ROLLINS JOURNALISTS HEAR FRANK ANDERSON SPEAK ON ADVERTISING

ALL CLASSES THERE

Relation of Advertising to Journalism is Discussed.

That advertising will develop more in the next 30 years than it has in the last 33, in which period practically all modern development has taken place, was the prediction of Frank Kay Anderson, president of the South Florida Press Association and vice president of the Carr Advertising Service, while speaking before the classes in journalism Thursday morning.

"Advertising is a very old thing," said the speaker. Revolutionary changes in form in this modern age have made a vast improvement, he said. However, the next few years may see an equally great development in the opinion of Mr. Anderson, who believes that advertising will grow with modern journalism until it becomes one of the most important things of every day life.

Movable type made advertising possible. Books appeared soon after and gradually newspapers and magazines made their appearance. However, modern presses and printing methods really made such publications possible and advertising was not important until the development of this modern printing machinery. The development of electrotypes and other methods of printing illustrations at a reasonable cost made advertising what it is today, said Mr. Anderson.

"The profession of journalism has advanced along with advertising," said the speaker. "At the time of the

CHRISTMAS VESPERS COMING THIS SUNDAY

Dean Sprague will talk on "Race Preparation for Christ's Coming" at the Christmas Vesper services Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in Knowles Hall.

The faculty string quartette will play "Andante Cantabile" from Tschai-kowsky's String Quartette. Those playing in the quartette are: Mrs. Krauss, first violin; Martha Marsh, second violin; Mrs. Margaret Ryan, cello; Miss Lela Niles, piano.

The men's and women's glee clubs will sing old Christmas carols at the services. The men's club will sing Becker's arrangement of "Silent Night," while the girls will sing "Mary's Lullaby," by Chadwick. In chorus the two clubs will sing several other Christmas carols.

This is the second of the Vesper services which are being held once

University of Havana Ready for Rollins Invaders With Strong Team; 10,000 to 15,000 Expected to Witness the Struggle in Cuban Capital; Final Arrangements Now Complete; Tar Backers Buy Tickets for Havana Journey.

Thursday morning next week will see the Tar football eleven with subs and football manager boarding the train for Tampa after which they will walk up the gang-plank of the steamship Cuba bound Havana-wards.

The Cuba will steam out of Port Tampa harbor Thursday evening at six with the Tars and their host of followers. The Island Republic will be reached Saturday morning by the Rollins expedition. Coach Wight's football warriors will spend the time remaining before the game on the twenty-fourth resting at the Plaza with the exception of a few hours Saturday when they will hold scrimmage practice with a Cuban eleven.

All Rollins gridmen resumed regular practice Wednesday of this week after a lay-off of several days. Signal practice and scrimmage with the second team kept them busy Wednesday until dark. The entire team is in tip-top condition and will go to Cuba with enough pep to hand the Havana outfit a severe drubbing. Havana lacks experience with American teams this fall, though the Cubans have been working hard and playing every football aggregation on their island ever since the first part of September. With an American coach on their force, the university will strut out to meet the Tars all ready for most of Wight's trick plays. Their coach played football in the United States for years and coached teams here before he accepted the job with the Cubans. He is reported to have several American players in his backfield, which should materially strengthen his eleven.

Manager Lloyd has learned that the University of Havana has even a heavier team than last year. The Tars were greatly outweighed in Miami last season, but were able to romp all over their opposition for this very reason. If the Cubans try old fashioned football again on the twenty-fourth they will be absolutely helpless against Wight's light fast men. However, all reports show that Havana has discarded all old methods and started out to play up-to-date football. A good fast game is promised when the Tars finally bump into the Havana lads.

The squad which will make the trip will be picked Monday. Only letter

LOCAL Y. M. C. A. HOLDS FIRST REGULAR MEET

E. J. Mileham, Orange County Secretary, Boosts Work

At the first of a series of bi-monthly meetings to be held on two Wednesdays of every month the rest of the year, E. J. Mileham, Orange county secretary of the Y. M. C. A., talked on the history of his organization and praised the local branch for the work done at Rollins this fall.

