Annual Founders' Day Exercises Will Start Next Sunday Evening, 8 P. M.

UNION PROGRAM SLATED

Will Celebrate Thirty-ninth Anniversary Founding of Rollins

Sunday evening in Knowles Hall, beginning at 8 o'clock will be held the annual Founders' Day exercises. The greater part of the program will be devoted to the discussion of the Rollins Union project. Representative committees from the Northern Presbyterians (of the U. S. A.), Southern Presbyterians (of the U. S. A.) and Congregationalists will be at the meeting and will speak on the Rollins Union, in which these three church bodies are co-operating for the future of the college.

The speakers and their subjects have not been announced at the time of going to press. It is known that representatives from each church body will take part in the discussion, but their names have not been disclosed.

In addition to the discussion of the Rollins Union project, there will be appropriate music on the program Sunday evening. The conservatory is staging the musical entertainment, it has been learned.

The committee in charge of Sunday night's program will make further announcements through the daily papers. All friends of Rollins and people interested in the future development of the college are cordially invited to be present. Plans for the future development of Rollins with the co-operation of the three churches will be discussed fully and it is expected that all students and most of the citizens of Winter Park will be interested in knowing about the progress of the Rollins Union and what will take place in the future.

GARLAND PLEADS FOR DECENT AMERICANISM

Speaker Deplores Evil Influence of Moveis and Radical Writers

"As a craftsman I intend to spend the last few years remaining to me in upholding the family, marriage, decency, decorum and real progress," said Hamlin Garland, well known author, in closing his address on present day conditions while speaking under the auspices of the Chapel association Sunday night.

Forty years ago Hamlin Garland went to Boston to begin his literary career. He was poor, lived in an attic and was "a pretty green, raw, aspiring specimen," according to his story. Conditions confronting authorship at that time were different from those of today. Magazines were few and of a high class. "When I began to write stories, such men as Howells, Fields, Alden and Gilder passed on them. Magazines were of a character to be bound and set on library shelves. In those days life was more reflective,"

TOMOKAN WANTS ALL KINDS OF SNAPSHOTS DURING NEXT WEEK

The Tomokan staff has issued a call for snapshots for the college year book and asks that all students having suitable pictures turn them in to Eva Jones or Kay Beall without delay. Snapshots must be sent to the engraver very soon, members of the staff state, and only a few have been secured thus far. All discounts on photo-engraving for the Tomokan have been lost, as the last discount expired February first. Under the contract with the printers, not much time remains to get in work requiring photo-engraving, even at full prices, and the staff is asking for co-operation from students.

EDITORS ARRIVE FOR PRESS MEET TOMORROW

A Few Visiting Journalists Are Expected Here Today

Visiting high school editors from all over the state of Florida will arrive tomorrow morning at Rollins in time to attend the convention, which will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. They will be honored guests at the Sandspur banquet tomorrow evening at the Commons. A few of the visiting scribes are expected to arrive today.

At tomorrow afternoon's meeting, problems of high school journalism will be discussed by representatives from various papers. It is the aim of the program committee to make the meeting as interesting and instructive as possible. Prof. J. H. Hill, head of the department of journalism, will speak on "The Fundamentals of Journalism." He will also have charge of the meeting. Herbert S. Mosher, editor of The Sandspur, will tell of the work of the Florida Collegiate Press association. Questions for general discussion will be brought up by the visitors.

FAMOUS HUMORIST SPEAKS NEXT THURSDAY EVE

Strickland W. Gillilan, author, journalist and humorist, will speak at 8 o'clock next Thursday evening, February 28, at the Woman's club.

Mr. Gillilan first came before the American public when he wrote Finnigin, including that famous line, "Off agin, on agin, gone agin, Finnigin." Since then he has written a number of books, including: You and Me, Sunshine and Awkwardness, and A Sample Case of Humor.

