And now that Chapel is no longer compulsory and is to be called only when we have something of interest to bring us, the new system was inaugurated in the right way by Mrs. Kim's (of Korea) very worthwhile talk.

And the Chapel Committee may bring Raymond Robbins, et ux. here, soon. T. C. marks this with four stars.

If the students want the SANDSPUR to come out on time and want it filled with news and features of interest to students, somebody besides the staff will have to contribute. In an ordinary issue it takes 40,000 words to fill the reading columns of the paper and the editors don't have time to write it. If you think it's easy, try writing 5,000 words a week and see if you don't resign.

Come on, Give Aurora a break.

Ransacked the town this A. M. trying to find a New Yorker to learn all about the big city but the newsstands don't seem to know the map.

However there seemed to be a superfluity of Boston Transcripts and True Stories, whatever the connection is.

Mr. Walling has his audiences composed of those who are against him and those who are with him. Which proves him a forceful speaker.

Rollins is beginning to look like the Niagara Falls of the state. Let's hope it doesn't become the Reno.

Maybe archery ought to be abolished. Mrs. Venus's little boy Cupid has been entirely too mischievous.

T. C. (after looking out the arched windows of Rollins hall for half an hour or so) has suddenly decided that Rollins is an enjoyable place to be and (2) there are a lot of nice people here. But here's never enough time to do everything we'd like to do.

Can't let that last paragraph happen again. Somebody might get the idea that this is a nice column.

And the only way to make anybody read a column is to keep him hoping that somebody he does or doesn't like will get slammed. But that's a professional secret.

Why doesn't the "Flamingo" come out? Is there too much or too little material? Is there too much tattle in the machinery or is it because, as someone has said, there are too many literati at Rollins and not enough people who can write?

The Tar Brush and T. C. are urged to the hilt and searching for the sender of this clipping. No quarter will be given.

"A man suffering from severe headaches was taken to a doctor and his brain was removed for examination. The patient could be replaced. Before it escaped from the hospital, and two weeks later was found writing a column on a newspaper."

DR. HOLT ELECTED VICE - PRESIDENT ITALY - AM. CLUB

Prexy is Unanimously Voted Officer for Ensuing Year

President Hamilton Holt has been elected an honorary vice president of the Italy America society for the ensuing year, according to an announcement from Henry Burchall, secretary of the society. Dr. Holt's election was by unanimous vote at the annual meeting of the society a few days ago in New York.

Rollins Players Go On Tour and Score First Success at Tangerine

A busy season was in store for the Rollins players. They started the winter traveling season Wednesday evening with a trip to Tangerine. Three plays were presented: "The Constant Lover," "Rich Man, Poor Man," and "The Twelve Pound Look," by J. M. Barrie.

A trip to Harder Hall in Sebring is planned for the following Tuesday, Feb. 4, when "The Noble Lord," and "The Twelve Pound Look" will be presented. Miss Dorothea Thomas, director of the Workshop, will give several readings and Miss Barbara Parsons will dance in a group of specialty numbers.

Other engagements are Harder Hall, Sebring Chamber of Commerce, and Lake Placid Lodge, Feb. 26, 27, 28; Mount Dora, March 7; and on March 15 the Rollins Players are planning a trip to Tallahassee to present "The Enemy" as the benefit performance of the graduating class.

The presentation of "The Enemy" last Friday night has proved such a success that several requests have been made for further presentations and it is probable that the play will be given again in Lake Wales.

Members and Friends Of Local German Club Are Treated to Films

Thursday evening at 7, the German Club held an unusual weekly meeting in Professor Feuerstein's room in Knowles. Four reels of German scenery and both peasant and noble life, entitled "Beautiful Germany," were shown.

Peter Berger, vice president, conversed on the moving pictures as they flashed on the screen. Just having come from Germany himself, he spoke most vividly and entertainingly.

Bob Stevens, president, called a brief business meeting following the films, at which time six new members were admitted.

Foreign Students Entertain Mr. Dora Tourist Organization

The Mount Dora Tourist club was accorded a splendid entertainment Friday when the foreign exchange students of Rollins college under the personal direction of Miss Lida Woods, secretary to President Hamilton Holt, gave an evening of rare entertainment.

The program was sponsored by the Mt. Dora Chamber of Commerce and like all other affairs given under its auspices, was an outstanding event in interest and real entertainment.

The program was replete with delightful surprises and was witnessed by a crowd that taxed the spacious Baptist tabernacle to its capacity. Many had to remain standing during the entire program.

Miss Woods was introduced by Secretary Heath of the Chamber of Commerce and after a bright entertaining talk regarded the work being carried on by Rollins college and especially as it related to foreign students, she introduced each of the artists in turn. As they were introduced they replied in their own native tongue.

While every number offered was high class, the outstanding artist was Dr. Morozzo, Italian pianist, who kept his listeners in rapt attention by his splendid technique and mastery of the instrument. Dr. Morozzo is without an exception the most brilliant pianist to appear in Mount Dora.

Of course, Miss Taka Sugino, the only girl member of the group, and herself a charming little maid of Japan, was a great favorite with the crowd and her appearance on the program was the occasion for prolonged applause.

Mount Dora was well pleased with the Rollins foreign students and by the charming Miss Woods, who so delighted with her witty remarks.

WINTER PARK SYMPHONY IS HEARD SUN.

Second Concert of Season Delights Large Audience

The second concert of the Winter Park Symphony orchestra was given last Sunday afternoon in Recreation hall. The orchestra showed a decided improvement over its first concert.

The popular overture from William Tell opened the program. The four parts of this overture are well contrasted and gave opportunity for variety in the orchestra.

Very much unlike the overture to the Mozart Symphony in G. Minor. The entire symphony is very charming and graceful and must be played with a great deal of care and thought. In most instances the themes, which are effectively interwoven, were well brought out by the different instruments.

The Sakuntala Overture opened the second half of the program. This is a more modern work and is quite a favorite with orchestras all over the country. The slow, sustained themes are very lovely and necessitate careful listening as well as careful performance.

The Strauss Waltz, Southern Roses, was a popular number of the program.

The magnificent "March Slav" was chosen as the closing number on this most varied and delightful program. Much credit is due Mr. Nice who has worked with untiring effort to make the concert the success it was.

ANNUAL REUNION OF ROLLINS GRADS ON FOUNDERS DAY

Plans Made for Event of February 22 of Founders' Week

Alumni in Orlando and Winter Park are taking active part in plans for the annual reunion of graduates and former students of Rollins college which comes on Saturday, February 22, as a feature of the annual celebration of Founders' Week.

Under the direction of Frederick L. Lewton, '31, of Washington, D. C., chairman of the general reunion committee, and Alfred J. Hanna, alumni secretary, elaborate plans are being made to make this year's reunion the most pretentious in Rollins' history.

Featured in the program of alumni activities, it is announced, will be the Alumni Golf tournament on Friday, February 21, the 32nd annual meeting and luncheon of the Rollins Alumni association on Saturday, February 22, and class and fraternity luncheons and dinners.

Rex Beach, '07, president of the Alumni association, and Charles A. Noone, '10, of Chattanooga, Tenn., vice president of the association, are scheduled among others to speak at the luncheon. Other speakers will include prominent alumni from all over the world and distinguished guests and visitors of the college.

The annual convention with conferring of honorary degrees will be held Monday morning, Feb. 24th. The fourth volume of the "Animated Magazine," the only one of its kind "published" in the United States, will be produced Sunday afternoon, Feb. 25. President Hamilton Holt, who will assume a familiar role as editor of the "Animated Magazine," is inviting a distinguished group of contributors to read their articles, stories, poems, essays, etc., "in person."

Dramatic productions and concerts on February 20, the 32nd anniversary luncheon of the "Sandspur" newspaper, on February 21, the civic reception and dance on February 22, and the President's Reception on February 24 are other attractions listed for Founders' Week.