Mr. Mileham strongly favored the plan of letting the Y. M. C. A. take charge of all minor sports at Rollins. Inviting local leaders to call on him at any time for advice or assistance, he predicted that the policy outlined by Donaldson and his cabinet would result in renewed interest in these athletic activities. "The Y. M. C. A. ought to stand four square behind clean sports. The spirit we show on the basket ball floor moulds itself into our lives," said the speaker.

Founded 75 or 80 years ago in London by a draper's clerk named Williams, the original body of 12 men grew until the organization reached its present size and importance. The small room over a store where the first meetings were held was preserved by the founder in its original condition until recently, when he died. The Y quickly spread to American shores where it reached its greatest

TAR LIVING IN CUBA WRITES FOR SANDSPUR

Gives Information to Rollins Tourists to Havana

Rafael Condom, student of Rollins for two years and now a resident of Cuba where he is in the sugar business, writes the college that he will be on hand with other alumni when the Tars meet the University of Havana December 24. Condom was an exceptionally bright student while at Rollins and since returning to Cuba has risen to a position of importance in the sugar industry. He enclosed the following article about Havana for publication in The Sandspur with the idea of giving Rollins students making the Cuban trip a little preliminary information about the country.

Havana Views

Impressive and charming is the view which the traveler catches from the sea as he approaches Havana. The first impression received is the entrance to the bay as on entering the channel leading into the harbor the city appears brilliant and most charming. The towers of churches, the gay tiled roofs, etc., and the castles give it the charm to the city. The entrance to Havana harbor is considered by many travelers to be one of the most beautiful in the world, but there is nothing more attractive than the beautiful Malecon, magnificent avenue ex-

MANAGER DRAA STARTS WORK ON '24 FOOTBALL SCHEDULE WITH A RUSH

HOLDS BIG CONFERENCE

Tars Will Be in Line for Important Games

Cecil Draa, next year's football manager, has begun work on the 1924 schedule and enthusiastically predicts that next fall will be the biggest season for football that Rollins has ever known. Practically every man of this year's squad will return again when the grid season rolls around next September, which means that Rollins will have her old team back to form the nucleus of a winning combination. Draa believes that games with larger and more important universities over the south can be arranged and has started corresponding with the football managers of a dozen such institutions. He is not yet ready to make public his plans along these lines.

Rollins will have two complete teams again in 1924, both of which will be much stronger than this season, according to the football manager. The Tars should be in line to crush all opposition on the schedule. No announcement as to the coach for the coming season's football activities has yet been made by the football committee.

The first game next fall will be played with the St. Augustine Legion in St. Augustine. The Tars had little trouble in downing the Ancient City crowd this year 46 to 0. Games with the strong out-of-state elevens will be arranged for later in the season if possible, as the Tars want to be in fighting trim when they meet their strongest opposition. This year

BURTON LECTURES TO START JANUARY THIRD

Dr. Richard Burton, head of the department of English literature at the University of Minnesota and probably the leading literary professor and critic in America, will begin a series of 16 lectures on Thursday, January 3, after Christmas vacation. The first lecture will begin at 8 o'clock at the Woman's club building, where Dr. Burton will lecture all through the month of January on Monday and Tuesday afternoons at 4 o'clock and on Thursday and Friday nights at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Burton will deliver most of his lectures on the drama and modern fiction with possibly several on Bible subjects. Rollins students are advised and encouraged by the faculty to attend all lectures, and those turning in notes on them will get a one semester credit. "This is a great opportunity

BASKET BALL

Though basket ball apparently started off with much enthusiasm, the interest seems to have cooled somewhat since that time. Not half of the men who ought to be out have reported for practice regularly since the first night. Some star cagers have not turned out even once, all of which is very discouraging to the basket ball manager. A full schedule has been arranged for the winter, and a strong team must be found in some way. Rollins has chances of winning practically every game, if only some real, old-fashioned school spirit can be aroused. Now is the time to start.

FROSH SANDSPUR

The freshman class has expressed its desire to edit one of the next issues of The Sandspur. One more Sandspur will be published before Christmas vacation; after that the Freshmen may take over any issue of the paper by giving two weeks' notice. Encourage the youngsters in their journalistic efforts. Beyond a doubt the class will produce one of the best Sandspurs of the year.

