FIGHT FEATURE OF TAR-STETSON GAME

Playing under a handicap of flying fists and infuriated bleachers, the Rollins Tars bowed to the Stetson Hatters Thursday night when Coach McQuillan's basketball team marched off with a 54 to 18 victory in the new pavilion.

Although the Tars boasted several shining individual players, they could not meet the all-around team work of the Stetson players, who passed the ball back and forth almost at will.

Rollins did its best work in the defensive department of the game. Seaver, Abbott, Winderweede and Cross taking turns at the Hatter forwards.

Recalls Old Days

In the second half of the game an incident occurred that recalled the days of old when the Tars and the Hatters were wont to meet in bloody combat on the field of battle.

A Tar and a Hatter discovered differences of opinion. In the process of arbitration, the Hatter became so enraged that he went to the referee, called time out, returned to his opponent, and smote mightily upon the Tar's K. O. point.

Players took up the battle cry, and spectators streamed in from the bleachers to assist in settling the differences. For minutes the hue and cry of battle shook the new pavilion in this most fitting of inaugurations.

Orr Clears Floor

It was about this time that Coach Orr took matters in hand. In exactly fourteen and one-half seconds, according to the reporter's watch, Coach Orr had cleared the floor of all pugilists, and reconciliation reigned where pandemonium had held sway.

Goodell and Hilliard were high point scorers for the Tars. Seaver, Zoller and Winderweede played splendid defensive games.

U. of Florida Glee Club Concert Saturday Night

The University of Florida Glee Club, under the direction of Professor John W. Debruyne, will give a concert at the Orlando Municipal Auditorium on Friday, March 4. Accompanying the glee club, which is making a season tour of Florida, are the Collegiate Serenaders, the University orchestra, which assists the glee club in its program.

From the variety of its numbers the program, which promises to be both interesting and entertaining. It includes orchestra, solo and dramatic selections, the music ranging from the popular negro spiritual, "Heav'n, Heav'n" to the Russian "Song of the Volga Boatman."

The entire program for Friday night is as follows:

Overture, Collegiate Serenaders.

We Are the Boys from Old Florida.

Russian Cossack Chorus Third Concert of Series

F. S. ANDREWS

There is something stimulating to us Americans in the knowledge that a musical organization has won plaudits from the recognized critics of Europe. When the Russian Cossack Chorus come to us on Saturday, March 5th, we will attend in a mood prepared by the critics of Paris, Milan, Rome and Madrid. These cities may not be any more adequate to judge the work of a great chorus than our own newspaper in New York, Chicago and Boston, but we cannot help being interested in the added prestige which these foreign judges give. The Paris "Soir" in 1914 described the Russian Cossack Chorus as "The most admirable ensemble of voices ever heard in Paris." G. Gallignani, the director of the Royal Conservatorium of Music at Milan, commented enthusiastically upon the "knowledge shown in the interpretation, the exactitude of the attacks, the warmth of the tones, and the wonderful fusions of the harmony." The Rome "La Tribune" referred to the artistic geniality and military discipline of Socoloff, the director of the chorus. This apparent contradiction at least arouses our curiosity. The Madrid "El Imparcial" mentions the "beautiful orchestral effects" of the chorus. We have a suspicion of what is meant by orchestral tone in the chorus, and we know of no singers who have the equipment to produce such effects as are the Russians. The sonority of the Russian basses is quite unlike that of any singers that this country is able to produce. That a chorus should be treated as an orchestra, sounding a glittering variety of tone colors with the flexibility that ordinarily is only obtainable from instrumentalists, that indeed, is an ideal. Everything that we have heard about the Russian Cossack Chorus leads us to believe that they have achieved it.

ARTHUR GUITERMAN TO SPEAK IN WINTER PARK

Arthur Guiterman, president of the Poetry Society of America and a poet and author of note, will give two lectures at the Congregational church in Winter Park. The subject of the first lecture, to be given on Sunday, Mar. 6, at 8:00 o'clock, is "The Faith of a Poet," and of the second to be given on Tuesday, March 8, at 8:00 o'clock, "Song and Laughter."

Mr. Guiterman was at one time a professor in the Journalism School of New York University and is the author of several volumes of poetry, including "The Laughing Muse," "Ballads of Old New York," and "The Light Guitar." He is at present a contributor of poetry to several magazines.

President Daniel L. Marsh of Boston University was a close friend of the poet, James Whitcomb Riley.

National headquarters of Delta Phi Epsilon, professional foreign trade fraternity, is at Boston University College of Business Administration.

