ROLLINS OBTAINS INTERNATIONAL FIGURE FOR EXECUTIVE LEADER; HAMILTON HOLT ACCEPTS OFFICE

In the obtaining of Hamilton Holt, internationally famous educator, author, and lecturer, for its president, Rollins has this year reached a height in its career perhaps undreamed of by even its visionary founder. Hamilton Holt, one of America's foremost men in educational circles, comes to Florida and to Rollins to make this his permanent home. He has taken upon his capable shoulders the executive leadership of Rollins.

Rollins now possesses a chief executive whose "scholarship is recognized by the greatest universities of the country, and author whose books and articles have influenced thousands all over the world, a lecturer greatly in demand thruout this country and Europe, a statesman honored thruout the world for his achievements in the cause of peace, and an educator whose entire energies will be directed in the development of Rollins College as one of the south's outstanding institutions of higher learning."

President Holt comes from a distinguished family of educators. His father, Judge George Chandler Holt, graduated from Yale in 1886, and holds the honorary degree of LL.D. from that university. He is a graduate of Columbia and taught law at both Columbia and Cornell. It was natural that the son should follow in the father's footsteps. Hamilton Holt graduated from Yale and Columbia and became a lecturer in each of these institutions.

President Holt was born in Brook-

NEW DEAN OF WOMEN IS PLEASED WITH ROLLINS

Miss Hannah Gartland, new Dean of Women of Rollins for 1925-26, is, among other things, a noted novelist, and a teacher of some twenty-five years of experience. Miss Gartland is a native of New York State, and a graduate of Columbia University. She took post-graduate work at Yale and Harvard; and, for the past year, has made her home in Winter Park.

Miss Gartland is a writer of mystery novels. Her first work of note was "The House of Cards", published by Dodd, Meade & Company. This novel took immediately with the reading public, and another soon followed, "The Globe Hollow Mystery."

Our new Dean of Women spent a short vacation at the Thousand Islands on the Canadian border. Last winter was spent here in Winter Park, where she was a member of the Quill Drivers' Club, the Poetry Society of America, Allied Arts, and Arts and Letters, a literary society carried on within the Woman's Club of Winter Park, and led by Mrs. Vans Agnew.

When questioned early Saturday evening concerning the policy she would follow out this year as Dean of Women, Miss Gartland replied:

"I believe in girls. Although I

FRESHMEN RULES

1. The first obligation of all rats is a recognition of their position.
2. Rat caps are procurable at Leedy's. Each and every rat will purchase one and wear it at all times and on all occasions, except Sunday. All caps must be in evidence on and after 7 o'clock of the Saturday following the Wednesday of the opening of school.
3. Caps must be tipped each and every time an upper classman is met. This applies to both male and female.
4. No male freshman will be seen in company with any girl for a period of one month from the morning of September 23.
5. Freshmen girls will see that the walks around Cloverleaf are swept clean at all times.
6. All rats eating in the commons must wear napkins tied around necks at lunch and dinner.
7. Rooms belonging to freshmen girls must be ready for inspection before the breakfast bugle.
8. Freshmen must be present at breakfast every morning. No excuses accepted.
9. Positively no freshman will be allowed to use an alarm clock. There is a dire penalty attached to any violation of this rule.
10. Each and every rat must learn the alma mater immediately, and be able to repeat it whenever called upon by an upper classman.
11. It is not compulsory, but advisable, that every edition of the Sandspur be perused carefully, since these rules are subject to change without notice.
12. At all times, freshmen must conduct themselves in a manner befitting their measly station.

The Naval Radio Station at Rollins, composed chiefly of Rollins men, will this year take up work where it was left at the close of school last year. The station is situated in what was last year the art studio, and is under the personal supervision of Lieutenant Lee of Orlando, formerly an officer in the United States Navy and, previous to the close of college last year, a resident of Winter Park.

