MARKHAM TELLS OF HIS EARLY LIFE ON CALIFORNIA RANCH

Buried Treasure, Bandits, Sheriffs, Roundups, Dangers, Play Part

"I was born in Oregon, but I corrected that mistake at the earliest possible moment: when five years of age I took my mother to live on a California cattle rancho. There I had charge of the cattle for ten years as cowboy and plowboy," said Edwin Markham, famous poet, in telling of his early life in the old West.

Young Markham soon became familiar with the cowboys, or bucaros, keepers of the cattle ranges. In fact, he was one of them. Many a time he saw cowboys ride thru the village shooting up the town, tho he never did any of the shooting himself. From his home in the Suisun hills he looked off to the eastward toward the Sierra Nevadas stretching in a white line along the horizon. He followed the cattle. They had a habit of going into the Sacramento valley, 25 or 30 miles away and the young poet spent many a day searching for them in the tules, which lined the banks of the river. He slept in the open air looking at the stars, leaving his horse to graze during the night. Tarantulas and rattlesnakes were the only creatures to disturb the slumbers of the future poet.

Tho other cowboys loaded their pockets with dime novels such as "Red Eye Dick" and "Three-Fingered Jack" on their cattle hunts, young Markham took Bullion's Grammar and thus added to the three months of schooling which was all that was available in the Suisun country.

He was always present at the annual rodeo when the cattle were rounded up. The word of the cattle king of the ranges set the date for the roundup and all the cowboys in the country, young Markham among them, went out into the mountains to bring in the lost cattle. When finally all the cattle had been brought in, the noise they made was terrific; but it was music to the ears of Markham the cowboy. Every day the cattle men held a barbecue, cooking a steer "in the pit" as the westerners called it.

At the three months session of school Markham had a teacher by the name of William H. Hill, a southerner, who first interested him in poetry. Hill taught his young pupil that there were three great poets—Tom Moore, Tennyson and Bryant. Edwin decided he needed the complete works of these three; so plowed twenty acres of land for $20, and when his mother went to San Francisco, she purchased the books for him. She also brought her son an unabridged dictionary; and when a book of Byron's poems was located at the ranch house, young Markham was "in ecstasy."

One spring day the spirit of adventure seized the future poet and he packed up a few belongings, mounted his horse and left home. His reasons were too many to mention; he just left. Starting in the direction

CHURCH REPRESENTATIVES GIVE PLANS FOR ROLLINS UNION

Plans for a greater Rollins under the Rollins Union were made public Sunday night by representatives from the three church denominations which are co-operating in the Union.

Representing the Northern Presbyterians, Dr. Dresch, who has served the college longer than any other man on the present faculty, recalled his experiences at Rollins when he first arrived six years ago during war times. There were almost no students. On registration day only a few appeared on the campus. In some of his classes there were only two or three, and in his largest class he found only six. Combined, his students numbered 25. Other facts brought out were that the college was without religious organizations of any kind, there were no literary societies, athletics in any form were impossible because there were not enough students to carry them on, the war being responsible for these conditions to a large extent.

Because he had so few students in his classes he asked Dr. French to release him from his contract, inasmuch as he thought he was not earning his salary. He was persuaded to remain, being assured that the college had a wonderful future.

Dr. Dresch drew attention to the substantial growth Rollins has made in the past few years. Calling attention to the fact that the three denominations will hold a meeting early in March where final plans for taking over the college will be consummated, he next outlined three courses which Rollins could pursue: (1) Exploit its wonderful location and develop the

T. L. D. TOSSERS DEFEAT PHI ALPHAS

Game is Fast and Furious; Score Tied 15-15 First Half

T. L. D. defeated Phi Alpha Tuesday night to the tune of 34-25 in Lyman Gym. The game was hotly contested thruout and was in doubt up to the end of the third quarter. Fast passing was the feature of the game on both sides, altho the T. L. D. showed their superiority in working the ball down the floor. Thomas was easily the star of the game, registering 18 points, while Colado and Bowers, who got 15, were best for the Phi Alphas.