A. J. Hanna reports that a large number of alumni have already indicated that they will be present for this year's festivities and plans are being made to entertain the largest number of home-coming alumni in many years.

JOHN MARTIN WILL ADDRESS LIBERAL CLUB

To Discuss Movement of World Peace with Local Organization

The Liberal club will hold its second meeting since the beginning of the term next Monday night when Mr. John Martin of New York city will speak.

Mr. Martin is a well known advocate of the world peace movement and is connected with the League of Nations association of New York, the former Non-partisan association. An Englishman by birth and an American citizen for the greater part of his life, he is eminently fitted to understand the major questions affecting foreign policy on both sides of the Atlantic.

The liberal club is extremely fortunate in being able to produce Mr. Martin, who will be sure to have something of real importance to say at this time, when foreign relations are playing such a prominent part in our press.

The meeting will be held at 7:15 in Mr. France's class room in Lyman hall.

WALLING GIVES LECTURE ON DEMOCRACY

Says Economic Basis Needed for Political Future

"If our political democracy is to mean anything, if it is even to continue to exist, it must be converted into economic democracy, or as Mr. Coolidge says, the dominion of the people over the property of the country," said William English Walling, labor expert, in his lecture on "The Spirit of American Democracy at the Winter Park Congregational church last Tuesday night, January 28: Mr. Walling defined economic democracy as an equitable distribution of wealth among the population.

Mr. Walling went on to say that "a large and growing part of the people of this country are convinced by their own situation and by all the facts accessible to the public that the economic control of the property of this country is less and less in the hands of the people and that the masses of the people, while getting some share in our prosperity, are receiving a smaller and smaller proportion of our total income." The people accept the principle of economic democracy and by this principle "the political power in their hands must be used to restore their dominion over the property of the country" and in particular over the great corporations.

In Mr. Walling's opinion America is in the midst of a "great political, economic and social revolution." One evidence of this revolution is the victory of the progressive element in the United States senate. The majority of the people do not know of this revolution because they receive all their news from Eastern publications which print only those items of interest in New York.

Mr. Walling outlined the progressive program as follows:

1. Public ownership of natural resources and of those activities vested with a public interest—light, heat, power and transportation.
2. High inheritance and income taxes to be levied on the beneficiaries of monopoly.
3. The development of a strong farmers' cooperative movement.
4. The development of a strong trades union movement.
5. Restrictive legislation which will prevent the centralized control of credit and banking.

Mr. Walling is a noted author, lecturer and labor expert. His talk last Tuesday was one of the series of Tuesday evening programs under the auspices of Rollins college.

CAMPUS GREEKS CELEBRATE AT YEARLY DANCE

Annual Promenade is Held at Hotel Alabama

A scene of festivity and joyous celebration, heightened by the preceding basketball victory over Stetson, was the Alabama hotel last Saturday night during the long-awaited Greek Letter dance. The affair, one of the outstanding social events of the season, was promoted in the interest of fraternal spirit between the different organizations, and attendance was limited to the members of the four fraternities and the five sororities.

The central part of the lobby of the hotel was cleared for dancers with easy chairs clustered around the huge fireplace, in which a welcome fire was burning. Forty odd couples danced about the floor or exchanged stories before the fire. Music was furnished by Bob Timson's five piece orchestra, which lived up to its reputation for dance music of the highest type.

The hotel is to be complimented upon its excellent dancing facilities, its seats along the lakeshore, and its punch. Although the refreshments were exhausted too early, the cool air served to fill the need.

The dance is an annual affair staged by the Inter-Fraternity Council in cooperation with the Pan-Hellenic Council and has in the past done much to promote good feeling and cooperation between the various fraternal societies on the campus. Let us look forward to more of the kind in years to come.

"THE ENEMY" DUBBED BEST PLAY SO FAR

Entire Cast Deserves Credit for Finished Performance

By WILLARD A. WATTLES

In an institution like Rollins so frequently concerned with the study of international relations such a play as "The Enemy," by Channing Pollock, was naturally quite warmly received. The central idea that Hate itself is the only real enemy between people or peoples is one with which a Winter Park audience is quite in sympathy, and there were lines in the play such as are frequently heard expressed spontaneously in conference groups at Rollins college.

As will be pointed out in a moment, however, it was the acting itself and the evidence of intelligent directorship on the part of Miss Dorothea Thomas which most interested one observer. "The Enemy," of course, as an enduring work of merit falls far short of the high worth of "What Price Glory," "Heartbreak House," "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," or "Journey's End."

Channing Pollock is not a dramatist; he is an opportunist with one eye on his audience and the other on the box-office. The plot, impersonally considered, is so "well made" that any experienced theatre-goer can see before the end of the first act that a baby will come, its soldier papa will die, its profiteering grandpapa will never understand, and that the self-sacrificing faithful Achaetes of a friend will remain true to a noble sentiment. It is old stuff in the theatre, as anybody knows who understands the difference between "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and Bernard Shaw's "St. Joan."

All this is set down by the reviewer with some hesitation, as Editor McKay will attest, when she had to corral him and hobble him to a desk to make him come across. This conviction expressed by the reviewer as to the actual merit of this play by the clerical Mr. Pollock, the writer turns to the vastly (Continued on Page 2)

Prexy on Hall of Fame Board of Electors for N. Y. Univ.

The seventh election of distinguished Americans to the Hall of Fame on the campus of New York university will be held during the present year, it is announced by Dr. Robert Underwood Johnson, director. The election is held once every five years.

A College of Electors, consisting of one hundred and seven persons well known throughout the country, chosen by the senate of New York university makes the choice of names from nominations submitted by the press and public. The college may choose 15 names this year.

Nominations are now being received by Dr. Johnson at his office at 26 East Fifty-fifth Street, in New York city. The candidates proposed must have died before October 1, 1905, and have been Americans or persons identified with the United States. Women are equally eligible with men.

Anyone desiring to nominate a candidate may secure from the Director the necessary blank, on which is space for the name of the person proposed, the place and date of birth, the grounds on which the proposal is made and reference to published sources of further information, together with the signature of the proposer.

Nominations received before Mar. 15 will be submitted to the senate of New York university, which is the "holding company" of the Hall of Fame. Names which receive two votes in the Senate will be placed on the preliminary list.

This list will be submitted by April 1 to a committee of 21 of the electors who will report to the director those whom it recommends to the full college not for election but for consideration.

This final list will be sent to the electors on June 1, and they will have until October 1 to consider it at leisure, comparing notes as they may wish, and getting any desirable supplementary information from experts. From then until October 15 the ballots will be returned.

As there is a country-wide interest in these elections increasing with each election, the discussions in the press and in clubs and elsewhere are likely to be of educational and historical value to the people, especially to the young. There (Continued on Page 2)

SENIOR WOMEN ENTERTAINED BY MISSES GUILD

Annual Tea is Enjoyed By Graduating Class

A most delightful and attractive tea was given Monday afternoon by the Misses Clara Louise and Alice Guild at their beautiful home on Interlachen avenue in honor of the Senior class at Rollins.

Miss Clara Guild was the first graduate of Rollins and each year she and her sister entertain in honor of the senior girls. The home was attractively decorated with Rollins colors of blue and gold. On the tea table, where Miss Isabel Green so charmingly poured, was a lovely centerpiece of yellow nasturtiums and long yellow tapers in blue holders. Assisting the Misses Guild in serving were Miss Margaret McKay and Miss Katherine Lewis.

Besides the senior class from Rollins the alumni guests from Orlando were: Mrs. L. G. Algee, Miss Grace Boone, Miss Mary Branham, Mrs. D. A. Cheney, Mrs. Douglas Ellerbe, Mrs. Davis E. Fishback and Mrs. G. B. Fishback; Mrs. Edna Giles Fuller, Mrs. W. M. Glenn, Mrs. Mary Gurnsey, Mrs. Richard Hudson, the Misses Ada McKnight, Maybelle O'Neal and Elizabeth Rand; Mrs. C. A. Robinson, Mrs. Rush Gray, Mrs. Allen B. Whitman and Mrs. W. W. Yothers.

