TARS LOOK GOOD AFTER HARD WEEK'S PRACTICE

FT. BENNINGS SWAMPS SOUTHERN

The Ft. Benning Infantry School of Columbus, Georgia, swamped Southern College of Lakeland, 42-7, last Saturday at Columbus. The game was loosely played thruout and Ft. Benning had things all their way up until the last few minutes of play then Southern stiffened and ran thru them for their lone counter.

After a hard week's work the Tars are looking better than ever and seem to be at top season form. The first practice of the week last Monday saw most of the injured list back in the lineup with a few exceptions. The number on the injured list can be attributed to the fact that such a hard game as the Florida game was played so early in the season, before the men were really able to get into good condition. Only two weeks of preliminary practice was possible and in this short time a combination had to be worked out and scrimmages held before the men were ready for it. Then came the Florida game in which the Tars had to go up against men who had been hard at it for almost two months. Consequently several of the Rollins boys were laid up and have just gotten out during the last week.

Zeyler, halfback, who was laid up with a bad foot is back in the lineup and is going like a house afire. His foot injury seems to not have affected his speed and aggressiveness. Couch, guard, is in again with his knee entirely recovered. Couch is big and fast and is one of the mainstays in the Tars line. Parker, tackle, who was out with a wrenched knee is again able to navigate and is looking good for one of the tackle positions. Lofroos, tackle, is still out but will be back in the lineup soon. Evans, fullback, is also still on the injured list but will be in for the next game. Potter and Shoesmith, ends, have been

Editor Of Tomokan Announces His Staff

The Editor of The Tomokan, Stan Warner, announced his staff last week. He states that he believes that he has a staff that will work and one that is capable of putting out the best Tomokan that Rollins ever had. The members of the staff are as follows: Editor-in-Chief, Stanley Warner; Associate Editor, Robert Colville; Business Manager, Robert Wilson; Financial Manager, Eva Thompson; Literary Editor, Marjory Ufford; Sports Editor, Homer Parker; Photo Editor, Aaron Shreve; Society Editor, Fay Hall; Joke Editor, Annabeth Wilson; There remains to be selected, representatives elected so as not to hold up classes. It is the wish of the Editor that the classes act on this matter as soon as possible and get their representatives elected so as not to hold up the work when things get underway.

Canoeing Season Was Officially Opened On Last Sunday Afternoon

By far the most important person on the campus today is Aqua Patrolman Alkin Krohle, who was elected by the campus fathers at their weekly meeting Sunday night. This Patrolman is dractically needed as evidenced by the fact that on Sunday afternoon several couples had words, to say the least, over who was going to park where on the shores of Lake Virginia.

As every one knows, this lake is not very large and since there are so many private lawns extending down to the waters' edge, the available parking space is, indeed, limited. This situation is even more acute than it was last year because all of the canoes are in excellent condition this year, and this means that all of the canoes will be out on Sunday afternoons.

Another very important law that was passed is thus quoted: "All men shall take out canoers licence, the same to be obtained from His Honor, Guy Colado, upon the would-be-canoers exposition of his skill in the art of canoeing. So far the only man who has petitioned for a license is Rat Red Winderweedle, who did not pass the test. Rat Winderweedle declares that he will practice diligently and apply again next Sunday.

There is one man who is not worry-

RIDING CLUB FOR GIRLS WILL BE FORMED SOON

Mark time, mark! Forward! Backward! Mark time, mark! Changeable, isn't it? That is the way Miss Jones is working the girls in "Gym". But to make up for this cruelty she has promised them something fine; namely, horseback riding. The horses will be procured from a man in Orlando who is having a number of Kentucky thoroughbreds shipped down for he believes like the rest of us—nothing is too good for Rollins girls. There will be a very nominal fee for the hire of the horses. A Horse Club is to be formed and all the numerous drives about Winter Park and Orlando will be explored. Miss Jones had one of the horses out every afternoon last week mapping out plans for the riding classes. It is hoped that it will be possible to form a riding club for men in the near future if a sufficient number of horses can be secured. The addition of equestrian classes to the curriculum is a big boost for the athletics among the women because, in the past, aquatics, tennis and basketball have been the only sports in which the girls could participate.