Radio practice and military drill will be held every Wednesday night at the radio station. Equipment has been requisitioned from Key West, and soon the campus will be resounding with the sharp "Crack!" of rifles and stern commands of military drill. The purpose of military drill is, not only to give instruction in radio, but to let the people of Winter Park and Orlando know that Rollins' Naval Radio Station is still on the map and kicking industriously.

Contests in marksmanship will be staged at intervals, and as soon as our boys have progressed far enough, a match with the Orlando Home Guard will be arranged.

Rollins' Naval Radio Station was installed last year shortly before the close of school for the year. At that time, a two weeks' cruise on one of Uncle Sam's fastest destroyers was taken for the purpose of acclimating the new "gobs" to a life on the briny deep.

We shall never graduate from this school of life until we have mastered its lessons.

God places no premium on laziness. Every man to his work.

Once upon a time there was a man who thought he could beat the eternal laws; he was a fool.

HAM ANNOUNCES BETTER ROMANTIC CONDITIONS

Romance again makes a bid for recognition upon the fair waters of Lake Virginia! Ham wishes to announce that upon the shores of our bathing pool there rest six small canoes and one large war canoe. All are bright and shiny and gleaming in the moonlight, waiting for invitations to nose once again thru the overhanging branches of Maitland run, of skim across the smooth waters at racing speed. Lunar invitations call from the crest of every ripple. What ho! ye merry Romeos!

As soon as they are needed, more canoes will be rushed to the boat-house. Soon, those strange urgings to roam unknown seas will begin to assert themselves. Old students will suffer a canoeing relapse, and new ones will contract the disease. And then, Ham says, he will be busy.

We wonder?

THE IMPORTANT THING

Rear Admiral Henry B. Wilson, superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, in his annual report to Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, gives expression to an ideal that may well be considered by every American citizen, and says:

"As stated in my reports for 1922-23, the one single thing of great importance to the midshipmen is that they shall have instilled in them, perhaps unconsciously, but so thoroughly as to become an integral part of their makeup, a recognition of the Eternal Worth of Character."

It is well, it is of all things beautiful and holy, holy and high of all, to be conscious of the path which does in fine lead thither where we seek to go, namely, the goal which is in God.—Arthur E. Waite.

At last Rollins is coming into her own in the world of athletics. Howard Parker Tallman, the only man ever chosen by Walter Camp for three different positions on any of his teams, has accepted the call to Rollins as athletic coach for 1925-26.

Mr. Tallman is a five letter man from Rutgers College. He was chosen third All-American guard in 1913, third All-American halfback in 1914, and second All-American fullback in 1915. Tallman was captain of the Rutgers machine in 1915, and was also selected as the second high point scorer in the nation that year with a total of 139 points. He is six feet four inches tall and weighs 204 pounds.

Coach Tallman also holds the enviable record of kicking the longest punt ever made in Yale stadium. The kick traveled ninety yards in the air and rolled approximately 120 yards.

In basketball he was a letter man at Rutgers. Later he coached the University of Chattanooga combine that went into the finals in the Southern Conference race in 1923.

His baseball record shows him a letter man at Rutgers, coach of the class championship team at Leland Stanford University, and coach of the University of Chattanooga nine. He pitched a no-hit, no-run game against the champion team of the Atlantic fleet in 1919, and has since been offered a contract in Class "B" baseball.

Tallman placed third in the na-

CONSERVATORY BEGINS BEST YEAR IN HISTORY

In harmony with all other improvements upon the campus this year, the Rollins Conservatory of Music entered into one of its most successful years when instruction officially began Wednesday morning under the direction of the Conservatory committee, composed of Miss Edna Wallace, Miss Lela M. Niles, and Mr. Herman Seward. In contrast to the past policy of having only one head of the Conservatory, Rollins' school of music will this year be under the direction of the aforementioned committee.

Miss Gretchen M. Cox of Evanston, Illinois, will be the new head of the violin department. Miss Cox is a graduate of Chicago Musical College, which is rated as one of the foremost musical colleges in the country. After several years of teaching, she took up concert work, and became at once a success. Rollins is fortunate in obtaining the services of such a talented musician.

