ROLLINS DAY BY DAY

PICKARD-POUND-PICKARD

In conquering Stetson last Friday the Rollins basketball team accomplished a feat that has not been duplicated in recent years.

However, the athletic situation is not solved. This victory should merely stimulate the efforts of those concerned in putting out winning teams at Rollins.

Lefty says Goodell and Fisher are so dumb they think the eternal triangle is something that a baby wears.

Here's one for the month by month column. It is rumored Goldsmith went to class recently and stayed the entire two hours.

The 1927 World's Almanac gives Rollins an enrollment of only 130. We suggest that they be given sufficient data to correct this error in future publications.

A Chase Hall inmate tells us he had the following dream about his room-mate last night. His fellow sufferer was walking down the street followed closely by a skunk. He was singing "Me and My Shadow."

What's wrong with the modern college girls? Many of them spend two-thirds of the time hesitating and the other third repenting.

Prof. McWhite says his one ambition is to visit New York. Sid Stoneburn's is to meet him at the train.

Certain co-eds have no time for hiking. They travel in cars, strange, beautiful, high-powered cars. And how? By gracing the bumming corner between buses. It's a question of saving soles—that's our guess too.

Opera Concessions for Rollins Students

The Orlando Chamber of Commerce has arranged to give Rollins students a chance to see the series of operas which are scheduled for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week at the Orlando Municipal Auditorium. The plan, which holds for Rollins students only, enables them to purchase season tickets for $2.50. These are reserved orchestra seats. This season price is less than the regular price for a single admission.

Visitors in Orlando who have recently heard this company, The New York Grand, in Jacksonville, pronounce it very satisfactory.

The season, which opens the fifteenth of February, is composed of four very popular operas, each of which is rich with well known solos and ensembles.

BARKER CRIES JOYS OF CREW NIGHT CARNIVAL

Hey, Hey! Goin' to Crew Night? What! You don't know what it's all about? Boys and girls, gather round and listen while I spout about it.

Every year there is one event on the Rollins Program that is "IT" and that event is the Big, Gorgeous, Grand, Scintillating, Staggering Carnival of Crew Night. This year IT is during Founder's Week—to be exact, on the night of the eighteenth day of February—and folks, believe me it is goin' to be the biggest one ever.

How would you like to go to a circus, a carnival, a dance, a vaudeville show, and see a few one-act plays all in the same night for the price of ONE DOLLAR? Just think, entertainment for a king, but the Crew Night Gang think and know that there will not be enough kings there to make it interesting so they have decided to let everyone in on it. Goin' to miss it? Sapristi! I should say not!

Now give me your ears, I mean eyes, and I'll let you all in on a little inside dope. We have it on red-hot information that a prominent athlete will be there and make his first public appearance as an Asthetic Dancer, a sure 'nuff hit. All the Kollege Kids will have something of interest for everyone. There will be baseballs to throw at niggerbabies, fortune tellers from the Far East, Pinky Zoller will entertain "His Public," prize fights (I mean boxing exhibitions.) These are only a few of the minor attractions. Bring the kids and we will give 'em all the pink lemonade and peanuts they want (for a certain consideration.)

Workshop Out on Tour Appears in Mount Dora

Miss Dorothea Thomas and the casts of three one-act plays, "The Beaded Buckle," "The Violin Maker of Cremona," and "Our Kind," leave today at 6:30 P. M., to play in Mount Dora tonight.

These same plays when presented in Lake Wales several weeks ago registered a complete hit and the players left the town with an invitation to bring back another program as soon as possible.

Wattles and Emerson in Vest Pocket Poets

The second and third volumes of the Vest Pocket Poets will be on sale Founder's Week, when selected poems of Miss Dorothy Emerson and Mr. Willard Wattles will be published.

Miss Emerson's volume takes its name from her prize poem "Balancing the Scales." Mr. Wattles' volume is entitled "Compass for Sailors."

ROLLINS MAKES LAST MINUTE SPURT TO ROMP OVER STETSON FIVE 29-19

U. of F. Glee Club Does Its Stuff for Co-Eds

Through the efforts of Professor Bueno, who founded the organization three years ago, the University of Florida Glee Club presented a very interesting and entertaining program at chapel last Tuesday. Although the Club is still young, it has already built up an enviable reputation throughout the South. The members sang with an artistry and spirit, greatly appreciated by a large audience of students, faculty and townspeople.