1924 TOMOKAN

As far as the writer can see, the Tomokan this year will be one of the best in the history of the college. However, the annual is just being planned and is far from complete. Students may easily cause the staff infinite delay and trouble by forgetting to have their photographs taken in the required time. There are other ways of making the publication of the Tomokan difficult, but there is no need of mentioning them. Try to do what you can at all times and don't deliberately or carelessly delay the work of the Tomokan staff.

Y. M. C. A.

Attendance at the first regular Y. M. C. A. meeting proved that most of the men of the campus are interested in such work. The spirit of the meeting was encouraging to Donaldson and his cabinet, who have expectations of keeping up the meetings all year at regular intervals. The plan of controlling all minor sports at Rollins through the Y. M. C. A. is certainly a good one and should, if successful, bring about a renewed interest in such activities. Now is the time to stand back of the Y. M. and help where ever possible.

Any one interested in the Cuban excursion, see Cecil Draa for particulars immediately.

tending some miles along the seashore to Vedado and now has been extended to Marianao beach across the Almendares river. Malecon avenue is built on the cliffs at the edge of the gulf and on stormy days the waves break over the protecting wall and sometimes wash the front of the modern and luxurious residences which face the avenue and the gulf. At night the lights along the Malecon as seen from the sea produce a very fantastical and pleasing effect.

The Prado, another principal avenue about two miles long, lined with buildings having porches of varied columns. Many important clubs, moving picture and theatres line the avenue. Obispo, San Rafael, O'Reilly, Galiano and good many other avenues are among the principal commercial avenues of the city with luxurious stores of all kinds. The new modern buildings which have been and are being constructed give these streets a picturesque and quaint appearance.

Vedado Quarter, actually the aristocratic quarters of Havana, crowded with beautiful residences and surrounded by gardens with flowers and foliage and shady evergreen trees. Street cars cross in all directions, and day after day finer buildings are being constructed. Many beautiful parks line "Medina" and "Menocal" are to be found in this section. This quarter has all the comforts of a city; at the seashore is a bathing beach with public and private bath houses. Vedado is connected with new and rapidly growing suburbs, such as Miramar, Almendares, Buenavista and Marianao Beach.

The Oriental Hippodrome of Marianao (race track) is always crowded during the winter season when race horses from the best United States stables are brought over to compete with the best that Cuba can produce. large sums of money change hands daily and the race track is particularly popular with the society of Havana.

At the Casino one may find all sorts of games. This club is open to the public during the winter and spring season. It also includes a fine dance hall and a high class restaurant and is much patronized by the society of Havana and the better class of tourists.

The Almendares Hotel, located outside of the city in a most attractive suburb, is a magnificent building being equipped with all the most modern conveniences for comfort.

Marianao Beach is a delightful place especially in the summer. Beautiful avenues have been connected the beach with the Country Club Park, residences and other suburbs where beautiful chalets, bungalows and gardens are now being constructed.

The landscape is always placid and charming with the stately royal palm and the brilliant blue sky.

T. L. D. DANCE

Fun? Oh, Boy! Music? Say, ask anyone who attended the T. L. D. Hop last Friday. You wouldn't have known the old house. She was all dressed up in black and gold, the frat colors and everything was shined up ready for inspection.

The guests started to arrive about 8:30 and the Fort Pitt Orchestra started things off about nine. They held sway 'til eleven, then somebody hollered "Eats!" and then and there was a grand rush for the back porch where they found sandwiches piled high and that coffee "like mother used to make" (ask Pop Donaldson, he holds the record with four cups). After the eats everyone returned to the dance floor and no one thought about the time until Miss Treat announced that it was twelve-fifteen and time for the girls to be in bed. After "Home, Sweet Home" the guests departed.

The guests were: Eddie Parkinson, Dot Grey, Dickie Dickson, Billy Mulligan, Anna Beth Wilson, Phebe McDowell, Elinor Pressey, Mildred Stagg, Mildred McConnel, Louise Harris, Jerry Sledge, Marcia Converse, Kay Beall, Emily Gregory, Ruth Amy, Anne Hall, Eamilly Lippincott, Amelia Hinson, Fannie Mae Maddox, Six Sutliff, Cotton Thomas, Peter Lenney, Em Emery, Toad Norman, John Scott, Herb Thayer, Aaron Shreve, Jack Evans, Homer Parker, Brandt Watson, Blinker Draa, Jimmy Shoosmith, Ted Carroll, Al Bartlett, Jim Bartlett, Red Fralick, Wm. Jenks, Howard, Johnson, Henry Salisbury Wilson Reily, and Wm. Scherbondy. The latter five fellows are former college men who have organized the Fort Pitt Collegian Orchestra. T. L. D. appreciates their assistance in making the evening such a success by playing some of the best music ever heard in this vicinity.

