ROLLINS DAY BY DAY

We pause for a moment during our final exam—what's that? Oh, all right, Chief, excuse me. The editor says I may not use that word. So we pause during our tests (not final ones by any chance) and attempt to write this column.

Now here is what Mr. Webster has to say on the subject in his book.

1. Examination—Act of examining or state of being examined. A process prescribed or assigned for testing qualifications.
2. Test—to examine or try.
3. Quiz—Examination of a class of pupils, to examine or instruct by quiz. And he gives us a synonym, ridicule, which, when one looks at the three separate definitions, is not so bad.

Let's see now, we pause during our ridicule—no that doesn't sound right.

How does this thing go anyway? If to examine is to test and to test is to examine and to quiz is to ridicule, then it looks as if our dear instructors were trying to make us ridiculous. Most of us don't need any help from them, tho' some of them set good examples.

It isn't that we mind so much being examined, tested, quizzed, ridiculed or what have you, but when people tell us what a soft time we have as compared to the "old days when we had two hour exams," well, that hurts.

It has been said that "we propose to make knowledge and not marks the aim of the student" and yet the arrangements referred to above are to "determine the final marks"—oh well, this is supposed to be a funny column and we are running out of other material.

"The Swan" Postponed To Evening Of April 5

A change in the date of the presentation of "The Swan" by the Rollins Players has been announced by Miss Dorothea Thomas, director of the Little Theatre Workshop.

March 30 was the date originally announced but present plans call for the presentation one week later, on the evening of April 5, at the usual hour of eight-thirty.

Rehearsals are already well under way, the scenery and costumes have been designed, and general advance work indicate that "The Swan" will probably be the most finished production the Rollins Players have ever presented.

The cast has been announced as follows:

Princess Beatrice, Helen Cavanaugh; Symphorosa, her sister, Elsie Braun; Hyacinth, her brother, Colfax Sanderson; Alexandra, her daughter, Dorothea Thomas; George and Arsen, sons of Princess Beatrice Stanley Schmeltzer and Russ Fuller;

MRS. RAYMOND ROBBINS GIVES EVENING LECTURE

Mrs. Raymond Robins, international authority on world labor problems, Tuesday night in the Congregational church addressed the Rollins College Tuesday evening lecture audience on the more hopeful aspects of the American labor situation.

Though Mrs. Robins is a member of an influential Brooklyn family, she and Mr. Robins lived for 20 years on the top floor of a tenement house in the Chicago sweatshop district near her friend Jane Addams. At the beginning of their residence among the 70,000 workers, 80 per cent of the grade school graduates were not able to enter high school because their families needed their meagre earnings. At the end of this period, 50 per cent entered colleges and universities. Mrs. Robins from this and other illustrations proved that in America there is always hope for the betterment of labor conditions.

Raymond Robins, husband of the speaker, is an international authority on economic and social readjustment.

Gamma Phi's Challenge Sigma Phi To Baseball

One of the most interesting and humorous events of the athletic season will occur next week when the Sigma Phi sorority will meet the challenge of the Gamma Phi Betas to a baseball game.

Both teams have started intensive training and it is feared that this hotly contested match will end in a tie. Players like Fisher, Frankie Arnold, Peanuts Hall, Murf Race, Beach, Wilson, Lewter, the Morton sisters and H. Pipkorn should make this game exciting. Misses Moore and Jackson have not as yet decided what position they will fill.

Count Sforza Tells Wesleyan Of Rollins

Count Sforza, the internationally renowned Italian statesman, was a recent visitor at Rollins for two weeks during which time he gave a series of lectures, visited classes and investigated the two hour system being used here.

He is now at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Connecticut. In speaking of his "Impressions of American Universities" there, Count Sforza spoke enthusiastically of Rollins. He described in detail the life and spirit of Rollins as he found it.

He said: "I have seen beautiful colleges, but too set, too crystallized; I have seen daring, captivating experiments, as in Madison, Wisconsin. But the mental creation of new generations is too sacred a thing for temerarious testings. The ideal is not to be afraid of new methods, but on condition they are based on certain eternal pedagogical axioms as they

NOTED EDUCATOR PAYS VISIT TO ROLLINS

Dr. Frank B. Trotter, former president of West Virginia University, visited Rollins during the past week.