The program consisted of—Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee, Adoramus Te, Steal Away, Kentucky Babe, The Bell-Man, Sweet and Low, The World is Waiting for the Sunrise, and Orange and Blue.

Ruth Bryan Owen Tells "Modern Arabian Nights"

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen spoke Tuesday evening, February 7, at the Congregational Church on "Modern Arabian Nights."

A musical selection from Tschai-kowsky by the Rollins' Trio opened the program.

Mrs. Owen began her informal talk with the words: "Most history seems to be so complicated that it is difficult to picture a part of it in a few minutes. I want you to see with the eyes of imagination what I see with the eyes of memory. I propose to give you the history of the war in Palestine in capsule form."

Brief sketches of life in Egypt, especially in Cairo, followed, finally leading to Mrs. Owen's war experiences as a Red Cross nurse.

Grace Fisk Pleases Winter Park Audience

The students and friends of Rollins College had a delightful musical treat last Monday evening when Miss Grace Fiske of the Gray Perry School of Piano in Tampa, came to Winter Park to give a complimentary, but thoroughly musicianly piano recital. Miss Fiske has been for two years the pupil of Gray Perry, who is now giving some of his time to teaching at the Rollins School of Music.

This young woman, still in her teens, possesses a beautiful and fluent technique, a tone that is rich in its cantilene passages, rare grace of phrasing and a nice sense of balance. The Mozart Fantasia with which she opened the program, focused the attention of the audience at once. It had all the finish one Rollins College Varsity five downed the Stetson Hatters, Friday, February 3, in the college Gym by a 29 to 19 score. The two teams fought a see-saw battle up until the last few minutes of play when the Rollins Tars forged ahead to victory.

Captain Buddy Goodell was the outstanding star of the game traveling the court with miraculous speed, cheering his boys on to victory and scoring 13 points to capture high point honors. David Schnuck, the tall, lanky Tar center, followed close on the heels of Buddy with 9 points to his credit. Lefty Moore, Pinky Zoller and George Littlefield were largely responsible for keeping the Hatters' score down. They were continually blocking the path of the Stetson boys as they made for the goal.

Bernard, Yarger and Freeman were the outstanding players for Stetson.

After the game some of the students built a huge fire of parking signs, benches and other burnables attached to the college campus.

Lineups: Stetson: Bernard (6), right forward; Yarger (5) left forward; Warshinger (4) center; Freeman (4) right guard; Mox, left guard.

Dramatics Feature Spanish Club Meeting

On Thursday, Feb. 2, the Spanish Club spent an entertaining evening at the Sigma Phi House. Plays, music, games and refreshments followed the short business program.

Virginia Scales, the senorita, was romantically serenaded by Senor Bueno, who stood below the balcony with guitar and sombrero.

Louise Holland, Joe Jones and Evelyn Dodge formed the triangle of a clever Spanish play. Joe's hat saved the day in critical moments, since his vocabulary often held him speechless.

Visitors find atmosphere and a good time when they join the Spanish Club. Everyone is welcome.

Rollins Players Have New Bill Under Way

Four one-act plays, "Enter the Hero," "My Lady's Lace," "Nocturne," and "Will o' the Wisp," compose the next program which the Little Theatre Workshop of Rollins College will present on February 27 in the Recreation Hall of the college. This will be the second group of one-act plays the Workshop

The Sandspur

Established in 1894 with the following editorial: "Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

The basketball squad appreciates the way the students and some of the faculty turned out and supported them in the Stetson game. At one time in the game, when the team was behind, a big cheer came across the floor—they just could not fall down on the job after that. Shortly after Rollins did get into the lead and held it until the end of the game. That support gave the team the determination to fight, and fight to the end, something that would have won a few games that have been lost this year. Thanks, students.

