HISTORY NEWS

Annual Meeting

The Florida Historical Society will hold its annual meeting in St. Augustine, May 7-9, 1992. The Florida Historical Confederation also will hold its workshops at that time. The theme for the 1992 annual meeting will be "Five Hundred Years of History: Incidents and Interpretations." The program committee invites proposals for papers and sessions. Those wishing to read a paper should submit an outline and a resume to Dr. Eugene Lyon (P.O. Box 631, St. Augustine, FL 32085), chairman of the program committee. Other committee members are Susan R. Parker, St. Augustine Preservation Board; Page L. Edwards, Jr., St. Augustine Historical Society; and Dr. Daniel L. Schafer, University of North Florida.

Society Memberships

The Florida Historical Society is instituting on a trial basis a program offering joint memberships with local historical societies and museums. Full memberships in the Society will continue at the established rates. Four issues of the Quarterly will be furnished for $20 a year, and the Society Report for $5 a year. The purpose of this arrangement is to enable local historical societies and museums to develop joint memberships. The Board of Directors approved a special category of membership for elementary-school-aged children. For $5 annually, each will receive a new publication called the Junior Historian. This membership will start in September 1991 and annually will include three issues of the Junior Historian. Sample copies of the journal will be available in September, and requests for copies may be directed to the Florida Historical Society office, University of South Florida, Tampa, FL 33620.

Florida History Research in Progress

Each January issue of the Quarterly contains a listing of Florida history research in progress. Included is Florida work in the fields of history, sociology, anthropology, political science, archaeology, geography, and urban studies. Persons interested in having their research considered for inclusion should notify Samuel Proctor, Editor, Florida Historical Quarterly, P. O. Box 14045, University Station, Gainesville, FL 32604-2045, prior to October 1, 1991. Topic, institutional affiliation, and status of the research (continuing study or publication forthcoming) should be noted. Graduate students should indicate whether the research is for a master's thesis or doctoral dissertation.

Prizes and Awards

The Florida Historical Society's 1991 Arthur W. Thompson Memorial Prize in Florida History was awarded to Susan R. Parker, University of Florida, for her article, "Men Without God or King: Rural Settlers of East Florida, 1784-1790," which appeared in the October 1990 issue of the Florida Historical Quarterly. The judges were Dr. James Covington, Department of History, University of Tampa; Dr. James Crooks, Department of History, University of North Florida; and Jean Parker Waterbury, St. Augustine Historical Society. The prize is a memorial to Professor Thompson, Florida and southern historian, who was a member of the history faculty, University of Florida. His family established the endowment that supports the annual award.

The Rembert W. Patrick Memorial Book Award for 1990 went to Dr. Joseph Frazier Wall, Grinnell College, for his book, Alfred I. du Pont: The Man and His Family, which was published by Oxford University Press. The judges were Dr. Nancy Hewitt, Department of History, University of South Florida; Dr. John H. Hann, San Luis Archaeological and Historical Site, Tallahassee; and Dr. Herbert J. Doherty, Department of History, University of Florida. Dr. Patrick was secretary of the Florida Historical Society and editor of the Florida Historical Quarterly. He was a noted Florida and southern historian who also served as president of the Southern Historical Association.

The Charlton W. Tebeau Book Award was presented to Mary E. Lyons, Charlottesville, Virginia, for her book, Sorrow's Kitchen: The Life and Folklore of Zora Neale Hurston. Mrs. Lyons's book was published by Macmillan Publishing Company. The judges for the Tebeau Book Award were Kathleen Arsenault, St.

Petersburg; Page Edwards, Jr., St. Augustine Historical Society; and Janet S. Matthews, Sarasota. Dr. Tebeau is professor emeritus of history, University of Miami, author of A History of Florida, and editor of Tequesta.

