ROLLINS LOSES HARD GAME TO STETSON BY SCORE OF 33-0

ACADEMY TEAM FALTERS BEFORE ROLLINS FROSH

RATS RUN ENDS AND HIT LINE FOR 39 TO 0 VICTORY

Fighting gamely, but hopelessly in a losing battle, the boys from Hulvey Military Academy of Windermere went down to defeat before the Rollins frosh Friday afternoon at the fair grounds, 39 to 0. Outweighed, outplayed, and out-generalized, the militarists stuck gamely to their guns for four quarters, while the Rollins yearlings pranced around ends and tore great holes through the opposing line. The team from Windermere was no match for the fast and hard-hitting Rollins backs.

The first touchdown came a few moments after the first kickoff. Hulvey received and returned the ball ten yards before it was downed. Three plays netted nothing, and Hulvey punted. Rollins received the ball on the fifty yard line, and began a march down the field that resulted in Ihrig plunging across the goal line for the first touchdown. Score, Rollins 6; H. M. A. 0.

The Tars scored three more touchdowns before the half ended. Long end runs protected by almost perfect interference enabled the Tar backs to sweep around ends for big gains. The Tar Baby backfield, composed of Ihrig, Fisher, Waugh (captain), and Parsons, is the most effective combination of weight and speed in the state, and time and again they proved their worth by carrying the ball, or taking out the Hulvey defenders.

RIVALRY WITH STETSON WAKES ROLLINS SPIRIT

Saturday was a big day for Rollins. In spite of the fact the Hatters rolled up a score of 33-0 against us public opinion is unanimous in the verdict that it was a Rollins "game". Fighting against terrific odds that warranted a much greater score the Tars put up a game battle typical of any Rollins team.

Analysis of the game shows a weakness in our line not true of the opposing team but a superiority in punting and passing which sadly enough was not sufficient to win the game. Captain Zehler showed the fine metal he was made of and truly won the title of "Star". Stetson however put up three stars in opposition including the dangerous Courtney.

In the stands a different picture was presented which stirred our team too heroic action against odds and won a reputation and respect for Rollins not easily put aside. The Rollins

Rules Governing Saint Andy Class Feud

1.—The even classes of Rollins College this year shall be known as the lawful guardians of Saint Andrew Carnegie.

2.—Whichever classes (odd or even) are in possession of Saint Andrew, whether lawfully or unlawfully, shall, at the dates appointed, return him to his resting place in Carnegie Hall where he shall remain between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m.

3.—On these selected days all hostilities shall cease between the hours of 8 a. m. and 4 p. m. and Saint Andrew shall rest in peace on the wall of Carnegie Hall.

4.—The classes in possession on these selected dates shall be allowed to return SAINT ANDREW to his resting place at 8 a. m. and to retire him from there at 4 p. m. or thereabout unmolested by the classes not in possession.

5.—After SAINT ANDREW has been taken from his resting place on the Day of Peace the classes in possession will be allowed a five minute start before the classes not in possession may give chase.

6.—In his travels SAINT ANDREW must not leave the State of Florida.

7.—Each of the ODD and EVEN classes shall select a committee of three competent persons to be known as "ANDYMEN" whose duty it shall be to know at all times (except when the opposite class has him) the whereabouts of SAINT ANDREW and be responsible for his appearance on the selected days.

8.—The selected days for the return of SAINT ANDREW shall be: Armistice Day in the first semester and Alumni Day in the second semester.

9.—SAINT ANDREW may be rushed through the Campus or Town in plain sight, by the classes in possession at any time they may desire but if the class in possession lose him at this time it shall be known as a bona fide loss and the opposite class shall keep possession if they succeed in capturing SAINT ANDREW in this manner.

ANY VIOLATION OF THE ABOVE RULES AUTOMATICALLY DISCONTINUES THE TRADITION AND SAINT ANDREW MUST BE RETURNED AND NEVER AGAIN BE REMOVED FROM HIS PERMANENT RESTING PLACE IN CARNEGIE HALL.

GHOST OF GOLF PLAYING PHILANTHROPIST TO WALK

Saint Andy, the patron saints of Rollins College, will adorn the wall of Carnegie Hall again Armistice Day at 8:00 a. m. At that hour, the evens, who now have possession of the plaque that has such a colorful career, will return the bronze tablet to its former resting place so that the odds may once more have an opportunity to wrest it from them.