We have always been in favor of school spirit and the beautification of the campus. Last fall when it was suggested in these columns that something ought to be done about those old barges down on the lake shore they were removed immediately—well and good. However, we do think that a little common sense and some limits ought to be applied to the efforts of certain students to clean up the campus. When Rollins defeated Stetson last Friday celebrations were certainly in order, but with limits. The two benches at the front of Carnegie were as much a part of the campus as Carnegie itself. For years students had sat on them and discussed their round of news. They were not only a tradition but a work of art in their way and worth considerable money to the college. Yet in the midst of all the excitement a group of students so completely lost their head as to take one of these benches and throw it on the fire. The act was a disgrace and a blot on the name of Rollins College. No student proud of Rollins and at the same time sensible to the tradition and property of the college would have thought of doing such an act. Luckily there were a few students present who knew enough to snatch the bench from the fire before it was utterly consumed. If destruction is going to be the motto of the school spirit for the present bunch of students Rollins had better close her doors till a new bunch can be secured.

Should Rollins stay in the S. I. A. A.?

According to rules in the S. I. A. A. no college can use first year men; nor can they play men who have participated in athletics in another college previously.

Should Rollins withdraw from the S. I. A. A. so that she can use all of her available material in composing one team which could go out and compete creditably with other schools? Or should we keep on striving and hoping that within the next ten years (or ten coaches) she would put out a winning team?

Why should we be so foolish to believe that we with a hundred boys can divide that number and compete successfully with schools two or three times our size?

This matter came up last year before a group of selected students presided over by the Dean. After much discussion pro and con it was voted that we withdraw from the S. I. A. A.

Yet we are still in.

Why?

No one knows; unless it is because we enjoy being stamped on 75 to 0. Unless we enjoy seeing in the sports column under the head of "Prep School's" that the "Rollins Tars" were again downed. Unless we can take such a pride in the sense of our own importance that our feelings are numb to the opinion the people out in the State have of us.

They do not excuse us for our false pride in trying to run in company out of our class.

They just laugh.

Laugh as they do at a little boy wearing long pants who kids himself with the length of his pants into failure at a man's job.

"Who is that substitute warming up?"

"That's no sub, that's coach. The team is behind."

A teacher in grammar school asked "What is a peninsula?"

Bright pupil: "A long neck stretching to sea."