When it comes to playing "Going to Jerusalem", it seems as though Mrs. Faust would be the only one that would succeed in getting there.

FLORIDA A. A. U. FORMED AT ORLANDO FRIDAY

Girls To Have Volley Ball And Swimming Teams; To Meet Other Schools

The girls are showing a big interest in swimming this year and much good material has been found in the Freshman class in addition to our last year mermaids. Heretofore, most of the aquatic honors of Rollins have been carried off by the boys but this year the girls are going to show us something. Plans for a team have been made and a meet is to be arranged between Rollins and the Winter Park High School. The personnel of the team will be published as soon as the final try out stake place. With such stars as Dickie Dickson, Eva Thompson and Grace Jacquith, to say nothing of the promising material which has made appearance among the freshmen, it is safe to prophesy a successful year in aquatics. Along with the swimming, canoeing is also coming to the fore among the girls' athletics and some interesting contests are looked forward to, among the different classes.

Volley Ball

The tennis court back of Cloverleaf which has remained idle for so long has been at last repaired and is serving for Volley Ball. The first practice was held Monday and about a dozen girls turned out. Intra-class games have been planned and the captains

DR. WEIR PRESENT AT PRESBYTERIAN MEETING

Dr. Weir returned last Wednesday from Jacksonville where he attended the annual Synod of the Presbyterian Church South. His speech before that gathering and the decisions reached at the meeting were not available at press time. He addressed the Synod on the subject of the Rollins Union plan by which the two Presbyterian Churches and the Congregational Church have offered their support to Rollins. It is hoped that the final plans for the Union will be completed next week at the annual Synod of the Presbyterian Church North at Jacksonville. Dr. Weir leaves Monday to attend this meeting. He is scheduled to speak before this body on next Tuesday and will bring out to them the salient features of the plan. Dr. Weir will remain in Jacksonville until Wednesday and will then return to Winter Park.

Under the guidance of President Weir Rollins has already shown that she is developing and that this year will be the most successful that she has had since the founding of the college. The curriculum is wider and better and the student body is the finest that Rollins has ever known and with the consummation of the Union Plan, Rollins will soon take her place as one of the finest educational institutions in the South.

Orlando became the center of amateur, athletic activity last Friday when representatives of the A. A. U. and other amateur athletic organizations gathered and formed what will be known as the Florida Amateur Athletic Federation. When the annual meeting of the A. A. U. of the United States is held in Atlantic City in November, a petition to form a Florida Association of the A. A. U. will be presented.

Sportsmen of the state interested in amateur athletics formed last Friday what is sure to become an influential body in the handling of amateur sports for Florida. Every section of the state has expressed itself, through representative sportsmen, to the effect that the time had arrived for the forming of a state association to organize and promote amateur contests.

The Interscholastic Aquatic Contest, held at Rollins College annually, had developed two young men who made the Olympic Team this year, and other promising young athletes are being discovered.

The state of Florida will be divided into seven districts, with district headquarters centering around the towns in which are located the leading institutions of higher learning of the state. There are six such towns in which six district headquarters will be set and on the lower coast will be located, in either Palm Beach or Miami, the seventh district station.

It is planned, wherever there is sufficient interest, to hold athletic contests for individual communities, through the county athletic association which will be formed, to conduct county meets. After the county meets have been held, district competitions will be staged and finally state championships will be conducted.

It is planned to hold annually, a state amateur conference, in which will be discussed matters so important to as rapidly growing state as Florida. Leading athletic officials of the United States will be secured to assist in the

Girls' Tennis Teams Will Be Organized

Hurrah for Miss Jones! We know we are going to have a big, grand tennis tournament this year for hasn't Miss Jones promised that every girl who is not a shark at handling a racquet will be adept at it before long? Add to this number the ones who are already tennis sharks and it is easy to predict that this year will be the biggest one for tennis that we have ever had. The courts are in use every day by both the boys and girls and there is going to be some keen, hot competition in the tournament. Miss Eva Thompson and Miss Billie Mulligan will form the nucleus about which a strong team can be built. These two girls ranked highest in the tournaments last year.

