ROLLINS INTRODUCES NEW SYSTEM IN COLLEGE METHODS

FALL TERM FORMALLY OPENED SEPTEMBER 23

President Holt and Faculty Members
Speakers at Congregational Church

The formal opening of the 42nd academic year of Rollins College, which was held Thursday morning, September 23rd, in the First Congregational Church, was featured by brief addresses from Dean George E. Carrothers, Dr. Thomas Pierce Bailey, Mrs. Lyde Drummond Harris, Mr. Edwin Osgood Grover and Dr. Emilie Watts McVea, former President of Sweet Briar College, introduced by President Holt as the foremost educator of the South today.

Dr. Thomas of the Episcopal Church opened the exercises with a short reading of Scripture and a prayer for the success of the College year.

President Holt called upon various members of the faculty to make short addresses of welcome to the students.

Dean Carrothers as, the first speaker, emphasized the necessity for each student to make himself something more than just a name. He stated that at present most of the students are merely names to him, but already a few people are putting a meaning into their names and before the end of the year each person will pack his or her name with a meaning (Continued on Page 5)

VARSITY-ALUMNI GAME OPENS '26 GRID SEASON

Opening the football season for the Rollins Tars, the Varsity meets on Saturday, October 2, an Alumni team assembled by George Seeds, former Rollins first line man. The proceeds from the game are to be used for defraying the expenses of the Rollins teams.

Former Assistant Coach Hook of Illinois is whipping the Alumni team into shape and from the material on hand, bids fair to give the varsity all they can manage. George Seeds heads the team as captain. For the past three years he has starred on the Rollins grid and his work against his former buddies will be particularly interesting to follow.

Line-up for the Alumni team is as follows:

Ends: Boyle, Potter, B. Wolf. Center: Donaldson. Tackles: Wainwright, Colado, Hunter. Guards: Moore, Ebberts, Graham. Backfield: Seeds, G. Wolf, Quinn, Vincent, B. Taylor, K. Warner, Shannon, Moore, manager; Seeds, captain; Hook, coach.

It will take all that and then some to stop Coach Orr's fast moving backfield. Rollins Varsity men will probably be drawn from the following candidates:

Zehler (captain), Goodell, Cross, Zoller, Crawford, Hilliard, Pound, Duran, Winderweede, Frahlick, Burns, Couch, Marlowe, Smith, Walker, Velasquez, Upmeir, Van Poll.

RATS ARE PUT THROUGH TRADITIONAL FRESHMAN-SOPHOMORE CEREMONIES

BOXING

At an impromptu Rat session held Monday night, several prominent Rats took advantage of the opportunity to make their presence known. Sophomores being rather bored, as sophomores are, felt a craving for entertainment. Thought naturally turned to Freshmen who offer said entertainment par excellence. Thirsting for blood, members of the Class of '29 instigated a boxing exhibition in the lobby of Chase Hall. Two bouts went off with a bang. Unerring ears caught the thud of blows being given and taken and soon a large audience was gathered. More Rats showed their greenness by coming out of their holes to investigate the source of the excitement and were immediately signed up for the successive bouts.

The audience swelled and overflowed the limits of the dorm—activities were transferred to Kentucky Avenue. Among the distinguished witnesses of the affair were President Holt and Mr. Short.

Eventually, material ran out. Rats adjourned to Cloverleaf under escort of the Sophomore class and a short but snappy program was offered for the fair occupants who crowded every door and window space.

PRESIDENT HOLT GIVES TALKS AT THREE EVENTS

President Hamilton Holt filled three speaking engagements in the city of Sanford this past week. On Tuesday he spoke at the Rotary Club and was introduced by D. L. Thrasher. In Doctor Holt's honor the Rotary Club invited the men of the faculty of the Sanford High School as their guests on this occasion, as well as the Superintendent of Public Instruction, T. W. Lawton, who is a graduate and trustee of Rollins. All members of the Sanford School Board belong to the Rotary Club and were present.

On Wednesday President Holt appeared before the Kiwanis Club of Sanford at the Seminole Cafe. On Thursday he made an address before the Lions' Club.

