DELPHIC ARGUMENT COMING WEDNESDAY

Definite Date Set for Next Wednesday Night by Committee

The long expected debate on the League of Nations and the Bok Peace Award will take place next Wednesday night at Delphic meeting, according to the announcement of the program committee of the literary society.

A team of freshmen and juniors will clash with senior-soph lawyers. A large crowd is expected to turn out for the debate which will begin at 7:45. Music and other features of entertainment will be on Wednesday night's program, it is reported.

Progress on the plans for developing a strong Rollins debating team for inter-collegiate debating has been made this week by Potter and Johnston who head the movement. Their plans will probably be made public after the debate next week.

Sandspur and Record Send Representatives To Press Breakfast

Over 400 Rotarians and Editors Attend Rotarian Breakfast

Over 400 Rotarians, editors and other guests attended the tenth annual Press Breakfast given by the Tampa Rotary Club for the editors of Florida at the Tampa Bay Hotel in Tampa Saturday night. The breakfast was pronounced the most successful in the history of the Cigar city. No expense was spared by the Rotary club in providing entertainment for its guests from 8 o'clock in the evening until 1:15 the following morning when the affair finally broke up. Rollins was represented by A. J. Hanson.

College Editors Go To Lakeland Meeting

The college and university editors of Florida will meet at Lakeland on the fifteenth of this month at the annual session of the Florida Collegiate Press association.

As far as can be learned all college publications in Florida will send representatives. Editor Hanson, of the Alligator, expects to depart from Gainesville in time to take in the Lakeland gathering. The Flambeau, at the Florida State College for Women, has always been represented before and it is thought that this year will see a repetition. C. W. Duke, Jr., editor of the Stetson Collegiate has not been heard from at press time, but will without doubt be present with the rest. The Sandspur will probably send two representatives.

It is expected that much will be accomplished at the Lakeland convention. The Florida Collegiate Press association will be placed on a permanent working basis if plans are carried out.

T. L. D. CAGEMEN WIN APOPKA GAME; LOSE TO DRAGONS

MORE GAMES SCHEDULED

T. L. D. Tossers Hopes of Winning Inter-Frat Cup

The T. L. D. quintette went down in defeat before the fast Dragon five of Orlando last Friday night at the Memorial high school gym in Orlando. The game was the roughest that the boys have played this year. It was hard fought from whistle to whistle. Vickery of the Dragons started things off with a goal from mid-floor. Thomas immediately came back with one under the basket. From then on it was a hard fight. Just before the half ended Parker dropped one in making the score 17-15 in favor of the T. L. D. In the second half the boys just couldn't seem to get going and the game ended with the Dragons leading 29-34.

Saturday night the T. L. D.'s journeyed to Apopka and engaged the Apopka Bearcats in a hard fought game. The game was played on an open air court and it took the boys quite a while to get warmed up. The first half ended 4-4. The boys let loose and the game ended with the Bearcats tagging 18-6. The treatment received at Apopka was good.

IRVING BACHELLER TO SPEAK SUNDAY

Will Deliver Chapel Association Lecture Beginning at 8 P. M.

Irving Bacheller, well known author and president of the Chapel Association, will speak at the Methodist church next Sunday night, February 10, beginning at 8 o'clock, on "The Quest of Happiness."

Mr. Bacheller's address will be the fifth presented this year under the auspices of the Chapel association. As head of the Chapel association, Mr. Bacheller has been instrumental in securing this season's speakers, and has finally consented to speak himself. Mr. Bacheller did not speak last year though he was urged to appear by the college and citizens of Winter Park.

Irving Bacheller always spends his winters in Winter Park at his winter home "Gate o' the Isles" on Lake Maitland.

Several other lectures on Sundays following the tenth of February are at present scheduled by the program committee. The names of these speakers will be announced later.

It cannot be stated with certainty at this time as to whether or not Edwin Markham will speak under the auspices of the Chapel association this year. Last winter Mr. Markham gave such a lecture at the college auditorium.

It is expected that Mr. Bacheller will speak to a very large audience Sunday night. College authorities advise those desiring seats to come early.