Dr. and Mrs. E. N. Lippincott, Miss A. Treat and Mrs. M. A. Stelle chaperoned.

DR. TAINTOR TALKS
AT Y. W. MEETING

"We're all worth something," was the subject of Doctor Taintor's talk at the Y. W. C. A. meeting Wednesday evening in Cloverleaf parlor. It is through the influence of education that we are made worthwhile. "Man is the child of God," said Dr. Taintor, "and for this reason education, to be worth while, must be fitted to man, as a child of God."

Next Dr. Taintor brought out that everyone must recognize his own possibilities, and should make the best of the present to bring them out. "There is some imprisoned splendor in each one of us, which needs only to be brought out to make us all worth while," he said. Then, by way of illustrating the influence of education upon individuals, Dr. Taintor told of a young Polish man who, before being educated was a simple, crude, unintelligent man. This same man, upon graduating from college was very different and much improved.

He concluded with, "Since there are possibilities in all of us, the future for all is something worth while."

PEDRICK CONCERT FOR MONDAY NIGHT SLATED

Jessie Pedrick, pianist, will appear in concert at the Rollins Conservatory of Music on Tuesday night, December 18.

Miss Pedrick is a native of Orlando and a graduate of Rollins Conservatory under Marion Rouse. She has just arrived from New York where she has been making a brilliant record for herself under the direction of the famous artist-teacher, Earnest Hutchinson. She has won the Nobel prize for two consecutive years and has made great progress on the highway to fame and fortune in her chosen profession.

Miss Pedrick has lived for the past three years at the Parnassus club in New York, where she has come to be much sought as a recital and concert artist, as well as for her beautiful and well judged accompaniments. She taught in the studios established in Greenwich Village by Miss Dyer and Miss Rouse, and is still associated with the latter in studio work.

"The college has made great efforts to get these literary geniuses for Rollins students and every man and woman ought to be loyal to the enterprise. It is very rarely that even the great universities succeed in getting such outstanding men to give long series of lectures," continued the Dean.

Following the Burton lectures, 16 lectures by Edwin Markham, America's leading poet, will be on the program for Rollins students.

CONSTITUTION SOON

Preceding the talk by E. J. Mileham Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. meeting, Six Sutliff, secretary, appeared with the newly written constitution and asked for a vote on its acceptance. It was decided to post the document for a while where it would be accessible to all members before taking action. Voting will take place December 19. As the constitution is not yet in effect, the members present voted to place minor athletics in charge of the Y. M. C. A. temporarily.

Cupid's Advice

Note—Anyone wishing advice on marriage, engagements, etiquette, or other matters of the sort, may obtain information on the subject by addressing a letter to Cupid, care Sandspur Office.

Dear Cupid:

I am a young girl of 18, and I am in love with a college man of 22. I am sure that he loves me, because he always goes around with me, and I never see him with any other girl, but he has never told me so. I am old enough to know my own mind, and I know that I love him well enough to marry him if he should ask me. Is there any modest way that a young girl can get a man to propose to her? I believe that he is only shy, but I do not know how to help him out. Can you help me? HELPLESS.

Ans.—Well, Helpless, we'll see if we can help you a little. In the first place, if the young man is only shy, he will propose soon enough and you do not want to rush things, you know. A hasty marriage, following a rushed love-affair is too often the cause of ruined lives for two young people. There really is no way that a girl can get a man to propose. That's rather hard on us, isn't it? But you just wait and keep on loving him, if he is worthy of your love, and he'll propose to you soon enough. CUPID.

WINTER PARK, FLORIDA

Grid-Graphs

Well, the Havana trip is about to materialize.

Seems like we have been waiting long enough.

The boat will sail with the Tars and most of Winter Park, if we can judge from conversation heard on the street. One thing, a stiff game is certain.

