STETSON-ROLLINS GAME WILL MARK FIRST CONFLICT BETWEEN MEMBERS OF FLORIDA'S S. I. A. A. QUINTETS

Resumption of Athletic Competition Between Rollins and Stetson Begins New Era in the History of Florida Athletics

January the fifteenth, in Lyman Gymnasium, Rollins will again meet Stetson University in athletic competition, after years of non-relationship between these two institutions. Rollins and Stetson have always been the bitterest of rivals, and this game of friendly competition between them marks an epoch in the history of Florida athletics.

Stetson, Southern and Rollins comprise the "Little Three" of the S. I. A. A. in Florida. Both Southern and Stetson obtained admission to the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association this year. With common rules to govern the eligibility of players, these three institutions should never again encounter difficulty in the matter of schedules, both among themselves and among other S. I. A. A. teams.

Those men who reported Monday for the varsity were: Bowers, Parker, LaFroos, Colado, Wilson, Winderweedle, Hilliard, Lawrence, Seaver. All but one are old material from last year's team. With the eve of the Stetson game drawing near, Coach Talman will no doubt put the varsity through some strenuous practice for the next three or four days.

Little is known of the comparative strength of the two teams. Stetson has remained in the background so far as giving out information is concerned, and Talman says little, but the battle in Lyman Gymnasium next Monday night promises to be a hard, bitterly-contested fracas with blood in the eyes of both sides.

FOOTBALL FORMAL WILL TAKE PLACE FEB. FIRST

At last the longed for announcement is ready to be broadcasted. The Football Formal will take place the evening of February the first in the Woman's Club of Winter Park. Men, get your dates—if you haven't got them already!

Preparations are being made for splendid music. Tickets may be obtained in the office, tuxedos may be obtained—elsewhere. For the sake of those new students upon the campus this year, it is best to say that the Rollins Football Formal is a tradition of the college, carried out each year in honor of the football squad. Formal dress is required.

It is indeed regrettable that the Football Formal should have been delayed for so long a time. However, under existing circumstances and adverse conditions, the committee was fortunate in getting any date at all.

It will be announced later as to when tickets will be obtainable in the office.

HOW THE GAME IN MIAMI LOOKED TO A SPECTATOR

By Polly Crabapple

I got robbed the other day. One of these daylight robberies you hear so much about. And I ain't got no comeback. Couldn't even tell the sergeant about it, and get beat up for annoying the august guardians of the law. It's a tough life.

No, Oswald, you're wrong. I didn't even try to buy a lot—though it worked out that way; but then, I'm getting ahead of myself.

It was all on account of I thought I'd like to see a football game. Yeah, you know, football—the game that Red Grange made famous. Well, there was these two college teams that were going to play out at the New Coral Gable stadium. So I thought I'd go out and see it. The only trouble was, nobody knew where the stadium was.

Well, I wanders around for a while, and finally sees a lot of water. Curious, I wanders over and across a lake, I sees a big crowd of cars and people. It had rained, somebody told me, a day or two before. I, being one of these grim, determined men, joins the line rapidly forming on the right; and was soon parked in front of a ticket-office, where a mild-looking man was dispensing pasteboards. Mild he looked; but you'd be surprised.

"What's the tariff, old sock?" I asks him blithely.

"Five-fifty," he murmurs without batting an eyelash.

I makes up for that. "Over again," I moans.

"Five dollars and fifty cents," he purrs.

A light breaks over my darkened and depressed mind. "Hey buddy, sober up," I advises. "You're seeing double."

"Sezwhich?" he counters.

"I'm a married man, and consequently ain't takin' anybody. One ticket please."

"Yes. Five-fifty."

I sees we ain't getting anywhere. "Now let's arbitrate this matter amicably, my friend. According to the economic laws of supply and demand and diminishing returns, the proper compensation—"

"Five-fifty," he warbles.

I was about to suggest changing coated gendarme obscuring the record, when I notices a blue-sky. "Move on, you're blocking traffic," he growls. "Caramba caspita sacrebleu, etc., you can't park there." It seemed just like Miami; so I planks down my five-fifty and pulls away from the red curb.

Once inside the "stadium," I walks the plank which was just visible in the mud, and finally finds a vacancy (Continued on page 5.)

