ROLLINS DAY BY DAY

(PICKARD-POUND-PICKARD)

Rollins football gets to be very monotonous. We believe no publicity is far better than bum publicity.

With our "above board" policy in regard to football we can't compete even with high schools hereabouts. Why not stop trying?

If folks knew the "inside dope" about inter-collegiate football, Rollins would be admired for the stand it takes. Most folks don't know. Why should we set an example that is not an example?

To correct an evil, one must get at the root of it. The great American football farce, if corrected, must be corrected by our prominent universities.

Rollins is laughed at by Floridians because of ridiculous showings on the gridiron. Floridians associate our scholastics, Dr. Holt's ventures, and Rollins as a whole with our football teams.

The above association does much to keep the all-around type of Florida boy and Florida girl from coming here. The writers believe that next year Rollins should "get" football material or cut out the game altogether.

We hope that after their four years of social merry-go-round is over, and our present freshmen are handed degrees, they will have found time in which to get themselves a bit of an education.

If the game were to be played here we would not knock. But those taking the trip are without doubt more interested in the trip, Miami or things in Miami, than in football.

We in all probability will no longer write this column. It has been fun to see our thoughts in print and to have "pegged" a stone or two at cherished "idols."

We do hope everyone gets everyone they want. A year from now many of the boys and girls that are being catered to and sought after won't be so "hot." They will have chosen the other side.

OFFICIAL W. A. A. YEAR OPENED

On Thursday, October 29, the Woman's Athletic Association invited all girls to the first official meeting. The famous W. A. A. sextette sang the songs, the officers were introduced, and each sport head gave a brief outline of her program.

Copies of the W. A. A. song, the "R" girl, and the Rollins Pledge were distributed. Mary Hall, Mary Race, Damaris Wilson, Ginny Fisher, Mary Boyer and Harriet Pipkorn, the famous sextette lead the singing.

NEW DEVICES IMPROVE CHEMISTRY LABORATORY

Approximately $6,500.00 has been used for the purchase of additional laboratory equipment and necessary chemicals for the department of chemistry at Rollins during the past three years, according to Dr. Georgia, head of the department.

The most recent improvement was made early last week when city gas was turned on in the laboratory for the first time. Formerly the gas used for heating in the laboratory was produced from gasoline, and a special Fisher burner was used when hot flames were necessary. With the new gas a very hot flame may be produced by an ordinary Bunsen burner at a lower cost.

Among other improvements this year the most important are the addition of a saccharimeter for analyzing sugars and starches, and a multiple unit hot plate, used for evaporating. The saccharimeter, made by Bausch and Lomb, was purchased at a cost of over $500.00.

Last year a multiple unit organic combustion furnace was purchased for $200.00. Other outstanding equipment secured for the chemistry laboratory since Dr. Georgia came to Rollins three years ago, are: a Barnstead water still for distilling water; an electric drying oven; a Zeiss dipping refractometer, used for analytical work dealing with alcohol and alcoholic beverages; a new bal-

Y. W. Membership Drive Starts Next Week

The Y. W. C. A. of Rollins gathered in Cloverleaf Sunday evening, October 28, for a business meeting in preparation for the membership drive to be held next week.

After the Bible passage had been read by Lottie Turner, each officer and each member of the Y. W. C. A. Cabinet gave a brief talk on her duties.

In this way each new girl became acquainted with the ideals of Y. W. and with what the organization is doing to promote these ideals. They were brought to realize that Y. W. is a great friendship whose purpose is to develop a finer social and cultural atmosphere on the Rollins campus, yet whose purpose at the same time is for unselfish service in the social welfare field of the entire

Rollins Little Theatre Announces First Program

On Friday evening, November 9, at 8:30 the members of the Rollins Little Theatre Workshop will stage their first presentation, a group of four one-act plays. The four plays have been selected to suit every taste of the audience. Comedy galore in the first; a skit on the philosophy of love in the second; a touch of the

COLLEGE LIBRARY READY FOR FORMAL OPENING

The most noticeable improvement at Rollins during the past summer has been in the library, which has been completely remodeled and re-organized. Valuable books have also been added. The formal opening is expected to take place sometime next week and will feature by an exhibit of rare books and autographed letters by famous people. Valuable manuscripts belonging to President Holt, Professor Grover and Mr. Cummings will also be on exhibit.