As president of this institution for over fourteen years Dr. Trotter succeeded in making West Virginia University one of the leading schools in the East.

It is interesting to note what ideas the leader of such a school of higher learning has in common with our own president, Dr. Hamilton Holt. In the first place, strange to say, Dr. Trotter agrees that enrollment at colleges should be limited. He thinks that there should be fewer students and more personal directors, especially for freshmen and sophomores. He concedes that the lecture system should be practically abolished. Finally, the visiting educator believes in class discussion and informal questioning, or, in other words, the conference plan.

A novel suggestion by Dr. Trotter is that an institution have two faculties. One should direct and supervise the undergraduates. These instructors would have real teaching ability and the natural love for this work. The second faculty would direct the research work of upperclassmen and conduct seminar courses. Only to the second group would lectures be given and to them only as necessitated.

Eight Students Receive Rollins Honorary Key

Monday afternoon, March 20, the Rollins Key, honorary scholastic and activity society, met at the Kappa Alpha house to formally initiate eight new members.

Eligibility to this honorary group requires a scholastic average of B and outstanding participation in campus activities. There are seventeen active members this year.

Those students who had keys conferred at this meeting are: Clara Adolfs, Sid Chase, Robert Sprague, Ernest Zoller, Harrison Cobb, Anita Cross, Flora Furen and Cloyde Russell.

After the formal session the afternoon was spent in social informality. Refreshments were served.

The officers of this organization are: Ross Robertson, president; Mary Virginia Fisher, vice-president; and Iverne Galloway, secretary-treasurer. Professor Weinberg is faculty advisor.

Kappa Phi Sig's Celebrate Opening Of New Home

Kappa Phi Sigma fraternity Monday evening entertained faculty, students and friends of Rollins at the opening of their new chapter house at 434 Virginia Court.

Those in the receiving line were Professor E. O. Grover, faculty advisor of the fraternity, Miss Lida

STATESMANSHIP INSTITUTE OPENS MONDAY

The first session of the Rollins Institute of Statesmanship, which has been made possible through the generosity of former Congressman Cornelius A. Pugsley of Peekskill, N. Y., opens on Monday, March 25.

The subject for discussion is to be, "The Future of Party Government in the United States." All of its different aspects are to be considered.

The aim of the Institute of Statesmanship is to bring together men and women from various walks of life who can discuss serious problems in a constructive manner. Its meetings will serve to stimulate and direct the growing public interest in broad questions of national and international policy. And they will provide a forum for an interchange of opinion which should do much to forward the solution of the public problems under discussion.

The work of the Institute will be carried on through evening lectures, Round Table groups, and open conferences.

Topics and leaders for the Round Table Conferences have been arranged as follows:

1. Party Development and Methods—Harold R. Bruce, Ph.D., Professor of Politics, Dartmouth College.
2. Political Trends in the South—J. G. de Rouillac Hamilton, Ph.D., Professor of History and Government, University of North Carolina.
3. Possibilities of Party Re-alignment—Thomas H. Reed, Ph. D., Professor of Political Science, University of Michigan.

Faculty Falls Before Campus Champs Charge

On Tuesday afternoon the male members of the faculty were taught a lesson by the Juniors, in the art of handling a baseball. The winners handed out an afternoon of true and false situations that completely befuddled the masters of education. Score Juniors 21—Faculty 2.

The faculty did not show the form that they displayed in defeating the seniors last year. It was noticeable that the older athletes are not keeping strict training. Capt. Bailey in an interview with newspaper men stated that his players were not disheartened by this defeat, and added that they expect to turn the tide in their next game.

The writer suggests that instead of throwing tests at the students that the faculty throw a baseball around for the much needed practice.