The Cubans have an American coach on their force and more or less of an American team.

Wight's gridders are going to meet up with more opposition than they expect.

The walk-away of last year will not be repeated.

Though the Tars should be able to trounce the Havana lads thirty points without much trouble.

The largest crowd of the year will greet the Tars in Havana in the near-Christmas struggle.

And Blue and Gold supporters will make themselves heard on the sidelines.

Wednesday afternoon saw the Tar lads out chasing the pigskin around again.

The lay-off of several days has done them good and they are now in fighting trim.

The lucky squad will be picked Monday or Tuesday.

As yet it is not known just who will make the grade.

Rivalry is keen to say the least.

A real bunch of football men should walk up the gang-plank at Port Tampa.

CECIL DRAA IS NEXT YEAR'S GRID MANAGER

Cecil Draa was unanimously elected football manager for next year at the Student Association meeting on Thursday last week. Draa was assistant manager this year and earned his appointment to the managership by hard work and faithful work throughout the season.

TARS TO MEET CAGERS ALL OVER THE STATE

Basket ball games have been arranged with most of the strong teams in the state and the Tars have a stiff schedule before them without any additions, according to the basket ball manager.

Practice lately has been anything but encouraging to fans who have watched the proceedings in the gym. Cage men have been staying away from practice every night which has caused a loss of pep on the part of the old men. A change will have to come about after the basket ball men now on the football squad have returned from Cuba, in the opinion of all who have watched the practices.

RAY COLADO ELECTED '24 FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

Ray Colado, the little general who has always led his team to victory when it was humanly possible, was elected 1924 football captain at the meeting of the football squad.

Ray has played at quarter for Rollins for two years. He is known all over the state as a real football player, and will lead the Rollins team again next fall.

Wight's men were handicapped by being forced to play the formidable Gator eleven without much practice and without any real gridiron experience.

Manager Draa, three college representatives, and the head of the football committee held a conference Tuesday night about 1924 football prospects. The new schedule came in for much discussion.

men will be eligible for the journey. Every last grid man wants to go to Cuba, in fact the competition has been red hot. Scholastic standing will decide more than one selection, as the faculty council has ruled that no man will be permitted to represent the college in Cuba unless up to standard in all work.

Inquiries as to rates, accommodations, etc., in Cuba have been made all week by dozens of people from Orlando, Winter Park, Sanford and other towns. Cecil Draa, the newly elected football manager, is the man to see about reservations for the trip.

The University of Havana has conservatively estimated the crowd which will witness the game at 10,000 with 15,000 probably coming nearer the mark. This is one of the largest crowds that has ever turned out in Cuba at any one time, and is much larger than any crowd at former football games there.

According to information from the football manager, the Tars will remain in Cuba until the twenty-eighth. No ship will sail for Tampa after the game until that time. Unless the students and football fans return by way of Miami or Key West, they will probably have to remain the same length of time, unless some mistake has been made in reporting sailing dates. They may be able to leave the night of the twenty-fourth.

Win or lose, the University of Havana will treat the visitors from Florida royally, according to all letters received at the office. A big banquet is planned for the Tars and probably all Rollins students. A ride around Havana to see the city is also on the schedule.

NEW STATIONS ARE HEARD OVER RADIO

Radio wave length seems to have spread out over a very large area, judging from the stations which have been heard within the last week. For instance station K. F. K. X., which is Hastings, Nebraska, a town only 17 miles from the center of the United States, was heard very plainly. Another interesting feature of the radio is that ring-side fight returns can be heard from almost any station in the east. The recent Greb-Tunney fight was broadcasted from the Pittsburgh radio broadcasting studio. The fight was held on Monday night in Madison Square Garden, New York. The round-by-round affair entertained quite a few of the students. Another station on the list was Jefferson City, Mo., Station WOS, the call letters being used to form the slogan "Watch Our State."

For the past week, the Christmas spirit has certainly been heard in song at the Conservatory, for the glee clubs have been at work singing carols and Christmas music for the "Old English Coventry Nativity Play," which the Department of Expression, assisted by the Conservatory, is preparing to give at the Dyer Memorial amphitheatre next Monday evening.

