SPLendor OF OSCEOLA PAGEANT DRAWS LARGE CROWD

ROLLINS DAY BY DAY

PICKARD-POUND-PICKARD

Rex, you look fit sure enough; not so fat; darn if you look fifty. So you smoke to excess, and drink anything? The wrong attitude, Rex old boy, the wrong attitude.

Sorry you had to rush off again.

We believe it would be a good idea for all students and faculty to be examined for traces of Neophobia.

Some of the boys wanted to know who those fellows Town and Gown are who had a special invite to Prexy's Reception.

The boys also wonder about Chamber Music.

We heard that some "Booths" was sneaked in on crew night.

It sneaked in, but in whose inside did it sneak—that's the question.

One of the Alumni out of work, and not anxious to find any, joined his Theta Nu brothers Founders' Week.

Deducing from Dr. Slosson's address, we assume Rollins must be a store-house of pent-up human energy. We never saw much spent here.

The Parade wasn't all wet even though Mark Hopkins covered his log with a newspaper.

"One-Acts" Presented Monday by Workshop

"My Lady's Lace," "Will O' the Wisp," "Enter the Hero," and "Nocturne" are the four one-act plays which the Little Theatre Workshop of Rollins College will present on Monday, February 27, in the Recreation Hall of the college. This program includes some of the best one-act plays the Workshop will present this season and the public is assured a well-balanced entertainment.

"My Lady's Lace" is an amusing comedy with a picturesque setting. The action of the play is laid in Holland. The plot tells of the spirited daughter of a country merchant who refuses to marry the man of her father's choice. She seizes the opportunity of meeting him in disguise and eventually shows up his true character. The play is full of clever lines and the roles offer splendid opportunity for clever characterizations. Gladys Wilkinson, Rosemary Conklin, John Hampton, and Colfax Sanderson will play in "My Lady's Lace."

"Will O' the Wisp" is a play of atmosphere and superstitions. The scene is laid in a little house at the land's end on the moors. The story is woven around a selfish and wealthy poet's wife who comes to visit the place where her husband

ANIMATED MAGAZINE HAS HOST OF SUBSCRIBERS

The Rollins Animated Magazine, edited by Hamilton Holt, and published once each year, appeared on sale as a part of the Founders' Week program. The second issue of the magazine was presented at the Literary Vespers, February 19, in Winter Park.

The special contributors to this issue were such an attraction that it was necessary to utilize both the Union Congregation and First Methodist Churches to accommodate the crowd.

Edwin O. Grover, Rollins Professor of Books, is the publisher of this, the only magazine of its kind in the country. The table of contents read as follows:

Foreword—Hamilton Holt, former editor of "The Independent" and "Harper's Weekly."

The Parade (editorial)—Donald Brenham McKay, editor "The Tampa Times."

Two poems: The Word of Washington and The High Hill—Clinton Scollard, author of "Ballads, Patriotic and Romantic," "Selected Poems."

Fit, Fat and Fifty—Rex Beach, author of "The Spoilers," "The Auction Block."

Perugia—Theodore Marburg, author of "World's Money Problem," "League of Nations."

Book and Weed Win Oratorical Contest

The speaking contest held in chapel Tuesday created much applause. "Femininity Going up in Smoke" won Morris Book a decided first place, while "Up to Date in Twenty-eight" by Jannette Weed received second.

The judges pronounced a difficulty in deciding the "Honorary Mentions" who by the way were mentioned with five dollar gold pieces. They were Robert Harper, Chester McCord and Mary Race. Other in-

Senora de Palencia is Guest of College

Senora Isabel de Palencia, Spanish clubwoman, lecturer and authoress, was the guest of Rollins College during Founders' Week. The Senora spoke here under the auspices of the Institute of International Relations. She is an eminent authority on Spanish costumes, drama and customs. Among her most popular books are "Old Spanish Legends and Folklore" and Spanish Regional Costume."

This "Lady of Granada" has been delightfully entertained during her visit here in appreciation of her sketches from Spain.

