Campus Swimming Meet Date Set Ahead; Now Scheduled For May 24

CAMPUS FISH PRACTICING

Too Many Conflicts on Preceding Saturday Cause of Com- mittee Action

The Rollins intra-mural aquatic meet which was scheduled for May 17 next week will be held on Saturday, May 24, instead of on the previously arranged date, according to this week's announcement of the Rollins aquatic committee.

Too many other events were scheduled for next week-end to insure the success of the meet. The entire senior class will leave for Tampa on Friday for a house-party at Indian Rocks which would mean that many swimmers could not be present Saturday. The aquatic committee held that as an extra week of practice would give some of the campus swimming sharks a better chance to get in tip-top condition for the races, it would be better to postpone the local swimming championship until the twenty-fourth.

No other changes have been made in the program of the present time. It is planned to have four men's teams and four women's teams in the field. All races will be staged Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2:30.

Cups Ordered

Cups to be awarded to the winning teams have been ordered and are daily expected to arrive. Medals and ribbons will also be awarded to individual winners.

Life guards will patrol the race course on the day of the meet in order to prevent possible drownings. It is thought that a system for life-saving similar to that adopted for the Inter-scholastic Aquatic meet last month will again be put in force on the day of the Rollins events.

Interest Being Shown

During the past week many probable entries in the coming races have been seen swimming around Lake Virginia getting in shape for the big struggle. The diving towers have been in constant use during the afternoons by divers who expect to enter the fancy diving events.

Probably outsiders will be charged a small fee for admittance to the swimming races on May 24. The committee has not announced the price of tickets.

Weinberg Completes Next Year's Schedule

The schedule for the first semester next fall has been approved by the faculty and has been posted on the bulletin board. This schedule is the work of Prof. Weinburg, head of the department of engineering, who has been working on it for the past several weeks correcting most of the conflicts which usually arise at the opening of schools in the fall.

Prof. Weinberg states that the new schedule is following out the course

PHI BETAS TO PRESENT "THE TRYSTING PLACE" AT AUDITORIUM FRIDAY

Phi Beta fraternity will present two one-act plays, "The Trysting Place" and "What They Think" at the high school auditorium Friday night. The curtain will rise at 8:15. Students will be admitted to the plays for 35 cents, while all others will be charged 50 cents.

Phi Beta members have been selling tickets all week and expect a large audience tonight. All funds will go into the Phi Beta fraternity fund, it is reported.

Mrs. Orpha C. Grey is directing the Phi Beta productions. The Rollins trio will furnish the music for the evening.

"The Trysting Place" deals with youth and first loves and is reported to be brimming over with laughs. "What They Think" concerns the joys and sorrows of parents and children. The Phi Betas call the night for their plays "Booth Tarkington Night."

Editor of Success Speaks on Tuesday

Seeley Talks on "Life Forces and Their Expressions"

Dr. Walter H. Seeley, editor of the Success Magazine, spoke in chapel Tuesday morning on what he considered to be "Life Forces and their Expressions." Dr. Seeley's father who is living now in Orlando at the age of 84, also gave a short address to the students and faculty.

"Every one is born with great life forces," stated Dr. Seeley, "and it is the manner in which we direct them that determines whether we are successful men or not. We all create our own charts to go by—we rarely ever refer to other people's. If we use our great life forces correctly, we lead ourselves to development and constructive things. Whereas if we misuse them or misdirect these great powers within us, we are led to moral destruction and even to death. We should not only direct our own life forces but help others to direct theirs beneficially."

Dr. Seeley gave an illustration of the good that is accomplished by helping others direct their powers properly. A captain in the army had a hard time keeping the crime sheet clean for one of his men, a huge Indian. When the Indian was mortally wounded on the battle field he died with a smile and these words on his lips, "You had a hell of a time keeping my crime sheet clean, didn't you, Captain?"

