DOCTOR FROM ORLANDO APPEARS AT ASSEMBLY ON THURSDAY MORNING

DISCUSSES PROFESSION

Doctors Are Getting Scarcer Every Day, Says Speaker.

"Medicine offers great opportunities to young men today," said Dr. H. Beardall, Orlando physician, speaking at long assembly to the entire student body on "Opportunities in Medicine." Dr. Beardall is the first of a long list of professional men who will talk to Rollins students during the winter about the various professions.

After speaking for fifteen minutes about his profession, Dr. Beardall offered to answer any questions which his audience might care to raise. Faculty and students fired questions at the doctor for half an hour as a result.

$1000 a year should pay the expenses of the average student of medicine today, said the speaker. While it was possible to get through a medical course for less than this amount in the days when the doctor went to school, it cannot be done today, he believes. As medicine offers an unlimited field for financial gain, these expenses and all the years necessary for preparation are far from being wasted.

Chiropractors and other schools of healing will never seriously interfere with the practice of the doctor of medicine, in the opinion of Dr. Beardall. While he has great respect for certain schools of this type, others are of little account.

A general education, an A. B. if possible, is desirable for a pre-medical course, though certain modern schools admit graduates from good high schools, said the doctor in speaking of the requirements of the profession. "Don't get in a rut, get a broad knowledge of everything," was his advice. Two years of college devoted to general subjects really gives enough preparation for the average man.

There are not enough doctors at the present time and fewer men are entering medical schools than ever before. This is because the training takes so many years of study and because of the increasing strictness of medical examinations in the various states, he said. Florida grants licenses to doctors without using judgment, he continued, but probably these conditions will not last long.

Specialists have great opportunities at the present day and here is where the most money lies, stated the doctor in reply to a question from his audience. He advised those who wish to specialize to take a general course first and to spend at least a year in a good hospital before branching out in a single line. Surgery, too, offers much to the young man, especially in the cities, he said.

Women in medicine are needed badly, according to Dr. Beardall. Nurses are also very scarce and wages are exceptionally high. When asked if nurses are generally long

FROSH DEBATE HELD AT DELPHIC SESSION

AFFIRMATIVE VICTORS

Judges Reach Decision Only After Considering Question at Length

Before less than a third of the membership of Delphic Literary Society, the freshman debaters discussed the problems of coeducation Wednesday night, the affirmative side, Helene Luttmann, Ethel Evans and Thomas Quinn, winning the argument. The question was: Resolved, that coeducation is a good thing.

Both teams considered the matter of coeducation in American colleges and universities from a standpoint of marriages contracted. Few efforts were made to present other sides of the question.

The negative side, Billy Mulligan, Hardin Branch and John W. Bostwick, quoted statistics from dozens of books and magazines, but were unable to persuade the judges that they were as learned as they appeared to the audience. Bostwick waxed eloquent for five minutes when he upheld the good points of the University of Virginia and the University of Florida, but his audience dozed during the rest of his talk.

Sophomores present remarked that their team would make short work of the frosh when the two clash at one of the next Delphic meetings.

Last Year's Sandspur Editor Uses Business Course To Advantage

Writes to Professor Hart Enclosing Article About City's Toy Industry.

Charles E. Ward, last year's editor of The Sandspur and at present on the staff of the Laurel Daily Leader, Laurel, Mississippi, wrote the following article recently about one of Laurel's industries. As Ward was one of the students in Professor Hart's class in business administration last year, the article may prove of interest. It follows:

Production of the Royal Blue Glider sled with a patented brake began at noon Monday by the Royal Blue Glider corporation of Laurel. Orders have already been placed with the company through its New York office for the sale of the next three months' production, which is valued at more than the entire capital stock of the company.

The construction of this sled begins with the stamping of the metal forms, and the shaping of the wood parts. The metal and wooden parts are riveted together by specially designed mechanical riveters that do the work in one-one hundredth part of the time required by the old hand method.

All metal parts are electrically welded by a machine made especially for this purpose, thereby making the

TARS TRAMPLE ALL OVER TAMPA LEGION IN BATTLE

ALL ALUMNI IN STATE EXPECTED TO SHOW UP IN DELAND TURKEY DAY

BIG BATTLE SLATED

Alumni Association President Sends Out Form Letter.

The Alumni Association is sending out another letter to its members and to the former students of the college located in the state boosting the Rollins-Stetson football game in DeLand on Thanksgiving day.

