THE I-HOO-ES-CHAY CANOE CLUB HAS ENJOYABLE PICNIC

Large Crowd of Students Took the Lake Trip.

Wampee Run was the scene of a most enjoyable picnic last Monday. The I-Es-Hoo-Chay Canoe Club paddled through the miniature African wilds of "Snake Run," and drew up their seven canoes part way between Lake Wampee and Lake Howell.

The day, cloudy at first, cleared about 10 o'clock, and proved perfect.

The way through Snake Run was not altogether without difficulty.

Professor Palmer, Fletcher and Hutchinson stopped once to cut away a fallen tree; several of the boys had to "brave the stream," and, wading, draw the canoes clear; and Randy Lake was kept very busy hunting snakes to test his shotgun and aim. Reports are he killed four!

All had landed by 11:30, and preparations were at once in order for the noonday meal. "Young Fletcher" and Warren Ingram roasted delicious steak, and baked potatoes, while Randy Lake and Ray Greene prepared two kettles of coffee.

In the meantime, Mrs. Ferguson devoured Tarkington's keen wit in "Seventeen"; Professor Palmer strummed on a mandolin and sang quite a variety of old songs; and Bill Giddings, Harriet and Stanley Mansfield, and Miss Gonzalez played at "Five Hundred." The rest (there were 30 in all) hovered about between the various scenes of activity.

After dinner several unique group pictures were taken, to serve later as invaluable souvenirs of the day; and by 3:30 all "broke camp" and paddled toward home. Songs and mandolin harmony were not left behind on the shores of Wampee Run, but echoed, too, along the waters on the homeward way.

Among the invited guests were: Miss Laura Mai Snyder of Jacksonville, guest of Miss Dorothy Bennett, and Misses Fannie Gonzalez, Winona Butterworth and Elinor Emery.

LEE'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED.

On last Friday evening the student body assembled in the gymnasium for a short time after supper, to hold a celebration in memory of the birthday of Robert E. Lee. Several of the old Southern songs were sung, and Miss Townsley sang "Listen to the Mocking Bird," accompanied on the piano by Miss Hall. The celebration was closed by singing "America."

PHI ALPHA HONORS NEW MEMBERS

Fraternity at Home Thursday.

The young men of Phi Alpha Fraternity were hosts Thursday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:30 at a very enjoyable tea given in honor of their new members, Messrs. Grafton O. Charles, Howard A. Weaver and Richard G. Darrow. The fraternity rooms were attractively decorated for the occasion, the entrance hall being ensconced in vines and tropical hangings, while the reception room contained beautiful roses of colors which blended admirably with the white and gold finish of the walls.

The guests were received by Mr. Paul Thoren, who introduced the honorees. The Senior girls, Misses Anna Funk and Mary Conaway, poured, while Misses Sara Muriel and Elizabeth Russell served the guests with delicious tea and cakes.

Those invited to attend this delightful affair were the college faculty, students in the college department, alumni of Phi Alpha, members of the Alpha Alpha Fraternity, and a number of personal friends of the members.

MRS. ROLLINS ARRIVES IN WINTER PARK FOR SHORT STAY

Mrs. A. W. Rollins, whose husband was among the first benefactors of the College which has borne his name for the last 32 years, arrived in Winter Park Wednesday evening, and is making a brief visit at the Seminole Hotel. She was met at the station by a committee of representative students.

It has been many years since Mrs. Rollins has visited Florida, as her home is now "The Highlands," Washington, D. C.

TOURNAMENT FINALS.

The Tennis tournament is now on in earnest. Wednesday afternoon a brilliant match was played between Tilden and Wheldon. Tilden won after three hard-fought sets. The first set went to Tilden, 8-6; the second to Wheldon, 8-6; Tilden then took the next set after outplaying Wheldon, 8-6, thus giving Tilden the best out of three. This match created a great deal of interest because it was between two of the best players in school. The students showed a lot of "pep" by coming out to see the match. The new champion is now ready and willing to take on all comers. Come early and avoid the rush.

Bob Greene: "My mother used to sing to me at the table to get me to eat."

Mrs. Lenfest: "Well, she certainly did a lasting job."

TOMOKAN RECEIVES LETTER.

