DEATH CLAIMS EDWARD H. BREWER AND WILLIAM C. COMSTOCK; BOTH MEN WERE PIONEER RESIDENTS OF WINTER PARK

A double blow has been dealt the college and the community in the loss of Edward H. Brewer and William C. Comstock, whose deaths occurred within a week of each other.

For years these men, close friends, have been two of the chief supports of Rollins. Mr. Comstock, who came to Rollins about forty-five years ago, was one of the founders of Rollins College. Since that time he has been a trustee of the college and has served on the executive committee. Mr. Comstock, a graduate of North Western University, is the author of several books.

Mr. Brewer came to Winter Park about twenty-five years ago and was closely identified with everything concerning the development of Rollins. Besides his interest in the college, Mr. Brewer took an active part in Winter Park improvements. He was especially interested in the town library and was chairman of the committee to oversee the addition to the library building last year.

Upon first coming to Winter Park Mr. Brewer occupied the home now owned by Mrs. John K. List. At Dr. George M. Ward's request he bought College Grove, belonging to the college, and developed it into his present estate.

Mr. Brewer died at his home in Courtland New York as the result of a stroke of paralysis. The stroke was the third that Mr. Brewer had suffered in the past two years.

Mr. Comstock underwent an operation in a Chicago hospital and was thought to be recovering nicely when the news of his death reached Winter Park.

Y.M.C.A. SOON TO ISSUE BOOK OF INFORMATION

The Y. M. C. A. is now engaged in issuing a handbook of information concerning the college and activities. It is to be a regular "Who's Who" of the campus, giving the names of all presidents of organizations, their purposes and so forth. The book is being issued at the suggestion of President Weir and is to make its appearance next week. Horace "Shorty" Draa is the Editor-in-Chief, and all information should be handed to him. Shorty is vice president of the Y. M. Miss Eva Thompson, an officer of the Y. W. C. A. is acting as advertising manager of the book.

Books of this nature are issued in most of the large schools of the country, and are helpful in many ways both to students and to people who are not connected with the college. This is the first year that Rollins has had such a thing and it is hoped that it will become one of the regular college publications.

ZEHLER CHOSEN HEAD OF FRESHMAN CLASS

At a meeting of the Freshman class held during the first of last week, Charles Zeyler was elected president of the class. Zeyler hails from somewhere in New York state. He was an honor student in high school and has played four years of high school football. He is also a basketball, baseball and track man of no small ability. He is making his debut in college football with the Tars this year and is making a strong bid for the quarter back job.

The freshman class this year is larger than it has been for years, the enrollment totalling over one hundred. The majority of the rats are honor students from high school, which speaks well for the academic requirements and standing of the college. Most of them, too, are talented in some way as was shown in the preliminary initiation held a few days ago. Zeyler is to be congratulated on being chosen leader of such a talented class, but is also to be warned that he must take care to lead their talents in the right direction, as the

Florida Centennial Coming Nov. 9-15; Held at Tallahassee

All Florida is interested in the Florida Centennial Celebration which is to be staged in Tallahassee November 9-15. This celebration is to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of established government in Florida and the selection of a seat for such government.

One hundred years ago, November 8th, 1824, the Legislative Council of Florida first met in Tallahassee, in a log cabin to hear the message of Governor Duval and to enact laws.

Following the transfer of Florida territory from Spain to the United States, February 22, 1821, Saint Augustine was the seat of government for East Florida and Pensacola was the seat of Government for West Florida. This awkward arrangement resulted in the selection of Tallahassee as the capital for all Florida.

The celebration, therefore, will mark the progress of one hundred years of Florida's history from 1824 to 1924. This history will be revealed in various forms during the week's celebration. From an unorganized territory of unknown, inaccessible lands of little value into a state of known resources into the "Playground"

TARS LEAVE TODAY FOR GAINESVILLE; GAME CALLED FOR 3:30 TOMORROW; SQUAD IN GOOD CONDITION FOR GAME

CLOVERLEAF RECEPTION POSTPONED ONE WEEK

The Cloverleaf reception, which was scheduled for tomorrow night, has been postponed for a week because of the game at Gainesville. The reception is the annual affair at which everybody meets everybody else. It was scheduled for the fourth before the game with Florida was arranged but because of the fact that the team and many of the other students will not be able to return from Gainesville in time Saturday night, it has been shifted to Saturday, the eleventh. Then again, the boys on the team probably won't feel much like dancing after their hard game and long trip home.