Little Theatre Gives Tuesday Night Lecture

Four one-act plays were presented by the "Workshop" at the Woman's Club on March 1. These were given in place of the regular Tuesday lecture and no admission was charged. A large and appreciative audience was present.

The first play, "Columbine," is the story of two girls of the New York slums, one of whom is a dreamer and the other a cynical gold-digger. Anne Hathaway, as the gold-digger, and Katherine Humphreys, as the dreamer, were very skillful in their interpretations.

"Fame and the Poet" is a cynical satire on the present-day publicity accompanying famous folk. Horace Walker, as the poet; Russ Fuller as (Continued on page 6)

Harry Irvine To Give Reading Here March 15

Residents of Winter Park and surrounding communities have a special treat in store for them when Harry Irvine, world famous actor and recitor, appears here on March 15, as one of the speakers secured by the Chapel Association, and on March 18th at the Women's Club in a program sponsored by the Allied Arts Club.

Mr. Irvine is an actor of many years' experience and world-wide travel. In London he was served under the banner of such masters as Sir Johnston Forbes-Robertson, Sir Herbert Tree, and Sir Charles Wyndham. An engagement with the famous Professor Max Reinhardt, in the original London production of "The Miracle," an engagement in which he (Continued on Page 6)

Life of Hamilton Holt Subject of Chapel Talk

The Three Chapters in the Life of Hamilton Holt was the subject of a very interesting address delivered by Charles V. Vickrey, general secretary of the Near East Relief, before the student body on last Tuesday morning.

The first chapter discussed by Mr. Vickrey was the foundation by Dr. Holt and a few other men of the Near East Relief. Mr. Vickrey told of how millions of lives had been saved through the efforts of this organization; how the President of Armenia, himself, had told him that if it had not been for the timely aid brought by the Near East Relief there would not have been anyone left alive in Armenia; and finally, how even now they had 30,000 orphan children under their care.

The second chapter had to do with the work of President Holt in regard to the securing of the entrance of the United States into the League of Nations. The speaker told of how, after failing to secure by direct methods the entrance of the United States into the League, Dr. Holt immediately went about it by the indirect method of securing the consent of the leading personages in the leading countries to (Continued on page 6)

HOBSON ON ALCOHOL APPEALS TO PATRIOTISM

Monday morning, Feb. 28, Capt. R. P. Hobson, a citizen distinguished in many fields of activity, spoke to the students of Rollins college on the subject of American Citizenship. In reality he soon changed his topic and spoke upon the Volstead Act and the dangers to the race of the use of alcohol and to the nation of the violation of the law of the Constitution. The statistics showing progress in the United States since the passing of the eighteenth amendment, all of which Capt. Hobson laid directly to prohibition were very impressive. It seems that there is now in this country more people in college, more money in the banks, less industrial accidents, fewer deaths, more church members, more new homes, and a great increase in the use of narcotic drugs.

After setting forth his scientific facts and his undebatable evidence, Capt. Hobson closed with an impassioned appeal to the citizenship of all present to overcome their feelings on either side of the question and come to the protection of America which is struggling with the insidious propaganda of the liquor trusts of the world.

ROLLINS QUINTET TAKES GAME FROM OCOEE HIGH

The basketball game in the new gymnasium Tuesday night between Ocoee high and the Rollins freshmen was one of the best games seen around these parts this year. Teamwork and accurate shooting on the part of our freshmen gave us the long end of a 21 to 7 score.

In view of the fact that Ocoee has one of the best high school teams in the state this year, this game spoke well for the freshmen. Ocoee is the winner of the Central Florida basketball tournament held at Orlando two weeks ago. It is expected that she will fare pretty well in the state tournament at Gainesville this week. The score these boys made against our freshmen was the lowest they have been held to this year.

The combination of Penrod McKov and More was hard to stop. The guarding of Littlefield and Pickard was almost airtight. Penrod was the one that found the basket the most. He is generally lefthanded, but Tuesday was one of those days he was right. The playing of all the team was above anything shown so far. Every day's practice in the new gymnasium has shown an improvement. A month's longer work on the floor would have made quite a different varsity and freshman team too.

Roswell F. Phelps, widely known economist and statistician and director of statistics for the Massachusetts department of labor, has joined the faculty of the graduate division in business administration, Boston University.

The congressmen are now at home building up the fences they will straddle this fall.