The following letter has been received by Alfred J. Hanna, the editor-in-chief of the Tomokan and president of the class of '17:

"My Dear Mr. Hanna:

"I have read in the last number of The Sandspur of the kindness of the Editorial Year-Book Board, together with that of all the other students assembled in a mass meeting, in voting to dedicate the volume to me.

"Please accept yourself and convey to the other members of the Board, and to all those in mass meeting assembled the assurance that I greatly appreciate this honor, and that this kindly action, so thoughtful and gracious, will be a bright one of the many pleasant memories associated with my last year at Rollins.

"Yours very truly,

"THOS. R. BAKER."

MISS MALLICK ADDRESSES Y.W.C.A.

Is Native of Palestine.

The Y. W. C. A. was addressed on Tuesday evening by Miss Mallik, who is a guest of Mrs. Weaver at her home in Winter Park.

Miss Mallik is a native missionary of Palestine, and she had many interesting things to tell about her work in her own country, near Mount Lebanon. She came to this country to study in the Bible Institute of New York city a short time before the war broke out and she has been detained in this country ever since.

Her message of the evening was summed up in the words, "Yoked With Christ Always," and she emphasized this idea throughout her discourse by means of many interesting stories and descriptions of her work in her native Palestine.

She held the attention of her audience throughout her talk and the enthusiasm and interest in the work steadily increased.

The meeting was led by Miss Katherine Gates, and a solo by Miss Gertrude Hall added much to the pleasure of the evening.

ROLLINS BOYS ENJOY CAMP LIFE.

Last Thursday, a group of pleasure seekers led by Ray Greene, spent the night camping on his land near Maitland. Leaving the boathouse at 6 the campers reached Maitland in about an hour. Soon a good fire was going and preparations for supper were under way. While Ranny Lake, who acted as cook, was busy with the steak and coffee, about six of the others walked to a nearby grove, where they were invited to help themselves, and they soon returned with a good supply of oranges. Supper was, beyond all question, the best ever tasted, and spirits rose as the meal progressed. When everything had been eaten, the campers amused themselves with cards or singing and some of the more active members had a little impromptu football practice. At about 11 a group flashlight picture was taken, and everyone rolled in his blanket and after "Good Night, Ladies," had been played by the mandolin duet, comparative silence fell in camp. The night passed peacefully, except for the fact that one of the campers insisted on waking everyone up two or three times an hour to tell them a joke or on some other pretense.

The camp awoke at 5:30 and a quick return trip was made, the first canoes reaching the boathouse in time to hear the 8:30 bugle.

The Year Book.

Work on the Tomokan is progressing under the skillful direction of Alfred J. Hanna, editor-in-chief. To put out this year-book is a big undertaking, and it can be made a complete success only by every student supporting it in every possible way. Not only must each student subscribe, but he or she must endeavor to obtain subscriptions from friends and alumni.

All students are being urged to make any suggestions which they think will add to the attractiveness of the book. Snap shots and cartoons of campus life will also be gladly received by the board of editors.

If you feel you would like to help The Tomokan in some way, drop into the editor's office and tell him so. We feel confident that he will not send you away empty handed.

Let's Go Canoein'.

After enjoying the Canoe Club picnic on last Monday, we cannot but marvel that more such affairs do not have a more prominent place in our school activities. Of course, we know that the lakes are appreciated and enjoyed by many of the students, but there are many more who have not tasted the joys of such a canoe trip as that of which we have just spoken. If you are looking for thrills, you will never find more of them than in helping to paddle a canoe through the narrow right-angled turns in Snake Run, where even a slight deviation to either right or left may bring you into collision with an ugly snag, but where all is smooth sailing if you but keep in the straight and narrow channel.

And if you seek exercise, you will find none better than paddling a canoe from the boathouse to the picnic grounds, especially through the water hyacinths and lily pads of Snake Run. Or, if this is not strenuous enough, you may try your hand at the ax, perchance, in helping to remove a log from across the Run.

If you would seek real fun, if you seek health, if you seek beauty, all these are to be found on such a picnic where every member of the party is bubbling over with light-hearted jollity, where all nature bids you breathe deep of the fresh, health-giving air and look about and enjoy her beauty.