The program is being formulated and one of the attractions will be that of the faculty walking the chalk mark. Games and dancing will take up most of the evening. Refreshments will be served at a late hour, and those girls sure know how to serve refreshments.

The Chase Hall reception has also been postponed until a week after the Cloverleaf affair. This reception

Chase Hall Elects Student Senate For Term of 1924 - 25

Chase Hall held its yearly election last Monday morning. Bob Wilson was elected head proctor. Maxwell McRoberts, R. Chandler, A. Kroehle and Guy Colado being elected as his assistants. It is the duty of these proctors to regulate the student government in Chase and to see that all college rules pertaining to study and so forth are lived up to.

For several years Chase Hall has been governed by a student senate and the work has been done very well. Years ago it was necessary to have a faculty member to supervise the dormitory and act as sort of policeman. This proved unsatisfactory in many ways and was consequently superseded by the present plan. All matters of student government are first brought before the senate for its decision. If it is unable to settle the matter satisfactorily it is referred to the faculty committee for final decision. In this way, many petty matters which would otherwise take up the time of the faculty and cause unnecessary trouble, are settled within the Hall and by the students themselves.

The senate will meet soon to formulate

The Tars left early this morning for Gainesville, where they meet the Gators tomorrow. They expect to arrive in Gainesville in time for a light signal practice. Twenty-two men, the coach and the manager made the trip. A large number of students are accompanying them. Many Winter Park people are driving through also.

The team is in first class condition, after a hard week's work. Scrimmage Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday and signal workouts was the program carried out and resulted in but a few minor injuries. The Tars are in a fighting mood and are looking forward to giving the Gators a good game tomorrow afternoon.

The Tars have been a little handicapped this year, because of the fact that they have so few letter men back, but Coach Duyck has been hard at it for two weeks and has worked out a smooth combination. Florida, on the other hand has the advantage of having practically the same team back this year that they had last year, with the addition of the entire last year's freshman squad. They have also been practicing for over a month, having held preliminary workouts and training at St. Augustine during the first of September. All this shows that Florida has an advantage over Rollins, which the Tars will have to offset with fighting spirit.

The game is to be played on Fleming field which has a seating capacity of nearly ten thousand. A capacity crowd is expected, this being the Gators' opening game and one of their few home games this season. A Rollins section has been reserved and

BOB WILSON ELECTED CAPTAIN OF FOOTBALL

At a meeting of the letter men last Friday, Bob Wilson, last year's center and the man who will without doubt hold down the pivot position this season, was elected captain of the football squad for the year 1924.

Bob needs no introduction to anyone who saw any of the Rollins games last year. His work at center was superb. He was a tower of strength on the defensive and proved himself more than able to handle any of his opponents on the offensive. His four years high school experience and his natural ability as a football player makes him an invaluable man and the logical selection to lead the Fighting Tars. Bob is a Junior this year and is one of the most popular students on the campus.

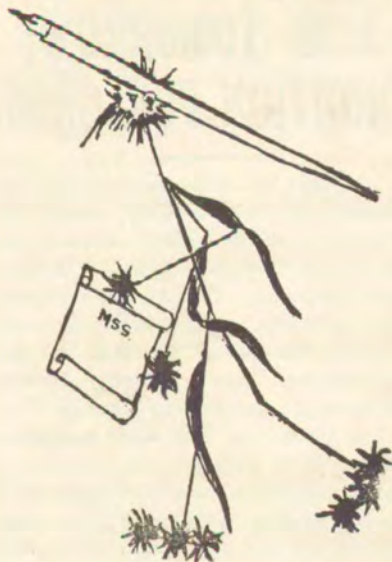

Last year, Bob besides playing center on the football team, was the star center of the Chase Hall basketball team in the inter-frat league and was high point man of the team.

THAT "CARRY ON" SPIRIT

The Tars have it. As a whole they are a raw squad. Some of them have never held a football in their hands before this year. Tomorrow they play a team that has a reputation that would itself defeat a less spirited team. You don't see any of them going around with long faces and handing out preliminary apologies and you don't hear any of them boasting about the knock-out they're going to hand Gainesville. They're keeping quiet, but they're "carrying on."