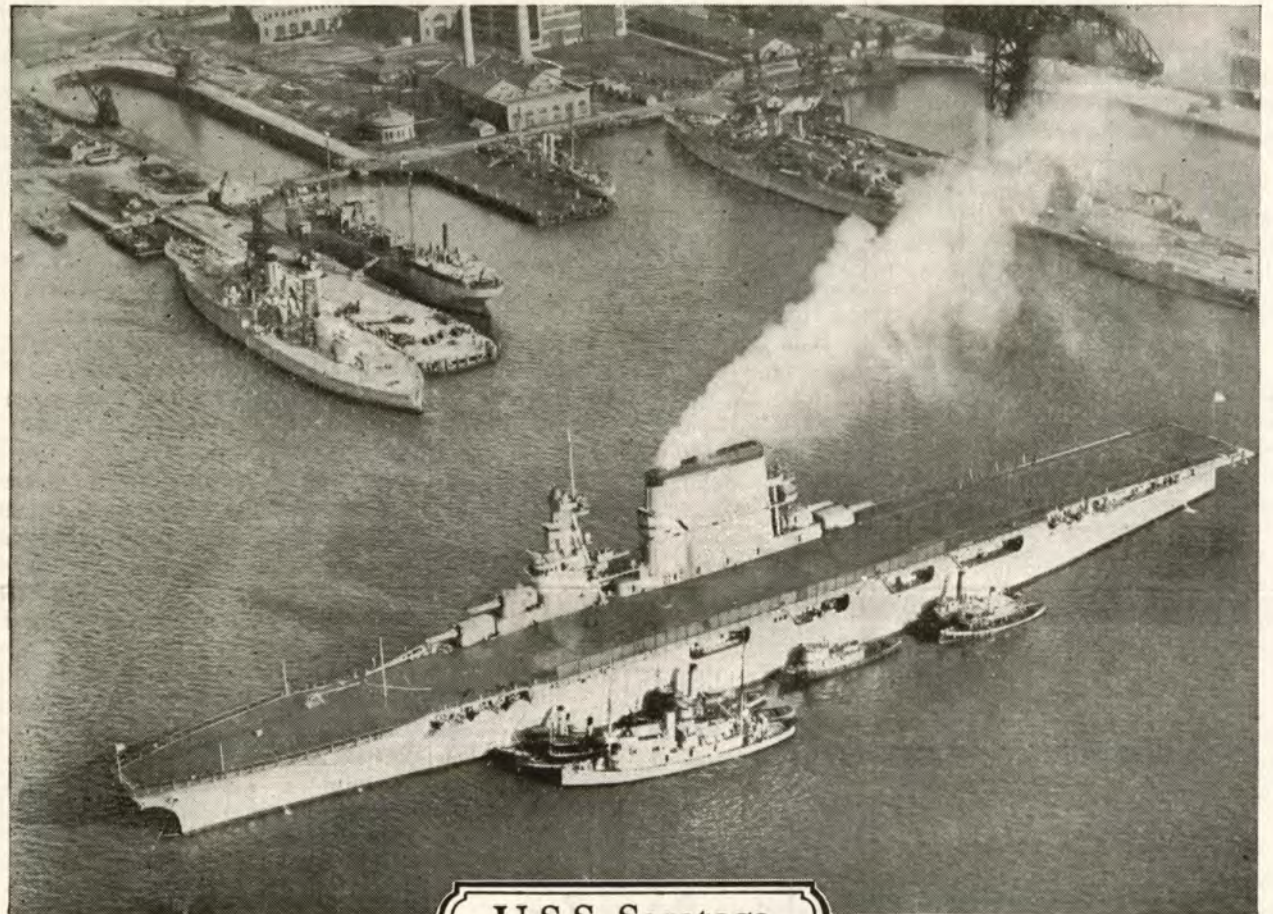

Teacher: "Give me a sentence using that word."

Pupil: "Bill fell out of an automobile and broke his peninsula."

U.S.S. Saratoga

A Marvel of National Defense

From this 2½-acre deck, Uncle Sam's battle planes can now leap into action—sure of a landing place on their return, though a thousand miles from shore.

This marvel of national defense was accomplished—and duplicated—when the airplane carrier, U.S.S. Saratoga, and her sister ship, U.S.S. Lexington, were completely electrified.

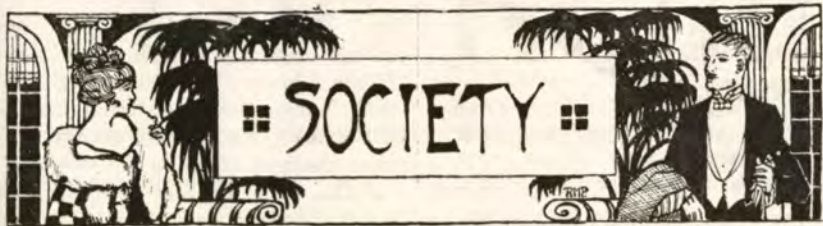

In each, four General Electric turbine-generators deliver, combined, 180,000 horsepower to the propellers—enough to drive the ship at 33 knots (39 miles an hour)—enough to furnish light and power for a city of half a million people.

The design and construction of the electric equipment for the U. S. S. Saratoga and the U.S.S. Lexington, to which college-trained men contributed in great measure, exemplify the part General Electric plays in promoting the welfare of the nation.

K. E. KOMMENTS

Wednesday afternoon, from four to six, Kappa Epsilon entertained with a tea at the home of Mrs. George Kraft, honoring their guest, Mrs. Sidney Osmer, and Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owens. A musical program was given during the afternoon. Mrs. Hamilton Holt and Mrs. Kenneth Kraft poured. The guests were the alumni, honoraries and the active chapter.

R. L. S. HEARS TALK
ON EMILY DICKINSON

Professor Wattles introduced the members of R. L. S. at a meeting February 3 to a poet whom he considers one of the greatest of American women poets—Emily Dickinson. He read from a volume of her poems and told the story of her life at Amherst and the key incident that reveals the secret of her poetry.

Professor Wattles has an original manuscript of Miss Dickinson's, the only manuscript not in the possession of the family. It is one of her poems, signed "Emily."

RHO KAPPA SIGMAS
HOLD NOCTURNAL PICNIC

Rho Kappa Sigma, honorary chemistry fraternity, held a picnic on Lake Virginia, under the "family tree," Friday evening, February 3.