Again we urge you to seek pleasure and recreation on the lakes. You can't paddle homeward across the lakes in the sunset glow without arriving at the boathouse a better, happier person, better fitted than ever for the tasks that must be accomplished.

The Supplement.

The special advertising supplement of The Sandspur which appeared last week has received much favorable comment.

This supplement is but another evidence of the generous support which The Sandspur is receiving from Winter Park, Orlando and the College. We should all, therefore, make greater efforts than before to support The Sandspur in such a way that our advertisers will realize that we appreciate what they have done to make the paper a financial success.

And besides this we must always remember to patronize our advertisers.

Paying Back.

A quotation from Macauley, appearing upon the front page of the January "Triangle," is truly thought-bearing and worthy of comment:

"Great minds react on the society which has made them what they are, but they only pay with interest what they have received."

This must have been penned expressly for students, for it does fit. True, society may mold a mind, but only in such a way that mind is subjected to the existing influences. We are responsible as to how society may make our minds, being free agents with the privilege of choice.

We say: "I can't learn anything in that class." Why? Not entirely because of existing conditions, but largely because we do not apply our minds to the present and positive good influences. We take on a negative attitude and defeat ourselves before we begin.

Let us look around. In the same society of which we complain as stunting, others grow and flourish. We admire and respect the developed person, the one who can do and get things done and pass by the fact that that same society which influenced his mind, his character and his spirit, has formed our own, lesser mind, weaker will and complaining attitude. Are we as the choosing and willing agent not in a large part responsible for our own dwarfed development?

Then how do we react upon society? Do we give back what society gives us? Do we selfishly give back less or do we pay with interest as a strong and developing character should?

"Think on these things."

CONSCIENCE.

Conscience is the personal internal tribunal of every normal individual—it is a private court of justice which may be called into instant action; and if the evidence submitted is not strained or garbled by desire, a just verdict will invariably be rendered forthwith. It is and should be an inner consciousness of right and wrong, and in well regulated minds, acts simultaneously with thought and without effort.

The decisions of conscience should not be influenced by fear of anything, nor should public opinion or any other extraneous conditions be taken into consideration. The Court of Conscience decides only one phase of a situation: Is it right, or is it wrong. And if selfishness and desire are eliminated from the evidence, the verdict will be quick and just, and should be final.

In matters of conscience one should not seek or consider public opinion, or the opinion of any individual, or fear either—it is not necessary or desirable. Conscience is personal and is closely allied to if not the very foundation of character. If we follow its dictates, we may hold our heads aloft, facing our fellow-men, even if the whole world scoff, for we have done the best that is in us—no one can do more.

Conscience acts well nigh instantly, but many do not heed it—they look about for some excuse; they often indulge in infinite effort to circumvent conscience by endeavoring to satisfy and harmonize desire so as to elude strict fulfillment of its mandates. The question is not what others do or would do, but we do ourselves. There can be no satisfactory individuality developed having for its foundation a code of ethics formulated from individual action other than our own. No two human beings were ever precisely alike. We cannot know the true inwardness of the force and circumstance prompting the acts of others—in them it may be abnormality, heredity or conditions in which others are involved, precluding free and voluntary action; but in one's own case we alone are responsible to ourselves and should aim only to satisfy that inner consciousness—that tribunal before which we arraign ourselves, and from which we must emerge stainless, if we wish to maintain that most desirable of all characteristics—self-respect.

Acquire the habit of self-reliance—especially reliance on one's own conscience, and very soon a well-rounded character will be developed.—Wackford.

Prof. Palmer: "Chewing talks so much he loses tarck of what he is saying."

Boob: "That man must have money!"

Mutt: "So must I! Introduce me to him."—Ex.

Exchanges

The January O-High is here, with a good literary department and a very complete exchange department. The following criticism of The Sandspur appears in the exchange list:

"The Rollins Sandspur: A very interesting paper. The idea of printing extracts of interest from other papers is excellent. You have fine editorials."

We take the following from the Middlebury Campus:

"In The Rollins Sandspur, our exchange from Florida, we find an interesting article on a day's outing. This article, however, encourages canoe trips on the lakes nearby. This seems somewhat different from life in Middlebury. While the outing clubs of our Southern colleges are having canoe trips, our outing club is participating in such sports as skating, snowshoeing and skiing."