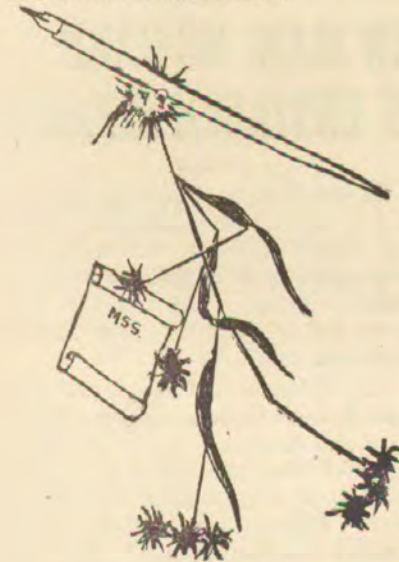

Miss Emmy Schenk, who did such splendid work with her vocal students last year, will return. Miss Cchenk is a graduate of Cologne Conservatory and taught for a while in Bonne Conservatory. She is compara-

TO DO OR NOT TO DO

"The secret of success!" "Learn to master yourself!" "Let us tell you how to say 'no'." "Send for our FREE booklet on Mastery of Mind."

Pick up any magazine and turn the pages at random. Almost immediately you will run across a striking advertisement offering to divulge the secret of mastering the mind. In short, stripping the thought of all its verbal embellishments, you are offered a book treating of, simply, the subject of will power.

In the game of life, will power is not a correspondence course from widely advertised books. It is plainly, simply, the ability to do or not to do.

No man possesses that ability who does not think for himself.

There exists an unfortunate tendency today, especially among the younger generation, to allow others to do their thinking. It has well been said: "If one would choose an occupation in which there is little competition, one would do well to choose thinking!"

Someone has described will power as "the ability to say no". Will power is more than that. It is the ability to make up your mind either to do or not to do — and then do it!

Will power is not a mystic quality often dreamed of and never gained. It is the inherent right of every child born into this world. It is yours to begin with. The question is: are you going to keep it?

Think for yourself, act for yourself. Learn to do or not to do.

Be a man.

FRATERNITIES

It has oft been said that "no man is a man until he has learned to think for himself".

Upon the Rollins campus there have come this year a host of new men — men who possess personality, character, high morals, ability, talent. Men who are desirable for fraternity material.

Let these men be urged to think for themselves.

Upon the campus there are two fraternities — Florida Alpha Chapter of Theta Kappa Nu national fraternity, and Phi Alpha fraternity, an old and established local. New men will be approached by emissaries from these two organizations, and they will be asked to cast their lot with that group to which they feel more closely akin. There must inevitably be a decision, and in the end the satisfied man will be the man who thought for himself.

New men, do your own thinking. If you would become a leader, it is not for you to be led. In fact, the editor, feeling the necessity of establishing more friendly relations between fraternal organizations upon the Rollins campus, urges you to follow your own convictions. It is as unpleasant to enter into strained relations as it is difficult to break away from them.

Beware of making a mistake. Be sure of yourself, and once being in, conduct yourself as a man and not as the mirror of another's prejudices.

LOYALTY

We are now beginning the forty-first year in the history of Rollins. Upon the campus there are newcomers, men and women who have come not only from Florida, but from all parts of the United States. The grid-iron is ringing once more with the thud of boot upon pigskin, as the Rollins Tars whip themselves into condition to defend the glory and honor of the Blue and Gold. Heartbeats quicken with fond recollections of past days spent in old haunts among dear friends.

