ROLLINS CELEBRATES FOUNDERS' WEEK

Views and Reviews

by
WHITING HALL

Laments of the old grads who didn't come for Founders' Week, as doggeralized by T. C.:

Founders roam
And stroll about;
I stay home
And cuss my gout.

Alumni smoke
Upon the lawn,
But I'm too broke;
I sit and yawn.

They gaze through
The glass at Mars;
I gaze, too—
(Through iron bars).

I would sing
At school events.
Ossining
Is what prevents.

Speaking of glass houses—the boys in Rollins Hall have commenced to not only look like goldfishes and make noises like an aquarium, but one lad even went so far as to lock himself up in the shower and insist that he was an octopus.

But it's a good place to live and as soon as the campus is covered with similar buildings it will be no curiosity. And it's certainly the best dorm in the state if not in the entire South.

While we're bragging, we might as well break down and confess that Rollins was the first college to install (1) the conference plan, (2) a professor of books, (3) a professor of evil and (4) Lefty Moore.

Rarebits accused T. C. of morose ferocity but to prove that we are not ferocious we will let it go without contradiction.

T. C. would like to see intramural sports organized for men. With a league consisting of the fraternities and the two dormitories there could be some interesting contests.

As it stands at Rollins, everybody takes gym courses of some sort but nobody gets any fun out of it. Intramural teams give everyone a chance to get out and play on a team. Then, the Athletic Association or somebody might be prevailed on to give cups to the winning teams.

The sports which one finds on the calendar at most colleges are: basketball, diamond ball, baseball, tennis, volleyball, horseshoe, pitching, swimming and handball. Rollins could add crew, canoeing, and ping-pong and have a program which would last through the spring and give everybody a big time.

Alumni Luncheon

Tomorrow, Saturday, at one o'clock, the Alumni Luncheon will be held in the college dining room. About one hundred and fifty alumni are expected. All the former classes as far as is known, will be represented. Miss Clara Louise Guild of Winter Park is representing the class of '90.

Mr. Charles A. Noone, lawyer, of Chattanooga, and alumnus of 1910, will be toastmaster. Mrs. Davis E. Fishback of Orlando and the class of 1907, is chairman of the social committee and will be in charge of the luncheon.

The feature of the program is the reading of messages from all the Rollins Clubs and classes and from those who are not able to attend. Dr. Holt, Rex Beach and other alumni will speak.

Art: Do you know I've been brown out of Glee Club?
Dick: How did it happen?
Art: I didn't have any voice in the matter.

Saint Andy

Saint Andy will appear on the Rollins campus at 8 a. m., Saturday morning, Feb. 21. He will rest in state until 10:15, at which time a bugle will sound, announcing the opening of hostilities. This arrangement should give the contestants 15 minutes after the first class in which to don their fighting togs. The Sophomore-Senior Andymen are to wear red ribbons on their arms.

The plaque will be placed midway between two picked goal lines and the side which carries it across the opposite goal line will be given the privilege of keeping it until its appearance next year. There will be absolutely no running away with St. Andy in automobiles as in previous years.

NEXT FRESHMAN CLASS IS TO BE LIMITED

Trustees Approve New Holt Recommendation in Meeting

Official approval of President Hamilton Holt's recommendations that next year's freshman class at Rollins be limited to only 50 girls and 75 boys, re-election of six trustees whose terms had expired, and the election of Cornelius A. Pugsley, Peekskill, N. Y., as a new trustee, constituted the main order of business at the annual meeting of the Rollins college board of trustees Wednesday. The meeting, which was held at the college, officially opened the observance of Founders' Week.

Trustees reelected for a term of three years are William Russell O'Neal, Orlando; Louis Boisot, of Chicago; Fritz J. Frank, New York, N. Y.; Halstead W. Caldwell, Winter Park; Milton J. Warner, Pine Orchard, Conn.; and John H. Goss, Waterbury, Conn.

Cornelius A. Pugsley, who was elected to serve for a term of three years, is chairman of the board of the Westchester County National Bank, a former Congressman from his home district in New York, and widely known through his philanthropic donations to educational institutions.

Phelps Speech on Tues. Night Closes Founders' Week

William Lyon Phelps, professor of English at Yale university, has accepted an invitation to give the public lecture under the auspices of Rollins college next Tuesday night, February 25, in the Winter Park Congregational church. The lecture, which is the next in the series of Tuesday evening lectures and entertainments arranged by the college, will also mark the close of Founders' week.

Professor Phelps has been identified with the progress of Yale since his graduation days, and is recognized as one of the country's authorities on English literature. He was graduated from Yale in 1887 with an A. B. degree and in 1891 he received his Ph. D. degree. Later he received an A. M. degree at Harvard and the Litt. D. degree has been conferred upon him by Brown university and Colgate university.

Dr. Phelps began his teaching at Yale in 1892 as an instructor in English and he has been a member of the English department ever since, serving since 1901 as Lampson professor of English.

He is the author of a large number of outstanding books and contributions in the fields of literature and the arts beginning with his "Beginners of the English Romantic Movement," published in 1893.

ONLY ANIMATED MAGAZINE WILL APPEAR MONDAY

Pres. Hamilton Holt Will Again be Editor

With President Hamilton Holt again assuming the familiar role as editor, the fourth issue of the Rollins Animated Magazine, the only magazine in the world that comes alive, is scheduled to make its appearance on the campus Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Chairs to accommodate 4000 "subscribers" on a free basis will be set out in front of a platform from which Editor Holt will introduce the contributors. The Animated Magazine is being produced out of doors this year, it is announced, to accommodate all who wish to attend this unique feature. Last year, it will be recalled, not one auditorium in the vicinity of the college was large enough to accommodate the number of "subscribers," and overflow meetings were held at three places.

The final list of contributions, or the "table of contents," according to Dr. Grover, is as follows:

Foreword—Hamilton Holt, editor; formerly editor of "The Independent."

Editorial—Burris A. Jenkins, formerly editor of Kansas City Post.

"How the Fairies Came to Ireland,"—Seuman MacManus, author of "Donegal Fairies Stories."

"Our Boy,"—Daniel Carter Beard, Chief of the Boy Scouts of America.

"Plain People,"—Ed Howe, author of "The Story of a Country Town."

"Only Beauty," "April Moon," poems.—Jessie B. Rittenhouse, author.

PORTTRAITS ARE PRESENTED BY C. D. PUGSLEY

Ceremony Marks the Opening of Founders' Week

The collection of portrait paintings of Rollins officials and friends was increased by three yesterday afternoon at special presentation exercises when portraits of William R. O'Neal, of Orlando, secretary of the Board of Trustees, and the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Knowles were formally given to the college by Chester A. Pugsley, Peekskill, N. Y., banker, philanthropist and trustee of Rollins.

The ceremonies, which took place in the college library, were conducted under the direction of Dr. Edwin O. Grover, professor of books and director of the library. The portrait of Mr. O'Neal, who has been identified with the development of Rollins college for the past 43 years, was presented by Mrs. Ruby Warren Newby, head of the art department, on behalf of Mr. Pugsley. It was accepted for the college by Newton P. Yowell, a trustee.

The individual portraits of Mr. and Mrs. Knowles were presented on behalf of the donor, by Mrs. Francis B. Warren and Mrs. Gage, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Knowles, who donated the funds for Knowles Hall and Chapel and were generous donors to the endowment fund of the college while they lived. Mr. O'Neal accepted the portraits for the college.

Morgan Hart was the artist for the O'Neal portrait and Sidney E. Dickenson for the Knowles' portraits.

EDISON SURE TO ATTEND MONDAY CONVOCATION

Ford and Firestone Tentatively Accept

Thomas A. Edison will attend the annual Convocation and conferring of honorary degrees at Rollins next Monday, as a part of the observance of Founders' Week, it was announced following receipt of a telegram from Mrs. Edison to Hamilton Holt. According to the wire sent from Ft. Myers, where the Edison's are spending the winter, the Edison party is expected to arrive by motor on Sunday afternoon.

An invitation to the Edison's was extended by President Holt personally when he was in Ft. Myers on February 11 to make the dedicatory address at the unveiling of the Edison plaque commemorating Edison's 83rd birthday.

Dr. Holt also announced that invitations to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford and to Mr. and Mrs. Harvey S. Firestone to accompany the Edison's to the Founders' Week festivities had been tentatively accepted.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON OF SANDSPUR AT GREEN GABLES

College Journalists, Ex-Editors and Guests Meet

The annual luncheon of The Sandspur will be held in the Green Gables tea room this noon, and is expected to be one of the highlights of Founders' Week. Those in attendance will be the Sandspur staff, members of Professor Wattles' journalism class, who have been providing considerable material for the paper during the first half of the school year, and some guests of special invitation.