President Holt used as his subject, "The Rollins Ideal" and invited the people of Seminole County to take part in the development of Rollins into the "ideal small college of America."

FRESHMAN CLASS MEETING SEPTEMBER 27, 1926

Meeting was called to order and presided over by Mr. Arroyo, advisor from the Sophomore Class.

It was moved and approved that a temporary president be elected who should hold office until such a time as the pupils were better acquainted with each other.

Ward Mould, Porter Waugh, F. E. Starns, and R. N. Ewiny were the nominees for the position. Mould was elected, and took the chair.

PARADE

The male "Rats" of the Class of 1930 were given their primary "what-for" session with the Upper-classmen Tuesday night, September 28.

Rats attired in the various types of harness in which men choose to sleep were summoned from their rooms in Chase Hall, Phi Alpha Lodge, and the Bachelor House; assembled in front of Chase Hall at 9:30 P. M.; and marched around the Horse Shoe to the tune of "There is a Hell," and the hearty thwacks of belts.

First halt was called at Lakeside where fifteen rats were given for that dormitory and encored, in response to the applause of the ladies within.

Continuing to Cloverleaf the Rat paraders again paused to gratify an admiring throng of co-eds assembled on the veranda and steps. James Arroyo, '29, in charge of the Sophomore onslaught, put the Fresh victims through such paces as they possessed (or should have possessed, had they been fortunate). A Battle Royal between three blindfolded green ones armed with newspaper clubs was a rare and novel affair. Applause from the blood thirsty galleries was answered by fifteen vociferous rats with their echoing volley of belt sounds as "Rats" took their bow.

Lock step formation was resumed and the march continued, wending its way across the football field and snake-dancing down Park Avenue at a Charlie Paddock pace!

Opposite the park, lines were drawn up in drill formation and then allowed to indulge in various competitions of agility and flexibility. (N.B. Several new declevities in the paving have been found, converses of the arch of a Rat's skull. Like is said to attract like—).

JUNIORS AND SENIORS HOLD FIRST MEETINGS

A meeting of the Senior Class was held Wednesday in Knowles and officers for the coming year elected as follows:

President, Beatrice Jones.
Vice President, Estelle Pipkorn.
Secretary Treasurer, Katherine Lewis.

Tuesday afternoon, September 28, the Junior Class held its first meeting of the year. Officers were elected as follows:

President, Charles Zehler.
Vice-President, Florence McKay.
Secretary, D. B. McKay.
Treasurer, Carl Warner.

The election of the editor of the Tomokan was postponed until a committee of five appointed for the purpose of investigating the last year-book made their report at the next meeting.

The Faculty Adopts Radical Innovation As An Experiment

TWO-HOUR CLASSES TO COM- BINE PREPARATION AND RECITATION

Members of the student body assembled in Knowles Hall Monday Morning were privileged to hear a short address by Dr. Charles Franklin Thwing, author of numerous works on educational topics, President Emeritus, of Western Reserve University and Adelbert College, and head of the national honorary fraternity Phi Beta Kappa. His latest volume—"The College President" was blamed by President Holt in introducing the speaker for many of his own "vagaries" from the accepted idea of the one who fills that position. "He is," President Holt said, "The President of College Presidents."

Doctor Thwing explained himself as being present to investigate the inauguration of so new a page into the annals of colleges. He is himself one of the foremost modernists of educators, having just embarked a ship load of 500 students to spend the next eight or nine months studying the world at close range.

In commenting on the new system he was enthusiastic—"The success of the movement," Dr. Thwing concluded "Will be brought about on two conditions. First, the wisdom, the devotion, and enthusiasm of the faculty; and secondly, by the wisdom, the devotion, and enthusiasm of the students."

Two hour sessions of all classes, combining research and recitation, dismissing from the Rollins campus forever outside preparation. Such is the program for the coming year unanimously passed at a meeting of the faculty last Friday afternoon, according to the announcement of Dean Carrothers in Chapel, Monday morning, September 27.