The weather has not been the best in the world for football practice. Daily rains have changed the field into an aggregation of mud puddles. Being buried in a mud puddle under a dozen or so other players could hardly be called an incentive to great and glorious deeds in the game of football. Quit on account of the weather? Not the Tars! They wouldn't want to if they could, and even if they did want to their coach wouldn't let them. The boys have practiced every day except Sunday since college opened. When the rain has been too heavy for field practice, they have skull practice. The moment the rain lets up, out they go.

This period of training, like all others, has brought its full quota of injuries. In all cases except where playing was an impossibility, the men have continued on the field. "Carry on"? They don't know how to quit. And that's what will make the Tars into a formidable football machine before the end of the season.

WINTER PARK RECEPTION

Officials, faculty members and students of Rollins College were guests of honor at a reception given at the Women's club by the churches of Winter Park last Saturday evening.

In charge of the reception were a committee composed of Dr. C. A. Vincent, chairman, and three ladies from each of the churches. Decoration for the building consisted of cut flowers and fern.

The receiving line included Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Barnum, President and Mrs. Weir and Miss Weir, Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Vincent, Dr. and Mrs. H. Ingham, Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Thomas, Reverend and Mrs. Reid, Mayor and Mrs. C. Fred Ward, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Shepherd, Dean Sprague, and Professor Cason. Approximately two hundred guests were present. During the evening delicious refreshments of fruit punch, ice cream and cake were served.

TO THE TARS

Boys, Rollins is proud of you. Not so many of us will be able to be with you tomorrow to shriek our pleasure when you make your good plays, to cheer you when the game's going against you. But we're "with you" just the same.

We know that you will play your best. We know that you will play just as hard and fight just as courageously as if you and the opposing team were of equal strength. We know that you will play the game. And whatever the result, whether victory or defeat, we know it will be glorious.

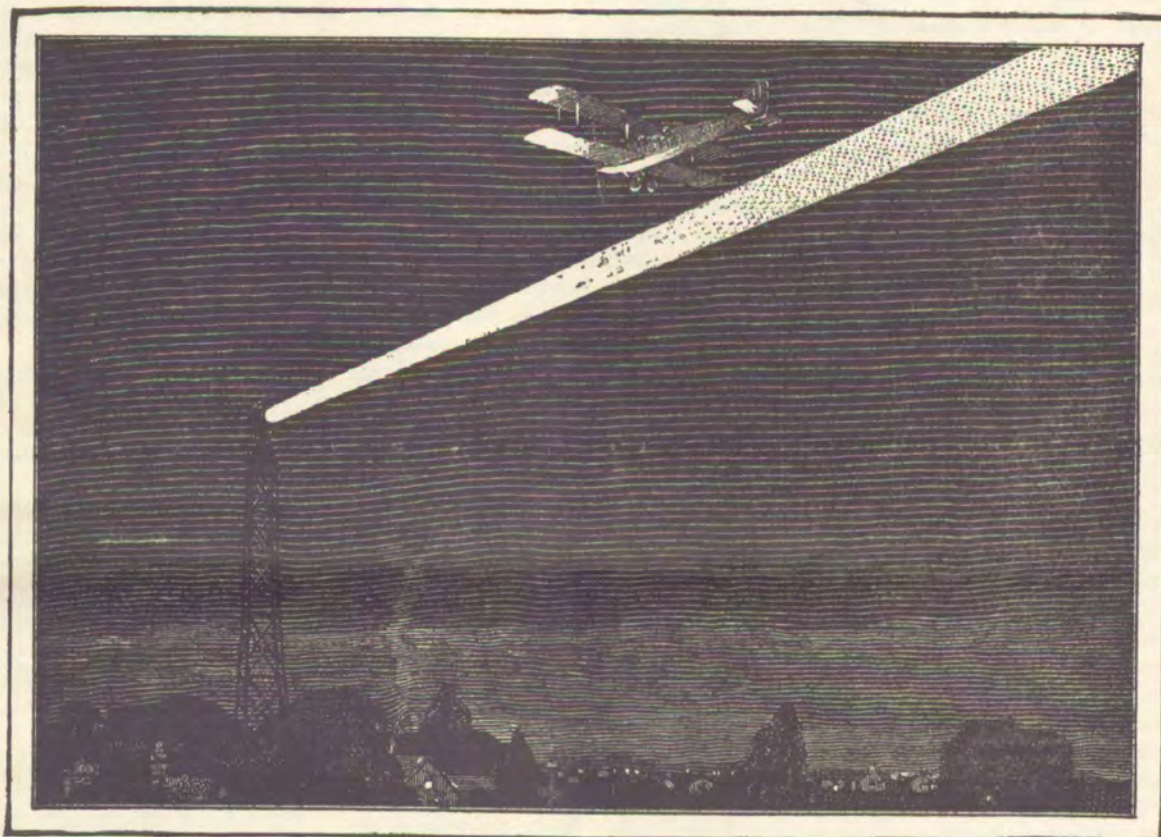

Boys, Rollins is proud of you.

