HON. PARK TRAMMELL TO DELIVER COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS

Senior Class Chooses U. S. Senator as Favored Speaker

According to the customs followed at most of the universities and colleges, the senior class this year has had the privilege of selecting the person to deliver the Commencement Address. They have chosen United States Senator, Hon. Park Trammell, who has promised to be present and deliver the address. Senator Trammell is a man of magnetic power and a brilliant speaker. He has successfully filled consecutively the following positions, mayor of Lakeland, member of the Florida House of Representatives, State Senator, Attorney-General and Governor of Florida. He now represents Florida in the Senate at Washington. Senator Trammell is a brother-in-law of Mrs. C. P. Dickenson, of Orlando, who is a niece of S. P. Shepherd, of Winter Park, and a former student of the Rollins Conservatory of Music. It will indeed be a great privilege to have Senator Trammell with us at Commencement and to have the opportunity to hear such a gifted speaker.

WINTER PARK RALLY POSTPONED

The patriotic rally which was to have taken place at Winter Park under the auspices of the Winter Park town council last Sunday afternoon, was postponed on account of rain, until tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock. The band which was to have played at the rally last Sunday afternoon gave a concert at the Winter Park depot for an hour or more which partly compensated those who arrived at the park to participate in the rally. Tomorrow the band will render patriotic airs, national songs will be sung by the assemblage, and a large American flag will be unfurled. Dr. George Morgan Ward, of Rollins, will preside, and a number of prominent men of Winter Park will deliver addresses.

MUSICAL RECITAL

A musical recital was given Thursday evening, the 19th, in Knowles Hall, for the benefit of the Methodist Church. Walter Drennen, the well-known Orlando soloist, and his sister, Mrs. Aldrich, and Mrs. R. Magruder, were assisted by Mrs. Roland Barze, elocutionist. A large number of the students and members of the faculty attended the concert.

ROLLINS COMPANY MAKES FINE APPEARANCE IN PARADE

On Wednesday afternoon the boys went to Orlando to form a part of a parade being given there. The purpose of the parade was to arouse enthusiasm and to make everyone realize the country needs every man it can get.

Business men, secret orders, school children, boy scouts, red cross, and military organizations, all marched to the music of a band which went ahead of the column. A fife and drum corps preceded Orlando Company C, F. N. G., and immediately following Company C came Orlando Red Cross Corps, followed by The Rollins Volunteer Company. Crowds lined the streets along the course and cheered enthusiastically. The column went north on Orange avenue, then turned east to the Court House, where patriotic music was played and where after due ceremony, Company C was presented with a flag.

Our boys made a good appearance, and their position in the parade indicates the recognition they are receiving.

They have been going through some very military-looking manoeuvres every afternoon of late, and one and all showing intense interest.

DELPHIC SOCIETY

The Delphic Society held a very interesting meeting last Wednesday evening in the Phi Alpha Fraternity rooms.

The meeting opened promptly at 7.30 at the sound of the gravel, with President Hanna presiding.

After the roll call the secretary's report was read. Reports were made by the various committees and a short business session ensued.

The program consisted of three distinct features. First, review of Sidney Lanier's life and work, secondly, a debate, and thirdly, musical selections.

The program was as follows:

Buorea Nolte, Nevin, Hope Townsley.

Life of Sidney Lanier, Majorie Tallman.

Marshes of Glynn, Lanier, Wenonah Butterworth.

Lanier's Personality.

Sunrise, Lanier, Harold Hill.

Goodbye, Tosti, Malcolm McGowan.

Debate, Resolved "That Heredity is a more potent factor in the development of an individual than education and environment." Miss Wilkins, chairman.

Affirmative, Everitte Royal, Capt.

THE ALPHA ALPHA FRATERNITY HOLDS RECEPTION

Last Saturday evening the Alpha Alpha fraternity of Rollins College held a reception and dance in the Lyman Gymnasium, and it was agreed by all to be an unusually attractive affair. During the evening there was a brief pause in the dancing while the orchestra played the National hymn and a light was thrown upon the Stars and Stripes.