1st quarter. Phi Alpha registered the first counter. T. L. D. came back with two from the field. Phi Alpha showed their best form in this quarter and it ended 9-7 for T. L. D.—Evans for Donaldson at guard.

2nd quarter. Phi Alpha evened the score and then first one team and then the other would lead. The quarter ended 15-15.

3rd quarter. T. L. D. seemed to find themselves and registered 8 points to 2 for the Phi Alpha. Loose playing was shown by both sides and several easy shots were missed. The quarter ended 23-17.

4th quarter. The T. L. D. got going good and rolled in several. Phi Alpha showed fight and came right back with counters. Colado getting one from his corner. The game ended 34-25. Holliday for Bostwick at guard.

This game was the fourth of the series. Vickers refereed.

TARS STAGE RACES FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Canoe and War Canoe Races Provide Thrills for Crowd

Canoe races by Tars and Tarettes added variety to Friday afternoon's program at the Brewer estate on Lake Osceola. A large crowd watched the aquatic events from the shore of the lake, while canoes, row boats and motor boats full of spectators moved slowly about all afternoon just outside the course of the races.

The men's canoe doubles were won by Rex Holiday and Johnnie Bostwick. These two stalwart sailors edged out their nearest opposition just before crossing the finish line, finishing the course in record time. Canoe singles were won by Rex Holiday by a narrow margin. It was impossible to tell which canoe led as Holiday and Peoples paddled frantically toward the finish line. Rex was able to cross the tape just a few feet in the lead. Osceola's guard of Seminole braves raced the girl's war canoe crew and the Indians were barely able to keep the lead when once the fair Tarettes got going. However, the braves won the race by a good margin. Rex Holiday and Johnnie Bostwick were eliminated in the preliminary canoe tilting contest by Phillip Reece and Allen Mattingly. Robert Chandler and Kenneth Mattingly then came on and vanquished the victors of the preliminary try-outs. Reece and A. Mattingly were given a cold bath in the lake and their canoe towed to shore.

ROLLINS SET FOR YACHT CLUB REGATTA TODAY

Rollins will stage a series of canoe and war canoe races, a canoe tilting exhibition and probably other aquatic events at the 1924 regatta of the Mt. Dora Yacht club on Lake Dora next Friday. Students going to Mt. Dora to take part in the races will be brought back to Winter Park in plenty time for the Football Formal the same evening.

Fleetwood Peoples, who is in charge of Rollins' part of the program, will take to Mt. Dora two men's war canoe crews, men's and women's single crews, men's and women's double crews and half a dozen canoe tilting artists. Cups will be awarded winners in each event by the yacht club.

Most of the crews going to Mt. Dora have been practicing regularly during the past week and it is expected that next week will see some real hard work on the part of the aquatic sharks.

The Mt. Dora program includes boat races of all kinds, swimming races, kicker races, a casting contest and other aquatic events. The motor boat races will be run under the rules of the American Power Boat association.

There will be a Staff Officers' dance and reception Friday evening and the

FRESHMAN SANDSPUR

The regular Sandspur staff will take a vacation next week when the freshman class takes charge of the Sandspur. For many weeks the editors of the freshman edition have been planning and plotting and it is expected that a regular magazine will be the result of their labors. At least a big surprise is promised. So all together, THREE CHEERS FOR THE FRESHMAN SANDSPUR!

POINTLESS ARTISTRY

"It is easy to lie magnificently but very hard to lie persuasively." There are any number of students who have never realized the significance of this statement. They appear day after day with excuses for neglected work or back work. They construct elaborate tales that are no more convincing than the truth itself. The excuse of a death or illness in the family is worn from too much usage and is ignored by the more original students. The excuses that they formulate are much more unique and possess far greater signs of originality. It is almost a game to "get by" with an apology that even a time-hardened professor is compelled to accept.

