SHELLS ASSURED AFTER NAVY NIGHT CARNIVAL

Our Rollins Navy Night Carnival was a huge success. Even the severest sceptics were forced to admit that they had a grand good time, got their money's worth and were sorry that it was not longer. At last Rollins has set a successful precedent and earned a reputation for giving value that will make our neighboring people eagerly await what will, from now on, be an annual event.

Although the parade was a bit slow in getting started, when it did it was a razzle-dazzle. Led by the letter men and the Reporter-Star band, whose courtesy we greatly appreciate, and followed by an energetic array of costumed and fete-enthused students, the parade set out to do the town.

Evidently that part of the program was also a success for many towns-people were induced to return with them to the gym and the program at once begun. The pictures, boxing bouts, Miss Ebson's dances, and other main events were enthusiastically hailed while the side shows did a thriving business with satisfied customers during the short intermissions. The grand wind-up with general dancing capped the evening with the Rollins Rogues rendering their usual excellent performance.

The hearty co-operation and efforts were not lost as a glance at the results will show. The entire re-

OMNIQUAERENTES MEET CHOOSE NEW OFFICERS

The Omniquaerentes, organized this year at Rollins is viewing with satisfaction the completion of a successful year. Weekly meetings of both a cultural and a social nature have been held. The design for the insignia which has been chosen is similar to the shield of the club. The officers have been: Moderator, Miriam Boyd; Scrivener, Katherine Hosmer, and Quaestor, Emily Whitmore. At the annual Comitia held last week the following were chosen to take office the eleventh of next October:

Moderator, Emily Whitmore; Scrivener, Hazel Sawyer and Quaestor, Ruth Cole. The membership is limited to seven. The Omniquaerentes this year have been Eugenia Tuttle, Verna Maxson, Ruth Cole, Hazel Sawyer, Emily Whitmore, Katherine Hosmer and Miriam Boyd.

ACTIVITIES STARTED AS SENIORS NEAR THE END

The commencement season at Rollins started Wednesday the eleventh of May with a picnic given for the seniors at Palm Springs by Dr. and Mrs. Holt and Dr. and Mrs. Carrothers. Swimming, steakroast, baseball with the dean and the president as stars were pleasant features of the evening. The juniors are to entertain the seniors with a swimming party tonight after the Mikado, followed by a picnic and dancing.

The concluding exercises of the college year will begin Sunday morning, May 29, at 11:00 a. m. when Dr. Charles A. Campbell, of the Rollins faculty, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon in the new Recreational Hall. The Churches of Winter Park are joining the college in a union service on that day. President Holt has issued an invitation for the general public to be present and hear Dr. Campbell's parting message to this year's graduates.

On Commencement Day, June 3, activities will begin at 7:30 when the alumni gives the traditional alumni-senior breakfast under the old family tree across the lake from the college campus. Mrs. L. C. Algee, Chairman of the Alumni Social Committee is in charge of this event.

At ten o'clock the Commencement exercises will be held at the Congregational Church at which time L. M. Spivey, LL.D., president of Southern College at Lakeland, will deliver the address. Following this the annual alumni luncheon will be held in the Commons.

Glass Announced As New Education Professor

In order to stimulate greater interest in the teaching profession at Rollins College, President Hamilton Holt has called to the faculty as Professor of Secondary Education, James M. Glass, graduate of Hamilton College and one of the country's leaders in educational work. He will be associated with Dr. George E. Carrothers, Dean of the Rollins fac-

FACULTY ANNOUNCED FOR HONOR COURSES

President Holt has announced that three writers with whose works American readers are familiar have been added to the staff of Rollins college and will give honors courses in fiction and verse-writing next year to those students who are qualified for the work.

Jessie B. Rittenhouse, for ten years secretary of the Poetry Society of America, president and founder of the Poetry Society of Florida, charter member of the Society of the Allied Arts, author and editor of many volumes of poetry, is to be a special member of the Rollins faculty next year.

Irving Bachellor, author of Dawn, well-known to all Rollins students both by his writing and his personality, will be a consultant and lecturer on fiction writing next year.

Alice Hegan Rice, creator of Mrs. Wiggs and Lovey Mary and other delightful characters, has also joined the faculty of the English department to give courses in fiction writing.

I. R. Meeting At Holt's Pleasant And Helpful

The Rollins International Relations club met on May third with Dr. Holt. He talked on the personalities of the men serving in the League of Nations and the world court. Dr. Holt is acquainted with many of them and his character sketches were interesting and gave the members a keener insight into the workings of the League.

The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Professor Jenks. The discussion will hinge on China and Dr. Jenks will be the leader.