He has been a reporter, city editor, staff correspondent and special contributor on the staff of a number of leading newspapers. Since 1905 he has been a regular contributor to Judge. As a writer of humorous stories and verse, Mr. Gillilan has no equal. He is ex-president of the American Press Humorists.

The subject of Mr. Gillilan's talk Thursday night has not been announced, but it will of course be humorous. He will appear under the auspices of Phi Alpha fraternity, proceeds to go to the building fund.

Chase Hall Tossers Lose Game with Phi Alpha Five 19 to 21

FLASHY PLAYING THRUOUT

Phi Alphas and Chase Hold Lead by Turns; Game Close

Monday night in Lyman gymnasium the Phi Alphas edged out Chase hall in the closest game that has been played yet in the inter-fraternity tournament. The game was a fight from whistle to whistle. The first quarter ended 2-0 for the Phi Alphas, they dropping one in by a pretty piece of team work just before the whistle. The second quarter found Chase leading 12-8, but they were unable to maintain this lead in the third quarter. Both teams showed very good pass work, altho the shooting was below the average. The third quarter ended 15-15. In the fourth quarter neither team slowed up and the outcome was always in doubt. Just before the final whistle, with the score tied, Colado dropped in a long one, making the score 21-19 for the Phi Alphas.

The playing of Wilson and Colado was best for Chase, while R. Colado and Bowers, a new man, starred for the Phi Alphas. The Phi Alphas have a wonderful find in Bowers. He is an accurate shot, he dribbles deceptively and his passing is hard and sure. He furnishes just what has been lacking in the team, a man to work the ball down the floor.

CITY CHURCHES WILL HOLD SPECIAL SERVICES ON SUNDAY MORNING

College in Charge; Ex-Chancellor McCormick at Methodist Church

Winter Park's churches will conduct special services Sunday morning commemorating the thirty-ninth anniversary of the founding of Rollins College. The college will be in charge of the services. Samuel Black McCormick, ex-chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, will speak at the Methodist church Sunday morning.

The programs at all churches will be devoted to the problems of Christian education. It has long been the custom for the churches of the city to conduct special services for Founders' Week. Methodist, Baptist, Congregational and Episcopal churches have all issued special invitations to college students and others to be present at their particular services.

Sunday evening all interested in Rollins will gather in Knowles Hall for the thirty-ninth annual Founders' Day exercises.

MARCH 7 SET AS DATE FOR FOOTBALL FORMAL BY FORMAL COMMITTEE

The Football Formal, big annual event at Rollins, has been definitely scheduled for March 7 by the Football Formal committee. All students are expected to attend and the committee urges that tickets, which may be secured for $2, be purchased as soon as possible. Invitations are being mailed to citizens of Winter Park and Orlando. Each fraternity, sorority and dormitory will invite several additional guests. Those on the committee are: Margaret McKay, Lorraine Paige, Kay Beall, Ken Warner, Robert Donaldson, Six Sutliff, Herbert Thayer and Prof. Hart.

OSCEOLA PLANS RETURN TO OLD-TIME HAUNTS

Seminole Chief Steps from Canoe This Afternoon at 3

Osceola, one time chieftain of all the Seminoles, will cross Lake Osceola this afternoon with five of his warriors and will step from his canoe at 5 o'clock at the Brewer estate where he will conduct the afternoon's program.

Mr. Robinson of Wheeling, West Virginia, Senator James E. MacMurray and William Constock, Rollins trustee and well known winter resident of Winter Park, will speak during the afternoon. Osceola will introduce the speakers to the crowd which will be assembled on the shores of the lake.

Following the addresses by these leading public men, Fleetwood Peoples will stage a program of aquatic sports on the lake. Aquaplaning, canoe tilting and other features will be on the program.

This afternoon's celebration will open at 2 o'clock when the band will start playing, but Osceola will not arrive for an hour, according to the existing program, and the speakers will not address their audience until after that time. There will be no charge for admittance this afternoon, the celebration being absolutely free to every one.