One of the goals to which the Success Magazine aspires is to teach criminals how to use their forces wisely. To help this cause thousands of magazines are sent monthly to the penitentiaries and prisons of the country. Dr. Seeley has in his employ an ex-prisoner who has learned how to use his marvelous and astounding powers constructively and is now accomplishing great things.

Homer Parker Receives Appointment as Editor of Sandspur, 1924-'25

WILL PICK STAFF SOON

New Editor to Take Over Duties of Office Beginning Next Week

Homer S. Parker '26 was elected editor of The Rollins Sandspur for '24-'25 this week and will take charge of the paper beginning with the next issue. Mr. Parker is now appointing his staff and making plans for the coming year.

Mr. Parker has held the position of sporting editor on The Sandspur since last September. He is experienced along journalistic lines and has expectations of producing the largest and best Sandspur in the history of the college. The Sandspur for February 1, which was produced by the department of journalism, was edited by Parker.

Sandspur election returns were first made public at the 10:30 class in journalism Tuesday morning. Prof. Hill announced that Parker's appointment had been approved by the faculty committee and the Rollins board of publications. In a short speech Mr. Parker expressed his appreciation to those who were responsible for his appointment and called on his fellow journalists for assistance on the new Sandspur staff. The announcement of Parker's election was loudly and enthusiastically received and another outburst of applause followed his speech.

It was decided that the journalism classes would take the place of the regular Sandspur staff next week with Parker directing. The last two issues will be the work of the new staff or of that portion which has been selected by that time.

The outlook for The Sandspur next year is especially promising, according to Herbert S. Mosher, Jr., retiring editor. A circulation considerably larger than ever before is practically assured and the advertising outlook is bright. "Parker will make a great success next year," was the prediction of Mr. Mosher.

To Appoint Manager

A manager to direct the business department of the paper, advertising and circulation, will be appointed by the board of publication within a few weeks, it is expected.

May Fete Queen Charms Campus at May Festival

Margaret McKay made a charming May Queen at the annual May day fete held last Thursday evening on Dyer Memorial point.

The program opened with the songs and dances of France. The Girls Glee club sang a French song while a group of dancers entertained with an old fashioned minuet. Following this came a Czecho-Slovak group, in which the glee club again sang and Hildgard Robinson and Silvia Perez

SENIORS LEAVE FOR GAY FROLIC AT INDIAN ROCKS ON GULF NEXT WEEK-END

All seniors will leave Rollins next Friday afternoon for a week-end house party at Indian Rocks on the Gulf, where they will be entertained at the summer home of D. B. McKay, publisher of the Tampa Times.

Dean and Mrs. Sprague, Prof and Mrs. Feuerstein and Mrs. Stelle will accompany the seniors on the trip. All will drive down to Tampa and then to Indian Rocks in automobiles, returning Sunday night.

Indian Rocks or Sand Key is located 40 miles southwest of Tampa on the Gulf of Mexico. Clearwater bay separates Indian Rocks from the mainland and the Gulf washes the western shore of the island. There is a bridge across the bay.

Seniors expect the most enjoyable time of the year at the coming house party. The moon will be full Sunday night when the mighty upper-classmen wend their way homeward.

YM Session Chooses Scott '24 President

Also Select Other New "Y" Offi- cers Wednesday Night

At the annual Y. M. C. A. election Wednesday night, John Scott was elected president for the coming year. Other new officers elected were: Vice president, Horace Draa; secretary, Cecil Draa, treasurer, Alvin Krohle.

The new cabinet will go into office next Wednesday night at the Y. M. C. A. meeting at that time. Mr. Scott and his crew will control the local "Y" for one year.

Following his election, President Scott was called on for a short speech. He expressed appreciation for the honor Rollins "Y" men had bestowed upon him and promised to boost the Y. M. C. A. at all times. Mr. Scott is at present planning his campaign for next year.

