TARS PLAY LEADING ROLE AT YACHT CLUB REGATTA

Canoe Races Thrill Spectators on Shores of Lake Dora

Canoe and war canoe races, canoe tilting contests and other aquatic events staged by Rollins students at the Mt. Dora Yacht club regatta Friday added greatly to the afternoon's program and resulted in the winning of seven silver cups by Tars and Tar-ettes. 2,500 people watched the races from the shore and from boats.

War Canoe Races

The Phi Alpha and Tau Lambda Delta war canoe crews staged the first canoe race of the afternoon. Holiday's outfit took the lead at the start and held it all the way down the course, crossing the finish line a good distance in the lead of Scotty's T. L. D. crowd. The race was fast and both canoes covered the course in record time. A cup was awarded the winners.

Following this race, two girl's war canoe crews raced for the cup in this event. The "Virginia" coxswained by Eleanor Sprague, outdistanced the "Osceola" and won the race 100 feet in the lead. Great enthusiasm was displayed by those ashore as the co-eds paddled down the course.

Canoe Races

Johnnie Bostwick and Rex Holiday easily won the men's double races. Tho followed closely to within a hundred yards of the finish line, Bostwick and Holiday walked away from all competition at this stage of the game.

Holiday and Blinker Draa were the only two entered in men's singles. Draa paddled furiously at the start of the race and gave Rex unexpected opposition, but was not able to keep up his speed. Draa's canoe failed to continue in the right direction toward the finish while Holiday simply added speed.

Mixed doubles were won by Dicky Dixon and Rex Holiday. The race was rather close, but there was never any doubt as to the outcome.

Bert Phiel and Eleanor Sprague easily paddled away from the rest in the girl's double races. This race also attracted much attention from the crowd of spectators.

Canoe tilting followed a swimming race in which R. Colado came in second. Blinker Draa and A. Bartlett after a long struggle managed to upset all comers. Blinker paddled while Bartlett wielded the long pole, much to the sorrow of his opponents. Cheers from the shore encouraged the canoe tilters thruout the contests.

Motor boat races continued all afternoon. A large gallery watched these events with interest.

"THE HOUR-GLASS" IS #### PRESENTED IN ORLANDO

"The Hour-Glass" was presented at the Methodist church in Orlando Thursday under the direction of Mrs. Orpha Grey. This is the third time Yeats' play has been given by the expression department. The cast of characters was the same as in the other presentations in Winter Park.

WOULD ESTABLISH A BOTANICAL GARDEN ON ROLLINS CAMPUS

It is the intention of Professor J. C. T. Uphof, head of the department of biology, to erect a botanical garden on the Rollins campus. The collection of plants may contain within four or five years from 1,500 to 2,000 different species, especially ornaments, economical and medicinal plants, species representing the wild flora of the southeast, as well as such plants which are necessary to complete a systematic collection.

This botanical garden will be the first of its kind in the south, and will be mainly for the study of plants by the students, but also for research work.

The plants will be obtained by purchase, donation, by collection of wild plants, and by exchange with similar institutions in Europe and Asia.

Former students of Rollins are highly interested in this matter and there is some probability that a start can be made this year, if the funds become available.

Although the botanical garden is in the first place meant for scientific purposes, it will no doubt be an attraction for Rollins college and the town of Winter Park as well.

MOODY SPEAKS AT CHAPEL ON MONDAY

W. L. Moody, president of the Northfield schools at Northfield, Massachusetts, spoke Monday on the aims and work of his institutions.

There are two Northfield schools, one for boys and one for girls. Tho they are five miles apart "we don't find them too far," said Mr. Moody in Monday's talk. Most of the New England colleges and universities are within a radius of 100 miles of the Northfield schools, but this does not mean that there are too many schools in this territory, according to the Northfield president.

The Northfield schools are for the boy or girl who dropped school at an early age and who wants to go back but cannot go to the public schools because of a difference in age. Students from everywhere are included in the enrollment of 1400. 34 nationalities and representatives from every state in the Union and Alaska as well as many foreign students are included this year. All students have to work, boys two hours a day, girls one hour, according to Mr. Moody.