The tradition of St. Andy was established at Rollins last year. There were formerly at the entrance to Carnegie two bronze plaques, one bearing the bust of Andrew Carnegie, who gave the building to the institution, and in honor of whom the building is named. Those who were to graduate in years numerically even concocted a plan to steal the plaque of Carnegie and publicly challenge the members of the odd classes to take it away from them. The plan was put into execution, and rules governing the Saint Andy feud were published the next day. They may be found elsewhere in this paper.

The plaque must be restored to its former resting place twice a year by whatever group possesses it at the time. These dates are Armistice Day

Sanford, Oct. 30.—Stetson University's Mad Hatters rolled over the Rollins College Tars here this afternoon for a 33 to 0 victory in the annual homecoming day event for the Winter Park institution. The game was slowed considerably by the sub-tropical heat although flashes of fast football livened up the contest at times.

As the rival gridders battled on the field, student bodies from both schools assisted by bands, cheered lustily as their teams would show unusual football tactics. Between the halves both student bodies, led by their respective bands, enacted a gigantic snake dance over the gridiron. A few moments later a near riot ensued as the Stetson followers attempted to storm the Rollins stands and capture a goat paraded with huge signs "Stetson's Goat," on each side. After order had been resumed, Rollins still possessed Stetson's goat.

Courtney, Freeman and Loenthal were the luminaries for the green sweated Derbyites, while Zehler and Wainwright were outstanding players for the Rollins Asphalters.

With a line that failed to stop the terrific plunging of the Stetson backfield, Rollins battled in vain to stave off impending defeat. As the line failed to open holes, the Tar offense tried the aerial recourse, but completed only three out of nine tries. The delegation from John B. Stetson made 14 first downs against six by Old Rollins, while the Big Lids were penalized a total of 90 yards as against a setback of fifteen for the "Golden Personality" outfit.

FRANK DISCUSSION HELD OF 2-HOUR CLASS SYSTEM

Choosing as their battle cry, "The Two Hour System with Reservations," the students last Friday morning in Chapel, made a strong attack on the system as it is now in operation. They chose as their chief point of attack the necessity for their doing outside work in order to accomplish the required amount of work, which is contrary to the purpose of the new plan.

When President Holt called upon the representatives of the different classes for the opinion of their respective classes concerning the Two Hour system a few students stood up and made short flattering speeches on the system. None seemed to have anything against it, if they did they left their peace. After three students had spoken in this manner, Dr. McVea asked if she might be permitted to say a few words. When the permission

Fellow Students:

Saturday was a wonderful day. It marked the culmination of a concerted effort on our part to announce to the world that we are alive, awake and not afraid to meet any opposition, Stetson or other. It was a fine thing to hear the cheering for Rollins and to know that although we were playing a losing battle on the field that we were doing it gloriously. A credit to our team and ourselves in spite of the score.

That is what Rollins Spirit can do. It is a great privilege, that unselfish devotion to an ideal, the college. You are in college but once, make the most of it.

Many were active in making this day the great success it was; some by painting signs and hanging them, others by getting cheers and songs together and printed, still others in donating their cars and themselves to go to towns to placard and advertise the game. One car in fact invaded Stetson itself with cheers and signs marking classroom blackboards with "Yea Rollins" and "Beat Stetson." WDBO also co-operated by putting announcements of the game on the air. The various things done are too numerous to enumerate but to all those participating Rollins and her cheer leaders extend their congratulations.

There were some 2,500 people at the game. That was good for Rollins' pocketbook as well as beaucoup advertising. In front of me I have some forty clippings from newspapers and magazines. Hardly a one of these does not remark on the unusual spirit and events of the game. One speaks of the New Rollins as the Colgate of the South. That is all very well, but let's make Colgate the Rollins of the North. Orange County and Florida are already buzzing, and they are behind us to the limit. Let's give them something to really talk about.

A most charming and impressive pledge service was held at the Sigma Phi house, Friday afternoon and Sigma Phi is delighted to announce as pledges: Anna Margaret James, Damaris Wilson, Mary Virginia Fisher, Eleanor Holton and Dorothy Connor. After the service the girls were escorted to a dinner at Ruthana Weaver's in Orlando, where delicious food was enjoyed and fascinating hand-tricks were attempted by the merry group.

At Forty

"At Forty" the housewife in some sections of Europe wears a black bonnet to signify the end of her youth. A quaint custom—you say—but it usually signifies a fact. Heavy tasks, indoors and out, have made her old—at forty.