The Sandspur luncheon is an annual affair during Founders' week each year, and is for the purpose of organizing the work and planning the future of the paper. It is expected to be of special interest this year because of the vital changes which have been brought about in The Sandspur, notably the increase in size and number of columns, bringing it from a high school type paper to a true newspaper.

Some of the more important men attending the Founders' Week program, especially those of newspaper experience and importance, will be present at the luncheon as special guests, and old graduates who were connected with the paper will also attend. It is felt that this is a crucial year in the history of The Sandspur, and many important problems need to be settled. The editor, Miss McKay, hopes that many helpful new ideas and plans will develop from the meeting. The cost of the lunch is only one dollar per plate, so that anyone who feels he can be helpful or is interested in the development of the only Rollins weekly news publication may obtain reservations through Miss McKay.

CONVOCATION ADDRESS TO BE GIVEN BY WARD

Number of Honorary Degrees to be Conferred

Dr. George Morgan Ward, pastor of Royal Poinciana Chapel at Palm Beach, and president emeritus of Rollins, has accepted an invitation from President Hamilton Holt to give the address at the annual Convocation on Monday, in connection with the observance of Founders' Week, it is announced.

The Convocation, which will be featured by the conferring of honorary degrees upon several distinguished men and women, will be held at 10 a. m. outdoors on the campus.

Dr. Ward has been identified with the development and progress of Rollins since 1895 when he was induced to take the presidency of the college. He remained as president until 1903. By the investment of his own personal fortune and with the aid of a large number of gifts from friends, President Ward was able to keep the doors of the college open during a most critical period in its existence.

He resigned in 1905 to accept the presidency of Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., where he remained nine years and four years later he was induced to return to the presidency of Rollins to place the college on a more stable financial basis. Dr. Ward served without salary, until 1923, with the exception of two years. During his second term, he headed a movement for endowment which added $500,000 to the income producing funds. Upon his

Tea for Guests Monday

Distinguished guests of Rollins college who are to receive honorary degrees at the Convocation will be given a tea by the Rollins Key Society Monday afternoon at four o'clock at Rollins Hall. All alumni, students, faculty and friends are cordially invited to attend.

PHI BETA KAPPA TO MEET; SHAW WILL SPEAK

Rollins Key Members to be Special Guests on Occasion

The Phi Beta Kappa association of Central Florida will hold open meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Knowles hall, with an informal address by Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews magazine, on the cartoon history of Lincoln just issued by Dr. Shaw in two volumes. This address is of special interest during the month of Lincoln's birth at this time when the collection of cartoons regarding him is receiving hearty commendation by reviewers in the national press.

Approximately 50 members of the oldest Greek Letter fraternity in America reside in central Florida. Successful meetings were held last year at John B. Stetson university and at Rollins college, with others scheduled for Orlando in the near future. The Friday evening meeting is open to the public and will prove of interest to regular residents and winter visitors alike. Members of the Rollins Key scholarship society are special guests of the occasion.

A second feature of unusual interest is an address by Dr. Helen W. Cole, Rollins professor of Greek and Latin civilization, who will present a paper on the Latin poet, Virgil, who was born two thousand years ago this year. Dr. Cole is an experienced traveler just returned from a lengthy trip to the Arctic circle and to Italy. Orlando and Winter Park audiences have heard her frequently and with appreciation.

Seumas MacManus Tells Assembly Folk Formulas

Seumas MacManus, noted Irish poet and dramatist, spoke on last Monday morning on "Irish Folk Lore" before a large crowd of students and faculty in the chapel.

Mr. MacManus has spent a large part of his life in the midst of Irish folk lore and is convinced that it is "the most beautiful, the most poetic folklore in the world."

In describing the way in which these tales are passed down from generation to generation, told mostly around the fireside, Mr. MacManus said that every person knew hundreds of these tales and that he, who only six years old, knew more than a hundred himself.

Alumni and Friends from All Parts of Country Here

Founders' Week, in observance of the 45th year of Rollins college, the oldest in Florida, will be celebrated with an elaborate program that began Wednesday.

Public participation in the program for the week began yesterday afternoon with the presentation to the college of portraits of Dr. William R. O'Neal, a trustee, and the late Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Knowles. Dr. O'Neal, a prominent business leader of Orlando, has been actively identified with the administration of Rollins for the past 43 years. The late Mr. and Mrs. Knowles were among the early friends of the institution, providing Knowles hall and Chapel, and furnishing financial support at various periods.

The portraits, which are painted by Seymour Stone, New York portraitist, were presented to the college by Chester D. Pugsley, Peekskill banker and philanthropist who has given several portrait paintings to the college in the past. Dr. Edwin Osgood Grover, professor of books at Rollins, was in charge of the presentation ceremonies.

A production of "Enter Madam," by the Rollins Little Theatre Workshop concluded the first day's program.

Today's program includes the 36th anniversary luncheon of the Rollins Sandspur, a musical program in memory of Edward A. MacDowell, followed by an informal reception to the Founders' Week visitors; class, fraternity and sorority and other group reunions; and a Virgil commemoration by local members of Phi Beta Kappa. Speakers for the Virgil commemoration will be Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of Review of Reviews, and National Senator of Phi Beta Kappa, and Dr. Helen Wicand Cole, professor of Greek and Roman civilizations at Rollins.

Alumni homecoming day on Saturday, February 22, will have as features an alumni golf tournament for men and a tournament for women, the 32nd annual meeting of the Rollins College Alumni association where Rex Beach, president of the association will report; the annual alumni luncheon, a concert by the Winter Park Symphony orchestra and musical festival; and the annual civic celebration in the evening under the auspices of the city of Winter Park.

The program for Sunday will include the fourth annual production of the Rollins Animated Magazine at an outdoor location on the campus in the afternoon and the Union service of Rollins college and local churches in the evening. Contributors who will appear in person to read from their own manuscripts for the Animated Magazine will include Professor William Lyon Phelps, Yale university; Irving Bacheller, novelist; Dr. Burris A. Jenkins, Kansas City, Mo.; Robert Herrick, author of "The Master of the Inn;" Ray Stannard Baker; Daniel Carter Beard, chief of the Boy Scouts of America; Seuman MacManus, Irish novelist; Rex Beach, author; Percy MacKaye, the poet and dramatist; Jessie Rittenhouse, poet and anthologist; Corra Harris, novelist; Willard Wattles, poet; Princess Cantacuzeno, author; Ida Clyde Clarke, former editor of Pictorial Review; Fred Lewis Pattee, critic; Opie Read, humorist, and others.

Dr. Burris A. Jenkins, Kansas City clergyman and editor, will deliver the sermon at the union service Sunday evening.

Rollins

Forty-five years are a long time in the life of a man. In the life of a college they are only an episode. An institution such as Rollins was founded to endure for many lifetimes. Those returning alumni who mingle this week with the Rollins of today find a different college from the one they knew. But they find the same college, too.

This is what we are trying to say to them: We who are here today cannot share with you the Rollins of the past. It is you who best know why. We wish we could. But you have come to us because you would stand shoulder to shoulder with all of us in the Rollins of the present. Faces you knew and we have known are missing. Those who built with nerve and brain and brawn and life blood this little institution whose lamp is on a hilltop, are some of them beyond our reach and beyond the words of gratitude that we might speak if they were here.

The Rollins of the future is assured. Make no mistake about that. It is not only the past which gives us confidence. There is an institution here in which a man can dare to be honest. That is no small achievement in itself. No student on this campus need fear himself penalized for disagreeing with his instructor. On the contrary, he feels himself all the more under obligation to examine into his own opinions to insure that they are not founded upon emotion or prejudices.

And we have an institution here in which our instructors feel under no obligation to pretend. What they have of scholarship we recognize because their learning has not separated them from us but brought us nearer together. The members of the board of trustees and of the administration have proved in many ways that we are regarded as men and women worthy of their confidence on the basis of mutual respect.

Much remains to be done. That is not a handicap but an incentive. In no other college in the land do quite the same conditions obtain as here on the shores of Lake Virginia. We are embarked together on an adventure more important than any one of us alone can know. It is an adventure in honesty, and as President Holt has told us and you and an interested world, we say it is really what he has named it, "an adventure in common sense."

Give us, then, as you return, the benefit of your unspoken memories of the Rollins that is past, the Rollins of those forty-five years in which in the life of a man cover such a sweep of time and range of insight. It needs you, and it will not fail you in the Rollins of today. Nor need we doubt with such a spirit in the years we enter now together—the Rollins of the future,—the name of our Alma Mater will be a proud word for us to speak, a name with bugles in it and with swords.