LETTER MEN ELECT CHARLES ZEHLER TO LEAD COACH TALMAN'S "ORANGE TYPHOON" TO VICTORY IN 1926-27

WORLD COURT CAMPAIGN PASSES INTO HISTORY

The World Court campaign proper has passed into the realm of history. It would truly take a good sized piece of historical investigation to ascertain the results achieved.

We would not have time here to record the many by-products of the campaign but there were two great developments which might be listed as such, though in importance they should be rated along with any phase of the campaign itself.

1. The National Student World Court Poll was the most successful poll of student opinion that has ever been taken. 130,000 students in 333 institutions voted. Whereas the students voted five to one in favor of the United States entering the World Court, the ballot was no landslide and the variety of opinion and the varying vote in different colleges and parts of the country showed that students were thinking and did have very definite opinions.

2. The National Collegiate World Court Conference at Princeton was perhaps the first truly national STUDENT conference. The World Court committee had nothing to do with it, nor did any advisory committee of Faculty or other "Elder Statesmen." All of the arrangements were made by student committees. The delegates were students elected by students. Practically all of the conference was given over to student discussion and finally the first great move toward a National Students' Federation was made. One of the articles of this Federation is: "That student opinion shall be the final determining factor in sending delegates to meetings of, or in any way controlling the organization of, the Federation." The three purposes of the Federation are:

1. To achieve a spirit of unity among the students of the United States to give consideration to questions affecting student interest.

2. To develop intelligent student opinion on questions of national importance.

3. To foster understanding among the students of the world in the furtherance of an enduring world peace.

Judging from reports received at National Headquarters from individual colleges and student World Court committees all over the country, the students of America seem anxious to keep up their interest in national and international issues. They seem to feel that there is a real need for thinking through problems that are bigger than the usual campus ones. They welcomed the World Court campaign as giving them the opportunity of taking the first step in the new responsibility which students are assuming.

Overwhelming Vote Shows the Confidence Letter Men Have in Veteran Athlete

After considerable delay and a certain amount of disgust on the part of impatient letter men, the "R" Club finally met Monday evening, January the tenth, and elected next year's captain and manager of the football team. Charles Zehler, experienced back in the Tar lineup for two years, was elected captain, and Leonard Seaver re-elected manager by a unanimous vote.

Zehler came to Rollins two years ago from Warsaw, New York, where he was captain of his high school team and held an enviable record as a track man. He proved the mainstay of last year's backfield, and shone brilliantly in both last year's and this year's University of Florida games. He has always been a hard, consistent player and a dependable halfback. Coach Talman has expressed himself as well pleased with the new captain.

Captain Zehler will have the opportunity to lead into battle next year one of the strongest football elevens Rollins has ever had. The "Orange Typhoon" will start early leaving destruction in its wake. Most of this season's varsity material will be back in the lineup together with a wealth of material from the present freshmen squad.

Coach Talman is making plans for spring training and pre-season training. Under his able guidance, the people of Winter Park and students of Rollins have the right to expect much of next year's football squad.

Its ranks swelled by new members, the present personnel of the "R" Club are: Colado, Daniels, More, Boardman, Winderweedle, LaFroos, Eichstaedt, Bowers, Larkin, Fralick, Couch, Seeds, Wilson, Hilliard, Zehler, Warner and Seaver.

WINTER PARK EATING ASSOCIATION CONVENES

At its regular nightly meeting Monday, January the fourth, the Orlando Eating Association adopted the resolution to change its name to the Winter Park Eating Association, and elected officers for the year.

"The purpose in changing the name," said Frank Abbott, president of the Association, "is to show our undying patriotism to our wonderful city, Winter Park, the City of Homes. Although we realize Orlando's friendly attitude toward Winter Park, we feel it our duty to place every bit of our love and pride and influence at the disposal of our little city—she needs it."

A BOON TO THE STUDENT

Speaking of inventions, some say the world has reached the acme of perfection as far as its mechanical side is concerned but the vagaries of such minds, who would foist upon us their evolutions of mental fog, should be dismissed without the slightest consideration.

According to the "Breeze", an enterprising St. Louis negro designated as "inventor, pianist extraordinary and Pullman porter by necessity," has formed a company to produce a novel shirt of his invention, which is designed to effect a saving in laundry bills. The new shirt can be worn four days without a trip to the wrangler, or whatever it is that they use at the laundry to remove the buttons.

