ROLLINS DAY BY DAY

PICKARD-POUND-PICKARD

Losing a hard fought game like the one Rollins lost to Southern never hurts any team.

Speaking of basket ball many of our players wonder whether the college is interested in them. They have difficulty in arranging to use the gym for practice. After all it is a gymnasium.

After the game Saturday everyone danced. It was enjoyed in spite of the cold. In the future we want more dancing.

"Pinky" Zoller refused food last Thursday in "The Dover Road." What won't a man do for his dear public?

Although hampered by necessary conversation, Abbott did his usual fancy job with knife and fork.

Lady for gent. We believe the girls outweigh the boys at Rollins this year. Prospects for next year's varsity are none too bright. Attention Coach Hill.

To those folks who can't see the point to a joke that involves themselves, we suggest a quiet half hour with a looking glass.

Charlie Chase says he has the original motley crew.

The road in front of Cloverleaf discourages visitors. We want the girls to have an even break. But we forget, it's leap year.

It is an old American adage that all men were created equal. We often wonder—but let's be patriotic.

During the last cold snap we have been holding heated discussions in our wintry classrooms.

By the way! Buy a ticket for Crew Night.

ROLLINS FROSH LOSES HARD GAME TO STETSON

After three extra five-minute periods of basketball the Stetson Frosh succeeded in sinking a field goal to defeat the Baby Tars, 31-29, in one of the fastest and most hotly contested games ever played on the Stetson floor.

At the official close of the game the score stood tied 26-26. At the end of the first extra period it was 29-29. Another extra session was played and the defensive work was so close that neither team scored. A third period was decided upon and it appeared that the extension was in vain until Cadwalder, Stetson star, dropped in a field goal from mid-floor with only a few seconds left to play. The closeness of the game drew the spectators into

"DOVER ROAD" PLEASES LARGE AUDIENCE IN GYM.

Exceptional acting and an attractive stage setting were the outstanding features of "The Dover Road," a three-act comedy presented by the Little Theatre Workshop of Rollins College to a large and appreciative audience on Thursday, January 26, in the Recreation Hall of the College.

The cast was one of the best the Workshop has ever presented. Mr. Harvey Warren was excellent as Mr. Latimer, a wealthy English bachelor whose hobby was showing runaway couples their mistakes and giving them the chance to reconsider. Dorothea Thomas, Helen Cavanaugh, "Pinkie" Zoller and Frank Abbott, as two of the runaway couples, handled their parts in a thoroughly finished manner, making the most of the absurd situations and providing many laughs. The part of Dominic, Mr. Latimer's butler, and right hand man, was capably played by Robert Burhans. Aurora McKay, Annie Campbell, Julian Graham, and John

Winter Park Symphony Gives First Concert

The Winter Park Symphony Orchestra conducted by Frederick Sturges Andrews gave its first concert of the year in the Congregational Church Sunday evening, January 29.

The program consisted of four numbers which were skillfully played and well received. The Overture to "Der Freischutz" by Weber was most interesting. The Scherzo from "Midsummer Night's Dream" was very well done and it took no great imagination to see the capering fairies.

Sprague Contest To Be Held February 21

The Robert J. Sprague Speaking Contest which is an outstanding feature of Founders' Week, will be held in Chapel on February 21st. This is to be the fourth of a series of annual contests, sponsored by the Sigma Phis. The speakers are recruited principally from Mrs. Grey's Public Speaking classes but the contest is open to all aspirants on the campus.

ROBT. RINGLING WILL BE HEARD HERE FEB. 9

Robert Ringling, baritone of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, will give a concert at Recreation Hall, Rollins College, next Thursday evening, February 9th, at 8:00 o'clock, according to an announcement made by President Hamilton Holt, who states that Mr. Ringling is giving his services on this occasion for the benefit of the Rollins School of Music.

Edward Moore, noted critic of the Chicago Tribune, claims that Mr. Ringling is the best "Telramund" heard there in years. His American debut was made in Chicago last November "amid cheers and the season's greatest applause," in the words of the Chicago Herald-Examiner. Previous to that time he had sung in opera abroad.