Of all the uses of electricity in America, the most important are those which release the woman from physical drudgery. Electricity carries water, washes clothes, cleans carpets, cooks the family's food—better and quicker than could be done by hand.

A trip to town or an hour's rest in the afternoon pays a woman dividends in good health "at forty years." And what is youth but that?

Men and women who have had the benefit of college training and college life have learned to place the proper value upon rest and recreation. They appreciate the relief afforded by electricity.

Upon great generators which send out current to light the homes and carry the burdens of millions, you will find the G-E monogram. Upon industrial motors, on electric railway trains—wherever quality and un-failing performance are first essentials—the G-E monogram will be found.

A series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.

ALPHA OMEGA NEWS

Judy and Vic took three worn out rushees to Daytona Beach Sunday to give them an invigorating breath of reviving salt breeze. As a tonic it did wonders and Dot Thuringer, Nadine Wright, and Dorothy Kinzie felt much revived in pep and spirits as a result. A beach supper was the height of enjoyment. A few grains of nice sand now and then only improved the flavor.

The Alpha Omega Sorority entertained in honor of their rushees on Thursday evening in a banquet at the Country Club. Candle glow was the only illumination lending a soft radiance over the table. The favours were lip sticks and a single red rose. Evelyn Dula made the opening speech and called upon Virginia Lawrence to read her poem introducing each sorority member. The next speaker was Judith Farriss. She read a verse containing directions for the opening of the little envelopes. Inside each was a card containing questions such as: "What is your idea of the qualities that an ideal husband must possess?" or "What is wrong with this picture?" "What is your idea of a perfect date?" While we nibbled on chicken, our brains were fast at work thinking over these vital questions. Then Judy called upon each one in turn to give her answer. The chicken must indeed have furnished adequate inspiration owing to the clever answers given in reply. We wonder if "Dot" had found her cue yet, or Rosella has changed her mind about going to Apopka. The guests of the sorority were: Dorothy Johnson, Rosella Norton, Julia Lawrence, Flora Furin, Nadine Wright, Dorothy Thuringer, Marion Youngs, Carol Walters, Phyllis Walters, Elinor Beers, Esteleen Sternberg, Betty Wheatley and Genevieve Smith.

PHI OMEGA PHACTS

Virginia Nagel of Melbourne visited Virginia Richardson over the weekend.

Marcia Converse of Frostproof, Hildegard and Madelaine Robinson of Haines City were among the Phi Omega alumnae up for Homecoming Day.

Edithe Draa, Irene Draa and Florence McKay spent the rest of the week-end after the game in Sanford.

We missed Mary Shepherd at the game Saturday. Melbourne must have looked mighty good to her to miss such an event.

Marcia, Hildegard and Ginnie N. were sponsors at the game and insisted on standing up.

SIGMA PHI NUMBERS

Luck brought us Willifred Casswell from Miami, who was a member two years ago. Willie slid right into her bureau and bed and we're all very happy to have her with us.

Last Sunday morning Peg, Martha, Mary Lou, and Leila arose at 8. The reason for this remarkable occurrence was an all-day trip to Mt. Dora to visit Mrs. White.

Dot Gray Lawrence was down visiting her mother during rush week. Gainesville can't seem to keep Dot away from us.

Every single Sigma Phi turned out for the Rollins-Stetson game. It must have been a decree of Fate that we did not win.

Hallowe'en prankers tried to make us think that there were fires raging and that our dear home was "closed for the season." We have some extra chairs that were left on the porch, waiting to be claimed.

CONSERVATORY

At last we've heard Edna's flute—it's our Rollins bird and that isn't a slam! That flute impersonated a most interesting bird in the "Nightingale Scene" from "Il Penseroso" which was introductory entertainment at President Holt's lecture last Tuesday night. And Miss Cox did her share too for the above selection was a trio for organ, flute and violin. In fact, first honors must go to all three performers, for they all did beautiful work.

Monday morning in chapel, Miss Niles treated us again. This time she responded with an encore and everybody seemed happy. She played two numbers by Grieg: "Wedding Day at Trollhagen" and "Nocturne."

Sunday morning in the Congregational Church one of our Conservatory students sang a beautiful solo. "Come Ye Blessed," by John Prindle Scott, was the selection, and it was sung by Hazel Darlington.