The Carnegie Endowment has presented the club with a number of good books on International subjects. These books have been placed in an alcove in the library. The club members extend the privilege of the use of these books to the students. They are not to be withdrawn, how-

ROLLINS AND SOUTHERN TIE IN SWIMMING MEET

Fort Myers' new municipal bathing pool was formally opened Monday night with a show which included as its feature a swimming meet between the teams of Rollins and Southern college. The meet proved to be as exciting as it had been billed, ending in a spectacular race which brought Southern up to a 36 to 36 tie with Rollins.

Jenkins of Southern was the star individual point scorer in the swimming meet, accounting for 15 of his team's tallies. He won the 100 yard dash, the 220 yard free style and the 440 yard grind. Paul Hilliard of Fort Myers won the 50 yard dash and was a member of the victorious Rollins relay team.

A feature of the evening was the diving exhibition by Johnny Marshall of the Tampa Dolphin club. Tommy "Flash" Pursley of Fort Myers also exhibited his aquatic prowess, and a gang of youngsters in a canoe drew many chortles from the spectators.

Record of Events

The detailed score of the swimming meet follows:

50 yard dash—Hilliard, Rollins; Spivey, Southern, second.

50 yard back stroke—Russell, Rollins, first; Stith, Southern, second.

100 yard dash—Jenkins, Southern, first; Hilliard, Rollins, second.

PHI ALPHA CAMPAIGN SUCCESSFULLY CLOSED

Phi Alpha Fraternity recently completed a campaign to raise funds to meet imminent obligations on the new chapter house and has announced that a total of $15,161.05 was raised in cash.

The raising of this money makes it unnecessary to have further campaigns as all immediate obligations of the house have been met and the balance of the mortgage will be retired by room rents.

During the past few years a total of $46,015.47 has been raised by Phi Alpha. A recent estimate of the value of the fraternity's property, consisting of the large chapter house, the cottage on the lake, the commodious grounds and the general equipment was approximately $100,000.

Last Thursday night the people of Orange County were given a sample of what Rollins students can do in the way of an enterprise when they really take an interest in the matter. Navy Night, the first carnival ever held in the new recreational hall was such a success that adjectives seem wasted in describing it. You were all there so you know all about it.

The Sandspur wishes to extend its appreciation to the committee, headed by Charlie Chase and Dr. Georgia which arranged the affair and by inspiring all those with whom they came in contact made it go over. (The example of another has a great influence in this little world of followers.)

The thing to do now is to make this carnival an annual affair. Practically every other school in the country has at some time during the year a mad jamboree like this recent one of ours to raise money for some much needed cause. Some places Hallowe'en is the time, other, St. Patrick's Day, etc. It seems to us that the second week in the spring term, perhaps April Fool's day would be the best time to have our carnival each year. Before that time there are too many activities in Winter Park and in the College which have precedence.

The thing for each of us to do is to remember what we have just been able to do and then next year do it even better.

STUDENTS DECIDE

HAZING BELONGS TO PEG TOP PANTS ERA

Columbus, Ohio (By New Student Service)—"Any man who is in any way connected with throwing a freshman in the lake will sever his connection with this University." With this peremptory statement President George W. Rightmire of Ohio State University announced the end of freshman hazing at that institution. Hazing may soon be as much a thing of the past in the colleges—as old-fashioned as peg-top trousers, recent college events seem to indicate. "Freshman rules and sophomore traditions are giving way before an enlightened upper-class sentiment to the effect that freshmen have a right to be treated as human beings," reports The Daily Cardinal, University of Wisconsin. The freshman and sophomore classes at the University of New Hampshire have modified the traditional freshman rules. Hazing has been abolished at Capitol University, Columbus, Ohio. At the University of Cincinnati "Frosh taming gives way to training." The Student Council has dissolved the Vigilance Committee and supplanted them by the Men's and Women's Guidance Committees, who are to train the beginner in the rudiments of University of Cincinnati traditions and campus rules.

INDEX EXPURGATORIOUS

(From the Cornell Sun)

The Index Expurgatorious has been instituted at Cornell; the black brush of the censor has been swept through the list of books in the Co-op; the morals of the University are about to be raised and purged of the taint of books mentioning facts or incidents which should not be read by a child of twelve. We have learned on reliable information that Boccaccio's Decameron, Rabelais' Pantagruel and Gargantua, and Defoe's Fortunate Mistress are under the ban. The last work has been barred within a few days.

If such point of view and action is continued, the Co-op Book Store will need only one shelf for its volumes. Proceeding under the same principle of detriment to morals, the manager will be forced to reduce the list to ridiculous proportions. Socrates, Plato, Aristotle, Aeschylus, Euripides, and Sophocles will be found uncongenial; Voltaire, Diderot, Anatole France, Rolland, and Proust will have to look elsewhere for understanding; Congreve, Dryden, Donne, Fielding, and even the immortal Shakespeare mentioned—we blush to write it—sex matters. Horace, Ovid, and Catullus will go and Virgil, who ostracised for their remissness. Will they leave us the Old Testament to read in English 3 or will that be expurgated of its relation of forbidden topics, too?