THOSE FRESHMAN CAPS

Much has been said by poets and otherwise on the subject of whitecaps. Most of these great works deal with the gleam of the moonlight on the soaring whitecaps at sea. There was a time when no love story lived up to its name unless it contained some version of the whitecaps rolling by the sunkist beach, or the windswept beach, or the sandtossed beach—all depending on the particular type of indigestion from which the author happened to be suffering at the time of the beach spasm.

Another kind of cap, and one that is naturally suggested by the name white cap, is the nightcap. Both the whitecap and the nightcap are of a past, a past that, perhaps, had much to do with the evolution of the freshman cap. In almost all the historical tales in which humor figures, the nightcap had its place. We read of the tyrannical old dame who was so mean to her husband that she would steal his night cap in the cold, still hours, and merciless expose his pate, guiltless of even a suggestion of hirsute growth, to the freezing weather. Then there was the story of the wonderful marksman who would stand his villainous opponent up against a wall and shoot him through the nightcap, or stand him in his night cap up against the wall and shoot him. Either way the fancy happened to strike him.

But all this was "tame" compared to the stories of the Rollins freshman caps. To begin with, the color is an unmistakable green. Even a color-blind person could see that with both eyes closed. And there is a different style every year—no end to Sophomore ingenuity. Then, too, the girls have such amazing styles of their own. However there's been a suggestion for the caps of next season that should make them more striking than any other freshman caps that have ever made a campus appearance. The idea is to have them in the shape of regular sailor caps, to carry out the name of the football squad—Tars. So the cap problem for next year has already been solved.

OPEN DOOR

Have you ever been "alone" in a crowd? The foregoing question immediately brings before the minds of magazine addicts the Listerine advertisement—the one about halitosis, you know. We aren't giving the Listerine people any free advertisement in the Sandspur, though.

This is another subject altogether. It's simply this. A great many of us are "on our own" for the first time. This is our first chance to figure out little things and sometimes, big things, for ourselves.

Before this, we've had the home-folks back of us. They were the monitors who helped us choose our friends. They helped us with our social activities. Here at college it is very different. At home we were rather privileged. We could do things and get away with them, because our families are "nice people". Very few of us brought our families along to Rollins and whether they are rated as "nice people" here or not depends on us individually. People accept us at our value and not our families. So if we are to keep the old escutcheon bright we will have to keep an "open door" to our characters.

Not only does our "being on our own" affect our rating as or as not "nice people." It affects us in more deals with "being alone in a crowd". We come, at least many of us do, with the idea of acquiring some stupendous knowledge out of some amazing text book, from some superwise college professor. That is a good idea, and it should receive first consideration.

But there is still another great good that we get out of college life—that is mixing with people our own age, getting their ideas, learning to judge people for ourselves. And that knowledge is a mighty big asset when we actually get started on that dream road called "Make Good".

Don't isolate yourself. You are not so much better than the other fellow after all. Give him a chance. He might be almost human. If a gang is doing anything (anything that is O. K.) get in with the bunch somehow and manage to be in with the fun. Don't let them leave you behind.

Go around to the other boy or girl's room. Invite them over to yours. Don't close your door and shut yourself away from your associates.

Keep an open door.

She—What makes you so fat?

He—I eat soldier food.

She—I don't see how that makes you fat.

He—Don't it go to the front?

EDMUND HALLEY
1656-1742

Son of a London soap-boiler who became Astronomer-Royal. At the age of 20 headed an expedition to chart the stars of the Southern hemisphere. Financed and handled the printing of Newton's immortal Principia.

The comet came back

The great comet that was seen by William of Normandy returned to our skies in 1910 on its eleventh visit since the Conquest. Astronomers knew when it would appear, and the exact spot in the sky where it would first be visible.

Edmund Halley's mathematical calculation of the great orbit of this 76-year visitor—his scientific proof that comets are part of our solar system—was a brilliant application of the then unpublished Principia of his friend Sir Isaac Newton.

The laws of motion that Newton and Halley proved to govern the movements of a comet are used by scientists in the Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company to determine the orbit of electrons in vacuum tubes.

As spectacular as a comet has been the world's electrical development. By continuous scientific research the General Electric Company has accelerated this development and has become a leader in the industry.

GENERAL ELECTRIC

The annual Cloverleaf reception was held last Saturday evening in Cloverleaf parlors.