The stack room has been removed to the second floor, leaving the ground floor (40x60) free to be used as a general reading and study room. A charging desk has been installed, the entrance made more attractive with swinging doors and side windows, and an inside stairway constructed to connect the reading room directly with the stack room. The walls have been calcimined and within a few days the floors are to be painted a brighter and more cheerful color. The library is also to be furnished with Windsor armchairs which are daily expected.

The library has been very fortunate in receiving as a gift the private library of Mr. Stephen D. Thaw of Harrisburg, Penn., consisting of nearly one thousand volumes. There have also been three other large contributions of books during the summer.

The total number of books now possessed by the library, not including government documents, is about 22,000.

Mrs. Maud C. Carlson, graduate of the University of Michigan, has had special training in the library school there, as well as being assistant in the University of Michigan library for the past two summers, and is the acting librarian.

Professor Grover states that the

Greek Letter Dance To Be Annual Event

The Greek letter social fraternities on the campus formally opened the season at Rollins with a dance from 8:30 to 12, at Sanlando Country Club last Saturday evening.

Approximately one hundred couples, representing the various groups and their guests, attended.

The ballroom was decorated with an effective Hallowe'en motif.

The "Six Black Eagles," booked from Sanford, gave the students just what they wanted in colorful dance music.

Refreshments of cider and doughnuts were served on the veranda.

Chaperones for the evening were: Dean and Mrs. Anderson, Dean Holmes, Dr. and Mrs. Sprague, Professor and Mrs. Jenks, Mrs. Gage and Mrs. Enwright.

By agreement of Pan-hellenic and the Inter-fraternity council, the Greek letter dance is to be established as an annual event hereafter at Rollins.

VARSITY INVADES MIAMI UNIVERSITY STRONGHOLD

In an effort to shake off the jinx tagging around since the season's opening, the Rollins Varsity, 21 strong, are invading Coral Gables, home of Miami University Hurricanes, today.

With Captain Ihrig, Warner and Graham back in harness the strongest line-up since the Stetson battle will answer the first whistle.

On paper the winner appears an uncertainty. The Tars with the experience of three games under the belt, par up with an untried Hurricane eleven.

The following players compose the Blue and Gold personnel: Gentile, Ihrig, Rashid, Goodell, Warner, Pickard, Zoller, Tracy, Burhans, Ostlund, Pickard R., Upmeyer, James, Fisher, Banks, Boney, Mosely, Reed, Pepper, Graham, and Russell.

A student caravan will be on hand to back the team.

Crippled Tars Lose Contest To Piedmont

The Rollins Tars, minus the services of Captain Chet Ihrig, fought valiantly to repeat their performance of last year with Piedmont College, but were forced to take the short end of a 13-0 score.

In the second quarter the Tars showed some of the spirit which characterized the play against Stetson last week, when they held the Georgia team for three downs on the goal line. But the Tar line, weakened by the injuries of last week's game, was unable to hold for the fourth down, and Piedmont scored.

A forward pass in the third quarter brought the other counter of the game for the visitors. The Tars struggled desperately to score but again the line proved too weak to lead the way for the backfield.

The brand of football displayed by the Piedmont aggregation was far superior to that of last year's team, both in the aerial and plunging departments.

Gee Stars As Frosh Lose To Stetson Rats

In a game replete with thrills, the Rollins Rats came out on the short end of a hard fought contest with the Baby Hatters of Stetson, 14-6.

The Stetsonites drew the first blood when they hit the line for the first marker. In the next period Palmer counted for Rollins with a "copped" pass and a 70-yard dash. Stetson came back in the third quarter with another touchdown.

The great defensive scrap of Gee for Rollins kept the fans on their feet, while Mosely of the DeLanders was outstanding for Stetson.

Tomorrow Rollins "sticks out its chin" again. Let us hope Miami does not hit it too hard.

The Sandspur

Established in 1894 with the following editorial: "Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

SYMPATHY

Such genuine union of feeling as was expressed in chapel Monday last over Miss Hughes' accident could not but strike deep.

Following Dean Anderson's official report on the three patients' conditions, Dr. Campbell gave a brief heartfelt prayer for their speedy recovery.