The alumni from Winter Park were: Mrs. H. K. Kelly, Mrs. R. C. and C. E. Ward, Mrs. Donald Vincent, Mrs. A. H. Whitmore, Mrs. W. F. Blackman, Dr. Helen Cole, Mrs. Sylvester Bingham, the Misses Alice Campbell, Isabel Green, Annie Stone, Gertrude Ward, Margaret McKay and Bernice Shor.

BACHELLER IS NEXT WEEKLY LECTURER

"Off With Old Leaf, and On With New" Is Subject

Irving Bacheller, noted author, will lecture next Tuesday night, Feb. 3, at the Winter Park Congregational church. His subject will be "The Scandal of the Garden of Eden." Mr. Bacheller's lecture is one of the regular series of lectures and entertainments sponsored by Rollins college, and is open to the general public.

Mr. Bacheller is well-known among the reading public for his novels. Some of his most popular books are, "In the Days of Poor Richard," "The Light in the Clearing," "A Man for the Ages" and "Eben Holden."

Originally of Pierpont, N. Y., Mr. Bacheller has for some time made his home in Winter Park. He graduated from St. Lawrence university in 1882. In 1910, he received the degree of doctor of letters from Middleburg university. For years, he was actively connected with the press in New York city. From 1898 to 1900 he was one of the editors of The New York World.

Since he has been in Winter Park, Mr. Bacheller has shown great interest in the progress of Rollins college. During the winter term of last year he was one of the special winter school faculty, giving honor courses at the college. He also assisted in establishing and maintaining the Tuesday evening lectures.

Mr. Bacheller's lecture is scheduled for 8:15.

Mrs. Induk Kim First Occasion of Called Students' Plan Chapel

The charming Mrs. Induk Kim, of Korea, had the distinction of being Rollins' first selected chapel speaker.

From the moment she stepped forward in her different native attire, folded her arms and began to speak she had her audience with her.

"The youth movement," she went on to say, "is the salvation of Korea, where the inferiority of women is still a national prejudice." They name our boys "Lion," "Hero," "Rock," while our girl babies are only designated by their numbers.

The dainty little Mrs. Kim's oval eyes crept slyly to their corners as she humorously told how she was embarrassed by her great height in her country for she had the physical advantage of sports in her childhood when she was forced to dress and play like a boy to be allowed to go to school.

Mrs. Kim is in America, to develop interest in student volunteers for foreign missions.

ALUMNI PREPARE FOR BIG REUNION FOUNDERS' WEEK

Winter Park and Orlando Graduates Lunch Here

Plans for the coming alumni reunion during Founders' Week are maturing and taking on an interesting outlook.

Thursday, January 30th, Fred Hanna met with an executive committee to discuss final plans for lunch at the Beanyery.

Those attending this meeting were: Mrs. David C. Fishback, Mrs. W. W. Yothers, Miss Clara Louise Guilda, Miss Mabelle O'Neal, Miss Mary Hall, Miss Kitty Lewis, Judge D. A. Cheney, J. H. Hill, Warren Ingraham, Carter Bradford, Mr. Ralph S. Clark, Fred Hanna and Fred Ward.

COURTESY

Every so often the student body of any college has to be called to account for discourtesy to opposing college teams. This usually comes at a time when there is a distinct enmity between the schools and widens the breach.

Booing decisions of the referee, making any kind of fuss calculated to disturb opposing players shooting free throws and applauding and hooting when they miss, is far from good sportsmanship and while almost always thoughtless is nevertheless, discourteous.

Let's remember that friendly relations are much more conducive to clean athletics and good games than inimical relations. We don't want Rollins to get the name of being a bunch of hoodlums and dirty players.

THANKS, FRIENDS

Last week the Seniors sat in a dead-lock vote on whether or not they could afford to wear caps and gowns in the Founders' Week ceremonies.

You see, a good part of the seniors are on scholarships and earning their way through college and $2.50 can look like extravagance.

The class was agreed that they wanted to cooperate with the college and conform in the adopted academic dress, but $2.50—!

A committee was appointed to explain the facts to the administration.

The Florida Public Service Co. heard of this and came to the rescue. Every afternoon now a group of deserving senior men are reporting regularly for work at the offices of the Florida Public Service.

Rollins has always been fortunate and glad for the friendly spirit of cooperation the townspeople have shown. But The Sandspur takes this particular occasion to thank one of the students' friends, the Florida Public Service.

BRAVO AND CONGRATULATIONS

The student body came through! The Sandspur calls a chapel like the one on Wednesday practically ideal.

The attendance was not 100 per cent but a big majority of the student body kept its word and turned out. A minority of course couldn't overcome that old "stand on the steps" custom.

The speaker was well worth the time and effort of coming. Loud applause, Chapel Committee, and a plea for more like her.

The chapel started on time, was animated, and stopped when the bugle blew.

Everybody felt glad he'd come.

Here's to the new student-devised chapel system, may it prove the real solution to the chapel problem at Rollins.

Attention, Juniors!

Bill Reid, your president, has called an important class meeting for Tuesday, February 4, at 10 o'clock in the chemistry lecture room, Knowles Hall.

The oldest freshman in the world is 72 years of age. He attends the University of Chicago and obeys freshman rules.

ROLLINS BOOKS

"THE CHARM OF LIVING"
By Dr. Chas. A. Campbell

What could be more appropriate than a Rollins book written on a Rollins topic for a Rollins purpose and by a Rollins professor?

Such a volume has recently been issued and is obtainable at The Bookery. It is "The Charm of Living," by Dr. Charles A. Campbell. It contains the commencement address for the graduating class of 1929 which was delivered last June and which, because of its peculiar significance to students and friends of Rollins, was published that they might possess it in permanent form. Certainly, its topic, "The Charm of Living," expresses the very core of the Rollins ideal and sums up the unusual attribute which the Rollins student receives during his course here.

We commend this volume to all Rollins students particularly, because it contains a philosophy in which we have the utmost confidence. It gives a convincing and satisfying assurance of our ability to do our job, no matter how small it may be,—in such a way that we can later answer to the "superior challenge." It reaffirms our belief in the "friend-making faculty" which is one of our most cherished acquisitions at Rollins. And finally, it gives us a clear picture of the importance of keeping the faith,—a task which we Rollins students have already voluntarily undertaken in a sincere effort to play our part in realizing the Rollins ideal.

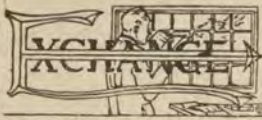

"Believe, then, believe in yourself, believe in the dignity of your task, believe in the final response of the world to your fidelity, believe in the ultimate victory of goodness and truth, believe in God. Set the weight of your faith against the adverse currents of pessimism and cynicism and you will know the delight of honest striving, and afterward the blessedness of arriving."

ROLLINS BOOK OF VERSE

"Still, we wouldn't want to discourage that nest of singing birds which has found sanctuary at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida. Jessie B. Rittenhouse sends us their first volume, 'The Rollins Book of Verse' which is published most appropriately by the Angel Alley Press. She says that Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins, is 'putting into practice some advanced ideas of education.' If he can by any means, fair or foul, turn out graduates who will not misuse the words flair, intrigue and due to—or better still, who will not use those words at all, since they are limp and frayed from manhandling—we shall be the first to concede that he is not only advanced but positively revolutionary. We hasten to add that none of these words occur in the Rollins Book of Verse."

CANON CHASE ON THE MOVIES

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Times report of the conference upon the influence of motion pictures on public opinion, under the auspices of Rollins College, at Winter Park, Fla., implies that I was the one who complained because the local press had suppressed and misrepresented what I had said. One of the students, however, at the opening of the second session, initiated the subject and said there had been considerable comment upon the fact that, in the press reports, the side taken by the four defenders of the industry was fully reported, but that almost nothing had been printed from the speeches of those who had criticized the industry.