This evening at the Dyer Memorial amphitheatre will be presented a festival of "Songs and Dances of Three Nations." This is also open to the public.

ALUMNI HOLD BIG FEAST TOMORROW NOON

The Alumni luncheon in honor of the senior class will take place tomorrow at 12.30 P. M. at the Commons.

Warren Ingram, president of the Alumni association, will act as toastmaster at the luncheon. Kenneth Warner will deliver the response for the seniors after which the affair will get under way. Dr. Baker, director of the Rollins museum, will give a report on his work during the past year and will tell of what the future holds for the museum.

The Alumni luncheon in honor of the seniors has long been an annual event at Rollins.

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

WELCOME, EDITORS

Welcome to Rollins, high school editors! May your short stay here be pleasant, interesting and worth while. The Sandspur staff is glad to see you and will do everything possible to see that you are entertained.

We want you to feel perfectly at home at Rollins. You are the guests of the college and we are trying to make your visit a pleasant one. It may be one of you will some day direct The Sandspur. Once again we bid you welcome.

ROLLINS' FUTURE

Founders' week brings up the thought of what the future may hold in store for Rollins. For thirty-nine years now the college has been growing more or less steadily, but it seems that rapid strides will be taken during the next few years. Rollins will, if everything goes as planned, become the leading college of the state. There is nothing to hold it back when once the long awaited and badly needed financial boost arrives. With the best location in the state, which Rollins has without question, and with strong financial backing, which seems to be assured, Rollins will grow in size, in importance and in reputation until it becomes one of the leading colleges in the United States.

Probably we will never become Rollins university. This is another subject which cannot be discussed here, but it seems it is better that we remain a high grade college with a limited enrollment, retaining all the distinctive advantages of such an institution.

So remember that the future looks bright and boost Rollins wherever and whenever possible. It should be a worth while task, to help your college to the position which will ultimately be attained.

OTHER EDITORS SAY

Dollars, Not Classics.

H. G. Wells, in a recent article, notes with dismay and derision the "revival of classical teaching in our schools and colleges." Discussing the need of "modern" education he says:

"The uncritical cant that sustains us about the peerless beauty of Greek art, Greek character, the massive wisdom and integrity of Roman law administration has been and still is a blight upon the creative impulses of modern life. In the schools and in colleges, to the sort of man who will generally impart it, it must be always a deadening grammatical grind."

"It consumes the scanty time of our youth, tears up the time table so that any effectual broadening study of other things cannot co-exist with it; it presents the history of mankind grotesquely out of perspective; it saturates its victims with Pro-Hellenic Pro-Latin partisanship that perverts their judgment in all historical processes."

* * *

All of which is probably true, and doubtless meets with the endorsement of the average students, especially one that has been hauled through some of the courses mentioned by the noted English writer. It is doubtful, however, if there is really any revival of "classical" teaching in our schools and colleges.

* * *

Enrollment statistics show that an ever smaller percentage of students is taking up classical courses, while more and more students are turning to courses that prepare them for immediate entrance into the work of the outside world. This is particularly true of commercial and related courses, where the number of students enrolled for business work is constantly increasing, not only in this school, but in every school over the nation. The American student is preparing himself for the life-long chase of the American dollar, which may or may not please Mr. Wells as well as to have them pursuing the elusive Greek classics. Regardless, the former pursuit is the more popular, and there seems no immediate danger that the classics will "pervert the judgment" of American students, at least so far as concerns the relative value of American and foreign currencies.—The Daily Texan.

Daughter—Has my mail come yet?
Mother—Daughter, you must stop using that terrible slang."

"Help, Help!" cried the timid young thing as she ran through the field of daisies and morning glories towards her escort.

"Why, what are you afraid of?"

"Oh, Jack, dear. The flowers are so wild!"

(NOTE)—Don't try to figure it out, just go ahead and laugh—We vouch for it.)