RAY GREENE TO AGAIN DIRECT AQUATIC MEET

Swimmers Gather at Rollins During Last Week in April.

Raymond W. Greene, who organized the first Interscholastic Aquatic meet and who has always directed the meets since that time, will again direct the 1924 meet which will be held at Rollins during the last week in April, according to this week's announcement of the governing committee of the State Interscholastic Aquatic meet to the newspapers of the state.

Mr. Greene is now the A. A. U. commissioner for this district, formerly serving as athletic director of Rollins college. Though busy with plans for the preliminary tryouts for Florida and the southeast, he was found willing to assist in putting on this big aquatic event. He has started work on plans for the 1924 meet and plans to make it the biggest in the history of the college, according to the announcement given out by the governing committee.

Starting with seven teams in 1920 and a few over fifty contestants, last year's teams numbered thirty-one and nearly two hundred and fifty contestants and alternates. High school swimmers have lowered records every year and continue to train for further record breaking. Reports coming from many sections of Florida indicate that teams are already preparing for the big meet in April.

The annual Interscholastic Aquatic meet at Rollins is one of the most looked forward to events on the calendar. Winter Park and Orlando turn out in a body to witness the swimming and other races in lake Virginia and year by year the crowds grow larger. Orlando copped the boy's meet last year, while the girl's events were won by Hillsboro High, of Tampa.

The announcement that Commissioner Greene is to direct this year's meet will be welcome news to the Press Meet Invitations to Be Mailed This Week

Program Committee About to Complete Plans, Says Chairman

Invitations to attend the press meet which will be held at Rollins on the twenty-third will be mailed today and tomorrow to the high school editors of the state if the printer finishes the printing job in time, according to the announcement of the entertainment committee Wednesday afternoon.

Every editor in the state will receive an invitation to come to the meeting at Rollins. These special invitations are being sent to follow up the general invitations issued by The Sandspur during the past few weeks.

Famous Poet Evades Reception Committee at Station

Edwin Markham, America's leading poet, who will be at Rollins all thru the month of February to deliver a course of lectures on poetry, arrived in Winter Park Sunday night from Jacksonville, missed the reception committee at the station and went immediately to the Tau Lambda Delta house where he is staying during his visit in Winter Park.

Mr. Markham spoke for the first time in Orlando Tuesday night at the high school auditorium on the uses and nature of poetry. A large audience greeted the poet at his first lecture. On Wednesday afternoon he delivered the first of his Winter Park lectures at the Woman's club and appeared there again last night for the last lecture this week. Next week he will speak on Monday and Wednesday afternoons beginning at 4 o'clock and on Tuesday and Thursday nights beginning at 8, all lectures to be at the Woman's club building unless otherwise arranged.

Students will be admitted to all Markham lectures on Student association tickets. Others may secure a season ticket for $5 or single tickets for 75 cents.

REV. GEORGE IRVING ADDRESSES ROLLINS

Speaker is Secretary of International Y. M. C. A. Committee

Rev. George Irving, a Canadian, and the secretary of the international committee of the Y. M. C. A., gave an inspiring address Sunday night in Knowles Hall at Rollins College on "God's way of accomplishing big things in this world."

"Everyone wants to do something in the world that will survive," began Rev. Irving, "and there is no such thing as a short cut to anything worth while, for God's way is the only way." He then went on to explain what he meant by God's way. God's way of doing things is to inspire a certain individual or group of individuals with His own spirit to advance or accomplish its ends. He first took for examples certain instances in the Old Testament which he said "is as contemporaneous as the morning newspaper and infinitely more vital." Moses was inspired with God's spirit to lead his people into the promised land. Other examples in the Old Testament are David, the prophets, and John. Jesus Christ is, of course, the best example of God's spirit dwelling in a human life in order to further God's ideas on earth. "Jesus was a man and he dwelt among men," said Rev. Irving. "Jesus came close to us in his ministry. He knew rich and poor, aged and youth, alike." A word to the young ones in the audience was next given. "Don't be worried if you can't understand all about the relation

FINAL EXAMS OVER

The second semester has begun at last. Quite a few Rollins students had difficulty in passing the required number of hours last week, but the trying ordeal is now over. Flunkers can devote the rest of the year to forgetting all about the past until another day of reckoning comes next May. Then cramming will again reign on the campus and many a midnight kilowatt will be burned in order to pass a final examination.