THE SANDSPUR
BULLETIN BOXALL STUDENTS SHOULD PARTICIPATE IN CONVOCATION

President Holt is anxious that all students join the faculty, trustees and distinguished guests in the academic procession on Founders' Day, following the tradition established for this occasion. The procession will form in front of Carnegie promptly at 9:30 Monday morning. Front seats will be reserved at Convocation for those who march. Seniors should wear academic costume.

SENIORS GET CAPS AND GOWNS

Seniors should call for their caps and gowns between 10 and 10:30 or 1 and 1:30 Friday at the office of the Dean of Women.

FACULTY CAPS AND GOWNS

Faculty members may obtain their cap and gown orders at the office of the Dean of Women Saturday morning.

FACULTY MEETING MONDAY

Faculty members are requested to report at Carnegie hall promptly at 9:15 Monday morning, in academic costume, for a group picture.

PHI BETA KAPPA MEETING

Dr. Albert Shaw and Dr. Helen Wicand Cole will be the speakers at the Phi Beta Kappa meeting this evening at 8 o'clock. Members of the Rollins Key Society are to be special guests, and students, faculty and friends of Rollins are cordially invited.

ART EXHIBIT TUESDAY

There will be a student exhibit and tea at the Art Studio Tuesday afternoon. Students, faculty, friends, and especially the Founders' Week visitors are invited.

FOUNDERS' WEEK PROGRAM

We call your attention to the program of Founders' Week which appears on the front page of this issue.

Rex Beach Will Take Part in Alumni
Celebration, Sat.

Rex Beach, author of "The Spoilers," "Sons of the Gods," and other best sellers, will take an active part in the alumni reunion activities at Rollins next Saturday, in connection with the observance of Founders' Week. Mr. Beach, as president of the alumni association, will give his annual report at the 32nd annual meeting of the association at noon, and will be one of the principal speakers at the annual luncheon at the college dining hall immediately following the business meeting. Charles A. Noone, Chattanooga, Tenn., lawyer and vice-president of the alumni association, will be the toastmaster.

Soph: Why don't you take up aviation?
Frosh: Who, Me? Why?
Soph: Because you're no good on earth.

What do you charge for a ticket to Two Creeks?
We don't charge anything. You pay cash or walk!

"The Jigg is up," said the doctor as the patient died of St. Vitus Dance.

Bernard: What's the charge for this battery?
Kromer: Three amperes.
Bernard: How much is that in American money?

No girl ever made a fool out of me.
Who was it, then?

bad language. So far no great harm has been done except to point-jobs, vehicular, of course. But there are entertaining possibilities.

Especially during the heavy traffic of Founders' week—and we hope thereafter—we suggest all parking be prohibited on Kentucky avenue and all cars shunted into the commodious quarters of the Great-Out-Door garage in the block just north of the campus Horseshoe. Perhaps somebody else has already scintillated this same bright idea. We merely submit the proposal that linguistic proficiency should be directed by experts. Also that one good-sized smash-up on the Campus Racetrack might prove expensive for Somebody Sometime.

The Kennedy-Whitman collection was opened for the first time after the portrait presentations. The collection was given to Rollins by the late William Sloane Kennedy of West Yarmouth, Mass. It contains 51 Whitman items among which are French and German first edition translations of Leaves of Grass, an autographed portrait of Whitman and original manuscripts. There are also several autographed letters from John Burroughs to Mr. Kennedy.

In addition to this and a fine collection of books from his personal library, he has given a special $10,000 endowment to Rollins, which will bring $600 yearly for books.

Next Freshman Class is to Be Limited

and welfare institutions. Mr. Pugsley provided most of the funds for the first and second annual institute of statesmanship at Rollins. His son, Chester a Pugsley, is also a trustee of Rollins.

President Holt's report referring to his recommendation to limit the next freshman class to 75 boys and 50 girls pointed out that the limited facilities at the present time would make this step necessary.

He reported that the number of applications from prospective students is larger now than at any time in Rollins history. The present enrollment of 325 students, he told the trustees, is already taxing the facilities of the institution with its present equipment. He emphasized the fact that plans are being made to build Rollins so that it reaches a maximum enrollment of 700 students, which, he believes is the ideal number of students for an institution such as Rollins.

President Holt expressed the conviction that this year's staff of teachers is superior to that of any previous year.

The improvement in the quality of the teaching has been noticeable during each of the past several years, he said. He reiterated his aspiration to make "Rollins the best small college in America" by continuing to search for "great teachers."

He reported, officially, that Edward Warren Rollins Hall, a new dormitory for men that was provided by a gift of $35,000 from the late Edward Warren Rollins, had been completed and is now being occupied by students. In the afternoon, the new building, which is the first unit in the plan to give Rollins a distinctive group of buildings of the Spanish-Mediterranean type of architecture, was inspected by the trustees.

President Holt also reported, in discussing the progress of the present endowment campaign for $2,500,000, that approximately $1,000,000 had already been subscribed for endowment. This amount includes $500,000 from an unnamed donor, an anonymous gift of $125,000 and numerous smaller gifts of varying amounts. He referred also to the grant from the Conrad Hubert estate as administered by Calvin Coolidge Alfred E. Smith, and Julius Rosenwald. He reported that the amount Rollins will receive from the liquidation of the estate will be at least $45,000 and may reach $250,000. Dr. Holt expressed his complete satisfaction with the progress of the campaign and indicated his confidence that the college will attain its goal.

The Tar Brush

By NED CONDON

FOUNDERS' WEEK is here again. Well, well, it's nothing new to the Tar Brush, for we founder around every week. And feeling unusually punny, this week we are simply Founded with news.

BUT SERIOUSLY, speaking of golf, Freddy Ward was heard to remark that he'd be Danned if the student golf team could beat the alumni.

THE RATS played a sweet game against Florida the other night and after the tilt Coach Joe Holsinger of the Gator squad said that he thought Dermid and Worley to be two of the best ball players he had seen this winter.

SPRING IS HERE—and with it baseball. The great game of the small boy first manifested itself on the campus yesterday noon with the appearance on the Beaneys steps of a box of tangerines which seemed to afford an excellent work-out for the soup-bones of certain of our slab artists.

TAKING ATHLETICS seriously is one thing that a large university really does. Coach Holsinger was taking over the present situation with us last night and said that the U. of F. expects to have one unit of its projected football stadium completed by the time of the Alabama game next fall. This unit will probably have a seating capacity of 20,000 and the stadium will eventually hold some 40,000 fans. It will take several years to educate the football public of Florida to travel to Gainesville for its games, but as it gets used to the idea bigger and better battles will be brought to the state. The Georgia Tech game which up to this time has always been fought on Grant field in Atlanta will be brought to the state university in accordance with the Tech policy of all games being played on the campus.

MORE GOLF—It is being bruted about that Freddy Ward and Jack McDowall are taking on Dick Bushnell and Windy Banks in an 18-hole match Sunday for big stakes. If the Theta Tyros prove as adept at the Scotch national sport as they are at the Spanish it looks as if the anonymous $500,000 is in for a terrible lacing.

FLEET'S CANOERS FIND GOING HARD ON WEKIWA TRIP

Rainy Weather Damps Crew's Spirit

It was a decidedly wet party, but last week-end trip down to Bell Island, made by Lizzie May Ichofield, Dorothy Allen, Henrietta Cowl, Ethel Hahn, Clara Adolphs, Yula Powers and Sara Hu-y, with Fleet as escort.

Saturday, dank and gloomy, was auspicious, but fortunately for the voyagers, it did not rain until they had reached the cabin. However, rain prevented any exploring. The girls, sad to speak, spent a quiet evening at home.

After dark, Fleet succeeded in building a fire, although the wood was damp. Everyone gathered about the small blaze, and told host stories in order to produce a more cheerful atmosphere. The ligators did their best to be entertaining by snorting all through the night.

Sunday morning dawned drab and drear. Nevertheless, the "in-epid little band" set out for the ridge ten miles away. Fleet, Clara, Yula, and Henry reached it, but the others fell two miles short of the goal. Some were rather amorous canoeists, and made heavy weather of the rough water as the wind came sweeping across the river, blowing the canoe out of its course. The laboring sternsman

VARSITY QUINT LOSES TOUGHER TO SOUTHERNERS

Pickard Men Put Up Fight But Lose

The Rollins Tars lost to the invading Southern Moccasins, 32-21, in their final game of the season after watching the Rats run wild against the Lakeland Frosh at Recreation hall Saturday night. Playing the last game of his college career, Captain Pickard led his basketballers from forward position. Although McDowall shifted Wallis to center, this change was not enough to stem the Mocs. This combination had the best offensive drive of the season. They had little trouble in working the leather through the Mocs' defense, but they had hard luck in their attempts to toss the sphere through the hoop.