Next Thursday's concert is to be a brilliant social event, as well as an occasion of musical importance. A large number of representative people of the community are acting as patrons and in that way adding to Mr. Ringling's contribution, as an indication of their appreciation of what Rollins has done for this community through its Conservatory.

Riddle Speaks Before Tuesday Evening Audience

Justice Riddle of the Supreme Court of Ontario spoke at the Congregational Church Tuesday evening, January 31, on the "International Relations of the English-Speaking Nations."

The program opened with a cello selection by Miss Poetzinger of the Rollins Conservatory of Music, accompanied by Miss Leila Niles.

President Holt introduced Justice Riddle who spoke at length upon the harmonious feeling existing between Canada and the United States. He said: "Every inch of the 3,000 miles of boundary line between us has been under dispute, and satisfactory set-

Co-ed's Adopt Hiking

Many girls will soon be wearing a Rollins R. Hiking, the newest sport for girls in Rollins, is one of the delightful ways of earning W. A. A. credits. Every girl is urged to join the ranks of the hoofers. Twenty girls have already joined the ranks.

Several interesting hikes have been planned, including before breakfast hikes, overnight and supper trips. All interested should watch the bulletin board at Knowles where all future notices will be posted.

SOUTHERN TRIMS ROLLINS, 26-17

The Southern College Moccasins invaded the Rollins campus last Saturday night and defeated the Tars in a slow and uninteresting basketball game before a small crowd in the Recreation Hall. The final score being 26-17.

Taking a twelve point lead in the first quarter, before the Tars could collect themselves, the Southern five kept the lead until the final whistle.

During the second quarter the Rollins five tightened up and brought the score to 12-10, but a spurt by Southern ended the half with an 18-12 margin. The Tars came back strong in the second half and it was either team's game until near the close when Rollins weakened and allowed the Moccasins to score several field goals from close range.

Galloway led the Southern attack with eleven points, while Spivey played a good floor game.

For Rollins Pickard at guard took the defensive honors. Schnuck and Zoller carried the burden of the offense.

The lineups: Southern (26):—Reese (7), Galloway (11), Spivey (6), Huskey (2), Talle.

Rollins (17):—Zoller (2), Moore, Goodell (9), Schnuck (6), James, Littlefield, Pickard.

Referee—Tarry.

FLORIDA WINS 30-23

The Rollins Tars lost one of the hardest fought games of the year last Wednesday, when the University of Florida Gators took the second encounter of the year between the two teams by the score of 30-23, before one of the largest crowds to attend a game in the Rollins Gym.

The Gators jumped away to an early lead of five points, before Rollins could find the net, but baskets by Moore and Goodell soon closed the gap in the score. With the score at 12-11 in the favor of Florida the

Crews To Row At Palm Beach On February 22

Washington's Birthday on Feb. 22 will see Charlie Chase's two crews attempting to outdo each other in rowing proficiency on the waters of Lake Worth in the so-called exotic Palm Beach.

The crews are being taken to that city under the auspices of the Palm Beach Yacht Club. The occasion is the Annual George Washington's Birthday Regatta. It is hoped that this trip will prove a rare opportunity for the boys to mingle freely with wealth and we might not count it entirely surprising to hear that several were pursued by heiresses. The watch word will be—Keep an eye on McConnell.

We regret that mention of Mr. Jimmy Bartlett's presence at the "Fete of All Nations" was left out of last week's Sandspur. He was there in Big Numbers—Some Sheik. (Correction by request).

The Dean has asked for chapel ideas. We would suggest beds for all the students. Also individual head phones for those wishing to listen in on the program.

Congrats, Al, on the fine addition to the family. Kind of sets a tradition, what? In case some of our readers haven't heard the good news, Master Allen Bartlett, Jr., arrived at the home of one of our seniors not long ago.

During the past fortnight the lamentable attitude of Rollins students and faculty toward inter-collegiate athletics has been more than noticeable. Although both of these two classes talk of improving sports here, what do they do except complain? Have they any definite means for betterment? It is my desire to become specific and definite in each particular.