Probably final examinations will be abolished in the course of time—some colleges and universities having already discarded the final system—but this will take time. We believe that finals are more or less useless, that there is a better system. Higher standards for daily work will accomplish far more than all the examinations the faculty can give. What little is learned by cramming is soon forgotten and no permanent learning results. However, it happens that at Rollins examinations are a necessary evil and probably will be for a good many years. It is up to students to adapt themselves to the existing system.

A REPETITION

As we write this we know that nothing has been done toward repairing the clay tennis court in front of Pinehurst. We have heard a few rumors which might lead one to believe that something is being done, but doubt if they have any foundation. "Better late than never" is not such a bad motto to adopt and carry out in this case.

It seems The Southern took objection to some of the statements made in a recent issue of The Sandspur regarding the Rollins-Southern basketball game in Lakeland. The Sandspur did not give Southern much credit for good conduct either before, at or after the game. The sports writer who wrote the account of the affair for us came back in a bad mood and passed Southern quite a number of rather doubtful compliments. Southern now claims we misrepresented facts.

Without doubt The Southern has grounds for its claims. It would have been better to have forgotten the difficulties which arose in Lakeland as nothing was gained by airing them. Probably both Rollins and Southern are to blame to some extent. We are, in fact, certain that such is the case.

After investigating more fully we will give a more detailed report of the controversy.

TO KEEP HEALTHY

More people lose their pep and health in college than anywhere else in the period of training which precedes the work of life, and are consequently handicapped to a great extent in the race for success in spite of the superior training college has afforded them. Few lose their strength thru too much study. As a general rule, carelessness and ignorance of the rules of health bring about evil.

Consequently the following rules, proposed by Royal S. Copeland, United States Senator and former Health Commissioner of the city of New York, might well be adopted and followed by every student. Cut them out and stick them on the face of the clock:

I solemnly promise that on each and every day I will spend at least one hour in the open air, in walking or in some other form of physical exercise.

I further promise that I will take at least twenty minutes for my mid-day meal, that is lunch, or thirty minutes if the meal is dinner.

I will give myself at least a half hour for removing the day's dirt and for the rest before sitting down to my evening meal.

I will sleep two hours before midnight, and at least six hours thereafter, in a room ventilated by an open window, both winter and summer.

I will refrain from harmful excesses in the use of candy, tobacco, medicines, rich food and from any practice that will lower my resistance and leave me liable to disease.

I will do only such things that make for my health and my neighbor's health. I will refrain from doing anything that may damage me or do harm to my fellowman.

I set myself high standards of living, and by clean lines of mind and body will make this year better than any previous year in my life.—Wyoming Branding Iron.

OTHER EDITORS SAY

Ideas of a University.

University and college education has been a favorite subject of attack by editorial writers and critics. There has been so much misrepresentation that it deserves a fair explanation. In his latest book, "The World in Falseface," George Jean Nathan asserts that the American college is a social institution before it is an institution of learning; a finishing school before it is a laboratory. The author goes on to say that if the American university does not teach a man wisdom, it at least teaches him how to loiter thru life gracefully, and how to make the other man do his work for him, and how to laugh and sing, and how to make love, and how to remember just a little more romantically than the other man, and how to smile tolerantly and pleasantly at his critics.

Altho this noted dramatic critic is considered well informed on American life, his bold statements do not seem justified by the average college student. A direct quotation from one of Newman's famous Dublin lectures seems appropriate here as an admirable exposition of the university idea.

"A university training is the great ordinary means to a great but ordinary end; it aims at raising the intellectual tone of society, at cultivating the public mind, at purifying the national taste, at supplying true principles to popular enthusiasm and fixed aims to popular aspiration, at giving enlargement and sobriety to the ideas of age, at facilitating the exercise of political power, and refining the intercourse of private life.

It is the education which gives a man a clear, conscious view of his own opinions and judgments, a truth in developing them, an eloquence in expressing them, and a force in urging them.