Plan Big Feed

President Scott will begin his term next Wednesday night by a big "feed" for all the Y. M. C. A. men of the college. The weather will determine what will be served, the new cabinet states. A speaker is also being secured for the evening. Every man is expected to be present.

The new cabinet is strongly behind the much discussed Blue Ridge trip in June and plans to send five Rollins representatives to the Y. M. C. A. conference there. Just who will make the trip has not yet been decided.

CONVENTION MEMBERS TO PICNIC NEAR LAKE

A Baraca-Philathea convention under the auspices of the Christian church will be entertained at a picnic on the shores of Lake Virginia Saturday, May 10, according to news received this week. Mrs. Grey's department of expression will help entertain the visitors to the campus.

A cynic is one, who when he sees flowers, begins to look for a coffin.

"STICK TO IT"

Established in 1894 with the following editorial:

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

EDITOR PARKER

The present Sandspur staff retires this week and Homer S. Parker, newly elected editor, will take charge of The Sandspur until this time next May.

In relinquishing control of the paper, the present editor wishes the new editor the best of luck with his journalistic venture. As members of the new staff, most of the old Sandspur workers will continue in their present or in advanced positions and will no doubt assist Parker in every possible way. The department of journalism is going to prove a great help to the new editor when new assistants are needed.

Mr. Parker is too well known on the campus to need more than a few words from us. He has filled an important position on the Sandspur staff this year in the capacity of sporting editor. Every one on the campus is familiar with his work. He has been and is a student of journalism, the most outstanding member of Prof. Hill's classes. Parker has some novel ideas with regard to the future policy and make-up of the Rollins weekly. We are certain that as long as Parker is in control, the college will read a college paper which has never been surpassed on the campus since The Sandspur was founded in 1894.

Having had the experience of editing The Sandspur for a year, the present editor appreciates Parker's position. The job of editor is no snap. Student support and co-operation are vital to a college paper's existence. All those who are able to assist are only too welcome on a college newspaper staff. Parker is more than capable of handling any situation that may arise, but a strong, enthusiastic staff and an appreciative student body will make his task 75 per cent easier.

Once again we wish the new editor success and popularity. May his term be a blessing to the college, the community and to himself.

THE ROLLINS PRESS

In writing the editorials for this last issue, we do not want to forget the Rollins Press and what its officers have done for The Sandspur this year. Without the assistance of Mr. J. H. Hill, president, and Mr. P. W. Krouse, manager, it would have been practically impossible to have published a Sandspur every week all year. Often when the advertising was insufficient to pay for the regular number of pages, the Press simply disregarded this fact and published the paper as usual. Many are the things our publishers have done for us, but they are far too numerous to mention here.

Mr. Krouse especially has been of great assistance to the editor. He has accepted copy late, given valuable advice and generally gone out of his way to insure the success of The Sandspur.

The Rollins Press is a rapidly growing concern. New printing machinery is being installed at regular intervals. It is the personal touch and up-to-date service which the Press gives its customers that insures its continued growth and prosperity.

LIBRARY REGULATIONS

Since Dr. Taintor has announced that there will be no more talking and laughing in the library during reading hours, a few have been criticizing him for his action. However, the majority realize that Dr. Taintor has done the right thing in protecting students from their more boisterous brethren.

At times in the past the library has been too noisy for study. It is a fact that the rather stringent rulings of the librarian were necessary. A little thinking will convince every one that students have a right to expect quiet in the library.

Other editors say:

THE PART OF EDUCATED MEN IN OUR DEMOCRACY

Colonel Yerkes, one of the chief promoters of the army intelligence tests, says that at least fifty million people in this country lack the brains to get through our certified high schools. Thirty-five million might get through high school, but would be stalled before graduating from college. Fifteen million can negotiate college, but less than one-third of them can graduate "with any degree of brilliancy and go on into fields of independent, abstract, and creative thinking."