ROLLINS COLLEGE GRANTS NINE HONORARY DEGREES

Convocation and granting of Honorary Degrees took place in the Congregational Church at 10:00 A. M. Monday, February 20. President Hamilton Holt had charge of the formal and impressive service.

Two addresses were given by Dr. Charles E. Jefferson and Dr. Edwin E. Slosson. Their respective subjects were "Early Rising, or Waking Up Early in Life" and "The College Student and the World of Today."

The music consisted of three selections by the Rollins Symphony and two songs by Serge Borowsky of the Rollins faculty.

Honorary Degrees were conferred as follows:

Donald Brenham McKay, Litt.D.; Alice Hegan Rice, Litt.D.; Cale Young Rice, Litt.D.; Jessie Belle Rittenhouse, Litt.D.; Edward Emery Slosson, D.Sc.; John George Gehring, D.Sc.; Charles Edward Jefferson, D.D.; James Cash Penny, LL.D.; Theodore Marburg, LL.D.

Mr. D. B. McKay is editor of The Tampa Times and mayor of Tampa.

Annual Winter Park Ball Social Success

The Annual Winter Park Ball at the Woman's Club was held Friday night, February 17. Mrs. H. W. Barnum was in charge. A full house enjoyed the program which consisted of a one-act play, and illustrated songs. The play, a delightful fairy tale, was enacted by Colfax Sanderson, Aurora McKay, Louise Howes, David Schnuck, and Russ L. Fuller.

Serge Borowsky sang the "Volga Boat Song" which was dramatized by boys from the College.

Paul Hilliard, soloist, sang two songs—"Funiculi" and "Johnny Jones and His Sister Sue." Senor

Alpha Psi Chapter of K. A. Take in Alumni

The Alpha Psi chapter of Kappa Alpha held initiatory ceremonies for ten Phi Alpha alumni at the chapter house on Friday and Saturday, February 17 and 18.

A delightful buffet supper was served, at the conclusion of the ceremony Saturday night, to the local chapter men, initiates, visiting Kappa Alphas and Phi Alpha alumni.

The ten alumni members of Alpha Psi chapter are:

Rex Beach, Robert Sedgwick, Henry Fordham, J. Dudley Calhoun, K. C. Warner, S. E. Warner, Sidney Carlson, Chas. E. Ward, Curtis Atkisson, and Raymond W. Greene.

RAIN FAILS TO DISMAY SPIRITS OF AUDIENCE

"The Winged Vision of Florida" flew by Wednesday undaunted by the hovering raindrops. "The Spirit of Courage" Episode 1 in the Historical Pageant written by Rena Sheffield and dramatized by Orpha Pope Gray, was displayed by the spectators as well as the actors.

The entire story was worked out by dance, song, and pantomime. The spirit of the past was caught and swept the people on as though in reality. The Medicine Man, the Seminole Braves and Maidens paved the way for Osceola's return. He glided by in his Phantom Ship with his good arm outstretched in blessing on his old happy hunting ground.

The Beauty of Florida in Legend and Tradition, Episodell was impressively told from the plaintive pantomime of the Cherokee rose, and the tumbling of the Hanging Moss to the dance of the water nymphs. The third episode was a chronicle of Florida's historical valor. From the pages of its golden book of history stepped Ponce de Leon, and truly he looked the spirit of eternal

Crew Night Carnival Many Colored Affair

The College Gym "Crew Night" was a scene of commotion. Cries of "Hit the nigger," "Come and see the Bow Wow show," "Right this way to see Bluebeard's Seven Wives," "Hot dogs, popcorn, peanuts," and other similar cries burst forth from the many booths. Then the lights were turned out. Upon the stage a pirate play was presented. This was followed by a song rendered by the "freakish faculty" accompanied by Prexy Holt on the flute, when he could find his mouth with his little flute.

The gala affair closed with a dance. The music was furnished by a group of negro jazz artists.

Yes, the Annual Crew Night festival has come and gone leaving behind many happy memories, and many empty pockets.