BOY SCOUTS HONOR

WOODROW WILSON

Local Boy Scout councils throughout the United States have been urged to co-operate with other organizations in memorial services to the late Woodrow Wilson. As usher, as well as in actual participation in the past.

A special Boy Scout memorial service will be held early in March, preferable Friday, March 7th, in which many local councils and independent troops will participate. During the eight years he acted as Honorary President of the Boy Scouts of America, Mr. Wilson was an unusually sympathetic and helpful friend. He had a keen appreciation of what scouting is accomplishing in character-building and citizenship training. As an educational authority he realized the value of scouting as an educational supplement of great value.

To the boys of America, Woodrow Wilson will always be a figure of heroic proportions. He was the great War President. During the trying years of conflict, he guided the destinies of the nation. His health broke under the strain of his public duties and his life was a final sacrifice to the service of his country.

DAYTONA CONCERTS

One of the many advantages the student of music at the Rollins conservatory has is the opportunity to make a short trip over to Daytona and hear many of the most famous artists in the world. It is a unique advantage that is not enjoyed by many colleges in the Southern States, especially those that are in small towns.

The roads are good and there is always someone from the college going to Daytona who will take the student over. As it is only a two hours' journey, many of the people of Winter Park make the trip and hear every artist that appears in concert there.

This year the program cannot be excelled and is very seldom equalled in any large city in the land. The programs are exceedingly interesting in themselves and as the concerts are all under the same large New York management, the programs are varied and something new is always in store for the person taking advantage of the opportunity to hear these artists.

The artists that appeared last year were headed by Geraldine Farrar and Sergi Rachmanninoff. Sousa and his band give a concert every year, as do the comic opera companies, which this year will produce Mozart's comic opera, "Impressario."

The following artists are to play or have played this year and it is easy to see that the schedule is a fine one and a person that attends will be amply repaid for the time that it takes to make the trip:

Joseph Lhevinne, assisted by M. Margaret D'Alvarez, Jan. 28.
Annual concert of Sousa and his band, Feb. 18.
Tito Schipa, request engagement by marvellous tenor, Feb. 28.
Alberto Salvi, the world's greatest harpist, March 6.
The Ukrainian National Chorus, March 13.
Galli-Curci, the world's greatest soprano and the climax of the season, March 19.

THE UNITED STATES PATENT OFFICE AS A FIELD FOR LIFE WORK.

By Karl Fenning, Assistant Commissioner of Patents.

The Constitution of the United States provides for granting patents and as early as 1790 Congress enacted legislation for the grant of patents for inventions. The United States Patent Office as such was established in 1836 and was included in the Department of the Interior when that department was established in 1849.

A patent is granted an inventor to give him exclusive rights in the invention he discloses in his application. It is essential, therefore, that the disclosure be sufficient to instruct fully in the performance of the invention. For a great many years college graduates have gone into the Patent Office as examiners. Their function is to examine applications for patent to see what the alleged inventor thinks he has produced that is new and to see that the disclosure is complete. They then investigate the prior art as represented in patents already granted by the United States and various foreign countries and by the descriptions in technical literature. The invention claimed by the applicant to be new is compared with what is found to be old and a patent is finally allowed by the examiner if the application in fact claims a new invention.

A good examiner should have enough curiosity to make him want to know the patents and prior publications relating to the particular devices he examines and also to those in related subjects in other divisions of the Patent Office. He should have a good enough memory to be able to remember where to find a description he has seen and enough interest in procedure to enable him to acquire a knowledge of principles and decisions in patent law and a ready wit in applying them to the case in hand.

It will be readily seen that the work is extremely interesting. All sorts of things come to the United States Patent Office from the simple darning needle to the complicated steam engine or printing press; from the simple electro magnet to the most complicated system of automatic telephony or wireless transmission of intelligence; from electro-chemical or metallurgical processes to the refining of petroleum or the production of dyes or other chemicals from coal tar. The examiner gets a view and a knowledge of what is new frequently before it is introduced to the general public or even described to technical scientific societies. By protecting the interests of the public and seeing that improper patents are not granted, he performs a service to the public of the highest order, just as his service to the inventor consists in allowing to the inventor a patent sufficiently broad to give him the exclusive right to his invention. Most of our modern civilization rests on inventions and their development and there is a real joy in being one instrument of their promotion.