Many students have acquired a habit of never completing an assignment on time. They have found that it is easy to put their work off to a later date, and find it more simple to formulate excuses for delay.

This condition is not surprising, it is natural. What is most unusual is that many of these students really believe that their stories are given full credence by the professors, that all is as it appears to be. But it is very presumptuous on the part of the student to consider instructors in such a light. They should realize that even professors, after these many years of experience, come to doubt the elaborate fabrications of the most brilliant "fictioneers." That many stories "get by" is unquestioned. But it is probably because of the desire of the instructors to avoid confusion or possibly to keep themselves in a pleasant frame of mind that they allow themselves to be so artistically persuaded. —Utah Chronicle.

RESOLUTION

Be it resolved by all of us that Mrs. Stelle put up some of the finest dinners and luncheons during the Founders' Week festivities that ever appeared at any college. The food was delicious, the service was fine, her smiles were sweet and everything went off like a May morning in February. We also shoot off a cracker or two for the fellows who helped to put these fine dinners across, when they would prefer to be playing tennis or doing something else.

The resolution is passed unanimously by everybody.

Cornell University co-eds have flatly refused to dance with men who have the faintest odor of liquor on their breath.

Princeton's honor system is such that students receive no cuts for non-attendance at classes, and may take the examination questions to their rooms without incurring the suspicion of either faculty or fellow-students.

Army bombing planes will be used to prevent a recurrence of the ice jam which recently occurred along 125 miles of the Arkansas river's course. Several bridges were snapped like tooth-picks by the tremendous weight of the ice, until a great quantity of dynamite was used to open up the river.

Miss Lillian G. Harrison, who recently swam the River Platte, a distance of 26½ miles, hopes to be the first of her sex to cross the English Channel. Miss Harrison is from Buenos Aires, and will leave for England in May so that she may make her attempt in the English summer.

The Hornet of Furman university plans to mail copies to every high school boy in South Carolina who has finished the eleventh grade this year. It is expected that this plan will persuade more boys of South Carolina to come to Furman.

Ninety per cent of the students of the University of Florida are in some way or another helping to pay their way through college.

By fishing through an iron grill in the People's Trust and Savings Bank in Chicago, using a stick and a wad of chewing gum as bait, an unknown thief obtained securities to the amount of $50,000.

Delta Alpha, a local radio fraternity, has recently been organized at Washington State college for the purpose of fostering radio on the campus and ultimately petitioning Alpha Delta Alpha, national radio fraternity. Every member of the new organization must be an engineer and actually interested in radio communication.