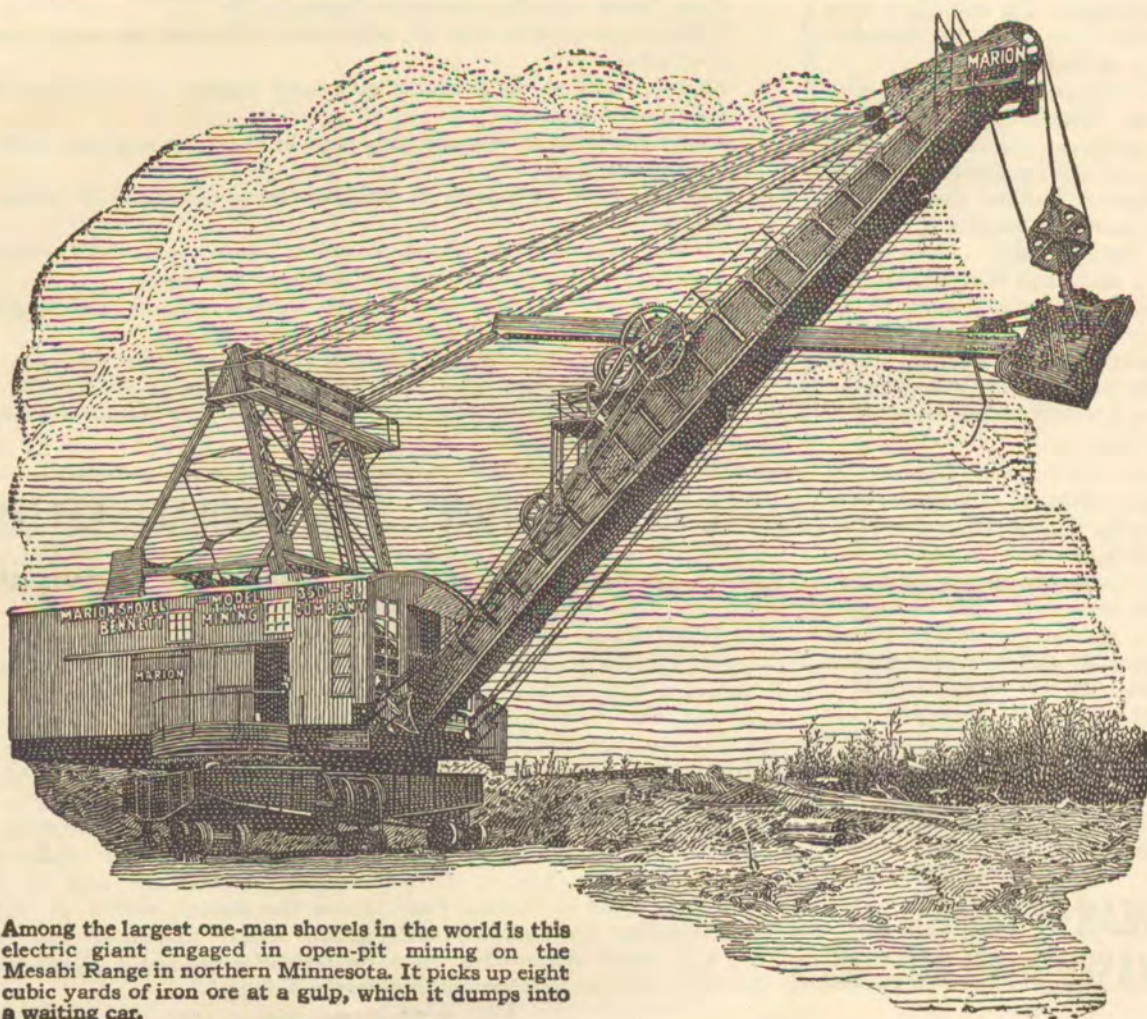

The keynote is loyalty.

You newcomers. Now is the time to acclimate yourselves. In doing so, lose no time. Henceforward, you are a Rollins man, you are a Rollins girl. As time moves on in its relentless race, you will naturally take upon your shoulders the responsibilities having to do with upholding the sacred traditions and fair name of your alma mater. In the course of human events, responsibility changes hands.

Now is the time for you to imbibe that sacred spirit of loyalty to your alma mater.