The whole assembly was so moved that the program was dispensed with for the day and chapel dismissed.

Mr. Chase has fully recovered now except for a few cuts and bruises. Mr. Siegal must wear a cast until his leg bone reknits. Miss Hughes, however, is still convalescing from an operation for internal injuries. All three were thrown from Miss Hughes' car when it overturned on the Wekiwa road.

Dean Anderson is giving daily official reports on the sufferers' conditions, since they are still unable to receive visitors.

Especially commendable is the spirit in which the Cloverleaf girls have accepted and shouldered their misfortune and new responsibilities.

Miss Hughes' classes in psychology also deserve mention in the way they have carried on in her forced absence.

The whole campus joins in wishing Miss Hughes, Mr. Siegal, and Mr. Chase a quick and happy recovery.

PAPER PRINTED IN 1770
READ IN JOURNALISM

The Boston Gazette and Country Journal, a weekly, covering the Boston Massacre and edited by Samuel Adams, March 12, 1770, was read in the journalism class last week.

Discussion brought to attention the manner in which big news stories were handled one hundred and fifty years ago as compared with to-day. The story was printed on the inside page without glaring headlines and treated as an editorial. Lack of paragraphing, the pompous language and the recurring use of capitals caused confusion and amusement to students in modern journalism.

This unusually well-preserved copy was loaned to the class by James Bartlett, Jr.

It won't be long now before material advantages, social prestige, keen intellects, good fellowship, etc., will be on parade. Rushing is "above board" this month.

CLEO CARNEGIE CHOOSES ROLLINS COLLEGE HOME

The little pup with the humble eyes and grateful tail plumped contentedly down at the feet of a Rollins professor. The man quietly shifted his position in order to make the little dog more comfortable, and then resumed his explanation of the class-work. The students nodded their approval at their teacher and promptly continued their study.

The small dog shuddered spasmodically in her sleep. Her nose curled and a tiny snarl escaped her twitching muzzle as a vision of her old master appeared before her. She recalled the day that her owner had dropped her in the center of a bustling city street, and then driven off at top speed. At that moment she had learned that flying dog legs and a pounding dog heart are useless commodities when pitted against the power of a racing motor car. There had followed desolate days of hunger and thirst — days when the hot pavement burned the weary pads of her feet and her tongue turned to ashes in her mouth. She had poked her dusty muzzle into this corner and that, searching vainly for water.

The little dog twitched from tail to tail as she re-lived that momentous day of days when a traffic jam had changed the entire course of life. She heard again the desperate grind of brakes; then the shattering howl which had torn from her throat as an overwhelming grief gripped her. She had crawled the curb, whimpering pitifully, one hind leg dragging limply behind her. She recalled strong hands reaching over her body and a loud voice saying: "Shoot her. That's my advice."

The little dog opened one eye and cocked it affectionately at the Rollins students don't accept that kind of advice. Instead they followed their own hearts. They brought her food and drink; they placed a soft bed on the porch. (Continued on page 5)

Lights
that Fill the

Skies with Commerce

THE air map of America is now in the making—on the ground.

Ten years ago, there were 218 miles of air mail routes with two station stops; to-day, a network of sky roads bridges the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico.

Can you imagine this growth without electricity—without illuminated airports—without trunk lines studded with electric beacons?

Men of vision are building for increasing traffic of the air. Soon, the skies will be filled with commerce.

Just as electricity is helping to conquer the air, the land, and the sea to-day, so to-morrow it will lead to greater accomplishments in aviation and in every human activity.

A majority of the beacon lights used in airport and airway illumination have been designed and manufactured by the General Electric Company, whose specialists have the benefit of a generation's experience in the solution of lighting problems.

CLOVERLEAF CHATTER

At the last meeting of the Cloverleaf girls, hall officers were elected to govern the hall, to see that all rules were properly enforced, and to decide social events. The results of the election were as follows: Lottie Turner, president; Alice Burdett, vice-president; Virginia Ralston, secretary; Anne Overstreet, treasurer; and Clementine Hall, social leader. A Hallowe'en party was planned for the dormitory girls last Wednesday night. It proved a real success.

We have a new student with us, who came last week: Bertha Michelina, from Matanzas, Cuba.