Established in 1894 with the following editorial:

"Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

IF I WERE A FRESHMAN AGAIN

One of the great hallucinations of man is that he would live his life in a different manner if he could live it over again. It is easy enough to see mistakes after they have been made, but not so easy at the time that we are making them. Our hindsight is much better than our foresight.

But though we cannot live our own lives over again, we at least can give others the benefit of our experience; we can try to warn them against making the same mistakes that we have made. It is in this chiefly that we are superior to other animals—the ordinary animal must start always practically at the same place, while the human animal can build on the experience of others.

One of the commonest sayings among college men and women is: "If I had my college days to live over, if I were a Freshman again, I would do things quite differently." I shall try to tell you here what are some of the things that I should try to do differently if I were a Freshman again.

I should not spend so much time in study, but I should study harder while I was studying. Too much time is around, in getting ready to study. wasted in preliminaries, in fooling

I should not try to pick out the snap courses, but I should choose rather those subjects which are difficult. No real training in life comes from doing those things which are easy to do. We have no idea what study is to be of most value to us in later life; often the course that we care least for will be of practical value while our favorite subject may be quickly forgotten.

I should be more careful in the choosing of my companions and friends. The crowd with which one identifies himself at college is the crowd that he will be identified with during his college years and to a great extent in after life. A reputation established in college is a hard one to live down.

I should learn how to play some one game well. Man's body needs care and exercise, and if a person does not take part in athletics during his college course, he will hardly do so later in life.

I should take every opportunity to speak in public, to train myself to think on my feet. Every man needs to know how to express his thoughts before an audience, and the training in college is of the greatest value in this respect.

I should form the habit of attending the religious organizations that are in college. Man's spiritual development is of more importance than his physical or mental development. The college years are the important years in making the decision for or against God. All of the information and help that a man can procure in college from his teachers and fellow students will be little enough when he comes to make the great decision himself.

Note: This article appeared in "The Wildcat" and was written by Dr. W. P. Carson of the faculty of Louisiana College. Dr. Carson hits the crucial points of college life and there is a great deal of wisdom in his article of which all of us can partake in some way or another.

WHY DON'T WE THINK?

College students don't think because they don't have time to decide what to think about.

Their eternal hurry worries them.
Perhaps that is thinking.

A student may leave a philosophy class with excellent intentions of examining himself as to whether he is idealist or materialist. He barely gets his pipe lit and his feet on the table when he must attend a history class to analyze the cause of the panic of 1873. This incentive has scarcely set him off on a fruitful tangent when he must hear an English lecture and appreciate the beauty of Keats' verse.

So his mind has no opportunity to develop original ideas along any real lines. The boy who can choose one subject to work upon in his meager time is a rare individualist. He usually becomes so proud of his intellect that he lets his hair grow and does not wash his hands. He then flunks out of college for forgetting to go to classes and write topics.

Even in the precious period before sleeping at night, constructive thinking is disrupted by a recalcitrant idea. The question is barely launched to one's inner self: "Are your activities more than a waste of time," when a late English theme or a neglected telephone call is remembered.

A college student doesn't think. He only frets.—Wisconsin Cardinal.

"Absence makes the heart grow fonder," but the scholarship committee doesn't seem to think that way.

GENERAL ELECTRIC
GENERAL ELECTRIC COMPANY, SCHENECTADY, NEW YORK

The Alpha Omega Sorority wishes to announce as members Nadine Wright, Estaleen Sternberg, Flora Furen, Genevive Smith, Carol Walters, Rosella Norton, Julia Lawrence, Betty Wheatley and Marion Youngs.

Tiny and Nadine went home over the week-end, reporting "much fun" in Daytona.

What Grand Opera fiends we! Especially Flo, Amelia, Evelyn, Flora, and Estaleen, who went every evening. No doubt the Baby Grand felt quite a vacancy.

Betty, Dot, Rosie and also Boots Weston spent Friday night with Gin and Gerry, to a so-called slumber party, it was, though mostly party and scarcely slumber. A long distance call and an unexpected visitor caused quite a bit of unlooked for excitement.

SIGMA PHI SIGHS

Sigma Phi wishes to announce as members Damaris Wilson, Mary Virginia Fisher, Eleanor Holton and Anna Margaret James.

Mary Lou and George stopped for a minute on their way to New York to let us know they were married last week at the home of the bride in Miami. There were hearty congratulations and sincerest good wishes, as another Rollins-concepted romance reached its culmination.