It may be interesting to the student body to know that the men who made up the defeated team, were in their college days fine ball players. To those who saw the Junior-Faculty game it was evident that the professors had in the days gone by played an excellent game of ball. There is still a trace of fine diamond form in their play. We hope to see

The Sandspur

Established in 1894 with the following editorial: "Unassuming yet mighty, sharp and pointed, well-rounded yet many-sided, assiduously tenacious, yet as gritty and energetic as its name implies, victorious in single combat and therefore without a peer, wonderfully attractive and extensive in circulation; all these will be found upon investigation to be among the extraordinary qualities of The Sandspur."

Notice any difference in the student body this week?

How gratifying it must be to the faculty to meet a dreamy-eyed, physically alert class and devotedly put them through their paces—the paces they have spent the last three months so efficiently instilling.

And who can measure the immeasurable satisfaction of the modern disciples in revealing how faithfully they have imbibed their teaching?

Therefore let us confine our summary to the conceivable accomplishments of this stimulating week we have just passed through together.

Professors are now the enviable possessors of real and irrefutable disclosures of their individual students' ability to come to class and give the most creditable account of themselves of which they are capable after a twelve hour evening of vigil over the various books and notebooks to be used in the following days examinations. Of course at Rollins these quizzes are mere chasers and are not serious at all because the professors here have a very good idea of how much we know of the subject after swapping lectures with us on the topic every other day.

But then being so young and foolish the students give way to obsolete instincts and like all their predecessors celebrate the old cramming custom. All of which puts their eyes in the very pink of condition and fills them with exuberance for the coming day.

And then, too, we take the very rational stand here at Rollins that it would be unjust to ourselves to overestimate our intelligence or information on any topic by grading as highly as the average college does.

The only thing we're sorry for is that our parents can't all go to college here because they don't seem to appreciate what we are striving for. Being old fashioned and material they take grades too seriously.

Professor Edwin O. Grover, in the February issue of the Journal of the National Educational Association, was ranked first by readers who are classroom teachers, principals and superintendents, throughout the country.

R. L. S. REVIEWS "ORLANDO" PLANS ORIGINAL VOLUME

The Rollins Literary Society held a regular meeting last Friday evening, March 15, at which the unusual novel, "Orlando" was reviewed by Eleanor Krouse.

"Orlando" deals with a young man of the 16th century, and carries his life on through to the year 1930. During this time he becomes a woman and has many other improbable experiences. However, as this book contains that quality known as verisimilitude, the impossible events of the book appear perfectly plausible and not at all incongruous.

Plans were presented at this meeting for the gathering of material from the members of R. L. S. for a volume of creative writing. It is expected that this book of original work will be ready by June.

GAMMA PHI BETA HONORS NATIONAL OFFICERS

Alpha Mu of Gamma Phi Beta entertained in honor of its National officers, Mrs. Elizabeth Davidson Barbour, Grand President, and Miss Emma Lowd, past Grand President and present Director of Province One, and its new members, Virginia Ralston, Harriet Van Dame, Margaret Chapman, Grace Cardwell, Alice Kretsinger, and Frances Arnold, Saturday evening at the Grey House.

Pink carnations and fern were banked down the middle of the table. Every place was marked by a St. Patrick place card and a small green flag. Harriet Pipkorn acted as toast mistress. Ione Pope gave the welcoming address and Stella Weston and Dot Emerson gave several of their poems. The program was rather informal, the Sorority songs being sung between courses.

Mrs. Barbour and Miss Lowd received corsages of sweet peas and the new members received small corsages of pansies and sweet peas. Harriet Pipkorn read telegrams of congratulations to the new members from the alumni and friends of the chapter.

Alumni of Gamma Phi present were Mrs. Clark Jennings, Orlando, Alice Briggs, Lake Wales, Mary Sheppard, Melbourne, Marion McCutcheon, Winter Haven, and Mrs. Ruby Warren Newby and Miss Helen Moore of the Rollins faculty.

has appeared with pronounced success on many programs in Winter Park and vicinity during the last weeks.

On Wednesday at chapel the Rollins String Quartette, composed of members of the Rollins Conservatory of Music, played several numbers and Lillian Eldridge, contralto, was heard in two solos. The program of the Wednesday Musical Club, Orlando, was this week again in charge of Clarence C. Nice, director of the Rollins College Conservatory of Music. The instrumental numbers were given by members of the faculty. H. Meyer Shader and Lillian Eldridge contributed a group of vocal selections, accompanied by Emilie Sellers.