At this particular time of year there will no doubt be many to whom this "poem," taken from the Florida Flambeau, will appeal:

"Exams are coming. O, me! O, my! But they'll be over by and by, So let's don't fret and weep and wail, If we don't pass we'll surely fail. So here's to exams and all they bring. Everybody won't flunk in everything."

STETSON SMILES.

A game was played,
A record made,
A thrilling game it was.
I'll tell you, Jack,
And it's a fact,
A thrilling game it was.

The teams came out
'Midst many a shout,
Then all were wondrous still.
They held their breath,
As tho' 'twere death,
And all were wondrous still.

The ball was tipped
And Rollins whipped,
And Stetson smiled a smile.
Rollins was game,
Though somewhat lame,
But Stetson smiled the smile.

—Appropriated From an Exchange.

COLLEGE MEN IN DEMAND.

Spanish teachers for New York high schools are in great demand. They must be college graduates and must spend at least half a year as teacher in training before being eligible for the examinations. The salaries range from $900 to $2650, according to their length of service. Men are especially desired, but there are openings also for women.—From "The Lawrentian."

Emory University Student:

"Every man that went to the Student Conference at Blue Ridge is showing a great zeal in religious work. It was one of the greatest blessings I have ever received."

Bob Greene: Every time I see Pat she has Smut all over her face."

ENTHUSIASM FOR BLUE RIDGE.

Wednesday morning a mysterious poster was discovered on the Cloverleaf Bulletin Board. This cautioned its readers to "Watch!" Of course, the girls were interested and asked questions of all they met. At noon another notice, equally mysterious, was found, with great excitement. By this one it was decided that there was to be a speech of some kind. Just before supper, the time, place and some puzzling signs met the eyes of the curious.

As a result, all the girls and teachers in the dormitory gathered in the second floor hall of Cloverleaf after the recital and listened to Miss Vanetta Hall talk for a few moments on the Blue Ridge Conference. Those who had been fortunate enough to have been there told something of the place, the people one meets there, the trip and phases of life at Blue Ridge.

Suggestions as to how each girl could make a little money to help send a delegate to the Conference, at the close of school, were then called for. The girls responded with much interest, and it is hoped that this meeting may be the means of sending one girl to Blue Ridge, besides the one or two Y. W. will send.

BASKETBALL.

Friday, January 19th, the town basketball team completely defeated the Sanford team in Lyman gymnasium. The Winter Park team deserves special credit, as they have practiced without a coach, which was the reason for their losing to Sanford in the first game with a score of 23-7.

The teams were well matched, as the score shows 21-30.

Chauncey Boyer acted as referee.

SATURDAY EVENING AFFAIR.

Last Saturday evening there was a pleasant informal dance given in the Town Hall, at which the girls were hostesses. A victrola and large variety of good dance records afforded music for the evening, and a splendid floor added to the enjoyment.

Refreshments were served a little past 10 o'clock, and by 11 the party broke up.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Webster chaperoned.

The hostesses were: The Misses Barbour, the Misses Frieda and Elsa Siewert, Miss Elinor Emery, Miss Isabel Foley and Miss Florence Keezel. The guests were: Messrs. Smith and Norman Fletcher, Joe Musselwhite, R. Lake, Stanley Mansfield, Melvin Wagner, Bob Stone and Robert Halsted.

Y. W. C. A. Notes

With the beginning of a new semester the voluntary study class, which meets in the Cloverleaf parlor every Sunday morning, will start a new course, using "A Challenge to Life Service" as the text book. The book is one of the series which was studied by both the Christian Associations last year and during the first semester this year. Copies of this newest of the series have just been ordered.

STUDENT SECRETARY TO VISIT ROLLINS Y. W. C. A.

The annual visit of a secretary of the South Atlantic Field committee to the student association here is expected early in March. The visitor this year will be Miss Willie R. Young, who has been a member of this same committee for several years, working most successfully in many of the other Southern colleges. This, however, will be her first trip of the kind to Rollins. Miss Mabel Eleanor Stone will be remembered by former Rollins students as the annual Y. W. C. A. visitor, in the position of associate student secretary for several years past.