For the next nine months you must talk Rollins, breath Rollins, eat Rollins, see Rollins, and sleep Rollins. And not only from a sense of duty to Rollins, but because you love Rollins! You must believe in Rollins, and you must foster a deep and abiding faith in Rollins. She's the best college in the state, in the world, and you know

Among the largest one-man shovels in the world is this electric giant engaged in open-pit mining on the Mesabi Range in northern Minnesota. It picks up eight cubic yards of iron ore at a gulp, which it dumps into a waiting car.

A day's work in a minute

Mesabi Range, renowned iron ore deposit, is yielding its mineral wealth at the rate of 16 tons for every bite of an electric scoop.

A man with a shovel would work a whole day to mine and load eight cubic yards of iron ore which this 300-ton electric giant moves in one minute.

Of course, all mining is not done on the surface. But there are many mines in which electricity has changed our conception of mining operations. Wires, penetrating even to the deepest shafts and galleries, have brought light, power, ventilation and added safety to those who must work in the very bowels of the earth.

Electricity's contribution to mining may be of particular interest to the student of mining engineering, but it is of general interest to all college men as still another example of how electricity is simplifying the world's work.

In every branch of mining operations G-E equipment is very much in evidence. And there are engineers of the General Electric Company especially assigned to mining problems and requirements, just as there are others specializing in all major applications of electricity.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

ATTENTION! GIRLS!

The Young Women's Christian Association welcomes every Rollins girl. We want you to feel that all, regardless of social organizations, are one family in Y. W. If at any time a girl needs help, Y. W. is only too glad to serve.

It is the aim of the Y. W. C. A. this year to enroll every girl as a member in this great family, and to create a true companionship between it and the Rollins girl.

The following officers were elected to serve for the year 1925-26:

President—Gertrude Ward.
Vice-president—Gladys Wilkin-son.

Secretary—Ruth Richey.
Treasurer—Beatrice Larsen,
Undergraduate Representative—Martha Mathis.

Chairman of Religious Work—Frances Vallette.

Social Committee—Jeanette Dick-son.

Publicity—Annabeth Wilson.
Social Service—Barbara Sheffield.

2. Each sorority shall have one week of rushing in the order of their founding, Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Phi, Phi Omega.
3. There shall be one week of no rushing immediately preceding Pledge Day.
4. The entire amount of formal rushing shall not exceed eight hours.
5. There shall be only one entertainment with men present.
6. No entertaining may be done by honorary or alumnae members until after pledge day, financially or materially in any way.
7. The Dean of Women shall explain sororities to the new girls at the first house-meeting, stating that scholastic as well as social standing will be taken into consideration.
8. The entire cost of formal rushing of each sorority shall not exceed seventy dollars ($70.00). A careful record of such expenses should be kept.
9. There shall be no discussion of sororities between sorority and non-sorority girls.
10. There shall be no spending of money or treating between sorority and non-sorority girls.

Regulations Governing Eligibility to Sororities

1. Only students who have presented fifteen standard units complying with the requirements for entrance to the Freshman class shall be pledged to a sorority.
2. No student is eligible to be pledged or to be initiated into any sorority, who is not carrying in a satisfactory manner a minimum of twelve hours counting toward a bachelor's degree.
3. No pledge shall be initiated into any sorority unless he has made an average of at least 80% for one semester.
4. No pledge shall be initiated until his prospective sorority has filed with the secretary of the interfraternity organization a certified statement from the Registrar that said pledge has fully complied with all provisions of eligibility.

Dates

K. E. Rush Week, Oct. 19-25, inclusive.

Sigma Phi Rush Week, Oct. 26-Nov. 1, inclusive.

Phi Omega Rush Week, Nov. 2-8, inclusive.

No rushing Nov. 9-15, inclusive.

Pledge Day, Nov. 16. Pledges given not before 7 A. M.

WHAT DO THEY MEAN?

A college has many ways of honoring those who, by their own merit and achievements, deserve recognition. Perhaps the greatest honor which can be bestowed upon a member of the student body of any college is to be given his varsity letter.