"It teaches him to see things as they are, to go right to the point, to disentangle a skein of thought, to detect what is sophistical, and to discard what is irrelevant.

"It prepares him to fill any post with credit and to master any subject with facility. It shows him how to accommodate himself to others, how to throw himself into their state of mind, how to bring before them his own, how to influence them, how to come to an understanding with them, how to bear with them. He has a gift which serves him in public, and supports him in retirement, without which good fortune is but vulgar, and with which failure and disappointment have a charm." Iowa State Student.

ASKS AUTHORITIES TO UPHOLD FOOTBALL CODE

A suggestion that college authorities can and should correct dangers that threaten college football is contained in the 1923 report of E. K. Hall, of Dartmouth, chairman of the football rules committee, to the National Collegiate A. A.

"If there are any dangers threatening the prestige or good name of the game," he declared, "they are not, in our opinion, of such nature that they can be averted by a mere framing of rules."

Mr. Hall urged the N. C. A. A. to work through the academic and athletic officials of the colleges in upholding the football code, stating that the apparently unlimited increase in general interest and support necessitated vigilance in preserving the good name and integrity of the sport.

"The responsibility," he continued, "rests on the friends of this greatest of academic sports to make certain, not only that the game while being played, is kept free from unfair and unsportsmanlike tactics, but that the preparations for the football season and the development of the teams are equally free from anything which savors of unfair competition and unsportsmanlike tactics."

"The game itself is played in the open and under the supervision of officials who will not tolerate unfair tactics. If the preparations for the season and the building up of teams are likewise made in the open and under the supervision of academic officials who will neither tolerate unsportsmanlike practices or standards in their own institutions by approving schedules on which appear teams whose first concern is having a strong team and whose last concern is how they get it, the efforts of the rules committee to make the game a good one will be powerfully supplemented."

The rules committee has put itself on record as opposed now to making any fundamental changes in regulating the gridiron game.—Contributed to Prof's Corner.

INTERESTING SCOUT NEWS SENT OUT BY OFFICIALS

At a meeting of the scout executives of the 8th Region, which includes North and South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, one of the objectives was to put over scouting by adding 6000 scouts to the southeastern district, each council in the district was named a quota which it was to meet. The number of scouts which the Central Florida council should register before the first of September amounted to 537. At headquarters today we learned that this full quota had been reached, and that the registration of Maitland Troop No. 1 carried the figures over the top.

of God and Jesus, for it is even very difficult to understand your own relation to your own father," he said.

Next Rev. Irving gave examples of great men who have stood out for centuries who were once inspired of God to accomplish their great works.

Abraham Lincoln was inspired by God to free the slaves. It also was God's spirit that dwelt in William Booth, when he went about to make the slums of our great cities better places to live in. "In fact, every good cause is inspired by a person filled with the spirit of the living God."

"The teaching profession is a great work," said Rev. Irving, and all teachers should dwell with God in spirit and should be able, through this, to radiate forth this spirit in their work.

"Parents by dwelling with God will be able to teach their children the love of Jesus Christ. For Jesus came into the world to live God's love there."

By way of conclusion Rev. Irving said: "Even you and I may be conductors of God, for His spirit may dwell in every one of us, for that's God's way. Will you think of it?"

Replies to the announcements of The Sandspur are daily arriving at the office of A. J. Hanna, publicity manager. It is thought that letters accepting the invitation of the college will begin to pour into the office late next week. Arrangements for housing visiting journalists are now being completed.

Strickland Gillilan, well known humorist, will act as toastmaster at the banquet in the evening, as was previously stated. Prof. Hill, head of the department of journalism, has a number of surprises up his sleeve which he hopes to spring Saturday evening.

HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT PROHIBITION?

The Yale News is Conducting a Student Referendum

The Yale News is circulating the following prohibition ballot among the students of American colleges and universities, and it is proposed to submit the results of this referendum to the leading political parties when they assemble in convention this spring. In order to do this the results of the referendum must be submitted to the Yale News by the twentieth of March, so that they may be announced by March twenty-fifth.