Rollins Musicians Present Program

The Rollins College School of Music presented a program of chamber music Monday night at the Congregational Church which delighted a large group of music lovers. The Bach Concerto in D Minor for two violins, played by Miss Cox and Mr. Clemens, was most beautifully done both technically and artistically. The second number was a quintette by Mozart written originally for strings and rearranged by Mr. Andrews for Flute, Oboe, two Clarinets, and Bassoon. This was a very unusual number, typical of Mozart,

Now that the stir of Founders' Week is over we will come back to the athletic question.

What is wrong with athletics at Rollins?

Rollins is the best located and prettiest college in Florida.

Rollins is one of the three colleges of Florida which are members of the Southern Association of Colleges.

How does Rollins rate in athletics?

By close observation it is found that Rollins rates fifth in athletics in Florida. Probably the reason she is given fifth place is due to the fact that there are only five colleges for men in Florida.

Students on trips home and about the state are continually embarrassed by being asked to explain the poor showing the Rollins teams make in athletics. They are continually forced to tax their brains hunting for excuses and alibis to hide the bare facts. Why should we keep on trying to deceive ourselves and others about the athletic situation here?

A group of students held a meeting to discuss this situation and the following points were brought out which throw some light on the matter.

1. There are not enough athletes enrolled in Rollins.

2. Coaches are not induced to stay long enough to enable them to accomplish anything toward building up a team.

3. Rollins is too small to abide by the rules of the S. I. A. A. and compete with other colleges.

By checking over these points we cannot help but see that the chief fault lies somewhere in the administration.

Why can't we get and keep athletes as well as non-athletes?

Why is it that we can't keep a coach more than one year?

Why should we continue to stay in an association when it is apparent we are out-classed?

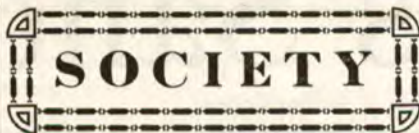

The business men and town people of Winter Park and Orlando want better athletics at Rollins.

The Alumni and students of Rollins want better athletics.

We believe that while the administration in hunting for some way to advertise and to improve Rollins they could well afford to give some consideration to improve the athletic situation.

We believe that it is a good idea to go out and offer inducements to students who have made high averages in preparatory schools but we also believe that the situation here could be smoothed out by offering inducements to promising athletes. We do not mean that these athletes should be rough necks but that they should be clean hard working boys.

When awarding scholarships it is necessary to recognize that fact that the participation in sports by ath-

CHASE HALL ADDS NEW AUTO TO LIST OF WRECKS

Saturday night Chase Hall added a brand new—in 1920—automobile to its collection. The car is a beautiful creation done in black and trimmed in orange, with a more or less rumbling rumble seat. It comes from an old and established line of motor cars and is noted for its speed and versatile characteristics.

"Bus" Tracy is the proud owner of this relic, having won it for the sum of twenty five cents at the crew night carnival. Bus does not claim that he got cheated, as yet.

When questioned early Sunday morning as to how fast she would run Bus said, "Boy, she's a wow, every time I turn a curve I meet myself coming back." And thus "Paul Revere" lives on in deed and in truth.

SOPH AND FROSH GIRLS PLAY TIE

On Friday, at the Rollins Gym, girls intra-mural basketball games, started with an evenly fought game between the sophomores and freshman teams. The score at the final whistle was 10-10.

The half ended with a one point lead for the sophomores, but at no time were the freshmen outclassed. Both teams had a good lineup.

AMONG THE FACULTY

We surely are proud of our faculty. Long live the Golden Personalities!

When asked to autograph a program, Dr. Slosson said, "This gives me an opportunity to write my newly received degree after my name."

Mr. Marburg is a dear. He is so modest and reserved—and he sent his best wishes to the Sandspur!

The faculty looked grand in their caps and gowns. They looked very wise and learned. Coach Hill tried his best and asked, "Why can't we look like G. P.s without wearing a card-board hat?"

It was so splendid to see Mr. and Mrs. Rice receive their degrees together. We are sorry to see them leave but Mrs. Rice is promised a speedy recovery in the north and they will return in the fall.

The writer of the sketches of those who received degrees knew his stuff. Fifteen rahs for the McKays!