Also Anne Lupton has moved over from Lakeside to be our new proctor. We are glad to have her with us.

K. E. KOMMENTS

Kappa Epsilon entertained with a benefit bridge at the Amhurst Apartments in Orlando, Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5. Twelve tables were reserved for the guests.

Lucille Tolson was our overnight guest, Monday.

We are glad to have Virginia Davis in Winter Park again. Virginia is one of our active alumnae this year. Pet McKay spent the first part of this week in Tampa.

Frances Vallette stayed with us Sunday night.

LAKESIDE RIPPLES

Elizabeth A. Rhidey or "Zsuzso," from Budapest, arrived Wednesday to attend Rollins. She is living in Lakeside, much to our delight. Zsuzso has many accomplishments and astounds us with her versatility. Saturday evening she gave us an exhibition of Hungarian dancing. Welcome to Rollins and to Lakeside, Zsuzso!

Nadine Wright called on Lakeside Sunday morning.

Sara Huey celebrated her birthday with a party Wednesday night. Everyone had an enjoyable time. We hope someone else will have a birthday soon.

THETA KAPPA NU NOTES

Big time at the Greek letter dance! Hope we have one every year.

Bus Warner has recovered from the "Grippe" and is still wearing his now famous toothless grin.

Fred Keiser and his wife, both former students, came up for the dance.

Congratulations on your Open-House Gamma Phis. The punch was great, even though writer was limited to six glasses.

"Red" Winderweede again visited us and made his usual "big splash" on the campus. "Red" is one of these now law students at the U. of F.

Bill Rice, our demon life-saver, gave the house several pictures of himself in various poses, but later on took them all back. We don't know why. Ask him.

SIGMA PHI SEZ

Last Tuesday evening a group of girls went to Mt. Dora, where, after eating a picnic supper, they enjoyed a moon-light ride in Dr. Dickson's yacht. The party was composed of Miss Hughes, Alice Burdett, Jane Matthewson, Betty Rathborn, Mazzie Wilson, and Peg White.

Mazzie paid Jacksonville a flying trip last week, spending Tuesday night at her home, and returning Wednesday afternoon.

We were all glad to have Easy Holland spent the week-end with us at the house.

Poca spent the week-end in Orlando as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Adcott.

All the Sigma Phis were at the football game Saturday, backing the team against Piedmont.

We had a big time at the Greek letter dance and hope there will be some more like it soon.

KAPPA ALPHA BALONEY

Don Justice has been taking a course in "How to Become a Detective". Recently he wrote a testimonial to his benefactors expressing a great satisfaction at having taken the course. Don believes that he will be a success in his new undertaking. A short time ago he was able to detect running water in the house.

We have noticed that Aurora McKay the editor and a lot more to the Sandspur has a new official car. We express only one regret. The editor seems to have a weakness for red heads. We hear that there is one on the hood and usually two in the driver's seat. Official business?

We take this opportunity of lauding the various campus organizations on the successful way in which they have handled their open-houses.

ALPHA OMEGA ANTICS

Mrs. Lawrence, of Howey, visited us Friday afternoon and took Ginnie home for another week-end.

Last Tuesday Flora surprised us by cutting her long tresses. She was greeted mostly with squeals of delight but there were a few rebukes from the unbobbed.

Dot, Carol, and Lucille hiked to Orlando Saturday to win W. A. A. credits, and at their lunch on the way. In spite of their fatigue they were out for the game that afternoon.

Mrs. Kimball, Kitty's mother, came over Saturday afternoon and brought us some more good things to eat.

We were glad to have Nadine Wright of Daytona Beach with us over Saturday night.

Ellen was our A. O. hostess at the Greek letter dance.

Hazel Coley also spent Saturday night at the house and following a sizzling political argument we went to our troubled sleep.

This time it was a waffle breakfast that Mother Wheatley gave us, and we were joined by Carol, Bob, Dot, Hazel, and "Deane."

Ginnie went over to see Florence McKay who is teaching in Monteverde.

KAPPA PHI SIGMA

Last week Stillman and Cobb flivvered over to Daytona Beach to see if the Atlantic was still there. It was, so they celebrated with a dip and a little surf-riding.