I said I spoke as a friend and lover of motion pictures. I suggested that an amendment be made to Senator Couzen's bill, which proposes to supervise the telegraph, telephone, wireless and radio businesses by a Federal Commission on Communications so as to include motion pictures as a similar public utility. I distinctly said that I did not favor any national censorship of motion pictures, but a Federal supervision similar to that which now exists by the Federal Government over the radio.

My claim was that the movie industry, not content with getting

WILLIAM SHEAFE CHASE.

AND FROM THE
"ASHEVILLE CITIZEN"

In the presence of the immediate families and a few close friends, the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ruffner Campbell, to Mr. Roger Holt, of West Point, N. Y., took place yesterday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of her parents at 44 Kimberly avenue. The Rev. R. P. Smith performed the ceremony in the absence of the Rev. Dr. R. F. Campbell, father of Mr. Campbell.

The bride chose for her marriage a Patou model of navy blue crepe with hat of natural Baku straw. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and sweetheart roses. Both Mr. and Mrs. Holt are students at Rollins college at Winter Park, Florida, and after a short honeymoon they will return to college and resume their studies.

Mrs. Holt is the only daughter of Mrs. Campbell and is a young woman of charming personality. She is a graduate of Fassifern School at Hendersonville, and is now continuing her course at Rollins college.

Mr. Holt is the son of Col. and Mrs. Lucius H. Holt of West Point, N. Y., where Col. Holt is head of the department of history and economics at the United States Military Academy.

Ohio State college prohibited undergraduate men and women students sitting together at all games during the past football season. This plan was supposed to produce more cheering and less conversation during the games.

Lack of chapel attendance is a problem confronting the Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn as well as Rollins. Their paper suggests that chapel be made compulsory for the lower classmen at least. Without chapel the student's cultural development is narrowed.

The 1930 lettermen of Pennsylvania urge the "no captain" system, the system which will be in effect in football at Rollins next year.

RAREBITS

Good morning,
How do you do,
This is something new,
From me—to you!

All columnists are supposed to be able to wax "poetic" on certain occasions. This being the occasion of the birth of a new column, it's a good time to start off right.

This column will deal with all activities from checkers to the most popular indoor sports with perhaps a little high finance thrown in for good measure.

Congratulations, good wishes and all the luck in the world to our latest bride and groom—Rog and Lib.

Marriage is a fine old custom but I wonder sometimes if it couldn't be improved a little. How about allowing those who are considering it to live together for a couple of months before tying the final knot? Maybe this arrangement would eliminate a few of the divorce cases that are cluttering up the courts.

Many people have raved for years about being a "good sport" and a "good loser" and too few have ever said anything about being a "good winner." In my mind, it is far easier to lose gracefully than to win gracefully. Let's not crow too loudly about our winnings.

Rivalry is as essential to collegiate athletics as competition is to business but it must be clean and healthy. There was some evidence of dirty playing during the game with Stetson last Friday night and the scuffle that took place after the game was unfortunate. The referees and umpires are the ones to make any decisions. Fistic passwork on the part of the students is unnecessary.

Princeton recently brought forth the proposal to abolish all referees and umpires and let the captains of the opposing teams make decisions, thus putting athletics on an "honor system" and on a par with scholastic work. Such a plan would certainly remove some of the underhand work that now goes on.

Want something amusing to read? Try Eddie Cantor's "Caught Short." It's a howling tale of the recent stock-market crash. "A Young Man from Manhattan" by Katherine Bush is also good. Written in an extremely modern style by an experienced author, it is the story of a young newspaperman who marries a young and attractive newspaperwoman.

Just what is all this talk about dress reform for men? Can't we do something about it? Rollins is a liberal college. How about "shorts" for everyday wear?

After all, such an idea is not so revolutionary as it may sound. For many years "shorts" have been an established costume in most of the

HONEST WAYSeven Active Members
Meet and Plan Future of Organization

The first meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the Chemistry lecture room at Knowles Hall last Wednesday evening, with seven members present. Despite the small crowd a lively discussion was held concerning the future of the organization on the campus.

The prevailing opinion among those present seemed to be that the students have apparently outgrown the need for a Christian organization of the college campus, for the usual function of the Y. M. in colleges today is to provide social and athletic life. In the large universities the Y. M. is able to have its own building with swimming pool, pool tables and other equipment for social life; here, however, the money allowed the society is so very small that these provisions are impossible, and consequently it is difficult to provide anything entertaining enough to draw the students.

President Stevens suggested that meetings be held every Sunday at which some important man of the town or visitor be asked to speak on different vocations, but this proposal was vetoed because it was felt that the students hear so many lectures that they would not be inclined to attend these meetings.

The final decision was that the money of the Y. M. be used for the handbook at the first of the year and for the Mixer, other meetings to be called only upon special occasions. During the fall term regular meetings were held on the bleachers on the lakeshore, to which about 25 students went, the attendance falling off noticeably toward the last of the term.

The president distributed some pamphlets pertaining to the convention at Blue Ridge, N. C., attended by delegates from all parts of the country. The literature calls attention to the provision whereby one student from Rollins can go, the most of his expenses being paid by the Y. M., a genuine opportunity for some worthy student.

The group felt that a good way to use the cash remaining in the treasury would be to hold another dance in the gym later in the term, at which all students would have a chance to become better acquainted, as the Y. M. has graduated from a religious to a social organization.

more agreeable task of commenting on the production itself.

The Little Theatre Workshop with each of its frequent productions shows increasing evidence of capable instruction on the part of its director, Miss Thomas. Several members in the act of "The Enemy" show results of experience and training developed painstakingly through several years of practice. These are particularly Mary Hall, Helen Cavanaugh, Rusty Moody, and Colfax Sanderson.

The work of Mary Hall and of Helen Cavanaugh is especially finished and restrained. Miss Cavanaugh as a character actress reminds one constantly of the work of an able artist whom it is doubtful if she has ever seen. Mrs. Sidney Drew. And Mary Hall has qualities such as have endeared Eva La Galliene to her American and European public. These two comparisons are made soberly and not because of local pride in a Rollins production.

Rusty Moody gave a freshness and understanding to his part of loyal friend and just the right self-depreciation to his affection. Colfax Sanderson in the scene of parting from the young wife, Pauli, played with sincerity and restrained power. One wonders at times whether his stage voice and his natural speaking voice are quite the same. It never leaves one quite convinced.

Professor Arndt, as interpreted by Hollis Mitchell, leaves one likewise not quite satisfied that the actor forgets his audience long enough.

ough to identify himself completely with his role. There are excellent lines connected with this part which could have been made somewhat more effective.

The scene of the shell-shocked reporter dismissed from his newspaper job was most effectively depicted by George Holt. In the earlier scene of the attack on Bruce Gordan, the truculent George was not quite so convincing; yet it is a difficult inherent in the situation. The only genuinely convincing stage fight I have ever seen was in Rex Beach's "Spoilers." As both participants in that battle spent a month in the hospital after the film was taken, we are quite satisfied that George and Rusty were only so realistic as the present occasion demanded.

To my mind, except for the two scenes between man and wife—the break-down of Fritz led out by Mizzi and the parting of Carol and Pauli—the most effective single minor role was played on all his appearances by Thomas Buita. I think so because in the midst of Jan's description of trench warfare the man behind me in the audience broke out hoarsely with: "For God's sake stop it." I prefer to believe that the man behind me had really seen trench warfare, and not that his constitution is so delicate he felt averse to being reminded of the pleasant little details accompanying the recent organized and official murder of ten million able-bodied, home-loving, sensitive and splendid fellows such as Car and Gordon and Fritz were in the play.

One more rehearsal with his cigar would have benefitted Robert Stevens who otherwise as Mr. Behrend quite intensely made us feel after all what wars are all about, the excuse of old men regularly to profit by the idealism of youth.