The new system as explained by members of the governing board and faculty is to make the class room a scene of discussion rather than one of recitation. The students will in this way meet their instructors on the basis on which they will meet other men and women in their life after college.

"The purpose of the conference," President Holt spoke, "Is not to form a high school study hour of supervised preparation, but to bring students to what will be met in life, close association with older and wiser men."

"We may encounter difficulties which we are now unable to anticipate but the faculty will hold frequent meetings for the solution of such, criticisms and suggestions from the students will be asked until we can perfect this experiment."

Professor Grover of the new Department of Books defined the system as not a new means of acquiring a catalogue of facts but as new method, one used in attaining all goals.

The Sandspur

Established in 1894 with the following editorial:
 "Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

TWO-HOUR SESSIONS

We, personally, are for them—if one of their purposes mentioned last Monday morning in chapel, that of doing away with outside preparation, is carried through. Otherwise we are quite satisfied to indulge ourselves in only one hour a day of each particular brand of golden personality.

There are professors, golden personality (and we use the term seriously) professors, who have in twenty-five or thirty years of teaching acquired a habit of instruction not to be varied over night by an idea. They have a line interspersed with questions and bits of knowledge that spreads over two hours just as well as one. Parallel to their classes is an elaborate system of research, reference, reading and outlines so boring that they would not personally oversee its preparation. The fact these courses may require more than one hour of preparation for an hour recitation we can only answer by reference to President Holt's statistics of a large representative institution of higher learning. Only ten per cent of the students were giving that amount of time to study outside of the class room.

Ratting is a necessary thing, one of the most effective means of instilling a class consciousness into a heterogeneous collection of crude material. It does impair pride; that is a personal sort of self glorification. The sooner rid of that the better in an American college of today. Such ideas as a Freshman has formed are inclined to be utterly false or at best, distorted. Ratting at the first of the Freshman year serves as a sort of mental eraser jolting the victim loose from his former system and method of life, leaving him clear for new standards and principles he will find in any college.

The best he can do is to accept such hard knocks as he encounters like a sportsman. With the right slant of humor, a Rat will see it all as a game; as all college is a game, as all life is, for that matter. There is more than one bit of fun tucked away in it. Such fun as is to be found on the way, take, or chuckle to yourself occasionally over a bird's eye view of the hopeless crazy quilt pattern.

K. E. KOMMENTS

Ada McKay is a visitor at K.E. house.

The gentlemen visitors at K.E. house Sunday were delightfully entertained. During the evening refreshments of ice water and crackers were served.

Evelyn Green goes for moonlight canoeing, ukeleles, and whispering baritones.

Edna Wells is getting old before her time—she's K.E. house president.

Martha is the stuff at Y. W. Presiding. Pretty snappy reception, "Jettie."

K.E. telephone is now in working order.

We hate to give up Louise Mathis so soon.

Vaudine, Laura, and Ruth—K.E. Alumnae—visited K.E. house. They gave valuable suggestions, etc. etc.

June and Trixie for the Angebilt "go plenty."

Before taking Dr. Holt's 2-hour classes, I was weak and run down. Now my principles are gone and my stomach in perfect condition.—Adv.

Carl: Can you give the definition of porcupine?

Pinky: A porcupine is a little animal that eats pork and pines all day. (Editor's note: Laugh at that with both barrels.)

PHI OMEGA FACTS

Ginny Nagel, of Melbourne, was a guest at the Phi Omega house Friday.