We are sure everyone enjoyed himself at the dance. Although orchestral prospects looked a little dark, they soon showed themselves to be "ready for any emergency."

Sunday past-meridian, Ronald put a nickel in his Phord and took some of the gang over to Cocoa Beach. After sporting in the element to satisfaction they were just too surprised to see a fish cantering up to the beach. Hastily organizing they gave chase. The fish eluded the would-be captors several times before he became exhausted. The triumphant pursuers decided he belonged to the genius Gustavus Adolphus, inserted him in a coffee can and brought him home. Now the profs are trying to decide what kind of an animal this is that has fins, legs and whiskers.

Rodman's father and mother came down Sunday afternoon and had dinner with him. Later, they called at the house.

CHASE HALL CHATTER

It is rumored that Coach Berry locks his door at night, after listening to a half-hour discussion of the fates of former proctors.

Chase Hall is slowly recovering from the shock of our open-house. It begins to look more like home.

Since Mr. Russ has heard of the new ruling concerning mattresses at Rollins, he has decided to run for mayor of Orlando.

Levitt forgot which leg to limp on. Practice makes perfect, kid.

Chase Hall is proud of its industrious football managers.

Mitchell and Sinclair missed a wonderful chance to exhibit their new tuxedos the other night at the fraternity dance.

Registration for membership will take place in the Y. W. room at Cloverleaf from 3:30 to 5:30 on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons. At this time each new member will give her first and second choices for the committees she prefers to work on. The committees are: Music, Social Welfare, Program, Publicity, and Social.

A joint meeting of the Y. W. and Y. M. will be held in Knowles Hall next Sunday evening, November 4. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

COLLEGE LIBRARY READY FOR FORMAL OPENING

increased use of the library this year has already more than justified the changes that have been made.

The library is open daily from 8:30 a. m. to 9:45 p. m., including the noon hour, except Sunday, when it is open from two to five in the afternoon for reading only.

If you know anybody who possesses a library, or even a few books, for which they have no further use, start a little propaganda for Rollins and suggest that they could be put to no better purpose than to be presented to our library.

LECTURE PROGRAM TO BE RESUMED SOON

The Rollins College Lecture Course Committee of which Dr. Charles A. Campbell is chairman, is now arranging the details of the series to be presented in Winter Park during the coming season. As heretofore the various events will be given, by courtesy of the pastor and Board of Trustees, in the First Congregational Church.

The initial offering will be a program of varied music under the direction of Dr. Clarence Nice of the School of Music on Tuesday evening, November 13th. The first lecture in the series will be given by Dr. Herman F. Harris, professor of English, while later on Professor Edwin O. Grover, Joseph S. Bruno, Robert J. Sprague and others will be heard. An outstanding speaker soon to appear is Dr. George Kartzke, Specialist in the Department of Education of the University of Berlin who arrives in America next week. He comes to this country under the auspices of the Institute of International Education to study the changes taking place in American Academic programs and principles. Dr. Kartzke is well known in College circles having served for eight years as Exchange Professor at Yale University. He is a man of versatility and of charm, speaks English fluently and is regarded as one of the outstanding scholars of Germany. He is to be the guest of the College for a number of days and will give the lecture on Tuesday evening, December 11th. He will probably speak on "The Youth Movement."

The speakers for the period following the Christmas holidays have not been definitely assigned but it is understood that many men of national and international prestige are to be heard.

As was the case last year, the musical prelude, always a delightful feature of the evening program, will be continued through the generous co-operation of the School of Music.

The Tuesday evening lectures have come to be recognized as a conspicuous and valuable cultural contribution freely made by the College on behalf of both the faculty and students on the one hand and the community on the other. Probably nowhere in America in a college town is there a larger response to such a provision for the benefit of all the people. The committee for the ensuing year consists of the following: Dr. Charles A. Campbell, Chairman, Mr. Irving Bacheller, Mr. Herman F. Siewert, Dr. Helen Wieand Cole and Mr. A. J. Hanna.

ABBREVIATED

"Aunt Dinah, what are the names of your twin children?" asked a caller.

Aunt Dinah swelled with pride. "De boys' name am Alphabet, an' de girl's name am Alphabette," she said.