At Clairmont a musical was given on Tuesday night by Gretchen Cox, violinist, Rudolph Fisher, cellist, and Hazel Darlington, soprano. Marion Bovington appeared in several dances. All the artists were accompanied by Emilie Sellers. Last Sunday Herman Siewert, instructor of organ at Rollins College Conservatory of Music, gave an organ recital at the Municipal Auditorium, Orlando. Three of the outstanding numbers were: Liebestod from Tristan and Isolde, Wagner; Pomp and Circumstance, Elgar; and a Medley of Southern Airs, Hawk. He has been engaged to play at the University of Gainesville, next Sunday, March 24.

DUKES CLUB GIVES DANCE AT ALOMA COUNTRY CLUB

Last Friday night the Dukes were hosts to their friends for a very enjoyable evening, when they entertained with a dance at Aloma Country Club. The Club rooms were attractively decorated with ferns and potted plants. Dean and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Forbes were the chaperones.

The music was furnished by Bill Rice's "Rollins Dixie Rogues."

GENERAL PERSHING DRESSY SAYS BULLARD

In chapel last week Major-General Bullard gave a short talk on General Pershing, continuing his discussion of famous war characters.

General Pershing, the outstanding American World War leader, was a fellow-cadet of Bullard's while at West Point. As long as General Bullard has known Pershing he has always been immaculate and dressy. Pershing always said that one must first make a good impression by his dress. People judge you by your appearance.

K. E. KOMMENTS

We were very glad to have Mrs. Barbour and Miss Lowd down at the house awhile Monday.

Pet made a flying visit to Tampa last Saturday.

Our inspection committee reports some interesting discoveries at the celebration Monday night.

Edna and Elizabeth were with us for the week-end.

Margaret and Ida McKay drove up from Tampa on Friday. It's good to see Margaret well again, and have her back when we get all our McKays together.

GAMMA PHI BETA

We enjoyed having Mrs. Barbour and Miss Lowd with us during initiation. We greatly appreciate the honor of their presence and hope that they may visit us again soon.

Alpha Mu of Gamma Phi Beta takes great pleasure in announcing Frances Arnold, Virginia Ralston, Harriet Van Dame, Grace Cardwell, Alice Kretsinger and Margaret Chapman as members.

Alice Briggs, Marion McCutcheon, Mary Shepard and Florence McKay were with us over the week-end.

If we started to write every thing that has happened since last Thursday we would have to lease the Reporter Star for a week. Therefore, all we can report is the busiest time since last June.

Mrs. Picton T. Warlow and Mrs. James N. Wright were hostesses at a garden tea Sunday afternoon from four to six at Mrs. Warlow's home honoring Mrs. Elizabeth Davidson Barbour, Grand President of Gamma Phi Beta and Miss Emma Lowd, past Grand President and Director of Province One, who recently visited Alpha Mu Chapter at Rollins.

Tea was served in the garden by the members, Mrs. Warlow and Mrs. Wright pouring. The Rollins Trio, consisting of Frances Valette, Grace Cardwell and Mary Boyer played throughout the afternoon.

Alumni of Gamma Phi of Orlando, the faculty of Rollins, patronesses of Alpha Mu and their husbands and the fraternities on campus were invited to meet Mrs. Barbour and Miss Lowd.

Miss Loretta Salmon entertained the members of Gamma Phi Beta honoring Mrs. Barbour and Miss Lowd with a buffet supper at her home on Interlachen Ave., Sunday evening at eight o'clock. The living room and porch were opened en suite and were decorated with spring flowers.

CLOVERLEAF CAUSERIE

Now that the last term and spring are upon us and such dangerous chill-chasers as grate and furnace fires and electric heaters are no longer needed, Cloverleaf is getting all "het up" with fire drills.

The sound of the siren is likely to pierce the silence of the night at any time now and set the girls to tumbling out of bed and down to the protecting arms of Fire Chief Peanuts.

Such a precautionary measure as testing the fire escapes ended with a bang as Al Rashid's graceful descent was suddenly checked by the ground or was it the sidewalk, Al?