Mrs. Grey deserves much credit for the success of the week. She has worked untiringly on school projects. We give her a vote of thanks and our sincere support.

SPEAKERS OF THE WEEK

Chapel, Wednesday, February 15, Lawrence Abbot, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, spoke on letes does not enable them to put as much time on their studies as non-athletes thereby lowering their scholastic average.

When the administration at Rollins gets behind a project as it did the Founders' Week celebration success is assured as the large crowd attending the Pageant Wednesday testified. All we ask is that a due share of consideration be given athletics.

the importance of emphasizing happiness and goodness rather than mere sensationalism for newspaper material.

Chapel, Friday, February 17th. Senora Isabel de Palencia spoke on "The Reverential Feeling for Beauty."

She believes that in addition to our industrial work in life we should each have some vocation through which we express our latent power for beauty.

She defined beauty as being all that is strong and harmonious, and ugliness as that which is mean.

BACHELLER ESSAY CONTEST FEATURES FOUNDERS' WEEK

One of the interesting features of Founders' Week was the Irving Bacheller Essay Contest, which was held at Knowles Hall on Tuesday, February 21. Dr. Holt was chairman of the afternoon.

Mr. Bacheller first stimulated this contest in 1921, and since that time it has become an annual event. The subjects deal with some phase of Florida history.

Miss Ruthjeanne Bellamy, who spoke on "Pirates of Florida Coast," was the winner of the first prize, and Mr. Kenneth Curry whose topic was "Jean Ribaut, His Personality and Achievement," won second place. Both are students of the Orlando High School. Mr. Chester R. Yates of Plant City High School, who spoke on "Territorial and Early Statehood of Florida," and Miss Nellie Kennedy who also spoke on "The Pirates of the Florida Coast," were each awarded ten dollars by the Florida Historical Society.

All the essays were deserving of much praise, in that they were exceedingly well written and very creditably presented.

After the presentation of the essays, Mr. Fred Hanna gave a short memorial talk in honor of Miss Jeannette Thurbur Connor, who was president of the Florida Historical Society before her death a year ago.

"LEFTY" MOORE CON-VALESCING

William "Lefty" Moore who has been suffering from an infection in his right leg, is again able to attend classes. The infection started a few days after the Robert-Bige Motor Company game, and in spite of the fact that his foot and ankle were inflamed and swollen, he insisted on playing against South Georgia A. and M.

Immediately after the Georgia game Lefty was ordered to keep off his foot for ten days, to prevent blood poisoning or inflammation of the bone. He is now able to hobble around with the aid of crutches but will be unable to play basketball again this season. His absence from the line-up will be greatly noticed when the Tars play Southern this week.

R. L. S. TAKES IN TWO NEW MEMBERS

The regular meeting of the Rollins Literary Society was held in the Books room of Carnegie hall Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Two new members—Stella Weston and Donna Chapman—were welcomed. The program consisted of two plays by Dunsany, "The Glittering Gate" and "The Guide to the Mist." They were read by Sarah Huey and Ethel Hahn.

EVENS TAKE WATER MEET

On February 22, at the Brewer Estate, Cole's Even war canoe lost to Hansen's Odd crew by a few feet. In the men's races Barber's Even crew won from Wallace.

Girls' doubles were: Cole and McIntosh first, Lewter and Lo Bean runners up. Mixed doubles: Cole and Russell, first; McIntosh and Abbot, second; Galloway and Barber, third. Fleet Peeples and Tracy upset Cross and Russell in the tilt ing.

MRS. HOLT ENTERTAINS

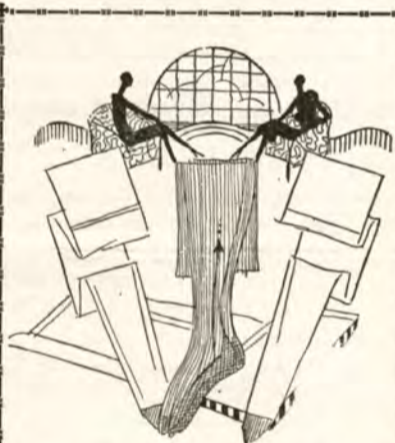

Mrs. Holt was hostess at a lovely reception held at her home Monday afternoon from four to six o'clock. All the friends of Rollins College were invited.