"And the Star-Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave,

O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave."

And meanwhile a strong search light was thrown upon a large silk "Old Glory" that draped the balcony at one end of the hall. Everyone stopped dancing, and for a moment thoughts were turned from pleasure to the present call to the flag.

Guests arrived at seven-thirty and dancing followed until eleven.

The decorations were unique and very artistic. Many large fresh-cut bamboo poles, wreathed with garlands of fresh green, and huge clusters of vary-colored paper chrysanthemums were placed about the hall between the overhanging balcony and floor, and thus set apart a "safe" space for onlookers. The five-piece orchestra played at one end of the room, screened behind a lattice inter-laced with greens and blossoms, while in the opposite corner, delicious fruit punch and assorted crackers were served from a booth, festooned with more garlands and green, and vari-colored chrysanthemums. Upstairs, the fraternity room and balcony were thrown open to the guests.

A large number of the faculty were present and in the receiving line were Leon D. Lewis, George Roberts and Randolph Lake.

Negative, Alfred J. Hanna, Capt.

Speakers, Affirmative, Warren Ingram, Elinor Emery, Everitte Royal.

Speakers, Negative, Alfred J. Hanna, Annie Stone, Harold Hill.

The remarks made concerning Sidney Lanier were interesting as well as instructive. As he is one of the South's greatest poets, though not well-known, those present were glad to become better acquainted with his life, and thus can the more readily appreciate his poems.

The musical selections rendered added greatly to the entertainment of the evening. The meeting was one of much interest and profit to those present and the next meeting, which will be the last this year is looked forward to with great pleasure.

MAY DAY FESTIVAL PROMISES TO BE MOST BRILLIANT EVENT

Annual Gaieties in Preparation by Christian Associations

The annual May Day Festival, under the auspices of the combined Christian Associations of Rollins College, will be given on the campus Saturday afternoon and evening, May 5th.

The program will begin with the grand procession at four o'clock. Following this the Queen of May will be crowned and enthroned on the campus in front of Cloverleaf Cottage. A program consisting of various kinds of May Day gaieties will then be rendered.

At its close the student body will enjoy a basket picnic on the campus.

At seven o'clock the Rollins College orchestra and the Girls' Glee Club will give a concert by moonlight on Chase Hall Terrace. The stage which was used so effectively for the performance of a Midsummer Night's Dream will be redecorated and used for this concert.

The program as a whole promises to be the most successful ever given at Rollins. Miss Enyart is general chairman of the Festival. The music is under the direction of Miss Dyer and Miss Waterman of the Conservatory. Miss Bellows is chairman of the program committee, and various students are planning the other details.

CHARLES E. LAMSON

Mr. Lamson, whose death occurred on Tuesday of last week at the home of Mrs. C. L. Smith, his aunt, was a student here in the early days of Rollins. He and his sister, Mrs. Ida G. Volby, of Lewistown, Mon., came to Winter Park in 1892 to live, under the tutelage of Mrs. Smith, then Miss Lamson, dean of women in Rollins College. He was a student of our college for several years, preparing here for more extended college work elsewhere. After studying for two years in Piedmont College, Ga., he entered Rochester University, from which he was graduated in 1910.

His most important work after graduation was done in the experimental laboratory of the Eastman Kodak Co., with which he was connected until a short time before his illness began. He was greatly interested in the research operations here and showed much efficiency in the work.

The Sun Dial.

The first issue of The Sun Dial, a paper published at intervals by the staff of Saint Elizabeth Hospital of Washington, D. C. has been received recently by the college librarian. This paper is published in order that a medium of communication might be established between the physicians and their mentally diseased patients whom they are trying to cure by the new methods of working with the processes of the mind itself. This work is valuable not only to the patients themselves but to society at large for the physicians are discovering the reasons why the patients have failed and he is therefore in position to warn others that they may fall into the same errors.

The Sun Dial from cover to cover is most interesting and will repay any time spent in reading it.