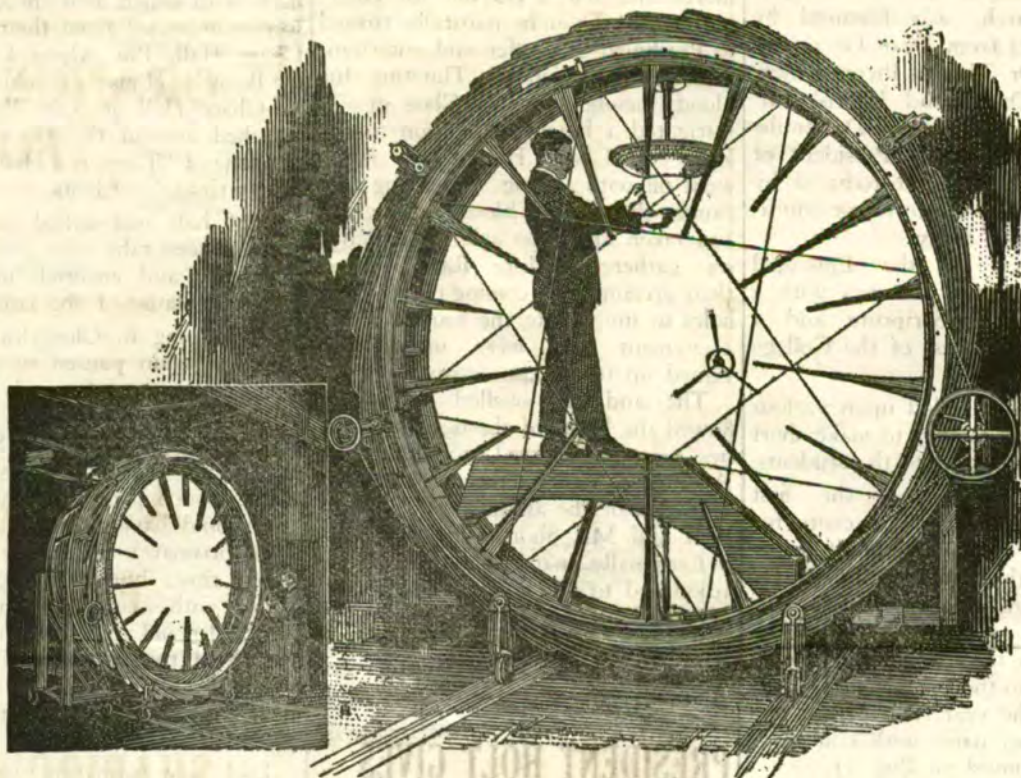

Everyone is anxiously waiting to welcome Frances Vallette and Elizabeth Atkisson back to Rollins.

We notice that the "Buckeye" sign has been reversed. Sorry Red can't read Greek!

Everyone was glad to see Peggy Gaskill Saturday and are hoping she will soon be with us permanently.

Lucille Waters is a frequent visitor at the Phi Omega house.

We are glad to welcome another Pipkorn girl on the Campus. Now there is a representative in every class.

With the hemispherical integrator the illuminating engineer measures light intensities and distribution. These laboratory findings are practically applied to improve our everyday illumination.

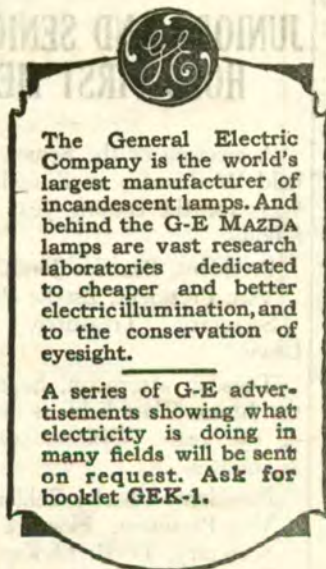

When the sun goes down

More than 350,000,000 incandescent lamps, with a combined light of nine billion candlepower, make city streets, stores, and homes brighter than ever before.

In bungalow or mansion, workshop or factory, dormitory or auditorium, there is no excuse for poor illumination. We have cheaper and better lighting in the electric lamp than ever before; for the dollar that bought 1,115 candlepower-hours of light with the carbon-filament lamps of 1886, now buys 16,200 candlepower-hours of light with the MAZDA lamps.

Not only more light, but correctly applied light, is the order of the day. The electric lamp, with its flameless yet highly concentrated light source, lends itself ideally to reflectors, shades, and screens. It is controlled light—safe light. And illumination becomes an exact science.

During college days and in after life, correct lighting must ever be of paramount importance to the college man and woman. Good lighting is the worthy handmaiden of culture and progress.