NOTICE TO SOPHOMORES

To the members of the class of '29 who were not present at the class meeting held Tuesday, November 2, at 1:15, in Knowles Hall, let it be known: That the following motions were made, seconded, and carried: First, that the members of the class pay class dues, in order to carry the social plans which the class wishes to put over during the year. Second, that the dues be twenty-five cents a month. And third, that the dues be paid during the first week of each month, beginning with November; furthermore, that a fine of five cents a day be charged to each member, after the first week, until he or she brings in their dues. All members of the class are asked to see Mary Lou Palmer, class treasurer, at once.

K.E. announces the following pledges: Peggy Conning, Marian Sias, Helen Link, Charmaine Berquist, Louise Hawes, Catherine Russell, Virginia Stelle, Gertrude Jones, Katherine McMahon, and Aurora McKay.

was granted she stated that her class in Freshman English was making more progress than other classes that she had taught under the old methods. Her comment was received with approval and other members of the faculty were called out in their classes. Those of the faculty who spoke were in favor of the new system and reported very favorable progress in their classes.

After a few speeches of this type had been given, Dean Carrothers told the students that they need feel under no obligation to make only flattering comments, that in fact, the faculty wished to know exactly what everyone thought of the whole affair. If they didn't like it, say so; if they did, say so, but above all give their true opinion.

This seemed to be the signal for the attack. One girl had the initiative to start it off, stating that it was absolutely impossible for her to prepare her studies during the class period; that her instructors lectured to such length and assigned such long lessons that she was forced to do much outside studying. Others immediately sprang up to offer the same complaint. Still others came who declared that they were not achieving what they should under the new system. Finally one girl had the nerve to break away from the custom of "follow the leader" and to state that she didn't like the new system because there was no discussion and she became so tired before the two hours were over that she could not learn anything during the last thirty minutes. Departing a little more from the previous objections another student declared that it took away all desire to do outside reading on any topic that might relate to their studies.

Dean Carrothers tried to suggest some method for the remedies of these difficulties, but the pack was in full cry now and would not be appeased. Dr. Thomas declared that the argument had become beside the point, that the question was not away with the system as many now seemed in favor of doing, but the improvement of it. Dr. Holt said, however, that all the complaints were within bounds.

After taking up ten minutes more than were supposed to be given for the discussion the meeting was generally conceded to have gotten nowhere, and that more discussion would be had later and a decision that was satisfactory to all would be reached before the end.

The following interesting bit of comment was taken from a written report of Dr. Bailey's to President Holt.

"Never in his forty years of experience has the instructor seen so much development of power in the students workmanship as in their increased ability to concentrate attention, discriminate essentials, accomplish a stint of work on time, and develop habits of order, and brevity, accuracy and lucidity of statement."

in the first semester and Alumni Day in the second semester. Saint Andy is now on his way home, according to reports from the evens.

Rule number six of the rules governing the fued says;

In all his travelings SAINT ANDREW must not leave the State of Florida."

It is interesting to note the wide territory over which the patron saint is allowed to roam.

St. Andy will be returned to his resting place, Armistice Day at 8:00 o'clock. He shall remain there throughout the day, and at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon he shall be retired from there by those who placed him on the wall in the morning. The classes in possession will then be allowed a five minutes start before the classes not in possession may give pursuit. After that, the old theory, "possession is nine points of the law" prevails again until Alumni Day.

The tradition of Saint Andrew is a sacred one at Rollins College. The students are expected to employ only honorable methods to gain possession or retain ownership of the plaque. Any violation of the rules automatically discontinues the tradition and Saint Andrew must be returned and never again be removed from his permanent resting place in Carnegie Hall.

The patron saint has already disrupted three chapel assemblies and otherwise disturbed the course of college activities.

Following is the proclamation issued in the beginning by members of the even classes;

Proclamation

The even classes of Rollins College hereby declare that hereafter and forevermore ANDREW CARNEGIE shall be known as OUR BELOVED PATRON SAINT. It is our duty and shall be the duty of the even classes in the future to be the humble guardians of this noble man. It has been decided by the Classes of 1926 and 1928 that ANDREW CARNEGIE has rested too long on the walls of the stately building erected by him for Rollins College. It is the intention of ourselves and we know it will be of our successors to guard and protect our PATRON SAINT with our very lives if necessary. Under no circumstances can we permit him to the profane and unlawful custody of the Classes of 1927 and 1929 and their "ODD" successors. It is our further intention to take our PATRON SAINT on excursions through the State of Florida that he may see and realize what developments are taking place. We solemnly pledge not to take SAINT ANDREW out of the State of Florida.