Keep Awake.

The war continues. We wonder if our feeling of responsibility in the war does not wax and wane just as we receive the stimulus of thrilling circumstances or only general information of the military movements, as we fear the spreading of the great area of sorrow to our own peaceful homes or as we blindly trust that we are safe and that the outcome is assured.

Irregardless of development we should hold fast the purpose, national and individual, we have in this issue, throw ourselves honestly into our preparation or service as it may be. To excuse ourselves because we think perhaps we are too late or they can get along without us, is shirking our duty and forgetting our purpose. We have no business to think but in line with our conscious purpose.

We feel that the United States holds the balance of power in the strife and due to her great prosperity, great diversity of abilities and intact strength she can add her mighty mite to the points of greatest need among our Allies. Our nation can only do this if the citizens are willing to share responsibility and honestly seek to employ their greatest talents in the giving of their lives to this war service, for war means life giving and by entering the war we have expressed the desire of assuming this sacrifice. By doing this we will truly help to "vindicate the principles of peace and justice in the life of the world as against selfish and autocratic power."

SOME INSIDE INFORMATION

By Prof. A. M. Trawick

Dear Mr. Man:

Say, Bo, have you ever been to Blue Ridge Summer School? Up in North Carolina, you know, the other side of Ashville, this side of Ridge Crest, just below Brown's Pasture, not far from Spanish Castle. You couldn't miss the way. Take the right hand road after leaving Black Mountain, and keep on taking the right every time you come to the forks of the road, except the last time where you take the road straight ahead. You can ride in a Ford if you have 40c., but you can walk if you need to. Hounshell always walks.

There will be others with you. From Old Kaintuck to Mobile Bay, from Virginia Beech to Oxford, Miss.

they come and many of them will walk because they want to save their pennies for chocolates and fig newtons. You may send your other shirt and climbing shoes over on the Conference truck if you want to. Bob Denny, who has been at Blue Ridge before, left his bundle under Booker Washington cottage, so you need not wonder why he did not bring anything with him.

Hurry up and get to Robert E. Lee Hall before supper. Mr. Wells may not know just how hungry you are, and if you are not prompt Fatty Po-teat will get to the table first. Let me tell you now, so you will never forget it; Fatty was never known to be late at meal time. Another thing you will discover for yourself; the first supper is the best meal you will have for ten days. Be sure to make the best of it. Thereafter it will be black-strap and baked beans.

While you are eating, a very important, youngish looking man will call upon you to lay down your knife and listen to him. You might just as well put your knife down right now, for Doc Weatherford is going to make his first speech. You will hear him many, many times, but he always breaks into this first supper with a speech. He will say: "Men," (and in this form of address he does not really mean to exclude Phil Trigg and Roy John—Doc is very polite), "Men," says Doc, looking out toward W. D. Jr., "I have thought again and again how I can make this Conference the most tremendously real thing in your lives. I want you to throw yourselves with perfect abandon into every feature of the program—I want you to throw yourselves with perfect abandon into the pool every morning before breakfast." Here Sam Parker jumps upon the table and proposes three long rays for Doc Weatherford; and the lid is off.

The real business of the Conference has now begun. The business is divided into three parts. (1) Yelling. Everybody must yell. Yell every time anything is said, yell every time any thing is not said. If you cannot yell, sing; if you cannot sing, do like Fitzgerald does—sing bass. Make a noise! Give fifteen rays for Kiser William, Watt Raine, or Martha Washington! Wake 'em up!

(2) Athletics. This feature of the Conference consists in walking over to Ray Legate's farm for afternoon tea, playing Rook with the girls in Lee Hall, or in attending Dr. Horne's lecture on sub-conscious epistemology. Some of the bolder spirits go up to Mrs. Hobb's cottage to kill snakes, and a few listen to Ed Cook tell what he is going to do when he becomes a Bishop. Martha Washington goes to the pool for her annual squeal.