The young chemists crossed the lake in a war canoe while Professor and Mrs. Georgia and Elsworth Basset, the honor guest of the occasion, followed in a small canoe. In a number of games and chemistry contests Mrs. Georgia, Mr. Basset, Iverne Galloway and Red Winderweede received valuable prizes.

The refreshments included a brand new kind of punch—Blue, which Iverne said, "It made us feel quite blue also." There were plenty of sandwiches, pickles and cookies. When the fun was over there was nothing left to feed the fishes.

MR. AND MRS. J. E. BARTLETT
VISIT IN NEW YORK CITY

J. E. Bartlett, honorary member of Theta Kappa Nu, and Mrs. Bartlett, fraternity mother, left Sunday for a visit to New York city. While there they will meet their daughter, Ruth, who is to sail this week for a European tour.

STARNES ENTERTAINS

Ewing Starnes entertained with a bridge party at the Kappa Epsilon Sorority house last Wednesday afternoon, February 1st.

Petronia McKay won first prize for girls and Elwood Hettrick first prize for the boys.

Tea and sandwiches were served late in the afternoon.

Those playing were Misses Petronia McKay, Evelyn Green, Janet Love, Trixie Larson, Virginia Mitchell, and Martha Mathis; and Messrs. Paul Hilliard, Elwood Hettrick, Sugg Hampton, Robert Cross, Robert Burhans.

CLOVERLEAF NOTES

Miss Grace Fiske and her mother were guests of Barnelia Woodward during her stay prior to her recital, February 6.

Rosemary Conklin spent the week-end in Clearwater, Florida, at the home of her parents.

Mrs. H. A. Douglas and her daughter June visited Vivian during the week-end.

Several Cloverleaf girls are looking forward to that trip to Fort Myers—Dorothy Allen, Lois Boutwell, Janet Love, Pet McKay, and Nina Bremner.

Part of Cloverleaf went to the big fire last Saturday attired in pajamas.

John Scott and Maude have recently had an increase in family—there are now eight more to feed from the beanerie.

Mary Race spent Monday night in Crescent City, Florida.

SIGMA PHI SLIVERS

Sigma Phi wishes to announce Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice as an honorary member.

Watch for our Crew Night stunt. It will surely rival "The Lighthouse Keeper's Tragedy" of last year.

The senioritas and seniors were at home in our Villa last Thursday.

The serenade by Senor Bueno to Senorita Scales (above on the balcony) was thoroughly appreciated.

Miss Marian and Jane Mathewson returned to their New Bedford home last Friday. They are genuinely missed.

"The Twig of Thorn" by Marie Josephine Warren will be the play given by Sigma Phi sorority next month.

Ebbie and Margarite report a big time on the "J" club Wekiwa trip.

The "Moonshiners" (they only go when the moon shines full) had a steak and onion repast under the family tree last Saturday eve.

The children were: "Easy" Holland, "Ginny" Fisher, "Nettie" Dickson, "Glad" Wilkinson, "Shorty" Hall, "Mark" Wolff, "Deacon" Fisher taken care of by "Papa" Colado.

Sigma Phi is giving a benefit bridge at the San Juan Hotel Saturday from 4 to 6. You will enjoy the program as well as the bridge. Come!!!

Sigma Phi announces as pledge, Miss Marjorie McMichael, of Windermere, Florida.

Honoraries of Sigma Phi Entertain Pi Beta Phi Alumnae

The honorary members of Sigma Phi entertained the Orlando Alumnae chapter of Pi Beta Phi, on behalf of the sorority, on last Wednesday afternoon with a program tea at the home of Mrs. Halstead Caldwell on Palmer Avenue.

The sorority colors of green and white were evident in the scheme of both the decorations and refreshments. The pledges of the sorority assisted in serving while Mrs. R. F. Foley and Mrs. Delaney Way presided over the tea and coffee urns.

A delightful program was presented by certain of the members. Gladys Wilkinson gave a group of musical readings. Dorothea Thomas was delightful in two original character-monologues. Edna Wallace Johnston closed the program with an entertaining flute solo.

PHI OMEGA

Phi Omega wishes to announce as members Marion McCutcheon, Winter Haven; Mary Race, Crescent City; Camille Beach, Tampa, and Eleanor Krause, Orlando.