Northfield graduates go everywhere and are accomplishing much in the world, he continued. Telling of a negro student from West Africa who was especially brilliant at Northfield and who recently returned to Africa help his people. Mr. Moody closed by encouraging such work and predicted that such men will do much in reforming backward races.

Y. M. C. A. Men Will Conduct Chapel Association Meeting Sunday

PLAN BIG PROGRAM

Several Speakers to Talk; Meeting Will be in Knowles Hall

Next Sunday, March 15, the Rollins Y. M. C. A. organization will take charge of the Chapel association services in Knowles hall. Services will begin at 8 o'clock.

Five local "Y" men will give short talks on subjects to be announced later. Just who the speakers will be cannot be determined at press time.

Appropriate music will be on the program. It is thought that the Men's Glee club will sing several numbers, according to present arrangements.

Dean Sprague is in charge of the publicity for Sunday night's meeting. A large crowd is expected and desired by the "Y" men. The public is invited to attend, no charge being made for admittance.

Wednesday night this week the Y. M. C. A. took charge of the prayer meeting at the Winter Park Congregational church. Cabinet officers have plans for many other similar meetings in other towns before June.

A paint manufacturer recently received the following letter: "Gentlemen: Will you please send us some of your striped paint? We want just enough for one barber pole."

T. L. D. BASKETEERS TROUNCE CHASE 35-12

T. L. D. Keeps Lead in Series; Game is One-sided Thruout

The freshmen in their wild scramble to put out an edition of The Sandspur which would show a slight semblance to the usual screech, overlooked the basketball game between Chase and T. L. D. last week.

As near as can be remembered the game went as follows: one of the usual hot games which have characterized the interfraternity schedule. Chase's downfall came in the third quarter when the T. L. D. made some substitutions. In this quarter the Chase guards seemed unable to stop the Gold forwards and consequently the score reads rather onesidely while on the whole the game was hard fought.

Emery was the big gun for T. L. D. caging 16 points while Thomas followed with 12. La Froos was the big star for Chase making many spectacular tackles and shooting goals from difficult angles.

Lineup:

T. L. D.		Chase

AMPHITHEATRE PROGRAM SLATED FOR NEXT WEEK

"Songs and Dances of Three Countries" Will be Presented

Next Thursday night, March 20, beginning at 8:15 the long delayed "Festival of Songs and Dances of Three Countries" will be presented by Mrs. Hart at the Dyer Memorial amphitheatre.

The moon will be full Thursday evening which will add much to the beauty of the scene. Dancers and members of the glee clubs will wear special costumes for the occasion. Proceeds of the entertainment will go to the fund for the erection of a large, modern amphitheatre on College point.

An especially interesting program will be presented Thursday evening and preparations are being made for a large crowd. The Czecho-Slovakian dances which will be featured are new in the United States, as they were only recently recorded in print.

The program for Thursday night follows:

Tar Gridders Get Sweaters Thursday

Dean Presents Sweaters to Stellar Pigskin Chasers of Last Season

Last Thursday during assembly hour Dean Sprague presented the Rollins gridders with the R sweaters. He gave a brief resume of the season and congratulated the boys on their success. Captain Six Sutliff, who graduates this year, gave a short speech, expressing the hope that next year will be even more successful under the new system of eligibility which has been established between the smaller schools in the state.

The sweaters are blue, v-neck and have an eight inch gold R. Dean expressed the regret that they had not come in time for the cold weather but he said they would probably be put to good use. Sixteen men were to receive sweaters, not all of them being present. Efforts to draw speeches from the individual members of the squad failed, all of them receiving thunderous applause.

The sweaters this year differ from those of last year in that those of last year were not v-neck and had a different style of R. It is expected that this year's sweaters will be taken as a standard for the years to come, which will enable the committee to have them on hand at the end of the season.

Those who received sweaters were, Cotton Thomas, Gomer Emery, Pop Donaldson, Six Sutliff, Tommy Quinn, Bill La Froos, Bob Wilson, Dutch Class, Homer Parker, George Seeds, Rux Wulf, Pete Lenney, Ken Warner, Guy Colado, Ray Colado, Willard Norman, Frank Williams, and Norman Lloyd, manager.

We imagine that the longest day in Adam's life was the day on which there was no Eve.