When a letter is worn by a man it is taken for granted that he has excelled in some branch of sport. He must have played a greater part of the season in that particular sport for which he has been granted a letter, and shown himself to be superior to others who have striven for the same honor. Is this the meaning attached to our Rollins "R"?

It seems unfair for a football man to play all season, come out of many a game bruised and weary and grimy, covered with a mixture of dirt and perspiration, and receive the same emblem of merit that another man does who has played only a few minutes during the entire season in, for example, basketball. Can it be that a man who has played only ten or fifteen minutes during one basketball game should be granted equal privilege to wear the college "R" with the man who has played every football game of the season.

Our student body would do well to see that the "R" Club is organized immediately at the beginning of the Fall term. At present Rollins has no official "R," and the college letter is being worn by many who would have great difficulty in explaining their right to wear it. These things are what cause a student body to be proud of its Alma Mater and revere her customs. Let us take steps to preserve the high meaning of our "R."

COMMENCEMENT THINKING

(Done While Listening to the Distinguished Speaker)

"It's tough to lose twenty varsity letter men in one class."

"Hell, he hasn't reached his climax yet; I thought he was in his conclusion."

"I wonder how much the old boy takes down for a speech like this. Anyway, it's too much."

"Well, I'll be an alumnus in a few minutes. That'll entitle me to belly-ache about football tickets."

"He can't be through yet; he hasn't told us what he'd do if he were twenty-one again. Yes, he is! He isn't such a bad old goat after all."

—McCready Huston.

STUDENTS PROTEST ELIMINATION OF JOURNALISM SCHOOL

When the board of regents of the University of Texas meets on May 19 it will be confronted with a petition protesting against the abandonment of the department of journalism. The department was discontinued because Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Texas' first woman governor, cut from the general education bill the $19,000 necessary for the support of the department.

The journalism students have prepared a 10,000 word brief stating why they think the school should not be discontinued. It is stated that the regents have the power to appropriate funds for maintenance of the school from an emergency fund set apart by the legislature.

Of the 210 students in the department of journalism, 50 will graduate in June; 100 will be forced to give up college careers because of lack of funds to continue their training in an out-of-state school; 60 will be able to go out of Texas to complete their training.

In answer to the protests of the 40,000 students and of prominent newspaper editors throughout the state, who have protested against the discontinuance of the school, James E. Ferguson, husband of the governor, states:

"Walter M. Splawn, president of the university, when informed that a cut of appropriation was necessary, chose the department of journalism as one that must bear the paring. Dr. Splawn thought the university would be hurt less by the elimination of the journalism, music and library science departments and the summer school, than by reducing the saving of $250,000 by reducing to some extent the sums appropriated for every department and school of the university. The governor will be criticized in certain circles, but she simply did her duty in fulfilling campaign pledges."

Said W. H. Mayes, dean of the department of journalism:

"The department of journalism was founded by the board of regents after careful consideration," the dean explained. "Since the establishment in 1914, the department, though always inadequately supported and with an undermanned teaching force, has grown by leaps and bounds."

"To permit an interest to live and develop for eleven years and then, without good cause, abolish it without regard for the students enrolled is an act impossible to comprehend. I believe that the board of regents should do all in its power to adjust the budget and permit this important work to continue."

Despite the fact that the Texas department has been only meagerly supported, having only three instructors for 210 men, it has been ranked in Class A with eleven other schools, namely, Columbia University, New York University, University of Missouri, University of Kansas, University of Washington, University of tively a newcomer to this country, but her refreshing personality, her intense earnestness, and her undoubted talent and ability as a singer have made her an invaluable asset to the Conservatory and won her a place in the hearts of all who have come into close contact with her.

The head of the department of piano will be Miss Lela M. Niles, who also taught here last year. Among other notable recommendations, Miss Niles is a graduate of Cornell College Conservatory, and a pupil of Josef Lhevinne, Berlin. She is an instructor of note, having headed the departments of piano in such schools as Florida State College for Women, Southwestern College, and others.

Herman Seward will be head of the department of theory and organ. Mr. Seward was an instructor in the Rollins Conservatory of Music year before last, and last year was head organist at the Beacham Theater in Orlando.