The positions in the examining corps of the Patent Office are filled initially from a list made up of those who pass a technical civil service examination, and promotions within the office are made on a strictly merit system. The entrance salary has been fixed by said Mr. Garland in explaining conditions of that time.

GARLAND PLEADS FOR DECENT AMERICANISM

"Today magazines are first of all advertising bulletins; the advertising is the largest part of the magazine. The editors are business agents working in connection with the advertising departments. They all seem concerned with building up the circulation of their magazines by any means in order to charge higher prices for advertising," he continued.

The United States is becoming heterogeneous and foreign, and magazines in order to appeal to these millions whose ancestors never read a line in their lives, look for the fundamentals of literature, the cheap easy stuff. Life and literature are now less reflective. Describing these magazines as similar to the modern flat, full of canned music, telephones, radio and other noises, Hamlin Garland deplored the influence of these "flat magazines" on the American public. Radio, though a great invention and possessing wonderful potentialities, is also a bad influence today, he believes. Neither "flat magazine" nor radio lead to character building or make manhood or womanhood.

The worst influence of all is the moving picture, said the speaker. "It is vulgarizing and standardizing the youth of America today." While another great potentiality, the movie in the hands of German Jews in New York city is a dangerous, debasing, corrupting influence, basing its appeal on sexual passion or war. Among the few good movies, he mentioned Abraham Lincoln and the Covered Wagon. The American people should demand a reform now, he stated.

The writing of today has gained in technique but has lost in the reflective quality of the early '90's. The young radicals, mostly of German descent, are deliberately attacking the home, marriage, chastity and maternal love. Barriers of decency and decorum mean nothing to them, said Mr. Garland. Characterizing Wells as a socialist believing in the socializing of property and the introduction of the morals of the barnyard in the relationships of men and women, Mr. Garland next attacked the school of English radicals, whose writings "I wouldn't read aloud in a saloon."

That "most of us are decent fellows after all," and that "some of these radicals are in jail now and more will probably get there," was the way in which the speaker continued. Quoting from his book, Crumbling Idols, published in 1894, in which he said the "young would become old" and the "radicals would become conservatives," Mr. Garland predicted a continuance of the process in the future. "All not vital to the human race will pass." Motherhood and maternal love will remain, honesty, decency and decorum will go on, because the human race will go on. "Remember the old philosopher who said 'this too will pass away,'" said Mr. Garland.

Recently, Dr. Oppitz went to town in his new Ford and to prevent his radiator from freezing he spread a coverlet over the entire front of his car. A small boy standing near began to laugh and said, "Ain't no use to cover it now I've seen the name." —Exchange.

"What did you do after the hop?"
"Nothing to speak of."
"Oh."

She—"I can tell a lady by the way she dresses. Can't you?"
He—"I've never watched one dress."

Y. W. C. A. BAZAAR

Last Saturday afternoon in the Lyman gym the Y. W. C. A. held its annual bazaar, it being named the Valentine Bazaar this year because of the date. The various booths were prettily decorated in red and white, carrying out the spirit of the day. Tea was served during the afternoon by the Y. W. girls and dancing filled in the odd moments. Considering the time of year the bazaar was quite a success. Food, candy, fancy work, enameled ware etc., were sold at the booths, while a red satin heart-pillow which was raffled off, proved to be a popular feature. Owing to the illness of Helen McKay, who carried a leading part in the cast, the play which was to have been given was omitted, but otherwise everything went off according to schedule.