This play, it will be remembered, was very beautifully given in part last season at the Women's Club, but this year, the whole miracle-play will be given with a much richer musical setting of old French and English carols, together with the best of the Christmas songs and hymns.

This unique old 16th century play, presented in this out-of-door setting, will be an event which few communities have the opportunity to enjoy.

The Gardener's Association of Cloverleaf announces that Gin Nagel's narcissus has a bloom and Ruth Amy's avocado has two new sprouts.

Ginney Richardson has stopped using rouge, so they say. Wonder why?

New slogans in Cloverleaf: "Measles, measles everywhere, and nine glasses a day to drink!"

Phoebe and Eleanor almost turned gray the other night when Ethel Evans started walking in her sleep and happened to stroll down their corridor.

Lil Eva had a bunch of personals for this column, only she decided that after all they were too personal.

The philosophy class is really turning out brains. For instance, this came off in class. Prof. Dresch: "Miss Montgomery, do you understand? Did that go in?" Herb Mosher (from the back row): "Yes, and out!"

Bill Hickey is greatly interested in boosting the membership of the Orlando Country Club, especially among the fairer sex.

Ask T. P. why she has had her blanket airing on the line for so long—ever since the picnic.

Bob Wilson and Red Williams started for Tampa last week-end, but owing to certain difficulties they didn't get any further than Orlando.

Scotty accompanied Carrol on his New Smyrna expedition. It is wondered whether either brought home a case of measles.

Tuesday night Blinker' Draa, Ted Carroll, Al Bartlett and Peggy drove to Titusville for a basket ball game.

Visitors are requested to take notice of the mistle-toe on the T. L. D. porch.

Jimmie Shoesmith spent Sunday at home in New Smyrna.

Cecil Draa was seen on the streets of Orlando Saturday night at a late hour with two girls.

The Masque Club, a secret order, has been founded this week by a group of co-eds.

Madeline and Hildegard spent the week end in Lake City.

Helen McKay is still sick with an attack of double tonsillitis.

Margaret McKay, Edna Wallace, Ken Warner and Walter Johnston had a steak-roast last Saturday.

Pearl Pierce is sick with the measles, but she is under very good care and will be well soon.

Ted Carroll made a hurry trip to New Smyrna Monday returning Tuesday morning to resume study.

EXPRESSION DEPARTMENT HOLDS ANOTHER RECITAL

An interesting expression recital was given Wednesday afternoon in Knowles Hall by Mrs. Gray's Department of Expression. The numbers were quite varied and ranged from thought poems and word pictures to humorous selections. Every number on the program was well given and was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience. The program was as follows:

Eleanor Pressy—Two word pictures "The Morning Hour" and "The Children's Hour."

Mae Blair—Two poems of child life Verdelle Crabbe—"The Cremation of Sam McGree."

Fern Dakin—"The Twins at the Kindergarten."

Charlotte Wettstein—"The Far Off Country."

Frances Jones—"Little Boy Blue" and its sequel.

Vivian Wheatley—"The Visitor."

Catherine Sherman—"The Cleft Heart."

Marcia Converse — A character song, "If No One Ever Marries Me."

The next recital will be announced and everyone is cordially invited.

Y. W. BAZAAR POSTPONED FEW WEEKS

Because of the prevalence of measles in Winter Park and Orlando, the Y. W. bazaar was postponed for several weeks by the faculty council. It was thought that large numbers of visitors would expose the student body to the disease. The future date for the bazaar has not yet been set.

The dance which was to follow the bazaar was also postponed by the faculty early in the week.

development. In Boston the athletic side of Y life was first started when a gymnasium was added. Williams had always believed that a Christian man should have a strong body to house his spirit, and encouraged athletics as a result.

Night schools to help men unable to obtain an education in other ways followed the gymnasium development. Since that time the Y. M. C. A. has stressed such schools wherever possible.

"The Y. M. C. A. seeks to unite men believing in Jesus Christ, and should be encouraged in all colleges," said Mr. Mileham.

"A strong Y. M. is a great inducement for students to come to any college," continued the speaker. Rollins is bound to profit from a Y movement."

Speaking of results which should come from the carrying out of a Y. M. C. A. movement here, Mr. Mileham said: "Orange county alone ought to come near to filling Rollins with students. If we all pull together and boost the movement and the college, Rollins will grow by leaps and bounds. Practically all of those in Orange county who now go to the University of Florida would be kept at home."