Miss Edna Wallace, a graduate of last year from the Rollins Conservatory; pupil of William Kincaid, flutist; flutist Boston Fadette Orchestra, Boston; solo flutist, Palm Beach Band; and head of Public School Music Department in Winter Park last year, will again take up her work with the Rollins Glee Clubs. Miss Wallace did a remarkable work last year in directing, more successfully than has ever been done before, the Men's Glee Club.

Rollins is fortunate in having such an excellent staff of musical instructors. Very few schools of music in the south can boast of a more talented and competent group of musicians. The Conservatory committee has already promised an extensive program of musical concerts for this year, so the students who appreciate music at its best will be afforded some rare opportunities during the coming year to indulge their musical tastes.

DUMB DORA'S SISTER

I know a girl who's terribly dumb. You never saw a girl so polished in ignorance! I wouldn't call her Dumb Dora—her name's Dorothy. But, from what I gather, she must be Dora's sister.

She thinks she's clever because she can distinguish a tennis racket from other noises. She told me she thought her doctor was crazy about her because he told her she had "acute lumbago."

I had read Scott's "Ivanhoe" and told her how much I liked it. She said she thought Scott's "Emulsion" was the best thing he ever wrote. Only the other night, I took her to a fashionable restaurant, and as we were leaving the waiter said, "Thank you, come again," and she said, "Yes, and you must come out and see us some time." I nearly fell off the stool.

And, would you believe it, when the waiter brought the bowl containing warm water and a slice of lemon, she actually washed her hands in it! I put sugar in mine. H. H. W.

You'll Find Here

First of all a cordial gladness to see you. Then there's the good looking merchandise of a new season. Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes, more collegiate styles too. Double breasted coats in the new bracken shades.

This is your "bid" to see them.

In addition to the beauty of the campus which you have, there is the advantage of being close to Orlando and Dickson-Ives. Because young men serve you here, shopping at D-I is doubly pleasant.

Values always--styles in particular.

Welcome and come in!

DEAR OLD ALMA MATER!

I just love college. There is something about a yellow slicker with a red collar that thrills me to the bone. I love to think of the line plunges that have been taken, the hundreds of yards that have been dashed, the home runs that have been knocked out, the one-act plays that have been written in honor of the dear old school.

My heart leaps when I think of the thousands of keen-eyed young men ready to start out into the world this month. I hope there are enough chairs in bond houses for all of them.

I like to think of the guitars strummed under the elms on moon-lit nights; of romance when the whole world was young; of the automobiles stolen; of the synthetic gin drunk.

Whenever I sit on the fifty-yard line at the big game my heart swells with pride in my dear old alma mater.

I just love college.

I have never been there.—McC. H.

it! Princeton, Harvard, and Yale, combined, are no better!

When our team trots out onto the field to battle the opposition to a standstill, you be the first to back them with a cheer. While those men out there on the field are giving all they have to last just one more rush, covered from head to foot with a wet mess of dirt and dust and sweat, slap your neighbor on the back, heave your hat into the air, and exclaim to the world that old Rollins can't be beat!

Remember: it isn't the captain of the regiment who wins the battle. The most insignificant private in the rear rank has a part to play, and success for the whole means work for the individual.

Believe in Rollins. Do all in your power to further the interests of Rollins. Loyalty is what freed the Scots!

lyn, Aug. 18, 1872. He has kept intact the old family home at Woodstock. He has studied chiefly in the field of sociology and economics. In 1915 Ursinus College conferred upon him the degree of LL.D. Wooster University of Ohio followed with the Litt. D. degree in 1916, and Oberlin College conferred the LL.D. degree upon him in 1921.

President Holt was for several years editor of the Independent magazine. His work while with this publication stands out sharply and distinctly as a work that has done a great deal to further the educational interests of our country. In fact, Hamilton Holt's great work with the Independent was such that the magazine was used by thousands of schools all over the country in supplementary class work.