This game will be the biggest of the year in the opinion of the college and alumni. Though the annual grid battles with Florida have always been considered of primary importance, the Thanksgiving day games with Stetson have always aroused more fight and school spirit than any others. The two institutions are enemies of old, and each year meet for the hardest fight of the season. This year both elevens are much stronger than ever before, but yet are evenly matched. The score will probably be very close at the best, though Rollins is journeying up to the Hatter camp with decks cleared for action and plans to put it over on the Stetson outfit.

For the past three years Rollins has out-rooted the Hatters on all occasions, even on their own field, and this must be true again this year. The alumni have been coming out more and more to this season's games to swell the cheering section's ranks. Next Thursday they must be present in DeLand even if they have attended no other games on the schedule, for the event will be worth coming 500 miles to see, say alumni officials. "Doll up yourselves and your cars with a lot of blue and gold decorations, old timers, and corral yourselves over on the Rollins side. Then yell like hell from your shoe leather up," advise the boosters who are after the crowd. "Show the old pep. We must WIN."

Definite arrangements as to transportation to the Athens of Florida for the big event are yet to be made. It is thought that Winter Park citizens will provide a hundred cars to transport students and others to the gridiron fray on Thursday. Should the plan materialize, announcements will be made in chapel by the Dean.

JACK CURRIE RETURNS TO ROLLINS FOR DAY

Jack Currie, who has been away from college for several weeks, returned Monday afternoon from New Smyrna for a day's visit at the T. L. D. house. Jack will not remain here, but plans to miss this year of college work.

Jack was one of the best guards the football team has had in years. His absence will make a difference in future lineups. It was thought for a time that Jack would take over his old position again, but he has announced that this is impossible.

All-American Stars on Opposing Eleven Helpless Against Tar Machine.

Saturday the victorious Tars continued their winning streak by trampling over the Tampa Legion eleven by a 19-0 count. The Legion team was the heaviest team and the best defensive outfit the Tars have met this season. The game turned out to be the hardest fought contest of the entire year. In the first quarter the Tars got away to a running start when Seeds circled the right end a few minutes after the game began for twenty-five yards and the first touchdown of the game. Rollins failed to kick goal. A few minutes later Class shot a pass to Lenny over the goal line but Pete was out of bounds by a few inches.

The third quarter opened with the Tars six points in the lead. The Legion team came back with the strongest defensive game the Tars have had played against them this year. Every inch of ground gained was fought for. In this quarter Donaldson was put in in place of La Froos. On the first play he picked up a fumble and ran thirty yards for the second touchdown of the game. From that on the third quarter was a kicked duel. Neither team was able to gain enough ground to become dangerous to the other side.

In the fourth quarter the Legion showed more fight than any time during the entire game. They drove the Tars back for gain upon gain until the Tars tightened up with the same defensive strength they had shown in the earlier stages of the contest.

Death of Mrs. O'Neal Causes Much Sorrow on Campus; Classes Cease

Wife of Treasurer of College and Prominent in Orlando Social Circles.

Classes were discontinued Tuesday afternoon while the entire faculty and many students attended the funeral of Jessie Mallory O'Neal, wife of Treasurer O'Neal, at 614 South Lake street in Orlando.

Dean C. Stanley Long, of Orlando, officiated and interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

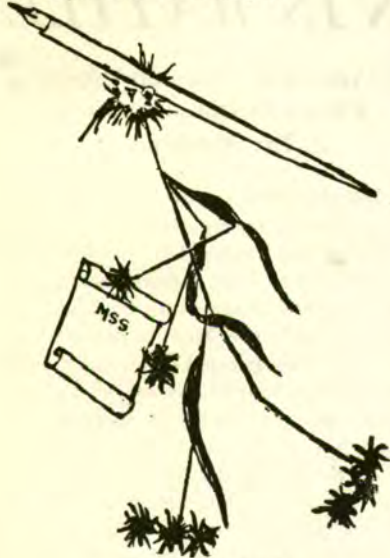

Mrs. O'Neal was prominent in Orlando and throughout Florida. In her home, club and civic, church and social life she thought always of others and leaves a great many friends to mourn her death. She was formerly a member of the board of trustees of Rollins College and at that time and ever since has had the welfare of the college at heart. In years past she took a special interest in the Conservatory and at every opportunity assisted the musical department of the college. Her death is a great loss both to Rollins and to the community.