ANNUAL MEMBERS TAKE UP STUDY OF STUDENT FINANCE.

At the member meeting of the annual members of the South Atlantic field of the Y. W. C. A. with their field committee in Richmond it was decided that the subject of student finance be taken up for investigation and study during the present school year. With this end in view, they are sending out various questionnaires on Y. W. C. A. Finance to the colleges of the field. The information thus secured is sometimes used for the college catalogue.

BASE*BALL

"Sun" Roberts will be back in a few days for the second semester. He has always been a loyal supporter of the baseball team. He was on the "scrub" years before he made the team, but when he did he stood as one of the pillars. For a long while he was the youngest man on the team. In recognition of his loyalty and good service the team chose him as their captain in 1915. When he arrives he probably will be put up along with Musselwhite and Thoren for captain.

Former Captain Musselwhite said that there was good material for a team, when interviewed the other day. There are at least two men fighting for each position on the infield except short, and a superabundance of try-outs for the field. Here is the material as it now is:

Pitcher—Arrants, E. Stubbs.
Catcher—D. Wilson, Berdialez.
First Base—Froemke, Faulkner.
Second—Rodenbaugh, Roberts.
Third—Rodenbaugh, Froemke, W. Stubbs.
Shortstop—Thoren.
Outfield—Musselwhite, West, Junco, Ward, Trovillion.

Personals

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schultz of Winter Park on January 17th. Mr. and Mrs. Schultz, who are both former Rollins students, have named their son, William Smith.

Dean Enyart was in St. Petersburg this week. He lectured Wednesday afternoon and evening at a Bible Institute, returning to the campus Thursday night.

Monday afternoon Rose Powers entertained with a luncheon at the Seminole Hotel, in compliment to Miss Ursula Hill.

We regret to announce that Mrs. R. E. Greene and son, Robert, left on Tuesday afternoon for Providence, R. I., called there by the illness of Mrs. Greene's father. Students and faculty alike regret their departure.

Maxine Wilcox and Elise Blount entertained at breakfast in Cloverleaf on Wednesday morning. Those invited were: Hope Townsley, Lenora Fortner and Sadie Pellerin. The hostesses all proved to be cooks par excellence, as the following delicious menu fully testified: Strawberries, cereal, bacon and eggs, toast, coffee.

Lenora Fortner enjoyed the weekend at her home in Kissimmee.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mason, January 17th, a baby boy. Mr. Mason was formerly coach of the Rollins baseball team and led the team to victory for seven years, thus securing the state championship for Rollins. Mrs. Mason was formerly Dorothea Temple, and attended the Academy in 1910-'11.

Misses Eva McQuaters, Ethel Borland and Mary Branham, all former students of Rollins, attended the recital given by Mr. Arthur Ranous and Mrs. Erik Palmer on the evening of the 15th.

Ruth McCullough and Mary Conaway of Orlando were among those present at this delightful performance.

Miss Laura Mai Snyder of Jacksonville visited Dorothy Bennett in Cloverleaf during the week-end.

Sadie Pellerin and Rose Powers were the guests of Gayle Davis of Orlando last Saturday afternoon at a tea, given in honor of Miss Ursula Hill.

Dick and Dolly Darrow enjoyed the movies in Orlando last Saturday evening.

Miss Bellows, Anna Funk and James Noxon attended a lecture on the "Gary School Plan" last Tuesday afternoon at the Sorosis Club in Orlando.

Charles Sherman, a former Rollins student and tennis star, surprised his friends with a short visit on the campus last Saturday.

Miss Ethel Borland, '07-'08, was the guest of Miss O'Neal at dinner and supper, Thursday, on the campus.

SERVICES AT POINCIANA CHAPEL.

The first services of the season in the Poinciana chapel will be held this morning at 11 o'clock, with an organ recital commencing at 10:40. Services will be conducted as in the years past by Rev. George M. Ward, D. D., who is so well known and admired by the thousands of visitors who each year visit this house of worship.

The seating capacity of the chapel has been nearly doubled during the past summer—and the invitation to the general public to attend these services will find a ready response from all church-goers. The choir will be in charge of Mr. Frank E. Encell, who held the same position last year, and Miss Hazel Marie Bookwalter will preside at the organ.—Palm Beach Post.