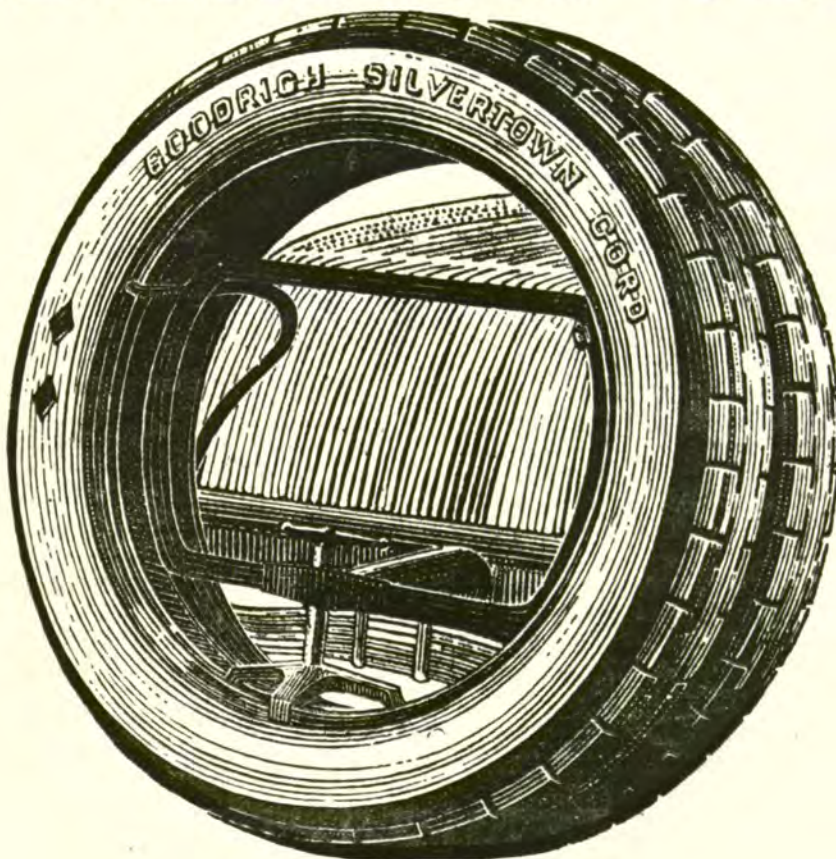

University of Texas students are straining every point to raise the money for their new stadium. In fact one boy, who has no money except for board and books, is going to go without breakfast, which will amount to five dollars a month, in order to help the movement along.

Students at the University of Wisconsin will hold a ski race, run from the Engineering building to Agricultural hall and back, soon. The prize will be a pair of hickory skis.

ROGER BABSON WILL SPEAK NEXT SUNDAY

Roger Babson, well known statistician and president of Babson's Statistical Organization at Wellesley Hills, Massachusetts, will speak at 8 o'clock next Sunday night under the auspices of the Chapel association at the Orlando high school auditorium. Mr. Babson will speak in Orlando at the request of the Orlando chamber of commerce, which organization will attend in a body. The subject of his address has not been announced.

Mr. Babson spoke at Rollins last year. He is one of the most optimistic of Florida's boosters and predicts a wonderful future for the state.

SEXTON JOHNSON NEW PRESIDENT OF THE ALUMNI

Sexton Johnson '21, city superintendent of schools of Orlando, was elected president of the Alumni association at its meeting held in Carnegie library February 23. The other officers elected were: Amelia Kendall '22, vice-president; Ray Green '23, secretary; and Frederic H. Ward '21, treasurer.

The association has just completed the most successful year in its history, and is planning greater developments for the year ahead. One of the progressive accomplishments of the organization was the placing of its affairs in the hands of a council of eleven persons which will meet at least once a month during the college year, thereby cutting down the heavy machinery of larger meetings of the association as a whole.

The new council will have as its chairman Warren M. Ingram '22, ex-president of the association. It has been decided that a precedent should be established of electing retiring presidents of the association to the chairmanship of the council. Other members of the council are the officers of the association, editor and business manager of the Alumni Record, namely, A. J. Hanna '17, and J. Harold Hill '20, respectively; alumni trustee, T. W. Lawton and Florence Bumby '23; Charles S. Hayes and Leon B. Fort.

NO TICKETS FOR FOOTBALL FORMAL TO BE AVAILABLE

Tickets for the Football Formal next Friday night are not available at any price, much less for sale at $2 each as was announced last week in The Sandspur, according to this week's statement of the chairman of the Formal committee.

Invitations extend to all men on the campus, while a limited number are being mailed to alumni and citizens of Winter Park and Orlando. The dance is being conducted on a strictly invitation basis.

which he knew least—north toward Oregon—he passed his neighbor, John Huckins; and young Huckins called, "Stop." Markham explained where he was going, Huckins said, "I'm going with you," and in 15 minutes the two were on their way together, Markham riding and Huckins walking, taking turns on horseback as they progressed.

They went into the redwoods and finally stopped at Clear Lake, 100 miles to the north, where they satisfied their hunger with fish from Indian fish traps. Before this stop the two boys worked occasionally at dairies, which were comparatively numerous in that section, and thus kept supplied with food.