The basketball team played its best ball of the year in the last two games here. Apparently it has hit a pace which will win several games before the season ends, but—see what happens. The Mikado is brought into gymnasium for rehearsal. . . . As is customary at Rollins, the basketball team takes a back seat and the more important activity usurps the practice hours. One of Florida's most powerful teams arrives and our own boys have not had time for a single workout with all players present.

The result, whether good or bad—will not do the team justice because other activities of seemingly greater importance (?) demand a gym floor and baskets for singing or some similar athletics. With several places suitable for rehearsals it seems that the basketball players should be given the resemblance of an even break.

The students have failed as miserably in backing the team as some of the faculty. At all home games there has been but a small body of students, and these did not even give a good lusty cheer. During the last contest not a single organized yell was heard. After the game a number of students learned from the players, themselves, the results. One wonders what spirit possessed these students to take the interest and time to know who the members of the team are. These students show no appreciation whatsoever that some boys are working for the school and that a scant few loyal followers attend the games. These so-called scholars are the type that are expected to put Rollins on the map. If their good work in studies, which we are promised they will do, will offset their substitution of chess, tennis, war canoeing, etc., for popular intercollegiate sports, they are without doubt the type which Rollins needs and is sure to get.

Evidently some of these students are arriving. Take this and think it over:

After the game last Saturday several students were sitting in the Lobby of Chase, needless to say they had not been to the game. Two players, tired and worn-out with their efforts to try and give Rollins a win over Southern came in to get a shower. One of the players left the door open and when half-way across the lobby was halted by a few choice, scarastic, and profane remarks about leaving doors open. Is that enough? Think that kind of spirit over and let it soak in.

SPEAKERS OF THE WEEK

On Wednesday, January 25, compulsory chapel exercises were held with Dr. Holt presiding. He expressed the belief that chapel should be abolished if it is not worth while, if it is worth while the students should come voluntarily. He suggested taking chapel attendance without making attendance compulsory.