(3) Stunt Night. This is the spot light Conference proceedings; the reason why; the irreducible minimum; the sine qua non of the Conference program. On this occasion the faculty, together with Dr. Brown, professor emeritus of Public Speaking, and Will Web, headmaster of the Department of Wind Jamming, sing

ROLLINS COMPANY LOSES
CAPTAIN

The spirit of giving one's self to an urgent need as it is felt has borne down heavily upon many Rollins students. The call to immediate service has been irresistible to some who have found student-life relatively inactive for them during this moment of challenging duty. The last to have gone forth from these college halls is Malcolm McGowan. The organizer and captain of our Volunteer Company.

"Mac" said good-bye to the fellows last Thursday night and took the "Midnight" for the north. After spending a few days at Bordentown Military Institute, of which he is a graduate, he expects to go directly to his home in Stubenville, Ohio. It is his intention to file at once an application for service in the Volunteer Ambulance Corps for immediate duty in France. McGowan deeply regrets that existing restraints prevent him using his training and knowledge of military work in more active service but we are assured that his labors will never be without either purpose or effect.

By his own words we are assured that he has been deeply interested in the starting of this present system of military training and has given himself unselfishly to it, and the impetus he has given the movement is good proof of both his ability and his sincerity. He is confident however that the company is being left to efficient leadership.

Mrs. Price: "Have you seen Miss Wilkins?"

Evelyn (pointing toward Knowles): "Yes. She just went that way, but I don't know which way she went."

Helen Shelton: "Wyman and I are related."

Dorothy: "Since when?"

Helen: "The other day," and then, in an effort to explain when everybody laughed, "Well, we may be."

DeWitt (reading his paper): "Among these lines were the Talway and Anchor lines."

Shockley: "You have too many 'lines.' Leave out the last one."

DeWitt: "An anchor wouldn't do much good without a line."

FORMER STUDENT DIES

boyhood, he became an enthusiastic baseball player, and was pitcher for the Rochester University team for several years.

He was married to Miss Grace Hollack in 1911, who was at his bedside when he died. Their only child is a girl four years old. He was buried last Sunday in the cemetery at Jasper, N. Y., the last resting place of four generations.

Funeral services, conducted by Dr. George Morgan Ward, were held here on Wednesday afternoon. Besides Dr. Ward's very appropriate discourse, and a very fitting prayer by Dr. Blackman, the appropriate hymns, "Crossing the Bar" and "Pilgrims of the Night," were impressively sung by Mrs. Helen O'Neal Palmer (a classmate of the deceased), Miss Gertrude Hall, Mr. Street and Mr. Noxon.

The pallbearers were Eugene Bellows, Leland Chubb, Girard Denning, Oliver Phillips, Arthur Schultz, Walter Schultz and H. A. Ward. These men, as well as Miss Susan Goodwin and Perry, who arranged the flowers, were his intimate associates during his early days at Winter Park.

Charles Lamson, as we knew him twenty years ago, was a big, strong, good-natured boy, interesting and variously interested.

As a university student, he was very popular and highly esteemed. In every work in which he was engaged, he always lead, and justly merited the utmost confidence of his employers. As a husband and father, he was ever the genial and considerate center of his loving little household.

Then, as Fletch began playing with the ball of yarn:

the Conference melody: "We've been lecturing to the Bone-heads all the livelong day," and to the delegations, including the men from Georgia Tech, join in the antiphonal refrain: "One grasshopper jumped across the professor's back." Doc Poteat, Fatty's ancestor, stands on his head, Malcolm Guess repeats that thrilling little poem, "Lips that have touched paint shall never touch mine," and the lights go out. It is a great occasion.

Now, Bo, if there is anything else important about the Blue Ridge Conference, I will say it if you will remind me of it. I may have overlooked a few things like the class room work, the platform addresses, the life-work appeals, the financial session, the big men and the friendship of the Conference makes possible, but I have given you the gist of it. Write to me if you think you may be able to go, and I will tell you more about it.

Yours for Blue Ridge,
THE COUNT.