John Huckins, Jr., one night found a horse. "He might have paid for it," said Mr. Markham, "but at any rate he was at one end of the rope and the horse at the other." The new mount was saddled and bridled after a fashion, and "two men on horseback, we rode into the mountains!"

At Russian river they found a raging torrent filled by melting snows in the mountains. "We'll never get across alive," said Huckins.

"Then we'll get across dead," replied Edwin.

Tying a rope about the horses' necks and the other end about their waists, with 18 feet between, the young adventurers started across the river. Several times they were swept from their saddles, but by means of their ropes were able to pull themselves back to the struggling horses. After a tremendous battle which lasted two hours, the other bank was reached, and the tired runaways camped under a fallen redwood. All that night they danced madly about a fire waiting for their clothes to dry.

Next Markham and Huckins came to an Indian reservation where they were detained for a week as runaways, finally being allowed to go. They had ridden only a short distance when suddenly nine or ten men, armed to the teeth, sprang out of the chapparel and stopped them. These were sheriffs searching for horse thieves, it afterwards developed. When Markham recovered from his fright he found that John had fled, and "I never saw him afterwards."

Now alone, Markham hired out to take care of cattle. Shortly after going to bed that night, he was again waked up by a band of sheriffs; and when they had gone, he mounted his horse and fled. All that night he rode down the valley. It rained and young Markham was soaked thru. Discovering a threshing machine crew in need of help, he worked there for six or seven weeks, traveling around over the wheat fields of northern California.

At the end of this time a tall, burly man, a member of the crew, one day appeared before Markham and said "You suit me."

Markham was dumfounded.

"I am Black Bart," continued the man; "I stop stages." Black Bart was one of the most famous of the highwaymen of that day. "I want you to hold a gun on the driver, I do the rest."

Markham hastily explained that he had no time as he was going to Oregon. He went on, but after a few miles Black Bart seemed suddenly to rise out of the ground. Markham hurried, but Black Bart could walk as fast as a horse could pace.

Black Bart later walked over to a clump of brush and dug up a bag full of watches. He told his unwilling listener of the highwayman's trade. After a while the two continued on their way. At the next town officers again stopped Markham, Black Bart fled never to appear again and after a brief interval of time, the young runaway was located by his mother and he went home.

"A real hair raiser happened after arriving home," said Mr. Markham. "It should have and did." While digging for a carrot, he uncovered a sack of gold pieces at the foot of a rock. There was loads of money. With this money he went to the State Normal School at San Jose, where he later delivered the valedictory address, "Genius in Ruins," became a teacher, wrote "The Man With the Hoe," and "Now I am here," concluded Mr. Markham at chapel Thursday.

HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT PROHIBITION?

The Yale News is Conducting a Student Referendum

T. L. D. QUINTETTE

LOSES TO SEABREEZE

The T. L. D. boys lost a hard game to the Seabreeze town team last Saturday night. The game was hard fought all the way but the Seabreeze team showed their superiority on the open court and the game ended 17-12.

Evans starred for the T. L. D. boys ringing several field goals. Eddie Seeley, a former Rollins student, was best for Seabreeze. The Seabreeze boys were able to locate the hoop several times from mid-floor while the T. L. D. boys couldn't seem to see it at any range. Starting with a rush, the T. L. D. boys got a four point lead but were tagging 9-4 at half time. The second half was evenly contested, each team scoring eight points. It must be said that the game was rather a rough and tumble affair, and several of the boys brought back marks of the fray received when they hit the cement floor.

ROLLINS LOSES TO U. OF FLORIDA IN CLOSE TENNIS MATCH ON SAT.

Last Saturday the University of Florida Tennis team defeated Rollins on the Orlando Country club courts. In the morning Cleveland of Florida beat Cotton Thomas 6-2, 6-2. Hickey and Thompson lost to Pomeroy and Bowen 6-3, 6-4. This was the best match of the day and was featured by good lobbing and good overhead work by Bowen and Thompson. In the afternoon Cleveland and Maubly easily won from Thompson and Thomas, 6-3, 6-2. This match was also probably due to the banquet served at noon.