Established in 1894 with the following editorial:

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

ADVERTISERS

At this time of the year advertising usually becomes scarce as far as The Sandspur is concerned. In the past it has sometimes been necessary to suspend publication in the spring because of the lack of ads. However, this year we have been able to get advertising in reasonably large amounts, and it seems likely that it will continue so until the last issue of the paper next May.

Now is the ideal time for students to show their loyalty to the college by patronizing these advertisers who are making the paper possible and at the same time let them know that student business is the result of advertising in the college paper. Many merchants never know when students make purchases in their stores, and tho dozens of them do so, their identities remain unknown. So let our advertisers know who you are—tell them you are Rollins students and that you are patronizing them because of their advertising in The Sandspur.

Other Editors Say

Going Down

"Jazz," "petting parties" and "booze" are the characterizing phrases so often used in connection with the colleges of today by the critics who see in every action of the younger generation but another move toward the lower regions.

The only redeeming feature of the difficulty is that publications of 25, 100 or 200 years ago contain the same predictions.

The University Daily Kansan, in an editorial says:

Here is the mental picture portrayed by the critic of today. Down the campus of the modern college comes the hard drinking, dance crazed student of petting party face. He passes by the festive lyre of Virgil to synopate to the mournful strains of "Lovin' Papa." In his rush, he throws aside the veils of convention and grabs a suitable victim from the mass of rouge-stained, bobbed-haired gin drinking women who also roam at large upon the campus. Arm in arm they go to the devil.

Does the guardian of the nation's morals ever cast a backward glance as he criticizes the present? Did America fall in the sinful days of the square dance and the Sunday afternoon stroll? Yet, critics of another day predicted that it would. The modern automobile gets the young folks home a lot quicker than the old surry ever did. Of course there were angel boys in those days as there are today. Those purified young dears grew up to be the gossiping, muckracking, howlers of today.

There is more truth than poetry expressed by the Kansas paper when it continues, "The modern woman understands life, realizes that there is a world, and is capable of taking care of herself. The youth of today may dance their way through college, but they will never faint when somebody says darn."

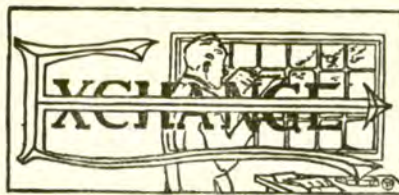

This old world has been going to the devil for the past 3,000 years, according to some folks, but it still manages to function a little better than it ever did.—Iowa State Student.

GET STARTED NOW

An education, even though Phi Beta Kappa be attained, is far from being complete if the individual has had no share in outside activities. Extra-curricular opportunities have come about in response to a demand for something more than just an education in books, for something that will make for the more rounded development of the individual.

Each year a large number of students graduate who realize too late that they have not obtained all that they might have with very little extra effort. They started as freshmen, intending to spend their first semester orienting themselves and organizing their work so that they could share in the benefits of outside activities the second semester. But the habit persisted throughout the second semester along with the feeling that it was too late to begin for the year.

The next year the same thing occurred and the next and the next, participation being postponed from one semester to the next, from one year to the following until it was actually too late. That need not be so. The second semester is never too late to be in work in outside activities. The amount of work is to be limited by the individual, and every phase of interest may be found. A foothold is to be obtained easily now and the pavement to individual success next year can be laid. The past semester has enabled the organization of work for the year and the second semester's work has been well begun. There is no better time than now for getting into the swing of student interests and pursuits.—The Daily Cardinal.

Each fraternity at Johns Hopkins university will constitute a team to further the sale of the tickets for the support of spring sports, baseball, lacrosse and track, and non-fraternity men will sell the tickets individually. A silver cup will be given to the team selling the most tickets and a free trip to Europe and return will be awarded to the man selling the greatest number.

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer, lecturer, and man of letters will lecture at Coe college, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, soon. Mr. Stefansson went into the northern regions to prove his theory that white men could live off the land in that desolate country.

A coed in the New Jersey State Normal has been sentenced to one week of ostracism for having been kissed right on the mouth by her escort at parting. The committee which made this decision was composed entirely of young women.