The Sandspur is printing this ballot to secure the student vote at Rollins college. Cut out the ballot, place an X where it should be according to your views and deposit it in the Sandspur box in Carnegie hall. Please write your name on the ballot. The Sandspur makes this request in order to prevent stuffing the ballot box. Your name will be kept secret.

The results of the referendum at Rollins will be announced as soon as possible.

YALE NEWS PROHIBITION BALLOT (Vote on one proposition only. Put X in square.)

Novel Method of Earning Expenses

A Sophomore at the Colorado Agriculture College is earning all of his college expenses by making and selling trout flies. He adopted this occupation six years ago in his leisure time and has found it to be remunerative as well as interesting. His market extends through Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Wyoming.

Exam week worries at Coe College, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, were discarded when the entire college turned out at the Fluker's frolic dance. Two orchestras, one playing in the Quadrangle and the other in the gym, furnished the music and dancers had an opportunity to select their favorite musicians. A prize to the orchestra which "passes the best examination" was awarded after the affair. Flukers were admitted free.

Hereafter the editor of Silver and Gold, student publication at the University of Colorado, will be appointed instead of being elected by a general vote of the students as in the past, if the reform campaign recently instituted at the university is successful.

VALPARAISO UNIVERSITY DENIES AFFILIATIONS WITH THE KU KLUX KLAN

South Bend, Ind., (Special)—Early in the fifty-first year of its life, Valparaiso University, situated in Valparaiso, one of northern Indiana's beautiful cities, is taking steps to correct the misinformation sent out last summer that it was about to be taken over by the Ku Klux Klan. A committee composed of former students, the membership of which is country-wide, is being organized to carry this into effect. On its stationery and in a conspicuous place on every document which the committee or the University issues is printed "To perpetuate Valparaiso University as a great independent, impartial, non-sectarian educational institution, not privately owned, and allied with no lodge, racial group or religious denomination."

It is certain this will be very good news to its 100,000 or more former students and graduates now scattered all over the United States and in foreign lands, many of them conspicuous and most progressive citizens in their communities. Exactly how many students Valparaiso University has had might be difficult to ascertain but reliable authority places it at about 122,000. The university is endeavoring to ascertain the names and addresses of all former students and will appreciate assistance from them in this endeavor.

Some time ago, wide circulation was given to a statement to the effect that Valparaiso University was about to be taken over by the Ku Klux Klan. This report created indignation among former students and among friends of the University which had had such a long career of great usefulness. However, the report now seems to have served a good purpose for staunch friends came to the support of the University and today there is every reason to believe that before long it will be re-established in its former glory and that it faces a greater power for educational good than ever.

SUNDAY SPEAKING TOUR

Merle Weaver, Robert Chandler, A. Krohle and Pop Donaldson talked at the Baptist, Methodist and Congregational Sunday schools and at the Methodist and Congregational churches Sunday morning in Apopka and conducted a revival service in Mt. Dora in the afternoon, under the auspices of the local Y. M. C. A. which is sending men contemplating study for the ministry to Orange county churches nearly every Sunday this year. Mr. Mileham, Orange county secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Messrs. Allison and Dye, of Orlando, and Mr. Knight, of Winter Park, made the trip possible for these Rollins men and accompanied them to Apopka and Mt. Dora.

Following the revival service in Mt. Dora, a Hi-Y club was organized by interested listeners in the audience, Donaldson and his men assisting.

Dozens of Mt. Dora people told the Rollins speakers that the revival service was the best they had ever attended, according to local Y officers. The four were royally entertained and were invited to return as soon as possible.

These Sunday speaking tours will be continued as often as possible, says Donaldson.

Aaron Shreve and Brandt Watson spent the week-end in New Smyrna at the home of Watson.

Herbert Thayer spent the week-end with his relatives in Babson Park.

Helen, Ada and Margaret McKay were in Tampa for the fair.

Jimmie Shoesmith and Jack Evans "bummed" over to New Smyrna Monday.

Ted Carroll and Guy Colado left Sunday night for Tampa.

"Sap" Draa was planning on going home to Mims, "The city of opportunities" but owing to difficulties which confronted him his plans were forwarded until some future date.

"Sheik" Weaver was also planning on accompanying "Sap" to Mims. He was gonna knock 'em cold.