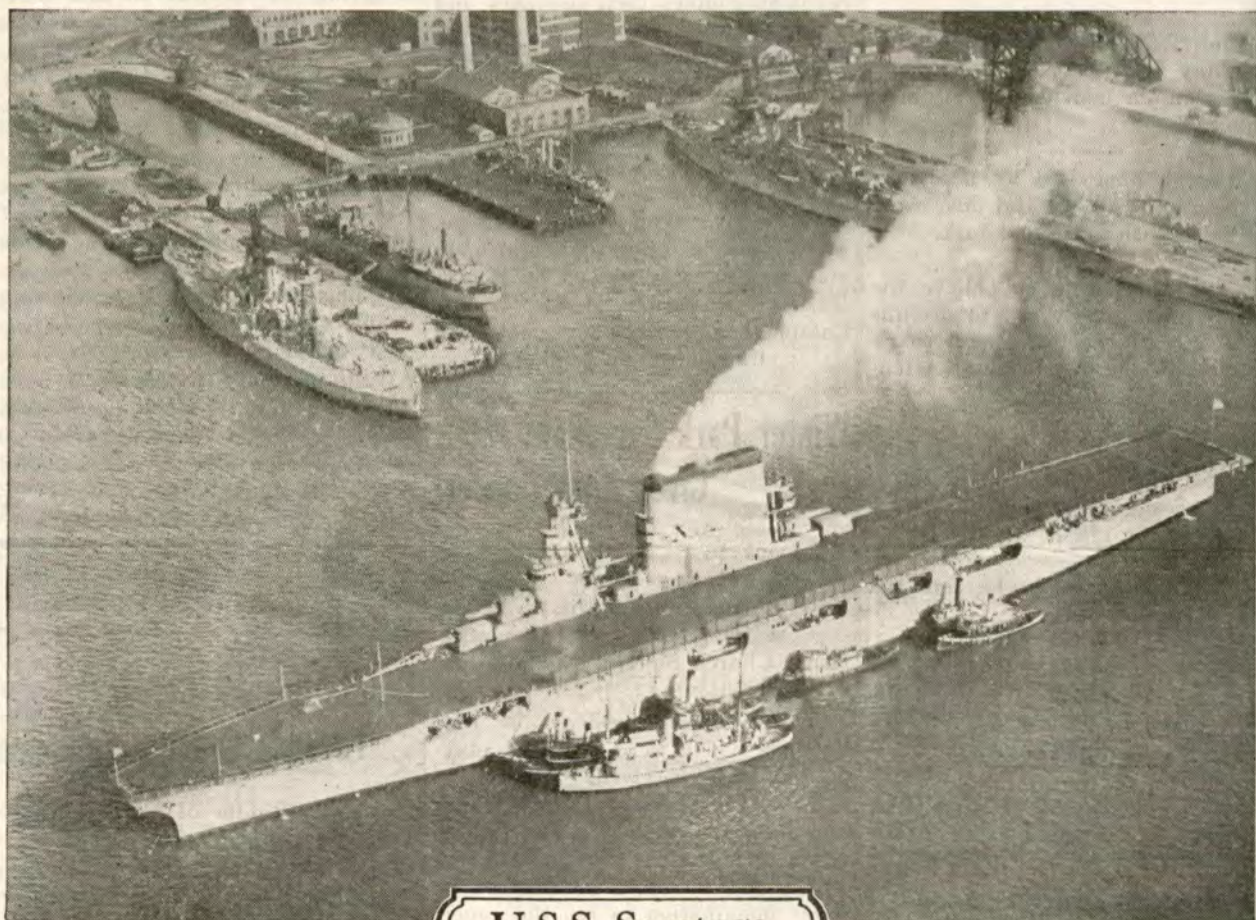

The speaker on Thursday, January 26, was Mrs. Armour of the W. C. T. U., who spoke on the American national characteristic of achievement, and also on the prohibition question.

Friday, January 27, was "Student Day." Class meetings were held during the chapel period.

Dr. Danes gave a short sketch of the history of Czecho-Slovakia on Monday, January 30.

On Tuesday, January 31, Dean Carrothers spoke on the Phillipines and showed the students many curiosities from those Islands.

Pinkie Zoller says: "I proposed to Agatha last night and she just laughed at me. She's so silly, and laughs at the most stupid things."

U.S.S. Saratoga

A Marvel of National Defense

From this 2½-acre deck, Uncle Sam's battle planes can now leap into action—sure of a landing place on their return, though a thousand miles from shore.

This marvel of national defense was accomplished—and duplicated—when the airplane carrier, U.S.S. Saratoga, and her sister ship, U.S.S. Lexington, were completely electrified.

In each, four General Electric turbine-generators deliver, combined, 180,000 horsepower to the propellers—enough to drive the ship at 33 knots (39 miles an hour)—enough to furnish light and power for a city of half a million people.

The design and construction of the electric equipment for the U. S. S. Saratoga and the U.S.S. Lexington, to which college-trained men contributed in great measure, exemplify the part General Electric plays in promoting the welfare of the nation.

PICKARD BROTHERS TO ENTERTAIN WITH TEA

The Rollins Varsity Basketball team will be entertained at tea tomorrow afternoon at four, by "Sturdy" Roe Pickard, sterling standing guard, at his home on Lake Dot. Brother Georgeanna will pour. A very pleasant afternoon is anticipated by all the squad, who are requested to bring their knitting and tatting, as new styles in these fascinating arts will be demonstrated by the famous brothers.

K. E. KOMMENTS

Kappa Epsilon takes pleasure in announcing as members: June Chase, Sarah Dickinson, Victoria Dickinson, Janet Love, Petronila McKay, Virginia Scales and Barnelia Woodward.

Following the ceremonies, Sunday evening, Kappa Epsilon served an informal banquet at home in honor of the new members.

Peggy Canning and her sister, Mildred, were welcome week-end visitors.