The University of Texas is working so hard for their new stadium that loyal students are making unheard of efforts to help with the construction. One young woman, Miss Medina Oliver, was unable to make as large a pledge as she wished. She happened to hear of a woman in a hospital near the university, however, who needed a pint of blood to save her life, so she submitted to the transfusion process in order to obtain the necessary money.

President Brooks, of the University of Missouri, recently urged parents of the students not to let them have automobiles at school or more than twenty-five dollars a month as spending money. "Experience shows that a notable proportion of students owning automobiles fail to graduate," he said.

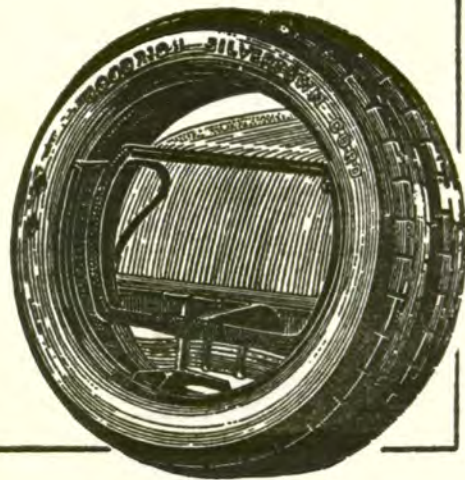

One hundred sixty-eight students in the literary college at the University of Minnesota have been asked to leave school immediately on account of poor scholastic standing. In this number, only seven co-eds are included.

There are 618 universities and colleges in the United States. New York has 50, Pennsylvania 48, and Ohio 40, Texas, the largest state in area, has only 20.

Guy Colado reports that the canoe business went on a very large slump Sunday.

CANOE SINKS WITH THREE TARS MONDAY

A. Krohle, Fleetwood Peeples and R. Chandler were somewhat surprised Monday when their canoe filled with water in the middle of Lake Virginia. The heavy wind was responsible for the trouble.

Chandler swam ashore where he found Guy Colado. The two quickly went to the rescue of Krohle and Peeples who were floating around in the lake with the canoe for a life-preserver. They were taken ashore.

Peeples being an excellent swimmer might have swam for shore with Chandler, but he remained to see that Krohle stayed above water. Krohle is not as good a swimmer as Chandler and Peeples.

No one suffered any ill effects from the dip in the lake.

PLEASING DAD

When I was but a little lad, not more than two or three,
I noticed in a general way my dad was proud of me.

He liked the little ways I had, the simple things I said;

Sometimes he gave me words of praise, sometimes he stroked my head;

And when I'd done a thing worthwhile, the thought that made me glad

Was always that I'd done my best, and that would please my dad.

I can look back today and see how proud he used to be

When I'd come home from school and they'd recommended me.

I didn't understand it then, for school boys never do,

But in a vague and general way it seems to me I knew

That father took great pride in me, and wanted me to shine,

And that it meant a lot to him when I'd done something fine.

Then one day out of school I went, amid the great world's hum,

An office boy, and father watched each night to see me come.

And I recall how proud he was of me that wondrous day

When I could tell him that, unasked, the firm had raised my pay.

I still can feel that hug he gave, I understand the joy

It meant to him to learn that men were trusting in his boy.

I wonder will it please my dad? How oft the thought occurs

When I am stumbling on the paths, beset with briars and burrs!

He isn't here to see me now, alone my race I run,

And yet some day I'll go to him and tell him all I've done.

And oh, I pray that when we meet beyond life's stormy sea

That he may claim the old-time joy of being proud of me.

GOLF BUG CONTINUES

ATTACK ON ROLLINS
(By Sock 'Em)

Wonder of wonders! At last the old student body has awakened and we have some action upon the campus. This action is predominant at present among the male element, but never have women failed to compete with men in ANYTHING. This action on the campus is due to present golf course located upon the old baseball field. Some of the boys about two weeks ago decided to go out and hit the "old pill", but soon they decided that they needed some holes to put the "old pill in, so three holes were located on the baseball field. At first only a few became interested in the game, but it was only a matter of a few days before "Rollins Own Golf Course" took on the appearance of a regular municipal course. In fact on the week-end the course is overflowing with embryo "Gene Sarazens" and from the present outlook there are hopes of one or two of "Rollins Own" becoming a real star.