PHI OMEGA SPREAD

A strawberry shortcake spread was given for the members and pledges of Phi Omega by Mrs. A. B. Beall, sorority mother, in room 36 Cloverleaf, Friday night, and everyone was present. Valentine favors and colors predominated. Big, luscious strawberries and lots of whipped cream—this was the main feature of the evening, to say nothing of the cake itself.

PHI OMEGA DINNER

A valentine dinner was given by the members of Phi Omega at the Hamilton hotel on Thursday last week. The occasion was the anniversary of the founding of Phi Omega. Besides the members and pledges, Miss Peschmann, Mrs. A. B. Beall and Miss Treat were present.

PHI BETA RUSH DINNER

One of the biggest events on the Phi Beta calendar occurred last Friday evening when the rush dinner, which is the feature of the week before pledge day, was given for the members of the fraternity and their guests.

T. L. D. SMOKER

Tau Lambda Delta fraternity gave a smoker party at the fraternity house for the men on the campus last Friday night.

Card games, including bridge, five hundred and pinochle were played nearly all the evening. In the north parlor a friendly game caused considerable laughter and excitement. Several able card sharps taught Mr. Markham all the card tricks they had up their sleeves.

At midnight the guests began to look hungry and when the food was served the rush began. Several members of the fraternity were grateful to the Commons for teaching them the tricks of the waiters. Plenty of eats, and then the championship of the world pinochle was decided, the victors in the thrilling contest being George Vickers and Bozo Lafoos.

The guests were: Professor Hart, Horace Draa, Merle Weaver, Paul Potter, George Vickers, Walter Johnston, William Lafoos, George Bowers, Rex Holiday, Ken Warner, Raymon Colado, M. E. Davis, Robert Chandler, Six Sutliff, Curtiss Atkinson, Herbert S. Mosher and William Newell.

College Comment

Clarence Draa, Allen and Jimmie Bartlett motored to Haines City Saturday.

Billie seems to have a little control over some of the boys on the campus. Did you see Sap Draa carry the desk to the business department after the short talk given by Prof. Hart?

Ted Carol, who has been working at the Hamilton Hotel, refuses to work any longer as he says "colors will not mix."

Did you see Mildred with the roses Monday? Pop just returned from the city of flowers. Wonder if this will throw light on the mystery?

Homer Parker took his regular Sunday afternoon ride in the Stutz.

Robert Colville, Homer Parker and Herbert S. Mosher motored to Lakeland Friday to attend the meeting of the Florida Collegiate Press association.

Six Sutliff and Prof. Hart left yesterday for Gainesville, where they will represent Rollins at the eligibility rules conference there.

Rhoda McCall left Thursday for Babson Park to spend the week-end with her aunt and uncle.

Miss Beryl Bowman and Katherine Young are spending the week-end at the latter's home in Oviedo.

Hildegard Robinson and Louise Harris spent last week-end in Haines City, the home of the former.

James Shoesmith is taking a special course from Dr. Dresch—"The art of sleeping during the noisy turmoil of Bible class."

Wonder who conducted the Mass Meeting on the campus Monday night?

Ted Carroll reports that the canoe business is at the peak of its popularity right at present. There were about three calls for every canoe last Sunday, many being disappointed as a result. However, Charlie Roberts made the best of the difficulties by chartering a war canoe for himself and his damsel. He was seen parked across the lake, but did not do much paddling.

GREENE AND DONALDSON PLAN TO CO-OPERATE

Robert Donaldson and Ray Greene will constitute a working committee to organize and put across the Inter-scholastic Aquatic meet next April, according to the latest announcement of the Faculty Athletic committee. Other members of the student body, especially Fleetwood Peeples, will be called on to assist with the program.

"Have you had any previous theatrical experience?"

"Oh, yes, I used to play the front legs of a horse in the play, 'Paul Revere's Ride'."

Southern Entertains Florida Collegiate Press Association

Representatives from the Florida Flambeau, student newspaper at the Florida State College for Women, The Southern, at Southern college, and The Sandspur were present at the annual meeting of the Florida Collegiate Press association last Friday in Lakeland. Tallahassee was chosen for the 1925 convention city.