Cloverleaf has developed a craze for fancy dancing. It is even rumored that they have gone as far as to invent a new kind of Hula Hula. Ask Althea.

"Talk about torture--"

"Yes?"

"Nothing is worse than sitting in a barber's chair with your mouth full of lather, watching the boy trying to give another customer your new Panama hat."

Beacons of the sky

Between Cleveland and Rock Springs, Wyo., along the night route of the air mail service, tall beacons have been placed every twenty-five miles.

This achievement has been made possible by engineers of the Illuminating Engineering Laboratories of the General Electric Company, working with officials of the Post Office Department. A startling achievement now will be a commonplace of life in the new America which you will inherit.

If you are interested to learn more about what electricity is doing, write for Reprint No. AR391 containing a complete set of these advertisements.

Revolving on great steel towers, General Electric searchlights, totaling 1,992,000,000 candle-power, blaze a path of light for the airplane pilot.

What the lighthouse is to the ocean navigator, these beacons are to the conquerors of the air.

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

At the meeting of the Junior class Tuesday the following officers were elected:

- Homer Parker—president.
- Eva Thompson—vice president.
- Fay Hall—secretary.
- John Scott—treasurer.

On Saturday the active members of Kappa Epsilon society were entertained at the San Juan with a bridge luncheon by the Misses Florence Bumby, Rebecca Caldwell, Margaret McKay and Mrs. John Sherman More, alumnae members of Kappa Epsilon.

At the end of the game Miss Jean Wagner was presented with a lovely door knocker for top score while Miss Betty Dickinson was given a manicure set for low score.

The K. E's. then went in to a lovely fine luncheon. The guests were Helen Dickinson, Virginia Davis, Ada McKay, "Dixie" Hill, Jean Wagner, Eva Thompson, and Fay Hall.

The following girls were elected to fill vacancies in the Y. W. cabinet: Ruth Richey, undergraduate representative; Fannie Barnes who was elected last year did not return. Eloise Arms fills the office of treasurer in place of June Mosher who is attending Iowa State this year. Barbara Sheffield fills the office left vacant by the non return of Lucille Kingsley.

Blinker Draa and Jimmy Shoesmith are both learning to do the Cloverleaf Crawl this year.

Trix failed to catch the joke about the Si-am club. That's all right, Trix, it is rather deep.

Robert Chandler visited Jacksonville for the week end to see an eye specialist. Some North Carolina scenery struck him in the eye on his way to college.

Violet Sutherland motored over from Daytona Monday to take up her abode in Cloverleaf.

Jimmie Shoesmith has started to cultivate Cloverleaf. Wonder how long he will keep this up.

The T. L. D. lawn is rather late in making its appearance this year but better late than never. It won a prize last year.

Hildegard Robinson will leave for New York some time this week where she will study voice under Miss Jean Knowlton.

Kay Beal has been laid up in the Florida Sanitarium with an infection. She expects to be back in Cloverleaf within a few days.

Madeline Leinard and Earl Robinson will be married some time in October. Madeline will certainly be missed around the campus this year.

Woof Bowers arrived last night and was carried in great ceremony to the Phi Alpha House. Everything went fine until the wheel came off the cart.

Red Fralick thought that he would make a good referee when he appeared on the football field in white duck pants. It's too bad, Red, but you are a quarterback.

Eleanor Branning has discovered that it is much easier to wash one's hair in the lake than in Cloverleaf. She hasn't learned the art of balancing yet though.

The B. O. M. Club is looking pretty hopeless this year. Oh well, B. O. M.'s never could stay together, especially when the B. O. M.ing is so bad. However, once a B. O. M. always a B. O. M.

The house has just acquired some rare furniture. It has great value for sentimental reasons. One of the arm chairs is reputed to have been used by Richard the Lion Hearted. At least it looks like it.