Tuesday afternoon, from three to five, Kappa Epsilon held the fifth of the benefit bridge series at their home on Chase Ave. When scores were tallied, a handsome linen piece was awarded Mrs. C. M. Wright for high score. Mrs. George Charles received the second prize, a set of cards.

Later in the afternoon a delicious salad course was served. Those playing were: Mrs. Irving Bacheller, Mrs. Hiram Powers, Mrs. Wilbur Doremus, Mrs. Harry Osterling, Mrs. B. A. Burks, Mrs. Amos Draper, Mrs. D. K. Dickinson, Mrs. Harry Kelly, Mrs. Herbert Wichtendall, Mrs. George Craft, Mrs. A. L. Sercomb, Miss Susan Peschman, Mrs. Kenneth Craft, Mrs. R. M. Wetherall, Mrs. H. E. Neal, Mrs. Henry Winslow, Mrs. Hamilton Holt, Mrs. E. R. Phillips, Mrs. E. H. Riggs, Miss Katherine Patton, Mrs. Clark Hawk, Mrs. Gordon Pace, Mrs. George Charles, Mrs. C. M. Wright, Miss Martha Davis, Mrs. E. M. Gage, Miss Hannah Gartland, Mrs. Austin Race, Miss I. I. Boyce, Mrs. Flint, Mrs. Reed Kennedy, Miss Audrey Dowell, and Mrs. F. H. Enwright.

PHI OMEGA—PHONE

Speaking of birthdays—we had three this last week. Helen and Camille went home because they were exposed to them and Martha was surprised with a dinner at the Latch String. Mrs. Race's speech, upon the presentation of the bouquet of carrots, held Martha breathless while the music—especially Diane, affected Shap.

Florence and Kay went home—not for birthdays, though.

We are sorry to report that Eloise has been suffering from a congested feed pipe. The Dodge Brothers prescribed an effective remedy.

The follies, Phi Beta exams, and fishing have made this a full week.

As we go to press we find birthday cakes are still coming.

ALPHA OMEGA MUTTERS

Dot Johnson has come down to pay us a visit. She is going to be here about a month and is with her sister in Orlando. She's the same old kid, we'll say.

Hazel, Dot Hartridge, Ellen, Ginny, Nan Brown, and Elinor Krouse have been defying red bugs and indulging in picnics. Sandwiches taste so much better out of doors, but the greatest advantage is that in having so many other lunches to choose from you don't have to eat your own.

Ellen went to Tampa over the week-end.

Gene did plenty of free advertising for the Gainesville Glee Club by pinning the notice of the Orlando concert on her back when she indulged in her preambles about the campus.

Dot Hurtridge drove to Daytona Tuesday to get a few whiffs of fresh ocean breeze.

Bridge is fast becoming a tradition at the house, rather than a pastime.

"Marietta," Carol's car, was in a wreck last week.

ADVICE TO THE LOVESICK

Note: Anyone desiring advice about love is requested to send in his problems to Miss Mendit, care of the Editor of the Sandspur.

Dear Miss Mendit:

How can I make the fellow who sits next to me in the Beanery fall for me?—Della Fell.

Answer.

Pull his chair out from under him when he is about to sit down.

Dear Miss Mendit:

My girl laughs at me every time I propose. What shall I do about it?—Hopeful.

Answer.

Propose something different next time.

Dear Miss Mendit:

I do not feel at ease in the presence of men. What shall I do to overcome this handicap?—Anxious.

Answer.

Stay away from them.

Dear Miss Mendit:

I am very young and unexperienced. When I am with boys I can't think of anything to say. What subjects are most suitable to converse on with the boy friend?

—Flaming Adolescence

Answer.

Most anything will do, only govern your conversation by the type of your friend. Better talk about him mostly. Most men are conceited and interested in themselves primarily. Use raw bait if you want the fish to bite on your "line."

Boarder: What's all that noise upstairs?

Sonny: Ma's dragging pa's pants over the floor.

Boarder: That shouldn't make so much noise.

Sonny: I know, but pa's in them. —Ex.