On Sunday it may be worn frontwards, on Monday backwards, on Tuesday inside out and on Wednesday inside out and backwards, each day presenting the appearance of a clean shirt, and, if desirable, of a different colored shirt. Details (of the scheme, of course) are not made public, but someone has been found with $12,000.00 worth of confidence in the project and it will soon be in production.

This of course would be a boon to the students at the University but personally a greater boon to which we hope the dusky fellow will advert, would be a pocket book on the same order, which may be found full of crisp greenbacks, when one examines it on successive days, frontwards, backwards, inside out and inside out and backwards.—Crimson-White.

College Humor in the Willamette Collegian, is offering a prize to anyone in the school who thinks he can give a consistent definition of a Freshman. The editor ventured that this would be an easy task from the viewpoint of the Freshman, as he would lose no time in giving everyone to understand he was next in importance to the president.

To a Sophomore, a Freshman is what little Johnnie, from the country is, on a visit to his city cousin. To a Junior, a necessary evil. To a Senior, hope of the college. Last but not least, to his mother, an exceptional child going out into an unappreciative world!

FRESHMAN MUST WEAR CAPS IN NORWAY TOO

Rollins freshmen are not the only students who are labelled by caps. "In Norway, a student of the university wears a black cap with a tassel that reaches the shoulder, while one who is taking the entrance examinations wears a cap of red," said Andreas Elvickén, instructor in history, Wednesday.

"It would be difficult," continued Mr. Elvickén, "to explain the difference of the school system of Norway and the United States." However, Mr. Elvickén pointed out some obvious differences:

"The Norwegian boy or girl completes the common school in six years. Then he or she goes to the 'mitten' skule' for four years, and the 'gymnasium' for three. At the latter, languages, especially German, French and English are stressed, since the student who enters the university must be able to read three foreign languages.

"From May 17, Norway's day of liberation, until June, the entrance examinations to the universities are given. During this time, the would-be student is called 'Russ' from the Latin depositurus cornua (lay down the horn). It is only after he has passed the examinations that the title of student is conferred upon him, and he discards the red cap and dons the black one.

To obtain the degree Cand. Mag., which Mr. Elvickén has, one must work for four or five years. Those who have attained this degree with honors are entitled to work for the degree of doctor of philosophy, which requires at least ten years of study, he said. Consequently, the number of doctors of philosophy in Norway is limited.

Students frequently gather at cafes where they have serious political discussions. On no occasion do they discuss sports.

Fraternities, social or professional, do not exist in Norway. The great organization there is the Students' association, to which all those who have passed the examinations are eligible.

There is no co-educational problem in Norway's universities since few women attend. Those who do are serious and intellectual. The wealthy girls go to boarding schools (pensions) in France and Switzerland.—The Athenaeum

The most interesting and amusing news that has appeared in College Publications for some time is the account of the suit of libel that Mr. Marvin Pharr is bringing against the "Mercer Chester." Mr. Pharr contends that his veracity was questioned, and reputation damaged, to the extent of $250,000.

The Reverend Mr. Mratin Pharr, a former ministerial student of Mercer, hails from Atlanta, Ga. He had always been on friendly terms with the "Mercer Chester," he states, until the astounding appearance of the following jingle:

"Here lies poor Marvin Pharr,
But waste on him no pity;
He's talking to some freshmen
And his lies are rather witty."

Because of this, which appeared in connection with jokes in the Chester, that paper is facing a suit which is calling forth comment from all over the country.

That Mr. Pharr should take offense at the jingle published with harmless intent, seriously concerned the staff. A meeting was promptly called, and it was decided that the suit would be contested. Such a demand on a college publication would almost drain its account—if not leave it in debt. Carey O. Prichard, business manager of the Chester, believes that, in general, proof that the alleged libelous statement is true is complete defense. He states: "It seems that we would have no difficulty proving that Mr. Pharr had lied to some Freshmen, but also that his lies were rather witty."

The greater importance that is attached to this is the effect the decision will have upon college publications. Such a suit challenges the freedom of the college press. If such damages could be collected by Mr. Pharr for one innocent jingle, could not each student whose names appear in such a connection, likewise enter suits, and with equal justification College papers would then be forced to omit the spicy items which add such life and zest to the publication?

The "Mercer Chester" has the support of the "Alligator" during the libel controversy, not only because of the absurdity of the demand and basis of the suit, but also because of what the decision concerning such a case will mean to college publications at large.