Miss Emily Margaret White, grand vice-president of Phi Beta Phi Fraternity, was house guest of Sigma Phi over the 22nd. Tuesday noon a delightful luncheon was given at Dubs-dread Country Club, honoring the guest. Billie read for us and gave that great favorite, "Widows," making us wish all the more that she were back at school. A gorgeous patriotic corsage was given the guest at parting.

Tuesday morning there was a waffle breakfast at Barbara's for Miss White whose charming personality and winning sweetness made a party into an occasion.

Saturday, the 19th, was Sigma Phi Reunion day, and it brought Anna-beth, Bert, Kay Hicks and Billie Mul-ligan back to the ranks. Sunday evening there was a buffet supper at Aloma Country club, and Helen and Alice Waterhouse and Katherine Simes, all charter members, attended, besides Winifred Kendig, an almost charter member. A letter from Pat Fletcher describing the birth and growth of Sigma Phi was read, and a wire from Bess Newton came.

Liela and her mother spent the night with us Tuesday, too late for the festivities. We had a house full to capacity and a jolly good time all around.

Dot Gray Lawrence came back to us too for a short visit. The Alumnae who were here had a business meeting Monday night and with Edna Wallace Johnston as chairman, elected Margery Ufford as chairman of the executive committee. Their aim is to establish an active alumnae chapter of Sigma Phi.

PHI OMEGA PHACTS

Phi Omega wishes to announce as active members Helen Westfall, Avon, N. Y.; Catherine Adams, Mayo, Fla.; Irene Draa, Sanford, Fla.; Grace Ranger, Belvedere, Ill., and Harriet Pipkorn, Sarasota, Fla.

Miss Sara Muriel and Miss Flossie Hill, who were guests at the Phi Omega house, returned to Fort Myers Tuesday morning.

Boots met one of her "old friends" at the Brewer estate Tuesday. Wonder who he was? Three guesses, last two don't count.

The "Spectacle Sisters" enjoyed the movies Tuesday night.

Some of the "Aristocrats" attended church Sunday night. Moral, "Always take your check books."

Monday night was a very sad occasion for some—when "Phi," the youngest gold fish passed away.

HONORARY DEGREES GIVEN PROMINENT CITIZENS (Continued from last week)

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

J. BLANTON BELK

"J. Blanton Belk was born in Virginia and reared in North Carolina. Graduating as valedictorian of his high school class, he entered Davidson College. After two years at Davidson, he became principal of Rugby Graded School, but after teaching two years, entered the University of South Carolina. He then took a course for the ministry at Columbia Theological Seminary.

"When the World War broke out, he obeyed the call of conscience and enlisted. He received from his country the commission of First Lieutenant and commanded the Eighth Anticraft Battery, serving fourteen months in France with the famous First Division under General Bullard.

"At the end of the war, he resumed his theological studies, received his Bachelor of Divinity degree from Columbia Theological Seminary and his Master of Arts degree from the University of South Carolina.

"Since then he has served God through service to his fellowmen as a minister of Christ. His present charge is the First Presbyterian Church of Orlando, one of the outstanding Presbyterian Churches of Florida, measured by any standard."

Response by President Hamilton Holt:

"J. Blanton Belk, inspired and inspiring preacher, Christian soldier, both in war and peace, for your high qualities as preacher and pastor, for your spiritual and civic virtues, Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Divinity and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

KERRISON JUNIPER

"Born and reared in England, educated at the Metropolitan College, London, and Trinity College, Dublin, Kerrison Juniper has lived in eight different countries and held pastorates in England, South Africa, Australia, Canada and the United States.

"During the World War he served overseas. Since then he has been pastor of the First Congregational Church of St. Petersburg, Florida, perhaps the most influential church of its denomination in the South. Last year he was moderator of the Congregational Churches of the state.

"Kerrison Juniper through pulpit, platform and pen undoubtedly wields today an influence for good second to no citizen who dwells on Florida's West Coast."

Response of President Hamilton Holt:

"Kerrison Juniper, world traveller, writer, Christian statesman, for your service to the people of your adopted land, and for the example you set of what a true servant of Christ should be, Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Divinity and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

WILLIAM RUSSELL O'NEAL

"Probably no man has a longer, more intimate or vital connection with all that is best in Orange County than William Russell O'Neal, in point of service the oldest trustee of Rollins College and for many years its ever-watchful treasurer and mainstay.

"He is now a ruling elder of the Presbyterian Church and Moderator of the Synod of Florida. For over thirty years, he has been a Sunday School superintendent.