"Froggy" Walter's flashy floor work was the bright spot of the game. Walter was able to score nine points in addition to holding down his position at guard. "Froggy" repeatedly broke up the Mocs' offense and took the ball to sink a long shot.

Reid wound up his first season on the squad by playing the best game he has played this year.

Proctor, over-anxious to play an air-tight defensive game, was taken out on fouls in the last half. By far the lightest on the squad, Proctor has shown up well against his heavier opponents.

Cochenour played a hard game the few minutes he was in the contest for Proctor.

Melton, forward, was high scorer for the Lakeland quintet with 11 points to his credit. At center, "Sloppy" Murrell played a snappy game.

The Tars went into the fray in a fighting spirit in an attempt to close the season with a win. From first to last the game was a hard fought affair. Hood's Mocs had their hands full to keep ahead of the Tars.

Lineup and summary:
Rollins (21) (33) Southern

Proctor, 2 f Melton, 11
Wallis, 2 c Murrell, 5
Walters 9 g Satterfield 5
Reid g Huskey, 2

would no sooner get his craft headed in the right direction again, than the wind would zip across from the opposite side. It was no wonder that tender hands blistered and inexperienced muscles grew painfully sore.

On the return trip, all were caught in the rain. Rain soaked them to the skin, rain sloshed about in the canoes. Some began to feel that they would never see the cabin row. Even when the cabin was reached, it was almost impossible to dry and warm the water-logged mariners. A tiny fire, hot coffee and food did much to restore physical and mental happiness, but everyone was still damp around the edges when it was time to start home.

As though enough disasters had not occurred, Fleet let a knife slip and cut his thumb.

It rained a little during the trip to the springs, although not enough to matter much to people already inured to wet and chill. A gray mist rose like smoke from the river. Water dripped sorrowfully from trees and bushes. It was a long way home.

(N.B. A good time was had by all.)

Florence: I insist that love is just the same as it always was.
Don: How do you know?
Florence: I just read about a Grecian maid who sat and listened to a lyre all night.

Tar Tennis Team To Compete in Mt. Plymouth Tourney

The Rollins tennis team will compete in the Central Florida tennis championships on the courts of the Mount Plymouth Country club, on February 23 to March 2. This tournament draws one of the most select fields of any tennis tournament in Florida. John Hennessy, American Davis Cup star, was the winner last year.

Ted Williams, Bob Proctor, Olcott Deming, Bob Stevens and Geo. Holt will make up the Rollins team. Several of these men are expected to give a very good account of themselves and progress a good way in the tournament.

RATS TAKE CAGE GAME FROM 1ST YEAR MOCCASINS

Scoring Record for Gymnasium is Set

The Rollins college Freshmen ran rough-shod over the Southern College Baby Moccasins Saturday night in the local gymnasium to the tune of 76-17.

The game was played before the largest crowd of the season. The fast play displayed by Coach McDowall's Freshmen is attracting a large number of enthusiastic followers from Winter Park and Orange county.

Trouncing the Baby Mocs by this overwhelming score gives the Yearlings their record win of the season and also establishes a new gym record for points scored in one game.

Dermid was high point man for the Baby Tars with 23, being closely pushed by Worley with 22. The shooting of Dunlop and Walton was a big factor in the large score made by the Rats, the former registering 13 points and the latter 12.

Billy Banks at guard proved a consistent thorn to the offensive of the down state Yearlings. He seldom failed to get the ball on the rebound, and working the leather out to the opening with the coolness of a veteran. His coming is a real asset to the Frosh cagers.

This win places the Rats on the top in the running of the S. I. A. A. championship among the Freshman competitors. The Rats have two more games this season with collegiate competitors, both of them with the University of Florida Baby Gators.

Lineup and summary:
Rollins (76) (17) Southern
Worley, 22 f Diefweith, 3
Walton, 12 f Wilson
Dermid, 23 c Hightower, 5
Banks, 3 g Wycoff, 3

Williams, Deming, Show Well in Net Matches at Orlando

Several members of the net team are competing in the Orlando city tennis tournament which is divided into classes. Ted Williams has reached the semi-finals in the class A tournament and he plays Bill Hickey, Orlando champion, in his next match.

In class B, Olcott Deming has entered the second round. None of the team have played their matches as yet. Williams and Deming have an excellent chance of winning their respective tournaments.

The match between the Rollins and Orlando tennis teams scheduled for February 16 was postponed on account of the heavy rain which fell throughout that entire day. This match will be re-scheduled at some later time and it is expected to bring out some very fine tennis.

ALUMNI GOLFERS TO MEET SCHOOL SQUAD ON SAT.

Dann to Captain College Links Team

Tentative plans were announced last Monday by Fred Ward for a golf match to be played Saturday between the alumni and a team representing the college. Arrangements have been made with the Sanlando Country club at Altamonte Springs for the matches to be played over that course Saturday afternoon following the alumni luncheon here. Representing the alumni will be Frank Booth, Walter Hunter, Dave Rogers, William Gidding and possibly Leon Lewis. Carl Dann will lead the undergraduate contingent of Logan Jenkins, Hugh McKean and Bob James. Enthusiasm is running high in both camps and a good battle is anticipated.

At the same time the men are waging a battle at Sanlando, the women will be engaged in an 18-hole struggle over the sporty Petite Country club links here. As yet, they have not decided upon their teams.

A general tournament for alumni will be played at Sanlando on the morning of the feature match with prizes for blind bogey and low gross. Cars for the Altamonte links will meet at Carnegie at 8:30 o'clock.

Fred H. Ward assistant treasurer at Rollins, and chairman of the committee arranging the golf tournaments, announced yesterday that the following prizes have been donated by Winter Park and Orlando business houses:

Men's tournament at Sanlando Golf club: log gross score, one dozen golf balls by Union State Bank, Winter Park; low net score, one half dozen golf balls by Winter Park Land company; blind bogey first prize, one pair golf shoes, Yowell Drew company, Orlando; blind bogey second prize, one pair linen knickers, R. C. Baker company, Winter Park.

Women's Tournament at Petite club: first prize, linen table set by Bank of Winter Park; second prize, embroidered handbag, R. F. Leedy, Winter Park.

FROSH TROUCE WINTER GARDEN BASKET QUINTET

Run Rough - shod To Victory by 64-8

Playing in its first game of the second half of the Central Florida Basketball league season, the Rat cage squad swept to a one-sided victory over the Independents of Winter Garden, 64-8, Monday night in the gymnasium.

With a brand of teamwork and skill dazzling to the Independent boys, the Frosh took their game hands down, jumping into a top heavy lead in the first period and maintaining absolute control of the floor at all times during the tilt. At half-time the score stood 35-1 in favor of the Tar Babies.

In the third period Coach McDowall started his second string and continued putting men on the floor until he had used the entire squad. The reserves demonstrated their ability to keep the Winter Garden team well in hand but it was during this period that the opponents did practically all of their scoring.

Charlie Dermid ran wild during the evening, chalking up 23 points. Paul Worley and "Wart" Walton also contributed largely to the final tally, getting 14 and 13 points respectively. Don Dunlop and Billy Banks turned in good games at guard with Crawford, Morris and

Tar War Canoes Will Race at Mount Dora Water Meet

Fleet Peeples will lead a picked team of 20 water sports men to the annual regatta held at Mt. Dora on March 1. The race for ten-men war canoes will feature the day's sporting events with two canoes entered from Rollins.

Kappa Phi Sigma fraternity, whose war canoe has not been defeated in the past 3 years will enter one of the craft captained by Hank Cobb. The other Rollins canoe team will be captained by Cloyde Russell, generally conceded to be one of the strongest paddlers in the college. In the canoe tilting contests the Tars will be represented by the Bob Pepper-"Doc" Russell combination, unofficial Rollins champs, who will hold the lists against all comers. Russell will wield the paddle while Pepper will furnish the team's offense.

TAR CHESS TEAM WINS FROM CITY MEN IN JOUST

Kirillin, Plympton, Pepper Take Matches

A tournament Monday night between the Rollins chess club and the city team of Winter Park resulted in a victory for the collegians, six games to four. The tournament was played in the Winter Park chamber of commerce building, Carter Bradford, chamber secretary making arrangements for the match.