When one considers that our public questions are to those of our great-grandfathers what problems in quadratic equations are to problems "under the rule of three," and when you consider, furthermore, that the man in the legislature or congress is every year less of a representative and more of a delegate, to vote as we direct and not as he might think right, is there not danger of a shortage of political intelligence in our citizenry? If this is so what about the college men drawn from the superior seventh of the population? Whatever their favorite specialty should they not all strive to gain some insight into our economic, social and political development? Ought they not endeavor to arrive at a worthwhile opinion on important questions as they come up? Should not educated men organize themselves so that their attitude will attract more attention, their voice ring farther? When a gifted leader appears like Roosevelt, combining the scientific attitude with a genius for popularity, ought not educated men to fall in behind him and help him put his program across?

If the problems confronting American citizens are becoming more complex and difficult to see into, then the proportion of voters who can "figure them out" by their own strength will become smaller and more of the voters will form the habit of looking to an element which is equipped to arrive at rational solutions of public questions. If educated men are not this element, then who is?—The Daily Cardinal.

A NEW DECALOGUE

Medicine and surgery, as every one knows, have made tremendous strides during the last century, and the last decade in particular. Who knows but what it may be only a matter of a few years before an absolute cure for the dreaded cancer will be discovered? In every branch of medicine scientists are fast nearing the point where they will have a cure for everything and anything.

Because these facts are true, nevertheless, is no reason why people should more and more bank on the devices of science, and mortgage their health as they are reported to be doing. Life is speeding up faster and faster, and we are ever becoming more careless of our health. We go and go and go, night after night; ride everywhere; eat anything which pleases our palates.

On the ground that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," doctors are advocating methods to prevent illness. Along with the doctors comes Miss Maria Leonard, dean of women at the University of Illinois, with a decalogue for health which seems uncommonly sound. Here it is—

Eat less, chew more
Ride less, walk more.
Clothe less, bathe more.
Worry less, work more.
Idle less, play more.
Talk less, think more.
Go less, sleep more.
Waste less, give more.
Scold less, laugh more.
Preach less, practice more.

Health at its best, says Dean Leonard, means resistance to disease, relaxation from mental tension, regularity at all times, re-creative power in work and play, and a radiance from life abundant.—The Daily Iowan

UNIVERSITY OF MEXICO WANTS U. S. STUDENTS

During the past four years the University of Mexico has conducted a summer session, with unusual advantages for American students who wish to become better acquainted with Mexican life.

Courses are given in elementary, intermediate and advanced Spanish; in the history, geography and literature of Latin America and Spain, as well as in such fields as archaeology, folk-lore and politics.

Special opportunities are afforded students of the summer school under the direction of trained guides to visit places of interest near the City of Mexico. Excursions are made to pyramids, volcanoes, monasteries or Indian villages.

A tuition fee of $30 entitles students to register for four or more courses. Living accommodations can be obtained for from $2.50 to $4.00 a day. Special rates can be arranged for transportation by railroad or by steamship companies.

Mexico City is 7,500 feet above sea-level; the entire summer is pleasantly cool, and the air is invigorating. The University officials and the Mexican people are particularly cordial in welcoming American students and in helping make the occasion a helpful one.

Students or teachers interested in the 1924 summer session are asked to consult the nearest Mexican Consul or write to

"The Mexican Consulate, New York City"

or the American Friends Service Committee, 20 S. 12th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

EFFICIENT STENOGRAPHIC DEPARTMENT

Notwithstanding the call of Springtime, the students in the Stenographic Department go right on working, because there are so many incentives to do good work at this time.

First, there is the Special Civil Service Stenographer-Typist Examination to be given by a government official on May 10. This examination requires a speed of 80-100 words per minute in Shorthand correctly transcribed on the typewriter at an average speed of 40 words per minute, in addition to ability in spelling, letter writing and penmanship. Applicants who pass this examination are subject to appointment to worthwhile government positions.

Several members of the class have been elected to teach Stenography in high schools next year. These young women are working to develop a high degree of proficiency in Shorthand and Typewriting, and are also doing practice teaching under the supervision of Mrs. Faust, director of the department.