LAKESIDE RIPPLES

Congratulations Sigma Phi. "The Cradle Song" was lovely and you all proved yourselves able actresses.

Mr. and Mrs. Bingham and Mrs. Savacoal motored to Mountain Lake Sunday.

Peg spent the week-end in Mount Dora.

Verna is spending the week in Tampa. Lucky girl!

The Fire Drill's the thing now! We think Dickson Ives and Yowell Drews would make a fortune, were they to place slogans around the vicinity of Winter Park, "How to be attractive in emergencies. See the latest fire drill costumes displayed in our shop windows."

Helen Carr has been chosen as our Fire Captain. Ling Nyi, Dorothy Davis and Cecile Piltz are the lieutenants. We feel quite safe with such a crew of able firemen.

ALPHA OMEGA

Kitty had a birthday last Tuesday and she isn't going to have any more of them, so you can guess how old she is. She had a perfectly luscious cake and served ice cream and candies with it.

Ginnie found out more about herself since she read the Sandspur than she ever knew before. Anybody desiring any secrets concerning Boots Weston, call on Ginnie and she'll "divulge" the dirt.

All those with sprained ankles call on Glad and Lib Morton. Kitty can testify as to the quality of their service as stretcher-bearers.

Verna has moved into the House, all by herself, but Mary will soon follow.

Can you imagine anybody finishing her work in time to take a vacation the last week of the term. Well, that's what Verna did, and she is spending this week at her home in Tampa.

Ruth made a flying visit to St. Pete last week-end.

We are anticipating a visit from Jerry Lawrence this week—plus cake and candy—at least Ginnie said she might bring some.

THETA KAPPA NU BRIDGE

Theta Kappa Nu fraternity entertained Wednesday evening with a cabaret bridge party at the Woman's Club of Winter Park.

Following several progressions of bridge, prizes were awarded to Camille Beach, holder of the ladies high score and Mrs. Bremmer, holder of low score. The prize for high score was a painting by Mrs. Ruby Newby and that for low score a box of French stationery.

Among the men, Walter Steven received a double deck of playing cards for high score and Ozzie Harris a box of chintz matches for low score. The cut prize, a box of modernistic stationery, was awarded Estelle Pipkorn.

After the playing, Robert Burhans gave a group of monologues and Frank Abbott and Joe Jones a vaudeville skit entitled "Sense and Nonsense." Harry Marshall sang several selections with ukelele accompaniment.

The club room was decorated with calendulas, palms, bamboo and larkspur.

KAPPA ALPHA

Hello everybody. We announce as our pop-corn eating champion, Robert Beauchamp Proctor, 137 lbs., of Charlotte, N. C. Bob challenges anyone to a pop-corn eating contest. The champion has been in training for some time. He recently gave an exhibition of his ability by stowing away six boxes of the famous Peerless corn (not advertising) at one sitting. This was at the expense of Zoller and Rashid.

While we are in the challenging mood we suggest another playground ball tournament, such as we had last year. We hope that all the organizations on the campus will accept this challenge and join the fun. Will the faculty get together to see if they can do to us what they did to the Seniors last year?

We wish to congratulate the Sigma Phi sorority on the success of their play last Friday evening.

KAPPA PHI SIGMA

News this week consists of the grand rush to get the house in order for open house, and the grand rush to tear it up again afterwards.

It was estimated that if every person who believed the house was always as clean as it was Monday night were laid end to end, they would reach ten feet.

The K. E.'s seemed to enjoy opening closets and letting things fall out of them.

And bids are in order for the vanity dresser in the southeast room.

Several late arrivals at breakfast were caused by tardily awarded searches for various articles of clothing.

CHASE HALL NOTES

Perhaps you have already noticed that mosquitoes are with us again. All of us from the frozen north thought we knew what real mosquitoes were, but the Florida ones are unequalled for size and perseverance. There is an old story about New Jersey mosquitoes. A workman took refuge inside a large section of iron pipe, but the ferocious mosquitoes settled on the outside and commenced to hammer their way to the victim. As their bills came through the pipe, the workman clinched them over with his hammer. The mosquitoes in their efforts to get loose, rose with the pipe into the air and flew off. Seeing himself in the air; the workman began unclenching the bills, and slowly his improvised magic carpet settled to earth. It landed in Florida, and the mosquitoes, invigorated by the healthful climate, grew to unusual size and strength. Doubtless the one you felt last night was a direct descendant of one of the original immigrants.