The girls were busy all the afternoon arranging decorations and getting the food ready. By 8 o'clock the parlors were a maze of pink string spider webs. As the boys arrived they were presented with a small stick and one end of a pink string. They were then told to start winding the string around the stick. After much untwisting and pulling of strings, each boy found a girl's name on a slip of paper. With this girl, he had his first dance.

The music was excellent. Stan Warner, pianist, Mac McRoberts, clarinetist, Doug. Potter, saxophonist, and Pinky Blevins, banjoist, certainly did get pep into the music. These boys played all evening, and were the greatest factor in the success of the evening.

About the middle of the evening Charlotte Foster gave two solo dances. The first was a classical number while the second was a peppy jazz dance. Charlotte is an unusually graceful dancer and her part of the program was most entertaining.

Soon after this ice cream and cake were announced and a mob scene gathered at the kitchen door. Everyone finally was served, however, and dancing again occupied the time.

Next, the faculty entertained by staging a thrilling game of "Going to Jerusalem". After the smoke cleared away, Mrs. Faust, our dignified business teacher, was seen, victorious on her chair in the middle of the room.

Last, but not least, Edna Wallace and our noble coach staged a tango solo which was heartily applauded by the sidelines. Dancing stopped at midnight and the party came to a close, with everyone declaring it to be one of the best parties ever given at Cloverleaf.

PHI ALPHA DANCE

Thursday night, October 9, Phi Alpha entertained with a dance in the Winter Park Woman's Club building. The Club house was decorated in the frat colors maroon and black with sprays of bamboo. Across the back of the orchestra pit was hung a banner bearing the frat emblem. The lights shaded with maroon were festooned with streamers of black.

Refreshments of punch and cake were served thruout the evening.

Some sixty or so guests were present among whom were Messrs. Blevins, Armstrong, Hughes, Poole, Walker, Buzzell, Hilliard, Eichstaedt, Zehler, Upmire, Abbott, Potter, Warner, Ingram, Hanna, Green, Joyce, Atkisson, Lofroos, Bostwick, Tilden, Lawrence, Prof. and Mrs. Shiver, Misses Eloise Arms, Marine Lilly, Beatrice Larsen, Ginny Richardson, Dickie Dickson, Sylvia Perez, Elizabeth Atkisson, Vaudine Logan, Violet Sutherland, Grace Jaquith, Dot Grey, Billy Mulligan, and Elizabeth Upmire.

Music was furnished by Dale Troy's orchestra.

SIGMA PHI

The Sigma Phi Sorority takes pleasure in announcing as an honorary member, Miss Lela Niles.

THETA KAPPA NU ANNOUNCEMENT DANCE

Theta Kappa Nu held their first informal dance at the Woman's Club on last Thursday, October 16. The affair was in the form of a dance and reception to announce the new fraternity. The hall was decorated with the fraternity colors crimson, silver and black. Over a hundred and fifty were present. The music was furnished by Ahern's orchestra of Orlando. Punch and a light luncheon were served at a seasonable hour. Those present were the faculty, students and friends of the fraternity.

DELPHIC SOCIETY

Great interest in the Delphic society has been aroused by the announcement that Delphic work can be made to count as a college credit. This is accomplished by making the class debating team, and defeating the other class teams.

The freshmen will debate among themselves a week from next Monday night to choose the team to represent them in their debates among the other teams. Other classes will do the same at other times and then the different class teams will be pitted against each other.

For the winner in each debate there is a one hour credit given. The winner of the final debate, which will be held during Founders' Week is rewarded with two additional hours.

Canoes are as scarce on Sundays as sunshine was last month. This girl habit is simply awful.

"Army" has suddenly developed an appreciation for nature. You should see him picking wild flowers and try to look dignified at the same time.

The football manager welcomes Bill Lofroos and Bill Evans back to the grid iron after their week's recuperation and their heavy work-out at the Cloverleaf reception.

The chief attraction at the Cloverleaf Reception was the exhibition dance given by Coach Duyek. It took an awful lot of nerve and they said it couldn't be done but he did it.

Robert Chandler and Sapp Draa left in Jimmie's Ford Monday night at 12:00 p. m. for New Smyrna. They returned at 7:15 and attended a class at 8:15. How's that for fast work.