"He has served Orlando as acting mayor, as president of the Orlando City Council and chairman of the Utilities Commission. He was post-master of Orlando for seventeen years. He has twice been candidate for his party for each of the following offices: Governor of Florida; member of Congress, and senator of the United States. Republicans, however, are not elected to office in Florida more frequently than Democrats in Connecticut.

"Mr. O'Neal has reached the highest rank in the fraternal organizations of the state and nation. In the world of affairs he is eminent as a broker, banker, railroad official, and is the president of several of the leading business institutions of Orange County."

Response by President Hamilton Holt:

"For your conspicuous services to church and state, but especially for your long, efficient, unswerving and self-sacrificing devotion to Rollins College, we confer upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws and admit you to all its rights and privileges."

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

KARL LEHMANN

"Karl Lehmann, in his early youth, consecrated his life to high ideals and worthy service for his fellow men. The vows he then took have been lived up to in a much larger way than could even have been dreamed of in his early days. Probably no man today in Orange County has exhibited in his daily life a more useful leadership in those spiritual and material activities which lead to the Glory of God and the common good.

Whether as official guide and manager in the associated business and civic activities of the county and state, as a Christian Endeavor Worker, or a Boy Scout leader, Karl Lehmann at a very youthful age has already rendered public services that have made him one of the most respected citizens of the entire state of Florida."

Response by President Hamilton Holt:

"Karl Lehmann, efficient and untiring worker in every cause affecting Florida's good, spokesman for all that is best in the business life of Orange County, big hearted friend to those who need friends, for the high services you have rendered to this and neighboring communities and the leadership you have exhibited in quickening the interests of the community in the ideal toward which this college is working. Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

ROBERT J. CALDWELL

"By vocation, Robert J. Caldwell is a cotton merchant, manufacturer and banker. By avocation he is one of New York City's most generous supporters of all good causes.

As owner and director of great industrial enterprises, deeply interested in improving the conditions of labor, Chairman of Industrial Relations of the National Republican Advisory Committee on Policies and Platform, representative of the United States Government and private organizations on industrial missions here and abroad, organizer of several societies to relieve distress of those who have suffered most from the war, promoter of international peace through the establishment of international friendship societies and associations to hasten America's entrance into a World Court and League of Nations, patron of the Arts, decorated by the Patriarch of Jerusalem with the Cross of the Holy Sepulchre for his work in preserving the sacred places in the Holy Land, and twice decorated by the Russian Red Cross, and by various other nations, Robert J. Caldwell is today one of that constantly increasing group of American business men who have the vision to see that success is more than the accumulation of dollars, and service the only sure road to happiness.

"A man has three things to give to his fellowmen—his time, his name and his money. Robert J. Caldwell gives all three."

Presentation by President Hamilton Holt:

"Robert J. Caldwell, business statesman, promoter of industrial democracy, ambassador of international good will, supporter and advocate of peace through world organization, for your untiring efforts to arrive at just solutions of the problems that confront both capital and labor, for your humanitarian efforts to relieve human distress and to promote international understanding and good will, Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

STEPHEN PIERCE DUGGAN

"Stephen Pierce Duggan has been Professor of Political Science at the College of the City of New York for many years. In 1919, he accepted the position of Director of the newly-founded Institute of International Education, which all the educational organizations of the country have agreed to make the agency for international contacts vis a vis the rest of the world. He is secretary of the American University Union in Europe and a director of the American Council of Education. He is a trustee or director of nearly all the organizations engaged in international co-operation such as the Italy-America Society, the Netherlands-America Foundation, the Hungary Society, etc. He is a director of the Council on Foreign Relations and the Foreign Policy Association and a member of the Editorial Board of 'Foreign Affairs.' He has been honored abroad for his work in developing international agencies by being made a member of the Mazaryk Academy of Prague, a Knight of the Order of the Crown of Italy, and in 1921 the French Government bestowed a medal upon him for special services to French education.

"He is a trustee of Vassar College, of the Constantinople College for Women and of the newly founded American College at Athens, Greece. He visited the Orient in 1925 as a member of the Government Philippine Educational Mission to study the results of our twenty-five years of occupancy there.

"Doctor Duggan is the author of many scholarly books on education and international life. Our own institutions of higher learning look upon him as one of the foremost experts in international education and always invite him to any conferences they hold on that subject.

Response by President Hamilton Holt:

"Stephen Pierce Duggan, scholar, educator, internationalist, for your services to international education, for your devotion to the highest ideals of scholarship, for your distinguished and effective advocacy of the League of Nations and World Court as the first step in that process that will substitute law for war, Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

HENRY GODDARD LEACH

"Henry Goddard Leach graduated from Princeton University in 1903 and then took his M. A. and Ph.D. at Harvard University.