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

FRESHMAN SANDSPUR

Last year the freshman class put out a special freshman issue of The Sandspur, printed in green ink, which was enthusiastically received by every one. At almost any time this year the regular Sandspur staff will be glad to let the freshmen make another attempt, provided they guarantee to provide the printer with sufficient copy and sell enough advertising to cover the cost of publication. The editor and his staff will then take a vacation, a trip to Cuba or elsewhere, if possible.

The instructor in journalism says he has quite a number of freshmen in his classes who should be able to take temporary charge of the Sandspur offices. We are expecting to hear from the youngsters soon.

"STONE WALL LINE"

The writer of last week's TAR AND FEATHERS column made some remarks about the well known Rollins football song which runs—"We've got a line like a stone wall," etc., that have come in for a considerable amount of comment ever since. The columnist said the TUNE had seen its day, was a joke on the football field and should be given decent burial. Certain readers immediately supposed that the compliments were meant for the real, honest to goodness Tar line which has been doing such wonderful work of late.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. Having decided that the song, especially the tune, should be replaced by something more modern, the writer innocently picked the words, "We've got a line like a stone wall," to designate which song was meant. Most everybody will agree with us when we say that the tune "Sweet Hortense" should be discarded. This is what we meant.

Don't think the staff has anything against the football team or any part of the team. The Sandspur is the Rollins eleven's strongest backer.

STUDENT INTEREST

Though the Sandspur box in Carnegie Hall is in plain sight and is always waiting for jokes, short articles, or in fact anything that might be available for the paper, practically nothing has been discovered in it so far this year. The joke editor has found a few jokes from time to time and two short news articles were unearthed during the month of October. Naturally we don't expect to fill the paper every week by means of this box, that would be impossible, but a little more interest might be shown by the students. At least it would show that they take some personal interest in the college paper.

TENNIS

No better weather for playing tennis could be found in the entire United States than the brand which Rollins has been enjoying for several weeks. Some interest in tennis is being aroused, but really not enough considering the ideal conditions for playing. Probably this is due partly to the lack of courts this year.

There is little use in saying more about repairing the clay court in front of the Conservatory. Everybody knows that a few hours work and a few dollars for necessary materials would make an ideal court out of what is now a piece of waste land. At the time this goes to press no action has been taken either by the students or by the faculty. The Sandspur believes the time for acting has arrived.

TOLERANCE

Tolerance is one of the finest attributes of individual personality. In the last analysis, it is, perhaps, nothing more or less than an expression of the sentiment of live-and-let-live. It connotes a broad-mindedness and a willingness to accept the ideas of other.

Ability to look upon the ideas and practices of others and to appreciate them and to realize their worth without resenting the natural jealousy of their possessors is hard to develop and rare to be seen. Easier it is to scoff at another's ways and to point out the flaws and inconsistencies in them than it is to sense their value and to realize their intrinsic worth.

The individual is prone to accept only that which he can understand and believe. The unknown is promptly discredited, for all thinking is done in terms of past experiences. This is all natural and is but a development of a phase of self-preservation instinct. Accordingly, the quality of tolerance must be developed by the individual through an overcoming of his more primitive tendencies. A willingness to yield and not an insistence upon his own desires, an acceptance of conditions as they are rather than as they should be, and an openness of mind mark the tolerant man.

The possession of these does not mean the sacrifice of individuality but rather the easier promulgation of it, for they arouse no opposition and resistance. They invite a fairness of treatment and judgment of consideration and so accomplish for the tolerant individual what no amount of force can gain for the intolerant. Thus tolerance may be likened to a stream of deep water, quiet and powerful and pleasing.—The Daily Cardinal.

ARE YOU LATE?

The preceding generation invariably looks more attractive to the young men because of its outstanding opportunities. The young man, and possibly the young woman, is apt to think that the world has reached its highest point of efficiency. He is likewise to suffer under the delusion that the world is so educated that there is little space for him to fit in. Either "pull" or superior brains win jobs and we may lack either one or the other. "Too bad I didn't live when father was a boy," is his cry, the echo of which is trumpeted by his posterity..