It seems that Rollins may lose Ray More next year, as he has expressed the idea in writing to the University of Havana as to prospects of playing football there.

Shorty Draa returned from Mims and reports a big financial boom. Another family moved into town and two more are going to build.

Flo Bumby arrived on the campus Monday afternoon for a short visit.

Ted McGowan and Johnny Bostwick tried out Tampa as a sheiking ground over the week-end.

Hardin Branch, Ramon Colado and Weber Haines took in the fair and Gasparilla at Tampa for 5 hectic days.

Eva Missildine and Frances Montgomery spent the week-end in Gainesville with Fern Dakin.

Ruth Amy filled in the time between semesters at her home in Sebring. Eva Jones, Gretchen Harrell and Madeline Leinard went home with Hildgarde Robinson for the week-end.

Louise Harris and Ethel Evans spent the week-end in Okeechobee with Pearl Pierce.

Fay Hall dashed madly to the telephone, stuck her pencil in the mouth-piece and energetically turned the crank—then wondered why her pencil didn't have a point when she took it out. Ain't love grand?

ROUS CONCERT AT CONSERVATORY FEB. 12

The student association of Rollins college will present Marion Rous, pianist, in her lecture-recital, "Concerning Programme Music," on February 12 at 8:15 P. M., Knowles Hall.

Miss Rous, known throughout the country as a brilliant pianist and lecturer, has just made a most successful appearance in Aeolian Hall, New York, where the critics acclaimed her one of the foremost modernists of the day.

na, of the Alumni Record, and H. S. Mosher, Jr., of The Sandspur.

Following "sweet noise" by the Collins Jazz Band, the "breakfast" began and during the banquet C. C. (Teddy) Nott, president of the Rotary club, delivered the address of welcome. J. E. Worthington, Lake Wales Highlander, responded for the editors. Radio news from the top of the banquet hall, the main dining room of the hotel, was heard at intervals all thru the evening. Music from the Collins jazz artists kept the editors in high spirits thruout the meeting, while chorus girls of every description helped to liven things up, appearing as they did every fifteen minutes.

Prizes were awarded at 10:00, The Sandspur drawing the second capital prize which happened to be $25 worth of type from the American Type Founders. However, the actual type was not awarded as it would have been too heavy to carry away—a credit memo was presented instead. Souvenirs were distributed to all editors, they being Eversharp pencils, Hammermill Bond tablets, boxes of stationery, $5 memos for engraving, cigars and cigarettes, aluminum letter openers, tobacco and pipes. The Record did not draw a capital prize, though A. J. Hanna held a number next to one of the winners.

Telegrams from the president of the Anti-Saloon League expressing the hope that the editors would not violate the Volstead amendment and a long communication from William Jennings Bryan advising the Florida press of a change in his choice of a presidential candidate, same being a Tampa man, were read by the secretary of the Rotary club. The Bok Peace Award of $50,000, the second payment, was presented to one of the editors in German marks. Teddy Nott was also placed under arrest by policemen for violating the prohibition law, but was allowed to go for the evening on bail furnished by five editors.

Entertainment of every description followed. W. G. (Billy) Sutlive, editor of the Savannah Press, kept the house in a roar of laughter for half an hour with his speech on "Fluridy." Finally at five minutes of twelve B. C. Forbes, editor of Forbes Magazine, delivered the speech of the evening. At one o'clock a huge Florida orange floated out over the tables and opening in the form of a flower, revealed a well known Tampa singer who threw flowers to the editors beneath her.

This ended the most successful of all Rotary Press breakfasts.

Kenneth K. Hanson, of the Florida Alligator, was present at the breakfast.

Silence is Golden

Mother—Betty, John brought you home very late last night.

Betty—Yes, it was late, Mother. Did the noise disturb you?

Mother—No, dear, it wasn't the noise. It was the silence.—Cornell Widow.

Homer Parker singing:
 "They talk about the dates
 That leap year nights may bring,
 But the only dates I've had so far
 Are the ones I've had to ring."

Prof. Feuerstein—What does "Ja ne sais pas" mean?
 Ray More—I don't know, sir.
 Prof. Feuerstein—Correct!