FORMER SANDSPUR EDITOR
NOW WITH ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another boost for Rollins journalism has come in the call of F. R. Bridges, Jr., of the Orlando Sentinel, to the Associated Press at Atlanta, Ga.

Bridges, Rollins graduate, came here from Southern college, where he edited the "Southern". At Rollins he studied journalism, served on the Sandspur staff, and handled the publicity for the college two years ago. He graduated from Rollins in 1923 with an A. B. degree.

Since graduating from Rollins Bridges has been with the Orlando Sentinel. Most of his work on that staff has been sports writing. For a time he edited the sports page. He also contributed a column headed "On the Q. T."

Can a girl be said to be beating about the bush when she mashes it up with a whiskered man?

Homer—"What new courses are offered this semester?"
Pop—"Cement and Concrete."
Homer—"Oh, I don't want to take that; that is too hard."

"She has refused my suit!" the hero on the stage exclaimed dramatically. "Mother," loudly whispered the little boy in the audience, "what does he want her to wear his clothes for?"

THE VALUE OF THE SMALL COLLEGE

The great work of the small denominational college is not so much the teaching of technical knowledge nor to prepare for a vocation, although the small college does do these things, but rather to shape the purpose of the youth, to develop his qualities of leadership, to cultivate his moral and spiritual nature, and to instill high ideals of conduct and service.

In a democracy like ours, everything depends upon the purposes of individual citizens; it is imperative that these purposes be socialized, moralized, and Christianized. In these days, with so many forces threatening the security and stability of our institutions, to increase a man's knowledge without touching his heart is to play with fire. The great problem that confronts our people today is the fact that, because of our material advance, we have out run our spiritual progress. He who wields great power in our institutional organization should have a great heart.

A man with a hoe may cultivate the garden plant or he may dig it up. It all depends upon the purpose, the motive, or the desire of the man.

Purpose, Motive, and Desire are character factors and are all important. The small college, because of its organization and intimate contacts, is peculiarly fitted to provide such training.

Educational training is merely a tool which can be used for good or evil. Two men may graduate from the same law school—one uses his education to uphold the law, the other uses his knowledge to assist men to evade the law.

Therefore the most important step in the education of the youth of the land is not practical or theoretical knowledge, but the training of the mind in the right use of these things. Failure to teach the importance of the great spiritual forces is a serious thing not only from the standpoint of our country, but the student as well.

Educationally, unless guided by a spiritual purpose, unless with this added skill has come an enlarged sense of obligation to his fellows, he is little more than an animated machine in the real work of the world.

We need more of the human, more of the ideal, more of the altruistic in our education—herein lies the value of the small college. We all believe in the mission of the great Universities, with their great schools for technical instruction and vocational training, but because of their organization and the laws of the land under which they operate, they of necessity leave a distinct and positive field for the small college. No class of individuals realizes that more than the presidents of our large state institutions. Pres. Suzzalo not long ago made the statement that the small college has as its supreme place and function the development of personality, and wholesome personality cannot be developed without the sustaining power of the religious consciousness.

A similar thought comes from one of the great graduate schools. Dean Woodbridge has this to say—"The development of character and personality does not enter into the progress of the graduate school, we are interested primarily in subjects and not in the preparation of students for a career."

The president of the University of Ohio makes the statement that every student before entering his institution should secure his A. B. degree from a small college in order to stabilize himself for the future.

The sort of instruction provided by the small college finds its greatest function in guarding the foundations of citizenship. The Bible was everywhere in evidence during the formative period of our national life. Dare we in the face of influences which are undermining our best ideals of citizenship, dispense with that element of education that has in all the past of Christian nations, been their chief element of strength and safety.

Touching now upon the mechanics of the small college, we see another positive value in that by adhering more closely to carefully arranged courses of study, it offers not only the best opportunity to secure broad culture, but is especially fitted to prepare students for the professional, technical, and industrial training of the larger schools and tax-supported institutions. In this they are their best allies and have a field that cannot be well occupied by any other class of institution.

The personal contact with the instructors, the smaller classes in which studies are pursued and a wise use of electives are greatly in favor of the small college. It gives opportunity for the average and even weaker student to get into active participation in all phases of the life of the school.—A chance to develop an individuality that would be impossible in the masses of the large institutions.