Hickey won two single matches nicely, one from Bowen 10-8, 6-2, and one from Maubly 6-2, 6-1. His play was very consistent and his opponents could not get anything by him. Thus the score was three matches to two in favor of Florida when Pomeroy and Thompson started the last match.

This match was always in doubt, but Pomeroy finally came through and won after dropping the first set 6-4. The score was 4-6, 6-2, 9-7. This gave Florida the meet, 4 matches to 2.

Hickey was the first winner for Rollins, while Pomeroy and Cleveland won both their matches for the University. The work of Bowen in the doubles and in his first set against Hickey, when he forced the Rollins boy to the limit, was also noteworthy.

Friday Afternoon's Match

On Friday afternoon the Winter Park team which consists of the Rollins College players played its first match in the South Florida Association, which is to determine the championship town team in Florida. The finals of this series of matches will be played in March at the Temple Terrace club in Tampa.

Hickey defeated Jack Boucher 6-2, 6-1 and Landstreet and Hutchinson defeated Thompson and Thomas 3-6, 6-2, 6-4. The match between Thompson and Hutchinson has been postponed.

GUY COLADO TAKES TED CARROLL'S JOB AT THE BOATHOUSE

Guy Colado has accepted the position of manager of the college boathouse and will have charge of all boats and canoes for the rest of the year. Ted Carroll, former boatman, turned in his resignation early this week, having decided to discontinue his college education until next fall. He has accepted a job with the Rollins Press of this city.

Guy Colado announces that all rules will be strictly enforced. His hours will be the same as they have been under the direction of Carroll, he says. When not at the boathouse, Guy may be found at Chase hall.

A moving picture operator, believed to be the Rome representative of the International News Reel, lost his life in attempting to get pictures of the crater at Mt. Vesuvius. The photographer, with a pilot, went up in an airplane, and the pilot was seen to circle closer and closer over the burning cone, when suddenly his engine seemed to stop and the machine plunged head-first into the flaming lake. Searchers came as close to the crater as they dared, but no trace of the machine was found.

CHURCH REPRESENTATIVES GIVE PLANS FOR UNION

opportunities for recreation; (2) Encourage the attendance of students from the North who are unable to endure the rigors of the climate from which they come; (3) Develop an institution dedicated to the highest type of education and Christian culture. In fact, the purpose has been to combine these three with emphasis upon educational attainments, he said.

Even if the churches take the college into their hands and invest large sums of money in the institution, it will be impossible to have the highest type of college without the hearty co-operation of the churches of Florida. When the people from the denominations represented in the college enroll here, the halls will be filled to overflowing. Then Rollins will stand out as one of the finest colleges in America and will fulfill the desires and hopes of the founders who sacrificed so much in order to found the institution, said Dr. Dresch in closing.

Mr. Dubose a layman representing the Southern Presbyterian denomination in the Rollins Union, said that for several years his church had planned on founding a college somewhere in Florida. In the past few years the need for such an institution has become more urgent. The most practicable solution of this problem was recognized by his denomination to be in the proposed Rollins Union. They realized that the plan offered them the opportunity to share in the privileges of a very fine institution. Mr. Dubose pointed out the advantages of pooling the endowments that could be raised by the three denominations in one fund in the interest of a greater and finer Rollins.

Dr. Clarence A. Vincent, representing the Congregational denomination, spoke upon the "Significance of the Union." This union of the churches will help the college to realize the dreams, work, sacrifices and prayers of the founders and those who have carried on the college since. Dr. Vincent summed up at this point the contributions of Dr. Hooker, Prof. Ford, Dr. Ward, Dr. Blackman, Mr. Comstock, Mr. Morse, Dr. Sprague and others. The union would fulfill what they have given.

The speaker then said that the union would enable the college to make a larger contribution to Florida now in the time of its rapid development. It will help to make the state one of the greatest in the country in intelligence, moral character and true religion.