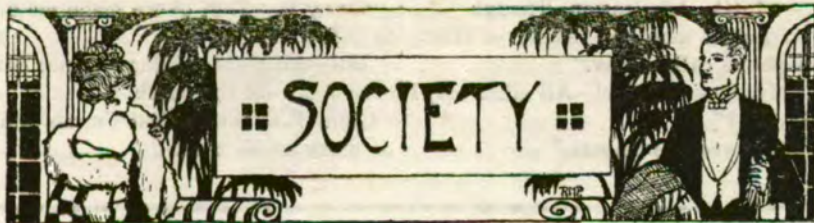

Other members of the class have planned to enter the business world, and are fitting themselves to "do some one thing well."

There are other members of the 1923-24 class who are planning to be in school next year and continue their training in Shorthand and Typewriting. The course is very popular with ambitious young men and women who desire to pursue a course that can be capitalized and one that, at the same time, increases mental efficiency.

ALUMNI COUNCIL MEETS AT COMMONS ON FRIDAY

PHI BETAS GIVE ANNUAL BANQUET AT SAN JUAN

The annual banquet of the Eta chapter of the Phi Beta at Stetson and the Theta chapter at Rollins was held May 5 at the private dining room of the San Juan hotel in Orlando.

There were seventy people present including members, associate members, honorary members and guests of both chapters. The Stetson girls motored down from DeLand.

Tables were beautifully decorated with pink roses and asparagus ferns. Place cards of the same color scheme were used. A four course dinner was served.

At intervals throughout the dinner, a musical program was furnished which had been planned by Virginia Richardson, musician of the Theta chapter. Miss Wettstein gave a welcome from the Rollins girls to the guests. The program of the evening was as follows:

wife of the Episcopal rector. She will speak on "What YW means to me and should mean to the girls."

PEGGY DEPARTS FOR HER HOME IN ATLANTIC CITY

Peggy, the well known campus aire-dale belonging to Aaron Shreve and the T. L. D. house, left Sunday noon in a special crate for Atlantic City where she will spend the summer months.

Aaron and a crowd of Tau Lambdas escorted Peggy to the station and loaded her into the baggage car. Peggy was not used to trains and favored her farewell party with many long, mournful howls. Onlookers reported that Peggy was not the only member of the party to shed tears.

The T. L. D. house seems quite lonesome without Peggy around. Tramps and hobos are beginning to hang around the house since Peggy's departure. Peggy is credited with biting and completely routing five such loafers in one day.

Registration Will Commence This Week

Students may begin to register now for next year's courses since the new schedule has been posted on the bulletin board in Carnegie hall, according to the announcement from the Treasurer's office.

The faculty urges that all those who can possibly register this spring do so as soon as possible in order to save time next fall on Registration day. Those wishing to register should secure a registration card from Mrs. Cass and after filling it in, should take it to Dean Sprague for approval.

Congregationalists Favor Scholarships For Church Members

At the meeting of the Congregational Association of Florida last week the ministers present voted to recommend that the individual Congregational churches of Florida offer Rollins scholarships to young people in the congregations. One of the ministers stated that he had four possible Rollins scholars in mind in his city. The move was taken because of the connection of the state Congregational churches with Rollins in the Rollins union.

adopted by the faculty several years ago, that of standardizing the courses, so that conflicts will be eliminated. The chief aim of the faculty is to cut out some of the electives and require students to take work which will be of benefit to them in their line. For instance, the pre-law, pre-medical and pre-engineering courses will be arranged so that the student will get the maximum credit in these particular lines. This is the principle on which the schedules have been arranged for several years.

MIXED DOUBLES TENNIS TOURNAMENT SCHEDULED

There is now much enthusiasm on the campus over the girl's tennis tournament now being played. As soon as this is over a mixed doubles tournament will be started.