Cedar Rapids Evening Gazette and Republican, Friday, January 20. "Red Peppers," Hot Sport Chatter, by Earl.

"Readers of this column will recall that about a week ago we commented on the boxing proclivities of Big Ben Pound, Rollins College athlete, ending our remarks by admitting it was a good story except that we didn't know who Pound is or where Rollins College is located. This morning's mail brought a parcel requiring thirteen cents in stamps, which contained seventeen pieces of literature including the school's catalog of 136 pages, that thoroughly explained all there is to be told about Rollins College. Oh! yes, the literature also explained that Rollins is in Winter Park, Fla. A brief note said: "The enclosed literature will aid in informing you where and what Rollins is." It surely does."

NOTICE

The University Club of Orlando extends to all faculty, alumni and student organizations of Rollins College a cordial invitation to hold meetings in the University Club House, at the corner of Magnolia and Amelia avenues, opposite the Wyoming Hotel, with the exception of Tuesday evening. Arrangements may be made through A. J. Hanna.

ORIGIN AND DEVELOPMENT OF BASKETBALL

Basketball, when you hear this word, do you ever stop to think where the game originated and how it became a world-wide game? The game was originated and first played at the Springfield Y. M. C. A. college at Springfield, Mass. The popularity of football had made a strong impression upon a great number of the students and the faculty at the Director's College. The question of the day was, "Why is football so attractive to so large a number of people?" Football could not be played outside during the greater part of the winter and was too rough to be played on gym floors. The coaches and athletic directors asked the students their views and opinions, and finally a list was gathered of the general features of games that could be best played on a gymnasium floor. Some of them were: (1) That it should call for as large a number of participants as possible; (2) That the interesting active games were played with a ball or some similar object; (3) That team work was preferable to individual effort; (4) That two or more goals were desirable. It was also pointed out that the limited space and the hard floors and walls of a gymnasium presented problems that would be difficult to overcome.

Among the students at Springfield most interested were James Naismith, who at present is Director of Athletics at the University of Kansas, A. A. Stagg, and W. J. Keller. Dr. Naismith appeared to be deeply interested in the idea of games that could be played in the gymnasium. He had been a student at McGill University in Canada and was familiar with the game of lacrosse, as well as games of hockey and the Canadian style of rugby. By his familiarity with these games, he was able with a few other students to plan a game.

They went to the gym which had only a small playing surface. Dr. Naismith had a soccer football which he planned to use in the game. No goals had been provided and it was necessary to enlist a couple of boxes about the size of soap boxes, but none could be found. Apparently, the only thing available was some sixteen-quart peach baskets. As a last resort these were taken and fastened to the gaggery railing, one at each end of the gym. No printed or written rules had been made. The game was explained and the fun began. As most of the players were football men, you can imagine it was a very rough and crude game. It took some time to score a goal because of the roughness of the game; but when at last a lucky shot entered the basket (peach), one of the players had to go up to the gallery, climb the rail and reach down into the basket to secure the ball for further play. To meet this difficulty, the janitor and a stepladder were used in the game. The new game was an immediate success. The students at the college became more and more enthusiastic about it. The sixteen-quart peach basket used in the first game gave the name to the game.

The first games were played with nine men on a side; soon this line-up was reduced to seven because of the fact that eighteen players including both teams and the referee made the gym-playing surface too crowded and hampered the passing and speed of the players. The first published rules of basketball were printed January 15, 1892. These rules stated that:

The goals may be boxes or baskets fifteen inches in diameter and also in depth.

An association (sic) football is to be used.

The ball may be thrown or batted in any direction.

A player is not permitted to run with the ball.

The ball is to be held with the hands—not against the arms or body.

Fouls were declared—mostly for rough play—and three consecutive fouls counted as a goal for the opponents.

Both an umpire and a referee were provided for, the duties of the former being to watch the ball and of the latter to watch the players and also keep the score. It is very interesting to note that in the thirty-three years basketball has been played, only a few changes in the rules have been made.