After formal initiation Feb. 5, all of Phi Omega enjoyed salad, tea, cinnamon toast, and candies at the Mary Stewart Tea Room.

We regret that Ruth Paine is unable to return this term, because of the illness of her father.

ALPHA OMEGA MUTTERS

Virginia Jenkins, Jewel Lewter, Eleanor Fowles and Dot Johnson were entertained at the house Saturday evening by several members and pledges. There were also three unexpected guests from Gainesville—Theta Kappa Nu rats, who unceremoniously walked in with paddles to be signed by the girls and then wielded in the purpose for which they were intended. Bridge and dancing punctuated by Gerry's cake and fruit punch furnished the evening's program.

Tiny, Gene, and Deane went on the Wekiwa trip over the week-end.

ALPHA OMEGA BENEFIT BRIDGE

The sorority gave a benefit bridge Tuesday, Feb. 7th. Geraldine Laurence and Dorothy Hartridge acted as hostesses.

Four high score prizes were given. The first, a leather card set, was won by Louise Hall, the second, a folder of stationery, by Mrs. Berrie Taylor, the third, a double compact, by Mrs. Arnold Houston, and the fourth, a set of table numbers, by Lucy Baker.

Table reservations were taken by Mrs. Holt, Miss Gartland, Phi Omega sorority, Eleanor Fowles, Helen Dawes, Dorothy Johnson, Betty Wheatley, Mrs. James E. Bartlett, Jr., Mrs. Charles Noack, Billie Fiske, Carol Walters, Tiny Peterson, Virginia Laurence and the sorority pledges.

THETA NEWS

Thursday night, February 2, the Thetas had another faculty-student fortnightly meeting. The guest was Dr. R. J. Sprague. His stories and descriptions of his extensive travels in Europe and America are extremely vivid and gripping.

Hot chocolate, sandwiches and smokes were dispensed by some of the boys and heartily consumed by all present.

PHI BETA NEWS

Phi Beta fraternity held its formal initiation service Sunday, Feb. 5, at the home of Miss Katherine Lewis on Henkle Avenue. Following the impressive ceremony, refreshments consisting of salad, sandwiches and tea were served.

Phi Beta announces as new members: Jane Powers, Vivian Douglass, Helen Morrow, Barnelia Woodward, June Chase, Dorothy Anne Minter, Harriet Gleason, Sarah Huey, and Mary Boyer.

MRS. NEWBY ENTERTAINS

A carload of co-eds dressed in blue denim overalls and knickers went out to Mrs. Newby's cottage on Lake Conway last Sunday where they dined sumptuously on charred steak and burned bacon.

After gorging themselves to the limit they boated out to a deserted house and danced until they had frightened two small boys attracted by the orgy and drew the unfavorable attention of a man with a gun.

She was only a coal dealer's daughter, but holy smokes, where she had bin.—Ex.

DICKSON-IVES

ORLANDO

AMONG THE FACULTY

The typical first of February feeling abides with the faculty as well as the student body. There is very little doing; consequently everyone appears bored.

However, we saw something scandalizing in the administrative section. Miss Gartland was chewing gum!

Mrs. Rice's fiction writing seminar meets on the lake shore, nestling among the sandspurs.

President Holt and Dean Carrothers after a hard fight lost their tennis match Saturday at Leesburg. Better training, boys!

Indications point towards the fact that Mr. Jenks has joined the Order of the Black Hand.

The faculty all seem to be busy getting ready their catalogue copy. We are glad to see them busy about mid-terms, too.

Early this week Miss Gleason took the eighth of her series of falls. We will have to buy her some high shoes.

We want to know why these "golden personalities" don't do something to get their names in this column. Here is your chance to see your name in print.

SPEAKERS OF THE WEEK

The chapel exercises Wednesday, February 1, were taken up by discussions of standard class ring and a new name for the football team.

Thursday, February 2, Professor Bueno gave two vocal numbers and Dr. William Elliot Griffis compared the ancient and modern conditions of Japan and also the customs and traditions of Japan with those of the United States.

Grosvenor Dawe, talked on Friday, February 3, about Florida's resurvey of its conditions—ashrdcmfm sources, giving a brief industrial survey of its conditions.

On Monday, February 6, Professor Moore discussed the possibility of Al Smith as United States President.