Val Kirillin, college champion, led off with two victories over J. H. Stroller. Robert Pepper, after losing one to Mrs. Martin, swept through two games against J. A. Podmore. A two-hour game between J. T. DeBerry and Dr. Martin was finally lost to the townsman. Art Anger, new member of the chess club, had little difficulty in winning twice from C. L. Cleaves. Waldo Plympton found a tough proposition in F. F. Matheson, going down for two straight.

The Winter Park chess team is composed mainly of winter tourists who are also chess enthusiasts. A return match will be played next Monday night at the Vagabondia, the Rollins chess home, at New York and Fairbanks avenues, when the city players will be the guests of the chess club. A series of tournaments is being arranged by the chess club, which will probably include the Rollins faculty, the teams of neighboring towns, and the Florida collegiate tournament, tentatively set for the month of April.

Child also performing creditably as subs in these positions.

Although the score was top-heavy it seemed that the Rats were not performing at top speed for they lost many comparatively easy baskets.

"Are you the bridegroom?" asked the old gentleman of a young man.

"No," said the embarrassed youth, "I was eliminated in the preliminary tryouts."

Big Boy: Do you see this muscle? I can stop a train with that right arm.

Admirer: Whew, some athlete! Bib Boy: No, I'm an engineer.

Nit: Don't you think my suit is a perfect fit?

Wit: You bet! it's an absolute convulsion.

Helen: I hear you won an endurance driving contest last week. How did it happen?

Clifford: 'S nothing, nothing at all. I was just looking for a place to park near the campus.

UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA RATS BEAT TAR BABY BASKETEERS IN HARD-FOUGHT CAGE DUEL

W. A. A. Kids Chuck Big Brawl Friday

The annual W. A. A. Kid party last Friday evening was a big success. The gym was decorated with red hearts and red crepe paper streamers. Mrs. Lester, Mrs. Enright and Mrs. White were chaperones. Mrs. Lester joined in the spirit of the party, and came wearing a little pink hair ribbon and a shockingly short skirt.

All sorts of children attended the party. Little sissy girls with curls, hair ribbons and big sashes, and younger ones in rompers, nice little boys and little toughies. One pair of twins arrived in checked dresses sharing a bunny full of red candy hearts. A red-haired tomboy in green shorts and a big yellow ribbon was the life of the party.

After the games there was a grand march and prizes awarded. Henrietta Khul as a nice little boy was the cutest and Ruby Quick with a pigtail curled up under a very broad-brimmed hat was the funniest. The prizes were large red lolly-pops. Strawberry ice-cream cones and coconut cookies were bandished about while the children danced.

WEISMULLER TO COME HERE FOR FLA. SWIM MEET

Speed Merchant Holds Many Records

Johnny Weismuller, lanky aquatic speed demon of the Illinois Athletic club slated to visit Rollins college campus at the Florida Interscholastic high school swimming meet in April, holds world's records for ten major free style dashes and has set marks for three national events.

Weismuller's world's records are as follows: 100 yards, 49 seconds, made in 1927; 100 meters, 57 seconds, 1928; 120 yards, 1 minute 23.5 seconds, 1928; 150 yards, 1 minute 13 seconds, 1928; 200 meters, 2 minutes 13 1-5 seconds, 1927; 220 yards, 2 minutes 8.4 seconds, 1927; 300 yards, 3 minutes 7.8 seconds, 1927; 300 meters, 3 minutes 31 seconds, 1927; 440 yards, 4 minutes 52 seconds, 1927; 500 yards, 5 minutes 28 2-5 seconds, 1928.

His national championships include the 100, 220 and 500 yard events. He was also on the 1928 champion 500 yard relay team of the Illinois A. C. When on April 3, 1928 it established a national record of 4 minutes 28 1-5 seconds at Chicago. The 300 yard medley relay record was set by Weismuller, Peterson and Samson April 4, 1928 at Chicago when the trio covered that course in 3 minutes 5 3-5 seconds.

The noted swimmer, together with Pete Des Jardines of Miami, national high diving champion, will give exhibitions of their prowess at the high school meet, to be held on Lake Virginia in April.

Cherry and Pitman Point Way to Gator Win

Playing their fastest and hardest game of the year, the Baby Tars came out on the short end of their tilt with the University of Florida freshmen Wednesday night, 40-28. It was nip and tuck from the beginning to end with the Rollins Rats threatening at all times. Twice in the last half they were within three points of tying the score, but each time the big, fast Florida five managed to put on just a little more speed and to maintain their lead.

Cherry, rangy center who last year played with Leesburg high school, and Pitman, a tall, fast forward, were the mainstays of the Gator offense. At the time when Pitman was taken from the game with an injured knee in the second half he was leading his teammates in scoring. Sherrill at the other wing post left nothing to be asked for in his floor work, while Florida's mountainous guards, Gunn and McAdam, were great under the basket, making it almost impossible for the Tar squad to get close enough for crisp shots. Gunn was keen on offense, too, ringing up three field goals.

Dermid at center and Worley at one forward again proved to be Rollins' scoring threat. Walton came close behind the two Carolinians in scoring. If the Wart were only four inches taller there would be no stopping him, but in last night's game the superior reach of the Florida boys was a large factor in their win. Dunlop and Banks at guards were going like a house afire during the first period before Don was removed from the game on fouls. Billy continued at high speed throughout the game, with T. J. Morris performing brilliantly, though at times erratically, in Dunlop's place. Crawford showed well in the few minutes that he subbed for Banks.

Rollins scored first, but Florida came back with a rush led by Cherry and at half time was leading, 21-14. Florida came from the tip-off with a bang to sink one immediately after the rest period, but at this point Worley and Dermid began to find their eyes, running the count to 24-21. The crowd was on its feet shouting for the Rats to tie it up but Florida steadied down and again increased their margin comfortably. With about 8 minutes to play the Tar Yearlings shoved the count to 31-28 and for a few minutes followed what was perhaps the hottest scrimmage fought in the gym this year. Here the superior power of the state university squad showed itself and they forged to the lead by which they won.

Among other things that appeared as the result of the recent stock-market crash was a book entitled, "How to Beat the Stock Market." We wonder why the author didn't apply some of his own dope and thus escape the necessity of writing a book to earn a little money? Anyway, it's rather good and contains a lot of useful information about margins, short selling, etc., which may help the inexperienced investor.

New Unit of Rollins Plan

Rollins Hall, a $50,000 dormitory being occupied this term for first time, is the first completed unit in the plan to give Rollins College a distinctive group of buildings of the Spanish-Mediterranean type of architecture.

Rollins hall is named for the late Edward Warren Rollins of Boston, and Dover, N. H., who gave $35,000 toward the cost. In accordance with the wishes of the donor, Rollins hall has been built as a complete home with ample space provided for reading, recreation and entertainment. Formal dedication of Rollins hall as a dormitory for men will take place during next week.

The new building is 72 feet long, 42 feet wide, and houses 25 students. It is built of reinforced concrete fireproof construction with stucco exterior. Richard Kiehnel, Miami, the architect, is the originator of this type of architecture which is considered to be particularly adapted to Florida both from an artistic and utilitarian standpoint.

The exterior stucco is old Spanish texture, brownish-tan in color, high-lighted in three tones, and set off by ornamental cast stone trim and decorations, with massive columns arched across the main entrance which opens on a loggia porch. The porch runs the entire length of the building and the hand-made tile floor gives a touch of color to the exterior.

The first floor contains a large living room, with fireplace, a music room, a dining room, a guest room, a matron's room, and a sun porch. Two broad staircases lead to the second floor which is given over to dormitory accommodations. Sleeping porches extending the entire length of the building are located at each end of the second floor. All occupants of the dormitory sleep on these porches. Intimate study rooms are provided with simple, substantial furnishings, closet space, book racks, etc. The third story is a miniature replica of the second, as approximately one third of the building is of 3-story construction. A half basement contains a complete up-to-date oil burning plant. The R. W. Burrowes Construction company, of Bartow, was the contractor.

STUDENT FORUM

LET'S MAKE WHOOPEE!

There have been fewer dances and general get-togethers of the student body as a whole on the campus this year than has been the case for a number of years; since the practical abolition of chapel the students do not know their own strength. Rollins is the possessor of an excellent Majestic radio, one of the finest on the market, playing either from the ether or from victrola records. This fine machine has been placed in the lobby of Cloverleaf, where it spends its time playing jazz to a few stragglers and receiving the general wear and tear of dormitory life. The majority of the students hardly know of its existence.

Why not make use of the machine? Let's take it down to the gym twice a week and have a general round-up and informal dance? Cut out the usual formalities of such affairs, for the gym is no place for formalities, and have a ripping good time all around. The boys seem to know where to find punch growing on trees, and the bleachers are mighty nice on these moonlight, balmy nights. Let's have a little fun once in a while; drag out the old music box, which is loud enough to be heard into the next county, and make whoopee for a couple of hours in the evening! The students would become better acquainted with each other, and would find an opportunity to relax from their strenuous efforts to absorb knowledge.