Question—What do freshmen do with their week-ends?
 Answer—Hang their hats on them.

Prof. Dresch to student—Can you give me the name of a great Prussian philosopher who refuted the Ontological argument?
 Student—Can't.
 Prof. Dresch—Correct.

A speed limit sign in a near-by state

Holly-wood

He—What's you dad doing now?
 She—He's in the film business.
 He—What, acting for the movies?
 She—No, he's selling tooth paste.

Co-ed—Robert refused to recognize me today. Thinks, I suppose that I am not his equal.
 Ditto—Ridiculous! Of course you are! Why, he is nothing but a conceited idiot!

Agitated Mother—Doctor, this child has swallowed a bottle of ink.
 Doctor—Did you do anything to relieve him?
 Agitated Mother—Yes, I've made him eat three sheets of blotting paper.
 —Oracle.

She—I'm simply wild about a yacht.
 He—Er—how do you act on a motor boat?

He (rapturously)—Darling, you're simply a harbor of love.
 She (cautiously)—That's all right, but don't consider anchoring until your ship comes in.

New Professor—Please stop talking! I want to hear complete silence.

Jim—Isn't it strange that Eleanor's sister is so small, and Eleanor measures nearly six feet?
 Jam—Not very. She's only her half sister, y' know.—Thresher.

Have you ever waited for a letter from home and when the mail was delivered didn't find one, and you got sore and wrote them a mean one; saying you were going to quit school forever; and then in the afternoon you got one with a nice fat check in it?
 So have we all!

Chundler—Did you see that girl
 smile at me?
 Kroehle—Yes, she deserves credit
 for not laughing.

Blinker—My girl is like a magazine.
 Jeff—How is that?
 Blinker—Everybody's.

Cloverleaf Creed—Save the surface and you save all.

Case Warner (in a shoe store)—I would like to see a pair of shoes to fit me.

Clerk (Looking at Case's feet)—So would I.

Teamwork

It ain't the guns nor armament.
 Nor funds that they make and pay.
 But the close co-operatioun
 That makes them win the day.
 It ain't the individual, nor the Army
 as a whole,
 But the everlasting team-work of every blooming soul.

—Kipling.

Her father was a forty-niner,
 This dear little girl in blue,
 So she follows the family's profession,
 And she's a gold digger too.

—Virginia Tech

A scientist has recently shown that no hair can grow where there is much action. This explains why men become bald and women never grow chin-whiskers.—Virginia Tech.

Yes, Quite.

Freshman—Did you ever study a blotter?
 Sophomore—Of course not!
 Freshman—Very absorbing thing.

Nervous passenger in aeroplane 5000 feet above earth—What are you laughing at, driver?

Driver—I'm just laughing at the superintendent. About this time he'll be looking all over the asylum for me.—Arizona Wildcat.

 at a dance.

Ah, Harriette,
 I can't forget
 The day we met.

How I regret
 The day you set
 And et and et.

I'm paying yet
 For what you et—
 Ah, such a debt!
 —Branding Iron.

Consider the Daschhound,
 Oh, woe to the beast;
 He trots on four legs
 When he needs six at least.

Rook—I would like to try out for the dramatic society here on the campus.

Soph—Have you had any experience?

Rook—Oh, my yes, I had my leg in a cast once.—Orange Owl.

The new chauffeur was extremereticent. In fact, his mistress thought him bashful.

"Won't you tell me your last name, John?"

"No'm; just call me John."

"Well, may I know what your last name is?"

"No'm; you'd better not."

"I insist upon calling you by your last name!"

"All right, then. Call me Darling."

—Columns.

Prof. West—Utopia was a land where everything was perfect.

Joe Durkee—I don't want to go to Utopia then.

Prof. West—And why, Joe?

Joe—'Cause, there wouldn't be any girls there.

St. Peter—Step into the elevator please. Where are you from.

Student—Rollins College.

St. Peter—Ever hand in any jokes to The Sandspur?

Student—No. When do we go up?

St. Peter—We don't go up; we go down!

The real fraternity man is one who wears another frat pin on his shirt in