The girls in the tournament are showing up well and it is expected that some real good mixed teams will appear on the horizon next week. From the girl's tournament at least 6 or 8 girls will be chosen and doubles teams which are likely to be quite evenly matched will be formed by drawing with the first 6 or 8 men.

There has been some difficulty in getting interest in a men's tournament, but it is expected that there will be a great rivalry among the men to gain the right to play with Helen Wills and Suzanne Lenglers.

A tentative list of the men players has been made out and announced and anyone not on the list has the privilege of challenging anyone on it for his place.

Drive to Collect Endowment Pledges Now Being Started

Those who pledged to the half million dollar endowment fund four years ago are being requested by the college treasurer to meet their obligations as soon as possible. A letter similar to the following has been sent to all of those who have pledges due:

I beg to call your attention to the fact that final payment on pledges to the Half Million Dollar Endowment Fund are due Jan. 1, 1925—just eight months away—and yet $194,883.13 remains due. One large gift of $100,000, which has been held up by litigation connected with the settlement of the Morse Estate, was recently set aside for Rollins College by the courts. But the balance of $94,883.13 is made up largely of pledges due in 1921, 1922, 1923 and 1924 on which not even interest has been paid.

Until the cooperative plan of church union support can be completed, which will take at least eight or ten months, the Alumni Council is directing a campaign for current expenses and other imperative needs of the College. The payment of overdue endowment pledges will lighten this burden and help in this effort to strengthen the finances of Rollins.

These endowment pledges are legal obligations and bear the following wording: "To enable Rollins College to increase the salaries of the instructing staff of the College and generally to enlarge, to improve and to insure the continuance of its educational service, I promise to pay to the trustees of Rollins College, to be applied toward the special $500,000 Endowment Fund (said fund to be invested in interest-bearing securities exclusively and the principal to remain inviolate) the sum of $..... to be paid as follows:....."

Interest payable on deferred payments at 5% per annum."

Those who pledged to this Fund should send checks for back payment to the Bank of Winter Park, which is the collection agent representing the College Trustees for this Fund. The principal will in turn be paid directly by the Bank of Winter Park to the First Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, which is the authorized trustee of all Rollins Endowment Funds. Interest on all such funds is paid the College for current expenses.

Those who pledged should heed this call and meet their obligations in these pledges so that when next February brings around the FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY, Rollins may have her finances up to date. W. R. O'Neal, Treasurer.

Over 100 of the Miami High students have signed an anti-tobacco petition, requesting the drug stores not to sell any form of tobacco to high school boys near or during school hours. Many of the business men signed the petition. This movement originated in the student body and they should be highly commended for it.

In the past we have read of booze that makes a man kiss his mother-in-law and rob his own trunk, but we pass the cromo on to the Atchison Globe which tells this one: An Atchison man went to St. Joseph and took a drink of corn whiskey. He began to see reptiles and animals in assorted colors, so he rented a room and opened a museum. Many people paid 25c admission, and when they saw only an empty room, they called a policeman. The policeman started to arrest the Atchison man, but the A. M. got him off in a corner and gave him a drink. The policeman then gave the Atchison man $300 for a half interest in the show.

CO-EDS SURVIVE LONGER THAN DO OTHER WOMEN

College women, as a rule, live longer than their less highly educated sisters. A study covering the mortality experience of 15,1561 women graduates from colleges, showed that at the ages of 20 to 64 years the death rate was only 3.24 per 1000. Between 25 and 34 years, where nearly one-half of the total observations were centered, the death rate was 2.77 per 1000. Among women in the general population of the United States registration area the death rate at this age period was more than twice as high namely 6.10 per 1000.