We flatter ourselves to think that we may read even the Arabian Nights without becoming entirely degenerate, and we feel that the Co-op is stepping beyond the bounds of endurance. This is an educational institution of singularly few constraints and for the intellectual development of the student, some of these books should be read. After all, the attitude of mind in which an author is read is what matters. If the student is looking for the salacious, he will find it; on the other hand, if the individual studies a work for its literary merit, the reflection of the times, or an insight into the life of the world, the few glimpses of the seamy side of existence will be taken at their face value. A novel, drama, or poem may fail to conform to the standards of Puritan and mid-Victorian morality, yet possess worth . . .

THE NEW STUDENT.

Judging from the past three years the Coolidge administration needs a poet laureate to intensify the silence.

MADAME SHUMANN-HEINK INTERVIEWED

"The first thing I say you won't like," said Madame Schumann-Heink. This was, to say the least, rather discouraging to the trembling young interviewers, who had a decided inferiority complex. "I do not approve at all of rouge," she declared. "It makes you old before your time, and why mar natural beauty?"

"The grease, I mean cream, is not good for you. Use luke warm water and good soap, and you will have a smooth complexion. Feel my face." It was soft, and almost unwrinkled. The natural color in it was not what one would expect of a woman who is almost in her sixty-sixth year.

The famous contralto was clad in a green crepe de chine frock, which was trimmed in orange pan velvet. Her lovely white hair was piled high on her head which gave added height and dignity. Glasses were unable to hide the beauty of her clear, compelling brown eyes.

"You college girls!" she threw up her hands. "I believe in education for girls, but never stop helping mother at home. Help her with the cooking, the dish washing, and darn your own stockings. Remember that the most important thing is the home. A nation is only great when it has good, wholesome, old-fashioned home life."

"Every girl's highest ambition is not for money and a career, but for a home, a husband and children of her own," she continued. "That is why I do not approve of the freedom of the modern American girl. She meets a man, she loves him, they embrace and there is lost the finest foundation for a happy home. The bloom of youth is gone with the first caress."—The Watchtower.

Two letters won in one day is the unique athletic record set by Calvin Ledbetter of Washington University, St. Louis, in the recent Missouri Valley championships at Nebraska. Ledbetter placed second in the fifty-yard swim, won the 100-yard free style and swam anchor man on the victorious relay quartet to help win the Valley team championship. Then, without having time to dry his ears, he hopped aboard a railroad flyer and traveled more than 220 miles to win the track championships at Kansas in which he tied for honors in the high jump to win his second letter for the day.

Having all but blown himself up several times with aciduous solutions, the worthy Prof came to the sage conclusion that "It isn't acid should be."

K. E. KOMMENTS

Mrs. H. F. Harris was hostess at bridge Monday afternoon at her lovely new home in Virginia Heights, Winter Park, having as her guests members of the Kappa Epsilon sorority.

Old fashioned flowers were used in decorating. The tallies had on them miniature pictures of the new Harris home. Five tables were in play at pivot bridge, and a number of guests joined the players at the tea hour.

Pretty enameled picture frames were the high score prizes given at each of the tables, and low score prizes were good luck emblems. The tea guests cut for a pretty flat envelope purse.

At the tea hour frozen pears, sandwiches and iced coffee were served. The tea guests were Mrs. J. I. Chaffee, Mrs. Haggerty, Mrs. E. K. Dickinson and Miss Virginia Thomas.

We gave a farewell tea for our alums and honoraries, May 18. We missed our sorority mother, Mrs. Irving Bachellor, very much and are looking forward to her return next fall.

June Mosher came to see us this week. She broke the joyful news that she will be back at school next year.

House party!! Full moon, good eats, fishing (?) swimming—Oh, boy! Helen, Edna and her guest Sara Ross, June, Trixie, Aurora, Helen's sister, with the Kelly's for chaperones report a glorious time. The boys came out for dancing, swimming and the steak roast.

Sara Ross, of Tampa, was Edna's guest for the week-end.

Edna says rowing doesn't agree with her. Trixie says "One way to suffer is to get sunburned." She speaks from experience.

SIGMA PHI SEZ:

The house party at Bartlett's cottage at Daytona Beach was a great success last week-end. Almost all of the Sigma Phi girls went and returned having had a glorious time, much food and a very apparent coat of sunburn. The guests were Miss Gartland and Katherine Green. Our old friend Dot Grey was along, too.

Gilbert and Garbo are still alive much to the surprise of everybody. An occasional change of environment is keeping them in health.

PHI OMEGA PHACTS

Don't we wish Florence had more birthdays, tho. On Saturday Mrs. McKay gave a picnic in her honor at Lake Mary, and everything from the swim to the ride home was perfect. The high slide caused lots of excitement and the swim gave everyone such an appetite that not much of the food "fit for a king," was left uneaten. Evidently Florence had too much birthday, for she kept everyone in suspense 'till her return on Wednesday.