Refreshments of orange punch and cakes were served by girls from each sorority and from Lakeside dormitory.

DR. AND MRS. HOLT ENTERTAIN K. A.

On Friday afternoon from 4:30 to 6 President and Mrs. Hamilton Holt were hosts to members of Kappa Alpha fraternity in honor of the recent installation at Rollins of the Alpha Psi chapter.

K. E. KOMMENTS

Margaret and Ada McKay, Becky Caldwell and Louise Mathis Butler were among the alumni who came to see us during Founders' Week. We wish they could have been with us longer.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell of Sarasota, and Mr. R. Lambley called on us as well as Mr. and Mrs. D. B. McKay of Tampa.

Mrs. Hiram Powers, Mrs. H. Harris and Mrs. Enwright were our guests at an informal tea honoring Mrs. L. Osmer of Jacksonville.

Martha spent the week-end in Gainesville where she attended the Military Ball and Scabbard and Blade Ball. She was a guest at the Sigma Nu house.

SIGMA PHI SLIVERS

Sigma Phi wishes to announce as members, Harriet Gleason, Jane Folsom, Helen Massey, Elizabeth Morton, Gladys Morton, Margaret Soller, Marguerite Lo Bean, and Marjorie McMichael.

The rush of Founders' Week finds us in such a whirl that we can't think of all that is happening. We are glad to have so many alumni with us though. Dot Duttera, Eleanor Pressey, "Peg" White, Violet Sutherland, Gertrude Davies and Frances Howard.

Wasn't it a happy coincidence that Dudley Calhoun should take his vacation at the same time Pressey did?

The waffles Sunday night were even crispier than ever.

Sigma Phi is proud of its honorary degrees—Mrs. Stevenson Burke receiving the Sullivan medallion and Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice a Litt.D.

ALPHA OMEGA MURMERS

Gerry and Ginny have moved into the house at last.

There have been lots of overnight guests at the house all week. Virginia Root and Dorothy Fowles from Stetson, and Betty Wheatley, Dot Johnson and Amelia have pepped things up considerably by their presence.

Who says Margie Prince can't cook? She made Nadine a cake Saturday and judging by the rapidity with which we helped dispose of it, Marge should win a blue ribbon prize.

Margaret and Tiny drove Amelia back to Winter Haven Sunday.

Dot left us Wednesday. She is motoring back to Illinois.

Gerry and Ginny entertained their bridge club Monday evening. Marjory Prince received the high score prize of a leather pad of correspondence paper and Flora Furen the consolation prize of a hand painted georgette handkerchief.

PHI OMEGA

Well, Founders' Week is over and I guess we're all about ready for a rest. Especially is this true of Lou-lou, the wonder dog. Florence played the melancholy pup so convincingly that bruised knees and calloused hands were bound to result. Marcella must be a hard master!

We were all happy to welcome Ruth Amy Sebring, Beatrice Bass Anderson, Madeline Leinard Robinson, Gretchen Harrell Quinn, and Virginia Richardson back to the fold Alumni Day. Gretchen played hostess to the old grads Sunday noon. We do wish, though, that Ruth could have brought our youngest pledge with her.

"ONE-ACTS" PRESENTED MONDAY BY WORKSHOP

had done his best works. The outcome of the visit forms the basis of a play of intense power. Lillian Richmond will play the poet's wife. The other parts will be taken by Harriet Gleason, Connie Campbell, and Dolores Wylie.

"Enter the Hero" is a modern comedy with an entirely unique idea. The scene is laid in any average American home and the action is spontaneous and human. The plot concerns a young girl with a vivid imagination who builds a romance for herself around a man in South America who, at one time, was nice to her. By writing burning love letters to herself and sending herself flowers and an engagement ring, she had become the talk of the town. Then—"enter the hero"! The rest of the play tells in an amusing way the manner in which she got out of her "affair" with the "hero." Anne Hathaway, Gladys Pell, Louise Howes and Ludolf Ebsen have part in the play.