At all times the classes of 1926 and 1928 must guard and show due reverence to our SAINT. It is our duty to keep him from all harm at the hands of the "ODD" classes. It is also the intention of the classes of 1926 and 1928 to return Andrew W. Carnegie at least once each semester (Armistice Day the first semester and Alumni Day the second semester) to his present resting place in Carnegie Hall.

We, the even classes of Rollins College, defy the odd classes to capture our PATRON SAINT ANDREW CARNEGIE.

On Friday evening, October 30, Kappa Epsilon entertained at a dinner at the Whistling Kettle Tea Room, honoring their pledges. Dinner at this popular eating house is always a delightful occasion as the food is so good and the atmosphere cozy. At a long table lighted by red tapers in silver candleabra, covers were laid for twenty-two. Favors in the form of corsages of red and white rose buds marked the places of the honored guests. Those present were: Marian Sias, Helen Link, Charmaine Berquist, Virginia Stelle, Aurora McKay, Louise Hawes, Katherine McMahon, Catherine Russell, Gertrude Jones, Mrs. Harry Kelley, Mrs. H. F. Harris, and the active chapter of Kappa Epsilon.

At the Theta Kappa Nu house last Thursday evening, Prof. Grover met members and pledges of the fraternity in the first of a series of informal Socratic discussions. Prof. Grover recounted some of his interesting experiences as a globe trotter and doubtless fired some more of the roving Thetas with the desire to wander still further afield. Everyone present contributed something in the way of questions or suggestions and this enthusiastic exchange of ideas brought about an interesting and profitable evening for all concerned. Light refreshments were served.

This meeting with Prof. Grover was the first of a series of the kind, having for its purpose a closer and more sympathetic liaison between faculty and students. It is the plan of Theta Kappa Nu Fraternity to have such a forum meet every two weeks throughout the year. Prof. Campbell has consented to talk at the next, to be held November eighteenth.

other marker in short order. The militarists made a brave stand at their goal line, but they were unable to withstand the Tar attack, and McDowell crashed through tackle for another marker. Score, Rollins 33; H. M. A., 0.

Pope, quarterback and captain of the team from Windermere, played the most outstanding game for the academy boys. His broken field running featured their offense, and he seemed to be the only Hulvey man who could break through the Tar defense with anything like consistency.

Losers Get Chance

It was during the third quarter that Hulvey got its best chance to score. Two straight penalties placed the ball in the Baby Tars' possession on the one-yard line. McCoy kicked, but the punt went awry and the ball went to Hulvey on the Tars' twenty-yard line. The academy boys lacked the punch, however, to carry the ball to a first down. That was the only chance they had to score during the entire game.

Brand and Johnson also played good games for the Hulvey outfit.

stands contained some six hundred people sponsored by President Holt and various members of the faculty and alumni. In front was a negro band borrowed for the occasion to supplant the presence of our fast forming one. The consistent and continuous support of their losing team was one of the most commented spectacles of the day and marked the open announcement of the new "Rollins Spirit," "Rollins," "Tars" and "Fight" rang from one end of the field to the other, it was Rollins Day and they insisted on having it so in spite of the trying reverses on the field. Stetson's goat was on parade and remained until the last of the game when it was finally certain that he was not appreciated on this particular occasion.

Between the halves the goat nearly precipitated an illstarred incident which on the contrary, turned out to bring about a more friendly feeling, essential to the growth and welfare of both schools.

The Rollins students were returning from a gigantic snake dance upon the grid-iron when a crew of Stetsonians rushed the Rollins bleachers in an attempted recovery of their goat. A few blows were dealt, "the law" interfered, and one first class fracas was nipped in the bud. The crowd was reminded that though the spirit was okeh, the order of the day was football. Participants returned to their respective stands in good humor. Shortly afterward a public apology was tendered Rollins and was heartily cheered. The apology was accepted before the Stetson stands and they were commended on the good sportsmanship shown. High regard was also expressed by both the keen rivalry and friendly feeling existing.

The spirit and play at the game both expressed the beginning of a new era of close relations between the schools. Let us foster this spirit and keep the Blue and Gold playing proudly in the front. It was a great game and a great day; but next year we hope to witness an even greater day when both the Rollins Team and Spirit shall reign supreme. The rat team is showing fine results and we are within our rights in warning Stetson. "Beware the Rollins Tars are awake and after you."
