarterly, sometimes as an annual, but always true and loyal to its original motto, "Stick to it." At one time the venerable Demosthenic Literary Society, in conjunction with The Friends in Council, imposed upon themselves the responsibility of placing it before the public; at another time, the Delphic Debating Society felt it in their hearts to enter the field of journalism, taking as their official mouthpiece, the Rollins Sandspur; and although these dear friends have passed out of college life, the Sandspur must continue in a victorious path. This year, the entire student body of Rollins, the oldest institution of higher learning in Florida, has united in "a strong pull, a long pull, and a pull altogether," to make of the Rollins Sandspur of 1915, and of all future years, a paper which will excel, if that be possible, all past efforts, and thus instill into the hearts of the students a spirit of devotion to their alma mater, which will be inextinguishable.

The Rollins Sandspur this year attains to its majority. On account of the vast amount of experience accumulated during this long period of time, it is to take on a more modern and more active form. From now on, the editors are to put forth a weekly publication embodying news of college happenings and items of interest to the alumni and former students. We have gotten over the antiquated idea of publishing a monthly magazine or picture book; the student body is a living, spontaneous, exuberant, mass of humanity, and a live organ of news is the demand of the day. With the aid of our generous advertisers, the supporting interest of the alumni and former students, and the steadfast loyalty of every present student, we shall endeavor to retain the character of the Sandspur as it was described in the first issue:—"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, just as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive, and extensive in circulation, and this will be found, upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of the 'Sandspur.'"

COLLEGE PERSONALS

Miss Vanetta Hall arrived Saturday afternoon from Oberlin, Ohio. She will take a course in piano and pipe-organ at the Rollins School of Music.

Miss Gladys and Grace Tilden of Winter Garden, are expected home to spend Thanksgiving. They were formerly Rollins' students and are now attending the Women's College at Tallahassee.

Professor Pope and Miss Isabel Denison will attend the State Conference of Congregational ministers at Sanford where they will have charge of a special musical program.

Miss Leada Neiningner, one of last years' basket-ball stars, is now playing on the strong Y. W. C. A. team of Bridgeport, Ohio.

Mrs. E. B. Ferguson, Dean of Women, left Thursday morning to attend the State Convention of the Federation of Womens' Clubs at DeLand.

The Y. W. C. A. entertained at an informal sewing party Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, in honor of Mrs. J. H. Noxon, of Auburndale, who is visiting her son James, while her husband is away on a business trip. Refreshments of tea and wafers were served.

Who Will Be Your Executor?

ANSWER NO. 2

Your estate may be materially impaired as a direct result of the appointment of an executor or trustee.

When an individual is appointed—

The financial responsibility is generally weaker.

It is generally provided in wills that the person nominated to serve as executor shall be excused from giving bond.

When surety bonds are supplied, it is at the expense of the estate, and then only partial security against loss is provided.

When a Trust Company is selected—

The positive advantage of strong financial responsibility is secured.

A bond which has behind it the entire financial strength of the Institution is always filed with the Probate Court at no cost to the estate.

Answer No. 3 will appear in a subsequent issue of this newspaper.

Come in any time and freely ask for further information on this vitally important subject. You are always welcome, and our officers are always glad to advise.

"BUSY BEES" AT WORK TONIGHT

The Cloverleaf girls are holding a "busy bee" party this evening in preparation for the annual bazaar, and all of the boys are invited to be present. It has been hinted by the hostesses that the guests will be initiated into the fine art of doing tatting, making aprons, and other similar pleasant little vocations usually pursued exclusively by the gentler sex. However, while there's life there's hope, and though this is not intended as a warning, "forewarned is forearmed."

AUTUMN SOCIAL EVENTS

The annual reception of the Young Women's Christian Association was held in Cloverleaf Cottage, October 2. Mrs. Ferguson and the cabinet received the guests. Progressive conversation and other games made the evening a great success.

On October 9, the Sophomores entertained in honor of the Freshmen in Carnegie Hall. The initiation of the "Freshies" occupied the greater part of the evening and its results has been seen in the submissive attitude of the Freshmen upon the campus, as well as numerous vocal selections after chapel.