Much ado has been caused by the gleeing of the Glee Clubs, of late. Such unearthly sounds issue from the conserv. when they are practicing that the entire campus is agitated.

Numerous rats have been seen at various times and in diverse places minus their verdant chapeaus. Woe be unto those rats when the reckoning comes, for they have violated the sacred rule and shall suffer therefor.

The dignified Seniors have gone back to fairyland. King Arthur's Round Table has proved to be successfully modernized. Mac is the Lance, Kay the Lot and Walter is the Solemn King Arthur with Edna as the Heroine.

EDUCATION VS. LUXURY

One billion dollars for educational purposes; twenty-three billion for luxury.

So reads the yearly balance sheet of the people of the United States. In addition it states that every year we spend two billion dollars for tobacco, the same amount for candy, and more than two billion for cosmetics.

Even regarding these figures there has arisen during the last few months this astonishing warning, "We are spending too much for education!" Certain people, presumably unaware of present conditions, are shouting against expenditures made for schools, with especial references to colleges and universities.

They should remember that in 1920, 6 per cent of the people over ten years of age in the United States were found to be illiterate.

They should also remember that an officer of the New York State Industrial Commission recently estimated that one-half of the accidents in factories, with a resultant loss of $50,000 a day, are due merely to ignorance of language.

Experiments have shown that the material productive efficiency of a person, not to speak of his cultural equipment, is almost directly proportional to the amount of education he receives.

How greatly the future productive resources of America would be cut down if even half of our college students, driven away from college without tax-endowed institutions, were deprived of the worthwhile elements of the university!

The art of cutting off one's nose to spite one's face must not be too highly developed.—Daily Iowan.

THE GIFT TO LITTLE MEN

It was late in the afternoon, and the Government offices in Washington were deserted. A dollar-a-year man dropped into the office of a friend who, like himself, had left his business interests to take charge of important operations in the war.

Both men were doing vital work; the newspapers were constantly printing their pictures. But now, at the close of a hard day, they smoked their pipes and stared moodily out toward Washington Monument.

Finally one of them spoke:

"I suppose what we're doing looks very impressive from the outside," he said, "but between ourselves, Frank, I'm fussing along with the most obvious routine things."

The other nodded. Said he: "My greatest fear is that some one will walk in some day and find me out."

Like a couple of schoolboys they sat and laughed at themselves.

It has been interesting to me to discover how often a first-class man regards himself, secretly, as much overrated. I have seen a famous author blush like a schoolboy when his work was praised. Emerson sometimes came home after his lectures utterly discouraged by his sense of failure. Lincoln was subject to moods of abysmal dejection; his favorite song was the doleful, "Why Should the Spirit of Mortal Be Proud?"

On the other hand, I know three men—and have come into contact with many more—who are utterly free from any doubt as to their own omniscience. One of the three is a ticket-taker in a New York theatre; one is day-laborer on a farm; one is private secretary to a corporation president.

These three gentlemen have positive views on every question, and do not hesitate to express their contempt for all who disagree. They have a high sense of the importance of their time. In their dealings with us common folks they are inclined to be abrupt.

I admit that their cocksureness used to irritate me. It seemed rather ridiculous, as contrasted with the self-depreciation of many of the leaders of the world. But one day I hit upon the explanation, and now no bumptious individual irritates me any more.

My explanation is this: God is just. He distributes talents with impartial hand among the sons of men. To big men He gives the satisfaction of achievement; but He penalizes them with hours of depression, introspection and self-doubt.

Little men would be discouraged if they could see themselves in their true light. So conceit was sent into the world—God's great gift to little men.—(Clipped).

THE WOMAN ALWAYS PAYS

Before the dawn of History

In Neolithic days

There was a dusty proverb

That the woman always pays.

I met her at the Biltmore

And there we had some tea,

For which I paid the Biltmore

Four dollars sixty-three.

We had a bite of dinner,

No kind of meal at all,

It only cost eight iron men—

Our appetites were small.

Our tickets for the theatre

Were very poor; but then

I really had no right to kick,

They only cost me ten.

And after that a supper club

With lemonades for two,

The check was only seven bucks

Quite reasonable, too.