Some may take the course as a joke but if they saw how many good golf balls have been lost, they would soon become convinced of the realness of this wonderful golf course. The University of Florida has a golf team and has entered it in the S. I. C. tournament along with the other leading colleges and universities of the south. Now why can't Rollins do the same? Here we have our own course at our door and although we only have three holes, there is nothing to hinder the fellows from laying out six more and they we would have a real golf course. The players have made 36 as the par score and some claim to have even played under this remarkably low score, but the trouble is that these claimants do not have any witnesses to substantiate their claims. Rollins has, in this beautiful course, something that very few colleges have, and who knows but what this very course may be the means of sending out to all the world that Rollins is THE school of them all.

Over the radio the Calvary Episcopal church of Pittsburgh announced that they have received a letter from the students of Rollins College who have been listening in.

The Knights of the Mystic Clan is a new order of the Ku Klux Klan which hopes to bring about a revolution in the Klan. It has abolished the mask with its order. The goal of the new organization is to take over the affairs of the Klan.

North Carolina forbids teaching in public "any form of evolution which makes it appear that man descended from any of the lower order of animals, monkeys, or anything else."

North Carolina authorities should also forbid the study of embryology. It is discouraging to find, in embryonic conditions, that human beings, during the period before birth, pass through various animal stages. It is found that the feet of human beings, before birth, are like that of a gorilla. Sometimes the foot fails to develop and, then, it is called a clubfoot.

The University of Missouri has abandoned the honor system, after several years of trial. The action was made by the student council of the institution, after the students had repeatedly complained of the disgrace of telling on the cheats.

A commercial school has recently adopted a novel method of teaching rhythmic movement in typewriting. The students are taught to write by music furnished by a phonograph. Such selections as the "Toreador Song", "The Anvil Chorus", and "Carmen" are used during the lessons.

The "Hornet" has a very good plan for advertisement for Furman University. Copies of the "Hornet" will be mailed to every high school boy in South Carolina who will finish the eleventh grade this year. It is expected that this will do much to persuade more boys of South Carolina to attend the college at Furman.

LOCAL Y. W. C. A. SENDS REPRESENTATIVES TO STETSON UNIVERSITY

Suggestions For Boosting Y. W. C. A. in Colleges Discussed

Fay Hall and Virginia Davis spent the week-end in DeLand where they represented the Rollins Y. W. C. A. at the annual Florida Cabinet Training council at Stetson. Last year's meeting was held at Rollins.

According to the Rollins representatives, the meeting was a great success, Stetson, Southern, Tallahassee and Rollins all sending delegates. One of the suggestions made was that Stetson, Southern and Rollins should combine their forces and build a cottage at Blue Ridge. Tallahassee and Gainesville already have a cottage at this resort where "Y" girls all over the south gather every summer.

It was also suggested that student councils and Y. W. cabinets should work together for the general betterment of their respective colleges.

The girls came back with their heads full of other ideas and schemes for next year and are anxious to go to Blue Ridge in June in order to learn more and to make Y. W. the biggest success on the campus.

GENERAL ELECTRIC OFFERS $5,000 IN FELLOWSHIP AWARDS

Five thousand dollars is available for award annually by the Charles A. Coffin foundation, established by the General Electric Company, for fellowships in electricity, physics and physical chemistry, to graduates of the universities, college and technical schools of the United States who have shown, by the character of their work, that they could, with advantage, undertake or continue research work in educational institutions either in this country or abroad.

Six such fellowships were awarded last year, and opportunity is now open to make application for those to be given this year. The fellowships carry a minimum allowance of five hundred dollars per year, which sum may be increased to meet the special needs of applicants to whom they are granted. The Foundation committee in charge of the matter desires to award these fellowships to men who, without financial assistance, would be unable to devote themselves to research work. Applications will be welcomed from seniors as well as graduates of colleges, universities and technical schools, but any award to a senior will be conditioned upon his graduation.

Applications must be filed with the committee by April 15, 1924, and should be addressed to W. W. Trench, secretary, Charles A. Coffin foundation, Schnectady, N. Y., from whom the necessary blanks may be obtained on request. Candidates who have been graduated for more than one year may mail their applications direct to the secretary of the foundation at the same address.