Jane Folsom and Clementine Hall brought humor to their parts by way of contrast to the more sober incidents of the play.

The attentive and generous-sized audience left the playhouse with unqualified approval of "The Enemy" as an example of excellent direction and capable production.

will, of course, be much difference of opinion as to which names should be chosen.

The director has issued a record of the results of the six previous elections showing candidates, classes, votes cast, and names of those chosen and those not selected. This record has curious aspects, showing unexpected changes in the votes—some candidates being considered for several elections before being approved, the strength of others dwindling from time to time.

The colonnade which serves as the Hall of Fame was built and is maintained by a gift of $250,000 from Mrs. Finley J. Shepherd, the former Helen Gould. It is situated on the campus of New York University on University Heights and overlooks the Palisades and the Hudson and Harlem river valleys.

Space is provided for 150 memorial bronze tablets. It was first planned to inscribe 50 names in 1900 and five additional names at the close of every five years thereafter, provided that number was approved at each election. Under this arrangement the Hall would be filled by the year 2000 A. D.

More than a thousand names were selected for the first election, but only 29 of these received the necessary votes. In 1905 five names were added; in 1910, eight names; in 1915, eight; in 1920, six and in 1925, two. The names of seven women who had been elected were placed in 1922, when all discrimination as to sex was abolished. A total of sixty-five tablets have been placed, and the quota for the present election, including vacancies, is 15.

From time to time the director invites appropriate organizations or individuals to present bronze busts of persons who have been elected to the Hall of Fame. These busts surmount the bronze tablets which the university places in the colonnade at the ceremonies following the election. At present only eight of the tablets do not have busts above them and it is expected that these will be unveiled at the next ceremonies, May 8, of this year.

Members of the college of electors are selected every five years by the New York University senate, in the year preceding each election. The present electorate represents very state in the Union and is drawn from seven groups: authors, editors, and artists; presidents of universities and colleges, historians and professors of history; jurists; high public officials; men and women of affairs; person connected with New York University is eligible as an elector.

Among the electors are: Hamilton Holt, president of Rollins college; David Starr Jordan, Stanford university; James B. Connelley, Yale university; James B. Connelley, Vanderbilt university; Dr. Abbott Lawrence Lowell, Harvard university.

Scientists—Arthur D. Little, Chas. H. Mayo, Dr. William Mayo, Robert A. Milliken, Fairfield Osborn.

Authors, editors and artists—Norman Black, William Phelps, Ellen Glasgow, Bliss Meredith Nicholson, Stan Easton.

Men and women of affairs—Emerson Fossick, Adolph Ochs, Owen D. Young.

Actual or former high public officials—Hon. John W. Davis, Henry Van Dyke, Hon. Elihu Root, Hon. Thomas J. Walsh, Hon. Ton D. Baker, Hon. Charles Hughes.

THE TAR BRUSH

By NED CONDON

STETSON'S ATHLETIC SUPREMACY has been rather violently dragged in the mud by Tar sport teams in the past week. To begin with, there was the tennis contest last Saturday in which Rollins net stars trimmed the Hatter squad by taking all six of their scheduled matches in easy fashion while losing only two sets during the whole day's play. Ted Williams and Bob Proctor turned in the best performances of the event, and Proctor, not satisfied to have led his tennis players to victory, went back the same evening and set the scoring pace in the win which Captain Row Pickard's basketballers hung onto the Hatters.

HATTER BASKET COHORTS also had the tables turned on them Saturday night when the 'Varsity basketball quintet managed to come out on the top side of a hammer-and-tongs, see-saw, bang-up battle in which the lead changed sides constantly. The Tar Brush gives credit for this type of win to Coach Jack McDowall who has introduced a new spirit, a new fight to Rollins teams. During fall and the football season this spirit was manifest in the games played by the Frosh, but the 'varsity seemed to be too much handicapped by the habit of defeats which had been nurtured in the previous three seasons. Basketball, however, was a new subject, and with three months of knowing a man who is a real fighter, Rollins athletes have been imbued with something of his will to win. If Jack is given a free hand, we have no doubt at all that within three years Rollins will again have a name regarded in Florida and the S. I. A. A. as a really formidable foe.

AND THE RATS CAME BACK, TOO, taking a fast and furious set from Stetson's Freshmen on their own floor to offset the needless licking they had taken from the Hatters the week before. Jack's fight can again be held responsible for the win. His teams, profiting from old errors, go into each game as a new one, a contest to be won regardless of past showings. With line-up shifted and new men bolstering both offensive and defensive strength the Yearlings were unbeatable that night. Although they dropped their game with Orlando two nights later, the Tar Brush feels that it was merely a slight case of under-rating.

THE TAR BRUSH DEPLORES THE SPIRIT which led to fighting between Rollins and Stetson men after the 'varsity game here and the freshman game there. There is no reason that entirely amicable relations should not exist between the two colleges. "Friendly rivalry" is well enough, but when feelings run so high that students of supposedly "higher institutions" must resort to the physical to settle difficulties, it becomes exceedingly hard to maintain an easy relationship between the schools. It is just such unthinking rowdiness coupled with ribald and biting journalism which led to the as yet unrepaired athletic breach between Harvard and Princeton.

McDowall Prepping Tars for Gator Go

Although the Rollins basketballers have a lay off from active court service until their game with the University of Florida, Feb. 6, all is not quiet in the Tar camp.

The Rollins mentor expressed his satisfaction of the showing his proteges made when they kicked over the dope bucket to win over Stetson. To prove that it was no accident, McDowall is putting the Tars through two hours of stiff practice each day in preparation for their trip to Gainesville. The Florida Gators will run into a much stronger and more experienced team than they met in Winter Park.

The Tar defense has been weak during the first part of the season. McDowall feels confident that this major defect has been remedied. In the game with Stetson the Rollins defense was air tight, the Hatters scoring most of their points on free throws and long range shooting.

The advent of Coach McDowall to the Rollins campus brought a type of basketball new to most of the Tar players. It is a system used by many of the larger institutions. This method was difficult for the Tars who had played haphazardly under coaches. The Rollins squad is working hard under McDowall's tutelage to master the system and to repeat its victory of last Saturday in the other games of the season.

ROLLINS NETMEN SWAMP STETSON UNIVERSITY HERE

Make Clean Sweep of Singles and Doubles

The Rollins tennis team decisively defeated its traditional rival, Stetson, by the one-sided score of six matches to nothing on Saturday, January 25 at Winter Park.

The Rollins players far excelled their adversaries in all departments of the game.

Ted Williams, playing first singles for Rollins crushed Olsen of Stetson by the score of 6-2, 6-1. Williams was too aggressive in his play for his opponent. He won the majority of his points by his net play.

Bob Proctor played in splendid form to vanquish Ruzzo of Stetson with the loss of only two games. Proctor's driving and his all around court play proved too much for his opponent who was always on the run.

Olcott Deming made a strong comeback in the third set to win a hard-fought match from Legters of Stetson by 6-4, 3-6, 6-3. Deming had too much in reserve for his opponent in the deciding set.

Bob Stevens had little trouble in eliminating Stover of Stetson in straight sets by 6-1, 6-1. Stevens' back court driving and accurate placing was more than Stover could cope with.

Williams and Deming defeated Olsen and Ruzzo of Stetson in the first doubles match by the score of 6-1, 6-1. The net play of the winning team was very effective and they won points almost at will.

Stevens and Holt won the second doubles match from Legters and Stover of Stetson in a close match by 7-5, 9-7. Holt and Stevens were a trifle steadier than the Stetson men and this won for them.

The summary:

Singles—Williams of Rollins defeated Olsen of Stetson, 6-2, 6-1; Proctor of Rollins defeated Ruzzo of Stetson, 6-1, 6-1; Deming of Rollins defeated Legters of Stetson, 6-4, 3-6, 6-3; Stevens of Rollins defeated Stover of Stetson, 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles—Williams and Deming of Rollins defeated Olsen and Ruzzo of Stetson, 6-1, 6-1; Stevens and Holt of Rollins defeated Stover and Legter of Stetson, 7-5, 9-7.