The game was an immediate success. At first the game was played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasiums located in the different cities in and around New England. The spectators became so interested in the game, that inter-Y. M. C. A. games were played. Then the game began to extend rapidly and clubs and independent teams were formed. At first the game was played only by men, but now it is also played by the women. Though they sometimes play the game under the rules used by men, in most games they play under rules which are more strict.

Basketball today is the premier indoor competitive sport in the United States. This does not mean that it is not played anywhere else because it is; basketball is now played all over the world. There are teams in far-off China and even Australia. Its popularity is due to the fact that it has become a highly skillful game, and that only those athletes who are physically and mentally fit can expect to get very far as a team. Great crowds assemble throughout the season to witness what is now a game of wits and endurance, compared to what it was a few years ago, when the game was played by the "roughneck" type of team. The teams have become so numerous in the colleges, schools, and cities that it has become necessary to form conferences, leagues, and tournaments to find which team is the best or champion in its particular class. From the standpoint of the spectator, the game is also more interesting and exciting when played under the rules of the three named classes.

Naivete

The circus had come to town and the elephant had escaped. They were not able to locate him till one day the chief of police answered a frantic phone call. A woman's voice explained:

"Send a man around quick, a strange animal is in my yard pulling up the flowers with his tail."

"What is he doing with them?" demanded the chief.

Woman's voice: "You wouldn't believe me if I told you and I am too much of a lady to tell you."

SOUTHERN AND FLORIDA TAKE GAMES FROM ROLLINS

Rollins defense weakened and the Gators ran it up to 19-11 just before the half ended.

During the second half the Tar machine got to working and outscored the Gator combine, but could not get going until too late in the game to be effective. Five points in the last few minutes of play raised the hopes of the Tar rooters but time was called before any more points could be registered.

Vegue and Crabtree carried the brunt of the Gator attack, while Van Sickle played a neat defensive game.

For the Tars, Moore and Goodell showed up very well scoring nine and ten points respectively of their team's points. It was the scoring ability of Moore that kept Rollins in the game in the first half. Littlefield and Pickard at the guards played good games, while Schnuck and Zoller carried the brunt of the offensive floor work.

The line-ups: Florida: Vegue (10), Crabtree (8), Perrine (6) Van Sickle (3), Grandoff, Walker (2), Wood (1).

Rollins: Goodell (10), Moore (9), Schnuck (2), Littlefield, Pickard (2), Zoller.

ROLLINS HANDICAPPED FOR STETSON GAME

at Stetson in the first game 29-17.

The Rollins team has been seriously handicapped lately due to the fact that they have been unable to secure the basketball court for practice, because of dancing classes, singing rehearsals, and other sundry organizations whose activities are more important than preparation for intercollegiate games. Of course, it is absurd for anyone wanting to practice basketball on the court. One wonders, sometimes, where they had all these activities before the Recreation Hall was built.

The players are strong-hearted, however, and are determined to give their best for "Dear Old Rollins." It is hoped that a few students will have time to attend the game and join the mammoth cheering section of townspeople. Cheering will be led by Charlie Noack, the popular young breakfast dispenser.

If it is slightly chilly students attending are cautioned to put on their heavies, as both students at the last game caught bad colds from exposure. The game will start at 8 P. M. if the gym is available at the time.

a frenzy as first one team and then the other would take the lead.

Cadwalder, Dumas and Hemminger were the outstanding stars for Stetson, while Proctor led the Rollins scoring with 16 points. Quill scored ten points and played a good offensive game, and Rashid was a bulwark on the defense, time and time again cutting off the Stetson passwork under the Tar basket.

The third number, the Andante from the String Quartette by Debussy, seemed to appeal greatly to the audience. It was played in a most delicate and artistic manner, displaying a haunting wistfulness that was quite pleasing. The work of the flute, oboe and bassoon was excellent, both technically and artistically.

Beethoven's famous "Fifth Symphony," the last number, appeared in striking contrast to the Debussy number. It was well-liked and the triumphal march was a fitting conclusion to the enjoyable evening.