Westy went to Fort Myers, bag and baggage and not for the swimming meet either. "Ain't love grand?"

Saratoga thought Bee, Lu and E. were home for good when they were seen around on Thursday. It didn't take long for them to leave this time. And, everyone is glad to hear that "H" is getting along fine.

Anyone who likes sausage, come around to the Phi Omega house. Another box from Milwaukee. Somehow sausage isn't as rare a delicacy as it was once.

Another Phi Omega married! Marcia Converse, '24, had a wedding in Frostproof on Wednesday.

ALPHA OMEGA MUTTERINGS

Julia Lawrence's home was the scene of a wonderful picnic supper Saturday evening. After much vague meandering about the crooked lanes of the town of Windermere, the crowd finally arrived about five-thirty. The coolness of the lake tempted many, and those who did not have bathing suits borrowed them. Be it ever so large, one can always take tucks in the shoulder straps—says Tiny. A buffet supper was served after which bridge and dancing was enjoyed. Was there ever a lovelier place to dance than on that long screened porch?

The guests of the sorority were Red Winderweede, Couch, Bob Boney, Ralph Marlow, Len Seaver, Rusty, Ikie, Johnnie, Smith, Ben Pounds, Fred Kaiser, Gordon Thomas, Hal Powers, Ken Winslow, Bob Cross, and Mosely.

Last Tuesday evening Rosie, Tiny, Evelyn, Julia, Ken, Red, Rusty, Couch, Bob Burhans, and Unk played bridge at Jin and Jerry's. Matters progressed smoothly except for the expiration of Ken's favorite tire one block from the Lawrence residence on the way out. Couch and Evelyn each totaled a beautiful score entitling them to the two first prizes. Tiny received in consolation a little pickinenny doll and Bob a beautiful tin watch that ticked.

IF THE owner of two victrola records, "Lay My Head Beneath a Rose," and "Lay My Head Beneath a Rose" will search through all empty drawers of the unoccupied rooms in the Cloverleaf dormitory she will find them. These records were not borrowed to give offense, but to prevent an epidemic of insanity throughout the house.

Superstition still holds our hearts and minds in its vile clutches even in this day and generation. During the examination week at the University of Missouri, one student carried eight aces in his pocket to ward off bad luck, while local hunters and blacksmiths made a fortune on rabbits' feet and horseshoes, guaranteed killers of low marks. The members of one fraternity even went so far as to dress entirely in black and refrain from shaving until their marks had been posted. Unfortunately the results of these high mark insurers are not given.

Gather your kisses while you may,
Time brings only sorrow;
For the flappers who flap so freely
today,
Are the chaperones of tomorrow.

LOST — Two victrola records, names, "Lay My Head Beneath a Rose," and "Lay My Head Beneath a Rose." Finder please return to Miss Martha Mathis, and claim reward.

A lazy, but very facetious student, of George Washington University, who is rather mathematically inclined, figured that the average student writes 1,320 lines of information during final exams. Figuring the up and down strokes this makes two and one-half feet per line or an average of 3,750 of writing per student. There being 5,500 students in the university this makes a total of 3,029 miles of writing or a distance equal to that from New York to San Francisco and then from Washington to Baltimore and back 125 times. This mathematical genius further figures that 550 bottles of ink are consumed at a total cost of $55.00. An average of $250 worth of new fountain pens are purchased for the great occasion and finally 27,500 sleepless nights or 75 years are spent by the entire student body in which sleep is an unknown quantity.

Even though the student body of their college disappear, trustees of the School of Commerce at the University of Liand, Brussels, are determined that their faculty shall not diminish. Since the school has become Flamand the number of students has fallen off to 28 but the number of professors is still 34.

Stockings are said to have been invented in the ninth century, but they were not discovered until the twentieth.—Florida Flambeau.

As Professor of Secondary Education in summer schools Mr. Glass has come in contact with many thousands of teachers throughout the country. Among the universities he has served in this capacity are Columbia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and Pennsylvania. During the approaching summer he will act as Professor of Secondary Education in the University of California.

Rollins seems to be having a regular orgy of clubs and organizing of clubs. A certain element in the school has been considering doing something rabid in the way of organizing. At first a suicide club was thought of and then given up. Plans were also made for an atheists club. But both of these projects fell through because those concerned felt the urge to do something original and not to form clubs which had similar organizations in other institutions of higher learning. At last they have decided upon a course of action. A compulsory Murder Club has been formed. The exact hour of its inception is not known but it is thought that it was around seven o'clock Tuesday morning. All names of candidates for either honorary or active membership, one is yourself and the other is the other fellow, can hand their names in to the membership committee.