The health officer came around to take down the quarantine sign from the home of a Texas negress. "Sholly you-all ain't a-goin to takt down dat sign, is yuh?" she asked plaintively.

"Certainly, you have gotten well and there is no more need for the sign."

"Now, ain't dat too bad. Dere ain't been nary a collector roun' dis place for weeks while dat sign was up. Kain't you leave it dere, boss?"

George: "I know where you got those heads you are wearing." Georgia: "Where?" George: "Around your neck."

RAT QUINTET TURNS TABLES ON HAT FROSH

Down Little Hatters at DeLand by 14-12 Count

The snappy Stetson Baby Hatters turned out to be Faded Fedoras in their second tilt at DeLand Monday night with the Rollins Tars, with the Little Tars romping away on the long end of a 14-12 decision in a hard fought, closely guarded basketball game.

Coach Jack McDowall introduced a new line-up at the beginning of the scrap, starting Ted Walton at one forward, moving Charlie Dermid back to center, and playing Cracker Crawford for T. J. Morris at one guard. This team seemed to share the spirit with which the varsity had downed the J. B. S. U. varsity on the previous Saturday, and were in there fighting every moment of the game.

The Rats started the contest off with a rush and were leading at half time, 10-5. After the rest period the Little Hats came back fighting hard and tied the score. The two teams struggled the final quarter in a deadlock which was finally broken in the closing minutes of play when Walton the Wart put the leather to bed in the basket too late for Stetson to rally.

Lineups:

Stetson	Rollins
Dawall rf	Worley
Johnson lf	Walton
Sandals c	Dermid
Whitman rg	Dunlop
Smith lg	Crawford

Substitutions: Rollins, Morris for Crawford. Stetson Ruzzo and Lee.

Rollins Net Stars Win Ormond Matches

Olcott Deming, No. 4 man on the Rollins net team which last Saturday whitewashed Stetson, took the feature match of the first round of play in the Ormond Beach tennis championship Monday when he was carried to extra games in his first set with Merle Olson of Stetson which he won, 7-5, 6-4. Olson will be remembered as No. 1 man on the Hatter squad who dropped to Ted Williams in Saturday's match.

Ted Williams, Rollins' only other representative in the east coast tourney, took the decision over Jack Dunn, Daytona Beach star and former member of the Dartmouth college tennis team, 6-3, 8-6. This match brought together two college stars of unusual calibre. Williams mastery of net play giving him the victory in a match, which, hotly contested throughout, carried the tall Rollins boy to a deuce set to keep the match to two sets.

Deming showed considerably more power than he had in his match Saturday, his exceptional net game working more smoothly and his backhand registering time and time again.

Kirillin Maintains Chess Bout Lead

Six straight victories for Val Kirillin placed him far in the lead with the first half of the chess tournament almost completed. With no better than an even break in the second half, he should be able to coast into first place. The race for second place should be interesting, with Plympton, Pepper and Kendrick practically tied.

After the tournament play was over, the Chess club adjourned to the Varsity Waffle shop and had a midnight snack as the guests of Mrs. Ida Clyde Clarke. Besides the regular members, Miss Janet Sinclair, Whiting Hall, and Baron Refardt were in on the luncheon.

The standing is as follows:

Player	Won	Lost	Tied	Points
Kirillin	6	1	1	6½
Plympton	4	3	0	4
Pepper	3	4	1	3½
Kendrick	2	3	2	3
DeBerry	1	5	0	1

The Chess club meets every Monday night at the Vagabondia, at Kentucky and New England avenues. Anyone interested in chess is welcome to come.

The women's physical education department announces a series of five lectures on health, given by Dr. Morton to all women students. Her first lecture is Friday afternoon in chapel at 3:30. The subject is "Health and Efficiency in Relation to Life." Such a rare opportunity of hearing a woman of Dr. Morton's ability and experience should not be missed. These lectures will be given on different days, taking the place of a gym class. Every girl is expected to attend.

Archery takes a prominent part in girls' athletics this term. Ruth Cole, sporthead, is planning two tournaments, one in February and the other in March. The high score man of these tournaments and the one in the fall will receive a silver cup. The cup is to be retained in the association with the winner keeping it only for the year.

A new tripod has been made for the archery stand and a new face is on the way. The range is marked off into 30, 40 and 50 yard distances. Pictures and write-ups of Mary Lee, Betty Williams, Holt, and Ruth Cole, have appeared in several of the northern and Florida papers.

Later on a Scotch golf tournament is going to be held at Sandlano. This is a two-ball foursome. Pick out your partner, boy or girl, and practice up.

The golf class is such a good-looking bunch that Mr. Clark is using its picture for advertising purposes. "Beldo," the sport model Ford, carries as many passengers as can climb on every Friday to the golf course.

PICKARD LEADS TAR CAGERS TO WIN OVER STETSON HOOP SQUAD IN FAST, ROUGH, TILT

Keen Defensive Play, Many Fouls Committed By Both Sides as Lead Changes Often in Thrilling Duel

Displaying more real fight than any Rollins team this year, the Tar varsity basketball squad eased into a 16-15 victory over Herb McQuillan's Stetson Hatters last Saturday night before a wildly cheering crowd which was swept to its feet time and again by the tightness of the play.

Personal fouls came freely throughout the tilt and the referee's whistle was kept continually busy for both Stetson and Rollins faults.

ORLANDO DOWNS FRESHMAN QUINT IN SURPRISE WIN

Overconfident Baby Tars Fall Before Tigers

Fresh from their winning scrap with the Stetson Frosh, an overconfident Baby Tar quintet dropped Wednesday night's tilt to Orlando high school on the Recreation hall court, 39-38.

The tight guarding and scintillating attack which had marked the play of the night before was entirely absent. The Freshmen did show their ability to make baskets all through the game but when the crisis arrived, they were unable to hold the Tiger lads in check. Entering the second half with a slight lead, the Tars managed to stay out in front until the final quarter when they pushed the score to 38-31. With the game seemingly on ice and only a few minutes to play, the Rats endeavored to hold their lead by slowing up the game. However, the high school boys were out for a win and they went after it, running up the score and burying Rollins under a barrage of baskets. During this melee the crowd was on its feet as the ball battered the backboard from all angles. Rollins dropped three through the hoop, but carelessness resulted in their not counting because of fouls. As the final whistle blew, Ware, Orlando guard, sank the winning tally from mid-court.

McDowall had used the re-vamped line-up which he played in the Stetson game. Ted Walton was again holding down a forward berth and it seems as though the Wart will be able to hold the position quite capably. Worley, at the other wing, was Rollins' big scoring threat, chalking up 14 points. He was followed closely by Charlie Dermid at center with 12. Warner and Dukes led the prep boys, getting 18 and 12 points respectively. Dukes turned in some especially good play in the critical final period.

The Rats will get a chance to redeem themselves tonight when they meet the Tigers again, this time in Orlando. Orlando will be facing a different team than the one which disregarded their powers Wednesday night.

Lineups were as follows:

Orlando	Rollins
Dukes, 12 rf	Walton 5
Colwell lf	Worley, 14
Warner, 18 c	Dermid, 12
Williams rg	Crawford
Ware, 7 lg	Dunlop, 7

Substitutions: For Rollins—Rogers and Morris. For Orlando—Fairfield, Cooper, Clow and Hotchkiss. Referee—Thompson (Ohio State.)

Old-Fashioned Plates On Exhibition at the Rollins Art Gallery

Now on exhibition and sale in the decorative department of the Rollins Art Gallery, 484 North Orange avenue, Orlando, is an interesting collection of costume prints ranging in date from 1811 to 1897. These are quaint, picturesque or grotesque, according to the period. Very attractive are the fashions of the forties, fifties and early sixties. Judged by present standards the styles of the seventies and eighties are absurd to the last degree. Even the nineties with their sweeping skirts, small waists and balloon sleeves are a far cry from the frocks of the 1930 girl.