Her home was fifty blocks uptown,

A taxi took us there;

It only cost me five or so

To pay the taxi fare.

And now that we are civilized,

At least we think we are—

I think of prehistoric man

And envy him afar.

For who would not prefer to be

A caveman in those days

When Truth lay in the proverb

That the woman always pays.

—Clipped.

A TRAGEDY

It was a dark and stormy night. Never had it rained so since the flood, for in fact it was pouring down in torrents. Cold beads of perspiration stood out on his head; he shivered, and very rightly he should tremble. He had killed her. She who had been his friend, his ideal, was now dead and the rain dripped or rather poured off her motionless and silent form. She who had labored day and night that he might prosper and enjoy the better things of life. At last he sighed wearily as he thought of all she had done for him. Then he again tried to crank her; for the bootlegger's Ford needed a new starter.—Centre Colonel.

practicing altho both have injured arms. Colado, halfback, who was out with a bad knee is in again and is going good. Bowers, latest addition to the squad is showing up very well and is making a strong bid for one of the end positions. Both Joyce and Fralick are looking good at quarter, altho Fralick has been out for a week with a bad foot and arm. Wilson, center, who suffered several minor injuries in the Florida games is playing his usual strong game and has entirely recovered.

Although only two games on the schedule have been definitely settled, Newberry College at Winter Park on November sixth and Southern College at Bartow on November eleventh, several games are tentatively arranged, including Springfield Athletic Club of Jacksonville, in Winter Park, October 18, Miami American Legion in Miami, Tampa American Legion in Tampa. Negotiations are also being made for a game with Howard College of Birmingham, Alabama, for an open date in November.

Mr. Sutliff, Chairman of the Alumni Athletic Committee, spent a week in Havana looking over the prospects for a post season game on December 2. He was in every way successful and was able to tentatively arrange a game with the University of Havana, pending the signing of contracts. Last year three games were played but it is the plan to play only two this year.

With all these games practically arranged the outlook for Tars schedule is very much brighter than it has been during the past month and with the Tars supporters full of pep and the business men of Winter Park backing up the trip to Bartow, Rollins can look forward to a great year in football.

staging of this state meeting. It is expected that Prof. A. A. Stagg, who for thirty years coached the University of Chicago football team and headed up the athletic work of that great institution for more than thirty years, will be down for a conference to be called at the close of this year's football season. A list of competent officials will be selected to serve at state and other contests. Helpful athletic instruction and working material for the constructing of athletic equipment will be sent out to all interested in the promotion of amateur athletics in Florida. In general, the new state body will serve as a center for all activity of amateur athletic nature.

Mr. G. Elmer Wilbur, prominent sportsman of Jacksonville and the state of Florida, was selected to head up the new state organization. Mr. Wilbur, who organized the Florida

State High School Athletic Association and for five years directed the activities of that organization, has taken a deep interest in all amateur athletics of the state and is well fitted for the position. He will be assisted in this important work by seven Vice-Presidents, who will serve as chief executive officers of the seven respective districts.

Mr. Raymond W. Greene, A. A. U. Commissioner for Florida and Director of the Orange County Athletic Association, was elected as Secretary-Treasurer. A Board of Managers representing each member of the state Federation, will serve as the governing body of the new state organization.

ing about the parking laws. This person is Rat Robert Tilden, who was seen paddling his lady love, or somebody else's lady love, all over the lake. Not one minute did he pause for breath.

The third measure passed by this august board, the campus fathers, is quoted for the benefit of the "rats." The canoeing zone shall be Lake Virginia only. Each man who takes his lady love out of the zone is subject to having her taken away from him.

of each team will be elected soon. Volley ball is a good game and a game we did not have last year so it will be a welcome addition to our list of sports. The Freshmen are showing some good material as are the upper-classmen and there will be some good, wholesome competition between the teams. It is also the plan, if possible, to arrange contests with other schools such as Stetson and Southern, but up to the present time no definite plans have been made.

When the screen fell out of Vaudine's window Sunday night, everybody rushed out expecting to see Vaudine come falling down. Unfortunately this was not the case.

THE PRESIDENT'S COLUMN

BE A BOOSTER

If you think your school the best,
Tell 'em so!
If you'd like to have it lead the rest,
Help it grow!