"The period from 1908 to 1910 he spent in the Scandinavian countries as a Traveling Fellow of Harvard University. Upon his return to the United States he became an instructor in English in Harvard and at the same time became instructor in Anglo-Saxon and Old Norse in Radcliffe College. Both these positions he gave up in 1912 to become Executive Secretary of the American-Scandinavian Foundation. In this capacity he served during the next ten years, and among other achievements secured economic support for the exchange of forty students annually between the United States and the Scandinavian countries.

"Doctor Leach is the author of 'Scandinavia of the Scandinavians' and 'Angevin Britain and Scandinavia' and of numerous magazine articles and brochures on the Scandinavian countries and peoples.

"In recognition of his distinguished services to Scandinavia he has been decorated by Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

"In 1923 Doctor Leach became editor of the 'Forum' and changed the caption from 'A Magazine of Discussion' to 'A Magazine of Controversy.' The 'Forum' has now gained a place for itself in the intellectual life of the nation second to no other publication of serious aims."

Response by President Hamilton Holt:

"Henry Goddard Leach, editor, author and public spirited citizen, for your high standards maintained in the practice of a profession upon which the diffusion of intelligence depends, for your promotion of understanding and friendship between America and the three Kingdoms of the North and for your efficient and distinguished performance of more than a citizen's duty in the educational, religious, social and civic realms, Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

CAMERON MANN

"Cameron Mann was educated at Hobart, that exemplary small college of liberal arts in New York. He studied for orders at the General Theological Seminary of New York City. He was made Deacon in 1873 and served as Missionary in charge of Branchport, New York, and later was Curate at St. Peter's Church, Albany, N. Y. He was elevated to the priesthood in 1876 and served as rector of St. James Church at Watkins, N. Y., till 1892 when he accepted a call to Grace Church, Kansas City, Mo. So distinguished was his success at Kansas City as preacher, pastor and organizer that he was elected by the House of Bishops as Bishop of the Missionary District of North Dakota from whence he was translated to the Missionary Bishopric of South Dakota from whence he was translated to the Missionary Bishopric of South Florida in 1913. Such progress was made in this district under his administration that the Missionary District was elevated into the Diocese of South Florida, and last year Winter Park was made the permanent site of the Episcopal residence.

"Cameron Mann has found time in his very active life of Christian service to make original contributions to the science of Botany and to publish several volumes of prose and verse. He is a book collector, an extra-illustrator, and has one of the two best collections in existence of the poetry of the religious mystic, George Herbert, a concordance of whose writings he is now making.

"Cameron Mann has ever exhibited in himself the highest conceptions of civic service. He has never feared to take a stand or espouse an issue because it was unpopular."

Response by President Hamilton Holt:

"Collector and lovers of books, poet, theologian, botanist, ecclesiastical statesman, pastor pastorum, for your wide learning and for your competence in high office, Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

RUTH BRYAN OWEN

"The career of Ruth Bryan Owen has been one of public service vouchsafed to few American women. Whether as playwright, magazine contributor, producer of motion pictures, club woman, nurse, lecturer, educator or candidate for office, she has ever exemplified the maxim that 'if service, like charity, begins at home, it should not end there.'

"During the war, she was joint secretary and treasurer with Mrs. Herbert Hoover of that committee of eminent American women who financed and organized a War Hospital in England, which cared for over 3,000 wounded men until taken over by the American Red Cross after the United States entered the war.

"From 1915 to 1917, she served as ward nurse, later as operating room nurse in Egypt. In 1917, she was in charge of organizing concerts for hospitals and rest camps in Egypt.

"When the war ended Mrs. Owen returned to her native land and settled in this commonwealth of flowers and sunshine. Since then Mrs. Owen has spent half of each year in some public service in behalf of Florida and the other half touring the country to tell more than a million fellow Americans that war is what Thomas Jefferson declared it to be, namely: 'The greatest scourge of mankind.'

"Last year Mrs. Owen was a candidate for Congress from the Fourth Florida District in which Orange County is situated. Although she lost the nomination, it was by only about 500 votes out of a total of 40,000. She carried, however, twelve of the eighteen counties of this district and polled the largest vote ever given to a woman candidate for office in the South."