According to a recent statement made in one of the daily newspapers of the Northwest, which tells of a meeting of educators and industrialists, we have firm proof that "father" was no better off than we are. The motive of this meeting was to arrive at some conclusion as to train and supply men, young men, for leaders in technical undertakings. It was estimated that in 1930, 200,000 responsible positions would be open. According to present registration figures for technical schools, not more than 50,000 men will be so trained as to be able to tackle these positions. With this in view, can it be truthfully said that the present day man who is considering earning his livelihood was born a generation too late?—The Evergreen.

CO-ED BALL

The big event of the season took place the other night when half of the fair co-eds dolled up in men's garb and escorted the other half to the Gym where they jazzed to their heart's content. A raid was made on Chase Hall and it was said that some of the frat boys had to go to bed. What can a poor man do?

The young er—men called for their ladies and carefully assisted them over the rough places along their way. At the door the programs were properly filled out and the dance began with the grand march.

All the men were so thrilling and their lines—well they couldn't be beat! Several young ladies came home engaged, ring and all. Quick work!

The porch-light was thoughtfully turned out so each girl received her good-night kiss without embarrassment.

FAMOUS FORD GIVES UP GHOST ON LATEST TRIP

Six Sutliff and Cecil Draa started for Daytona Sunday afternoon in Emory's Ford, but returned Monday via the bumming route. The car remains in Daytona with a broken axle.

It was discovered after the accident that the Ford is a 1913 model instead of 1909 as previously claimed by Emory. It is not known when the wreck will be salvaged.

Recently, the Drakes-Ames football game was broadcasted by WOI, the radio station of the Iowa State University, and the cheering was heard by radio fans before it was heard by the substitutes, who were sitting across the field from the cheering section. The Mercer University Cluster has begun a contest to determine the most charming male on the Mercer campus. So far as is known, the Cluster is the only college paper to start such a contest, but in order to make it open to all southern colleges, they have decided upon this method of conducting it: All southern colleges shall choose their most charming men students; these delegates shall meet at a convention, where judges can pick out the fortunate winner. Andy Gump, financier and manufacturer, has generously donated a combination hair-brush and mirror, which will be given as a prize to the Adonis who surpasses all other contestants in charm. As a special inducement to Mercer men to enter the contest, the Cluster has offered the following prizes: To the most handsome man at Mercer, one cut-glass fly-swatter; to the next in beauty, one fur-lined bath tub; third prize, one hand-painted celluloid cigarette holder.

Grid-Graphs

Tampa Legion 0—Tars 19.

Tampa certainly does have a fighting team, to say nothing of the crowd.

The game last Saturday was the best we have seen this year. The Tars showed real form.

George Seeds grabs off the honors for making the first touchdown—but did you see Pop Donaldson scoop up the oval and trot forty yards for the second counter?

Talking of stone walls, any one who saw the game can tell you that the Rollins line was one when it came to stopping Tampa.

And the way they recovered Tampa's fumbles and threw the Legionnaires for repeated losses proves that they are terriers on the defense.

The manner in which the backfield tore thru the ex-service men's line and around the ends bodes ill for the Hatters on Thanksgiving day.

Next week will be devoted to scrimmage and signal practice to get everybody set for next Thursday.

Coach was highly pleased with the showing the boys made Saturday and the same lineup will probably start against the Hatters.

So far the Tars have scored 108 points to their opponents' 28; that 28 being scored by one team alone, all other opponents being held scoreless.

This augers well for future success of the Tars. Next Thursday is the high tide of football for Rollins when we go to DeLand to wallop the Hatters.

We need just about 100 per cent of the student body at DeLand Thursday to give the team support. Let's all go!! What say?

ORLANDO FAILS TO WIN FROM PURPLE HURRICANE

Many Rollins students who were unable to go to Tampa Saturday for the Rollins-Legion game journeyed over to Orlando and watched the Gainesville high school team trounce Orlando high's pride 6 to 0 in a game marked by countless fumbles on both sides.

No scoring was done until after the first half. Returning from a hard session with their coach during the 15 minute interval, Orlando started a march down the field toward the mid-gate Gator's goal line for what looked like a sure touchdown, but Gainesville intercepted a pass and started back through the Orlando line. A long forward pass and a short run by an up-state back resulted in the only score of the game.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA BADLY TRIMS SOUTHERN

The University of Florida had no trouble in defeating Southern's eleven 53 to 0 in Lakeland Saturday. Though the Methodists planned to hold the Gator machine to a lower score, they were helpless when Van Fleet's crew was turned loose against them. The first touchdown came in the first few minutes of play. After that the Gainesville warriors were able to score almost at will.