CLOVERLEAF RECEPTION

Following the custom of the past, the Y. W. C. A. entertained the faculty and student body with its annual reception Saturday night, September 25. Much time was spent in preparation in order that it might be a success and such it was from all reports. Cloverleaf was given special attention, lanterns were hung with care and the floors waxed as they had never been before.

The guests began to arrive at eight o'clock and at nine were entertained with a program of stunts. Especially enjoyable were the readings by Miss Dorothea Thomas and Miss Marion Mulligan, and the performance of "Oscar" by Mr. Airey.

Dancing followed—the music for which was furnished by the Cooper Music House of Orlando. The true Rollins spirit seemed to prevail throughout the entire evening and in the opinion of many it was considered the most successful Cloverleaf reception we have had for many years.

PERSONALS

Vince Conway was accused of being a Simplex in sociology class—we wonder how to take it. Abbot says leave off the "lex."

The Sophomores certainly have trained the freshmen well. The rat meetings are showing good results. Ask Ruby Quick how to wipe a smile off your face.

The Cloverleaf girls have been trying to decide which they liked best—the fashion show or the tea dance. Both were most enjoyable.

Edna Wells spent the week-end in Tampa with her mother. She was accompanied by Verna Maxson, another Tampa girl.

The first Y. W. C. A. meeting was held in Knowles Hall Sunday evening at 6:30. Perhaps the most enjoyable parts of the program were the music by Miss Niles and the address by Dean Carrothers. It was wonderful to see so many in attendance. Fifteen were expected to attend; there were over fifty. There are many interesting programs in store for the girls to enjoy Y. W. meetings.

Annabeth Wilson has returned to her home in Jacksonville.

Sunday night Cloverleaf witnessed one of its first real spreads. The occasion was the birthday of Marjorie McMichael of Orlando. She served chicken salad, pickles, crackers, grape juice and angel food cake. Those who enjoyed the "eats" were: Helen Link, Elinor Jones, Laura Shelby, Margaret Conning, Demaris Wilson and Martha Mathis. A piece of cake was served to Miss Gartland, but she didn't come up to the party.

It seems good to hear "Buddy" Crawford's voice on the campus again—it has a way of being heard.

Margaret Conning, who was taken ill Friday night, is much better. She says its nice to be ill when people are so good to you.

Billie Mulligan is visiting the Sigma Phi's. Billie is always a welcome guest at Rollins.

Louise Mathis, who has been a guest of the K.E.'s for the past week, has returned to her home in Crescent City.

Dameris Wilson was the guest of Helen Link Sunday. Helen is another one of our Orlando girls.

WORKING MEN HOLD MEET

Meeting was held of the men who are working on the campus, at seventy-third Monday. It was decided to call the club "The Campus Club." Complaints were given as to the troubles on the college campus. Mr. Short gave a few words of encouragement to the students as to their positions and their work.

A meeting of the Freshmen girls was called in Knowles Hall to acquaint them with the rules of Cloverleaf and Lakeside. Roll was called and the rats had to answer to the tune of "I am dumb," which caused much entertainment to the Sophomores. By the looks of things the Sophomore girls are ruling the rats with an iron hand and a wooden paddle, so watch your step, rats.

Soph.—Do you know where golf originated?

Frosh—Scotland, I suppose.

Soph.—No, Mexico. Haven't you heard of the Gulf of Mexico.

SWIMMING

The swimming classes have opened with a rush! Never before in the history of Rollins have so many students signed up for swimming, everybody taking advantage of the wonderful lake privileges here at Rollins, not to be found anywhere on any other college campus, perhaps, in all America.

The First Girls Beginners Swimming Class was held at the "Ole Swimming Hole" last Wednesday, with twelve enrolled; each one succeeding in getting her nose beneath the surface of the water, and "Blowing bubbles," after some pleading on the part of the instructor. After this much was accomplished, it was only a matter of a few minutes, before they all were splashing about like ducks in a bathtub.

The line-up of this enthusiastic class is as follows: Mable McKibbin, Mary Boyer, Ethel Kahn, Grace Thomas, Irene Draa, Junetta Clark, Madeline Rohn, Ruth Castleman, Virginia Castleman, Anne Campbell, and Betty Oiler.