Response by President Hamilton Holt:

"Ruth Bryan Owen, good daughter of a good father, Regent of our new sister institution of higher learning in the South, mistress of the spoken word, stateswoman of both achievement and promise, for your womanly service in the world crisis, brought on by man's ignorance, obstinacy and folly, for your high conception of civic duty and for your many public services to Florida and the nation, Rollins College confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws and admits you to all its rights and privileges."

Presentation by Dean George E. Carrothers:

SULLIVAN MEDALLION AWARD

Rollins College this year has received a great honor. It has been selected by the Southern Society of the City of New York to be one of the few colleges and universities in the United States to present the Society's award medallion in memory of its first president, Algeron Sydney Sullivan.

"The purpose of the Southern Society is to have the medallion awarded annually to a man or woman of the graduating class and to one other of any age or occupation in recognition of admirable spiritual qualities, outstanding, and practically demonstrated in daily living with other people, providing such worthy recipient can be found. The award has already been established and is in successful operation in the University of Virginia, the University of North Carolina, the University of South Carolina, the University of Georgia, the University of Alabama, the University of Kentucky, George Peabody College for Teachers, Antioch College, College of William and Mary, Judson College, Mercer University, Hampden-Sydney College, Washington and Lee University and now Rollins College.

"The award is not made in recognition of excellency in scholarship or in athletics, or in anything in which purely intellectual ability or self-centered aims may gain distinction. The purpose is to give the award to those who exemplify in their daily life the qualities that made Algeron Sydney Sullivan so beloved and admired with whomsoever he came in contact. Perhaps the word 'nobility' comes nearer than any other to express the quality the Southern Society has in mind—the effort to resist the temptations of life, disinterested helpfulness, spiritual perspective, courageous pursuit of the finest and best.

"The Southern Society had not expected to be able to furnish Rollins the medallions for the first awards until June. But when it was suggested that there was one person in Winter Park whom every friend of Rollins would naturally think of as most worthy of the honor, the Southern Society made a special effort to provide one medallion to be bestowed on this occasion and I have the honor, Mr. President, to give you this medallion which, at the recommendation of the faculty of Rollins College I now ask you to present to Mr. Irving Bacheller."

Presentation by President Hamilton Holt:

"Irving Bacheller; not for your eminence as a writer, not for your success as a business man, not for the wise use of your wealth or position; but for your big, generous heart, your warm, human sympathy, your purity and integrity of character—in fine, not for your distinguished achievements, but for your personality, Rollins College awards you its first Algeron Sydney Sullivan Medallion. May the love and admiration of all the sons and daughters of Rollins which this medallion symbolizes be a source of satisfaction to you."

Miss Cox delighted a crowded Knowles Hall Monday night in a violin recital. This was the first of the series of faculty recitals to be given by the Conservatory. Miss Cox displayed unusual technical skill in her double stop work as well as in her melody playing. She also showed delightful taste in interpretation.

Program:

Concerto No. IV., in D Minor, Op. 31, Vieuxtemps. Andante-Moderato. Adagio Religioso. Allegro.

Variations on a Theme by Corelli, Tartini-Kreisler.

Zephyrs (from "Flower Life") Op. 30, No. 5, Hubay.

"On the Wings of Song," Mendelssohn-Ackron.

Russian Airs, Op. 6, Vieniawski.

Prof. Andrews also added much to the program by his brilliant and sympathetic accompaniments.

Rollins students turned out in great numbers last week to hear the operas given by the Philadelphia La Scala Grand Opera Company. Seven operas were given and all were enjoyed, but "Lucia," "Pagliacci" and "Martha" seemed to be the favorites. The stars did nice work, the one who made the most impression on everyone was Rosalinda Rudko Morini, a brilliant coloratura soprano of American birth and Russian descent. She made a beautiful and thrilling "Lucia" as well as a charming "Martha." James de Gaviria, tenor, and Joseph Royer, baritone, also deserve special mention for their work in "Pagliacci," and "Madame Butterfly," respectively. This has been Orlando's first taste of Grand Opera and everyone will welcome with added enthusiasm "opera week" next year.

PARIS FOR THEOLOGY

Edwin H. Wilson, who graduated from Boston University College of Business Administration in 1922, and became sales manager of the big electrical supply house, has been granted a fellowship by Meadville, Pa., Theological Seminary to go to Paris, there to study theology.

Senior—"You can't rate the chew-tobacco club."

Frosh—"That's all right. I don't expect to rate."

Prohibition

All the little birdies in the lake
Were drinking ice cream cones
And the polywogs in the mocho cake
Were sneezing in their saxophones.

Upon the edge of a green box hedge Sat Uncle Hiram's honey bee.
He showed his face on a cornice ledge
And charged the barber bill to me.