Pay Up!

Experience of the past four years has shown that the majority of Rollins students, whether sons of steel magnates or Florida real estate agents, depend upon the ten dollars returned from their breakage fee at the end of the year to go home on. This year many students may have to hang around the campus awhile, for they seem to have forgotten that the Tomokan Staff will appropriate that fee to pay for their Tomokan pictures. You can better afford to pay the cost of your pictures now than later, and if you do so you will thank yourself for it at the end of the year.

Mr. Siewert, the Tomokan photographer until forced to take to his bed a month ago, has long been a friend of the college and of the students, and deserves all the help we can give him. Just at present his greatest need is financial, yet the Tomokan staff cannot pay him until it receives the money from the students themselves. Therefore we ask you now to pay to the photographer editor of the Tomokan your fee as soon as you can, for this would be an advantage to you and an immeasurable help to us. You have nothing to lose and everything to gain, so why not do it?

And Another Blackskin Bit the Dust

The inmates of Cloverleaf were startled in their studies just at dusk last Sunday night by a terrific crash from across the lake. A snappy Reo roadster, careening along the road at the west end of the lake, had rolled over in attempting to make the little double curve across the dinky tracks, with rather disastrous results to the car and its occupants.

As soon as the car came to a stop upside down across the road, two negroes, catapulted from the rumble seat, gathered themselves from the road and hooped it for Hannibal Square; the driver, likewise thrown out, headed at something more than full speed for the woods toward the south. The other two occupants, a man and a woman, were held under the car and could not be released until the car had been turned upon its side.

By the time the students could arrive at the scene, the crowd had quickly gathered and had pulled the woman, moaning as if in pain, from the wreckage, but the man, hanging from the seat unconsciously, was left. "Yes," they told us, "he's dead; killed instantly." At that moment, however, the man uttered a sound, and was immediately pulled from the car and laid on the grass. He had a whisky bottle in his hand. Slowly he revived, until finally he proved to be injured not at all, but so drunk that he could hardly stand up.

In just seven minutes the ambulance came from Orlando and carried off the woman, while the man was led off to the police station by the Winter Park police force. Before leaving he was questioned as to the cause of the accident.

"The steering wheel came apart," he said. (There's no doubt at all that it came apart; but so did the rest of the car for that matter.)

The car, resembling more a collegiate Ford than a Reo, is at the Durant garage, and will be sold at the price of the tires plus expenses.

DR. HAMILTON HOLT, OF ROLLINS COLLEGE, NAMES CORRA HARRIS FIRST PROFESSOR OF "EVIL"

Mrs. Harris Will Give Special Course for Advanced Students

CORRA HARRIS, the author, may be known to the students of Rollins college this year as the first professor of "Evil," according to President Hamilton Holt's announcement today of her appointment to the winter school faculty. Mrs. Harris, it is announced, will give a special course on Evil to a selected group of advanced students.

President Holt was careful to point out that Mrs. Harris' course will be, actually, a course in Good. "Of course, it will not take up the practice of evil," he emphasized, "but rather the history and philosophy of it as contrasted to virtue; and it is likely that the effects of evil upon history and life will be discussed by the class."

"Evil," Mrs. Harris explains, "is one of the oldest classics of human nature. It is usually taught," she points out, "by people morally illiterate and mentally corrupt, when it should be an important part of the education of youth, taught as a classic, carefully analyzed and defined with reference to preparing adolescent people for dealing intelligently rather than emotionally or weakly with instincts—not merely of the body but of the mind. Evil, she maintains, is a dignified subject and an important part of education. It is a subject," she insists, "that should be taught by good people, not by evil persons."

Mrs. Harris has some opinions that will probably be contrary to the conventional ideas of the young students whom she will teach at Rollins. For one thing, she does not believe that there is any sophistication of youth.

"The sophisticated youngster," she said today, "proves that he is unsophisticated by his insistence that he is sophisticated. A young man who is really wicked takes an entirely different attitude. He pretends to the best of his ability that he is innocent, and to be actually found out is the last thing that he wants to happen."

Neither does she believe in "conscious goodness." It leads to hypocrisy, she holds.

She also draws a broad line between ambition and aspiration. The person who is ambitious must climb, if he is to realize his ambition, over the shoulders of some one else. Ambitions, as such, Mrs. Harris believes, is one of the two worst things in the world. The other, she says, is jealousy.

Mrs. Harris began her career as a writer and novelist in 1899 when Hamilton Holt, then editor of The Independent, accepted one of her articles for his publication. It has since been Dr. Holt's proud boast that he discovered Mrs. Harris. She achieved lasting fame for her books, Circuit Rider's Wife, and My Book and Heart.

Mrs. Harris has also accepted an invitation to read one of her contributions for the Rollins Animated Magazine, which will be produced for the fourth consecutive annual issue as a feature of Founders' Week on February 23. About fifteen other distinguished writers and poets will appear in person to read manuscripts.

Thirteen Years of Change

January 10, 1943.

When I returned to visit my old Alma Mater, Rollins, last week for the first time since my graduation back in 1930, I expected to find great changes in the campus; and I found that the old Rollins I knew had practically all been torn down, imposing and comfortable Spanish buildings taking the place of the old wooden shelters. It seemed to me, however, that the chapel and class buildings I had expected to see were missing, and so I stopped a passing student and inquired:

"Where," I asked, "are the class buildings on the campus? I would like to visit a class or two."

"Oh," he remarked with a superior smile, "we don't have classes here any more. You see, the students rebelled so against the regularity of class attendance that classes were abolished and radios were placed in all dormitory rooms to take their places."

"But," I inquired when my astonishment allowed, "has learning been abolished and jazz taken its place entirely?"

"Oh, no; not that. You see, in that building over there we have a fort to help the needy and in 1783 Florida's first play in English, "Bean Stratagem," was produced for the community chest of that day.

Vicente Zepedes arrived in St. Augustine in 1784 to take possession of Florida as the Spanish governor and, simultaneously there vanished the last hope of the Loyalists to remain in Florida under British rule. According to the Commissioner of Evacuation, William Brown, these 9938 Loyalists were accounted for as follows: 860 remained in Florida, mostly in St. Augustine and New Smyrna; 480 went to Nova Scotia; 910 to Jamaica; 3247 to the Bahama Islands; 591 to Dominica; 281 to Europe; 287 to other "foreign parts;" and 2782 returned to the United States to become citizens of the new republic and to constitute what might have been the fourteenth star in Betsy Ross's first American flag.

Two Volumes on "Florida Loyalists" Added at Rollins

A question in early American history as to why Florida was not the fourteenth state, thereby adding another star to the famous handiwork of Betsy Ross, has been fully answered in two noteworthy volumes entitled "Loyalists in East Florida," which have just been added to the Florida history collection of Rollins college, according to an announcement made by A. J. Hanna, professor of Florida history, who is conducting a course this term in an early period of the state's background.

These handsomely bound books, which carry the British coat of arms, constitute the ninth publication of the Florida State Historical society. The first volume is a connected narrative by Wilbur Henry Siebert, F. R. H. S., research professor in Ohio State university, in which are detailed events of the American Revolution involving the participation of British Loyalists of East Florida, or those loyalists who went to East Florida principally from Georgia and South Carolina either during or at the close of the Revolution. The second volume reproduces the most important documents in the British Record office, pertaining to the period of 1774-1785.

Although Florida became an English colony in 1763, Professor Siebert's study of the peninsula's relation to the War of Independence does not begin until a decade later, when Lieut. Col. Patrick Tonyn became governor of East Florida. Also by this time the British Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts had sent Bibles, prayer books and pious tracts to be distributed among the poor colonists in Florida. Subsequent events indicate that the distribution was either limited or unappreciated, although this impression may have arisen out of the fact that the first Florida schoolmaster was paid only $125 a year.

As early as 1775 the Earl of Dartmouth designated Florida as "a secure asylum" for those who remained loyal to the British Crown. Despite every precaution to keep Florida loyal, there were notable defections, such as Chief Justice William Drayton, from whom Drayton Island on the St. Johns river was named, and Dr. Andrew Turnbull, founder of the famous Minorcan Colony at New Smyrna. On the whole, however, Georgia and South Carolina refugees to Florida far outnumbered the American sympathizers who left Florida. In 1782 the whole population of Florida had more than doubled because of the influx.