In commenting on the above figures Dr. L. I. Dubyin, statistician of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company says:

"These favorable figures seem to be due to several important causes. First, there is the selective effect of the secondary and collegiate process. Those physically unfit to pursue studies usually drop from the rolls. College women also come from a superior home environment; the presumption is that for nearly all of them economic and domestic circumstances have been such as to conduce to better health than the average. These women during their lives in a college environment, also benefit from periodical medical examination and from prescribed physical exercise much more than women in the general population. After graduation many of them enter professional pursuits where the risk of death is at a minimum. Not less important is the favorable effect of the whole college education on the right conduct of life.

"The favorable death rates of graduates of women's colleges clearly indicate that the prevailing mortality among women in the general population is far in excess of what it should be."

"The greatest and most powerful force in the universe is the spirit of Christ," declared Dr. Seeley, "and there's little we can do without it. So it's up to us to get the Christ spirit in us and start using our great creative life forces constructively and do great things with them."

"Don't try to cut the corners in your work, do it thoroughly and whole heartedly and you'll never regret it," he said in closing.

danced. The nature group next performed with a lovely dance. The lights changed colors during this dance and the effect was beautiful. June Mosher and Nan Weller were the soloists of this group. This part of the program ended with several Spanish dances and songs. The Girls Glee club sang Brahms' "Around the Gypsy Fire" while Virginia Nagel entertained with a lively Gypsy dance.

Next came the crowning of the Rollins May Queen. Margaret McKay who was chosen from the senior class as queen wore a beautiful gown of silver lace with a court train of white satin. Her two ladies in waiting, Eddie Parkinson and Ginnie Davis, wore white, with silver and rose bandeaux.

Ross Anderson and Junior Joiner of Winter Park held the Queen's train while Betty Joiner and Jane Gary preceded the queen carrying flowers and the crown of silver lace.

After the queen and her court had assembled, she was crowned and ascended her throne accompanied by her two ladies in waiting. Then a group of May dancers entered and danced the "Pompeian Flower Dance." This closed the program which was said to have been one of the prettiest May fete ever held at Rollins.

Can you look at the moon without

The moon,

Short Story

There were four of us sitting in the parlor. Rose, the woman with whom I had a date, her father, her small sister and myself. I was talking nonsense to Rose, her father was reading the paper upside-down and the small sister was preparing her lesson in geography. Finally the little girl raised her golden head and said:

"Father, what is a lobster?"

The old man raised his head and looking in my direction made answer.
"Ask Rose, she ought to know by this time."

WHEN DAY IS DONE

When day is done and the night
slips down,
And I've turned my back on the busy town,
And come once more to the welcome
gate
Where the roses nod and the children wait,
I tell myself as I see them smile
That life is good and its tasks worth while.

When day is done and I've come once more
To my quiet street and the friendly
door,
Where the Mother reigns and the children play
And the kettle sings in the old time
way,
I throw my coat on a near-by chair
And say farewell to my pack of care.

When day is done, all the hurt and strife
And the selfishness and the greed of life,
Are left behind in the busy town;
I've ceased to worry about renown
Or gold or fame, and I'm just a dad,
Content to be with his girl and lad.

Whatever the day has brought of care,
Here love and laughter are mine to share,
Here I can claim what the rich desire
Rest and peace by a ruddy fire,
The welcome words which the loved ones speak
And the soft caress of a baby's cheek.

When the day is done and I reach my
gate
I've come to a realm where there is no hate,
For here, whatever my worth may be,
Are those who cling to their faith in me;
And with love on guard at my humble
door,
I have all that the world has struggled for.

—Edgar A. Guest

How a Girl Should Act While Being Kissed

1. When a man first kisses you, struggle fiercely at first, and then appear to be gradually overcome by his superior strength.
2. Close your eyes and hold yourself rigidly, relaxing a bit if the kiss endures.
3. Take your breath in little, short gasps.
4. Let a variety of expression flood your face—anger, sorrow, joy. It is important that all this be registered.
5. Struggle occasionally as if to free yourself.
6. Scratch and bite if opportunity presents itself, but do not dig too deeply.
7. As he is about to release you, faint if possible.—Exchange.