It would be hard to find a greater contrast than the belle of 1876 with her frills, flounces, fringes and bead trimmings, and the independent young woman of today.

There is a revival of interest in

Ability to drop the leather through the basket on the free throws counted greatly for Rollins. "Froggy" Walter played a close game at guard, keeping the Stetson forwards in check at all times until his removal for personals in the final period. Bob Proctor, although he had played four sets of tennis in the afternoon against the J. B. S. U. netmen, was all over the floor and contributed the largest part of the Rollins scoring, ringing up five points.

Tars Take Lead Rollins started the scoring, taking the ball up the floor with a rush after the tip-off with Proctor dropping it into the cage for the first tally. Most of the field goals however came on long shots. In the first quarter Stetson seemed able to take the ball into scoring distance but failed miserably in sinking her crisp shots. Rollins began the second half on the long end of an 8-7 count.

The pace in the last quarter was, if possible, faster than ever before during the game, the ball changing hands time and time as both teams fought to gain the advantage. About three minutes before the game ended, Stetson pushed into the lead and began to stall to maintain it. Rollins quickly broke this up, and with less than a minute to play, Captain Row Pickard sank the clinching score. Stetson looped one through the cage just after the final whistle blew, too late to change the outcome.

It was Rollins' first collegiate win of the season, coming after games had been dropped to the University of Florida and to the Moccasins of Southern college by one-sided scores. The victory on the recreation hall court Saturday came as a surprise to many for on the night before the Tars dropped to the Gators the Stetson U. team held the Florida boys to a 17-14 count.

Line-up and points scored:

Stetson	Rollins
Jenks'n (c), 5 f	Proctor, 5
Moseley, 7 f	Wallis, 4
Harriman, 2 c	R. Pickard (c), 3
Socash, 1 g	Walter, 1

FRATERNITY NOTES

Pi Beta Phi

Thursday night Mother Ormiston entertained the actives and the pledges with puzzle games, many bricks of ice cream and cake. A grand time was had by all.

The Pi Phi's were honored by a visit from Gin's brother, Johnny. We are all for John from Virginia.

The Pi Phi's enjoyed the Greek Letter dance.

Friday afternoon was the occasion of a tea for various members of the college. It was broken, however, by Miss Weber turning it into a tap-dancing class.

Saturday afternoon, Mizzie and Candy enjoyed helping entertain the tennis players at the Forbes'.

The pledges are still going strong with Sunday night entertainments. Come and help us enjoy them.

Sunday our chaperone, Mrs. White, and Candy, Frances and Sally took to the open road—which led to the beach.

We surely were proud of Skipper, Helen and Peanuts in "The Enemy."

When you see Pi Phi's star-gazing, you know that they have just been turned out of astronomy class.

Gin Wilder was lady beautiful in a style show at the Beacham Tuesday night for Yowell-Drew. Nothing like having a fashion plate in our midst. Some one has to uphold the new styles!

Lambda Phi Notes

It seems that one of the members of the doll brigade has tried numerous methods of committing suicide. The first time she suspended herself in mid-air from the center light in Dot's room. The second attempt was hanging by her feet from the curtain pull. Both attempts were unsuccessful as she was rescued by one of the members. Her motto seems to be, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again." So watch her from now on.

The bicycle still reigns supreme as a mode of transportation to and from the house. So far no one has had any serious mishaps.

Again the Ford sedan, belonging to Lillian, traveled over the well-beaten path to Daytona. Don't ask her what she did at home because it might let out a deep dark secret. We have an inkling that shopping, clothes, and trip have something to do with it.

An accident occurred at the house the other day. Miss Jefferys, in attempting to run down a lamp post received a blow which slightly bruised her left eye. She is now bewailing the fact that it has not turned black as all eyes usually do when treated in this manner.

From the looks of things, the Greek Letter dance was a success. Why don't we have more of them?

Hope spent a part of the week end with Carol in Orlando and Audrey with her people, so the front room seemed rather deserted.

Bobby had the luck to go to the game at DeLand. How the rest of us wish we could have been there. It certainly was good news to hear that our freshmen had followed up the victory of the varsity. We feel proud of them all.

We wonder if Betty is preparing herself for her career. If so, she surely is getting a good deal of experience these early mornings. They say that "Patience is a virtue." We'll say it's something, anyway.

I Bumma Cig

Our "Shack" seems like a deserted village this week. The on-rush of hell week has called several members to the K. A. house, while the good work is being put on.

Tampa may have her Hell Harbor in the movies, but ask some of the pledges if this week won't compare.

While the discussion was being waged concerning seniors wearing cap and gown during Founders' Week, the Florida Public Service company played an important part in the high finances by saving most of the boys from embarrassment.

Luke gave the college a break by spending the week end in Waucho. The only report he gave was of a good dinner at home Sunday. Bob and Fish are still leary over the matter. When a representative goes home he should be able to give at least a thirty minute report; ask "Windy!"

The annual Greek Letter dance went over with a bang. We only wish it was a quarterly affair.

Found: One ear-ring. Owner may have same by giving a description of said article to Bob Boney.

Rollins Hall

Being still under the influence of the furore that arose with the publication of this column in the last issue of The Sandspur, we find it hard to reason out the why's and whereof's of the insurrection. Apparently we don't like to be hung by the thumbs in the Rogue's Gallery before the appraising eyes of the rabble; first because, in the spirit of Mark Twain, we deem that the report of our downfall has been slightly exaggerated; and second because we believe that the illustrious picture hanger himself would make a most absorbing portrait to even the most indiscriminating audience!

Leaving the situation in this discreet verbosity, we truly believe that by the time this is in print, peace and good will will again reign within the wide portals of Rollins Dormitory. Amen!

The modernistic movement has reared its exotic head in our midst. In one room it takes the form of two bureaus minus legs and mirrors placed back to back in the center of the room to express the modern trend in drawing-room furniture. On the wall a large picture, otherwise intelligent looking, hangs sideways, giving the impression of a storm at sea. Numerous small articles are cluttered about the room in inaccessible places. For those who might think the new generation heretical, a small crucifix hangs on one wall. Alas! The crucifix, too hangs sideways!

Rollins hall has had the pleasure of Mr. English Walling as its guest over the week-end.

Gamma Phi Beta

Vivian is recovering from an operation at the Orange General Hospital. Won't be long now till she'll be back playing the part of the model pledge.

Lucille Pipkorn has been spending the past few days with us before returning to Scranton to keep up her work.

Billy reports a wonderful time in New York. Some folks have all the luck. Since her return her war cry has turned out to be "Off your feet, Billy!"

Martha celebrated a birthday last Sunday. If she gets many more things from New Jersey, the mail will be charging her for excess baggage.

Mrs. Cheney has been serving tea at the house each afternoon for the past few days. Hope she keeps the good work up.

The pledges will entertain in honor of the patronesses with a tea at the Gamma Phi house next Friday afternoon from four to six.

Lakeside Laughter

Monday we discovered several new dresses. The seniors stepped out to tea and Mrs. Bingham took quite a wagon-load to the Misses Guild, where (so they say) the food was good.

Hear ye! Hear ye! Genevieve made an A in physical ed last term!

More honors to Skipper. We certainly were proud of her the other night, even if she didn't want to "rush the Russians."

After much answering of questions, powdering of noses, donning of stockings, etc., Issy's "man" arrived from Detroit. Hurray for the Middle West!

Imogene moved to the other end of first. Guess the sweet essence of rodents was too much for her.

Mr. Bingham's English Drama Seminar boasts ten members. Eight of them live here!

Congratulations to Yula who has the poetry section in the current issue of the Flamingo!