The fifth annual Chase Hall reception was held at Chase Hall, October 16. The guests were received by Dean Enyart and the upper classmen who reside in Chase. The reception rooms were artistically decorated in Chase Hall colors, red, and gray. The guests were entertained with scenes from college life and other interesting "stunts." During the refreshments a cabaret dance was cleverly performed.

The usual new girls' initiation took the form of the graduating exercises of "Dinky High School." The orchestra which rendered several selections artistically if not musically, opened this splendid class day exercise. Each young lady took a part in the class day exercises to the enjoyment of those present.

The Hallowe'en dance, the first of the year, was held in Lyman Gym, November 6th. There were many clever and unique costumes. The program was started by a grand march, led by Mr. Green and Miss Edwards, after which the guests unmasked and enjoyed dancing until a late hour.

Various members of the faculty and trustees make short after-dinner speeches which are witty and appropriate to the occasion.

After dinner the faculty, guests, and students adjourn to the gymnasium for Thanksgiving dance. This is always a delightful affair, thoroughly enjoyed by all, and culminates a day of pleasure and profit.

TO THE MEMBERS OF ROLLINS' ALUMNI

(Annie C. Bellows)

Many of us alumni have expressed interest in the reissue of the Sandspur. The students are full of enthusiasm. Let us not be far behind. The best plan for keeping our column alive is for every one to send to the secretary, Miss Annie Bellows, Winter Park, Fla., items of interest concerning themselves or others of the association. Hearty co-operation of all is wished and urged. Let us all subscribe for the paper and thus keep in touch with the school and with each other.

Miss Kathleen Hill, '14, is happily engaged in teaching in the public school in her home town, Maitland, Florida.

Mr. J. Henry Buttram, '08, who is now attorney and counsellor at law in Bonifay, Fla., writes of his busy life and of his abiding loyalty to Rollins College.

Miss Winnie Wood, '10, is spending the winter with her mother in Tangerine, Fla. She sends best wishes for the success of the college and of the alumni association.

Miss Mabel E. Daniels, '13, is teaching in the high school in Damascus, Ohio. She took her M. A. degree last year in Oberlin, and hopes soon to go as a foreign missionary.

Miss Emma J. Little Tallant, '13, lives in Contoocook, N. H. She assures us that she will be interested in any work which the alumni may decide to undertake.

Mr. Dean S. Pike, '13, writes from Prospect park, Southwest, Brooklyn, N. Y. He says: "Anything that will help Rollins I will support."

Miss Eva McQuarters and Miss Mary Branham are teachers in the public schools of Orlando, Fla.

Mr. Berkeley Blackman, '07, the president of our alumni association, is enjoying life on the ranch.

Miss Grace Boone, '07, is studying again this year in Boston.

Miss Mabel O'Neal, '11, is librarian at Rollins College.

Worthington Blackman, '10, is practicing law in Orlando, Fla.

Mr. W. B. Hathaway, '09, is teaching English, Latin and Spanish in the Teachers' College of the State University of Florida.

Miss Pauline Ayres, '14, is now in Wilmington, Ohio. She has recently written most cordially concerning alumni affairs. She says: "It seems to me that a college has not much chance for success unless the alumni remain loyal, and if they are not loyal they ought to pretend it until it becomes such a part of their character that they will really be so."

Mr. Donald Marvin, '15, is studying this year in the University of Pennsylvania.

A list of the alumni will be published in an early number of the Sandspur.

Miss Susan T. Gladwin, '99, is a member of the faculty at Rollins this year.

Miss Florence M. Betts, '14, is studying in Oberlin College.

Conrad Bucher is in College Park, Georgia.

Richard Darrow, who graduated from Rollins Academy last year, is now working with his father in their drug store in the growing young city of Okeechobee. "Dick" is at the head of a thriving photographic department.

Paul Thoren, a member of last year's Sophomore class, is now attending the University of Chicago, where he is doing good work.