"Nocturne" is a dramatic play which deals with the lives of Chopin and George Sand. The scene is laid in Paris and the costumes and setting are colorful. The story tells of the great love of Chopin for George Sand and is intensely interesting and emotional. D. B. McKay will play Chopin while George Sand will be played by Dorothea Thomas. Mary Hall will have the role of George Sand's daughter.

Miss Dorothea Thomas is directing the plays.

and played with consummate skill. The Bassoon had a most difficult part and Mr. Benton deserves great credit for his work.

The Beethoven number, a quintette for Oboe, two Clarinets, Bassoon, and Piano was brilliantly done in every sense of the word. The piano part was disposed of by Mr. Andrews with the skill of a true artist.

The concluding number on the program was a Sonatina in three movements by Ravel which was arranged from the original piano composition for Flute, two Violins, Cello and Piano. This was a decidedly modern number and made a brilliant contrast and climax to the program.

DR. SLOSSON DISCUSSES LIMITATION OF LIFE

Dr. Edwin E. Slosson, author of "Creative Chemistry," spoke at the Congregational Church Tuesday evening, February 21, on "The Fall of Energy and the Rise of Man."

The program opened with two violin solos by Miss Gretchen Cox of the Rollins School of Music.

Dr. Slosson said: "Man's personality increases through external energy. Personality is expanded through the use of tools and machines which compensate for the inadequacies of nature."

"We have certain limitations placed upon us, such as the limitations of time, space, altitude, heat, climate and season, and many others. We have successfully combatted these with applied science. The last great limitation, that of ignorance, is gradually giving way under the onslaught of modern education."

"The measure of man's personality is the amount of energy he can master. Civilization is the breaking down of natural barriers through the expansion of human individuality due to the scientific control of energy. This energy may be lost or changed, but it is never destroyed. Thus our success depends upon our ability to combat energy."

"The law of energetics applies to all the acts of man. It seems as though the world is running down and that a time of equality of energy will come when effort will stop. It is a losing battle, but we must fight our best."

All the birthday cakes are gone now. There's not even a candle to be seen.

We're glad to see that Marcella and Dot are getting in touch with the "400." Ushering is also a fine way to reduce, we understand.

It seemed like the days of real sport to throw snowballs at the Woman's Club last Friday night. However, some of the girls neglected to wear their overshoes and are suffering from "la grippe" as a result. We're glad that "Prexy" withstood the bombardment all right.

Did you notice our little vamp, Dot Emerson, who invaded the stage that same evening? By the way, what does Funiculi mean? Dot won't tell!

KAPPA PHI SIGMA

Among those present at the orgy held in Recreation Hall on the evening of February the eighteenth were Eve, Helen of Troy, Queen Victoria, Lady Godiva, Carrie Nation, and lastly the charming seducer Cleopatra.

Eve looked festive beyond words, although she was partly hidden behind a palm spray. She sat quietly munching on the forbidden fruit until an elderly gentleman made a rather impudent remark for which he was duly paid with a smart twist of the ear.

Helen of Troy was perhaps the trickiest figure and was shown off to the best advantage by a metal cloth wrapper. Her silver transformation which became her severely caught the eyes of the chic.

Queen Victoria was rather conservative in dress but her grandiloquent not to say toplofting manner was always present. However she did not appear shocked by the lack of clothing of her girl friends. Her figure was not unlike that of a barrel and under a chubby arm she sported a dog far rarer than the extinct Mac—Mac bird.

Lady Godiva was mounted on a splendid animal something similar to the one that was drawn within the Trojan walls. The days of chivalry must be gone for, although the propitious winds dallied not with her hair she received attention only excelled by that of Madame DuBarry.

Carrie Nation was right present with a smart tailored costume, topped off with a girlish sailor. She gave evidences of being able to brandish her long handled hatchet with much agility.

Also the voluptuous, in her emerald scow, cast not a few tantalizing glances at the stronger sex. Needless to say the President and the Dean were captivated at once by her languishing eyes.

Paul Revere, the striking town-car that was driven from the floor, aroused no little excitement.