EVENS TRIUMPH OVER ODDS IN CANOE RACE

The preliminary war canoe race held Tuesday for the girls' odd and even crews resulted in victory for the evens.

Both canoes were off to a good start at the report of the gun. Ruth Cole's crew, paddling on the inside course, covered the distance of one hundred and ten yards in forty seconds, winning over Mary Hansen's crew by three or four feet.

The judges were Cloyde Russell, James Newton and Herbert Barber.

WEKIWA TRIP PLEASES ALL

What could be better than spending a moonlight night on Shell Island?

According to the reports of this last week-end, Fleet's canoe trips up the Wekiwa river are more alluring than ever. The only disappointment came when the group arrived at the popular still. Marg had to return with her cup empty because of a raid some time last summer.

The camp fire circle, including Fleet with his banjo and corn cob pipe, soon turned their thoughts to visions unknown.

"When can we go again?" is all we hear from Martha Mathis, Gene Smith, Marg Lo Bean, Deane Wright, Ruby Quick, Ebbie Dodge, and Edwina Peterson.

A SUB'S EYE VIEW OF THE STETSON GAME

At last we have realized our dreams. We have defeated Stetson. Hooray and a coupa hot dawgs!

Between eating about a peck of roasted peanuts and doing some lusty cheering Prexy Holt seems to have enjoyed the game.

At last Coach Hill has found a use (other than warming the bench) for the subs. Between halves a bottle of "high life" or some other equally potent liquid is thrust into their hands and they proceed to renovate the tired members of the team. "Delicate Dave" Schnuck seems to have benefitted greatly by those treatments. (Prices to outsiders on request. Faculty at slightly reduced rates. Peg-legged people extra as wood alcohol comes high. adv.)

Buddy Goodell must be made of India rubber the way he bounces around on the floor. We sometimes wonder if his ancestors aren't jarred.

Dr. Taintor says that was the best game he has seen at Rollins in years. Come out again, Doc, we're not through yet.

Lefty Moore hooked a couple of good baskets but the referee happened to be looking so he had to put them back.

During the Florida game Georgeanna Pickard, the hero of the tea party, almost scored the "daylights" out of Coach Hill by firing off a young cannon under him at the end of the half. Coach took no chances at the last game and sat as far away from the timer as possible. Evidently they grow watermelons in Illinois, too.

ROLLINS PLAYERS HAVE NEW BILL UNDER WAY

(Continued from page 1) has presented this season. All the plays have been carefully selected so as to give the audience a well balanced entertainment.

"Enter the Hero" is a modern comedy of a somewhat unusual theme. A direct contrast will be found in the play "Nocturne." It deals with the lives of George Sand and Chopin and is intensely dramatic. "My Lady's Lace," a costume play in a light comedy vein, will contrast with "Will o' the Wisp," a weird and emotional play which completes the program.

The plays have been well cast and some unusual characterizations are expected. Mary Hall, Gladys Wilkinson, Anne Hathaway, Louise Howes, Rosemary Conklin, Gladys Pell, Lillian Richmond, Dolores Wylie, Annie Campbell, Harriet Gleason, D. B. McKay, Sugg Hampton, Colfax Sanderson, and Ludolf Ebsen will make up the casts.

Miss Dorothea Thomas, who will play the part of George Sand in "Nocturne," is directing the plays.

GRACE FISK PLEASES WINTER PARK AUDIENCE

"I believe that the powers meet around a table to settle such differences after a war. Why, therefore, can they not meet around a table and do this before a war?

"While one nation, alone, cannot accomplish a great deal, all the nations massed together in the work for a truer civilization, would bring the great white avalanche of peace."

Then last but not least we have the world known and widely celebrated dance orchestra, the Rollins Dixie Rouges. No can sit on the sidelines while the "Blues Chasers" are strutting the stuff, 'cause the tantalizing stuff just make your feet do things you never thought of doing.

Folks, come on and join the Tickets? Just see Charlie Zoh and if you can't find him just go someone that can and go looking you do find him.

Friday night—Ernani. To take advantage of this offer students should see Harrison Co to secure a statement showing they are Rollins students. Then in person, take this to the ticket booth in the San Juan Pharmacy, Orlando, and get the tickets. They are on sale at that office every day from twelve o'clock until five.