Problems of Florida college newspapers were discussed at length by the representatives present and by Prof. F. T. Long, instructor in journalism at Southern. The association adopted the following resolution just before adjournment: "Be it resolved that the Florida Collegiate Press association stands in favor of the adoption of a code of standardized eligibility rules regulating athletic relations between Florida colleges." Prof. Long sent reports of the meeting to the Associated Press and state papers.

The Rollins delegation was entertained by the Southern staff during the stay in Lakeland.

EDITORS ARRIVE FOR PRESS MEET TOMORROW

Following the banquet in the evening there will be a reception for students, faculty membres, visitors, and friends of the college. It is not known at press time whether or not the scheduled dance for Saturday night will take place.

Many inquiries from editors planning to attend the meet tomorrow have been arriving all week. Invitations from the college were delayed somewhat, which has made it impossible to state just how many representatives have definitely decided to come, but it is expected that a large number will arrive in automobiles and on tomorrow's trains.

Miss Logan, editor of the Red and Black, will speak at the Sandspur banquet.

The United States Patent Office

Congress at $1,860, beginning with the 1st of July, 1924, and increases of salary are provided for by promotions from time to time up to $5,000 a year. The positions are under the civil service and are not political. An employee cannot be dismissed except for cause after hearing, and provision is made for retirement with pension in old age.

There are over five hundred members of the examining corps and the appropriation bill for next year makes available sufficient funds to put in the corps about one hundred additional examiners. While the additional examiners are, in terms, temporary employees for about two years, everyone who passes the civil service entrance examination in 1924 is practically assured of transfer to the permanent corps before the two years are up.

The civil service entrance examination includes such subjects as are pursued by the scientifically inclined graduate of a college or a technical school. In addition to physics, mathematics, and a reading knowledge of scientific French or German, an examination in the reading of mechanical drawings is required as well as a familiarity with the applied sciences in the field of mechanics, mechanical arts, industrial arts and processes and applied chemistry. Optional engineering examinations may be taken. Examinations are held at many places throughout the United States at short intervals. Complete details of the examinations, as well as the time and place, may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Many new graduates and younger alumni enter the office with the specific idea of training themselves to become patent lawyers. To such persons the universities in Washington offer exceptional opportunities for graduate work in the arts and sciences. Many of the examiners take courses in the law schools connected with the universities in Washington and prepare themselves for the bar. Classes are held in the late afternoon and evening so that it is possible to devote an entire day to the government work before going to classes. It is thus possible for an examiner to be entirely self-supporting during the period devoted to work in the graduate school or in the law school.

There is considerable esprit de corps among the examiners in the Patent Office which is fostered by the technical Patent Office Society, made up of employees. The fact that the entire examining corps is of necessity made up of those who have had higher educational advantages lends dignity to the position and assures congenial working associates.

The work is largely individual and after a few months much personal responsibility rests with the examiner who gains additional experience through frequent conversations with inventors and their attorneys.

It is hardly necessary to suggest that Washington comes up to the tradition that it is an ideal place in which to live. There are no factories and few slums. There are many parks well cared for and available for picnics and the usual athletic diversions. The Potomac river affords ample opportunity for those interested in recreation or sports on or in the water. The technical, scientific and literary institutions of the government draw so many conventions and general meetings open to the public that it is commonly said that it is a liberal education to live in Washington.

The many fraternity houses connected with the universities provide surroundings tending to prolong the joys of under-graduate life.

For an educated person interested in mechanics or industry there is probably no more satisfactory branch of the civil service for a life work than the examining corps of the United States Patent Office. For one desiring to prepare for and enter a useful interesting, lucrative profession, there is probably no better preparation than service on the examining corps of the United States Patent Office preparatory to becoming a patent lawyer.

There are about a dozen women now in the examining corps and there is no reason why many more college women should not successfully enter the Patent Office as their contribution to public service.