The reason why marriage is a failure with some people is because they couldn't be successful at anything.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Most of the California prunes are wrinkled, but not those that come from Hollywood.—Baltimore Sun.

At Princeton---

—the wardrobe of the average member of the Princeton Clubs would be:

A snap brim felt hat.
A "dress-up" curled bound edge felt hat.
A cap.
A derby.
A slicker.
A windbreaker.
A topcoat.
A Chesterfield coat, black or navy blue.
A raccoon coat.
A pull over sweater.
A silk muffler.
A cashmere muffler.
A four-piece suit.
A three-piece "dress-up" suit.
A dinner suit (coat and trousers).

A dress waistcoat (any kind).
A pair street shoes.
A pair sport shoes.
A pair galoshes.
A pair patent oxford dress shoes.
Some stiff bosom dress shirts.
Some collar attached shirts.
Neckwear.
Black batwing dress tie.
Small wing dress collars.
Dress studs and links.
A pair of white flannel trousers.
A pair of gray flannel trousers.
Golf hose.
White linen or white flannel knickers.
Corduroy knickers or trousers.

—of course here you could dispense with the chesterfield, the racoon coat and the galoshes. But how about the rest of it? Better see us.

K. E. PLEDGES ENTERTAINED

What could be nicer than a dance and slumber party? All the K. E. pledges have learned to Charleston and last Saturday evening, Billie Freeman's home was the scene of much gaiety. The rugs were rolled up and a colored orchestra presided around the piano. Everyone danced to their heart's content. After the strenuous evening of Charlestoning, the guests enjoyed the fruit salad, sandwiches and coffee that were served. At twelve o'clock the orchestra played Home Sweet Home and the boys said their fond adieus to their lady friends. The well-trained pledges finally got to bed at an unmentionable hour and the house became quiet for a few hours. At nine-thirty, Sunday morning, a wonderful breakfast was served and the girls enjoyed themselves immensely until church time. Everyone voted that Billie was a dandy hostess. The guests were the ten K. E. pledges and a large portion of the male element of the Rollins campus.

Those who attended, besides the pledges, were: Bob Cross, Fred Hanna, Ray Green, Russel Schwartz, Gordon Folger, Carl Drolsbaugh, Foster Walker, Leslie Taylor, Albert Merrill, Max Green, Lawrence Hall, Don Vincent, Jack Joyner, Arron Shreve, Charlie Zehler, Mike Michel, Van Dresser, Stan Warner, Herbert White, Dox Krueel, Billie Fuller, and others.

In society's realm for the past week two delightful dance parties "won the week" and were enjoyed by many of Rollins' students.

On Wednesday evening, January sixth the Annual Twelfth Night party was given by the All Saints Church of Winter Park, in the Parish House.

Mrs. J. B. Thomas, Mrs. C. B. Morse and Mrs. E. B. Mendson were hostesses and served delicious refreshments of sandwiches, orangeade and cake.

Informal dancing was enjoyed by members of the Episcopal Church and their friends.

Y. W. starts the New Year with a "peppy" and worth-while meeting Wednesday evening, January the thirteenth.

A fireside discussion of "Co-operation and School Spirit" was participated in by all. It was decided to raise a sum of one hundred dollars for the Armenian Relief Fund and means of raising the said sum were decided upon.

Hazel Darlington gave a beautiful solo which completed lovely services and meeting.

Toasted cheese sandwiches! Doughnuts! Coffee!

Don't we wish Beata would have another birthday? Chefs Mr. Kay Kenbler and L. Pipkorn officiated at "frying the sandwiches" while everybody else was kept busy eating. And Miss Gartland agrees that she never tasted better. The birthday child came very near eating a doughnut for each year—it's a good thing everyone doesn't know how old she is. Estelle had a good excuse for coming in a close second, as her birthday was only a week ago. The others were fortunate in not being able to find excuses for they did their share of eating just the same.

PERSONALS

The late arrivals from the holidays are Dewey Wilson, Evelyn Dula, Elizabeth Atkisson and Frances Vallette. They must have had an unusually good time.

Gladys Wilkinson is dividing her attention on the campus.

Ray and the Coach have returned from their trip over the country, but report a hard trip—snow, mud, spills, etc.

Someone is anxiously awaiting the return of a certain Mr. Couch!

We wonder why Bobbie Floyd said she would like to spend the rest of her life in Florida???

Pinkie Zoller was seen wearing a new kind of golf socks Monday.