The East Florida Rangers and other groups organized to protect Lady Egmont's plantation and other settlements on the St. Mary's developed into raiding parties which, with the help of friendly Indians, did serious damage to the border plantations and settlements in Georgia. In addition, the forces in Florida were of no inconsiderable help to the British in the Savannah and Charleston campaigns.

At the close of the war hundreds of refugees came to St. Augustine not knowing that the Spanish flag would soon be waving over Florida. Much distress arose and considerable lawlessness took place. Out of this condition came an ef-large short-length radio station, and the professors spend certain hours of the day lecturing over the radio. The lectures have to be good, because otherwise the students will tune off."

"But do the students listen to them?"

"Oh, yes; you see, in Rollins we have abolished the grade system and have only the sort of student that wishes to learn. He can tune in on any one of the half dozen lectures at any time of the day. The Profs spend two hours a day lecturing, and the rest of the day are at home in our lounging rooms where personal group conferences can be held at any time. Here we have lounges, easy chairs, and serve refreshments occasionally."

"How about school spirit? Do the students ever get together?"

"Oh, yes; although there are no regular meetings of any kind, the students have the privilege of calling assemblies at any time by means of petitions circulated in the dormitories. These meetings are held in the open air auditorium on the lake shore."

By this time I was so bewildered that I could think of nothing to say, so I thanked him and sat down on a convenient bench beneath a tall palm to think. So this was the Rollins I had attended. I never supposed the little freedom allowed the students by the faculty that last year of my college life would lead to a complete abolition of all the old college customs and traditions. So they had abolished everything savoring of regularity and allowed the students free use of their time.

But how, it then occurred to me, could the administration determine the sort of work the student was doing? And then I remembered Dr. Holt's old plan had been to pass or fail the student according to the judgment the instructor formed of him. Well, perhaps this would work, but I had my doubts.

And now, after spending a week on the campus, discussing the situation with students and professors, I can see that it does work. The students have assumed an attitude of personal responsibility, and the old aversion to rule and regularity has vanished. The conferences with instructors are true conferences, the golden personality of the teacher being absorbed by the student directly. The lectures are of necessity interesting and instructive, and knowledge as well as entertainment is required by this new type of self-reliant students. It seems clear that here is an educational system which will live and spread.

In the near future the art classes will visit Mr. and Mrs. Banks in Eustis. Mr. Banks is an archaeologist and has spent most of his time in the study of Babylonian territory. Mrs. Banks is a Jugoslavonian and has employed Mr. Ivan Gundrum, an artist from Jugoslavonia to complete special mural decorating, and design unusual fireplaces for her home in Eustis.

FRATERNITY NOTES

Lambda Phi Notes

Clara, Ethel, Dot and Lizzie Mae, who were at Wekiwa last week end, report a joyous time and many miles of canoeing through rain and mist. The culprits were bundled into bed and served hot soup immediately upon their return.

For the past week the house has been serving in the capacity of an infirmary for various folks. By this time, however, it has resumed its former cheery disposition.

Dorothy Dienst and Lillian Kimmonth were visitors at DeLeon Springs Sunday afternoon.

K. E. Komments

Kappa Epsilon takes great pleasure in announcing as members: Betty Mae Armstrong, New York; Polly Dudley, Massachusetts; Kathleen Hara, Canada; and Eleanor Wright, New York. We are both happy and proud!

Several of our number struggled valiantly to rake the leaves and to plant the grass seed Saturday, so come around in about a week and see the results—Meanwhile give us a prayer or two.

We are glad to see Mat up and around again.

The coming production of the Little Theatre ought to be rather good considering the time our actresses spend in rehearsals.

Here's hoping that Founders' Week is a success.

Phi Mu Notes

Dot and Vi certainly had a good time out to V's camp on Thursday night. Wonder who their escorts were!

St. Valentine should feel honored with all the celebration he received Friday, 14. In the afternoon Mrs. Walters served tea at the house for the members and pledges. We appreciate everything Mrs. Walters does for us which is a great deal.

Did we ever have a good time Saturday night!! Anyone going by the house might have wondered of what our camp fire consisted. That's a deep, dark secret, but anyway, we all gathered around the fire with weiners, rolls, pickles, salad and fruit at our disposal. While a few of the pledges were washing dishes, a program was carried on in the living room in which everyone participated. About eight of the girls went to the show in Orlando to see what they could see. From their reports they saw a good deal.

We wonder when Flora and "Audy" will enter the National Women's Doubles. Anyone wishing to find them will please go to Cloverleaf court. Hours: all day.

Virginia Lawrence was the charming hostess to the regular meeting of Phi Mu Alumni club of Orlando and Winter Park at a bridge party at the house Saturday afternoon. The Valentine motif was carried out in the tallies and heart-shaped candies and cakes. Mary Boyer and Pledge Smoak took an active part in the program. Mrs. Gordon Wilcox, after three progressions, won a prize for high score, and Mrs. J. A. Russell won consolation.

"Audy" has been mysteriously quiet since Saturday night. We wonder who this "Syracuse" man is. Better watch out, Audy, we'll be finding out.

Chase Hall

The walls of an old building are almost as interesting as the walls of an old city; strange things are written on both if one is indolent enough, and curious enough, to spend his time looking for them. In dim silhouette, are profiles etched on the walls of 223. They retain some of the unlimited enthusiasm of the men who met there at one time, but who are now in the new Rollins Hall or the various fraternities.

The high water mark in the upper floor shower tells the tale of the memorable indoor water regatta—of half-drowned men and gusts of steam. And occasional crystallized sketches of smudge flung high on the walls, speak of the orange fights of a previous regime. The tack marks tell where old pictures were hung—autographed snapshots of collections of kings!!

And from the walls now hang a number of things. A small glass coffin with a colorful Japanese queen. A print of old Persia with wizards and rugs—and a crocodile skin about four inches long. The books on the shelves and the girls in the long silver frames all have their tales to tell. I have said, if you are indolent and curious to hear them.

Pi Beta Phi

We take great pleasure in announcing Mrs. Miles Dawson and Mrs. White as patrons.

Saturday night the Pi Phi's gave quite a novel party for the pledges. To show their gratitude they had a wonderful breakfast for us Sunday morning.

Sunday Mrs. White and Mrs. Lester journeyed to St. Petersburg. They had an eventful day in spite of the rain.

Several alumnae are planning to spend the week end with us, among them Bea Jones and Dot Duttra.

The pledges didn't honor us on Sunday night with one of the splendid performances so the evening was spent popping corn and telling ghost stories.

Gamma Phi Beta

Alpha Mu chapter of Gamma Phi Beta takes great pleasure in announcing the marriage of Ione Pope to Ellsworth Bassett on Monday, February 17, at the home of Dr. Thomas, who officiated. We wish them all the joy in the world, and hope that they will be half as happy as we are for them.

Mrs. Minnie Dinsmore and Miss Emma Lowd were entertained with an informal tea at the house on Wednesday afternoon. Miss Lowd, who is our Province Director, arrived in Winter Park at noon Wednesday, and will make a short visit with the chapter.

The annual alumni banquet was held Friday evening at the Rendezvous. Miss Lowd and the alumni of Gamma Phi Beta were the honor guests of the occasion. Miss Lowd was presented with a beautiful corsage of flowers. Informal speeches were made, and songs were sung.

Florence McKay is up again after a somewhat lengthy illness. She expects to come up for Founders' Week, if possible.

Mrs. Cheney is stepping out to greet the spring in a new car. She says that she bought it because she liked the upholstery.

Margurite Libby was honored with a birthday party the other night. Just another of these numerous birthdays that we have.

Murph and Ozzie say that being best man and witness is all a gyp. You just have to sign a bunch of papers and shake down the fear that you will drop the ring and ball the works. There is some compensation in being the first to break the news, however.

Billy says that sailing these nights is great—and different.

Cloverleaf Chatter

Before beginning this gripe and grievance column, C. C. would like to know what has become of the Lucky Stars with the break to the Baby Grand included? Just as we were getting hopeful, the darn things were discontinued or forgotten or something.

Welch and Mac took off for Hastings Friday afternoon, but we wonder what their big idea was in coming back so early Sunday???? Anyhow, they seem to have had a good time, reporting a flying trip to St. Augustine and a midnight encounter with a strange fishy odor near the bridge.

Beth Cutter, Betty Lynch, Dorothy Dienst, Jean Fullington, Lillian Kimmonth, Lois Hahn and Dot Allan paid a social visit to Edison on the annual recurrence of his birthday. They say he is looking as fit as ever. We hope so. You know Edison is a keen old gent. We know. We used to go with his in our younger palmer days.