Last year, these fellowships were awarded to the following:

Henry N. Beets, a graduate of Calvin College and the University of Chicago, to continue work at the University of Chicago.

Alfred L. Dixon, of the University of Illinois to continue work at the University of Illinois.

William L. Fink, a graduate of the University of Michigan, to continue work at the University of Michigan.

Elmer Hutchisson, Case School of Applied Science, to take up work at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

George Lynn, University of Kansas and Yale, to continue work at Yale.

Edwin L. Rose, Throop College of Technology and Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to take up work at the California Institute of Technology.

The committee in charge of the matter consists of Dr. John C. Merriam, representing the National Academy of Sciences; Harris J. Ryan, representing the American Institute of Electrical Engineers; and Dr. Charles F. Scott, representing the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

Hamadryads

This old Greek folk story tells of the dryads or tree-hearts coming from their trees to play in the forest with Pan. In their frolicking they forget their duty to the trees and the trees' call. Legend has it that if the tree-hearts remain away too long, both the tree and nymph must die. All the nymphs respond to the call of the trees, save one whom Pan persuaded to stay and play with him. During the frolic the nymph hears the call of the tree and knows that it means the death of both. She is overcome with grief and tries to respond and go back to her tree but is unable to, and Pan, stricken with remorse, supports her as she dies in his arms.

Throppingly, carelessly, there came to my ears the strains of the orchestra. All my senses were lulled as I relaxed in the seat. There in the dark I closed my eyes. Now the orchestra with a dreamy, crooning tilt, was playing "Kiss Me Again." Suddenly there came from the girl next to me in a tense whisper: "Haven't we met some where before? It seems I know you."

Great Snake! Was I actually hearing these words? Was I dreaming? I kept quiet, hardly stirred.

Then she spoke again. "I love big, strong men like you—won't you be my friend?"

"BEST IN THE LONG RUN"

The orchestra played softly "A Kiss in the Dark." There was no doubt now. I opened my eyes and leaned toward her. She was beautiful. "Say kid." I whispered hoarsely. "Whatcha doin' tonight, huh?"

Then she called three ushers and 29 seconds later I found myself sitting outside on the sidewalk. I ask you, how was I to know she was reading the movie titles aloud?—Punch Bowl.

THE CHIMNEY SWEEP

The smoke rolls up,
Higher and fading,
White limestone,
Fair skin,
Glistening—

The smoke rolls down,
Shrouding and dull,
Gray limestone,
Jaded white,
Repulsing—

The weather beats,
Time passes,
Ageing, wrinkling skin
and stone.
What difference!
Chicago or time.
Let me breathe smoke!

Too Big

An Irishman saw an advertisement in a paper one morning for musicians at the local theatre. Being a bit of a violinist, he applied for a job. He was engaged and given the cello to play.

When the conductor gave the usual signal for the orchestra to begin, all he could hear of the cello was an awful screeching noise.

He called the orchestra to halt, left his stand and went up to the Irishman.

"What's the matter, Pat?" he asked.

"When are you going to start?"

"Start!" echoed Pat. "Why I can't get the darn thing under my chin."

History Prof.—And when Lord Chesterfield saw that death was near he gathered all his friends around him. But before he died he breathed those last immortal words. Who can tell me what the dying words of Lord Chesterfield were?

Class (in chorus)—They satisfy!

Oh, Oh

A number of poor fellows were heard chanting the solemn chows below during the dances:

The day has come,
The time draws near,
The train pulls in;
My girl is here.

There goes the train,
It's come and gone,
And still I stand here
All alone.

There is a reason,
What can it be?
Instead of one
They came, all three!

AN ANNOUNCEMENT

This store wishes to thank the person or persons who paid it a visit late Monday night by breaking in the rear plate-glass window, for this act speaks volumes about the popularity of our new spring suits and other fittings. The compliment that the would-be thieves unwittingly paid is greatly appreciated.

However, plate-glass windows are expensive to break; that is if one has to pay the bill, and so if second-story gentlemen will kindly get in touch with Tom Eberts, Casey Warner, or Grub Ingram, they will be glad to let them in hereafter. These three musketeers may be found at the Owl Club between the hours of 8 p. m. and the same in the morning.

Don't Forget Spring is HERE, even tho it may not feel like it while this ad is being written.