Wulf got away with a long pass for the third and last touchdown of the game and Vickers came through with the point after touchdown via the placement. The game brought out more fight in the Rollins eleven team than any other game they have had this year. They showed the real strength they are capable of when they need it. Last year with the same team the Legion held the Tars to a scoreless tie and this year were beaten by a 19-0 score. This shows what Stetson may expect when the Wight Warriors hit DeLand on Turkey Day.

After hearing of Dolly Darrow and Shiek Redding's trip to Kissimmee in search of a minister, Prof. Dresch announced that on any other Sunday night he would be glad to accommodate the two. Rollins will turn out in large numbers when the elopers set out again.

Radio interest at the T. L. D. house has been pushed ahead by the installation of a new receiving set furnished by Prof. Weinberg. GLEE CLUB AND ENSEMBLE CONCERT

On last Thursday night occurred the first concert of the season when the girls' glee club and other students of the Conservatory presented a very successful program at the Methodist church of Orlando.

The program was varied and interesting, including instrumental and ensemble numbers by the string quartette and Rollins Trio, and solo numbers by Ruth Amy and Raymond Redding. "Where My Caravan has Rested," with violin and cello obligatos was especially good as were the glee club numbers, Cadman's "Indian Mountain Song" and "De Dusk Witch" by Ambere.

Readings

Perhaps the most enthusiastically received were the two readings of Miss Charlotte Wettstein, "The Peach Blossom Princess" in costume and the "Italian Monologue."

Another very unique number was the organ solo "The Tragedy of a Tin Soldier," a comic suite.

The church was well filled Thursday evening.

Play Tonight

Tonight at the high school auditorium as special music for the play "A Missouri Girl," Miss Ruth Amy will sing a group of songs, Raymond Redding will sing "Where My Caravan has Rested" and a male quartette selected from the men's glee club will give two numbers, "Mother Machree" and "The Wise Old Owl."

"MISSOURI GIRL" AT HIGH SCHOOL AUDITORIUM

Tonight (Friday) brings forth the first appearance of the Community-Players of Winter Park in the celebrated rural play of four acts, "The Missouri Girl," with a wealth of special scenery.

This will be the third performance presented in Winter Park under the direction of William Triplett within three months and the many who witnessed the two former productions will appreciate the force of Mr. Triplett's statement that the forthcoming presentation will compare very favorably with "The Sweetest Girl in Dixie" and with "The Port of Missing Men," both of which were enthusiastically received with Kissimmee talent in the cast.

As stated last week, the title role, a character of unusual range and requiring marked versatility, has been entrusted to the capable hands of Mrs. R. D. Barze, with Mrs. Eldridge Hart as the winsome juvenile and Mrs. Triplett as the proud and ambitious mother. Of the male cast Mr. Walter B. Johnstone essays the lead, Mr. Donald G. Spain the light comedy and Mr. George Arrants the rural comedy with Mr. Triplett in eccentric character, doubling the honest hearted old farmer.

A list of exceptionally pleasing specialties will be contributed by Miss Ruth Amy, Mr. Raymond Redding and a splendid male quartet introducing Messrs. Merle Weaver, Curtis Atkisson, Berkley Blackburn and Homer Parker, with Miss Virginia

Richardson as accompanist. All specialties are arranged by Miss Edna Wallace.

The orchestra will be under the direction of Ray Trovillion.

In this program the Community-Players will be taken to Kissimmee, Orlando and St. Cloud, after which Mr. and Mrs. Triplett will stage "The Irish Cinderella" in Lakeland, returning to Kissimmee in time to produce a modern version of the great temperance drama, "Ten Nights in a Barroom" early in January, after which it is probable they will return to Winter Park in February.

WHO COULD IT BE?

Mildred S.—Do you know any deaf and dumb people?

Dickey D.—No, but I know a boy who would be if he were deaf.

Beggar—Kind, sir, would you give me a dime for a bed?

A. J. H.—Let's see the bed first.

There was a young girl from Missouri, Who took her case to the jury.

She said: "Car 93 has injured my knee,"

And the jury said: "We're from Missouri."

"Why do hens lay eggs?"

"Because if they dropped 'em they would break."