And, now, when the Advanced class lined up on the deck for their first class, which was composed of "dry land swimming," hardly any part of the dock was visible.

There are thirty-six in this class. A little later on, as the year advances, we wish to have as our slogan for this class: "The Perfect 36."

We do not wish to confuse the name of this class with the thought that all are "Experts," still, we do have a few; but every girl is expecting to develop a stroke that will better enable her to enjoy, and appreciate more, the art of swimming, which is rapidly becoming a universal sport.

The old days have past, when, in order to get a swim, one had to slip away from home, walk, perhaps two or three miles to the "ole swimming hole," and swallow a couple o' gallons of water, in the effort to learn to swim; then, on the way home, would throw dust behind the ears, around the neck, and in the dimples, in order that mother and daddy would not know where they had been!

Later on in the year, as the weather becomes too cool for swimming classes, canoeing will be taught in all of its branches.

The first boys' swimming class will be held Tuesday, September 28th.

It is hoped that we will have both a boys' and a girls' swimming team that will wander into new fields of adventure, and into worlds, unconquered, and bring new laurels to the Rollins trophy case.

Instructor.

ROLLINS INTRODUCES NEW SYSTEM IN COLLEGE METHODS

Professor Jenks who precipitated the innovation by adopting the method in his courses from the first of the year modestly disclaimed a share in the honors of the speaker's platform.

Two questions were raised by members of the student assembly: Could one study in a crowded room; and the standing in which Rollins credits will be accepted at other colleges. William H. Short, treasurer and business manager for the college, met the first of these, holding the conditions of study as excellent training in concentration for those who plan a career in business where privacy exists no longer. To the second Dean Carrothers took the floor. The value of Rollins credits will not be impaired, he stated and went on to add: One new Standard will be introduced, credits will be awarded not for the amount of time spent studying a subject, but according to the work covered. Any one able to cover a four month course in two will be allowed to do so.

Dean Carrothers in opening the chapel session of Monday said that he regarded the meeting held that morning as one of the most significant and interesting meetings ever held in an American college.

The assembly adjourned and the entire student body turned itself to the re-registration due to a necessary revision of the schedule.

for good or bad. The names should stand for industry, honesty, uprightness and a good sport, but it is left up to the owners to put whatever meaning they will into their names.

In her address Mrs. Harris made a plea for beauty; setting forth as her belief that the best education is that one which teaches us to see the beautiful in the world about us. "A dream," said she, "is the most practical thing in the world. Nothing can be the most beautiful, because then it would be finished. Each student makes his own college. He selects his own faculty and students. They are for him just what he wills them to be." In connection with this thought Mrs. Harris told the story of her visit to a very famous sculptor while she was in Paris. In the main studio of the sculptor she was surprised to find only clay models. When she questioned him concerning this he replied that he made his patterns from his dreams, that hired workmen did the finishing. Yet to him comes all the fame. He is the dreamer of beauty and beauty means more than anything else.

Almost as a follow-up to Mrs. Harris' statement that a student makes his own college, Professor Grover said that Rollins College is today the length and shadow of the men and women who have given their lives to the college and that in the future the college will be the length and shadow of those who are giving their lives to it today. Then touching lightly upon his own course in books he added that a book is the length and shadow of the author and even more. "In books," he said, "you have a revelation of the man's soul."

Dr. McVea, who is the first woman to receive an honorary degree from the University of North Carolina, spoke as follows: "Here we are all learners together. And we are learners led by a practical dreamer. As Dr. Lowell said, 'The three chief objects of knowledge are these: First: To see the things about us in Nature. That is science. Second: To store our minds with facts and information of value. Third: To train our judgment so that we can draw from these facts and information and form our judgments.'"

"After all is not all of this education really seeing? Having the eyes of our bodies, our minds, our spirits open and alert? Rejoice, young man and young woman, in your strong bodies, in your sports, in your pleasures, but rejoice more in the minds that God has given you."