The new regulation which keeps cars off the campus during class hours is causing us no trouble.

We have nothing against it for personal reasons.

And very little for other reasons.

But we are unable to see that much good is being accomplished.

The few cars which used to bump around the drives really did little harm.

And made little noise.

What noise there was only served to break the monotony.

As we have said, we haven't anything against the regulation.

But now that we've got the above off our mind, we have nothing left in favor of it.

Things are about evenly balanced, don't cho know.

How long will they stay that way?

Well, Christmas vacation will soon be here.

Merry Christmas, folks!

LIVE FISH DEVoured BY RAVENOUS BLINKER

$2.40 said that Blinker Draa, famous Rollins student, would not bite the head off a live gold fish and lay the body on the counter at Gary's pharmacy Monday night. Blinker, however, proved to be a real fish eater, and grabbing one of the squirming inhabitants of Gary's goldfish bowl quickly made short work of it. It was with great difficulty that those present prevented Draa from devouring the fish whole. The bet only called for biting off the head, but Blinker seemed to want to go still farther.

Draa has always been known as a sardine eater, but this last banquet puts him in a class by himself.

LONE CASE OF MEASLES BREAKS OUT ON CAMPUS

One case of measles has appeared on the campus at the time this goes to press, which has been responsible for general precautions on the part of the faculty to prevent the spread of the disease. This variety of measles is not dangerous, but is prevalent in Orlando and Winter Park just now.

The first case of measles has been isolated in a wing of Cloverleaf on the top floor. A physician was summoned immediately and the patient has been under the care of a trained nurse from the Florida Sanitarium ever since.

All girls are being examined daily by the physical director for evidences of the spread of the measles. Every possible precaution is being taken to protect the student body. Students have not been confined to the campus at the time of going to press and it seems unlikely that they will be. Students have been warned to keep away from Orlando and the downtown section of Winter Park, where the disease is now more or less common. College affairs will go on as usual with the exception of the Y. W. C. A. Bazaar, which has been postponed for a few weeks, and the dance Saturday night. This dance will probably not be held.

Civil War the editor was classed with the minister and teacher, at that time looked upon as misfits, little better than licensed beggars, but today the journalist represents the highest type of business man," he said. "What has brought it about? Simply the growth of advertising," stated Mr. Anderson. Publications stand high with the public today and advertising makes possible their circulation create a medium to reach multitudes at a low price. Advertising helps of people.

A complete divorce between the editorial and business departments of the largest publications in the United States has come about. Advertising rates are fixed and you pay the price or leave such advertising alone. The advertising department cannot color editorial opinion on the larger magazines and papers; editorial policies are absolutely beyond the control of money or outside influences, said Mr. Anderson.

Associations of newspapers and magazines are working on common problems of the profession at present and are creating codes of ethics for the members. "We are on the verge of a new era," said the speaker in regard to this progress.

"Henry Ford is making a mistake as a publisher in forcing a publication devoid of advertising on the public. Modern advertising is so informative and educational that it constitutes an essential part of the information of men and women today," said Mr. Anderson. He believes that Ford cannot continue to hold his 500,000 subscribers unless he admits some advertising to his columns. "The knowledge put before us by advertising in 12 months today is marvelous. We are living longer in a year than our forbears did in a life-time," he continued.

Citing the instance of grapefruit jumping from an unknown fruit to the breakfast food of a nation in 40 years largely because of advertising, Mr. Anderson stated that an advertised product has to be good. A bad one cannot be sold by advertising it, as the public is certain to find out its defects very quickly.

"The next 20 or 25 years will see a remarkable development in mechanics. The development will be wonderful and work which is now necessary will disappear. Advertising will be largely responsible for bringing this change about," said Mr. Anderson.

Advertising will also continue to make journalism better and the profession more attractive, according to Frank K. Anderson.

TOMOKAN STAFF ASKS INDIVIDUAL PICTURES

All Rollins students should report to the Tomokan photographer at once to have their individual pictures taken for the Rollins year book, according to the latest announcement from the Tomokan staff. Individual pictures of the entire student body will be found in the Tomokan this year if present plans materialize.