"Could I see them?"
"Yas'm, I'll call 'em," said Dinah and shuffling to the door, she called, "Alfalfa, Oh! Alfalfa!"—Howard Crimson.

Famous last words:
"I am representing the Blah-Blah Aluminum Co., and—"
"Sorry. Can't come. Love."
"Sorry, but I bummed this one."
"My goodness, grandmother, what large teeth you have."
"Thank you, dean."
"If there are no more announcements, chapel will be dismissed."
"No!!!!"

Professor: "Yes, I did call for you, but I can't remember just why."
Plumber: "Oh, that's all right. I forgot my tools anyway."

DISTRACTIONS

She's beautiful! Could she be kissed? She does not know that I exist! If we were introduced . . . but how? Oh, never mind; she sees me now! Such pinkly painted cheeks! Her hair!

She comes! She brings the Bill of Fare.

Her arms . . . I wonder, would she pet?

"Has any one got your order yet? She has a Siren's silver voice:

"Veal, lamb, steak, liver—take your choice."

A glimpse of silk on slender legs—"You say you want some ham and eggs?"

I'd also like another smile—"You asked for two fried eggs. What style?"

Or leave a kiss but in the cup—"All right, you want them fried straight up."

Who ever saw a cheek so pink? A neck—"And what'll you have to drink?"

I never knew before of silk So smooth—"Well, we have butter milk."

A skirt just meeting hosiery—"No coffee? Oh, you want hot tea."

It seems that I can not avert My eyes—"And how about dessert?"

What silly questions! I shall dream Of you tonight. "Peach pie? Vanilla cream?"

But may I pay you homage, dear? "Will that be all? You pay the cashier." —Tampa Tribune

ROLLINS CELEBRATES

Instead of going to Fez in Morocco, Mr. Gerald Barry, the well-known English portrait painter, has come to Rollins for three months. Mr. Barry does not like to be interviewed as to his past history or present plans; however, as long as he isn't described as drunkard or gambler, he will acquiesce to any nom-de-plume be it a second Leonardo Da Vinci or better still the new friend of Rollins.

In the old museum in Knowles he has his studio and there already he has met and talked with many students interested not only in portrait painting but in the essentials of art study which lead up to it.

Mr. Barry is another of the great men who consider the lecture system of education to be all wrong. He thinks it is like pouring water in a sieve to merely instruct students to reproduce something. Creation not reproduction is his keyword. He says "Art ceases when creation ceases."

When Mr. Barry was only 12 years of age he received the Taylor scholarship for the finest picture painted by an artist under twenty-five years of age. After that he studied in Paris under Carolous Gerard, famous portrait painter and master of John Sargent. He also studied with Bourgeois in the Julien Studio. Since then he has had exhibitions at various times in the Royal Academy of England and at the Paris Salon.

His own principal studios are in Cannes in the south of France and in Washington, D. C., but he says he has "barns" all over the world where he just enjoys painting as he pleases.

Although he has painted many well-known men and women such as Lady Hadfield, Lord Barrymore, Lady Beatty, wife of Admiral Beatty in England and among other Europeans, Nicholas, ex-czar of Russia, Mr. Barry likes particularly to study and paint the American type of man well along in life, and also the young American girl. He has in America been friend of and painted Theodore Roosevelt; also former Secretary of War Luke Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Coolidge and sons of Boston, former Secretary of Navy Myer, Mr. and Mrs. George Pullman of Chicago, President Ripley of the Santa Fe Railway, President Sproul of the Southern Pacific, Governor Dole of the Hawaiian Islands and many others.

In speaking of portrait painting, Mr. Barry says, "One of the chief essentials for a successful portrait is harmony between sitter and painter. As delight is the soul of all art it is difficult to make a creation in anything without it." And that is where he feels portrait painting can be boring, when the painter cannot have this delight in some subject, or where there is discordant feeling in the air.

But Mr. Barry does not let himself be bored, he gets delight in all forms of art. As I looked at some of his sketches of New England with their little back ponds and their brilliant autumn leaves, I grew homesick. These sketches he makes are his memories he says. Little Indian children playing around their pueblos in New Mexico, Japanese pagodas, scenes in sunny France — all incidents of the past which he can carry with him.