Tuesday, March 26th, begins this five-day celebration... six months have gone into the planning of it. Every department in the store will offer extraordinary values in fine merchandise, and every friend of the store is invited to participate.

WE HAVE WITH US—SENIORS

HARRY JAMES

There was a "crack" in the last Sandspur about not being able to imagine the James boys driving around in a collegiate Ford. However, most people wouldn't be so put out if they happened to own a perfectly good LaSalle! Who wants to run a Ford if he had the choice—one might ask?

Harry James besides playing around in the above mentioned car has several very real things to his credit in life. Before coming to Rollins he went to the Collegiate School (a very old prep school in New York City) and to Williams. At Williams he was president of his class both freshman and sophomore years. He was a member of both football and basketball teams freshman year—and also was on the Student Council and a member of the Honor System committee. Furthermore he was a Deke!!

Harry has played basketball for Rollins and this year he says he sings like unto the sparrow—hence his membership in the Glee Club.

In preparation for being a diplomat Count Sforza evidently gave him a little assistance. Anyway whether the Count rushed Harry or Harry rushed the Count, they seemed to get along very well together.

Furthermore, as a very real step towards international relationship, Harry has been awarded one of the five foreign scholarships offered and will very likely be a student in Switzerland next year.

Another thing that the James are famous for in their world. Someone said—"they go right ahead as if they were out to conquer the world." Success to all conquerors—say we! And with his quiet courtesy and unfailing good humor Harry can add much wherever he may go.

General Bullard said, "It is impossible to decide whether General Pershing's attitude was for his own personal satisfaction or for his many admirers. It is true that Pershing enjoyed the society of the ladies and has always been popular with them as well as with men. In fact he catered more to the ladies than to the men.

By leaving early you give others someone to talk about.

ANNA MARGARET JAMES

Before "Polka" was the soloist in the Episcopal choir at Winter Park she graced Virginia Intermont and Converse College with her presence. Furthermore, when Polka is "at home" she lives in Keysville, Virginia.

At Rollins Polka is a member of the Glee Club, of Phi Beta, of Rollins Key and of Sigma Phi. All these things will be on her tombstone but her near and dear friends will remember her for her mid-nite musical outbursts, for the fact that she chortles loudly at intervals, and most of all for her most pronounced and unalterable views on life.

Polka never got anywhere on time in her life—but when she gets going and really concentrates on a subject, she can accomplish anything and everything.

Her pet expressions are "That's a good number" and "So help me, Stonewall Jackson." But to be serious, Polka really has talent as a pianist and vocalist and she is genuinely a good friend to all who know her.

Woods, sponsor, Rodman Lehman, president, and Asa Jennings.

The fraternity's new home was decorated with snapdragons brought from Sanford for the occasion by Mrs. Herbert Russell, sister of the president of the fraternity.

Assisting in the serving of the refreshments were Miss Sarah Dickinson of Kappa Epsilon, Miss Mildred Hope of Alpha Omega, Miss Miriam Sprague of Sigma Phi, and Miss Harriett Pipkorn of Gamma Phi Beta.

Everyone thought the house very well adapted to its purpose, commenting in particular on the four spacious living rooms, which are suitable for dancing or any form of entertainment.

The members of the fraternity trust that when students or faculty wish to use the house for education, pleasure, or other gatherings, they will feel free to do so.

Some people seem to think that "the lower the marks, the better the college." The same people probably think that unless medicine tastes like the very dickens, it can't possibly do you any good.

It is all in one's state of mind. We once heard of a man who interchanged the respective brain of a dog and a pelican with so much success that the dog was drowned while diving for fish and the pelican barked itself to death at the moon.

"Is the editor particular?"
"Rather. She raves if she finds a period upside down."—Ex.