Thoughts while strolling: Hey, Steve, have you got a blue hat?—What th—! Someone borrowed my best lipstick!—I had a date with him the other night—Who wants this tub?—Weedy, have you got an iron I can use?—Boy, he's a hot necker, what I mean is—Come out on the steps and drag a fag wit' me, keed—Florida, where's my soap?—Gosh, darn it, my suntan's all splashed!—Anyone got any stamps? Don't rush, ladies!—Turn off that radio! I got a heavy date on the wire—Hello, sugar!—Buzz uptown and get me some chewing gum will you?—I have to wash my wig this aft. and I have a class—Wouldn't that slay you?—Have you read Bad Girl—You should lamp my new pennant—Gosh, he's cute—My alarm's busted, wake me in the morning, will you?—Have you seen my new lace and chiffon—Where's my English book—Who turned off those lights—Has my laundry gone yet—Lend me a quarter, will ya—Miriam, I want a guava jelly sandwich—Aw, Mrs. Lester, we have ten minutes yet—Say, who's got their date on the back steps—Who took down my clothes line—We can come in via the fire escape—Lottie, let us have your car a minute—McIntosh, telephone—Kay, Bobbie's here and says make it pronto—Is he coming over tonight—There's a moon that's simply heavenly outside—Who broke my record—Lend me your curling iron—Beat it, here comes Barnhill!—Jo, get a letter from Cincinnati?

Lakeside Laughter

Much moving has taken place in the last week and once more we settle down to old fashioned study. Mr. and Mrs. Bingham have returned to the old homestead amid much rejoicing. The house resumes its tepid (?) atmosphere. Fireside discussions led by Miss Doggett continue. Gloria having gone to stay, we speak sychology, poetry and beer. The only time Frank ever agreed with us on the subject of dogs. There the vote was unanimous.

We regret very much that Taka Sugino has left Rollins to go to New York city. We have enjoyed the friendship of the little Oriental and wish her good luck. Before leaving, she gave each of us a little Japanese gift.

Sarah and Yula threw a sych to the wind and spent the week-end at Wekiwa. Probably caught pneumonia or a pluribus unum.

One could scarcely believe that this was turned into a children's home the night of the kid party. Little and big, sissies, bullies, Oscars, Percys and Violets—even Mam'selle accompanied two of the kiddies.

And now we are looking forward to having lots of the old grads back for Founders' Week—and having some good old bull sessions.

Kappa Phi Sigma

We take pleasure in announcing Whiting Hall as a pledge.

Our alumni in Europe have just written, complaining of the lack of good bridge on the Continent. Dick Hayward is in southern France at present, trying out the brown wine of that district. Don White, who is in Geneva, is planning to leave about March 15th.

Last Thursday the fraternity held a midnight party in celebration of the three years' existence of Kappa Phi Sigma. Not content with disturbing the location of Virginia Court, the boys sallied out to annoy the somnolent citizens and sororities with musical selections.

Seven enthusiasts gathered around a large table Sunday afternoon for a game of Hearts. No better way has yet been devised for spending a rainy afternoon.

Jerry Miller has discovered the way to get the maximum amount of enjoyment for fifteen cents.

Herb Mills has just returned from a pleasure jaunt to Cuba and Ft. Myers. After telling interesting tales of the Havana bars, he showed a bottle of questionable contents which he had brought back with him. He says, "When in Havana, drop in at Sloppy Joe's." The Tropical Beer Gardens were also recommended to the fraternity.

Lakeside Annex

No one at the Annex ever has to walk. We have cars for seven girls. For a while our driveway looked like a window display of a Ford company. But now with Marge's Buick we have to admit that it looks more like a second hand rummage sale.

Gwen Heilman, the peppy girl from the wicked city, has moved her trunk and herself into the Annex. She has been here a little over a week and has only recently become accustomed enough to our peaceful atmosphere to discard her bullet-proof jacket. Sunday night she would have worn it again if she could have found it. Marge had a "pie bed" and took her revenge by throwing all the cracker crumbs at the sleeping Chicago beauty.

Dot pulled out Saturday noon in her lizzie and tore up to Jacksonville. She brought back favorable accounts of Woody's heart trouble.

The social honors of the house last week were held by Marge and Jerry. Marge, as a hot gypsy, went to the Beaux Arts Ball and Jerry, all dolled up in a beaded gown, went to the Valentine dance at the Coliseum.

Elinor must be mentioned as the heap big student. We have decided that we shall take turns earning the scholastic honors. Eleanor has held them for the last four weeks. Gee's turn is next. Because Gwen is new we shall eliminate her this term and Ruby has to chaffer Vivian so she hasn't time.

I-Bumma-Cig

Not a house cleaning convention but just the departure of two of our inmates. Armoor left us for a few weeks' sojourn in Orlando. "Hutch" went back to Wauchula to spend a few days before he departs for St. Augustine where he will join other members of the Newark baseball team for spring training. We are all hoping old "Soupbone" will function properly this season and permit you to eke out with many a victory, "Hutch."

"Crickets" father paid us a visit over the week-end. Although this was his first visit to Rollins he well indicated it wouldn't be his last. Welcome back any time Mr. Crawford.

"Mitch" seemed to be the only tourist over the week-end. He called on the home folks for a chicken dinner at Sanford Sunday. Our visitors Sunday were limited to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Taylor of Orlando and Mr. Powers Taylor of Brooksville, all formerly of Wauchula.

Bob and Luke answered a call from Wauchula Tuesday night by going down to a foot shuffling convention. And a good time was had by all.

Kappa Alpha Kant

There are twelve new brothers sporting their badges now and receiving congratulations, and we take pleasure and pride in announcing as initiates: George Carrison, Gordon Clerk, Edward Cruger, Donald Fisher, Wade Graham, Philip Horton, Gordon Jones, David Mc-

Callum, Oscar Peacon, William Rogers, Robert Stevenson and Walter Weedon.

Cruger, Horton, Carrison and Jones plowed through the stock of three or four music stores in Orlando Monday in search of new Vic records. They bought one in each place just to keep the good-will of the merchants of the big city, and now eight new pieces are going through the wear and tear of being fraternity house equipment.

The tennis rivalry of Dave and Shorty, the two blondes, is something to listen to as well as behold. The remarks passed over the net sometimes approach an unpublishable state and never are exactly complimentary. It's about a draw now, but new developments are constantly occurring.

By popular and unanimous vote, it has been decided that what we need is pledges. Cold days mean fires, cigarettes and pipes mean matches, and a bell means the phone or door, and here we are without a single menial slave to be found on the premises! 'S pitiful!

Even so, a lot of new initiates still use the back door and lots of "sirs" and an occasional "mistake" are still heard.

Rollins Hall Notes

Of late there has been some discussion as to who is the author of the anonymous column "Rarebits." The conclusion is pretty general that the literary technique employed points an accusing finger at either Freddie Cook or Winslow S. Anderson.

Since "Views and Reviews" published last week its inimitable collection of verse, there has been an epidemic of poetry, i. e., doggerel, in these regions. Ponder the following epic:

I.
Here we are at Rollins Hall,
As happy as can be;
Though in numbers we're not small,
We're one big fam-i-lee.
II.
All the boys are very good
And study—oh, so much!
To loaf—why that they never would;
Evil, they ne'er would touch.
III.
All of which just goes to show

How dear is this fine place!
The lads must now all agree
And win in life's great race
After perusing this magazine
We feel inclined to agree
That silver-tongued orator,
Bryan, when he said, "Shine golden."

Lately the arrival of a shiny red sofas together with paraphernalia and bric-a-brac been marked. That it, and not the furniture, doubtless will be attended to.

And bridge has been around these diggings. It is a ture between cards and action. And as our drunk friend said, "I don't like these hypes. No, no, lady, don't throw the shoe, it might result in lacerations. And, viewing the we've been getting of late, we need lesser rations."

Theta Theories

So that was the famous Arts Ball. Looked more like a letter hop to the Theta's. Reminds us that Freddie was an anchorman as being a who goes to the Beaux Arts as a pirate.

Lefty and pledge Bue their usual week end party early last week by going to a weiner roast Friday afternoon. One cut finger and one ed K. E. house-mama.

Windy is enjoying a very ant week trying to cut a tooth. His one consolation is seemingly inexhaustible supply of lusterine. It seems that his friend broke down and told

It is rumored that the Lefty looked so pale and was the week end was that he went to the K. E. house demolition.

And now for the heavy duty Ellsworth pull a fast one when he took the plunge last afternoon. And, as they say, certain by-gone days, hey! Ozzie acting as best man as Thomas officiating, we know ceremony must have been a cess. The Theta's congratulated heartily and wish you all in the world.