Dr. Vincent then showed the widespread influence which such a union will have throughout the churches of America. It will be an illustration in a new field of what a united church can accomplish.

DELPHIC BANQUET

After a fine chicken dinner and all that goes with it, including olives, etc., Paul Potter, well-known senior and president of Delphic, delivered the welcoming address on the thirty-second anniversary of this society. Mr. Potter stated that Delphic is constantly developing and will debate with the Baptist university of Oklahoma March 31, on the League question.

Mr. Potter then introduced Mr. F. J. Frank as toastmaster. Mr. Frank is a charter member of the Delphic Literary society. He told in a very interesting way of the early days of Delphic, or Demosthenic society as it was then called, with the motto: "Find the way or make one." The first meeting took place on October 22, 1892, and was attended by six people. The negro question then furnished material for debate as does the League question of today. Mr. Frank concluded by saying that he had great hopes and was sure that Delphic would prosper and develop in the years to come.

Mr. James Shaw from Hillsborough High school, Tampa, and also the winner of the Bachelier prize, then said a few words. He was followed by two other high school representatives, who spoke a few words about their own respective high school literary organizations.

Dean Sprague closed the banquet with a fine talk on "What Rollins is Aiming At." These three aims are first that Winter Park should become a center of literary activity, second a center of music, and third a debating center.

ALUMNI LUNCHEON

The annual alumni luncheon for the seniors held last Saturday was one of the most successful in the history of Rollins, according to those in attendance. The dining hall was decorated beautifully and many compliments were heard for Mrs. Stelle upon the wonderful food served. Mr. Warren Ingram, president of the Alumni association, made a very genial toastmaster. Kenneth Warner, president of the senior class, made a response for the seniors. Mr. Warner gave a few brief facts about the present senior class, the largest and most illustrious that has ever been at Rollins. He also recalled the fact that seventy-five per cent of the members have spent their entire four years here, and predicted they would continue to take the same interest in their Alma Mater as alumni after this year.

Mr. Ingram then introduced Dr. Baker, who spoke on the value of a museum to a college and told of the needs of the Rollins museum.

Two other speakers on the program were unable to attend. At the close of the luncheon the alumni and seniors expressed their delight at having been able to get together again and planned to come back next year if at all possible.

SANDSPUR BANQUET

The Sandspur celebrated its thirtieth anniversary Saturday evening with a banquet at the Commons. Following several numbers by the Jubilee Singers, colored quartet, the evening's program was opened by Herbert S. Mosher, who delivered the address of welcome. Edwin Markham acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers of the evening: Miss Vaudine Logan, editor of the Red and Black, Frank Kay Anderson, vice-president of the Carr Advertising Service, and Dean Sprague. The banquet continued until 8:45.

FLOWER SHOW

Next Wednesday and Thursday the Winter Park Garden club will stage the annual flower show at the Woman's Club. Flowers and potted plants of all kinds will be on exhibition. Students will be admitted for twenty-five cents, which is a special half-rate.

FACULTY RECEPTION

One of the social events near the end of Founders' week was the Faculty reception held from 9 to 10:30 Saturday evening in the library. The receiving line was composed of faculty members, a few townspeople and the class of '24. A large number were in attendance. At 9:45 refreshments were served.

COLD WEATHER CAUSES POSTPONEMENT OF PROGRAM AT AMPHITHEATRE

LILLIAN STARBIRD HAS AUTO ACCIDENT

Lillian Starbird turned turtle on the Orlando road Monday morning when she struck an Essex.

Miss Starbird was driving at a slow rate of speed when the accident occurred, as she was following the car which caused the smashup. The Essex came to a sudden stop and Miss Starbird swerved to avoid smashing into the car. She struck the rear fender with her front wheel and the wheel was broken, which caused her to turn over. The car only made a quarter of a turn so there was no damage except the broken wheel and a shaken Rollins student.