D. Henry Fordham, who has attended Rollins for the past three years, is now taking a law course at Cornell.

William Giddings, a former Rollins student, is this year attending the University of Wisconsin.

Ralph Jacobson is taking a course in optometry at Columbia University.

George Roberts, for some years a student of Rollins Academy, is now taking a course at the Albany Law School.

John Shannon, last year an active worker in Y. M. C. A. here, is now assistant secretary of that organization in Boston.

John Sherwood Foley, a graduate of the academy in 1915, is now at the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Bolton Mallory, also a member of last year's Senior academy class, is this year attending the University of Illinois.

William Stone, a former Rollins student, is now taking an agricultural course at the University of Florida.

Gerald Froemke, last year a student of the academy, is now at the St. Thomas Academy, Minneapolis.

Stanley Mansfield is now attending the Milwaukee high school.

Arthur Klemm, a graduate of the business school, is now assisting his father in his nursery and orange grove.

Elmer Harris, for several years a Rollins student, is now making a study of electrical engineering at the Case School of Applied Science, in Cleveland.

Miss Anna Funk who finished her junior studies successfully last year is now teaching in Sebring, Florida.

One of the members of last year's Sophomore class, Miss Eleanor Moreman, was married to Mr. Barnett in October and is now living in Orlando.

Miss Stella Freeman is attending school in Georgetown, Kentucky.

Miss Sara Yancy who has been a student at Rollins for the past two years is now taking a musical course in Yale.

Miss Katherine Doggett is taking a social service course at Pratt Institute in New York City.

Miss Irene Thoren, who graduated last year in music, has a studio of her own in Chicago, and is instructing in voice and piano. She is also director of the choir in her father's church and has made quite a success of it. She is planning to take a post-graduate course under eminent musical instructors in Chicago.

Miss Susan H. Dyer, B. M., instructor in violin in Rollins last year, is doing musical settlement work in New Haven, Conn.

Miss Maud Enlow, a graduate of the School of Expression spent a very pleasant summer travelling in the north, and her sister Marion is taking a nurses' training course in a Chicago hospital.

Miss Lillian Sawyer, one of last years most popular students is now at her home in Savannah, but is expected to return to Rollins for the second semester.

DR. BAKER TO ADDRESS Y. M. C. A. NEXT WEEK

At the next weekly meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, to be held in Lyman Gymnasium, Dr. Thomas R. Baker, Ph.D., for twenty-five years professor of Natural Science in Rollins College, now retired on the Carnegie Foundation pension, will address the young men.

Dr. Baker is widely known and beloved throughout Florida; during the summer he has visited the Yellowstone National Park, the San Francisco Exposition, certain parts of Mexico, and Honolulu, and returns to the campus, where he still resides, greatly benefited by his trip.

NATIONAL SECURITY LEAGUE; FORMING OF ORANGE COUNTY BRANCH

The state of Florida is falling in line with the other states in a nation wide support of President Wilson and of his cabinet in the wise policy of securing adequate national defense. Prof. Hiram Powers, of Winter Park, has received letters lately from Hon. Joseph H. Choate and J. Beaumont Spencer, of Yale, regarding the formation of an Orange county branch of the League to co-operate with the Jacksonville and other branches in Florida, and this branch is now being formed in Orlando and Winter Park. According to the statements issued by the League, which is co-operating with the conference committee on national preparedness at Washington, the League is working for the following program:

1. Legislation correcting present wasteful methods of military appropriations and disbursements.
2. The adoption of a definite defensive policy.
3. A stronger, better balanced navy for the protection of coast states.
4. An effective mobile army.
5. An adequate national guard organized under the war department.
6. The creation of an organized reserve for each branch of the service.

The League does not believe in a large standing army or in any form of militarism. It believes in preparation against war and not "for war."

The national committee of the League alone includes the membership of eighteen governors of states and many men of national prominence. S. Stanwood Menken is the president of the League. Alton B. Parker is vice-president, and Joseph H. Choate, former ambassador and famous jurist, is honorary president. The national headquarters of the League are at 31 Pine street, New York.