The Florida Historical Society also recognizes outstanding essays in Florida history submitted by graduate and undergraduate students. The LeRoy Collins Prize went to James A. Schnur, a graduate student at the University of South Florida, for his paper, "Academic Freedom and Intellectual Inquiry in Florida's Public Universities, 1956-1964." The winner of the Caroline Mays Brevard Prize was Laurie Lomascolo, an undergraduate student at the University of South Florida, for her paper, "Ormond-on-the-Halifax." The Society also recognizes outstanding essays in Florida history by a middle- or high-school student. The Frederick Cubberly Prize went to Jessica Van Leer-Viscomi of Tavares Middle School in Lake County, for her essay, "The Saga of the Florida Seminole." Ms. Van Leer-Viscomi and her teacher, Steven Farrell, both received a plaque and $250.

The Society awarded seven Golden Quill Awards, which are given for outstanding media participation relating to Florida history. The recipients are: Florida Public Radio Center; Pensacola News-Journal; Stuart McIver, Sunshine Magazine; Leland M. Hawes, Tampa Tribune; James C. Clark, Orlando Sentinel; and WUFT-TV5, University of Florida.

At a ceremony in New York City on May 7, the Society of American Historians awarded the Francis Parkman Prize to Paul E. Hoffman, professor of history at Louisiana State University, for his book, A New Andalusia and a Way to the Orient: The American Southeast During the Sixteenth Century, published by Louisiana State University Press. The award is given annually for the best book dealing with an aspect of the colonial or national history of what is now the United States. Professor Hoffman also received an award for his book in the "Spain and American Quincentennial of the Discovery" competition sponsored by the Spanish Ministry of Culture.

The Georgia Historical Society announces the 1990 winner of the E. Merton Coulter Award, presented annually for the best article published in the Georgia Historical Quarterly. The award was presented to W. Fitzhugh Brundage of Queen's University, Kingston, Canada, for his article, "The Darien 'Insurrection' of 1899: Black Protest During the Nadir of Race Relations," which appeared in the Summer 1990 issue. The award includes a $100 stipend. The winner was announced at the spring meeting of the Georgia Historical Society.

Call for Papers

A consortium composed of the National Archives-Southeast Region, Georgia Department of Archives, Southern Labor Archives, Kennesaw State College History Department, Clark-Atlanta University Historical Association, and Georgia World History Association are co-sponsoring a symposium on "World War II: The Homefront in the South" in late spring 1992 at Atlanta, Georgia. The planning committee invites paper or session proposals addressing all facets of the homefront during World War II by December 1, 1991. Send proposals to David Hilkert, National Archives-Southeast Region, 1557 St. Joseph Avenue, East Point, GA 30344.

The Florida College English Association is calling for papers for its annual meeting, January 30-31, 1992. The theme is "Visions/Versions/Variations: Language, Literature, Writing." The conference site is Daytona Beach. Proposals and abstracts (150-200 words) for individual, workshop, and panel presentations are due by September 6, 1991. Send submissions to Fred Standley, Department of English, Florida State University, Tallahassee, FL 32306.

The Black Film Center/Archive at Indiana University, Bloomington, is planning a conference for the summer of 1992 to be held in Indianapolis. "In Touch With The Spirit" combines both scholars and film-makers in a multi-disciplinary setting. Film-makers will screen and discuss their films while scholars examine three major genres— documentary, ethnographic, and feature film— from various disciplinary perspectives: film criticism and aesthetics, folklore, ethnomusicology, political science, sociology, anthropology, religious studies, and women's studies. Selected papers presented during the conference will be published. Scholars interested in participating should send one- to two-page abstracts of papers by January 15, 1992, to Dr. Phyllis Klotman, Department of Afro-American Studies, Memorial Hall East, Indiana University, Bloomington, IN 47405.

The editors of the Southern Quarterly invite papers on the subjects of the visual arts and artists of the Gulf South— vernacular and professional— with emphasis on the arts in a multicultural society. The papers are to be delivered at a conference at the University of Southern Mississippi in 1992. Papers selected from among these will be published in a special issue of the Southern Quarterly. Submissions should be in the form of a proposal of no more than two pages. Deadline is October 1, 1991. Address inquiries and proposals to Stephen Young, Southern Quarterly, P. O. Box 5078, University of Southern Mississippi, Hattiesburg, MS 39406-5078.