Rev. William Fremont Blackman, D. D., Ph. D., LL. D., former president of Rollins, will fill the pulpit of the First Methodist church tomorrow morning.

Prof. Berkeley Blackman is in town for a few days, seeing his many friends on and off the campus.

The Senior Class of the Academy held an important meeting on Saturday afternoon in the Fraternity rooms. The work of the Annual was discussed. All members were urged to assist in every way possible. In accordance with the request of The Sandspur staff a class reporter was chosen. This work was turned over to Warren Ingram, who is a reporter for The Sandspur.

Discussion of Class Day matters and election of officers were the results of a very important meeting of the Senior Class of the College. Class Day will be Tuesday afternoon, May 29th, under the class tree. Only the friends of the graduates will be invited. The dignified Seniors will be decked in cap and gown. Special music has been arranged for, which will add very much to the enjoyment of the occasion. The farewell address will be given by the president, Alfred J. Hanna. Edwin McQuaters was elected historian and Mary Conaway prophet of the class.

Maurice During of New York city, who, with his mother, is spending the winter in Orlando, has entered the senior class of the Academy. Mr. During is preparing for the entrance examinations of Princeton, which, for this section, will be held in Jacksonville during the second week of June.

The Phi Alphas, en masse, accompanied Dr. and Mrs. Ward to the station on their departure for Palm Beach, where Dr. Ward will open the Poinciana chapel.

Florence Walker and Dorothy Cecil of Orlando visited their friend, Hester Bedinger, last Saturday.

NEWS FROM ALUMNI.

Among the interesting presents that came with Christmas greetings to one of our resident Rollins people was a photograph of little Thomas and Evaline Volby, the charming children of Mr. and Mrs. Gustave A. Volby, of Lewistown, Mont. The pictures are regarded as excellent likenesses of the little man and woman, who are such busybodies in the Volby household.

Mrs. Volby was interesting Ida Lamson of the olden time of Rollins, who came here when a little girl and under the excellent guidance of her aunt, Mrs. C. E. Smith, grew into intelligent and graceful womanhood, graduating in our college course in 1908.

PIKE-ALLEN.

The engagement of Miss Mabel Allen, the attractive granddaughter of Mrs. C. G. Towsey, of Winter Park, to Dean S. Pike, was announced two weeks ago at Miss Allen's home in Clinton Corners, N. Y. Miss Allen expects to arrive in Winter Park about the end of the month to spend the season with her grandmother.

Miss Allen and Mr. Pike are well known in Winter Park, both having been popular students of Rollins, where Mr. Pike received his A. B. degree. He is at present in business in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Miss Gonzalez: "Do 'ser' and 'estar' mean the same thing?"

Wheldon: "Yes, ma'am. Almost, but a little different."

R. G. (in Spanish): "I studied less 19."

Dick: "I studied less 'n that!"

Visitor (speaking of Hutch, whom she had met in the library): "Is he the one who sat down with the little mous-tache?"

At Play Rehearsal:

Miss Enyart: "Get a little more action in that."

Hope: "Wiggle your ears."

Cutler: "No, I don't want to stir up a breeze around here."

ON WAMPEE RUN.

The I-Es-Choo-Chay
Were on their way
By ten last Monday morn—
On picnic bent,
The day was spent
With not a one forlorn!

In eight canoes
By twos and twos
They paddled to Wampee Run.
They landed there,
And banished care,
For a day of mirth and fun!

The boys made fire;
"Prof" tuned the "lyre";
Lake and Greene at the kettle;
Mrs. Ferguson read;
And others, 'twas said,
"Five Hundred" accounts did settle.

And snaps, they took,
Ere they forsook
The happy camping ground.
Each heart was thrilled!
The air was filled
With song and joyful sound!

Wild tales they bro't!
Five snakes they shot!
And each was quick to say,
Once more at home,
Again they'd roam
Thus ended a perfect day!

BOOST THE ANNUAL.

A minimum of 100 subscriptions has been secured on the campus, and our year-book is progressing at a fine rate.

This news ought to cheer the skeptical people who have not subscribed, and we urge you most earnestly to take advantage not only of the low price of the book, but of the great opportunity to become the possessor of such a "Rollins production."