If there is anything to do,
Let the others count on you;
You'll feel good when it's through,
Don't you know?

If you're used to giving knocks,
Change your style;
Throw bouquets, instead of rocks
For a while.

Let the other fellow roast,
Shun him as you would a ghost;
Meet his banter with a boast
And a smile.

When a fellow from afar
Comes along
Tell him who and what you are
Make it strong.

Never flatter, never bluff,
Tell the truth for that's enough.
Be a booster, that's the stuff,
Don't just belong.

TODAY'S FABLE FOR TINY TOTS

The Incurable Optimist stepped briskly that October morning, for he felt the cosmic urge and knew that things were running smoothly in God's heaven. All was right with the world. The suspicion that this would be his lucky day grew to a conviction as he paused at a street corner—in another moment he had discovered it—a horseshoe, lying near the curb! Eureka! The Great God of Success was smiling again, as he always did on true keepers of the light heart. He was the chosen one!

The Incurable Optimist paused only to repeat his supreme formula, "To-day will be the best day of my life" and stooped to pick up the omen of good luck.

And as he hung over the horseshoe with tear dimmed eyes, while his ears sang with the music of the spheres—truck ran over him.—Daily Iowan.

PERSONALS

Some of the Freshmen look natural in their green caps. So intelligent and bright, you know.

Bob Gasten has proven himself a wonderful chauffeur and he is perfectly grand at opening garage doors that stick.

Poor Winderweedle was thoroughly squelched Sunday when he sailed forth on his first canoe date. He was miscellaneously upset.

It won't be long before some of the girls will be doing the "Prince of Wales Fall" from the backs of those Kentucky thoroughbreds.

People are wondering what has happened to Robert Tilden. Everybody thought he was such a "lovely quiet boy" and to think he would do such a thing as to go canoeing.

Cloverleaf was serenaded Sunday night by the Chase Hall entertainers. Much clapping from the back porch expressed the girls appreciation. A four piece orchestra was used.

All the "Reds" certainly strutted themselves Saturday night. When it comes to "red headed sheiks", Chase Hall can certainly claim the prize.

Ruth Amy spent the week end at Sebring. She was laid up with a lame foot. Marcia Converse motored back from Sebring with Ruth Sunday night.

GLEE CLUBS ORGANIZE

The two college glee clubs have been organized and are holding weekly practices. Professor Jaynes, Director of the School of Music and Art, is in charge of the girls club. Tryouts were held last week and the following list was posted: First soprano, Ruth Amy, Helen Dickenson, Jean Wagner, Grace Jaquith, Marie La Fleur, Vivian Weir. Second soprano: Eddie Parkinson, Dot Grey, Eleanor Branning, Ruth Richey, Elizabeth Atkisson. First alto: Virginia Richardson, Dickie Dickson, Beatrice Larsen, Wilfred Carwell. Second alto: Edna Wallace, Marion Mulligan, Ada McKay, Ginny Davis, Eloise Arms and Eva Thompson. Eva Thompson was elected business manager and Lucille Waters, accompanist.

The Men's Club is under the direction of Miss Edna Wallace. Many of the men who were out last year are back again. Some of them are: Lofroos, Parker, Warner, Reece, Shreve, More, Kroehle, Davis and Johnson. A lot of good material has made its appearance in the Freshman Class and the vacancies left from last year will be filled easily, with the exception of the first tenor parts, Shreve being the only first tenor returning. Philip Reece was elected business manager and Ray More accompanist. Mr. Reece and Miss Thompson are writing for engagements and it is hoped that several trips will be arranged for both of the clubs.

"I suppose she calls that old dress she turned inside out an imported one?"

"No. Just refers to it as being from the other side."

Absent-Minded Doc

Patient—Doctor, give me some good advice. I snore so awfully that I can't sleep on account of it.

Doctor—Couldn't you go in bed in the room next to this?

Very Good

One day a man in a show stood up and said: "I will tell any young man the name of his future wife." A bright young man out of the audience stood up.

Showman—"What is your name?"
Young Fellow—"It is Brown."

Showman—"The name of your wife will be Mrs. Brown."

"How do you find marriage?"

"During courtship I talked and she listened. After marriage she talked and I listened. Now we both talk and the neighbors listen."