Take as an illustration college athletics in the large institution; under conference rules the student does not even have an opportunity until he reaches his Sophomore year and even then must enter into competition for varsity standing with many scores as eager as himself. While in the small college his ability is recognized and utilized at once.

Again it fosters by its requirements and close contacts that general preparation which fits for general living, and gives the broadest foundation for later special work. It is but fair to say that the student who desires to attend college because it is perhaps the popular thing to do will find small opportunity to hide behind masses of his fellow students, and enjoy an easy, happy existence for a season.

He will find that industry and positive effort, day by day, will be required of him and that the time spent in his own particular seed-time, with hopes of a harvest by and by.

Again, the small college gives the student the closest fellowship with his instructor, promoting the interchange of ideas and the opportunity of absorbing something of the ideals and character of each instructor with whom his work brings him in contact.

Aside from the cultural phases of the curriculum, this is perhaps the most valuable attribute of the small college. The opportunity to live in intimate association with great souls, to be able to think of his instructor as his personal and well-known friend, who while he instructs him is able to point out to him the finer things of mind and soul, that can never be

SWIMMING

With the opening of Rollins this year, one may see some very promising material for a swimming team about the campus, and we are looking forward to a great year for aquatics at Rollins this year.

ORGANIZED SWIMMING

Organized classes for girls will start sometime next week. There will be an advanced class, and a beginners class.

Diving will be included along with the swimming course for those who wish it.

CANOEING

Another one of Rollins favorite sports is canoeing. Each year meets are staged in order to determine the best canoeist. Singles, doubles, mixed doubles and War Canoe races will be held. Four War Canoe crews will be picked, two for the women, and two for the men, each competing for honors. Canoe tilting is the most thrilling and exciting of them all. Some of the matches were so even last year to determine the champion for the year, that they would last for twenty-five minutes, and even at that they were ordered to stand on the gunwale of the canoe, so as to make it easier to be tilted over.

With Lake Virginia, one of the largest and beautiful of all the Florida lakes, right here in our midst, Rollins should be the center of all Aquatic sports.

RAY GREENE ATTENDING

A. A. U. MEETING IN ATLANTA

Ray Greene, for ten years athletic director of Rollins and now in charge of all amateur athletic work in Florida under the control of the A. A. U., left for Atlanta Wednesday afternoon where he will attend the annual meeting of the Southeastern Association of the Amateur Athletic Union. In addition to his general interests in athletics of the Southeast and his representing the Orange County Athletic Association Mr. Green is making this trip to Atlanta with the hope of getting the approval of the officials of the Southeast of a petition he will present for the purpose of organizing a state association of amateur athletics for Florida.

If the Southeastern Association of the A. A. U. approves the petition of the Florida sportsmen it will mean the dividing of the state of Florida into seven districts. District and state championships will be conducted in the several sports promoted by the A. A. U. Rollins will be headquarters for one of these seven districts and in all probability a number of state championships will be held here annually.

A meeting of the amateur athletic organizations of Florida has been called by Commissioner Greene. These representatives will gather in Orlando, October 10th when it is expected that a state organization will be formed. Coach Duyck has been invited to represent Rollins.

Finally, my kindly reader, I am sure that you will agree with me that in the long run it is one's aggregate of character that counts and no form of education is worth while that does not seek first of all to instill into the youth of the land the fundamentals of high ideals and morality. No theory of education or institution of learning of whatsoever kind, can justify the lack of these.

TARS LEAVE TODAY FOR GAINESVILLE; GAME CALLED FOR 3:30 TOMORROW

everyone is urged to go and help the fighting Tars whip the Orangemen.

The Tars lineup has not been announced and will probably not be until just before the game. Coach Duyck has two good men for every position and expects to use them tomorrow. On the other hand, Florida has five or six men for each position and will be able to keep a fresh team on the field at all times. This will work hardship on the Tars but most of the men are in good condition and should be able to stand the gaff pretty well. Colado, who injured his knee in scrimmage last week has recovered and will be in the lineup. Zeyler's ankle is again in good shape and he will probably start at quarter. These two men were the only ones on the injured list.

Last year the Tars met defeat at the hands of the Gators 28-0. This year the Tars intend to make up in part for that defeat. Altho this year's team has fewer veterans it is in no way inferior to last year's and they are all out to fight and win.