There is serious competition in cloverleaf—three Victrolas.

Many recent spreads in the dorm show evidence of "eats from home."

A certain blue roadster has been seen in front of Cloverleaf recently.

An overheard remark: "Gee, wish I had Red Moore for my roommate."

K. E. Pledges had a spread Thursday night. The hostesses of the occasion were Lois and Edna.

The biology class wishes to extend a unanimous compliment on Prof. Uphof's new sweater.

You should see how Fred Hanna is at home in the kitchen, drinking milk right out of the bottle, when apparently no one is around.

In spite of the rain and cold weather, the campus was well populated Sunday night.

Charlie Zehler sez he just loves slumber parties and was so sorry he didn't rate this one last week-end.

Isabelle will be a whole year older Monday. Congratulations!

Bozo was bed-ridden last Wednesday. Where was he Tuesday night, is the question.

Ray Fralick, after being an orphan for five days, is again reinstated with his folks.

Start your trip abroad by going to Ireland. Other stops will be Spain and Africa. The bus will then bring you back to see some genuine Florida "Real Estaters."

Why wait? Make the tour Saturday night, January 23, for only 50c.

Don't miss the opportunity of "going abroad" Saturday, January 23.

Don't fail to get your ticket for the "Trip Around the World." Saturday night, January 23 cars will leave Cloverleaf every 10 minutes from 7:30 to 9:30 o'clock. Refreshments served at each country.

CELLO DEPARTMENT TO BE ORGANIZED AT THE ROLLINS SCHOOL OF MUSIC

Mr. A. M. Walker, who joins the teaching staff of the Rollins School of Music this week as head of the Cello Department, began studies in Boston. Continued work with William Ebann, a pupil of Clengel of Leipzig and one of the foremost teachers of New York City. Mr. Walker has had considerable teaching experience in New York and Atlanta. He has done concert work and was a member of the Providence, New Orleans and Atlanta Symphony Orchestras. The string quartet which has been organized in connection with the Orlando Symphony Orchestra will no doubt further interest in Cello and it is hoped that a strong department will be built up in the Rollins School of Music under the leadership of Mr. Walker.

The regular monthly student recital of the school of music will take place next Tuesday afternoon at 5:00 o'clock in Knowles Hall. Students and faculty members are urged to attend these recitals.

The next big musical event in the Rollins calendar will be the faculty recital given by Miss Gretchen Cox, head of the violin department, Thursday evening, January twenty-first, at Knowles Hall. Miss Cox will give the entire program which will include many standard and favorite compositions for the violin. Miss Cox has been heard with great pleasure in the few solo appearances she has made since coming to Rollins and every student will hail with delight the announcement that she is to give a recital.

NO MORE BLIND DATES FOR WEST VIRGINIA UNIV. BOYS

There are two upperclass chaps who will never have "blind dates" again. The girls in the Boughner house annex have taught them a lesson which is likely to settle for all time any attempt on their part to "get fresh with little freshmen" again.

One Sunday evening a short time ago a boy called up at the Boughner annex and asked the girl at the phone if she would see whether she could get him and his pal a blind date, the only requirements being that the girls be freshmen and good looking. Some what astounded at such audacity the young lady asked what their names were, but they refused to divulge their identity.

She told them just to hold the line and she would see what she could do. After some conferring with the other girls she informed the boys that she had been successful. They were to call at 8 o'clock and ask for Miss Jones, who would introduce them to their dates.

Two cool headed upperclass girls had been persuaded to wear freshmen armbands and "take the boys on." Eight o'clock found the parlors of the Boughner house filled to overflowing with girls casually discussing the weather as if they were always accustomed to having such delightful little social sessions, while other girls were attempting to have dates.

The boys rang the doorbell and asked for Miss Jones, who said she would call the girls immediately. The adventurers were led to chairs at the far side of the front parlor where they were surrounded by girls who had no hesitancy in discussing the personal defects and likely qualities of the boys in their midst. The young men stood the pressure as long as they could and then fled to the stair steps and sat there until their dates appeared.

The first "freshman" introduced came sidling out in approved country jake style chewing a great wad of gum. She gave the boys a hearty handshake while they sat speechless, too taken aback even to arise to acknowledge the introduction. Their audience in the front parlor crowded to the door to enjoy the fun.