"Very talkative, isn't she?"

"Yes, her father was a barber, and her mother was a woman."

Her Dad—My daughter, sir, sprang from a line of peers.

Her Sweetie—Well, I dove off a dock once.

"My son gets three pence a day for his pocket money."

"Three pence a day, and only six years old? That's a lot."

"Yes, but he puts it into the gas meter. He thinks it is a money box."

THE OUTLINE OF LOVE

Grade school—

Roses ith red,

Violets ith blue,

Sugar ith thweet,

And tho—ith—oo.

High school—

Chrysanthemums are beautiful

And so is marmalade:

Without you, darling Gwendolyn,

My life's a dead night shade.

University—

The moon is silver-sheathed,

As you, my golden symphony,

'Tis you I crave to wed,

My agonizing ecstasy!

Ten years wed—

I have a knife,

Its blade is true,

For 30 cents

I'd murder you!

Boy to Bank Teller: "I want a check book for a lady that folds in the middle."

Bolshi—"Wanna go on a sleighing party?"

Viki—"Who are we gonna slay?"

Townsley: "What is the charge for this battery?"

Garageman: "One and one-half volts."

Townsley: "How much is that in American money?"

Rose's are red; Violet's are blue—I saw them on the clothes line yesterday.

"I couldn't get out of marrying her," Henpeck explained.

"When she proposed, she said 'Will you marry me? Have you any objection?' You see no matter whether I said 'yes' or 'no', she had me."

"Why didn't you just keep silent, then?" inquired his friend.

"That's what I did, and she said, 'Silence gives consent', and that ended it."

Sap: Did you just take a shower?
 Freshman: "Why no, er—was there one missing?"

Voice over phone: "Is Mike Howe there?"

At the other end of the wire: "What do you think this is, the stockyards?"

Senior—What is it that has four legs and barks?
 Frosh—A dog.

Senior—Oh, someone has told you!

No, a yard dog isn't always 36 inches long.

First Roommate—Is my face dirty, or is it my imagination?

Second Roommate—I don't know about your imagination but your face is clean.—Ex.

Visitor—"What's that over there?"
 Little Boy—"A nigger cemetery, sir."

Visitor—"Sort of blackberry patch, eh?"

Sid—"Say, you know Phil Boardman's ears?"

Foss—"Yes, what of it?"

Sid—"Well, he fell in the bay up to them."

He—"They're going to shave all the Rat's heads."

She—"Don't do it—they look bad enough now."

Tell me, when is a man called old?
 At fifty, or sixty, or not so soon?
 Ah, child, a man is old indeed,
 When he's learned to come in out of the moon.

Fresh—What was the noise in the class room.

Soph—Don't know, unless it was Brown.

Fresh—What happened?

Soph—He fell down on his exam.

"He's wandering in his mind."

"That's all right, he won't go far."

"So you graduated from a barber's college? What is your yell?"

"Cut his lip, Cut his jaw, Leave his face raw, raw, raw."

Pearl W.: My new coupe sure is a dandy.

Chic T.: Has it a good pick-up.

Pearl W.: Sure thing, picked up two.

"My sister was almost drowned last night."

"How so?"

"The pillow slipped, the bed spread, and she fell through the mattress into the spring."

Bob: I have just called to say how much I appreciate your treatment, Doctor.

Doctor: But I am not your doctor, young man.

Bob: No, but you were my old uncle's, and I am his heir.

Jack: There goes John Jones, the bookkeeper.

Joe: Bookkeeper! Why, John's still at school.

Jack: Yes, I know, but he borrowed one of my books three years ago and he's still got it.

She: "A penny for your thoughts."

Mr. Staylate: "I was thinging of going."

Her father (at head of stairs): "Give him half a dollar, Viola—it's worth it!"

Father—Great heavens, son, how you do look!

Son—Yes, father, I fell in a mud puddle.

Father—What! And with your new pants on, too?

Son—Yes, father, I didn't have time to take them off.

Wig—Why is the little fellow crying?

Wam—Because he can't have a holiday.

Wig—Why can't he have a holiday?

Wam—Because he doesn't go to school yet.

"John, there's a poor old man outside crying."

"What's he crying about?"

"He's got watermelons for sale."