The Tars schedule is not yet complete but Manager Draa and Graduate Manager Sloan are negotiating with several teams for games to fill up the open dates. The trip to Key West is practically assured and the Cuba trip will be arranged within a few days. Southern will be played on Armistice Day as usual. The remainder of the schedule has not yet been announced but will probably be in the next issue of the Sandspur.

If the Cuba trip is arranged, two games will probably be played, one with the University of Havana and one with the Cuban National Police. Rollins won both games last year by large scores but the reports from Cuba are that both teams are greatly improved this year and that the Tars will have their hands full.

Last year the Cubans were not experienced and lacked good coaching, but this year they have employed American coaches and will have more men who have had football experience.

The game at Key West, with the University of Havana, will be played during the San Carlos Exposition. This exposition lasts a week and includes a program of athletics, including baseball, basketball, tennis, football, swimming and track and field meets.

At the last workout Coach Duyck had two squads running signals and it is expected that one of them will start tomorrow. He held a light scrimmage, the teams lining up as follows:

Daniels	r. e.	Scott
Lafroos	r. t.	Colville
Couch	r. g.	Draa
Wilson (c)	c.	Winderweedle
More	l. g.	Redding
Warner	l. t.	Armstrong
Potter	l. e.	Shoesmith
Fralick	q.	Joyce
Boardman	l. h.	Abbot
Colado	r. h.	Hilliard
Evans	f. b.	Poole

late new rules for study, conduct and so forth. All the men on the senate are old men here and understand the conditions and are able to cope with them. One of the big jobs of the senate is the regulation of the rats. The senate acts as an advisory committee in supervising the initiation of the new men.

ZEYLER CHOSEN HEAD OF FRESHMAN CLASS

Sophomores will hold him responsible for many of the actions of the Rats in the coming months.

Miss Vaudine Logan was elected secretary of the rats. Miss Logan also holds the position of associate editor of the Sandspur.

Miss Grace Jaquith, was elected treasurer and Pinkie Blevins, was awarded the vice-president's job. Blevins is the boy who is quite handy with the banjo.

ECHOES FROM CHAPEL

(Editor's note: From now on these extracts from President Weir's chapel speeches will be a regular feature of the Sandspur. Watch for them.)

Character stands at the back of all that is accomplished.

Man's works are as great as his life, and no greater.

Deeds are the only measure of ability.

He who would succeed cannot be satisfied with the minimum of achievement.

Responsibility should always equal ability.

Government is shrouded in respect for others.

The strength of the whole always depends upon the manner in which each performs his task.

The man who insists upon going his own way soon finds that that way leads to isolation.

Man is not at any time all good or all bad. The eternal question is which shall dominate.

Every effort of the mind is a painful effort.

All the crowd of failures, semi-failures and little ten cent successes represent the giant Can't. They stand on the side lines of Life and watch the other fellow go ahead.

Diner (contemplating piece of chocolate cake the waiter has set before him): "I say, waiter, I ordered Washington pie. Shouldn't the icing be white?"

Waiter: "Only on George Washington pie, sir. This is Booker T. Washington."

is one of the most interesting of the year. The rats are usually called upon to entertain, with a minstrel or some similar program and with the talented rats Chase Hall has this year the program should be a winner. Musicians and comedians are plentiful this year and it may be possible to work up an orchestra so that dancing may be added to the program.

FLORIDA CENTENNIAL COMING NOVEMBER 9-15 HELD AT TALLAHASSEE

of America"; from a regime of lawlessness and disorder into a state of well-regulated government; from a land of few possibilities into a state of many possibilities, and much sought, is the history of the evolution of Florida.

Five flags, French, English, Spanish, Confederate and the United States, have floated over this territory. A Centennial button has been arranged which bears these five flags and other emblems. This button is recognized as one of honor and is being worn by thousands of Florida citizens and will be worn by many other thousands.

"I'm going to call my baby Charles," said the author, "after Lamb, you know. He is such a dear little lamb."
"Oh, I'd call him William Dean," said the friend, "he 'Howells' so much."

"What do cannibals do with the heads of their victims?"

"Probably make noodle soup of them."

A colored gentleman named Joshua Johnson was arrested for making whiskey. When his case was called the judge jokingly asked him if he was any relation to the Joshua that made the sun stand still.

"No, sah," replied Joshua, "I'se no 'lation to dat guy, but I'se the real and 'riginal Joshua that made de moonshine."