The second "freshman" dressed in the latest co-ed fashions came forward for her introduction. It was positively pitiful to see how the boys rushed to her, a look of joy lighting their eyes, such as one sees in the eyes of a poor unfortunate who, having been doomed to die suddenly, perceives rescuers. Of course only one boy could "date her," so in the rush the other boy tried to slip out. Our country friend would have no such action on the part of her "very first date she ever had" and she grabbed him with the crooked handle of her umbrella and dragged him back.

This being the country lassie's first date, she was not at all bashful, and masterfully started out to lead the conversation.

"Did you bring me anything?" she inquired of her swain. "Of course this is my first date, but I always was told that the boys always brought the girls a box of candy. Did you bring me one?"

The girls appeared for some reason to want to go down to pay Comuntzis a visit, but the boys were afraid the girls would take cold. "It is terribly cold outside." They suggested as compensation, however, that they go car-riding, which suggestion met with as much disapproval on the part of the "dainty milkmaid" as hers had with them.

In spite of the struggle, the girls kept the boys at the house until the whistle blew at 10 o'clock.

WORLD COURT CAMPAIGN
PASSES INTO HISTORY

torial in the University of Washington Daily entitled, "Why Stop with the World Court?" which suggested that ten hours of current events be a graduation requirement in every school and college of the University. The delegates at the Amherst conference called upon their student bodies to suggest that the entire student body of America urge Congress to appropriate at least as much money as is now being spent on the R. O. T. C. for exchange scholarships between students of other countries and the students of the United States.

The report from Wilson College (Chambersburg, Pa.), in speaking of the National Student Poll, says:

"We know that at Wilson College it has made us realize that there is something outside the campus and we are hoping that after the debate on the World Court in the Senate, the enthusiasm will not die down."

undoubted adroitness in making ends meet won him that honor without opposition. Frank Larkin was elected sergeant-at-arms, winning his victory against heavy odds, and strong politics, and Paul Hilliard was appointed publicity agent by President Abbott.

Charter members of the Association are: Jack Evans, Homer Parker, Frank Abbott, Charles Zehler, Paul Hilliard, Edward Eichstaedt, John Scott, Raymond Fralick and Clarence Draa.

Mr. Abbott, when questioned as to the purpose of the Winter Park Eating Association, said:

"Our purpose is simple: to uphold the standards of the college and to eat everything we can lay our hands on that looks edible."

LOOKED TO A SPECTATOR

down near the north goal-posts. The stadium was five rows of planks.

The curtain-raiser was about over. Miami High was just on the point of scoring its end of a 0-0 game with Atlanta Tech High. Then the Rollins-Oglethorpe boys came on. I guess one of the Oglethorpe backs was equipped with Non-Skid chains adv.) because he made a touchdown or two.

As a football game, though, it was a fine regretta. Most of—s Forty Miles of Waterways (adv.) was running through the field.

Of course it was well worth the price, though. The players were all Americans. Of course I would only have had to pay $2.00 (two rocks) at the box-office for the Harvard-Yale game, the Dartmouth-Chicago game, the Army-Navy game, or to see Michigan or Washington or Alabama or any one of those teams play. But then, this game was well worth the price; it was in Florida, and football games are scarce on account of the embargo or something. Besides the land is very valuable.

They say there were 4000 people at the game. And at $5 net to the promoters, that's $20,000. (If you don't believe me, figure it yourself). Now the field is 100 yards long. Will somebody figure the price per front foot that we paid? Of course, that wouldn't be so high, if I'd bought on a re-sale; but I bought on the ground floor, direct from the company. In fact, if you'd seen the "field" you'd have thought I was getting in on the pre-development prices!

The only trouble is, the field wasn't subdivided; and I'll be hanged if I know which 10-yard line my lot faces on.

I tried to figure out the reason for the prices. Probably on the principle of "all the traffic will bear." Maybe that's the Miami spirit—I don't know. Times have changed. Or perhaps the extra price was for the free spectacle of the Coral Gables fire laddies trying in vain to drain the field and the adjoining lake.

And now they are importing some real, all-star football teams for Christmas and New Years. The imagination shivers and gives up the ghost at the thought of what they'll charge. Of course, the first game ought to pay for the concrete stadium. Red Grange's income tax, the Biscayne Bay section, and the National Debt; but my Gawd, dearie, what'll they do with the proceeds from the second game?

WHY YOU NEED THIS GUIDE

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine." Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes, are overworked." Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort.
Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand-book and guide NOW.