And now Mr. Barry is at Rollins. We hope that when he goes on to Morocco he may have had many more interesting memories created by living here with us.

ROLLINS COLLEGE HOME

Lakeside dormitory for her. They had groomed her and loved her till her coat lost its rusty appearance and began to glisten again. Her ears had forsaken their bedraggled droop and her eyes their melancholy. Now those eyes beamed gratefully upon all her Rollins friends.

She wiggled happily as she recalled the latest honor which had come her way. After various conferences, she had been christened Cleo Carnegie and now a beautiful collar with her name engraved thereon circles her proud neck. It was the name and collar which convinced her of her own identity. She was no longer a dog-without-a-country, but had been duly adopted and initiated into the society of selected Rollins students. Now she had for her friends the great golden personalities, even Prexy Holt, and now after two weeks at Rollins College, she had come to the conclusion that "Learning is love" — at least at Rollins.

The notes of a bugle roused the little dog from her meditations, and with a cavernous yawn, she jumped to her feet and ambled out the door. It was chapel time, and she must not be late for the announcements.

"What is the difference between a man with black hair and a man that is bald?"

The answer is simple. The one is crow-shade, the other is knit!

As yet we've never heard anyone complaining about his parachute not opening.

He: Which are your favorite movie actors?

She: Lon Chaney.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

"Yep, them was the good old days. No use talking. Them was the days before built-in furnaces in Florida, and before our lily youth was ruined by the influx of Georgia women during the 'boom.'"

Uncle Dudley was being interviewed by the campus archeologist at his home in Ybor City, where he has resided since his graduation in 1893. Known as a great horse and dog specialist all over the South, Uncle Dudley, whose greatest work is his recent study on the properties of Mississippi Mud, was very active when at Rollins, too. He received the degree of A. B.

"I say, Unk, was the campus as dark o' nights then as it is now?"

"Yep, sonny, only we had more moonlight. But it didn't do us boys no good. If you'll read a catalogue of about '93 you'll see something like this: Gentlemen may call upon ladies in the reception room of the ladies' cottage on Friday evenings. Take that, thank you."

"The college was real big in those days. I remember a time when there was one sophomore, one junior, and two seniors in the college course, though there were plenty of sandy-shoed academy students."

"How much did they soak you in those days, Unk?"

"Lord, son, how can I remember all those things; I was forty when I graduated. Look 'em up in a catalogue."

Digging deep into the archives of the Rollins library, the following was unearthed. In '93 students paid a hundred eighty-one dollars for a year's tuition, room and board. Now it costs six hundred. Oh, yes, and laundry was done at cost rates.

The following is culled from the chapter on discipline in the '93 catalogue:

The object of the school's discipline is to protect the students from temptation and bad habits. He (the student) must abstain from the use of intoxicating drinks, and from the use of tobacco within the college campus. He must avoid all forms of gambling, and must not loiter at billiard saloons or similar places of resort.

Use the Telephone

Toreador—"Ah, senorita, tonight I will steal beneath your window and sing you a sweet serenade."

She—"Do, and I will drop you a flower."

"Ah, in a moment of mad love?"

"No, in a flower pot."

For which she didn't care,
She cut the wool from off its back,
And now it is a little bare.

Sugg sez: "Girls I'd swim out as far as I could but it would look like I'm trying to show off and besides I don't know how I'd get back!"

It was quite a vehicle marriage. Now this title none could reproach. For she was a girl of fine carriage. And he was the high-school coach.

STUDENTS!

My original bid, made and accepted by your committee last May, stands and is still good:

Two Photos for the Tomokan - - - - - $1.00

One dozen Portraits from these plates - - - 5.00

This verbal agreement, made in good faith and accepted, was evidently ignored after the opening of college—my bid being known it was easy enough for someone else to offer to do the work for slightly less, and I was not given an opportunity to meet that bid.

I leave the fairness of this transaction to your good judgment.

Oxford Gray is again favored on the leading college campuses and Midnight Blue is a close second.

Perhaps college men have taken to this conservative type of suit as a reaction against the flashy apparel so common on the campus. Oxford Gray has the advantage, of course, of setting off bright colored furnishings to better advantage, and college men have made the most of it.

Let us show you some of these new suits. We know you will like the style, and the price is what you would expect to pay.