It seems that some young inventor would help some of the campus shieks quite a bit by the invention of some sort of "mouth-lock." It must be rather embarrassing to wake in the morning and find that you have called "her name" so affectionately in the hearing of your roommate several times during the night.—Ex.

STUDENTS LISTEN TO LEESBURG MAN

Dr. MacKenzie Talks on Education;
Many Students There

The week of November 19 has been set aside as National Education week during which drives and campaigns are taking place in the interest of better education. The movement is receiving capital support from the people of Winter Park.

A meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association was held in the High School Auditorium last Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock, at which the public was cordially invited to attend.

Miss Edwards, head of the committee on gardening spoke about the extensive plans that are being made for the improvement of the Winter Park High School. Many citizens have already contributed their services to help carry these plans out. A budget has been made to provide a distribution of funds in beautifying the school yard, building a playground, and planting gardens, which are to be cared for by the younger children.

Mrs. Eldridge Hart, Athletic Director of Women at Rollins College, said in connection with the plans she has made for a playground, "Much time and thought has been spent by the committee in an attempt to make a model playground in Winter Park to be located behind the high school, I hope to make it the best in the State of Florida. Saturday will be National Physical Education Day at which time a demonstration of playground work will be given at high school."

The support and co-operation of every person in Winter Park is needed to have these plans materialize. When one realizes that a "Boy without a playground is like a Man without a job," it is easy to see the significance of this present lack. A number of slides showing conditions in other cities were shown and explained by Mrs. Hart.

According to the rating chart of the National Education Association on which the school with perfect health and recreation facilities is given 100%, we find that Winter Park has only 30% of efficiency. This is the condition that is to be corrected in the near future.

An able supervisor is the greatest asset a playground can have. In all probabilities some of Mrs. Hart's pupils in College will aid in the work of supervising this year. There is such a vast field and need of men and women to do this work that undoubtedly a course in playground work will be given in the future at Rollins.

The meeting was brought to a close by Dr. MacKenzie, of Leesburg, Fla., a strong supporter of the movement, who stressed the value and need of a good education and good teachers as a means of moulding children into the best possible men and women.

B. W.—Why don't you give yours to two ladies!

metal work on each sled really a single piece, capable of withstanding all manner of strains and wrenches. The sleds are then dipped and sprayed with paint and varnish, giving them a beautiful finish and protection from the elements.

Brake Is Feature

The feature of these sleds is the patented brake on each one, a feature only on sleds made by the Royal Blue Glider corporation. This brake is operated by a lever near the front of the sled, which causes two metal parts to drag in the snow or ice, efficiently reducing the traction of the runners and brakeing the sled.

Orders for these sleds have been received from all parts of the United States and Canada, and also from Europe, proving that Laurel is becoming widely known in the toy manufacturing world, said E. Reinboldt, general manager of the company. He added, that if orders keep coming in as they have been doing for the past few weeks, that the capacity of the plant, which is now 300 sleds every ten hours, will have to be increased three-fold by the first of the year.

Molded Metal Toys

Molded metal toys are made on the second floor of the plant by a separate organization, the Krazifor American Toys company. These include such things as soldiers, animals and novelties of all sorts. Mr. Reinboldt stated that the most popular of these is a novelty known as the "Jumping Jockey," which consists of a jockey with heavily leaded feet. There is a horse with a springboard some distance behind. By placing the jockey on the springboard and releasing a trigger, he turns a somersault in the air and lands on the horse's back.

The plant is laid out in what is known as the straight-line system—a system which receives the raw material at one end and turns out the finished product at the other. The plant has ideal facilities for handling shipments in large quantities, both of raw material and manufactured product. There is a spur of the railroad running the entire length of the building, providing space for several cars to be loaded and unloaded simultaneously.

Advertise Laurel to World

Should the manufacture of toys in this section of the United States prove a success, as every indication now points, Laurel will become known the world over as a toy manufacturing center. Mr. Reinboldt said: "At the present time the toy industry is confined to the northern states, but there is no reason why Southern Mississippi should not lead the nation in such a line."

The Central Freight association is now considering the adjustment of freight rates on toys as well as sleds, Mr. Reinboldt said, which feature is one of the most important to any industry located in the south.

The factory and production organization under the leadership of Mr. Reinboldt and his capable assistants works as smoothly as could be expected considering that labor here has to be educated and trained for the new kind of machinery.

The State College of Washington is enforcing a rule prohibiting smoking on the campus for all students, faculty and college employees.