The points brought out by Dr. Bailey are these: "We must have conversation with ourselves that is not morbid introspection. We must study the book of our soul and learn to see ourselves as others see us. We want to have childlikeness, but not childishness. We want to be manly but not mannish, womanly, but not womanish. Individuality is sacred. Even God will not interfere with it."

"The three things which influenced me most in deciding to come to Rollins College," said President Holt, in the principal address of the morning, "were these: First: Florida at this moment is the most progressive state in the union. Here I found a spirit of friendship and a desire to co-operate that I have not seen elsewhere. Second: Rollins being the oldest college in the state had a fine tradition. Third: Rollins has not been so successful as to prevent progress." He also said that it was not his intention to interfere in any way with the business of the college unless something went wrong. President Holt expressed it as his earnest desire that this college shall be made into a teachers' paradise.

Conservatory Notes

Once more we're back at Rollins. Once more we hear strange sounds issuing from Pinehurst. The uninitiated may not understand these noises and so, for their benefit, such peculiar mutterings, shrieks, and wailings must be explained. Pinehurst contains many practice rooms and industrious students occupy these rooms at all hours in the day. Of course the vocal side of this is the most painful, but everyone will pardon this when the recitals are held. These are the results of the aforementioned and explained sounds. There is real talent at Rollins and let's all give it a boost by attending the recitals whenever held.

Welcome home, teachers! After delightful vacations all of our talented conservatory faculty have returned. Miss Shenck had the longest journey, for she went to Europe to study. She's back again safe and sound but—she left something somewhere en route! Three guesses! Sh! Don't all shout at once—it's embarrassing!

We are especially glad to welcome to our Pinehurst, Frederick S. Andrews, B.S. He is head of our good old conservatory, and is proving very successful and efficient. He has had long and successful experience teaching many forms of musical subjects and activities. Students report his classes extremely interesting. It is also whispered that he can compete with our Mr. Siewert as an organist. Three cheers for Mr. Andrews! We're all hoping you will like Rollins.

Nothing definite has been reported about Glee Clubs as yet. When the call comes it is hoped that everyone will respond and help make this the biggest year yet. Perhaps something big can be done, such as an operetta. This all depends upon work and co-operation. Once more—let's make this, in all ways, the biggest Conservatory Season and one that will be in keeping with "The New Rollins."

George E. Carrothers, Ph.D. (Columbia), new Dean of Rollins. He was formerly Professor of Education in Ohio University and has taught at Michigan, Ohio State, and Miami universities.

SIGMA PHI SEZ:

Billie Mulligan and Kay Hicks arrived Saturday for a visit of indefinite duration. We expect Billie to come back to school—there's something about Rollins that holds her.

Barbara Sheffield is back from a wonderful summer in New York, and we're all glad to see her,—and every eyebrow lifted quizzically because she didn't see the fight.

Annabeth Wilson left Thursday, but expects to return soon to help the cause along.

Bud Walker fed the Starving Sisters once last week—chocolate ice cream was enjoyed by all.

Have you seen the new Sigma Phi banner? It's a beauty and the swing is fixed—permanently, we hope.

Miss Margaret White was one of the charming models who displayed Dickson-Ives frocks at the Phi Alpha tea-dance last Friday. She certainly was a picture.

To find the secret of popularity ask the Good Humor man. He is welcomed by all with equal glee.

Some members have deserted us in body if not in spirit. Helen Wilson is at the University of Indiana, and Max Young at Tallahassee.

Visitors to the house please be warned. Fido, the mascot, is a voracious eater of pennies.

Peg and Mary Lou are grass widows—George is coming down soon, and did you know Bozo is at Carnegie Tech, and taking 32 hours a week?

Leila says "That's nothing—Frank's taking 32 hours a week at the Sigma Phi House." He leaves soon for Texas—another widow on our hands.

The climax of the evening was reached in a three-block belt line leading into the forceful play of a city fire hose. Rats who lost articles of clothing under the gentle watery touch thanked their deities and dived for the shadows.

Members of the upper classes finished off the evening as guests of the Phi Alpha House, over a bowl of punch.

Bruns—Hey, Martha, how do you like my new Sunday hat?

Martha—I notice you wear it on the week-end.