Cloverleaf Chatter

The radio at Chase certainly must be a boon to some boys over there. Because it supplies all the comforts of home, we mean. The other night we were walking by there and heard something like—"and then the big meow said to the little meows, 'Did you wash behind your ears?' (O words familiar!) How those boys must have missed their bedtime story before Louie got the radio!

You know what a terrible take-down it is to be told you look maternal. Several of the girls have been complaining lately about the boys telling them all their troubles with the girls they left behind them. You just don't realize how lovely and entertaining it is to go out and spend the time sympathizing because she missed a day in writing or said so-and-so had pretty eyes. Gosh! There ought to be a law against it. If this goes on the least we can do is to see the dean.

Polly MUTHT be crathy over horthes!

Welch Middleton is advertising for a room-mate. Preferably one with an alarm clock and an aversion to food.

The Young Men's Porch club is convening regularly now. We surprised one active ardently hugging a pillar of Cloverleaf. Pillar in its literal meaning, please. But we do wonder what—or who—is on his mind. And you ain't heard nothing yet. He says he's worn out several bedposts. Imagine that!

Cloverleaf doesn't need a bugle anymore... at least in the mornings. A few minutes after seven there is a terrible uproar over on the bottom floor of the east wing which obviates the necessity for Dave's straining a point to get up in the morning.

It's a funny thing, how some of the boys have been acting this week. It's lucky there isn't any snow. If they'd probably have them out watering the grass with a parasol over their head. That's an idea.

Betty and Roger are back. But you notice they are eating at the Beanery—

(Afterthought): Have you seen Oswald lately? We have our suspicions.

Kappa Alpha Kant

And now that everyone has enjoyed the Greek Letter dance—wasn't it great?—all that is left is the regret that it was not longer. "Home, Sweet Home" came much too soon for all of us.

By the way, how did you like our "K. A. Sweetheart" as a dance? If the fourth chorus sounded queer and you couldn't find out why, it was only a few pledges singing it by request of a few actives.

Two big games with Stetson! Congrats to Jack and both teams, and we're looking for a bigger victory in the varsity game at DeLand.

Steve, Cruger, "Peak," and Gordon, Will and George (Captain) Carrison went up there with the cuckoo horn Monday and saw the 14-12 masterpiece. Bill Reid and Skeeter were in the "Goddess," and the Messrs. Pickard and Scanlon arrived for the last half, thanks to a powerful flashlight. The temperamental lights of Model T minus suffered a stroke and the Ever-ready was needed to save the day.

Kappa Phi Sigma

We would like to congratulate Rollins hall on their Sandspur reporter (whoever he is).

While some of the pledges were scouring the countryside late one night last week, they discovered a house afire. They rushed to the scene, helped the firemen get under way, and viewed with some interest the passing pyjamas... until the crowd became so large that modesty compelled the pyjamas to leave.

Asa and Pep went out to tea Monday afternoon—oh year?

Most of us were to be found at the Greek Letter dance (surrounding the punchbowl).

Kappa Phi Sigma announces the following new members: Edward B. Condon, III, H. Irving Kamper, Marion G. Laney, Edwin Libbey, Watt Marchant, Charles Mills, Herbert Mills, Floyd Shor, Lloyd Towle, Walter Reid, Frank Walker and Richard Wilkinson.

K. E. Comments

Kappa Epsilon takes great pleasure in announcing as honorary members, Dr. Rosalie Morton and Miss Annie Russell.

Seems that for us January is quite a popular month for birthdays. First it was Margaret and Pen; then Cile and Charlotte; and finally Pledge Carter. So no wonder we keep "people" awake nights celebrating without parties. O. K. Euriah?

Now, what about THIS? Pledge Dudley went "Home to Tampa" AGAIN!

Kappa Epsilon entertained for the new honorary members with a tea. Honorary members and alumnae were the special guests of Mrs. Irving Bacheller, fraternity mother. Mrs. H. F. Harris, Aurora and Margaret McKay received at the door. Mrs. J. K. List, mother emerita, poured, and the pledges served.

We were really good children while our "Mama" was away, and Step-mama Weber didn't have to spank us once.

We all sure do vote for these Sunday morning breakfasts. Chet Howes surely understands her omelettes and seems to be on very good terms with cakes and custards.

We are rather proud that four of our group, Mat, Cile, Helen and Pledge Carmichael were initiated into Phi Beta Sunday.

Hurray for more Greek dances, and Rollins victories!

Albion piloted Betty Rathbone, Lou, Aurora and Margaret for a 55 minute flying trip to see the Baby Tars tip the Baby Stetson Hats, Monday night. And coming home—

Scarlet Sister Vestris

The Good Ship Vestris burst forth in a new coat of paint, top-mast and sails early this week. Work went under way in earnest immediately upon the return of High God Bassett from South America where he has been acting as Honorary Admiral of the Interior of Colombia.

The beautiful tub hit the water like an old timer. A massacre was narrowly averted when the Old Puddle tried to join the crew. Seems that the Galley Dog Kew was careless in swelling the hull and most of the oakum that Rear Admiral Harris had pounded in the cracks dropped out and old Ginny skidded in.

Mac Forbes "Meander" was completely squelched by so many knots. Skipper Chapman hopes to do better later when her knees are slipping along more merrily. "It's all in the Patela," says Miss Chapman.

Scullery Boy Bushnell, incidentally the latest and lowest addition to the crew, is the proud father of the new pink sails. If the finances of the navy hold out, Second Mate Murph will be furnished with some red paint to touch up the faded white spots. First Mate Wilde Kahow Cook, after the completion of his series of lectures at the Baptist church on "Why I am a Believer," will turn his attentions to his more salty duties before the tiller.

A cruise is being planned for all members of the crew at an early date. Godmother Hughes will furnish the grub, and will act as first stroke in case Admiral Ellswurf can't catch him a zephyr.

Music Appreciation Class Shown Organ

The Music Appreciation class experienced Sunday morning one of the most interesting and instructive periods of the year, when it visited the great organ at the Orlando Auditorium under the guidance of Mr. Siewert.

Upon arrival the group was taken by sections behind the grid into the inner parts of the organ room, among the many pipes. Great care was necessary here to avoid stepping on one of the many air-pipes on the floor. Corpulent members of the class found difficulty in squeezing between the tubes. It is easy to understand upon viewing this great conglomeration of pipes, tubes, and air ducts that it should cost $6,000 merely to install the organ.

The organ has 4,200 pipes of all sizes and shapes, some of wood in the form of a square box, some of metal reaching to the ceiling, and some short and silvery. The longest of the pipes is 32 feet, which is as long as is practicable in the largest organs, for in the largest pipes in the world, reaching 64 feet, the vibrations are so far apart that they pass beyond the field of music.

The cost of the organ to the city of Orlando, was about $40,000, but this was about $10,000 below its actual worth. It is an Estey with four manuals, and were it not for the poor acoustics of the Auditorium would have exceptionally fine tone. The cost of running the electric motor providing the power to pump the air is ninety cents an hour, and the organ must be tuned approximately every two weeks at great expense.

After showing the class the mechanical parts of the organ, Mr. Siewert showed from the keyboard the many combinations of tone which could be produced, bringing to the realization of the class the fact that it is almost the work of a lifetime to learn everything which a great organ can be made to do; it seemed that it could do everything but bark like a dog.

"So you were in the army, Ike?" an acquaintance remarked to a Jewish ex-service man. "Yes, I was in the army," was the proud response. "Did you get a commission?" "No, only wages."

Two small children were engaged in boastful conversation. "My father," said the first, "has electricity in his hair." "That aint nothin', my old man's got gas on his stomach."

DICKSON-IVES Opening Days

Wednesday - Thursday

February 5th - 6th

With the store transformed into a garden of azaleas and palms... With fashion shows morning and afternoon of the 5th... With the original and smart things for women to wear, opening days come to Dickson-Ives.

Rollins men and women will find much to interest them at Dickson-Ives these 2 days next week.