Girls and billiard balls kiss each other with the same amount of real feeling.

Blow—"What is a pile driver?"
Low—"A co-ed on a date."

agree to conduct their business by the Golden Rule.

Mr. Vickrey said that he would not name the third chapter, but only suggest it. His suggestion was that since the work of Pasteur in 1870 was more important in history than the Franco-Prussian war, so too, the high ideals of Hamilton Holt for world peace and the aid of mankind in the Near East Relief might be more important in the light of history in 3000
A. D., than the recent World War, since life is always more important than death and any means whereby life may be saved will live as more important than any means by which life may be extinguished.

man," gave him an exceptional education in the art of pantomime and Johnston Forbes-Robertson in his farewell tour of "Hamlet," he remained to appear in New York under Edgar Selwyn, William Faversham, Lyall Swete and many other managements. Finally he allied himself with the best in American drama by joining Walter Hampden, with whom he remained for nearly four years as second man and director. On leaving Mr. Hampden, he took to his present work as a lecture-platform exponent of plays and poetry, and as a director of plays and pageants. In 1925 he was elected to the presidency of the National Shakespeare Federation.

Prattle; and Helen Cavanaugh, as Fame, ably presented this sketch.
Their work individually and as a group is to be commended.

"The Constant Lover," as presented by Frank Abbott and Anna Belle Walker was the charming and thoroughly finished piece of work that these two members of the workshop can always be depended upon to deliver.

"A Course in Piracy," a burlesque comedy, completed the bill. The pirate captain, Bob Burhans; old Bill, Austin Lacey; and Gorilla Garbut, Bob Cross; were pretty tough customers whom we should not like to meet in the dark. Pinkie Zoller, as Majorbanks, turned out to be as fierce as the rest when he found the chance.

MANY COMMENTS ON STUDENT SUICIDE EPIDEMIC

With the suicide of J. Morgan Derr, Jr., twenty-year-old sophomore at the University of Rochester, the total of student suicides since January 2nd reaches nine. Despondency over ill health and dissatisfaction with his marks in mid-year examinations caused Derr to end his life, according to J. Morgan Derr, Sr.

This suicide is closely linked with the first of the series, that of Rigby Wile on January 2nd, as Derr and Wile were fraternity brothers and close chums. Rigby Wile was son of Dr. Ira S. Wile, director of the Mt. Sinai Hospital mental clinic in New York.

Various reasons have been left by the student suicides. Wiles left a note declaring that he had read all the philosophies, "he couldn't see any use in life." Another killed himself in order to report to his fraternity brother the phenomenon of the spirit world. Another, a twenty-year-old freshman at James Milliken University (Illinois), declared to his roommate the night before his death, "If I flunk out, I won't care to live. I'll never be able to go back home to face my parents."

As in the Leopold and Loeb case, and other instances of aberrant undergraduate behavior, many have engaged in adorning the moral to this student suicide epidemic:

The students lacked faith in hereafter in "the present belief in God, in the dignity of life," says President Daniel D. Marsh, Boston University.
It is no wonder students commit suicide," Bernard Iddings Bell, President of St. Stephen's College, commented.

"Knowledge and knowledge alone is almost certain to remove from man that courage which results from ignorance without substituting anything for it. Cowardice is the besetting sin of our modern life. To be brave one must believe in something. Too much education takes away belief in love and hope, the ruling forces of the universe. Those who believe in nothing become the slaves of everything. If education is to be defined as the accommodation of man to his environment then it is more of a curse than a blessing."

A poor sense of balance resulting from lack of worldly experience is the base of most of these student suicides, is the opinion of President Mark Penney of James Milliken University. A crisis appears which distorts the vision and destroys the ability to see the relation of the present circumstances to the future. With a larger experience in life, the students would see such a failure as a mere incident."

More in consonance with the facts is the opinion of Dr. Charles A. A.
Bennett, professor of Philosophy at Yale University. "I firmly believe each of the cases was an individual case," he is reported to have said, "the outcome of personal troubles or infirmities of which persons removed from the case cannot possibly be aware. I certainly do not believe there is any general attitude among young American students that would account for a number of deaths such as these."

STUDY CAMPING

Boston University School of Education has recognized the importance that the organized summer camp is acquiring in American life by establishing a course in camp management and practice to be conducted by widely known experts in various aspects of camp problems.

Wop—"You know Eureka?"

Wopa—"Eureka who?"

Wop—"Eureka garlic."