He was president of the Third American Peace Congress; president of the American-Scandinavian Foundation, and of the Greek-American Club; vice-president of the Italy American Society; founder of the League to enforce Peace, Netherlands America foundation, Friends of Poland; trustee of the Christian Peace Union; member of the executive committee of the League of Nations Non-Partisan Association; executive director of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation; chairman executive committee Baltic American Society; secretary Armenia American Society; member of National Institute Social Sciences, Simplified Spelling Board France American Society, the Pilgrims, International Serbian Educational Committee, and others.

"President Holt attended the third assembly of the League of Nations. He was decorated order of Sacred Treasure of Japan, officer of the Order of George I, Grecian; officer Order Public Instruction and Knight of the Legion of Honor in France; officer Order of the Crown in Italy, and received other foreign honors. His lecture work with the American Board of International Conciliation and World Peace Foundation is well known, as is also his work at the University of California and at Yale."

Perhaps, if the time and the ink were available, much more could be said of this eminent lecturer, this world-famous man who has chosen to guide the destiny of Rollins for the next year. But enough has been said to impress upon the students of Rollins the type of man who stands at their head. Hamilton Holt is a great man.

Perhaps the greatest thing next to being great is being attached to greatness. A feeling of confidence, of competent leadership; a sense of individual responsibility; these are the things the students of Rollins must acquire in order to obtain results under the leadership of a great personage. Rollins now has the executive leadership.

Students of Rollins, do your duty!

tional championship discus throw in 1915. He was a member of the New York Athletic Club and of the Q. A. C. (San Francisco) track teams. He is present record holder of the discus throw in the Middle States Athletic Conference. His shot-put record stood for eleven years at Rutgers. He placed second in the Crystal Palace Handicap in London, in 1914, and holds a record of ten seconds for the 100-yard dash.

Mr. Tallman is a member of Chi Phi fraternity and of Delta Chi

(Law) fraternity. In addition to being an outstanding athlete and coach, he has been a sports writer on the Brunswick Home-News, the Newark Sunday Call, the Chattanooga News, and the Asheville Citizen. He was athletic director of 12,000 soldiers during the World War, and has twice been around the world. Previous to his acceptance of the leadership of the Rollins Tars, he was physical director of public schools of Asheville.

Some of the greatest football coaches in the country have been men who never played in a game — merely sat on the sidelines and watched and studied until they knew the game perfectly. Howard Tallman is a man who, not only knows the game from the student's viewpoint, but knows it from actually having played it as one of America's greatest football men. He is the man Rollins has long needed, and now possesses. From time to time, his articles of football and other sports will appear in the columns of the Sandspur.

On Wednesday, September 15, ten of last year's men reported to Coach Tallman for pre-season training. Since that time, others have been showing up in groups of two and three at a time. Now, the real work of building an effective football machine under the leadership of one of the country's greatest football coaches and athletes is well under way.

know very little about the different honor systems as they work in the schools of the country, I have come to expect a great deal of student government here at Rollins after talking with many of the young women.

"There is something about the girls here that I like. They don't stand off by themselves and issue a silent challenge to me to make myself agreeable or to prove myself competent. They walk right into my office, or anywhere I may happen to be, sit down, and begin talking of things in the most pleasing way imaginable. I like the girls of Rollins, and I think we shall get along fine."

Miss Gartland was a guest of honor last year at several of the college banquets. She is possessed of a pleasing personality, and a rare sense of humor, and she likes young people. The women of Rollins are indeed fortunate in obtaining such a person for their matron.

We learn from a trade association that 2,500,000 men in America are now wearing silk underwear, proving among other things that there's darn little privacy left in this country.

TOO MUCH FOR MAGGIE

A canvasser for a magazine house walked to the door of a prospect and knocked. A colored maid answered.

Canvasser: "Is the lady of the house in?"

Maid: "She's takin' a bath, suh!"

Canvasser: "I'd like to see her."

Maid (grinning): "I specks you would, white man!"—H. R.
